4 Hee that obserueth the [d] wind, shall not sow, and he that regardeth the cloudes, shal not reape.

5 As thou knowest not which is the way of the spirit, nor howe the bones do grow in the wombe of her that is with child: so thou knowest not the worke of God that worketh all.

6 In the morning sow thy seed, and in the euening let not thine hande [e] rest: for thou knowest not whether shall prosper, this or [f] that, or whether both shalbe alike good.

7 Surely the light is a pleasant thing: and it is a good thing to the eyes to see the sunne.

8 Though a man liue many yeres, and in them all he reioyce, yet he shall remember the dayes of [g] darkenesse, because they are many, all that commeth is vanitie.

9 [h] Reioyce, O yong man, in thy youth, and let thine heart cheere thee in the dayes of thy youth: and walke in the wayes of thine heart, and in the sight of thine eyes: but knowe that for all these things, God wil bring thee to iudgement.

10 Therefore take away [i] griefe out of thine heart, and cause euil [k] to depart from thy flesh: for childhood and youth are vanitie.

CHAP. XII.

1 To thinke on God in youth, and not to deferre till age. 7 The soule returneth to God. 11 Wisdome is the gift of God, and consisteth in feariug him and keeping his commandements.

REmember now thy Creatour in the dayes of thy youth, whiles the euill dayes come not, nor the yeeres approch, wherein thou shalt say, I haue no pleasure in them:

2 Whiles the sunne is not darke, nor the light, nor the moone, nor the starres, nor the [a] clouds returne after the raine.

3 When the [b] keepers of the house shal tremble, and the [c] strong men shall bow themselues, and the [d] grinders shall cease, because they are few, and they waxe darke that [e] looke out by the windowes:

4 And the [f] doores shall be shut without by the base sound of the [g] grinding, and he shall rise vp at the voice of the [h] bird: and all the [i] daughters of singing shalbe abased.

5 Also they shalbe afraid of the [k] high thing, and feare shalbe in the [l] way, and the almond tree shall [m] flourish, and the [n] grashopper shall be a burden, and concupiscence shall be driuen away: for man goeth to the house of his age, and the mourners go about in the street.

6 Whiles the [o] siluer coard is not lengthened, nor the golden [p] ewer broken, nor the [q] pitcher broken at the [r] well, nor the [s] wheele broken at the [t] cisterne:

7 And dust returne to the earth as it was, and the [u] spirit returne to God that gaue it.

8 Vanitie of vanities, sayth the Preacher, all is vanitie.

9 And the more wise the preacher was, the more he taught the people knowledge, and caused them to heare, and searched foorth, and prepared many parables.

10 The Preacher sought to finde out pleasant words, and an vpright writing, euen the words of trueth.

11 The words of the wise are like goads and like nailes [x] fastened by the masters of the assemblies, which are giuen by one [y] pastour.

AN †EXCELLENT SONG WHICH WAS SALOMONS.

† Ebr. a song of songs: so called because it is the chiefest of those 1005, which Salomon made, as is mentioned, 1. King. 4. 32.

THE ARGVMENT.

IN this Song, Salomon by most sweete and comfortable allegories and parables describeth the perfite loue of Iesus Christ, the true Salomon and King of peace, and the faithfull soule or his Church, which he hath sanctified and appointed to be his spouse, holy, chaste and without reprehension. So that here is declared the singular loue of the bridegrome toward the bride, and his great and excellent benefits wherewith he doeth enrich her of his pure bountie and grace without any of her deserunges. Also the earnest affection of the Church which is inflamed with the loue of Christ, desiring to be more and more ioyned to him in loue, and not to be forsaken for any spot or blemish that is in her.

CHAP. I.

1 The familiar talke and mysticall communication of the spirituall loue betweene Iesus Christ and his Church. 5 The domesticall enemies that persecute the Church.

a This is spoken in the person of the Church, or of the faithfull soule inflamed with the desire of Christ, whome she loueth.
b The feeling of thy great benefits.
c They that are pure in heart and conuersation.
d The faithfull confesse that they cannot come to Christ except they be drawen.
e Meaning, the secret ioy that is not knowen to the world.
f The Church confesseth her spots and sinne, but hath confidence in the Lamour of Christ.
g Kedar was Ishmaels sonne, of whome came the Arabians that dwelt in tents.
h Which within were all set with precious stones and iewels.
i Consider not the Church by the outward appearance.
k The corruption of nature through sinne and afflictions.
l Mine owne brethren which should haue most fauoured me.
m She confesseth her owne negligence.
n The spouse feeling her fault, fleeeth to her husband onely for succour.
o Whom thou hast called to the dignitie of pastours, and they set foorth their owne deuises in stead of thy doctrine.
p Christ speaketh to his Church bidding them that are ignorant, to goe to the pastors to learne.
q For thy spirituall beautie & excellencie there was no worldly treasure to be compared vnto thee.
r The Church reioyceth that she is admitted to the company of Christ.
s Wee shall bee most deare vnto me. t Christ accepteth his Church & commendeth her beautie.
u That is, the heart of the faithfull wherein Christ dwelleth by his Spirit.

BEt a him kisse me with the kisses of his mouth: for thy loue is better then wine.

2 Because of the b sauour of thy good ointments, thy name is as an oyntment powred out: therefore the c virgins loue thee.

3 d Drawe me: we will runne after thee: the King hath brought me into his chambers: we wil reioyce and be glad in thee; we wil remember thy loue more then wine: the righteous do loue thee.

4 I am f blacke, O daughters of Ierusalem, but comely, as the tentes of g Kedar, and as the h curtaines of Salomon.

5 Regard ye mee not, because I am i blacke: for the k sunne hath looked vpon me. The l sonnes of my mother were angry against me: they made me the keeper of the vines: but I m kept not mine owne vine.

6 Shew me, n O thou, whom my soule loueth, where thou feedest, where thou liest at noone: for why should I bee as shee that turneth aside to the flocks of o thy companions?

7 p If thou knowe not, O thou the fairest among women, get thee forth by the steps of the flocke, and feede thy kiddes by the tentes of the shepheards.

8 I haue compared thee, O my loue, to the troupe of horses in the q charets of Pharaoh.

9 Thy cheekes are comely with rowes of stones, and thy necke with chaines.

10 Wee will make thee borders of gold with studs of siluer.

11 r Whiles the King was at his repast, my spikenard gaue the smell thereof.

12 My welbeloued is as a bundle of myrrhe vnto me: he shall lie betweene my s breastes.

13 My welbeloued is as a cluster of camphire vnto me in the vines of Engedi.

14 My loue, behold, thou art t faire: beholde, thou art faire: thine eyes are like the doues.

15 My welbeloued, behold, thou art faire: and pleasant: also our u bed is greene.

16 The beames of our house are cedars, our rafters are of firre.

CHAP. II.

3 The Church desireth to rest vnder the shadowe of Christ. 8 She heareth his voyce. 14 She is compared to the doue, 15 And the enemies to the foxes.

I Am the rose of the fielde, and the lillie of the valleis.

2 Like a lillie among the thornes, so is my a loue among the daughters.

3 b Like the apple tree among the trees of the forrest, so is my welbeloued among the sonnes of men: vnder his shadow had I delite, & sate down: and his fruite was sweete vnto my mouth.

4 He brought mee into the wine cellar, and loue was his banner ouer me.

5 Stay me with flagons, and comfort me with apples: for I am sicke of loue.

6 His left hand is vnder mine head, and his right hand doeth imbrace me.

7 c I charge you, O daughters of Ierusalem, by the roes and by the hindes of the field, that ye stirre not vp, nor waken my loue, vntil she please.

8 d It is the voyce of my welbeloued: beholde, hee commeth leaping by the mountaines, and skipping by the hils.

9 My welbeloued is like a roe, or a yong hart: loe, he e standeth behind our wall, looking foorth of the windowes, shewing himselfe through the f gates.

10 My welbeloued spake and said vnto me, Arise, my loue, my faire one, and come thy way.

11 For beholde, g winter is past: the raine is changed, and is gone away.

12 The flowers appeare in the earth: the time of the singing of birds is come, and the voyce of the turtle is heard in our land.

13 The figtree hath brought foorth her yong figs: and the vines with their small grapes haue cast a sauour: arise my loue, my faire one, and come away.

14 My doue, that art in the h holes of y rocke, in the secrete places of the staires, shew mee thy sight, let me heare thy voyce: for thy voyce is sweete, and thy sight comely.

15 Take vs the foxes, the i litle foxes, which destroy the vines: for our vines haue small grapes.

16 My welbeloued is mine, and I am his: hee feedeth among the lillies.

17 Vntill the day breake, & the shadowes flee away: returne, my welbeloued, and be like a k roe, or a yong hart vpon the mountaines of Bether.

a Thus Christ preferreth his Church aboue all other things.
b The spouse testifieth her great desire toward her husband, but her strength faileth her, and therefore she desireth to be comforted, and feel it.
c Christ chargeth them which haue to doe in the Church, as it were by a solemne othe, that they trouble not the quietnesse thereof.
d This is spoken of Christ, who tooke vpon him our nature to come to helpe his Church.
e Forasmuch as his diuinitie was hid vnder the cloke of our flesh.
f So that we can not haue full knowledge of him in this life.
g That is, sinne and errour is driuen backe by the coming of Christ, which is here described by the spring time, when all things flourish.
h Thou that art ashamed of thy sinnes come and shew thy selfe vnto me.
i Suppresse the heretiques whiles they are yong, that is whē they begin to shew their malice, & destroy the vine of the Lord.
k The Church desireth Christ to bee most readie to helpe her in all dangers.

CHAP. III.

1 The Church desireth to bee ioyned inseparably to Christ her husband. 6 Her deliuerance out of the wildernesse.

IN my bed by [a] night I sought him that my soule loued: I sought him, but I found him not.

2 I will rise therefore now, and goe about in the citie, by the streetes and by the open places, and will [b] seeke him that my soule loueth: I sought him, but I found him not.

3 The [c] watchmen that went about the citie, found me: to whom I sayd, Haue you seene him, whom my soule loueth?

4 When I had past a little from them, then I found him whom my soule loued: I tooke holde on him and left him not, till I had brought him vnto my mothers house into the chamber of her that conceiued me.

5 [d] I charge you, O daughters of Ierusalem, by the roes and by the hindes of the field, that ye stirre not vp, nor waken my loue vntill she please.

6 Who is shee that commeth vp out of the [e] wildernesse like pillars of smoke perfumed with myrrhe and incense, and with all the † spices of the marchant?

7 Behold his [f] bed which is Salomons: threescore strong men are round about it, of the valiant men of Israel.

8 They all handle the sword, and are expert in warre, euery one hath his sword vpon his thigh for the feare [g] by night.

9 King Salomon made himselfe a ‖palace of the trees of Lebanon.

10 He made the pillars thereof of siluer, and the pauement thereof of gold, the hangings thereof of purple, whose middes was paued with the loue of the daughters of Ierusalem.

11 Come forth, ye [h] daughters of Zion, & behold the King Salomon with the [i] crowne, wherewith his mother crowned him in [k] day of his mariage, and in the day of the gladnesse of his heart.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The praises of the Church. 7 Shee is without blemish in his sight. 9 The loue of Christ towards her.

BEholde, thou art [a] faire, my loue: behold, thou art faire: thine eyes are like the doues: among thy lockes * thine haire is like the [b] flocke of goates, which looke downe from the mountaine of Gilead.

2 Thy teeth are like a flocke of sheepe in good order, which goe vp from the washing: which euery one bring out twinnes, and none is barren among them.

3 Thy lips are like a threede of scarlet, and thy talke is comely: thy temples are within thy lockes as a piece of a pomegranate.

4 Thy necke is as the tower of Dauid built for defence: a thousand shieldes hang therein, and all the targates of the strong men.

5 Thy two [c] breastes are as two yong roes that are twinnes, feeding among the lilies.

6 Vntil the day breake, and the shadowes flie away, I will goe into the mountaine of myrrhe and to the mountaine of incense.

7 Thou art all faire, my loue, and there is no spot in thee.

8 [d] Come with me from Lebanon, my spouse, euen with me from Lebanon, and looke from the top of Amanah, from the top of Shenir, and Hermon, from the dennes of the lyons, and from the mountaines of the leopards.

9 My [e] sister, my spouse, thou hast wounded mine heart: thou hast wounded mine heart with one of thine [f] eyes, and with a chaine of thy neck.

10 My sister, my spouse, how faire is thy loue? how much better is thy loue then wine? and the sauour of thine ointments then all spices?

11 Thy [g] lippes, my spouse droppe as honie combes: honie and milke are vnder thy tongue, and the sauour of thy garments is as the sauour of Lebanon.

12 My sister, my spouse is as a garden inclosed, as a spring shut vp, and a fountaine sealed vp.

13 Thy plantes are as an orchard of pomegranates with sweete fruites, as camphire, spikenarde, 14 Euen spikenarde, and saffron, calamus, and cynamom with all the trees of incense, myrrhe and aloes, with all the chiefe spices.

15 [h] O fountaine of the gardens, O well of liuing waters, and the springs of Lebanon.

16 Arise, O [i] North, and come, O South, and blowe on my garden that the spices thereof may flow out: let my welbeloued come to his garden, and eate his pleasant fruite.

CHAP. V.

1 Christ calleth his Church to the participation of all his treasures. 2 She heareth his voyce. 3 She confesseth her nakednesse. 10 She prayseth Christ her husband.

I Am come into my [a] garden, my sister, my spouse: I gathered my myrrhe with my spice: I ate mine hony combe with mine hony, I dranke my wine with my milke: eate, O friends, drinke, and make you mery, O welbeloued.

2 [b] I sleepe, but mine heart waketh, it is the voyce of my welbeloued that knocketh, saying, Open vnto me, my sister, my loue, my doue, my vndefiled: for mine head is full of dewe, and my lockes with the droppes of the [c] night.

3 I haue put off my [d] coate, howe shall I put it on? I haue washed my feete, howe shall I defile them?

4 My welbeloued put in his hand by the hole of the doore, and † mine heart was affectioned toward him.

5 I rose vp to open to my welbeloued, and mine hands did drop downe myrrhe, and my [e] fingers pure myrrhe vpon the handles of the barre.

6 I opened to my welbeloued: but my welbeloued was gone, and past: mine heart was gone when hee did speake: I sought him, but I could not finde him: I called him, but he answered me not.

7 The [f] watchmen that went about the citie, found mee: they smote mee and wounded mee: the watchmen of the walles tooke away my vaile from me.

8 I charge you, [g] O daughters of Ierusalem, if you finde my welbeloued, that you tell him that I am sicke of loue.

9 [h] O the faireſt among women, what is thy welbeloued more then other welbeloued? what is thy welbeloued more then another louer, that thou doest so charge vs?

10 My welbeloued is white and ruddie, the chiefest of ten thousand.

11 His [i] head is as fine gold, his lockes curled, and blacke as a rauen.

12 His eyes are like doues vpon the riuers of waters, which are washt with milke, and remaine by the full vessels.

13 His cheekes are as a bedde of spices, and as

CHAP. VI.

2 The Church assureth her selfe of the loue of Christ. 3 The prayses of the Church. 8 She is but one and vndefiled.

MY welbeloued is gone downe into his a garden to the beds of spices, to feede in the gardens, and to gather lilies.

a That is, is conuersant here in earth among men.

2 I am my welbeloueds, and my welbeloued is mine, who feedeth among the lilies.

3 Thou art beautifull, my loue, as b Tirzah, comely as Ierusalē, terrible as an army w̄ banners.

b Which was a faire and strong citie, 1. King. 14. 17.

4 c Turne away thine eyes from me: for they ouercome mee: * thine heart is like a flocke of goates, which looke downe from Gilead.

c This declareth ȳ exceeding loue of Christ toward his Church, * Chap. 4. 1.

5 Thy teeth are like a flocke of sheepe, which goe vp from the washing, which euery one bring out twinnes, and none is barren among them.

6 Thy temples are within thy locks as a piece of a pomegranate.

d Meaning, that the gifts are infinite which Christ giueth to his Church: or that his faithfull are many in number.

7 There are d threescore Queenes and foure-score concubines, & of the damsels wout number.

8 But my doue is alone, and my vndefiled, she is the onely daughter of her mother, and shee is deare to her ȳ bare her: the daughters haue seene her and counted her blessed: euen the Queenes and the concubines, and they haue praysed her.

e Hee sheweth that the beginning of the Church was small, but that it grew vp to a great multitude.

9 e Who is she that looketh forth as the morning, faire as the moone, pure as the sunne, terrible as an armie with banners!

f He went downe into the Synagogue to see what fruits came of the Lawe, and the Prophets.

10 I went downe to the f garden of nuttes, to see the fruites of the valley, to see if the vine budded, and if the pomegranates flourished.

g I found nothing but rebellion.

11 g I knew nothing, my soule set me h as the charets of my noble people.

h I ranne as swift as the nobles of my people in their charets.

12 Returne, returne, O i Shulamite, returne: returne that we may behold thee. What shal you see in the Shulamite, but as the company of an armie?

i O ye people of Ierusalem: for Ierusalem was called Shalem, which signifieth peace.

CHAP. VII.

1 The beautie of the Church in all her members. 10 She is assured of Christs loue towards her.

HOw beautifull are thy a goings with shooes, O princes daughter! the ioints of thy thighs are like iewels: the worke of the hand of a cunning workeman.

a He describeth the comely beauty of the Church in euery part, which is to be vnderstood spiritually.

2 Thy nauell is as a round cup that wanteth not licour: thy belly is as an heape of wheat compassed about with lilies.

b Reade Chap. 4. 5.

3 b Thy two breastes are as two yong roes that are twinnes.

4 Thy necke is like a towre of yuorie: thine eyes are like the fish pooles in Heshbon by the gate of Bath-rabbim: thy nose is as the towre of Lebanon, that looketh toward Damascus.

5 Thine head vpon thee is as skarlet, and the busth of thine head like purple: the king is tied c in the ‖ rafters.

c He deliteth to come neere thee and to be in thy company. ‖ Or, galeries.

6 How faire art thou, and howe pleasant art thou, O my loue, in pleasures?

7 This thy stature is like a palme tree, and thy breasts like clusters.

8 I said, I will goe vp into the palme tree, I will take hold of her boughs: thy breastes shall nowe be like the clusters of the vine: and the sauour of thy nose like apples, 9 And the roofe of thy mouth like good wine, which goeth straight to my welbeloued, and causeth the lips of the ancient to speake.

d This the spouse speaketh.

10 d I am my welbeloueds, and his desire is toward me.

11 Come, my welbeloued, let vs go forth into the fielde: let vs remaine in the villages.

e If the people that are called to Christ, bring forth any fruite.

12 Let vs get vp early to the vines, let vs see if the e vine florish, whether it hath budded the small grape, or whether the pomegranates florish: there will I giue thee my loue.

13 The mandrakes haue giuen a smell, and in our gates are all sweete things, new and olde: my welbeloued, I haue kept them for thee.

CHAP. VIII.

2 The Church will be taught by Christ. 3 She is vpholden by him. 6 The vehement loue wherewith Christ loueth her. 11 She is the vine that bringeth forth fruite to the spirituall Salomon, which is Iesus Christ.

a The Church called of the Gentiles, speaketh thus to the Church of Ierusalem. ‖ Or, me.

OH a that thou wereſt as my brother that sucked the breſts of my mother: I would finde thee without, I would kisse thee, then they should not despise ‖ thee.

2 I wil leade thee and bring thee into my mothers house: there thou shalt teach mee: and I will cause thee to drinke spiced wine, and newe wine of the pomegranate.

b Reade Chap. 2. 6.

3 b His left hand shalbe vnder mine head, and his right hand shall embrace me.

c Reade Chap. 3. 5.

4 c I charge you, O daughters of Ierusalē, that you stir not vp, nor wakē my loue, vntil she please.

5 (Who is this that commeth vp out of the wildernesse, leaning vpon her welbeloued?) I raised thee vp vnder an apple tree: there thy mother conceiued thee: there she cōceiued that bare thee.

d The spouse desireth Christ to be ioyned in perpetuall loue with him.

6 d Set mee as a seale on thy heart, and as a signet vpō thine arme: for loue is strong as death: ielousie is cruell as the graue: the coles thereof are fierie coles, and a vehement flame.

7 Much water cannot quench loue, neither can the floods drowne it: If a man shall giue all the substance of his house for loue, they would greatly contemne it.

e The Iewish Church speaketh this of the Church of the Gentiles.

8 e We haue a little sister, and shee hath no breastes: what shall we do for our sister when she shalbe spoken for?

f If she be a wall, we will build vpon her a siluer palace: and if she be a doore, we wil keepe her in with boards of cedar.

f If she be sure & fast, she is meete for the husband to dwell in.

g The Church promiseth fidelitie and constancie.

9 f If she be a wall, and my breasts are as towers: then was I in his eyes as one that findeth peace.

10 g I am a wall, and my breasts are as towers.

h This is the vineyard of the Lord hired out, Matth. 21. 33.

11 h Salomon had a vine in Baal-hamon: hee gaue the vineyarde vnto keepers: euery one bringeth for ȳ fruit therof a thousand pieces of siluer.

i Christ dwelleth in his Church, whose voyce the faithfull heare.

12 But my vineyard which is mine, is before mee: to thee, O Salomon apperteineth a thousand pieces of siluer, and two hundreth to them that keepe the fruit thereof.

k The Church desireth Christ that if he depart from them, yet that hee would haste to helpe them in their troubles.

13 O thou that dwellest in the i gardens, the companions hearken vnto thy voyce: cause mee to heare it.

14 O my welbeloued, k flee away, and be like vnto the roe, or to the young hart vpon the mountaines of spices.

ISAIAH.

THE ARGVMENT.

God, according to his promise, Deut. 18.15. that he would neuer leaue his Church destitute of a Prophet, hath from time to time accomplished the same: whose office was not onely to declare vnto the people the things to come, whereof they had a speciall reuelation, but also to interprete and declare the Law, and to apply particularly the doctrine conteined briefly therein, to the vtilitie and profite of those, to whom they thought it chiefly to appertaine, and as the time and state of things required. And principally in the declaration of the Lawe they had respect to three things, which were the ground of their doctrine: First to the doctrine contained briefly in the two tables: secondly to the promises and threatnings of the Law: and thirdly, to the couenant of grace and reconciliation, grounded vpon our Sauiour Iesus Christ, who is the ende of the Lawe. Whereunto they neither added nor diminished, but faithfully expounded the sense and meaning thereof. And according as God gaue them vnderstanding of things, they applied the promises particularly for the comfort of the Church and the members thereof, and also denounced the menaces against the enemies of the same: not for any care or regard to the enemies, but to assure the Church of their safegard by the destruction of their enemies. And as touching the doctrine of reconciliation, they haue more cleerely entreated it then Moses, and set forth more liuely Iesus Christ, in whom this couenant of reconciliation was made. In all these things Isaiah did excell all the Prophets, and was most diligent to set out the same, with most vehement admonitions, reprehensions, and consolations: euer applying the doctrine, as hee sawe that the disease of the people required. Hee declareth also many notable prophecies which hee had receiued of God, as touching the promise of the Messiah, his office, and his kingdome. Also of the fauour of God toward his Church, the vocation of the Gentiles, and their vnion with the Iewes. Which are as most principall points contained in this booke, and a gathering of his sermons that hee preached. Which after certaine dayes that they had stoode vpon the Temple doore (for the maner of the Prophets was to set vp the summe of their doctrine for certaine dayes that the people might the better marke it, as Isa. 8.1. and Habak. 2.2.) the Priestes tooke it downe and reserued it among the registers: and so by Gods prouidence these bookes were preserued as a monument to the Church for euer. As touching his person and time, hee was of the Kings stocke (for Amoz his father was brother to Azariah King of Iudah, as the best writers agree) and prophecied more then 64. yeeres from the time of Vzziah vnto the reigne of Manasseh, whose father in lawe hee was (as the Ebrewes write) and of whome hee was put to death. And in reading of the Prophets, this one thing among other is to be obserued, that they speake of things to come as though they were nowe past, because of the certaintie thereof, and that they coulde not but come to passe, because God had ordeined them in his secrete counsell, and so reuealed them to his Prophets.

CHAP. I.

1 Isaiah reproueth the Iewes of their ingratitude and stubbernesse, that neither for benefits nor punishments would amend. 11 He sheweth why their sacrifices are reiected, and wherein Gods true seruice standeth. 24 Hee prophecieth of the destruction of Ierusalem, 25 And of the restitution thereof.

a That is, a reuelation or prophecie, which was one of the two meanes, whereby God declared himselfe to his seruants in olde time, as Num. 12.6. and therefore the Prophets were called Seers, 1. Sam. 9.9.

b Isaiah was chiefly sent to Iudah and Ierusalem, but not onely, for in this booke are prophecies concerning other nations also.

c Called also Azariah, 2. Kings 15.1. of these Kings reade, 2. Kings from Chap. 14. vnto Chap. 21 and 2. Chron. from Chap. 25. vnto Chap. 33.

d Because men were obstinate and insensible, he calleth to the dumme creatures, which were more prompt to obey Gods word, as Deut. 32.1.

e He declareth his great mercy toward the Iewes, forasmuch as he chese them aboue all other nations to be his people and children, as Deut 10.15.

f The most bruite and dull beastes doe more acknowledge their duetie toward their masters, then my people doe toward me, of whome they haue receiued benefites without comparison.

g They were not onely wicked, as were their fathers, but vtterly corrupt, and by their euill example infected others.

h That is, him that sanctifieth Israel.

i What auaileth it to seeke to amend you by punishment, seeing the more I correct you, the more ye rebell?

a Vision of Isaiah, the sonne of Amoz, which he saw b concerning Iudah and Ierusalem: in the daies of c Vzziah, Iotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah kings of Iudah.

2 Heare, O d heauens, and hearken, O earth: for the Lord hath sayd, I haue nourished and brought vp e children, but they haue rebelled against mee.

3 The f oxe knoweth his owner, and the asse his masters crib: but Israel hath not knowen: my people hath not vnderstood.

4 Ah, sinfull nation, a people laden with iniquitie: a g seede of the wicked, corrupt children: they haue forsaken the Lord: they haue prouoked the h holy one of Israel to anger: they are gone backeward.

5 Wherefore shoulde yee bee i smitten any more? for ye fall away more and more: the whole k head is sicke, and the whole heart is heauie.

6 From the l sole of the foote vnto the head, there is nothing whole therein, but wounds, and swelling, and sores full of corruption: they haue not bene wrapped, m nor bound vp, nor mollified with oyle.

7 Your land is waste: your cities are burnt with fire: strangers deuoure your lande in your presence, and it is desolate like the ouerthrowe n of strangers.

8 And the daughter of o Zion shall remaine like a cottage in a vineyarde, like a lodge in a garden of cucumbers, and like a besieged citie.

9 Except the Lorde of hostes p had reserued vnto vs, euen a small remnant: wee shoulde haue bene as q Sodom, and shoulde haue bene like vnto Gomorah.

10 Heare the word of the Lord, O r princes of Sodom: hearken vnto the Law of our God, O people of Gomorah.

11 What haue I to doe with the multitude of your sacrifices, saith the Lorde? I am full of the burnt offerings of rammes, and of the fat of fed beastes: and I s desire not the blood of bullocks, nor of lambs, nor of goates.

12 When ye come to appeare before me, who k By naming the chiefe partes of the body, he signifieth, that there was no part of the whole body of the Iewes free from his rods.

l Euery part of the body, aswell the least as the chiefest was plagued.

m Their plagues were so grieuous that they were incurable, and yet they would not repent.

n Meaning, of them that dwell farre off, which, because they looke for no aduantage of that which remaineth, destroy all before them.

o That is, Ierusalem.

p Because that he will euer haue a Church to call vpon his Name, q That is, all destroyed.

r Yee that for your vices deserued all to bee destroyed as they of Sodom, saue that God of his mercy reserued a little number, Lamenta. 3.22.

s Although God commaunded these sacrifices for a time, as aydes and exercises of their fayth: yet because the people had not fayth nor repentance, God detesteth them, Psalme 50.13. Ieremie 6.20. Amos 5.21. Micah 6.7.

required this of your handes to treade in my courtes?

13 Bring no mo oblations, [t] in vaine: incense is an abomination vnto mee: I cannot suffer your newe moones, nor Sabboths, nor solemne dayes (it is iniquitie) nor solemne assemblies.

14 My soule hateth your [u] newe moones and your appoynted feastes: they are a burden vnto me: I am wearie to beare them.

15 And when you shal stretch out your hands, I will hide mine eyes from you: and though yee make many prayers, I will not heare: for your hands are full [x] of blood.

16 [y] Wash you, make you cleane: take away the euill of your workes from before mine eyes: cease to doe euill:

17 Learne [z] to doe well: seeke iudgement, relieue the oppressed: iudge the fatherlesse and defend the widowe.

18 Come nowe, [a] and let vs reason together, saith the Lord: though your sinnes were as crimsin, they shall be made [b] white as snowe: though they were red like skarlet, they shalbe as wooll.

19 If ye [c] consent and obey, ye shall eate the good things of the land.

20 But if ye refuse and be rebellious, ye shalbe deuoured with the sworde: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it.

21 Howe is the [d] faithfull citie become an harlot? it was full of iudgement, & iustice lodged therein, but now [e] they are murtherers.

22 Thy [f] siluer is become drosse: thy wine is mixt with water.

23 Thy Princes are rebellious and companions of [g] theeues: euery one loueth gifts, and followeth after rewards: they iudge not the fatherlesse, neither doeth the widowes cause come before them.

24 Therefore sayth the Lord God of hostes, the [h] mightie one of Israel, Ah, I will [i] ease me of mine aduersaries, & auenge me of mine enemies.

25 Then I will turne mine hand vpon thee, and burne out thy drosse, till it [k] bee pure, and take away all thy tinne.

26 [l] And I wil restore thy iudges as at the first, and thy counsellers as at the beginning: afterward shalt thou be called a citie of righteousnesse, and a faithfull citie.

27 Zion shalbe redeemed in iudgement, and they that returne in her, in [m] iustice.

28 And the [n] destruction of the transgressers and of the sinners shalbe together: and they that forsake the Lord, shalbe consumed.

29 For they shalbe confounded for the [o] okes, which ye haue desired, and ye shalbe ashamed of the gardens, that ye haue chosen.

30 For ye shalbe as an oke, whose leafe fadeth: and as a garden that hath no water.

31 And the strong shalbe as [p] towe, and the maker thereof, as a sparke: and they shall both burne together, and none shall quench them.

CHAP. II.

2 The Church shall be restored by Christ, and the Gentiles called. 6 The punishment of the rebellious and obstinate.

THe word that Isaiah the sonne of Amoz saw vpon Iudah and Ierusalem.

2 * It [a] shall be in the last dayes, that [q] mountaine of the house of the Lord shalbe prepared in the top of the mountaines, and [b] shalbe exalted aboue the hilles, and al nations shal [c] flow vnto it.

3 And many people shall go, and say, Come, and let vs go vp to [d] the mountaine of the Lord, to the house of the God of Iaakob, and he will teach vs his wayes, and we will walke in his paths: * for the [e] Law shall goe foorth of Zion, and the word of the Lord from [f] Ierusalem,

4 And [g] hee shall iudge among the nations, and [h] rebuke many people: they shall [i] breake their swords also into mattocks, and their speares into sythes: nation shall not lift vp a sworde against nation, neither shall they learne [k] to fight any more.

5 O house of Iaakob, come yee, and let vs [l] walke in the Lawe of the Lord.

6 Surely thou [m] hast forsaken thy people, the house of Iaakob, because they are [n] full of the East maners, and are sorcerers as the Philistims, [o] and abound with strange children.

7 Their land also was full of [p] siluer & gold, and there was none ende of their treasures: and their lande was full of horses, and their charets were infinite.

8 Their land also was full of idoles: they worshipped the worke of their owne hands, which their owne fingers haue made.

9 And a man bowed himselfe, and a man [q] humbled himselfe: therefore [r] spare them not.

10 Enter into the rocke, and hide thee in the dust from before the feare of the Lord, and from the glory of his maiestie.

11 The hie looke of man shall bee humbled, and the loftinesse of men shalbe abased, and the Lord onely shall be exalted in [s] that day.

12 For the day of the Lorde of hostes [t] vpon all the proude and hautie, and vpon all that is exalted: and it shalbe made lowe.

13 Euen vpon all the cedars of Lebanon, that are hie & exalted, & vpon all the okes of Bashan, 14 And vpon all the hie [u] mountaines, and vpon all the hilles that are lifted vp,

15 And vpon euery hie tower, and vpon euery strong wall,

16 And vpon [u] all the shippes of Tarshish, and t Without faith and repentance.

u Your sacrifices offered in the new moones and feasts: hee condemneth hereby hypocrites, which thinke to please God with ceremonies, and they themselues are voyde of faith and mercie.

x He sheweth that where men be giuen to auarice, deceite, crueltie and extortion, which is meant by blood, there God will shew his anger, and not accept them, though they seeme neuer so holy, as Chap. 59.3.

y By this outward washing, he meaneth the spirituall: exhorting the Iewes to repent and amend their liues.

z This kinde of reasoning, by the second table, the Scriptures vse in many places against the hypocrites, who pretend most holines and religion in word, but when their charitie and loue toward their brethren should appeare, they declare that they haue neither faith nor religion.

a To know if I doe accuse you without cause.

b Least sinners should pretend any rigour on Gods part, he only willeth them to be pure in heart, and he will forgiue all their sinnes, were they neuer so many or great.

c He sheweth that whatsoeuer aduersitie man indureth, it ought to be attributed to his owne incredulitie and disobedience.

d That is, Ierusalem, which had promised fidelitie vnto me, as a wife to her husband.

e Giuen to couetousnes & extortiō, which he signified before by blood, ver. 15.

f Whatsoeuer was pure in thee before, is now corrupt, though thou haue an outward shew.

g That is, they mainteine the wicked and the extortioners, and not only do not punish them, but are themselues such.

h When God wil shew himselfe mercifull to his Church, he calleth himselfe, The holy one of Israel: but when he hath to do with his enemies, he is called Mightie, as against whom no power is able to resist.

i. I will take vengeance of mine aduersaries the Iewes and so satisfie my desire by punishing them. Which thing yet hee doth with a griefe because of his conenant.

k Least the faithfull among them should be ouercome with this threatning he addeth this consolation.

l It is only the worke of God to purifie the heart of man, which thing he doth because of his promise, made concerning the saluation of his Church.

m By iustice, is ment Gods faithfull promise which is the cause of the deliuerance of his Church.

n The wicked shall not be partakers of Gods promise. Psal 92 9.

o That is, the trees and pleasant places, where ye commit idolatrie, which was forbidden, Deut. 16.22.

p The false god, wherein ye put your confidence, shalbe consumed as easily as a piece of towe.

a The decree and ordinance of God, touching the restauration of the Church, which is chiefly meant of the time of Christ.

b It is in an euident place to be seene and discerned.

c When the kingdome of Christ shalbe enlarged by the preaching of the doctrine. Here also is declared the zeale of the children of God, when they are called.

d Alluding to mount Zion, where the visible Church then was.

e Meaning, the whole doctrine of saluation.

f This was accomplished, when the Gospel was first preached in Ierusalem, and from thence went thorow al the world.

g The Lord, which is Christ, shall haue all power giuen him.

h That they may acknowledge their sinnes and turne to him.

i He sheweth the fruite of the peace, which the Gospel should bring: to wit, that men should doe good one to another, where as before they were enemies.

k He speaketh not against the vse of weapons & lawful warre, but sheweth how the hearts of the godly shalbe affected one toward another: which peace and loue doth begin and grow in this life, but shalbe perfited, when we are ioyned with our head Christ Iesus.

l Seing the Gentiles will be so ready, make you haste and shew them the way to worship God.

m The Prophet seeing the small hope, that the Iewes would conuert, complaineth to God, as though he had vtterly forsaken them for their sinnes.

n Full of the corruption that reigned chiefly in the East parts.

o They altogether giue themselues to the facions of other nations.

p The Prophet first condemned their superstition and idolatrie: next their couetousnesse, and thirdly their vaine trust in worldly meanes.

q He noteth the nature of the idolaters, which are neuer satisfied in their superstitions.

r Thus the Prophet spake, being inflamed with the zeale of Gods glory, and that he might feare them with Gods iudgement.

s Meaning, as soone as God shall beginne to execute his iudgements.

t By hie trees and mountaines are meant them that are proud and loftie, and thinke themselues most strong in this world.

u He condemneth their vaine confidence, which they had in strong holdes, and in their rich marchandise, which brought in vaine pleasures, wherewith mens mindes became effeminate.

17 And the hautinesse of men shalbe brought low, and the loftinesse of men shalbe abased, and the Lord shall onely be exalted in that day.

18 And the idoles will he vtterly destroy.

19 Then they shal goe * into the holes of the rockes, & into the caues of the earth, from before the feare of the Lord, and from the glory of his maiestie, when he shall arise to destroy the earth.

20 At that day shall man cast away his siluer idoles, and his golden idoles (which they had made themselues to worship them) x to the mowles and to the backes, 21 To go into the holes of the rockes, and into the tops of the ragged rockes from before the feare of the Lord, and from the glory of his maiestie, when he shal rise to destroy the earth.

22 Cease you from the man whose y breath is in his nostrels: for wherein is he to be esteemed?

* Hosea 10.8. Luke 23.30. reuel. 6.16. and 9.6.

x They shall cast them into most vile and filthy places, when they perceiue that they are not able to helpe them.

y Cast off your vaine confidence of man, whose life is so fraile, that if his nose be stopped, he is dead, and consider that you haue to doe with God.

CHAP. III.

1 For the sinne of the people God will take away the wise men and giue them foolish princes. 14 The couetousnesse of the gouernours. 16 The pride of the women.

FOr loe, the Lord God of hostes will take away from Ierusalem and from Iudah the stay a and the strength: euen all the stay of bread, and all the stay of water,

2 The strong man, and the man of warre, b the iudge and the prophet, the prudent, and the aged,

3 The captaine of fiftie, and the honourable, and the counseller, and the cunning artificer, and c the eloquent man.

4 And I will appoint d children to be their princes, and babes shall rule ouer them.

5 The people shalbe e oppressed one of another, and euery one by his neighbour: the children shall presume against the ancient, and the vile against the honourable.

6 When euery one shall f take holde of his brother of the house of his father, and say, Thou hast clothing: thou shalt be our prince, and let this fall be vnder thine hand:

7 In that day he shall g sweare, saying, I can not be an helper: for there is no bread in mine house, nor clothing: therefore make me no prince of the people.

8 Doubtlesse Ierusalem is fallen, and Iudah is fallen downe, because their tongue & workes are against the Lord, to prouoke the eies of his glory.

9 The h triall of their countenance testifieth against them, yea, they declare their sinnes, as Sodom, they hid them not. Wo be vnto their soules: for they haue rewarded euill vnto themselues.

10 i Say ye, Surely it shalbe well with the iust: for they shall eate the fruite of their workes.

11 Woe be to the wicked, it shalbe euill with him: for the reward of his hands shalbe giuen him.

12 k Children are extortioners of my people, and women haue rule ouer them: O my people, they that leade thee, cause thee to erre, & destroy the way of thy paths.

13 The Lord standeth vp to pleade, yea, hee standeth to iudge the people.

14 The Lord shall enter into iudgement with the l Ancients of his people & the princes thereof: for ye haue eaten vp the vineyard: the spoyle of the poore u in your houses.

15 What haue ye to do, that ye beate my people to pieces, m and grinde the faces of the poore, saith the Lord, euen the Lord of hostes?

16 The Lord also saith, n Because the daughters of Zion are hautie, and walke with o stretched out neckes, and with p wandring eyes, walking and q minsing as they goe, and making a r tinckling with their feete, 17 Therefore shall the Lorde make the heads of the daughters of Zion balde, and the Lorde shal discouer their secret partes.

18 In that day shall the Lorde take away the ornament of the slippers, and the calles, and the round tyres,

19 The sweete balles, and the bracelets, and the bonnets,

20 The tyres of the head, and the sloppes, and the headbands, and the tablets, and the earerings,

21 The rings and the mufflers,

22 The costly apparell and the vailes, and the wimples, and the crisping pinnes,

23 And the glasses, and the fine linnen, and the hoodes and the s launes.

24 And in steade of sweete sauour, there shall be stinke, and in steade of a girdle, a rent, and in steade of dressing of the haire, baldnesse, and in steade of a stomacher, a girding of sackecloth, and burning in steade of beautie.

25 Thy men t shall fall by the sword, and thy strength in the battell.

26 Then shall her gates mourne and lament, and she, being desolate, shall sit vpon the ground.

a Because they trusted in their abundance and prosperity, he sheweth that they should be taken from them.

b The temporall gouernour and minister.

c By these he meaneth that God would take away euery thing that was in any estimation, and wherein they had any occasion to vaunt themselues.

d Not onely in age, but in wit, maners, knowledge and strength.

e For lacke of good regiment and order.

f He sheweth that this plague shalbe so horrible, that contrary to the common maner of men, which by nature are ambitious, none shalbe found able or willing to be their gouernour.

g Feare shall rather cause him to forsweare himself, then to take such a dangerous charge vpon him.

h When God shal examine their deedes whereupon they now set an impudent face, hee shall finde the marke of their impietie in their forehead.

i Be ye that are godly assured that God wil defend you in the mids of these troubles. k Because the wicked people were more addict to their princes, then to the commandements of God, hee sheweth that hee would giue them such princes, by whom they should haue no helpe, but that should be manifest tokens of his wrath, because they should be fooles effeminate. l Meaning that the rulers and gouernours had destroyed his Church, & not preserued it, according to their duetie.

m That is, yee shewe all crueltie against them.

n He menaceth the people, because of the arrogancie and pride of their women, which gaue themselues to all wantonnesse and dissolution.

o Which declared their pride.

p As a signe, that they were not chaste.

q Which shewed their wantonnes.

r They delited then in slippers that did creake, or had little plates sowed vpon them, which tinkled as they went.

s In rehearsing all these things particularly, he sheweth the lightnesse, and vanitie of such as cannot be content with comely apparell according to their degree.

t Meaning, that God wil not only punish the women, but their husbands, which haue suffered this dissolutenesse, and also the common weale, which hath not remedied it.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The small remnant of men after the destruction of Ierusalem. 2 The graces of God vpon them that remaine.

AND in that day shal a seuen women take hold of one man, saying, Wee will eate our owne bread, and we wil weare our owne garments: only b let vs be called by thy name, and take away our c reproch.

2 In that day shall the d bud of the Lorde be beautifull and glorious, and the fruite of the earth shalbe excellent and pleasant for them that are escaped of Israel.

3 Then he that shalbe left in Zion, and hee that shall remaine in Ierusalem, shalbe called holy, and euery one shalbe e written among the liuing in Ierusalem,

4 When the Lord shal wash the filthinesse of the daughters of Zion, and purge the f blood of Ierusalem out of the middes thereof by the spirit of g iudgement, and by the spirit of burning.

5 And the Lord shal create vpon euery place of mount Zion, and vpon the assemblies thereof, h a cloude and smoke by day, and the shining of a flaming fire by night: for vpon all the i glory shall be a defence.

6 And a couering shalbe for a shadow in the day for the heate, and a place of refuge and a couert for the storme k and for the raine.

a When God shal execute the vengeance, there shall not be one man found to bee the head to many women, and they contrary to womanly shamefastnesse, shall seeke vnto men, and offer themselues to any condition.

b Be thou our husband, and let vs be called thy wiues.

c For so they thought it to be without an head and husband.

d He comforteth the Church in this desolation, which shal spring vp like a bud, signifying that Gods graces should be as plentifull toward the faithfull, as though they sprang out of the earth, as Chap 45.8. Some by the budde of the Lord meane Christ. e He alludeth to the booke of life, whereof reade Exod 32.32: meaning Gods secret counsell, wherein his elect are predestinate to life euerlasting. f That is, the crueltie, extortion, auarice, and all wickednesse. g When things shalbe redressed that were amisse. h He alludeth to the pillar of the cloude, Exod. 13.21. meaning, that Gods fauour and protection should appeare in euery place. i The faithfull are called the glory of God, because his image, and tokens of his grace shine in them. k God promiseth to be the defence of his Church against all troubles and dangers.

CHAP. V.

1 Vnder the similitude of the vine, hee describeth the state of the people. 8 Of their auarice. 11 Their drunkennesse. 13 Of their captiuitie.

a The Prophet by this song doth set before the peoples eyes, their ingratitude, and Gods mercie.

NOwe will a I sing to my b beloued a song of my beloued to his vineyard, * My beloued had a c vineyard in a very fruitfull hill,

2 And hee hedged it, and gathered out the stones of it, and hee planted it with the best plants, d and hee built a towre in the middes thereof, and made a winepresse therein: then hee looked that it should bring foorth grapes: but it brought foorth e wilde grapes.

3 Now therefore, O inhabitants of Ierusalem and men of Iudah, iudge, I pray you, f betweene me and my vineyard.

4 What could I haue done any more to my vineyard that I haue not done vnto it? why haue I looked that it should bring foorth grapes, and it bringeth foorth wilde grapes?

5 And nowe I will tell you what I wil doe to my vineyard: I g will take away the hedge thereof, and it shall be eaten vp: I wil breake the wall thereof, and it shalbe troden downe:

6 And I wil lay it waste: it shall not be cut, nor digged, but briers, and thornes shal growe vp: I wil also commaund the cloudes that they raine no raine vpon it.

7 Surely the vineyard of the Lord of hostes is the house of Israel, and the men of Iudah are his pleasant plant, and hee looked for h iudgement, but beholde oppression: for righteousnesse, but beholde i a crying.

8 Woe vnto them that ioyne house to house, and lay fielde to fielde, till there be no k place, that yee may be placed by your selues in the mids of the earth.

9 This is in mine l eares, sayth the Lorde of hostes. Surely many houses shalbe desolate, euen great and faire without inhabitant.

10 For ten acres of vines shal yeeld one m bath, and the seed of an n homer shal yeeld an o ephah.

11 ¶ Woe vnto them, that p rise vp earely to followe drunkennesse, and to them that continue vntill q night, till the wine doe inflame them.

12 And the harpe and viole, timbrel, and pipe, and wine are in their feasts: but they regard not the r worke of the Lorde, neither consider the worke of his hands.

13 Therefore my people s is gone into captiuitie, because they had t no knowledge, and the glorie thereof are men famished, and the multitude thereof is dried vp with thirst.

14 Therfore u hel hath inlarged it selfe, & hath opened his mouth, without measure, & their glorie, and their multitude, and their pompe, and he that reioyceth among them, shal descend into it.

15 And man shalbe brought downe, and man shalbe humbled, euen the eyes of the proud shall be humbled.

16 And the Lorde of hostes shalbe exalted in iudgement, and the holy God shalbe sanctified in iustice.

17 Then shall the x lambes feede after their maner, and the strangers shall eate the desolate places of the fat.

18 ¶ Woe vnto them, that draw iniquitie with y cordes of vanitie, and sinne, as with cart ropes:

19 Which say, z Let him make speede: let him hasten his worke, that we may see it: and let the counsell of the holy one of Israel draw neere and come, that we may know it.

20 Woe vnto them that speake good of euill, a and euill of good, which put darkenes for light, and light for darkenes, that put bitter for sweete, and sweete for sowre.

21 Woe vnto them that are b wise in their owne eyes, and prudent in their owne sight.

22 Wo vnto them that are c mightie to drinke wine, and to them that are strong to powre in strong drinke:

23 Which iustifie the wicked for a rewarde, and take away the righteousnes of the righteous from him.

24 Therefore as the flame of fire deuoureth the stubble, and as the chaffe is consumed of the flame: so their d roote shalbe as rottennes, & their bud shall rise vp like dust, because they haue cast off the Lawe of the Lorde of hostes, and contemned the word of the holy one of Israel.

25 Therefore is the wrath of the Lord kindled against his people, and hee hath stretched out his e hand vpon them, and hath smitten them that the mountaines did tremble: and their carkases were torne in the mids of the streetes, and for all this his wrath was not turned away, but his hand was stretched out still.

26 And hee wil lift vp a signe f vnto the nations afarre, and wil hisse vnto them from the ende of the earth: and beholde, they shal come hastily with speede.

27 None shall g faint nor fall among them: none shall slumber nor sleepe, neither shall the girdle of his loynes be loosed, nor the latchet of his shooes be broken:

28 Whose arrowes shalbe sharpe, and all his bowes bent: his horse hoofes shalbe thought like flint, and his wheeles like a whirlewinde.

29 His roaring shalbe like a lyon, and hee shall roare like lyons whelps: they shal h roare, and lay holde of the praye: they shall take it away, and none shal deliuer it.

30 And in that day they shal roare vpon them, as the roaring of the sea: and if k they looke vnto the earth, beholde darkenesse, and sorow, and the light shalbe darkened in their l skie.

b Which are contemners of all doctrine and admonition.

c Which are neuer weary but shewe their strength, and bragge in gluttony and drunkennes.

d Both they and their posteritie, so that nothing shall be left.

e Hee sheweth that God had so sore punished this people, that the dumbe creatures, if they had bene so plagued, would haue bene more sensible: and therefore his plagues must continue till they begiune to feele them.

f He wil make the Babylonians to come against them at his becke, and to fight vnder his standerd.

g They shall be prompt, and lusty to execute Gods vengeance.

h The enemie shall haue none impediment.

i Whereby is declared the crueltie of the enemie.

k The Iewes shall finde no succour.

l In the land of Iudah.

CHAP. VI.

1 Hee sheweth his vocation by the vision of the diuine maiestie. 9 He sheweth the obstinacie of the people. 11 The destruction of the land. 13 The remnant reserued.

IN the yeere of the death of King Vzziah, a I saw also the Lord sitting vpon an b high throne, and lifted vp, and the lower c partes thereof filled the Temple.

a God sheweth not himselfe to man in his maiestie, but according as mans capacitie is able to comprehend him: that is, by visible signes, as Iohn Baptist sawe the holy Ghost in the forme of a 2 The d Seraphims stood vpon it: euery one had sixe wings: with twaine he couered his e face, and with twaine he couered his f feete, and with twaine he did g flie.

doue. b As a iudge ready to giue sentence. c Of his garment, or of his throne. d They were Angels, so called, because they were of a fierie colour, to signifie that they burnt in the loue of God; or were light as fire to execute his will. e Signifying, that they were not able to endure the brightnesse of Gods glorie. f Whereby was declared that man was not able to see the brightnesse of God in them. g Which thing declareth the prompt obedience of the Angels to execute Gods commandement.

y Which vse all allurements, occasions, and excuses to harden their conscience in sinne.

z Hee sheweth what are the words of the wicked, when they are menaced with Gods iudgements, 2. Peter 3 4.

a Which are not ashamed of sinne, not care for honestie, but are growen to a desperate impietie.

3 And one cryed to another, and sayd; h Holy, holy, holy is the Lord of hostes: the whole i world is full of his glory.

4 And the lintels of the doore cheekes k moued at the voyce of him that cryed, and the house was filled with smoke.

5 Then I sayd, l Wo is me: for I am vndone, because I am a man of polluted lips, & I dwell in the middes of a people of polluted lips: for mine eyes haue seene the King, and Lord of hostes.

6 Then flewe one of the Seraphims vnto me with an hote cole in his hand, which hee had taken from the m altar with the tongs:

7 And he touched my mouth, and sayd, Loe, this hath touched thy lips, and thine iniquitie shall be taken away, and thy n sinne shalbe purged.

8 Also I heard the voyce of the Lord, saying, Whome shall I send? and who shall goe for vs? Then I said, Here am I, send me.

9 And he sayd, Goe, and say vnto this people, o Ye shall heare in deede, but ye shall not vnderstand: ye shall plainely see, and not perceiue.

10 Make the heart of this people fat, make their eares heauie, and shut their eyes, lest they see with their eyes, & heare with their eares, & vnderstand with their hearts, and conuert, and he heale them.

11 Then sayd I, Lord, p how long? And hee answered, Vntill the cities be wasted without inhabitant, and the houses without man, and the land be vtterly desolate, 12 And the Lord haue remooued men farre away, and there be a great desolation in the mids of the land.

13 But yet in it shalbe q a tenth, and shall returne, & shalbe eaten vp as an elme, or as an oke, which haue a substance in them, when they cast their leaues: so the holy seede shall be the substance thereof.

h This is repetition signifieth, that the holy Angels can not satisfie themselues in praising God, to teach vs that in all our liues we should giue our selues to the continuall praise of God.

i His glory doeth not onely appeare in the heauens, but through all the world, & therfore all creatures are bound to praise him.

k Which things were to confirme the Prophet, that it was not the voyce of man: and by the smoke was signified the blindnesse that should come vpon the Iewes.

l He speaketh this for two causes: the one, because he that was a mortall creature, & therefore had more neede to glorifie God then the Angels, did it not: and the other, because the more neere a man approcheth to God, the more doeth he know his owne sinne and corruption.

m Of the burnt offerings, where the fire neuer went out.

n This declareth that man cannot render true obedience to God, till he haue purged vs.

o Whereby is declared that for the malice of man God will not immediatly take away his word, but hee will cause it to be preached to their condemnation, when as they will not learne thereby to obey his will, and be saued. hereby he exhorteth the ministers to doe their duetie, and answereth to the wicked murmurers, that through their owne malice their heart is hardened. Matt. 13. 14. ac. 28. 26. rom. 11. 8.

p As hee was mooued with the zeale of Gods glory, so was he touched with a charitable affection toward the people.

q Meaning, the tenth part: or as some write, it was reuealed to Isaiah for the confirmation of his prophecie, that ten Kings should come before their captiuitie, as were from Vzziah to Zedekiah.

r For the few persons they shall seeme to be eaten vp: yet they shall after florish as a tree, which in winter looseth his leaues, and seemeth to be dead, yet in summer is fresh, and greene.

CHAP. VII.

1 Ierusalem besieged. 4 Isaiah comforteth the King. 14 Christ is promised.

AND in the dayes of * Ahaz, the sonne of Iotham, the sonne of Vzziah King of Iudah, Rezin the King of ‖ Aram a came vp, and Pekah the sonne of Remaliah King of Israel, to Ierusalem to fight against it, but he could not ouercome it.

2 And it was tolde the house of b Dauid, saying, Aram is ioyned with c Ephraim: therefore his heart was d mooued, and the heart of his people, as the trees of the forest are mooued by the winde.

3 ¶ Then sayde the Lord vnto Isaiah, Goe foorth nowe to meete Ahaz (thou and e Shear-iashub thy sonne) at the ende of the conduit of the vpper poole, in the path of the fullers fielde,

4 And say vnto him, Take heede and be still: feare not, neither bee faint hearted for the two tailes of the smoking f firebrands, for the furious wrath of Rezin and of Aram, and of Remaliahs sonne.

5 Because Aram hath taken wicked counsell against thee, and Ephraim, and Remaliahs sonne, saying,

6 Let vs goe vp against Iudah, and let vs waken them vp, and make a breach therein for vs, and set a King in the mids thereof, euen the sonne of g Tabeal.

7 Thus saith the Lord God, it shall not stand, neither shall it be.

8 For the head of Aram is Damascus, and the head of Damascus is Rezin: and within fiue and h threescore yeere, Ephraim shall bee destroyed from being a people.

9 And the head of Ephraim is Samaria, and the head of Samaria is Remaliahs sonne. If ye beleeue not, surely ye shall not be established.

10 ¶ And the Lord spake againe vnto Ahaz, saying,

11 Aske i a signe for thee of the Lorde thy God: aske it, either in the depth beneath, or in the height aboue.

12 But Ahaz sayde, I will not aske, neither will I k tempt the Lord.

13 Then he sayde, Heare you now, O house of Dauid. Is it a small thing for you to grieue l men, that ye will also grieue my God?

14 Therefore the Lord m himselfe will giue you a signe. Beholde, the virgine shall conceiue and beare a sonne, and shall call his name ‖ Immanu-el.

23 n Butter and hony shall he eate, till he haue knowledge to refuse the euill, and to chuse the good.

16 For afore the o childe shall haue knowledge to eschewe the euill, and to chuse the good, the land, that thou abhorrest, shall be forsaken of both her Kings.

17 The Lorde shall bring vpon thee, and vpon thy people, and vpon thy fathers house (the dayes that are not come from the day that p Ephraim departed from Iudah) euen the King of q Asshur.

18 And in that day shall the Lord hisse for the r flie that is at the vttermost part of the floods of Egypt, and for the bee which is in the land of Asshur, 19 And they shall come and shall light all in the desolate valleys, and in the holes of the rockes, and vpon all thornie places, and vpon all bushy s places.

20 In that day shall the Lord shaue with a rasor that is hired, euen by them beyond the Riuer, by the King of Asshur, the head and the haire of the t feete, and it shall consume the beard.

21 And in the same day shall a man u nourish a yong kowe, and two sheepe.

22 And for the x abundance of milke, that they shall giue, hee shall eate butter: for butter and hony shall euery one eate, which is left within the land.

f Which haue but a litle smoke and shall quickely be quenched.

g Which was an Israelite, and as I esteeme, enemie to the house of Dauid.

h Counting from the fiue and twentieth yeere of the reigne of Vzziah, at what time Amos prophecied this thing, & now Isaiah confirmeth that the Israelites should be led into perpetuall captiuitie, which thing came to passe within twentie yeere after that Isaiah did this message.

i For the confirmation of this thing, that thine enemies shall be destroyed and thou preserued.

k Not to beleeue Gods word without a signe, is to tempt God: but to refuse a signe when God offereth it for the ayde & helpe of our infirmitie, is to rebell against him.

l You thinke you haue to doe with men, when ye contemne Gods messengers: but it is God against whom you bend your selues

m Forasmuch as thou actwnot thy, ‖ Lord for his owne promes sake will giue a signe, which shalbe, that Christ the Sauiour of his Church and the effect of all signes and miracles shalbe reuiled.

‖ Or, God with vs, which name can agree to none, but to him that is both God and man.

n Meaning, that Christ is not onely God, but man also, because he shalbe nourished as other men, vntill the age of discretion.

o Not meaning Christ, but any childe: for before a childe can come to the yeeres of discretion, the Kings of Samaria and Syria shalbe destroyed.

p Since the time that the twelue Tribes rebelled vnder Roboam.

q In whom thou hast put thy trust

r Meaning the Egyptians: for by reason the country is hote & moyst, it is full of flies, as Assyria is full of bees.

s Signifying, that no place shall be free from them.

t That is, that which is from the belly downe wards: meaning, that he would destroy both great and small.

u He that before had a great number of cattell, shall be content with one kowe and two sheepe.

x The number of men shall be so small, that a fewe beastes shalbe able to nourish all abundantly.

23 And at the same day euery place, wherein shalbe a thousand vines, shalbe a thousand pieces of siluer: so it shalbe for the briers, and for the thornes.

24 With arrowes and with y bowe shall one come thither: because all the land shall be briers and thornes.

25 But on z all the mountaines, which shalbe digged with the mattocke, there shall not come thither the feare of briers and thornes: but they shalbe for the sending out of bullocks, and for the treading of sheepe.

1 The captiuitie of Israel and Iudah by the Assyrians. 6 The infidelitie of the Iewes. 9 The destruction of the Assyrians. 14 Christ the stone of stumbling to the wicked. 19 The word of God must be inquired at.

MOreouer the Lord said vnto me, Take thee a a great roll, and write in it b with a mans pen, Make speede to the spoyle: haste to the praye:

2 Then I tooke vnto me c faithfull witnesses, to recorde, Vriah the Priest, and Zechariah the sonne of Ieberechiah.

3 After, I came vnto the d Prophetesse, which conceiued and bare a sonne. Then sayd the Lord to me, Call his name, ‖ Maher-shalal hash-baz.

4 For before the e childe shall haue knowledge to crye, My father and my mother, f he shal take away the riches of Damascus, and the spoyle of Samaria, before the king of Asshur.

5 ¶ And the Lord spake yet againe vnto me, saying,

6 Because this people hath refused the waters of g Shiloah that runne softly, and reioyce with Rezin, and the sonne of Remaliah,

7 Nowe therefore, beholde, the Lord bringeth vp vpon them the waters of h the Riuer mightie and great, euen the King of Asshur with all his glory, and he shall come vp vpon all their riuers, and goe ouer all their banks.

8 And shall breake into Iudah, and shal ouerflowe and passe through, and shall come vp to the i necke, and the stretching out of his wings shall fill the breadth of thy land, O k Immanuel.

9 Gather together on heapes, O ye l people, and ye shalbe broken in pieces, and hearken all ye of farre countreys: gird your selues, and you shalbe broken in pieces: gird your selues, and you shalbe broken in pieces.

10 Take counsell together, yet it shall bee brought to nought: pronounce a decree, yet shall it not stand: for God is with vs.

11 For the Lorde spake thus to mee in taking m of mine hand, and taught me, that I should not walke in the way of this people, saying,

12 Say ye not, A n confederacie to all them, to whome this people sayth a confederacie: neither feare you o their feare, nor be afrayd of them.

13 P Sanctifie the Lord of hostes, and let him be your feare, and let him be your dread, 14 And he shall be as a q Sanctuarie: but as a stumbling stone, and as a rocke to fall vpon, to both the houses of Israel, and as a snare and as a net to the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

15 And many among them shall stumble, and shall fall and shalbe broken and shalbe snared and shalbe taken.

16 r Binde vp the testimonie: seale vp the Law among my disciples.

17 Therefore I will waite vpon the Lorde that hath hid his face from the house of Iaakob, and I will looke for him.

18 Beholde, I and the s children whome the Lorde hath giuen mee, are as signes and as wonders in Israel, t by the Lorde of hostes, which dwelleth in mount Zion, 19 And when they shall say vnto you, Enquire at them that haue a spirit of diuination, and at the soothsayers, which whisper and murmure u Should not a people enquire at their God? from the x liuing to the dead?

20 To the y Lawe, and to the testimonie, if they speake not according to this word: it is because there is no z light in them.

21 Then he that is afflicted and famished, shall goe to and fro in a it: and when he shalbe hungry, hee shall euen fret himselfe, b and curse his King and his gods, and shall looke vpward.

his shoulder, and he shall call his name Wonderfull, Counseller, The mightie God, The euerlasting [k] Father, The Prince of peace.

7 The increase of his gouernement and peace shall haue none end: he shall sit vpon the throne of Dauid, and vpon his kingdome, to order it, and to stablish it with iudgement & with iustice, from henceforth, euen for euer: [l] the zeale of the Lord of hostes will performe this.

8 ¶ The Lord hath sent a word into Iaakob, and it hath lighted vpon [m] Israel.

9 And all the people shall knowe, euen Ephraim, and the inhabitant of Samaria, that say in the pride and presumption of the heart,

10 The [n] brickes are fallen, but we wil builde it with hewen stones: the wilde figge trees are cut downe, but we will change them into cedars.

11 Neuertheless, the Lorde will raise vp the aduersaries of [o] Rezin against him, and ioyne his enemies together.

12 Aram before & the Philistims behinde, and they shall deuoure Israel with open mouth: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

13 For the people turneth not vnto him that smiteth them, neither doe they seeke the Lord of hostes.

14 Therefore wil the Lord cut off from Israel head and taile, branch and rush in one day.

15 The ancient and the honorable man, he is the head: and the prophet that teacheth lies, hee is the taile.

16 For the leaders of the people cause them to erre: and they that are led by them, are deuoured.

17 Therfore shal the Lord haue no pleasure in their yong men, neither will he haue compassion of their fatherlesse & of their widowes: for euery one is an hypocrite and wicked, and euery mouth speaketh folly: yet for al this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

18 For wickednesse [p] burneth as a fire: it deuoureth the briers and the thornes, and wil kindle in the thicke places of the forest: and they shall mount vp like the lifting vp of smoke.

19 By the wrath of the Lord of hosts shal the land be darkened, and the people shall be as the meate of the fire: no man shal [q] spare his brother.

20 And he shall snatch at the right hand, and be hungrie: and hee shall eate on the left hand, and shall not be satisfied: euery one shall eate the [r] flesh of his owne arme.

21 Manasseh Ephraim: and Ephraim Manasseh, and they both shalbe against Iudah. yet for al this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

CHAP. X.

1 Of wicked lawmakers. 5 God will punish his people by the Assyrians and after destroy them. 21 The remnant of Israel shalbe saued.

WO vnto them that decree wicked decrees, and [a] write grieuous things,

2 To keepe backe the poore from iudgement, and to take away the iudgement of the poore of my people, that widowes may be their praye, and that they may spoyle the fatherlesse.

3 What wil ye doe now in the day of visitation: and of destruction, which shall come from [b] farre? to whom wil ye flee for helpe? and where wil ye leaue your [c] glory?

4 [d] Without mee euery one shall fall among them that are bound, and they shall fall downe among the slaine: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

5 ¶ O [e] Asshur, the rodde of my wrath: and the staffe in their hands is mine indignation.

6 I will sende [f] him to a dissembling nation, and I will giue him a charge against the people of my wrath to take the spoyle & to take the pray, and to tread them vnder feete like the mire in the streete.

7 But hee thinketh not so, neither doeth his heart esteeme it so: but he imagineth to destroy and to cut off not a few nations.

8 For he saith, Are not my princes altogether Kings?

9 Is not Calno as [g] Carchemish? Is not Hamath like Arpad? Is not Samaria as Damascus?

10 Like as mine hand hath founde the kingdomes of the idoles, seeing their idoles were aboue Ierusalem, and aboue Samaria:

11 Shall not I, as I haue done to Samaria, and to the idoles thereof, so doe to Ierusalem, and to the idoles thereof?

12 ¶ But when the Lord hath accomplished [h] all his worke vpon mount Zion and Ierusalem, I wil visit the fruit of the proud heart [i] of the king of Asshur, and his glorious and proude lookes, 13 Because he said, By the power of mine owne hand haue I done it, & by my wisedome, because I am wise: therefore I haue remoued the borders of the people, & haue spoiled their treasures, & haue pulled downe the inhabitants like a valiant man.

14 And mine hand hath found as a nest the riches of the people, and as one gathereth egges that are left, so haue I gathered all the earth: and there was none to moue the wing or to open the mouth, or to whisper.

15 Shal the [k] axe boast it selfe against him that heweth therewith? or shall the sawe exalt it selfe against him that mooueth it? as if the rod should lift vp it selfe against him that taketh it vp, or the staffe should exalt it selfe, as it were no wood.

16 Therefore shal the Lord God of hosts send among his fat men, leanenesse, and vnder his glory he shal kindle a burning, like the burning of fire.

17 And the light of Israel shalbe as a [l] fire, and the Holy one thereof as a flame, and it shal burne, and deuoure [m] his thornes & his briers in one day:

18 And shall consume the glory of his forest, and of his fruitfull fields both soule [n] and flesh: and he shalbe as the [o] fainting of a standard bearer.

19 And the rest of the trees of his forest shall be fewe, that a childe may tell them.

20 ¶ And at that day shal the remnant of Israel, and such as are escaped of the house of Iaakob, stay no more vpon him that smote them, but shall [p] stay vpon the Lord, the holy one of Israel in trueth.

21 The remnant shall returne, euen the remnant of Iaakob vnto the mightie God.

22 For though thy people, O Israel, be as the sand of the sea, yet shall the remnant of them returne. The consumption [q] decreed shall ouerflow with righteousnesse.

23 For the Lord God of hostes shall make the consumption, euen [r] determined, in the middes of all the land.

k The autour of eternitie, and by whom the Church and euery member thereof shalbe preserued for euer, and haue immortall life.

l His singular loue and care for his elect.

m This is another prophesie against them of Samaria, which were mockers and contemners of Gods promises & menaces.

n We were but weake, when the enemie ouercame vs, but we will make our selues so strong, that we wil neither care for our enemies, nor feare Gods threatnings.

o Rezin King of Syria, who was in league with Israel, was slaine by the Assyrians, after whose death, Aram, that is, the Syrians were against Israel, which on the other side were assailed by the Philistims.

p Wickednesse as a bellowes kindleth the fire of Gods wrath, which consumeth all his obstinate enemies.

q Though there were no forrein enemie, yet they shall destroy one another.

r Their griedines shalbe insatiable, so that one brother shal eate vp another, as though he should eate his owne flesh.

a Which write and pronounce a wicked sentence to oppresse the poore: meaning that the wicked magistrates, which were the chiefe cause of mischiefe, should be first punished.

b To wit, from Assyria.

c Your riches & authoritie, that they may be safe, & that ye may receiue them againe.

d Because they haue forsaken me, some shall goe into captiuitie, and the rest shalbe slaine.

e God calleth for the Assyrians to be the executioners of his vengeance.

f That is, the Assyrians against the Iewes, which are but hypocrites: and in this six and seuenth verse is declared the difference of the worke of God, and of the wicked in one very thing and acte: for Gods intention is to chastise them for their amendement, and the Assyrians purpose to destroy them to enriche themselues: thus in respect of Gods iustice, it is Gods worke, but in respect of their owne malice, it is the worke of the deuill.

g Seeing that I haue ouercome al well one citie as another, so that none could resist, shall Ierusalem be able to escape mine hands?

h When he hath sufficiently chastised his people (for he beginneth at his owne house) then will he burne the roddes.

i Meaning, of Sanherib.

k Here we see that no creature is able to doe any thing, but as God appointeth him, and that they are all but his instruments to doe his worke, though the intentions be diuers, as verse 6.

l Meaning, that God is a light to comfort his people, and a fire to burne his enemies.

m That is, the Assyrians.

n To wit, body and soule vtterly.

o When the battell is lost, and the standerd taken.

p This is the ende of Gods plagues towardes his, to bring them to him and to forsake all trust in others.

q This small number which seemed to be consumed, and yet according to Gods decree is saued, shalbe sufficient to fill all the world with righteousnesse.

r God will destroy this land as he hath determined, and after saue a small portion.

24 Therfore thus saith the Lord God of hosts, O my people, that dwellest in Zion, Be not afraid of Ashur: he shal smite thee with a rod, & shal lift vp his staffe against thee after ỹ maner of f Egypt:

25 But yet a very litle time, and the wrath shal be consumed, & mine anger in their destruction.

26 And the Lorde of hostes shal raise vp a scourge for him, according to the plague of t Midian in the rocke Oreb: and as his staffe was vpon the u Sea, so he wil lift it vp after the maner of Egypt.

27 And at that day shall his burden bee taken away from off thy shoulder, and his yoke from off thy necke: and the yoke shalbe destroyed because of x the anoynting.

28 He is come y to Aiath: he is passed into Migron: at Michmash shall he lay vp his armour.

29 They haue gone ouer the foord: they lodged in the lodging at Geba: Ramah is afraid: Gibeah of Saul is fled away.

30 Lift vp thy voice, O daughter Gallim, cause Laish to heare, O poore Anathoth.

31 Madmenah is remoued: the inhabitants of Gebim haue gathered themselues together.

32 Yet there is a time that he wil stay at Nob: he shall lift vp his hand toward the mount of the daughter Zion, the hill of Ierusalem.

33 Behold, the Lord God of hosts shal cut off the z bough with feare, and they of high stature shalbe cut off, and the hie shalbe humbled.

34 And he shall cut away the thicke places of the forest with yron, and Lebanon shall haue a mightie fall.

CHAP. XI.

1 Christ borne of the roote of Ishai. 8 His vertues & kingdome. 6 The fruites of the Gospel. 10 The calling of the Gentiles.

BVt there shall come a a rodde foorth of the stocke of Ishai, and a graffe shall growe out of his rootes.

2 And the Spirit of the Lord shall rest vpon him: the spirite of wisedome and vnderstanding, the Spirit of counsell and strength, the Spirite of knowledge, and of the feare of the Lord,

3 And shall make him prudent in the feare of the Lord: for he shal not iudge after ỹ sight of his eyes, neither reproue by the hearing of his eares.

4 But with righteousnesse shall he iudge the poore, and with equitie shall he reproue for the meeke of the earth: and he shall b smite the earth with the rod of his mouth, and with the breath of his lippes shall he slay the wicked.

5 And iustice shall be the girdle of his loynes, and faithfulnesse the girdle of his reines.

6 The c wolfe also shal dwel with the lambe, and ỹ leopard shall lie with the kid, and the calfe, and the lyon, and the fat beast together, and a litle childe shall leade them.

7 And the kowe and the beare shall feede: their yong ones shall lie together: and the lyon shall eate strawe like the bullocke.

8 And the sucking childe shall play vpon the hole of the aspe, and the wained childe shall put his hand vpon the cockatrice hole.

9 Then shall none hurt nor destroy in all the mountaine of mine holines: for the earth shall be full of the knowledge of the Lord, as the waters that couer the sea.

10 And in that day the roote of Ishai, which shal stand vp for a signe vnto the e people, the nations shal seeke vnto it, and his f rest shall bee glorious.

11 And in the same day shall the Lord stretch out his hand g againe the second time, to possesse the remnant of his people, (which shalbe left) of Ashur, and of Egypt, & of Pathros, and of Ethiopia, and of Elam, and of Shinear, and of Hamath, and of the yles of the sea.

12 And hee shall set vp a signe to the nations and assemble the dispersed of Israel, and gather the scattered of Iudah from the foure corners of the worlde.

13 The hatred also of Ephraim shall depart, & the aduersaries of Iudah shalbe cut off. Ephraim shal not enuie h Iudah, neither shal Iudah vexe Ephraim:

14 But they shal flee vpon the shoulders of the Philistims toward the West: they shal spoile them of the East together: Edom and Moab shalbe the stretching out of their hands, and the children of Ammon in their obedience.

15 The Lorde also shall vtterly destroy the i tongue of the Egyptians sea, and with his mightie winde shal lift vp his hand k ouer the riuer, and shall smite him in hu seuen streames, and cause men to walke therein with shooes.

16 And there shalbe a path to the remnant of his people, which are left of Ashur, like as it was vnto Israel in the day that he came vp out of the land of Egypt.

CHAP. XII.

A thankesgiuing of the faithfull for the mercies of God.

ANd thou a shalt say in that day, O Lord, I wil praise thee: though thou wast angry with me, thy wrath is turned away, & thou comfortest me.

2 Behold, God is my b saluation: I wil trust, and wil not feare: for the Lord God is *my strength and song: he also is become my saluation.

3 Therefore with ioy shall yee c drawe waters out of the welles of saluation.

4 And yee shall say in that day, * Prayse the Lord: call vpon his Name: declare his workes among the people: make mention of them, for his Name is exalted.

5 Sing vnto the Lord, for he hath done excellent things: this is known in all the world.

6 Crie out, and shoute, d O inhabitant of Zion: for great is the holy one of Israel in the midst of thee.

CHAP. XIII.

The Medes and Persians shall destroy Babylon.

THe a burden of Babel, which Isaiah the sonne of Amoz did see.

2 Lift vp a standard vpon the hie mountaine: lift vp the voyce vnto them: wagge the b hand, that they may goe into the gates of the nobles.

3 I haue commanded them, that I haue c sanctified: and I haue called the mighty to my wrath, and them that reioyce in my d glory.

u When the Israelites passed through by the lifting vp of Moses rod, and the enemies were drowned, Exod. 14. 28.

x Because of the promes made to that kingdome, whereby Christes kingdome was prefigured.

y He describeth by what way the Assyrians should come against Ierusalem, to confirme the faithfull, when it should come to passe, that as their plague was come, so should they be deliuered.

z Feare and destruction shall come vpon Iudah for the princes and the people shall all be led away captiues.

a Because the captiuitie of Babylon was a figure of the spirituall captiuitie vnder sinne, he sheweth that our true deliuerance must come by Christ, for as Dauid came out of Ishai a man without dignitie: so Christ should come of a poore carpenters house as out of a dead stocke, Chap. 53. 2.

b All these properties can agree to none but only vnto Christ: for it is he that toucheth the hearts of the faithfull, and mortifieth their concupiscences: and to the reiected he is the sauour of death, and to them that shall perish so that all the world shall be smitten with this rodde, which is his word.

c When because of their wicked affections are named by the names of beastes, where in the like affections reigne: but Christ by his Spirit shall reforme them, and worke in them such mutuall charitie, that they shall be like lambes, fauouring and louing one another, and cast off all their cruell affections, Chap. 65. 25.

d It shalbe in as great abundance as the waters in the sea.

e He prophecieth of the calling of the Gentiles.

f That is, his Church, which he also calleth his rest, Psal. 132. 14.

g For God first deliuered his people out of Egypt, and now promiseth to deliuer them out of their enemies hands, as from the Parthians, Persians, Caldeans and them of Antiochia, among whom they were dispersed: and this is chiefly meant of Christ, who calleth his people being dispersed through all the world.

h Here he describeth the consent that shalbe in his Church, and their victorie against their enemies.

i Meaning, a corner of the sea, that entreth into the land, and hath the forme of a tongue.

k To wit, Nilus, the great riuer of Egypt, which entreth into the sea w seuen streames.

a Hee sheweth how the Church shall prayse God, when they are deliuered from their captiuitie.

a That is, the great calamities, which was propheciedto come on Babel, as a most grieuous burden, which they were not able to beare. In these twelue chapters following, he speaketh of the plagues, wherewith God would smite these strange nations (whom they knewe) to declare that God chastised the Israelites as his children, and these other as his enemies: & also that if God spare not the se that are ignorant, that they must not thinke strange, if hee punish them, which haue knowledge of his Lawe, and keepe it not.

4 The noise of a multitude a in ỹ mountaines, like a great people: a tumultuous voice of ỹ kingdoms of the nations gathered together: the Lord of hostes numbreth the hoste of the battell.

5 They come from a farre countrey, from the end of the heauen: euen the Lord with the [e] weapons of his wrath to destroy the whole land.

6 Howle [f] you for the day of the Lord is at hand: it shall come as a destroyer from the Almightie.

7 Therefore shall all hands be weakened, and all mens hearts shall melt,

8 And they shalbe afraid: anguish and sorow shal take them, and they shall haue paine, as a woman that trauaileth: euery one shalbe amased at his neighbour, and their faces shalbe like [g] flames of fire.

9 Beholde, the day of the Lorde commeth, cruel, with wrath and fierce anger to lay the land waste: and he shall destroy the sinners out of it.

10 For the [h] starres of heauen and the planets thereof shal not giue their light: the sunne shall be darkened in his going forth, and the moone shall not cause her light to shine.

11 And I will visite the wickednesse vpon the [i] world, and their iniquitie vpon the wicked, and I will cause the arrogancie of the [k] proude to cease, and wil cast downe the pride of tyrants.

12 I wil make a [l] man more precious then fine gold, euen a man aboue ỹ wedge of gold of Ophir.

13 Therefore I wil shake the heauen, and the earth shall remooue out of her place in the wrath of the Lorde of hostes, and in the day of his fierce anger.

14 And [m] it shall be as a chased Doe, and as a sheepe that no man taketh vp, euery man shall turne to his owne people, and flee eche one to his owne land.

15 Euery one that is found, shall be striken through: and whosoeuer ioyneth himselfe, shall fall by the sword.

16 * Their [n] children also shall be broken in pieces before their eyes: their houses shalbe spoiled, and their wiues rauished.

17 Beholde, I will stirre vp the Medes against them, which shall not regard siluer, nor be desirous of gold.

18 With bowes also shall they destroy the children, and shall haue no compassion vpon the fruite of the wombe, and their eyes shall not spare the children.

19 And Babel the glorie of kingdomes, the beautie and pride of the Chaldeans, shalbe as the destruction of God * in Sodom and Gomorah.

20 It shall not bee inhabited for euer, neither shall it be dwelled in from generation to generation: neither shall the o Arabian pitch his tents there, neither shall the shepheardes make their foldes there.

21 But p Zijm shal lodge there, and their houses shalbe full of Ohim: Ostriches shal dwel there, and the Satyres shall dance there.

22 And Ijm shall crie in their palaces, and dragons in their pleasant palaces: and the time thereof is ready to come, and the dayes thereof shall not be prolonged.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 The returne of the people from captiuitie. 4 The derision of the King of Babylon. 11 The death of the King. 29 The destruction of the Philistims.

FOr [a] the Lord will haue compassion of Iaakob, and will yet chuse Israel, and cause them to rest in their owne land: and the stranger [b] shall ioyne himselfe vnto them, and they shall cleaue to the house of Iaakob.

2 And the people shall receiue them, and bring them to their owne place, and the house of Israel shall possesse them in the land of the Lorde, for [c] seruants and handmaids: and they shal take them prisoners, whose captiues they were, and haue rule ouer their oppressours.

3 ¶ And in that day when the Lord shall giue thee rest from thy sorrowe, and from thy feare, and from the sore bondage, wherein thou diddest serue,

4 Then shalt thou take vp this prouerbe against the King of Babel, and say, Howe hath the oppressour ceased? and the gold-thirstie Babel rested?

5 The Lorde hath broken the rodde of the wicked, and the scepter of the rulers:

6 Which smote the people in anger with a continuall plague, and ruled the nations in wrath: if any were persecuted, he did [d] not let.

7 The whole worlde is at [e] rest and is quiet: they sing for ioy.

8 Also the firre trees reioyced of thee, and the cedars of Lebanon, saying, Since thou art laid downe, no hewer came vp against vs.

9 Hel beneath is mooued for thee to [f] meete thee at thy comming, raysing vp the dead for thee, euen all the princes of the earth, and hath raised from their thrones all the Kings of the nations.

10 All they shall crie, and say vnto thee, Art thou become weake also as we? art thou become like vnto vs?

11 Thy pompe is brought downe to the graue, and the sound of thy violes: the worme [g] is spread vnder thee, and the wormes couer thee.

12 How art thou fallen from heauen, O [h] Lucifer, sonne of the morning? and cut downe to the ground, which diddest cast lottes vpon the nations?

13 Yet thou saydest in thine heart, I will ascend into heauen, and exalt my throne aboue beside the starres of God: I will sitte also vpon the mount of the Congregation in the sides of the [i] North.

14 I will ascend aboue the height of the cloudes, and I will be like the most high.

15 But thou shalt bee brought downe to the graue, to the sides of the pit.

16 They that see thee, shall [k] looke vpon thee and consider thee, saying, Is this the man that made the earth to tremble, and that did shake the kingdomes?

17 Hee made the worlde as a wildernesse, and destroyed the cities thereof, and opened not [l] the house of his prisoners.

18 All the Kings of the nations, euen they all sleepe in glory, euery one in his owne house.

19 But thou art [m] cast out of thy graue like an abominable branch: like the rayment of those that are slaine, and thrust thorow with a sworde, which goe downe to the stones of the pit, as a carkeise troden vnder feete.

graue, because thou hast destroyed thine owne land, and slaine thy people: the seede of the wicked shal not be renowmed for euer.

21 [n] Prepare a slaughter for his children, for the iniquitie of their fathers: let them not rise vp nor possesse the land, nor fil the face of the world with enemies.

22 ¶ For I will rise vp against them (saieth the Lord of hosts) and wil cut off from Babel the name and the remnant, and the sonne and the nephew, sayth the Lord.

23 And I will make it a possession to the ||hedgehog, and pooles of water, and I wil sweepe it with the besome of destruction, saieth the Lord of hostes.

24 The Lorde of hostes hath sworne, saying, Surely like as I haue purposed, so shall it come to passe, and as I haue consulted, it shall stand:

25 [o] That I wil breake to pieces Asshur in my land, and vpon my mountaines will I treade him vnder foote: so that his yoke shall depart from [p] them, and his burden shall be taken from off their shoulder.

26 This is the counsell that is consulted vpon the whole worlde, and this is the hand stretched out ouer all the nations,

THe [a] burden of Moab. Surely [b] Ar of Moab was destroyed, and brought to silence in a night: surely Kir of Moab was destroyed, and brought to silence in a night.

2 [c] He shall go vp to the temple, & to Dibon to the hie places to weepe: for [d] Nebo and for Medeba shal Moab howle: vpon all [e] their heads shalbe baldnesse, and euery beard shauen.

3 In their streetes shall they bee girded with sackecloth: on the toppes of their houses, and in their streetes euery one shall howle, and come downe with weeping.

4 And Heshbon shal crie, and Elealeh: their voyce shall bee heard vnto Iahaz: therefore the warriers of Moab shall showt: the soule of euery one shall lament in him selfe.

5 Mine [f] heart shall crie for Moab: his fugitiues shall flee vnto Zoar [g] an heiffer of three yere olde: for they shall goe vp with weeping by the mounting vp of Luhith: and by the way of Horonaim they [h] shall raise vp a crie of destruction.

6 For the waters of Nimrim shalbe dried vp: therefore the grasse is withered, the herbs consumed, and there was no greene herbe.

7 Therefore what euery man hath left, and their substance shall they beare to the [i] brooke of the willowes.

8 For the crie went round about the borders of Moab: and the howling thereof vnto Eglaim, and the skriking thereof vnto Beer-Elim, 9 Because the waters of Dimon shall be full [k] of blood: for I will bring more vpon Dimon, euen lyons [l] vpon him that escapeth of Moab, and to the remnant of the land.

CHAP. XVI.

The causes wherefore the Moabites are destroyed.

SEnd [a] yee a lambe to the ruler of the worlde from the rocke of the wildernesse, vnto the mountaine of the daughter Zion.

2 For it shalbe as a bird that [b] flieth, and a nest forsaken: the daughters of Moab shall be at the foordes of Arnon.

3 Gather a counsel, execute iudgemēt: [c] make thy shadow as the night in the midday: hide them that are chased out: bewray not him that is fled.

4 Let my banished dwel with thee: Moab be thou their couert from the face of the destroyer: for the extortioner [d] shall ende: the destroyer shalbe consumed, and the oppressour shall cease out of the land.

5 And in mercy shall the throne be prepared, [e] and he shal sit vpon it in stedfastnesse, in the tabernacle of Dauid, iudging, and seeking iudgement, and hasting iustice.

6 We haue heard of the pride of Moab (hee is very proud) euen his pride, and his arrogancie, and his indignation, but his [f] lies shall not be so.

7 Therefore shall Moab howle vnto Moab: euery one shall howle: for [g] foundations of Kirhareseth shal ye mourne, yet they shalbe striken.

8 For the vineyardes of Heshbon are cut downe, and the vine of Sibmah: [h] the lords of the heathen haue broken the principal vines thereof: they are come vnto [i] Iaazer: they wandred in the wildernesse: her goodly branches stretched out themselues, and went ouer the sea.

9 Therefore will [k] I weepe with the weeping of Iaazer, & of the vine of Sibmah, O Heshbon: and Elealeh, I will make thee drunke with my teares, because vpon thy summer fruits, and vpon thy harueste [l] a showting is fallen.

10 And gladnes is taken away, and ioy out of the plentifull fielde: and in the vineyares shall be no singing nor showting for ioy: the treader shall not tread wine in the wine presses: I haue caused the reioycing to cease.

11 Wherefore, my [m] bowels shal sound like an harpe for Moab, and mine inward partes for Kerhareth.

12 And when it shall appeare that Moab shal be wearie of his hie places, then shall he come to his [n] temple to pray, but he shall not preuaile.

13 This is the worde that the Lord hath spoken against Moab since that time.

14 And now the Lord hath spoken, saying, a He calleth to the Medes & Persians, and al those that should execute Gods vengeance.

CHAP. XVII.

a Reade Chap. 13.1.
b The chiefe city of Syria.
c It was a countrey of Syria by the riuer Arnon.
d It seemeth that the Prophet would comfort the Church in declaring the destruction of these two Kings, of Syria and Israel, when as they had conspired the ouerthrow of Iudah.
e The ten Tribes gloried in their multitude, and alliance with other nations: therefore he saith that they shall be brought downe and the Syrians also.
f Meaning, of the ten tribes, which boasted themselues of their nobilitie, prosperitie, strength and multitude.
g As the abundance of corne doeth not feare the harueſt men that should cut it downe: no more shal the multitude of Israel make the enemies to shrink, whom God shall appoint to destroy them.
h Which valley was plentifull and fertile.
i Because God would haue his couenant stable, he promiseth to reserue some of this people, and to bring them to repentance.
k Hee sheweth that Gods corrections euer bring forth some fruite, and cause his to turne from their sinnes, to humble themselues to him.
l As the Canaanites left their cities, when God did place the Israelites there, so the cities of Israel shall no more bee able to defend their inhabitants, then bushes, when God shall send the enemie to plague them.

a THe a burden of b Damascus. Behold, Damascus is taken away from being a citie, for it shall be a ruinous heape.

2 The cities of c Aroer shall be forsaken: they shalbe for the flockes: for they shal lye there, and none shall make them afraide.

3 The munition also shall cease from d Ephraim, and the kingdome from Damascus, and the remnant of Aram shalbe as the e glorie of the children of Israel, saith the Lord of hostes.

4 And in that day the glory of f Iaakob shall be impouerished, and the fatnes of his flesh shall be made leane.

5 And it shall be as when the harueſt man gathereth g the corne, and reapeth the eares with his arme, and hee shalbe as hee that gathereth the eares in the valley of h Rephaim.

6 Yet a gathering of grapes shall i be left in it, as the shaking of an oliue tree, two or three berries are in the top of the vpmost boughs, & foure or fiue in the hie branches of the fruite thereof, saith the Lord God of Israel.

7 At that day shal a man looke to his k maker, and his eyes shall looke to the holy one of Israel.

8 And he shall not looke to the altars, the workes of his owne hands, neither shall he looke to those things, which his own fingers haue made, as groues and images.

9 In that day shall the cities of their strength be as the forsaking of boughes & branches, which l they did forsake, because of the children of Israel, and there shalbe desolation.

10 Because thou hast forgotten the God of thy saluation, and hast not remembred the God of thy strength, therefore shalt thou set pleasant plants, and shalt graffe strange m vine branches:

11 In the day thalt thou make thy plant to growe, and in the morning shalt thou make thy seede to florish: but the harueſt shall be gone in the day n of possession, and there shalbe desperate sorowe.

12 o Ah, the multitude of many people, they shall make a sounde like the noyse of the sea: for the noyse of the people shall make a sounde like the noyse of mightie waters.

13 The people shall make a sounde like the noise of many waters: but God shal rebuke them, and they shall flee farre off, and shalbe chased as the chaffe of the mountaines before the winde, and as a rolling thing before the whirlewinde.

14 And loe, in the euening there is q trouble: but afore the morning it is gone. This is the portion of them that spoyle vs, and the lot of them that rob vs.

m Which are excellent, and brought out of other countreys.
n As the Lord threateneth the wicked in his Law. Leuit. 26.16.
o The Prophet lamenteth, considering the horrible plague that was prepared against Israel by the Assyrians, which were infinite in number, and gared red of many nations.
p He addeth this for the consolation of the faithfull, which were in Israel.
q He compareth the enemies the Assyrians to a tempest, which riseth ouer night, and in the morning is gone.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 Of the enemies of the Church, 7 And of the vocation of the Gentiles.

a Hee meaneth ỹ part of Ethiopia which lyeth towarde the Sea, which was so full of shippes, that the sayles (which me compareth to wings) seemed to shadow the sea.
b Which in those countreyes were great: insomuch as they made ships of them for swiftnesse.
c This may be taken that they sent other to comfort the Iewes, and to promise them helpe against their enemies, and so the Lord did threaten to take away their strength, that the Iewes should not trust therein: or that they did solicite the Egyptians, and promised them ayde to goe against Iudah.
d To wit, the Iewes, who because of Gods plagues made all other nations afraide of the like, as God threatned, Deut. 28.37.
e Meaning, the Assyrians, as chap. 8.7.
f When the Lord prepareth to fight against the Ethiopians.
g I will stay a while from punishing ỹ wicked.
h Which two seasons are most profitable for the riping of fruites: whereby hee meaneth, that he will seeme to fauour them, and giue them abundance for a time, but hee will suddenly cut them off.
i Not onely men shal contemne them, but the bruit beastes.
k Meaning, that God will pitie his Church, and receiue that litle remnant as an offering vnto himselfe.

THe a burden of Egypt. Behold, the Lord b rideth vpon a swift cloude, and shal come into Egypt, and the idoles of Egypt shall be moued at his presence, and the heart of Egypt shall melt in the mids of her.

2 And I will set the Egyptians against the Egyptians: so euery one shal c fight against his brother, and euery one against his neighbour, citie against citie, and kingdome against kingdome.

3 And the d spirite of Egypt shall fayle in the middes of her, and I wil destroy their counsel, and they shal seeke at the idoles, and at the sorcerers, and at them that haue spirits of diuination, and at the soothsayers.

4 And I will deliuer the Egyptians into the hand of cruell lordes, and a mightie King shall rule ouer them, saith the Lord God of hostes.

5 Then the waters of the sea shall e faile, and the riuers shalbe dryed vp, and wasted.

6 And the f riuers shal goe farre away: the riuers of defence shalbe emptied and dried vp: the reedes and flagges shall be cut downe.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The destruction of the Egyptians by the Assyrians. 18 Of their conuersion to the Lord.

a Reade chap. 15.1.
b Because the Egyptians trusted in the defence of their countrey, in the multitude of their idoles, and in the valiantnesse of their men, the Lorde sheweth that he will come ouer all their munitions in a swift cloude, and that their idoles shall tremble at his comming, and that mens hearts shall faint.
c As he caused the Ammonites, Moabites, and Idumeans to kill one another, when they came to destroy the Church of God. 2. Chron. 20.23, chap. 49.26.
d Meaning, their pollicie, and wisedome.
e He sheweth that the Sea and Nilus their great riuer, whereby they thought themselues most sure, should not bee able to defend them from his anger, but that hee would sende the Assyrians among them, that should keepe them vnder as slaues.
f For Nilus ranne into the Sea by seuen streames, as though they were so many riuers.

g The Ebrewe word is mouth, whereby they meane the spring, out of the which the water gusheth as out of a mouth.
h The Scriptures vse to describe the destruction of a countrey by taking away of the commodities thereof, as by viues, fleth, fish, and such other things, whereby countries are enriched.
i Calle also Tanes, a famous citie vpon Nilus.
k He noteth the flatterers of Pharaoh: who perswaded the king that he was wise, and noble, and that his house was most ancient, and so he flattered himselfe, saying, I am wise, l Or Memphis, others Alexandria, and now called the great Cairo.
m The principall vpholders thereof are the chiefest cause of their destruction.
n For the spirite of wisedome, he hath made them drunken and giddie with the spirit of errour.
o Neither great nor small, the strong nor the weake.
p Considering that through their occasion the Iewes made not God their defence, but put their trust in them, & were therfore now punished, they shall feare lest the like light vpon them.
q Shall make one confession of faith with the people of God: by the speach of Canaan, meaning the language, wherein God was then serued.
r Shall renounce their superstitions, & protest to serue God aright.
s Meaning of sixe cities fiue should serue God, and the sixt remaine in their wickednes: and so of the sixt part there should be but one lost.
t There shalbe euident signes and tokens, that Gods religion is there: which maner of speach is taken of the Patriarks, and ancient times, when God had not as yet appointed the place and full maner how hee would bee worshipped.
u This declareth that this prophecie should be accomplished in the time of Christ.
x By these ceremonies hee comprehendeth the spirituall seruice vnder Christ.
y By these two nations, which were then chiefe enemies of the Church, he sheweth that the Gentiles, & the Iewes should be ioyned together in one faith & religion, and should be all one folde vnder Christ their shepheard.

7 The grasse in the riuer, and at the [s] head of the riuers, and all that groweth by the riuer shall wither, and be driuen away, and be no more.

8 The fishers also shall [h] mourne, and all they that cast angle into the riuer, shall lament, & they that spread their net vpon the waters, shall bee weakened.

9 Moreouer, they that worke in flaxe of diuers sortes, shall be confounded, and they that weaue nettes.

10 For their nets shalbe broken, and all they, that make pondes, shalbe heauie in heart.

11 Surely the princes of [i] Zoan are fooles: the counsel of the wise counsellers of Pharaoh is become foolish: how say yee vnto Pharaoh, I [k] am the sonne of the wise? I am the sonne of the ancient Kings?

12 Where are now thy wise men, that they may tell thee, or may knowe what the Lorde of hostes hath determined against Egypt?

13 The princes of Zoan are become fooles: the princes of [l] Noph are deceiued, they haue deceiued Egypt, euen the [m] corners of [y] tribes thereof.

14 The Lord hath mingled among them the spirite [n] of errours: and they haue caused Egypt to erre in euery worke thereof, as a drunken man erreth in his vomite.

15 Neither shall there be any worke in Egypt, which the head may [o] do, nor the taile, the branch nor the rush.

16 In that day shall Egypt bee like vnto women: for it shalbe afraid and feare because of the mouing of the hand of the Lord of hostes, which he shaketh ouer it.

17 And the land of Iudah shalbe a feare [p] vnto Egypt: euery one that maketh mention of it, shalbe afraid thereat, because of the counsel of the Lord of hosts, which he hath determined vpon it.

18 In that day shall fiue cities in the land of Egypt [q] speake the language of Canaan, and shall [r] sweare by the Lord of hostes: one shal be called the citie of [ss] destruction.

19 In that day shall the altar of the Lord bee in the mids of the land of Egypt, and [t] a pillar by the border thereof vnto the Lord.

20 And it shalbe for a signe and for a witnesse vnto the Lord of hostes in the land of Egypt: for they shall crie vnto the Lord, because of the oppressers, and he shal send them [u] a Sauiour and a great man, and shall deliuer them.

21 And the Lord shalbe knowen of the Egyptians, and the Egyptians shall knowe the Lord in that day, and do [x] sacrifice and oblation, and shal vowe vowes vnto the Lord, and performe them.

22 So the Lord shal smite Egypt, he shal smite and heale it: for he shal returne vnto [y] Lord, and he shalbe intreated of them, and shal heale them.

23 In that day shall there be a path from [y] Egypt to Asshur, and Asshur shal come into Egypt, and Egypt into Asshur: so the Egyptians shall worship with Asshur.

24 In that day shall Israel bee the third with Egypt and Asshur, euen a blessing in the middes of the land.

25 For the Lord of hosts shal blesse it, saying, Blessed be my people Egypt & Asshur, the worke of mine hands, and Israel mine inheritance.

CHAP. XX.

2 The three yeeres captiuitie of Egypt and Ethiopia described by the three yeeres going naked of Isaiah.

IN the yeere that [a] Tartan came to [b] Ashdod, (when [c] Sargon King of Asshur sent him) and had fought against Ashdod, and taken it,

2 At the same time spake the Lord by the hand of Isaiah the sonne of Amoz, saying, Go, & loose the [d] sackecloth from thy loynes, and put off thy shooe from thy foote. And he did so, walking naked and barefoote.

3 And the Lord said, Like as my seruant Isaiah hath walked naked, & barefoote three yeeres, as a signe and wonder vpon Egypt, and Ethiopia,

4 So shall the King of Asshur take away the captiuitie of Egypt, and the captiuity of Ethiopia, both yong men & old men, naked and barefoote, with their buttockes vncouered, to the shame of Egypt.

5 And they shal feare, and be ashamed of [e] Ethiopia their expectation, & of Egypt their glory.

6 Then shall the inhabitant of this [g] yle say in that day, Behold, such is our expectation, whither wee fled for helpe to be deliuered from the King of Asshur, and how shal we be deliuered?

a Who was a captaine of Sancherib, 2.King.18.17.
b A citie of the Philistims.
c The Ebrewes write that Sancherib was so called.
d Which signifieth that the Prophet did lament the miserie that he saw prepared, before the three yeeres that hee went naked and barefooted.
e In whose ayde they trusted.
f Of wom they boasted & gloried.
g Meaning, Iudea, which was compassed about with their enemies, as an yle with waters.

1 Of the destruction of Babylon by the Persians and Medes. 11 The ruine of Idumea, 13 And of Arabia.

THe burden of the [a] desert Sea. As the whirlewinds in the South vse to passe from the wilderneſſe, ſo shal it [b] come from the horrible land.

2 A grieuous vision was shewed vnto me, The [c] transgressour against a transgressour, and the destroyer against a destroyer. Go vp [d] Elam, besiege Media: I haue caused all the mourning [e] thereof to cease.

3 Therefore are my [f] loynes filled with sorow: sorowes haue taken mee as the sorowes of a woman that trauaileth: I was bowed downe when I heard it, and I was amased when I saw it.

4 Mine heart failed: fearefulnes troubled me: the night [g] of my pleasures hath hee turned into feare vnto me.

5 Prepare thou [y] table: watch in [y] watch towre: eate, drinke: [h] arise, ye princes, anoynt the shield.

6 For thus hath the [i] Lord said vnto me, Goe, set a watchman, to tell what he seeth.

7 And hee saw a charet with two horsemen: [k] a charet of an asse, and a charet of a camel: and he hearkened and tooke diligent heede.

8 And hee cryed, A [l] lyon: my lord, I stande continually vpon the watch towre in the day time, and I am set in my watch euery night:

p A mountaine of the Idumeans.
q He describeth the vnquietnes of the people of Dumah, who were night and day in feare of their enemies, and euer ran to and fro to enquire newes.
r For feare, the Arabians shall flee into the woods, and he appointeth what way they shall take.
s Signifying, that for feare they shal not tary to eate or drinke.
t He appointeth them respit for one yere only, and then they should be destroyed.
u Reade Chap. 16. 14. x Which was the name of a people of Arabia: and by the horrible destruction of all these nations, hee teacheth the Iewes that there is no place for refuge or to escape Gods wrath, but onely to remaine in his Church, and to liue in his feare.

me out of p Seir, Watchman, what was in the night? Watchman, what was in the night?

CHAP. XXII.

1 He propheseth of the destruction of Ierusalem by Nebuchadnezzar. 15 A threatning against Shebna, 20 To whose office Eliakim is preferred.

a Meaning, Iudea, which was compassed about with mountaines, and was called the valley of visions, because of the Prophets, which were alwayes there, whom they named Seers.
b He speaketh to Ierusalem, whose inhabitants were fled vp to y house toppes for feare of their enemies.
c Which was wont to be full of people and ioy.
d But for hunger.
e And led into captiuitie. f Which haue fled from other places to Ierusalem for succour.
g He sheweth what is the duetie of the godly, when Gods plagues hang ouer the Church, and specially of the ministers, Iere. 9. 1.
h That is, the shoute of the enemies whom God had appointed to destroy the citie.
i He putteth them in minde how God deliuered them once from Sanherib, who brought the Persians and Cyrenians with him, that they might by returning to God auoid that great plague which they should els suffer by Nebuchad-nezar.
k The secrete place where the armour was: to wit, in the house of the forest, 1. King. 7. 2.
l Ye fortified the ruinous places, which were neglected in time of peace: meaning the whole city and the citie of Dauid which was within the compasse of the other.
m Either to pull downe such as might hurt, or els to know what men they were able to make.
n To prouide if neede should be of water.
o To God that made Ierusalem; that is, they trusted more in these worldly meanes then in God.

THe burden of the a valley of vision. What b aileth thee nowe that thou art wholy gone vp vnto the house tops?

2 Thou that art full of c noise, a citie full of brute, a ioyous citie: thy slaine men shall not be slaine d with sword, nor die in battell.

3 All thy princes shall flee together from the bowe: they shalbe e bound: all that shalbe found in thee, shall be bound together, which haue fled from f farre.

4 Therefore said I, Turne away from me: I wil weepe g bitterly: labour not to comfort mee for the destruction of the daughter of my people.

5 For it is a day of trouble, and of ruine and of perplexitie by the Lord God of hostes in the valley of vision, breaking downe the citie: and a h crying vnto the mountaines.

6 ¶ And Elam i bare the quiuer in a mans charet with horsemen, and Kir vncouered the shield.

7 And thy chiefe valleis were full of charets, and the horsemen set themselues in aray against the gate.

8 And he discouered the k couering of Iudah: and thou diddest looke in that day to the armour of the house of the forest.

9 And yee haue seene l the breaches of the citie of Dauid: for they were many, and yee gathered the waters of the lower poole.

10 And yee numbred the houses m of Ierusalem, and the houses haue yee broken downe to fortifie the wall, 11 And haue also made a ditch betweene the two walles, for the n waters of the olde poole, and haue not looked vnto the maker o therof, neither had respect vnto him that formed it of olde.

12 And in that day did the Lord God of hosts call vnto weeping and mourning, and to baldnes and girding with sackecloth.

13 And behold, ioy and gladnesse, slaying oxen and killing sheepe, eating flesh, & drinking wine, p eating and drinking: for to morow we shall die.

14 And it was declared in y eares of the Lord of hostes. Surely this iniquitie shal not be purged from you, till ye die, saith the Lord God of hosts.

15 Thus saith the Lord God of hostes, Goe, Get thee to that q treasurer, to Shebna, the steward of the house, and say, 16 What hast thou to doe here? and whome hast thou r here? that thou shouldest here hewe thee out a sepulchre, as he that heweth out his sepulchre in an hie place, or that graueth an habitation s for himselfe in a rocke?

17 Beholde, the Lord will carrie thee away with a great captiuitie, and will surely couer thee.

18 Hee will surely rolle and turne thee like a ball in a large countrey: there shalt thou die, and there the charets of thy glorie shalbe the t shame of the lords house.

19 And I wil driue thee from thy station, and out of thy dwelling will he destroy thee.

20 And in that day will I u call my seruant Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah, 21 And with thy garments will I clothe him, and with thy girdle will I strengthen him: thy power also will I commit into his hand, and hee shalbe a father of the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and of the house of Iudah.

22 And the x key of the house of Dauid wil I lay vpon his shoulder: so hee shall open, and no man shall shut: and he shall shut, and no man shall open.

23 And I will fasten him as a y naile in a sure place, and hee shalbe for the throne of glorie to his fathers house.

24 And they shall hang vpon him all the glorie of his fathers house, euen of the nephewes and posteritie z all smal vessels, from the vessels of the cuppes, euen to all the instruments of musike.

23 In that day, saith y Lord of hostes, shall the a naile, that is fastened in the sure place, depart & shalbe broken, & fall: & the burden that was vpon it, shalbe cut off: for the Lord hath spoken it.

p In steade of repentance ye were ioyfull and made great cheere, contemning the admonitions of the Prophets, saying, Let vs eate and drink: for our Prophets say, that we shal die to morow.
q Because the Ebrew word doeth also signifie one that doth nourish and cherish, there are of the learned that thinke, that this wicked man did nourish secret friendship with the Assyrians & Egyptians, to betray the Church, and to prouide for himselfe against al dangers: in the meane season he packt craftily, and gate of the best offices into his hand vnder Hezekiah, euer aspiring to y highest.
r Meaning, that he was a stranger and came vp of nothing.
s Whereas hee thought to make his name immortal by his famous sepulchre, he died most miserably among y Assyrians.
t Signifying, that whatsoeuer dignitie the wicked attaine vnto, at length it wil turne to the shame of those Princes, by whom they are preferred.
u To be steward againe, out of the which office he had bene put by y craft of Shebna.
x I will commit vnto him the full charge and gouernment of the Kings house.
y I wil establish him and confirme him in his office: of this phrase reade Ezra 9. 9.
z Meaning, that both small and great that shall come of Eliakim, shall haue prayse and glory by this faithfull officer.
a He meaneth Shebna, who in mans iudgement should neuer haue fallen.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 A propheseie against Tyrus. 17 A promise that it shall be restored.

THe a burden of Tyrus. Howle, ye shippes of b Tarshish: for c it is destroyed, so that there is none house: none shall come from the land of d Chittim: it is e reueiled vnto them.

2 Be still, yee that dwell in the yles: the marchants of Zidon, and such as passe ouer the sea, haue f replenished thee.

3 The g seede of Nilus growing by the abundance of waters, and the harueste of the riuer was her reuenues, and she was a marte of the nations.

4 Be ashamed, thou Zidon: for the h sea hath spoken, euen the strength of the sea, saying, I haue not i trauailed, nor brought forth childrē, neither b Yee of Cilicia that come thither for marchandise.

c Tyrus is destroyed by Nebuchad-nezzar.
d By Chittim they meant all the yles and countries Westward from Palestina.
e All men know of this destruction.
f Hast hunted thee, and enriched thee.
g Meaning, the corne of Egypt, which was fedde by the ouerflowing of Nilus.
h That is, Tyrus, which was the chiefe port of the Sea.

nourished yong men, nor brought vp virgins.

5 When the fame commeth to the Egyptians, they shall be [k] sorie, concerning the rumour of Tyrus.

6 Go you ouer to [l] Tarshish: howle, ye that dwell in the yles.

7 Is not this that your glorious city? her antiquitie [u] of ancient dayes: her owne feete shall leade her afarre off to be a soiourner.

8 Who hath decreed this against Tyrus (that [m] crowneth men) whose marchants are princes? whose chapmen are the nobles of the world?

9 The Lord of hostes hath decreed this, to staine the pride of all glory, and to bring to contempt all them that be glorious in the earth.

10 Passe through thy land like a flood to the [n] daughter of Tarshish: there is no more strength.

11 He stretched out his hand vpon the sea: he shooke the kingdomes: the Lorde hath giuen a commaundement concerning the place of marchandise, to destroy the power thereof.

12 And he sayd, Thou shalt no more reioyce when thou art oppressed: [o] O virgin [p] daughter of Zidon: rise vp, go ouer vnto Chittim: yet there thou shalt haue no rest.

13 Behold the land of the Caldeans: this was no people: [q] Asshur founded it by the inhabitants of the wildernesse: they set vp the towers thereof: they raised the palaces thereof and hee [r] brought it to ruine.

14 Howle yee shippes of Tarshish, for your [s] strength is destroyed.

15 And in that day shall Tyrus be forgotten seuentie yeeres, (according to the yeeres of one King) at the ende of [t] seuentie yeeres shall Tyrus [u] sing as an harlot.

16 Take an harpe and go about the city: (thou harlot that hast bene forgotten) [x] make sweete melody, sing moe songs that thou mayest be remembred.

17 And at the ende of seuentie yeeres shal the Lord visite Tyrus, and shee shall returne to her [y] wages, and shal commit fornication with all the kingdomes of the earth, that are in the world.

18 Yet her occupying and her wages shall be [z] holy vnto the Lord: it shall not be laide vp nor kept in store, but her marchandise shall bee for them that dwell before the Lord, to eate sufficiently, and to haue durable clothing.

k Because these two countreys were ioyned in league together.
l Tyrus willeth other marchants to go to Cilicia, and to come no more there.
m Who maketh her marchants like Princes.
n Thy strength will no more serue thee: therefore flee to other countries for succour.
o For Tyrus was neuer touched nor afflicted before.
p Because Tyrus was built by them of Zidon.
q The Caldeans which dwelt in tentes, in the wildernesse, were gathered by the Assyrians into cities.
r The people of the Caldeans destroyed the Assyrians: whereby the Prophet meaneth, that seeing ỹ Caldeans were able to ouercome the Assyrias which were so great a nation, much more shall these two nations of Caldea and Assyria be able to ouerthrow Tyrus.
s That is, Tyrus by whom ye are enriched.
t Tyrus shall lie destroyed seuentie yeeres, which hee calleth the reigne of one King or a mans age.
u Shal vse al craft and subtiltie to entise men againe to her.
x She shall labour by all means to recouer her first credit: as an harlot when shee is long forgotten, seeketh by all meanes to entertaine her louers.
y Though shee haue bene chastised, of the Lord, yet she shall returne to her olde wicked practises, and for gaine shall giue her selfe to all mens lusts like an harlot.
z He sheweth that God yet by his preaching of the Gospell will call Tyrus to repentance, and turne her heart from auarice and filthie gaine vnto the true worshipping of God and liberalitie toward his Saints.

CHAP. XXIIII.

A prophesie of the curse of God for the sinnes of the people.
13 A remnant reserued shall praise the Lord.

a This prophesie is as a conclusion of that which hath bene threatned to the Iewes & other nations from the 13. chap. and therefore by the earth he meaneth those lands, which were before named.

BEhold, the Lord maketh the [a] earth emptie, & he maketh it waste: he turneth it vpside down, and scattereth abroad the inhabitants thereof.

2 And there shalbe like people, like [b] Priest, and like seruant, like master, like maide, like mistresse, like buier, like seller, like lender, like borrower, like giuer, like taker to vsurie.

3 The earth shalbe cleane emptied, and vtterly spoyled: for the Lord hath spoken this word.

4 The earth lamenteth and fadeth away, the worlde is feeble and decayed: the proude people of the earth are weakened.

5 The earth [c] also deceiueth, because of the inhabitantes thereof: for they transgressed the lawes: they changed the ordinances, and brake the euerlasting couenant.

6 Therefore hath the [d] curse deuoured the earth, and the inhabitants thereof are desolate. Wherefore the inhabitants of the land are [e] burned vp, and few men are left.

7 The wine faileth, the vine hath no might: all that were of mery heart, doe mourne.

8 The mirth of tabrets ceaseth: the noise of them that reioyce, endeth: the ioy of the harpe ceaseth.

9 They shall not drinke wine with mirth: strong drinke shalbe bitter to them that drinke it.

10 The citie of [f] vanitie is broken down: euery house is shut vp, that no man may come in.

11 There is a crying for wine in the streetes: all ioy is darkened: the [g] mirth of the world is gone away.

12 In the cities is left desolation, and the gate is smitten with destruction.

13 ¶ Surely thus shal it be in the mids of the earth, among the people, [h] as the shaking of an oliue tree, and as the grapes when the vintage is ended.

14 They shal lift vp their voice: they shall shout for the magnificence of the Lord: they shal reioyce from [i] the sea.

15 Wherefore praise yee the Lord in the valleis, euen the Name of the Lord God of Israel, in the yles of the sea.

16 From the vttermost part of the earth wee haue heard praises, euen glory to the [k] iust, and I said, [l] My leannesse, my leannesse, woe is me: the transgressours haue offended: yea, the transgressours haue grieuously offended.

17 Feare, and the pit, and the snare are vpon thee, O inhabitant of the earth.

18 And hee that fleeth from the noise of the feare, shall fall into the pit: and he that commeth vp out of the pit, shalbe taken in the snare: for the [m] windowes from on high are open, and the foundations of the earth doe shake.

19 The earth is vtterly broken downe: the earth is cleane dissolued: the earth is mooued exceedingly.

20 The earth shal reele to and fro like a drunken man, and shalbe remoued like a tent, and the iniquitie thereof shall be heauie vpon it: so that it shall fall, and rise no more.

21 ¶ And in that day shall the Lorde [n] visite the hoste aboue that is on hie, euen the Kings of the world that are vpon the earth.

22 And they shalbe gathered together, as the prisoners in the pit: and they shalbe shut vp in the prison, and after many daies shal they be [o] visited.

23 [p] Then the moone shalbe abashed, and the sunne ashamed, when the Lord of hostes shall reigne in mount Zion and in Ierusalem: and glory shalbe before his ancient men.

b Because this was a name of dignitie, it was also applyed to them, which were not of Aarons familie, and so signifieth also a man of dignitie, as 2. Sam. 8. 18. and 20. 25. 1. chro. 18. 17. and by these wordes the Prophet signifieth an horrible confusion, where there shalbe neither religion, order, nor policie, Hosea 4. 9.

c That is, rendreth not her fruite for the sinne of the people, whom the earth deceiued of their nouriture, because they deceiued God of his honour.
d Written in the Law, as Leuit. 26. 14. deut. 28. 16. thus the Prophets vsed to apply particularly the menaces, and promises which are generall in the lawe.
e With heate and drought, or else, that they were consumed with ỹ fire of Gods wrath.
f Which as it was without order, so now should it be brought to desolation and confusion: and this was not only meant of Ierusalem, but of all the other wicked cities.
g Because they did not vse Gods benefits aright, their pleasures should faile, and they fall to mourning.
h He comforteth the faithfull, declaring that in this great desolation the Lord will assemble his church, which shall praise his Name, as chap. 10. 22.
i From the vtmost coasts of ỹ world, where the Gospell shalbe preached, as verse 16.
k Meaning, to God, who will publish his Gospel through all the worlde.
l I am consumed with care, considering the affliction of the Church, both by forreine enemies, and domesticall. Some reade, my secret, my secret: that is, it was reuealed to the Prophet, that the good should be preserued, and the wicked destroyed.
m Meaning, that Gods wrath and vengeance should be ouer and vnder them: so that they should not escape no more then they did at Noahs flood.
n There is no power so high or mighty, but God will visite him with his rods, as verse 21. but shalbe comforted.
o Not with his rods, p When God shall restore his Church, the glorie thereof shall so shine and his ministers (which are called his ancient men) that the sunne and the moone shalbe darke in comparison thereof.

CHAP. XXV.

A thanksgiuing to God in that that he sheweth himselfe iudge of the world, by punishing the wicked and maintaining the godly.

O Lord, thou [a] art my God: I will exalt thee, I wil prayse thy Name: for thou hast done wonderfull things, according to the counsels of old, with a stable trueth.

2 For thou hast made of a [b] citie an heape, of a strong citie, a ruine: euen the palace [c] of strangers of a citie, it shall neuer be built.

3 Therefore shal the [d] mightie people giue glory vnto thee: the citie of the strong nations shall feare thee.

4 For thou hast bene a strength vnto the poore, euen a strength to the needy in his trouble, a refuge against the tempest, a shadow against the heate: for the blast [e] of the mightie is like a storme against the wall.

5 Thou shalt bring downe the noyse of the strangers, [f] as the heate in a dry place: he wil bring downe the song of the mightie, as the [g] heate in the shadow of a cloude.

6 And in this [h] mountaine shall the Lorde of hostes make vnto all people a feast of fat things, euen a feast of fined wines, and of fat things full of marow, of wines fined and purified.

7 And he wil destroy in this mountaine [i] the couering that coureth all people, and the vaile that is spread vpon all nations.

8 He wil destroy death for euer: and the Lord God will [k] wipe away the teares from all faces, and the rebuke of his people will hee take away out of all the earth: for the Lord hath spoken it.

9 And in that day shall men say, Loe, this is our God: we haue waited for him, and he wil saue vs. This is the Lord, we haue waited for him: we wil reioyce and be ioyfull in his saluation.

10 For in this mountaine shall the hand of the Lord rest, and [l] Moab shalbe threshed vnder him, euen as strawe is threshed in [m] Madmenah.

11 And hee shall stretch out his hand in the middes of them (as he that swimmeth stretcheth them out to swimme) and with the strength of his hands shall he bring downe their pride.

12 The defence also of the height of thy walles shall he bring downe and lay lowe, and cast them to the ground, euen vnto the dust.

7 The way of the iust is righteousnesse: thou wilt make equall the righteous path of the iust.

8 Also we, O Lorde, haue waited for thee in the way of thy [g] iudgments: the desire of our soule is to thy Name, and to the remembrance of thee.

9 With my soule haue I desired thee in the night, and with my spirit within mee will I seeke thee in the morning: for seeing thy iudgements are in the earth, the inhabitants of the world shal learne [h] righteousnesse.

10 Let mercy [i] be shewed to the wicked, yet hee will not learne righteousnesse: in the land of vprightnesse wil he doe wickedly, & wil not behold the maiestie of the Lord.

11 O Lorde, they will not beholde thine hie hand: but they shall see it, and bee confounded with [k] the zeale of the people, & the fire of thine [l] enemies shall deuoure them.

12 Lord, vnto vs thou wilt ordeine peace: for thou also hast wrought all our workes for vs.

13 O Lord our God, other [m] lords beside thee, haue ruled vs, but we will remember thee onely, and thy Name.

14 The [n] dead shal not liue, neither shall the dead arise, because thou hast visited and scattered them, and destroyed all their memorie.

15 Thou hast increased [o] the nation, O Lorde: thou hast increased the nation: thou art made glorious: thou hast enlarged all the coastes of the earth.

16 Lorde, in trouble haue they [p] visited thee: they powred out a prayer when thy chastening was vpon them.

17 Like as a woman with childe, that draweth neere to the trauaile, is in sorow, and crieth in her paines, so haue we bene in thy [q] sight, O Lord.

18 Wee haue conceiued, wee haue borne in paine, as though we should haue brought foorth [r] winde: there was no helpe in the earth, neither did the inhabitants of [s] the world fall.

19 ¶ [t] Thy dead men shall liue: euen with my body shal they rise. Awake, and sing, ye that dwel in dust: for thy [u] dew is as the dew of herbes, and the earth shall cast out the dead.

20 Come, my people: [x] enter thou into thy chambers, and shut thy doores after thee, hide thy selfe for a very litle while, vntill the indignation passe ouer.

21 For lo, the Lord commeth out of his place, to visite the iniquitie of the inhabitants of the earth vpon them: and the earth shall disclose her [y] blood, and shall no more hide her slaine.

a Thus the Prophet giueth thanks to God, because he will bring vnder subiection these nations by his corrections, and make the of his Church which before were his enemies.
b Not only of Ierusalem, but also of these other cities, which haue bene thine enemies.
c That is, a place where as all vagabonds may liue without danger, and as it were, at ease, as in a palace.
d The arrogant and proude, which before would not know thee, shal by thy corrections feare and glorifie thee.
e The rage of the wicked is furious, till God breake the force thereof.
f Meaning, that as the heate is abated by the raine, so shal God bring downe the rage of the wicked.
g As a cloude shadoweth from the heate of the sunne, so shal God asswage the reioycing of the wicked against the godly.
h To wit, in Zion, whereby he meaneth his Church, which should vnder Christ be assembled of the Iewes & the Gentiles, and is here described vnder y figure of a costly banket, as Mat. 22.2. kept backe from Christ. k Hee will take away all occasions of sorowe and fill his with perfite ioye, Reue. 7.17. and 21.4. l By Moab are meant all the enemies of his Church. m There were two cities of this name: one in Iudah, 1. Chro. 2. 49. and an other in the land of Moab, Ierem. 48.2. which seemeth to haue bene a plentifull place of corne, Chap. 10.31.
g We haue constantly abid in the aduersities where with thou hast afflicted vs.
h Meaning, that by afflictions men shall learne to feare God.
i The wicked though God shew them euident signes of his grace, shalbe neuer the better.
k Through enuie and indignation against thy people.
l The fire and vengeance where with thou doest destroy thine enemies.
m The Babylonians, which haue not gouerned according to thy worde.
n Meaning, that the reprobate, euen in this life shall haue the beginning of euerlasting death.
o To wit, the companie of the faithfull by the calling of the Gentiles.
p That is, the faithfull by thy rods were moued to pray vnto thee for deliuerance.
q To wit, in extreme sorow.
r Our sorowes had none end, neither did we enioy the comfort that we looked for.
s The wicked and men without religion were not destroyed.
t He comforteth y faithful in their afflictiõs, shewing them that euen in death they shall haue life: and that they should most certainely rise to glory: the contrary should come to the wicked, as vers. 14.
u As herbes dead in winter, flourishing againe by the raine in the spring time: so they that lie in the dust, shall rise vp to ioy when they feele the dewe of Gods grace.
x Hee exhorteth the faithfull to be patient in their afflictions, and to waite vpon Gods worke.
y The earth shal vomit and cast out the innocent blood, which it hath drunke, that it may cry for vengeance against the wicked.

CHAP. XXVI.

A song of the faithfull, wherein is declared, in what consisteth the saluation of the Church, and wherein they ought to trust.

IN that day shall [a] this song be sung in the land of Iudah, Wee haue a strong citie: [b] saluation shall God set for walles and bulwarkes.

2 [c] Open ye the gates that the righteous nation, which keepeth the trueth, may enter in.

3 By an assured [d] purpose wilt thou preserue perfite peace, because they trusted in thee.

4 Trust in the Lord for euer: for in the Lord God is strength for euermore.

5 For hee will bring downe them that dwell on hie: [e] the hie citie he will abase, euen vnto the ground wil he cast it downe, & bring it vnto dust.

6 The foote shall treade it downe, euen the feete of the [f] poore, and the steps of the needie.

a This song was made to cõfort the faithful, when their captiuitie should come, assuring them also of their deliuerãce, for the which they should sing this song.
b Gods protection and defence shalbe sufficient for vs.
c He assureth the godly to returne after the captiuitie to Ierusalem.
d Thou hast decreed so, & thy purpose cannot be changed.
e There is no power so hie, that can let God, when hee wil deliuer his.
f God wil set the poore afflicted ouer the power of the wicked.

CHAP. XXVII.

A prophesie against the kingdome of Satan, 2 And of the ioye of the Church for their deliuerance.

IN that [a] day the Lorde with his sore and great and mightie [b] sword shall visite Leuiathan, that pearcing serpent, euen Leuiathã, that crooked serpent, and he shal slay the dragon that is in the sea.

2 In that day sing of the vineyarde [c] of red wine.

3 I the Lord doe keepe it: I will water it euery moment: least any assãile it, I will keepe it night and day.

a At the time appointed.
b That is, by his mightie power & by his worde. Hee prophesieth here of the destruction of Satan and his kingdome vnder the name of Leuiathan, Assur and Egypt.
c Meaning, the best wine, which this vineyarde, that is, the Church, should bring forth as most agreeable to the Lord.

4 Anger [d] is not in mee: who would set the briers & the thorns against me in battel? I would go through them, I would burne them together.

5 Or wil he [e] feele my strength, that hee may make peace with me, and be at one with me?

6 [f] Hereafter, Iaakob shall take roote: Israel shall florish and grow, and the world shall be filled with fruite.

7 Hath hee smitten [g] him as hee smote those that smote him? or is hee slaine according to the slaughter of them that were slaine by him?

8 In [h] measure in the branches thereof wilt thou contende with it, when he bloweth with his rough winde in the day of the East winde.

9 By this therefore shall the iniquitie of Iaakob be purged, and this is all the [i] fruit the taking away of his sinne when he shal make al the stones of the altars, as chalke stones broken in pieces, that the groues and images may not stand vp.

10 Yet the [k] defenced city shalbe desolate, and the habitation shalbe forsaken, and left like a wildernes. There shal the calfe feede, and there shall he lie, and consume the branches thereof.

11 When the boughs of it are drie, they shall be broken: the [l] women come, and set them on fire: for it is a people of none vnderstading: therefore he that made them, shall not haue compassion of them, and he that formed them, shall haue no mercy on them.

12 And in that day shall the Lord thresh from the chanel of the [m] Riuer vnto the riuer of Egypt, and ye shalbe gathered, one by one, O children of Israel.

13 In that day also shall the great trumpe bee [n] blowen, and they shall come, which perished in the land of Assiur: and they that were chased into the land of Egypt, and they shall worship the Lord in the holy Mount at Ierusalem.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Against the pride and drunkennesse of Israel. 9 The vntowardnesse of them that should learne the worde of God. 24 God doeth all things in time and place.

WOe to the [a] crowne of pride, the drunkards of Ephraim: for his glorious beautie shalbe a fading flowre, which is vpon the head of the [b] valley of them that be fat, and are ouercome with wine.

2 Beholde, the Lorde hath a mightie and [c] strong hoste, like a tempest of haile, and a whirlewinde that ouerthroweth, like a tempest of mightie waters that ouerflowe, which throwe to the ground mightily.

3 They shall be troden vnder foote, euen the crowne of the pride of the drunkards of Ephraim.

4 For his glorious beautie shall be a fading flowre, which is vpon the head of the valley of them that be fatte, and as [d] the hastie fruite afore sommer, which when hee that looketh vpon it, seeth it, while it is in his hand he eateth it.

5 In that day shall the Lorde of hostes be for a crowne of glory, and for a diademe of beautie vnto the [e] residue of his people:

6 And for a spirite of iudgement to him that sitteth in iudgement, and for [f] strength vnto them that turne away the battel to the gate.

7 But [g] they haue erred because of wine, and are out of the way by strong drinke: the priest and the prophet haue erred by strong drinke: they are swalowed vp with wine: they haue gone astray through strong drinke: they faile in vision: they stumble in iudgement.

8 For all their tables are full of filthie vomiting: no place is cleane.

9 [h] Whome shall he teach knowledge? and whome shall hee make to vnderstand the things that he heareth? them that are wained from the milke, and drawen from the breastes.

10 For [i] precept must be vpon precept, precept vpon precept, line vnto line, line vnto line, there a litle, and there a litle.

11 For with a stammering [k] tongue and with a strange language shall he speake vnto this people.

12 Vnto whome [l] hee sayd, [m] This is the rest: [n] giue rest to him that is wearie: and this is the refreshing, but they would not heare.

13 Therefore shall the worde of the [o] Lord be vnto them precept vpon precept, precept vpon precept, line vnto line, line vnto line, there a litle, and there a litle, that they may goe, and fall backward, and be broken, and be snared, and be taken.

14 Wherefore, heare the worde of the Lorde ye scornefull men that rule this people, which is at Ierusalem.

15 Because ye haue said, We haue made a [p] couenant with death, and with hell are we at agreement; though a scourge runne ouer, and passe through, it shall not come at vs: for we haue made [q] falshood our refuge, & vnder vanity are we hid.

16 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I wil lay in Zion a stone, a [r] tried stone, a precious corner stone, a sure foundation. Hee that beleeueth, [s] shall not make haste.

17 Iudgement also will I lay to the rule, and [t] righteousnesse to the balance, and the [u] haile shall sweepe away the vaine confidence, and the waters shall ouerflowe [x] the secret place.

18 And your couenant with death shalbe disanulled, and your agreement with hell shall not stand: when a scourge shall runne ouer and passe through, then shall ye be trode downe by it.

19 When it passeth ouer, it shall take you away: for it shall passe through euery morning in the day, and in the night, and there shall be onely [y] feare to make you to vnderstand the hearing.

20 For the bed is [z] straite that it cannot suffice, and the couering narowe that one can not wrappe himselfe.

21 For the Lord shall stand as in mount [a] Perazim: he shall be wroth as in the valley [b] of Gibeon, that he may do his worke, his strage worke, and bring to passe his act, his strange act.

22 Nowe therefore be no mockers, least your bonds increase: for I haue heard of the Lorde of hostes a consumption, euen determined vpon the whole earth.

23 Hearken ye, and heare my voyce: hearken ye, and heare my speach.

d Therefore hee will destroy the kingdome of Satan, because he loueth his Church for his owne mercies sak, and can not be angry with it, but wisheth that he may powre his anger vpon the wicked infidels, whom he meaneth by bryers and thornes.

e He mateileth, that Israel wil not come by gentlenesse, except God make them to feele his rods, and so bring them vnto him.

f Though I afflict and diminish my people for a time, yet shall the roote spring againe, and bring foorth in great abundance.

g He sheweth that God punisheth his in mercie, and his enemies in iustice.

h That is, thou wilt not destroy the roote of thy Church, though the branches thereof seeme to perish by the sharpe winde of affliction.

i He sheweth that there is no true repentance, nor full reconciliation to God, till the heart be purged from all idolatrie, and the monuments thereof destroyed.

k Notwithstanding his fauour that hee wil shewe them after, yet Ierusalem shalbe destroyed, and grasse for cattell shall growe in it.

l God shall not haue neede of mightie enemies: for the very women shall doe it, to their great shame.

m He shall destroy all from Euphrates to Nilus: for some fledde toward Egypt, thinking to haue escaped.

n In the time of Cyrus, by whom they should be deliuered: but this was chiefly accomplished vnder Christ.

a Meaning, the proude kingdome of the Israelites, which were drunken with worldly prosperitie.

b Because the Israelites for y most part dwelt in pleasant valleys, hee meaneth hereby the valley of them, that had abundance of worldly prosperitie, and were, as it were crowned therewith, as with garlands.

c He seemeth to meane the Assyrians, by whom the tenne tribes were caried away.

d Which is not of long continuance, but as soone ripe, and first eaten.

e Signifying, that the faithfull, which put not their trust in any worldly prosperitie, but made God their glory, shalbe preserued.

f He will giue counsel to the gouernor, & strength to the captaine, to driue the enemies in at their owne gates.

g Meaning the hypocrites, which were among them, and were altogether corrupt in life & doctrine, which is here ment by drunkennes and vomiting.

h For there was none that was able to vnderstand any good doctrine: but were foolish, and as vnmeete as yong babes.

i They must haue one thing ofttimes tolde.

k Let one teach what he can, yet they shall no more vnderstand him, then if he spake in a strange laguage.

l That is, the Prophet whome God should send.

m This is the doctrine whereupon ye ought to stay and rest.

n Shewe to them that are weary and haue need of rest, what is the true rest.

o Because they wil not receiue the word of God, whe it is offered, it commeth of their own malice, if after their hearts be so hardened, that they care not for it, as before Chap. 6. 9.

p They thought they had shiftes to anoyde Gods iudgements, and that they could escape though all other perished.

q Though y Prophets condemned their idoles, and vaine trust, of falsehood, and vanitie, yet the wicked thought in themselues that they would trust in these things.

r That is, Christ by whom all the building must be tried, & vpholden, Psa. 118. 22. mat. 21. 42. act. 4. 11. rom. 9. 33. 1. pet 2. 6.

s He shalbe quiet, & seek none other remedies, but be content with Christ.

t In the restitution of his Church, iudgement, and iustice shall reigne.

u Gods corrections and affliction.

x Affliction shall discouer their vaine confidence, which they kept secret to themselues.

y Terrour and destruction shal make you to learne that, which exhortations and gentlenesse could not bring you vnto.

z Your affliction shalbe so sore, that you are not able to endure it.

24 Doth the plowe man plowe all the day, to sowe? doeth hee open, and breake the clots of his ground?

25 When he hath made it [c] plaine, will he not then sowe the fitches, and sowe cummin, and cast in wheate by measure, and the appoynted barely and rye in their place?

26 For his God doth instruct him to haue discretion, and doeth teach him.

27 For fitches shall not bee threshed with a threshing instrument, neither shall a cart wheele be turned about vpon the cummin: but the fitches are beaten out with a staffe, and cummin with a rod.

28 Bread corne when it is threshed, hee doeth not alway thresh it, neither doeth the wheele of his cart still make a noise, neither will he breake it with the teeth thereof.

29 This also commeth from the Lord of hosts, which is wonderfull in counsell, and excellent in workes.

c As the plowe-man hath his appoynted time, and diuers instruments for his labour, so hath the Lord for his vengeance: for he punisheth some at one time, and some at another, some after one sort, and some after another, so that his chosen seede is beaten, and tried, but not broken, as are the wicked.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 A prophecie against Ierusalem. 13 The vengeance of God on them that follow the traditions of men.

HA [a] altar, altar of the citie that Dauid dwelt in: adde yeere vnto yeere: [b] let them kill lambes.

2 But I will bring the altar into distresse, and there shalbe heauinesse and sorow, and it shall bee vnto me like [c] an altar.

3 And I will besiege thee as a circle, and sight against thee on a mount, and will cast vp ramparts against thee.

4 So shalt thou be humbled, and shalt speake out of the [d] ground, and thy speech shalbe as out of the dust: thy voyce also shall bee out of the ground like him that hath a spirit of diuination, and thy talking shall whisper out of the dust.

5 Moreouer, the multitude of thy [e] strangers shalbe like small dust, and the multitude of strong men shalbe as chasse that passeth away, and it shall be in a moment, euen suddenly.

6 Thou shalt be visited of the Lord of hostes with thunder, and shaking, and a great noyse, a whirlewinde, and a tempest, and a flame of a deuouring fire.

7 And the [f] multitude of all the nations that fight against the altar, shalbe as a dreame or vision by night: euen all they that make the warre against it, and strong holdes against it, and lay siege vnto it.

8 And it shall be like as an hungry man dreameth, and beholde, [g] he eateth: and when he awaketh, his soule is emptie: or like as a thirstie man dreameth, and loe, he is drinking, and when he awaketh, beholde, he is faint, and his soule longeth: so shall the multitude of all nations bee that fight against mount Zion.

9 [h] Stay your selues, and wonder: they are blinde, & make you blinde: they are drunken, but not [i] wined: they stagger, but not by strong drink.

10 For the Lord hath couered you with a spirit of slumber, and hath shut vp your eyes the Prophet, and your chiefe Seers hath he couered.

11 And the vision of them all is become vnto you, as the wordes of a booke that is sealed vp, which they deliuer to one that can reade, saying, Reade this, I pray thee. Then shall hee say, I can not: for it is sealed.

12 And the booke is giuen vnto him that can not reade, saying, Reade this, I pray thee. And hee shall say, I cannot reade.

13 Therefore the Lord said, Because this people [k] come neere vnto me with their mouth, and honour mee with their lippes, but haue remooued their heart farre from me, and their [l] feare toward me was taught by the precept of men, 14 Therefore beholde, I wil againe doe a marueilous worke in this people, euen a marueilous worke, and a wonder: for the wisedome of their wise man shall [m] perish, and the vnderstanding of their prudent men shalbe hid.

15 Woe vnto them that [n] seeke deepe to hide their counsell from the Lord: for their workes are in darkenesse, and they say, Who seeth vs? and who knoweth vs?

16 Your turning of deuises shal it not be esteemed [o] as the potters clay? for shall the worke say of him that made it, He made me not? or the thing formed, say of him that fashioned it, He had none vnderstanding?

17 Is it not yet but a little while, and Lebanon shall be [p] turned into Carmel? and Carmel shalbe counted as a forest?

18 And in that day shall the deafe heare the wordes of the booke, and the eyes of the blinde shall see out of obscuritie, and out of darkenesse.

19 The meeke in the Lord shall receiue ioy againe, and the poore men shall reioyce in the holy one of Israel.

20 For the cruel man shall cease, & the scornefull shall be consumed: and all that hasted to iniquitie, shalbe cut off:

21 Which made a man to sinne in the [q] word, and tooke him in a snare: which reprooued them in the gate, and made the iust to fal without cause.

22 Therefore thus saith the Lord vnto the house of Iaakob, euen hee that redeemed Abraham, Iaakob shal not now be confounded, neither now shall his face be pale.

23 But when hee seeth his children, the worke of mine hands, in the mids of him, they shall sanctifie my Name, and sanctifie the holy one of Iaakob, and shall feare the God of Israel.

24 Then they that erred in spirite, [r] shall haue vnderstanding, and they that murmured, shall learne doctrine.

a The Ebrewe word Ariel signifieth the Lyon of God, and signifieth the altar, because the Altar seemed to deuoure the sacrifice that was offred to God, as Ezek. 43. 16.

b Your vaine confidence in your sacrifices shall not last long.

c Your citie shall be full of blood as an altar whereon they sacrifice.

d Thy speech shal be no more so loftie, but abased, and low as the very charmers, which are in low places, and whisper, so that their voyce can scarse be heard.

e Thine hired souldiers, in whome thou trustest, shall be destroyed as dust or chasse in a whirlewinde.

f The enemies that I will bring to destroy thee, and that which thou makest thy vaine trust, shall come as vnawares, euen as a dreame in the night. Some reade, as if this were a comfort to the Church for the destruction of their enemies.

g That is he thinketh y he eateth.

h Muse hereon as long as ye list, yet shall ye finde nothing but occasion to be astonied: for your Prophets are blinde, and therefore cannot direct you.

i Meaning, that it is all alike, either to reade, or not to reade, except God open the heart to vnderstand.

k Because they are hypocrites and not sincere in heart, at Mat. 15. 8.

l That is, their religion was learned by mans doctrine and not by my word.

m Meaning, that whereas God is not worshipped according to his word, but magistrates and ministers are but fooles and without vnderstanding.

n This is spoken of them, which in heart despised Gods word, and mocked at the admonitions but outwardly bare a good face.

o For all your craft, saith y Lord, you cannot be able to escape mine handes no more then the clay, that is in the potters hands, hath power to deliuer it selfe.

p Shall there not be a change of all things? and Carmel, that is a plentifull place in respect of that it shal be then, may be taken as a forrest as Chap. 32. 15. and thus he speaketh to comfort the faithfull.

q They that went about to find fault with the Prophets words, and would not abide admonitions, but wouide intangle them and bring them into danger.

r Signifying, that except God giue vnderstanding and knowledge, man cannot but still erre and murmure against him.

CHAP. XXX.

1 Here reprooueth the Iewes which seeke aduersitie to ease their owne conscience. 2 And seeketh helpe of the Egyptians. 10 Despising the Prophets. 16 Therefore he sheweth what destruction shall come vpon them. 18 But offereth mercie to their repentance.

WOe to the [a] rebellious children, saith the Lord, that take counsell, but not of mee, and [b] couer with a couering, but not by my spirit, that they may lay sinne vpon sinne:

2 Which walke to goe downe into Egypt, and haue not asked at my mouth, to strengthen themselues with the strength of Pharaoh, and trust in the shadowe of Egypt.

3 But the strength of Pharaoh shall be your shame, and the trust in the shadow of Egypt your confusion.

4 For his [c] princes were at Zoan, and his Ambassadours came vnto Hanes.

5 They shalbe all ashamed of the people that cannot profite them, nor helpe nor doe them good, but shalbe a shame and also a reproch.

a Who contrary to their promise, take not me for their protector, and contrary to my commandement, seeke helpe at strangers.

b They seeke shiftes to cloke their doings, and not godly meanes.

c The chiefe of Israel went into Egypt in Ambassage to seeke helpe, and abode at these cities.

6 ¶ The [d] burden of the beastes of the South, in a land of trouble and anguish, from whence shall come the yong and olde lyon, the viper and fierie flying serpent against them that shall beare their riches vpon the shoulders of the coltes, and their treasures vpon the bunches of the camels, to a people that cannot profite.

7 For the Egyptians are vanitie, and they shall helpe in vaine. Therefore haue I cried vnto [e] her, Their strength [f] is to sit still.

8 Now go, and write [g] it before them in a table, and note it in a booke that it may bee for the [h] last day for euer and euer:

9 That it is a rebellious people, lying children, and children that would not [i] heare the law of the Lord,

10 Which say vnto the Seers, See not: and to the Prophets, Prophecie not vnto vs right things: but speake flattering things vnto vs: prophecie [k] errours.

11 Depart out of the way: go aside out of the path: cause the holy one of Israel to cease from vs.

12 Therefore thus saith the holy one of Israel, Because you haue cast off this word, and trust in [l] violence, and wickednesse, and stay thereupon, 13 Therefore this iniquitie shalbe vnto you as a breach that falleth, or a swelling in an hie wall, whose breaking commeth suddenly in a moment.

14 And the breaking thereof is like the breaking of a potters pot, which is broken without pitie, and in the breaking thereof is not found [m] a sheard to take fire out of the hearth, or to take water out of the pit.

15 For thus saide the [n] Lord God, the Holy one of Israel, In rest and quietnesse shall ye be saued: in quietnesse and in confidence shall be your strength, but ye would not.

16 For ye haue sayd, No, but we will flee away vpon [o] horses. Therefore shall ye flee. We will ride vpon the swiftest. Therefore shall your persecuters be swifter.

17 A thousande as one shall flee at the rebuke of one: at the rebuke of fiue shall ye flee, till ye be left as a ship mast vpon the [p] toppe of a mountaine, and as a beaken vpon an hill.

18 Yet therefore will the Lord waite, that hee may haue [q] mercy vpon you, and therefore wil he be exalted, that hee may haue compassion vpon you: for the Lord is the God of [r] iudgement. Blessed are all they that waite for him.

19 Surely a people shall dwell in Zion, and in Ierusalem: thou shalt weepe no more: he wil certainely haue mercy vpon thee at the voyce of thy cry: when he heareth thee, he will answere thee.

20 And when the Lorde hath giuen you the bread of aduersitie, and the water of affliction, thy raine shall be no more kept backe, but thine eyes shall see thy ‖ raine.

21 And thine eares shall heare a word behinde thee, saying, This is the way, [s] walke ye in it, when thou turnest to the right hand, and when thou turnest to the left.

22 And ye shall [t] pollute the couering of the images of siluer, and the rich ornament of thine images of gold, & cast them away as a menstruous cloth, and thou shalt say vnto it, [u] Get thee hence.

23 Then shall hee giue raine vnto thy seede, when thou shalt sow the ground, and bread of the increase of the earth, and it shalbe fat and oyle: in that day shal the cattel be fed in large pastures.

24 The oxen also and the young asses, that till the ground, shall eate cleane prouender, which is winowed with the shouel and with the fanne.

25 And vpon euery hie [x] mountaine, and vpon euery hie hill shall there be riuers and streames of waters, in the day of the great slaughter, when the towres shall fall.

26 Moreouer, the light of the moone shall be as the light of the [y] sunne, and the light of the sunne shalbe seuen fold, & like the light of seuen dayes in the day that the Lord shall binde vp the breach of his people, and heale the stroke of their wound.

27 Behold, [z] the Name of the Lord commeth from farre, his face is burning, and the burden thereof is heauie: his lippes are full of indignation, and his tongue is as a deuouring fire.

28 And his spirit is as a riuer that ouerfloweth vp to the necke: it deuideth asunder, to fanne the nations with the fanne of [a] vanitie, and there shall be a bridle to cause them to erre in the chawes of the people.

29 But there shal be a song vnto you as in the [b] night, when a solemne feast is kept: and gladnesse of heart, as he that commeth with a pipe to goe vnto the mount of the Lord, to the mightie one of Israel.

30 And the Lord shall cause his glorious voice to be heard, and shall declare the lighting downe of his arme with the anger of his countenance, and flame of a deuouring fire, with scattering and tempest, and hailestones.

31 For with the voyce of the Lord shal Asshur be destroyed, which smote with the [c] rod.

32 And in euery place that the staffe shal passe, it shall [d] cleaue fast, which the Lord shal lay vpon him with [e] tabrets and harpes: and with battels, and lifting vp of hands shall he fight [f] against it.

33 For [g] Tophet is prepared of olde: it is euen prepared for the [h] King: hee hath made it [i] deepe and large: the burning thereof is fire and much wood: the breath of the Lord, like a riuer of brimstone doth kindle it.

d That is, a heauie sentence or prophecie against the beasts that caried their treasures into Egypt, by the wildernesse, which was South from Iudah: signifying that if the beasts should not be spared, the men should be punished much more grieuously.
e To wit, to Ierusalem.
f And not to come to and fro to seeke helpe.
g That is, this prophecie.
h That it may bee a witnesse against them for all posteritie.
i He sheweth what was the cause of their destruction, & bringeth also miserie to man: to wit, because they would not heare the word of God, but delited to be flattered, and led in errour.
k Threaten vs not by the word of God, neither be so rigorous, nor talke vnto vs in the Name of the Lord, as Iere. 11. 21.
l Meaning, in their stubbernesse against God and the admonitions of his Prophets.
m Signifying, that the destruction of the wicked shalbe without recouery.
n Oft times by his Prophets he put you in remembrance of this, that you should onely depend on him.
o We will trust to escape by our horses.
p Whereas al the trees are cut down saue two or three to make masts.
q He commendeth the great mercies of God, who with patience waiteth to call sinners to repentance.
r Not onely in punishing, but in vsing moderation in the same, as Iere. 10. 24. and 30. 11.
s God shall direct all thy wayes, and appoynt thee how to goe either hither or thither.
t Ye shal cast away your idoles, which you haue made of golde, and siluer, with all that belongeth vnto them, as a most filthy thing, and polluted.
u Shewing that there can be no true reuerence except both in heart and deede we shew our selues enemies to idolatrie.
x By these diuers maners of speech he sheweth that the felicitie of the Church shalbe so great, that none is able sofficiently to expresse it.
y When the Church shalbe restored, the glory thereof shall passe seuen times the brightnesse of the sunne: for by the sunne and moone, which are two excellent creatures, he sheweth what shall be the glory of the children of God in the kingdome of Christ.
z This threatning is against the Assyrians, y chiefe enemies of the people of God.
a To driue them to nothing: and thus God consumeth the wicked by that meanes, whereby he clenseth his.
b Ye shall reioyce at the destruction of your enemies, as they that sing for ioy of the solemne feast, which began in the euening.
c Gods plague.
d It shall destroy.
e With ioy and assurance of the victorie.
f Against Babel: meaning the Assyrians and Babylonians.
g Here is taken for hel, where the wicked are tormented, reade 2. King. 23. 10.
h So that their estate or degree cannot exempt the wicked.
i By these figuratiue speeches he declareth the condition of the wicked after this life.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 Hee curseth them that forsake God, and seeke for the helpe of man.

WOe vnto them that [a] goe downe into Egypt for helpe, and stay vpon horses, and trust in charets, because they are many, and in horsemen, because they be very strong: but they looke not vnto the holy one of Israel, nor [b] seeke vnto the Lord.

2 But he yet is [c] wiseste: therfore he wil bring euil, and not turne backe his word, but he wil arise against the house of the wicked, and against the helpe of them that worke vanitie.

3 Now the Egyptians are men, and not God, and their horses flesh and not spirite: and when the Lord shall stretch out his hand, the [d] helper a there were two special causes, why the Israelites should not ioyne amitie with the Egyptians: first, because the Lord had commanded them neuer to returne thither, Deut. 17. 16 and 28. 68. lest they should forget the benefite of their redemption: and secondly, lest they should be corrupted with the superstition and idolatrie of the Egyptians and so forsake God, meaning that they forsake the Lord, that put their trust in worldly things: for they cannot trust in both.

c And knoweth their crafty enterprises, and will bring all to nought.

c He sheweth the Iewes, that if they would put their trust in him, he is so able, that none can resist his power: and so carefull ouer them, as a bird ouer her yong, which euer flieth about the for their defence: which similitude the scripture vseth in diuers places, as Deut. 32. 11. mat. 23. 37.

f Hee toucheth their conscience yͤ they might earnestly feele their grieuous sinnes, and so truely repent, for as much as now they are almost drowned and past recouerie.

g By these fruites your repentance shalbe knowen, as Chap. 2. 18.

h When your repentance appeareth.

i This was accomplished soone after when Sancheribs armie was discomfited, & he fled to his castell in Nineueh for succour.

shall fall, and he that is holpen shall fall, and they shall altogether faile.

4 For thus hath the Lord spoken vnto me. As the lyon or lyons whelpe roareth vpon his praye, against whom a a multitude of shepheards be called, he wil not be afraide at their voyce, neither wil humble himselfe at their noyse, so shall the Lord of hosts come c downe to fight for mount Zion, and for the hill thereof.

5 As birds that flie, so shal the Lord of hostes defend Ierusalem by defending and deliuering, by passing through and preseruing it.

6 O ye children of Israel turne againe, in as much as ye are f sunken deepe in rebellion.

7 For in that day euery man shall g cast out his idoles of siluer, and his idoles of golde, which your hands haue made you, euen a sinne.

8 h Then shal Asshur fall by the sworde, not of man, neither shall the sworde of man deuoure him, and hee shall flee from the sworde, and his yong men shal faint.

9 And he shal go for feare to his i towre, and his princes shall be afraide of the standart, saieth the Lord, whose k fire is in Zion, and his fornace in Ierusalem.

CHAP. XXXII.

The conditions of good rulers and officers described by the gouernment of Hezekiah, who was the figure of Christ.

a This prophesie is of Hezekiah, who was a figure of Christ, & therefore it ought chiefly to be referred to him.

b By iudgement and iustice is ment an vpright gouernment, both in policie and religion.

c Where men are weary with trauelling for lacke of water.

d He promiseth to giue the true light, which is the pure doctrine of Gods word, and vnderstanding, and zeale of the same, contrary to the threatnings against the wicked, Chap. 6. 9. and 29. 10.

e Vice, shall no more be called vertue, nor vertue esteemed by power and riches.

f He prophesieth of such calamitie to come, that they will not spare the women & childrē, and therefore willeth them to take heede & prouide.

g Meaning, that the affliction should continue long and when one yeere were past, yet they should looke for newe plagues.

h made you to contemne him: to wit, abundance of worldly goods.

i By the teates he meaneth the plentiful fields, whereby men are nourished, as children with the teate: or, the mothers for sorowe and leannesse shal lacke milke.

BEholde, a a King shal reigne in iustice, and the princes shall rule b in iudgement.

2 And that man shall be as an hiding place from the winde, and as a refuge for the tempest: as riuers of water in a dry place, and as the shadowe of a great rocke in a c wearie land.

3 The eyes of d the seeing shall not be shut, and the eares of them that heare, shal hearken.

4 And the heart of the foolish shall vnderstand knowledge, and the tongue of the stutters shalbe ready to speake distinctly.

5 A e nigard shal no more be called liberall, nor the churle rich.

6 But the nigarde will speake of nigardnesse, and his heart wil worke iniquitie, and do wickedly, and speake falsely against the Lorde, to make emptie the hungrie soule, and to cause the drinke of the thirstie to faile.

7 For the weapons of the churle are wicked: he deuiseth wicked counsels to vndoe the poore with lying words: and to speake against the poore in iudgement.

8 But the liberall man will deuise of liberall things, and he wil continue in liberalitie.

9 ¶ Rise vp, ye women that are at ease, heare my voice, ye f careles daughters: hearkē to my words.

10 Yee women, that are careless, shall be in feare g aboue a yeere in dayes: h for the vintage shall faile, and the gatherings shal come no more.

11 Yee women that are at ease, be astonied: feare, O ye careless women: put off the clothes: make bare, and girde sackcloth vpon the loynes.

12 Men shall lament for the i teates, euen for the pleasant fieldes, and for the fruitfull vine.

13 Vpon the land of my people shall growe thornes and briers: yea, vpon all the houses of God will take from you the meanes and occasions, which 14 Because the palace shalbe forsaken, and the ‖ noyse of the citie shalbe left: the towre and fortresse shall be dennes for euer, and the delite of wilde asses, and a pasture for flockes, 15 Vntill the k Spirit be powred vpon vs from aboue, and the wildernes become a fruitfull field, and the l plenteous fielde be counted as a forest.

16 And iudgement shal dwell in the desert, and iustice shal remaine in the fruitful fielde.

17 And m yͤ worke of iustice shalbe peace, euē the worke of iustice & quietnes, & assurance for euer.

18 And my people shal dwell in the tabernacle of peace, and in sure dwellings, and in safe resting places.

19 When it haileth, it shal fall on the forest, and the m citie shalbe set in the low places.

20 Blessed are ye n that sowe vpon all waters, and o driue thither the feete of the oxe & the asse.

k That is, when the Church shalbe restored: thus the Prophets after they haue denounced Gods iudgements against the wicked, vse to cōfort the godly left they should faint.

l The field which is now fruitfull, shalbe but as a barren forest in comparison of that it shalbe then, as Chap. 29. 17. which shalbe fulfilled in Christes time: for then they that were before as the barren wildernes, being regenerate, shalbe fruitful, and they yͤ had some beginning of godlines, shal bring forth fruits in such abundance, that their former life shal seeme but as a wildernes, where no fruits were.

m They shal not neede to build it in hie places for feare of the enemie: for God will defend it, and turne away the stormes from hurting of their commodities.

n That is, vpon fat ground and wel watered, which bringeth forth in abundance, or in places which before were couered yͤ water is, and now made dry for your vses.

o The fields shalbe so tanke, that they shall send out their cattell to eat vp the first crop, which abundance shalbe signes of God fauour and loue towards them.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 The destruction of them by whome God hath punished his Church.

WOe to thee that a spoylest, and wast not spoyled: and doest wickedly, and they did not wickedly against thee: when thou shalt b cease to spoyle, thou shalbe spoyled: when thou shalt make an ende of doing wickedly, c they shal doe wickedly against thee.

2 d O Lorde, haue mercie vpon vs, wee haue waited for thee: be thou, which wast e their arme in the morning, our helpe also in time of trouble.

3 At the noise of the tumult, the f people fled: at thine g exalting the nations were scattered.

4 And your spoyle shalbe gathered like the gathering of h caterpillers: and i hee shal goe against him like the leaping of grashoppers.

5 The Lord is exalted: for hee dwelleth on hie: he hath filled Zion with iudgement & iustice.

6 And there shalbe stabilitie of k thy times, strength, saluation, wisdome and knowledge: for the feare of the Lord shalbe his treasure.

7 Behold, l their messengers shal cry without, and m yͤ ambassadors of peace shal weepe bitterly.

8 The n paths are waste: the wayfaring man ceaseth: he hath broken the couenant: hee hath contemned the cities: he regarded no man.

9 The earth mourneth and fainteth: Lebanon is ashamed, and hewen downe: o Sharon is like a wildernes, and Bashan is shaken and Carmel.

10 Now wil I P arise, saith the Lord: nowe wil I be exalted, now wil I lift vp my selfe.

11 q Ye shal conceiue chaffe, and bring forth stubble: the fire of your breath shall deuoure you.

12 And the people shall be as the burning of a Meaning the enemies of the Church, as were yͤ Caldeans, & Assyrians: but chiefly of Sancherib, but not onely.

b When time appointed time shall come that God shal take away thy power: and that which thou hast wrongfully gotten, shalbe giuen to others, as Amos 5. 11.

c The Caldeans shal do like to the Assyrians, as the Assyrians did to Israel: and the Medes & Persians shal doe the same to the Caldeans, d He declareth hereby what is the chiefe refuge of the faithfull, when troubles come, to pray and seeke helpe of God.

e Which helpedst our fathers so soone as they called vpon thee.

f That is, the Assyrians fled before the armie of the Caldeans, or the Caldeans for feare of the Medes and Persians.

g When thou, O Lord, diddest lift vp thine arme to punish thine enemies.

h Yee that as caterpillers destroyed with your number the whole world shall haue no strength to resist your enemies the Caldeans, but shalbe gathered on an heape and destroyed.

n These are the wordes of the Ambassadours, when they returne from Sancherib.

o Which was a plentiful countrey, meaning that Sancherib would destroy all.

p To helpe and deliuer my Church.

q This is spoken against the enemies, who thought all was their owne: but he sheweth that their enterprise shall be in vaine, and that the fire, which they had kindled for others, should consume them.

d I haue determined in my secret counsel and in the heauens to destroy them till my sworde be wearie with shedding blood.

e They had an opinion of holinesse because they came of the Patriarke Izhak, but in effect were accursed of God, and enemies vnto his Church, as the Papists are.

4 And all the hoste of heauen c shalbe dissolued, and the heauens shalbe folden like a booke: and all their hostes shal fall as the leafe falleth from the vine, and as it falleth from the figtree.

6 The sword of the Lord is filled with blood: it is made fat with the fat & with the blood of the f lambes & the goates, with the fat of the kidneis of the rams: for the Lord hath a sacrifice in g Bozrah, and a great slaughter in the land of Edom.

CHAP. XXXV.

1 The great ioye of them that beleeue in Christ. 3 Their office which preach the Gospel. 8 The fruites that follow thereof.

a He prophesieth of the ful restauration of the Church both of the Iewes and Gentiles vnder Christ, which shall be fully accomplished at the last day: albeit as yet it is compared to a desert and wildernesse.

b The Church which was before compared to a barren wildernes shal by Christ be made most plenteous and beautifull.

c He sheweth that the presence of God is the cause that the Church doeth bring forth fruite and flotish d He willeth all to encourage one another, and specially the ministers to exhort and strengthen the weake, that they may patiently abide the comming of God, which is at hand. e To destroy your enemies. f When the knowledge of Christ is reuealed. g They that were barren and destitute of the graces of God, shall haue them giuen by Christ.

THe a desert and the wildernesse shal reioyce: and the wast ground shalbe glad and florish as the rose.

2 It shal florish abundantly and shal greatly reioyce also and ioye: the glory of Lebanon shall be giuen vnto it: the beautie of b Carmel, and of Sharon, they shal c see the glory of the Lord, and the excellencie of our God.

3 d Strengthen the weake handes, and comfort the feeble knees.

4 Say vnto them that are fearefull, Be you strong, feare not: beholde, your God commeth with e vengeance: euen God with a recompense, he wil come and saue you.

10 Therefore the l redeemed of the Lord shall returne and come to Zion with prayse: and euerlasting ioy shall bee vpon their heads: they shall obtaine ioy and gladnesse, and sorowe and mourning shall flee away.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Sancherib sendeth Rabshakeh to besiege Ierusalem. 15 His blasphemies against God.

a This historie is rehearsed, because it is as a seale and confirmation of the doctrine afore, both for the threatnings and promises: to wit, that God would suffer his Church to be afflicted, but at length would send deliuerance.
b When he had abolished superstition, and idolatrie, and restored religion, yet God would exercise his Church to trie their faith and patience.
c For he was now restored to his office, as Isaiah had prophecied, Chap. 22 20.
d This declareth that there were few godly to be found in the Kings house, when he was driuen to send this wicked man in such a weightie matter.
e Sancheribs chiefe captaine.
f Hee speaketh this in the person of Hezekiah falsly charging him, that he put his trust in his wit and eloquence, whereas his onely confidence was in the Lord.
g Satan laboured to pull the godly King from one vaine confidence to another: to wit, from trust in the Egyptians, whose power was weake and would deceiue them, to yeelde himselfe to the Assyrians, and so not to hope for any helpe of God. ‖ Or, turne backe. h He reprocheth to Hezekiah his small power, which is not able to resist one of Sancheribs least captaines. i Thus the wicked to deceiue vs, will pretend the Name of the Lord: but we must trie the spirits, whether they be of God or no. k They were afraid, lest by his wordes he should haue stirred the people against the King, and also pretended to growe to some appoyntment with him.

NOwe a in the b fourteenth yeere of King Hezekiah, Sancherib King of Asshur came vp against all the strong cities of Iudah, & took them.

2 And the King of Asshur sent Rabshakeh from Lachish toward Ierusalem vnto King Hezekiah, with a great hoste, & he stood by the conduit of the vpper poole in the path of the fullers field.

3 Then came foorth vnto him Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah the c steward of the house, and Shebna d the chancellor, and Ioah the sonne of Asaph the recorder.

4 And e Rabshakeh sayde vnto them, Tell you Hezekiah, I pray you, Thus sayth the great King, the King of Asshur, What confidence is this, wherein thou trustest?

5 I say, f Surely I haue eloquence, but counsell and strength are for the warre: on whom then doest thou trust, that thou rebellest against me?

6 Loe, thou trustest in this broken staffe of reede, on Egypt, whereupon if a man leane, it will goe into his hand and pearce it: so g Pharaoh King of Egypt, vnto all that trust in him.

7 But if thou say to me, We trust in the Lord our God, is not that he, whose hie places & whose altars Hezekiah tooke down, & said to Iudah and to Ierusalem, Yee shall worship before this altar?

8 Nowe therefore giue hostages to my lord the King of Assh ur, and I will giue thee two thousand horses, if thou be able on thy part to set riders vpon them.

9 For how canst thou ‖ despise any captaine of the h least of my lordes seruants? and put thy trust on Egypt for charets and for horsemen?

10 And am I nowe come vp without the Lord to this land to destroy it? The Lord said vnto me, i Goe vp against this land and destroy it.

11 ¶ The said Eliakim, and Shebna and Ioah vnto Rabshakeh, k Speake, I pray thee, to thy seruants in the Aramites language, (for wee vnderstand it) & talke not with vs in the Iewes tongue, in the audience of the people that are on the wal.

12 Then said Rabshakeh, Hath my master sent mee to thy master, and to thee to speake these wordes, and not to the men that sit on the wall: that they may eate their owne doung, and drinke their owne † pisse with you?

13 So Rabshakeh stood & cryed with a loude voyce in the Iewes language, and sayd, Heare the wordes of the great King, of the King of Assh ur.

14 Thus saith the King, Let not Hezekiah deceiue you: for he shal not be able to deliuer you.

15 Neither let Hezekiah make you to trust in the Lord, saying, The Lorde wil surely deliuer vs: this citie shal not be giuen ouer into the hand of the King of Assh ur.

16 Hearken not to Hezekiah: for thus sayeth the King of Assh ur, Make l appointment with me, and come out to me, that euery man may eate of his owne vine, & euery man of his owne figtree, and drinke euery man the water of his owne wel,

17 Till I come and bring you to a land like your owne land, euen a land of wheate, and wine, a land of bread and vineyards, 18 Least Hezekiah deceiue you, saying, The Lord wil deliuer vs. Hath any of the gods of the nations deliuered his land out of the hand of the King of Assh ur?

19 Where is the god of m Hamath, and of Arpad? where is the god of Sepharuaim? or howe haue they deliuered Samaria out of my hand?

20 Who is hee among all the gods of these landes, that hath deliuered their countrey out of mine hand, that the Lorde should deliuer Ierusalem out of mine hand?

21 Then they n kept silence, and answered him not a worde: for the Kings commandement was, saying, Answere him not.

22 Then came Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah the steward of the house, and Shebna the chancellor, and Ioah the sonne of Asaph the recorder, vnto Hezekiah with rent clothes, and tolde him the wordes of Rabshakeh.

l The Ebrew word signifieth blessing: whereby this wicked captaine would haue perswaded the people, that their condition should be better vnder Sancherib then vnder Hezekiah.
m That is, of Antiochia in Syria, of the which these also were: whereby we see howe euery towne had his peculiar idole, and howe the wicked make God an idole, because they do not vnderstand that God maketh them his scourge, and punisheth cities for sinne.
n Not that they did not shew by euident signes that they did detest his blasphemie: for they had now rent their clothes, but they knewe it was in vaine to vse long reasoning with this infidell, whose rage they should haue so much more prouoked.

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 Hezekiah asketh counsell of Isaiah, who promiseth him the victorie. 10 The blasphemie of Sancherib. 16 Hezekiahs prayer. 36 The armie of Sancherib is slaine of the Angell, 38 And he himselfe of his owne sonnes.

*2. Kings 19. 1.

AND * when the King Hezekiah heard it, he a rent his clothes, and put on sackecloth and came into the House of the Lord.

2 And hee sent Eliakim the stewarde of the house, & Shebna the chancellor, with the Elders of the Priestes, clothed in sackcloth vnto b Isaiah the Prophet, the sonne of Amoz.

3 And he sayd vnto him, Thus saieth Hezekiah, This day is a day of tribulation and of rebuke and blasphemie: for the children are come to ‡ c birth, & there is no strength to bring forth.

4 If so be the Lord thy God hath d heard the wordes of Rabshakeh, whom the King of Assh ur his master hath sent to raile on the liuing God, and to reproch him with wordes which the Lord thy God hath heard, then e lift thou vp thy prayer for the remnant that are left.

5 So the seruants of the King Hezekiah came to Isaiah.

6 And Isaiah said vnto them, Thus say vnto your master, Thus saith the Lord, Be not afraid of the words ‡ thou hast heard, wherewith the seruants of the king of Assh ur haue blasphemed me.

a In signe of griefe and repentance.
b To haue comfort of him by the word of God, that his faith might be confirmed, and so his prayer be more earnest: teaching hereby that in all dangers these two are the onely remedies, to seeke vnto God and his ministers.
c We are in as great sorowe as a woman that trauaileth of childe, and can not be deliuered.
d That is, will declare by effect that hee hath heard it: for when God deferreth to punish, it seemeth to the flesh, that hee knoweth not the sinne, or heareth not the cause. e Declaring that the ministers office doeth not onely stand in comforting by the word, but also in praying for the people.

7 Beholde, I will send a blast vpon him, and he shall heare a f noyse, and returne to his owne land, and I will cause him to fall by the sworde in his owne land.

8 ¶ So Rabshakeh returned, and found the King of Asshur fighting against g Libnah: for he had heard that he was departed from Lachish.

9 Hee heard also men say of Tirhakah, King of Ethiopia, Beholde, hee is come out to fight against thee: and when hee heard it, he sent other messengers to Hezekiah, saying,

10 Thus shall ye speake to Hezekiah King of Iudah, saying, Let not thy God h deceiue thee, in whom thou trustest, saying, Ierusalem shall not be giuen into the hand of the King of Asshur.

11 Beholde, thou hast heard what the Kings of Asshur haue done to all lands in destroying them, and shalt thou be deliuered?

12 Haue the gods of the nations deliuered them, which thy fathers haue destroyed? as i Gozan, and k Haran, and Rezeph, and the children of Eden, which were at Telassar?

13 Where is the King of Hamath, and the King of Arpad, and the King of the citie of Sepharuaim, Hena, and Iuah?

14 ¶ So Hezekiah receiued the letter of the hand of the messengers and read it, and he went vp into the House of the Lord, and Hezekiah spread it before the Lord.

15 And Hezekiah prayed vnto the Lorde, saying,

16 O Lorde of hostes, God of Israel, which l dwellest betweene the Cherubims, thou art very God alone ouer all the kingdomes of the earth: thou hast made the heauen and the earth.

17 Encline thine eare, O Lord, and heare: open thine eyes, O Lorde, and see, and heare all the wordes of Sancherib, who hath sent to blaspheme the liuing God.

18 Trueth it is, O Lord, that the Kings of Asshur haue destroied al lands, and m their countrey, 19 And haue cast their gods in the fire: for they were no gods, but the worke of mans hands, euen wood or stone: therefore they destroyed them.

20 Nowe therefore, O Lord our God, saue thou vs out of his hand, that n all the kingdomes of the earth may knowe, that thou onely art the Lord.

21 ¶ Then Isaiah the sonne of Amoz sent vnto Hezekiah, saying, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Because thou hast prayed vnto mee, concerning Sancherib king of Assihur, 22 This is the word that the Lord hath spoken against him, the o virgine, the daughter of Zion, hath despised thee, & laughed thee to scorne: the daughter of Ierusalē hath shaken her head at thee.

23 Whom hast thou railed on and blaspheméd? and against whome hast thou exalted thy voyce, & lifted vp thine eyes on hie? euen against the p holy one of Israel.

24 By thy seruants hast thou railed on the Lord, and sayd, By the multitude of my charets I am come vp to the top of the mountaines to the sides of Lebanon, and will cut downe the hie cedars thereof, and the faire firre trees thereof, and I will goe vp to the heightes of his top, and to the forest of his fruitfull places.

25 I haue digged q and drunke the waters, and with the plant of my feete haue I dried all the riuers closed in.

26 Hast thou not heard howe I haue of olde time made it, r and haue formed it long ago? and should I now bring it, that it should be destroyed, and layde on ruinous heapes, as cities defensed?

27 Whose inhabitants † haue small power, and are afraid and confounded: they are like the grasse of the fielde, and greene herbe, or grasse on the house tops, or corne blasted ſ afore it be growen.

28 But I know thy dwelling, and thy t going out, and thy comming in, and thy fury against me.

29 Because thou rageſt against me, and thy tumult is come vp vnto mine eares, therefore will I put mine u hooke in thy nostrels, and my bridle in thy lips, & will bring thee backe againe the same way thou x camest.

30 And this shalbe a y signe vnto thee, O Hezekiah, Thou shalt eate this yeere such as groweth of it selfe: and the z second yeere, such things as growe without sowing: and in the third yeere, sowe yee and reape, and plant vineyards, and eate the fruite thereof.

31 And a the remnant that is escaped of the house of Iudah, shall againe take roote downeward and beare fruite vpward.

32 For out of Ierusalem shall goe a remnant, and they that escape out of mount Zion: the zeale of the Lord of hostes shall doe this.

33 Therefore thus saith the Lord, concerning the King of Assihur, Hee shall not enter into this citie, nor shoote an arrowe there, nor come before it with shield, nor cast a mount against it.

34 By the same way that he came, he shall returne, and not come into this citie, saith the Lord.

35 For I will defende this citie to saue it, for mine own sake, and for my seruant b Dauids sake.

36 ¶ * Then the Angel of the Lord went out, and smote in the campe of Assihur an hundreth foureſcore, and fiue thousand: so when they arose earely in the morning, beholde, they were all dead corpses.

37 So Saneherib king of Assihur departed, and went away and returned and dwelt at c Nineueh.

38 And as he was in the temple worshipping of Nisroch his god, Adramelech and Sharezer his sonnes * slewe him with the sword, and they escaped into the land of ‖ Ararat: and d Esarhaddon his sonne reigned in his steade.

l He groundeth his praier on Gods promise: who promised to heare them from betweene the Cherubims.

m Meaning, the ten tribes.

n He declareth for what cause he prayed, that they might be deliuered: to wit, that God might be glorified thereby through all the world.

o Whom God had chosen to himselfe, as a chaste virgin, and ouer whome he had care to preserue her from the lusts of the tyrant, as a father would haue ouer his daughter.

p Declaring hereby that they that are enemies to Gods Church, fight against him whose quarrell his Church onely maintaineth.

q He boasteth of his policie, in that that he can finde meanes to nourish his armie: and of his power, in that that his armie is so great that it is able to drie vp whole riuers, and to destroy the waters, which the Iewes had closed in.

r Signifying, that God made not his Church to destroy it, but to preserue it: and therefore he saith that hee formed it of olde, euen in his eternal counsell, which cannot be changed.

ſ He sheweth that the state and power of most florishing cities endureth but a moment in respect of the Church, which shall remaine for euer, because God is the maintainer thereof.

t Meaning, his counsels and enterprises.

u Because Saneherib shewed himselfe as a deuouring fish and furious beast, he weth these similitudes, to teach howe he will take him and guide him.

x Thou shalt lose thy labour.

y God giueth signes after two sortes: some goe before the thing, as the signes that Moses wrought in Egypt, which were for the confirmation of their faith: and some go after the thing as the sacrifice, which they were commanded to make three dayes after their departure: & these later are to keepe the benefites of God in our remembrance of the which sort this here is.

z He promiseth that for two yeeres the ground of it selfe should feede them.

a They whome God hath deliuered out of the hands of the Assyrians, shall prosper: and this properly belongeth to the Church.

b For his heart was touched with feare of Gods iudgement, seeing he had appointed him to die so quickely after his deliuerance from so great calamitie, as one vnworthy to remaine in that estate, and also foreseeing the great change, that should come in the Church, forasmuch as he left no sonne to reigne after him: for as yet Manasseh was not borne: and when he reigned, we lee what a tyrant he was.

3 And sayd, I beseech thee, Lorde, remember now how I haue walked before thee in trueth, and with a perfite heart, & haue done that which is good in thy sight: and Hezekiah wept sore.

4 ¶ Then came the worde of the Lord to Isaiah, saying,

5 Goe, and say vnto Hezekiah, Thus saith the Lord God of Dauid thy father, I haue heard thy prayer, and seene thy teares: behold, I will adde vnto thy dayes fifteene yeeres.

6 And I will deliuer thee c out of the hand of the King of Asshur, and this citie: for I wil defend this citie.

7 And d this signe shalt thou haue of the Lord, that ŷ Lord wil do this thing that he hath spoken,

8 Beholde, I will bring againe the shadow of the degrees (whereby it is gone downe in the diall of Ahaz by the e sunne) ten degrees backward: so the sunne returned by ten degrees, by the which degrees it was gone downe.

9 f The writing of Hezekiah King of Iudah, when he had bene sicke, and was recouered of his sicknesse.

10 I saide in the g cutting off of my dayes, I shal goe to the gates of the graue: I am depriued of the residue of my yeeres.

11 I sayde, h I shall not see the Lord, euen the Lord in the land of the liuing: I shall see man no more among the inhabitants of the world.

12 Mine habitation is departed, and is remoued from me, like a shepheards tent: I i haue cut off like a weauer my life: he will cut me off from the height: from day k to night, thou wilt make an end of me.

13 I reckoned l to the morning: but he brake all my bones, like a lyon: from day to night wilt thou make an end of me.

14 Like a crane or a swallow, so did I m chatter: I did mourne as a doue: mine eyes were lift vp on high: O Lord, n it hath oppressed me, comfort me.

15 What shal I say? o for he hath said it to me, and he hath done it: I shal walke p weakely all my yeeres in the bitternesse of my soule.

16 O Lord, q to them that ouerliue them, and to all that are in them, the life of my spirite shalbe knowen, that thou causest me to r sleepe and hast giuen life to me.

17 Beholde, for s felicitie I had bitter griefe, but it was thy pleasure to deliuer my soule from the pitte of corruption: for thou hast cast all my t sinnes behind thy backe.

18 For u the graue cannot confesse thee: death cannot praise thee: they that goe downe into the pit, cannot hope for thy trueth.

19 But the liuing, the liuing, he shall confesse thee, as I doe this day: the father to the x children shall declare thy trueth.

20 The Lord was readie to saue me: therefore we will sing my song, all the dayes of y our life in the house of the Lord.

21 Then said Isaiah, Take a lumpe of dry figs and z lay it vpon the boyle, and he shall recouer.

22 Also Hezekiah a had said, What is ŷ signe, that I shal goe vp into the house of the Lord?

CHAP. XXXIX.

Hezekiah is reproued because hee shewed his treasures vnto the ambassadours of Babylon.

AT * the same time, a Merodach Baladan, the sonne of Baladan, King of Babel, sent b letters, and a present to Hezekiah: for he had heard that he had bene sicke, and was recouered.

2 And Hezekiah was c glad of them, & shewed them the house of the treasures, the siluer, and the golde, and the spices, and the precious ointment, and all the house of his armour, and all that was found in his treasures: there was nothing in his house, nor in all his kingdome that Hezekiah shewed them not.

3 Then came Isaiah the Prophet vnto King Hezekiah, & said vnto him, What said these men? and from whence came they to thee? And Hezekiah saide, They are come from a farre countrey vnto me, from Babel.

4 Then said he, What haue d they seene in thine house? And Hezekiah answered, All that is in mine house haue they seene: there is nothing among my treasures, that I haue not shewed them.

5 And Isaiah sayde to Hezekiah, Heare the word of the Lord of hostes, 6 Behold, the dayes come, that all that is in thine house, and which thy fathers haue laid vp in store vntil this day, shalbe e caried to Babel: nothing shalbe left, saith the Lord.

7 And of thy sonnes that shall proceede out of thee, and which thou shalt beget, shall they take away, and they shalbe f eunuches in the palace of the Kings of Babel.

ŷ 8 g Then said Hezekiah to Isaiah, The word of the Lord is good, which thou hast spoken: and he said, Yet let there be peace, and trueth in my dayes.

CHAP. XL.

Remission of sinnes by Christ. 3 The comming of Iohn Baptist. 18 The Prophets reproueth the idolaters and them that trust not in the Lord.

COmfort a ye, comfort ye my people, wil your God say.

2 Speake comfortably to Ierusalem, & cry vnto her, that her b warfare is accomplished, that her iniquitie is pardoned: for she hath receiued of the Lords hand c double for all her sinnes.

3 A d voice crieth in the e wildernesse, f Prepare ye the way of the Lord: make streight in the desert a path for our God.

4 Euery valley shall be exalted, and euery g mountaine and hill shall be made lowe: and the crooked shall bee streight, and the rough places plaine.

5 And the glory of the Lord shalbe reueiled, and all h flesh shall see it together: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it.

c He doeth not only promise to prolong his life, but to giue him rest and quietnesse from the Assyrians, who might haue requed their armie to reuenge their former discomfiture.

d For Hezekiah had asked for the confirmation of his faith, a signe, as vers. 22 & 2. King. 20 8. whereunto he was moued by the singular motion of Gods spirit.

e Reade 2. King. 20.10.

f He left this song of his lamentation and thankesgiuing to all posterities as a monument of his owne infirmitie and thankefull heart for Gods benefites, as Dauid did, Psal. 51.

g At what time it was tolde me, that I should die.

h I shal no more praise the Lord here in his Temple among the faithfull: thus God suffereth his dearest children to want his consolation for a time, that his grace afterward may the more appeare whē they feele their owne weakenesse.

i By my sinne I haue prouoked God to take my life from me.

k That is, in one day, or shortly.

l Ouer night I thought ŷ I should liue till morning, but my pangs in y night perswaded me the contrary: he sheweth the horror ŷ the faithfull haue when they apprehend Gods iudgement against their sinne.

m I was so oppressed with sorow, that I was not able to vtter my wordes, but only to grone and sigh.

n To wit, sorowe and griefe both of body and minde.

o God hath declared by his Prophet that I shall die, and therefore I will yeeld vnto him.

p I shall haue no release, but continuall sorowes whiles I liue.

q They that shall ouerliue the men that are now aliue and all they that are in these yeeres, shall acknowledge this benefite.

r That after that thou hadst condemned me to death, thou restoredst me to life.

s Whereas I thought to haue liued in rest and ease being deliuered from mine enemies, I had griefe vpon griefe.

t He esteemeth more the remission of his sinnes, and Gods fauour, then a thousand liues.

u For as much as God hath placed man in this world to glorifie him, the godly take it as a signe of his wrath, when their dayes were shortened, either because that they seemed vnworthy for their sinnes to liue longer in his seruice, or for their zeale to Gods glory, seeing that there are so few in earth that do regard it, as Psal. 6.5 & 115.17.

x All posterity shall acknowledge, and the fathers according to their ductie towarde their children shall instruct them in thy graces, and mercies toward me.

y He sheweth what is the vse of the Congregation and Church to wit, to giue the Lord thanks for his benefites.

z Read 2 Kin. 20.7

a As verse 7.

* 2 King. 20.12.

a This was the first King of Babylon which ouercame the Assyrians in the tenth yere of his reigne.

b Partly moued with the greatnes of the miracle, partly because he shewed himselfe enemie to his enemies, but chiefly, because he would ioyne with them whom God fauoured, and haue their helpe, if occasion serued.

c Reade 2. King. 20.13. and 2. chro. 32.25, 31.

d He asketh him of the particulars to make him vnderstand the craft of the wicked, which he before being ouercome with their flattery, and blinded with ambition could not see.

e By the grieuousnes of the punishment is declared how greatly God detesteth ambition and vaine glory.

f That is, officers and seruants.

g Reade 2. King. 20.19.

a This is a consolation for the Church, assuring them that they shall be neuer destitute of prophets: whereby he exhorteth the true ministers of God that then were, & those also that should come after him, to comfort the poore afflicted, and to assure them of their deliuerance both of body and soule.

b The time of her affliction.

c Meaning sufficient, as chap. 61.7. and full correction, or double grace, whereas she deserued double punishment.

d To wit, of the Prophets.

e That is, in Babylon & other places, where they were kept in captiuity, and misery.

f Meaning Cyrus and Darius which should deliuer Gods people out of captinitie, and make them a ready way to Ierusalem: and this was fully accomplished when Iohn the Baptist brought tydings of Iesus Christes comming, who was the true deliuerer of his Church from sinne and Satan, Matth. 3.3.

g Whatsoeuer may let or hinder this deliuerance, shall be removed.

h This miracle shalbe so great, that it shalbe knowen through all the world.

6 A i voyce saide, Crie. And he saide, What shall I crie? All flesh u grasse, and all the k grace thereof u as the floure of the field.

7 The grasse withereth, the floure fadeth, because the l Spirite of the Lord bloweth vpon it: surely the people u grasse.

8 The grasse withereth, the floure fadeth: but the m word of God shall stand for euer.

9 ¶ O Zion, that bringest good tydings, get thee vp into the hie n mountaine: O Ierusalem, that bringest good tydings, lift vp thy voyce with strength: lift it vp, be not afraid: say vnto the cities of Iudah, Behold o your God.

10 Beholde, the Lorde God will come with power, and p his arme shall rule for him: behold, his reward u with him, and his worke before him.

11 He shall feede his flocke like a shepheard: he shall gather the lambes with his arme, and cary them in his bosome, and shall guide them with q yong.

12 Who hath measured the waters in his r fist? and counted heauen with the spanne, and comprehended the dust of the earth in a measure? and weighed the mountaines in a weight, and the hils in a balance?

13 Who hath instructed the spirit of the Lord? or was s his counseller or taught him?

14 Of whom tooke he counsell, and who instructed him and taught him in the way of iudgement? or taught him knowledge, and shewed vnto him the way of vnderstanding?

15 Behold, the nations are as a drop of a bucket, and are counted as the dust of the balance: behold, he taketh away the yles as a litle dust.

16 And Lebanon u not sufficient for fire, nor the beasts thereof sufficient for a burnt offering.

17 All nations before him are as t nothing, and they are counted to him, lesse then nothing, and vanitie.

18 To whom then u wil ye liken God? or what similitude will ye set vp vnto him?

19 The workeman melteth an image, or the goldsmith beateth it out in gold, or the goldsmith maketh siluer plates.

20 Doth not x the poore chuse out a tree that wil not rot, for an oblation? he seeketh also vnto him a cunning workeman, to prepare an image, that shall not be moued.

21 Know ye nothing? haue ye not heard y it? hath it not bene told you from the beginning? haue yee not vnderstood it by the z foundation of the earth?

22 He sitteth vpon the circle of the earth, and the inhabitants thereof are as grashoppers, hee stretcheth out the heauens, as a curtaine, & spreadeth them out, as a tent to dwell in.

23 Hee bringeth the princes to nothing, and maketh the iudges of the earth, as vanitie, 24 As though they were not planted, as though they were not sowen, as though their stocke tooke no roote in the earth: for he did euen a blowe vpon them, and they withered, and the whirlewinde will take them away as stubble.

25 To whome now will yee liken me, that I should be like him, saith the Holy one?

26 Lift vp your eyes on hie, and behold who hath created these things, and bringeth b out their armies by number, and calleth them all by names: by the greatnes of his power and mighty strength nothing faileth.

27 Why sayest thou, O Iaakob, and speakest O Israel, c My way is hid from the Lord, and my iudgement is passed ouer of my God?

28 Knowest thou not? or hast thou not heard, that the euerlasting God, the Lorde hath created the d endes of the earth? he neither fainteth, nor is wearie: there is no searching of his e vnderstanding.

29 But he giueth strength vnto him that fainteth, and vnto him that hath no strength, hee encreaseth power.

30 f Euen the young men shall faint, and bee wearie, and the yong men shall stumble and fall.

31 But they that waite vpon the Lord, shal renue their strength: they shal lift vp the wings, as the eagle: they shall runne, and not be weary, and they shal walke and not faint.

CHAP. XLI.

2 Gods mercies in chusing his people. 6 Their idolatry. 27 Deliuerance promised to Zion.

KEepe a silence before mee, O ylands, and let the people b renue their strength: let them come neere, and let them speake: let vs come together into iudgement.

2 Who raised vp c iustice from the East, and called him to his foote? and gaue the nations before him, and subdued the Kings? hee gaue them as dust to his sword, and as scattered stubble vnto his bowe.

n To publish this benefite through all the world.

o He sheweth at one worde the perfection of all mans felicitie, which is to haue Gods presence.

p His power shall be sufficient without helpe of any other, and shall haue all meanes in himselfe to bring his will to passe.

r Declaring that as God onely hath all power, so doth he vse the same for the defence and maintenance of his Church.

s Hee sheweth Gods infinite wisdome for the same end and purpose.

t He speaketh all this to the intent that they should neither feare man, nor put their trust in any saue onely in God.

u Hereby he armeth them against the idolatrie, which they should be tempted in Babylon.

x He sheweth the rage of the idolaters, seeing that the poore that haue not to sustaine their owne necessities, will defraud themselues to serue their idoles.

y Haue ye not the worde of God, which plainely condemneth idolatrie?

n I wil make thee able to destroy all thine enemies, be they neuer so mightie: and this chiefly is referred to the kingdome of Christ.
o That is, they that shalbe afflicted in the captiuitie of Babylon.
p God wil rather change the order of nature, then they should want any thing that crie to him by true faith in their miseries: declaring to them hereby ỹ they shal lack nothing by ỹ way, whē they retirne frō Babylon.
q That is, hath appointed, & determined that it shall come so to passe.
r He biddeth the idolaters to prone their religion, and to bring foorth their idoles ỹ they may be tried whether they know all things, & can doe all things: which if they cannot do, he concludeth that they are no gods but vile ideles.
s So ỹ a man can not make an idol, but he must doe ỹ which God detesteth, & abhorreth: for he chuseth his owne deuises, and forsaketh ỹ Lords.
t Meaning, the Chaldeans.
u That is, Cyrus, who shal doe all things in my name, & by my direction: whereby he meaneth ỹ both their captiuitie, and deliuerance shall be ordered by Gods prouidence and appoyntment.
x Both of the Chaldeans and others.
y Meaning that none of the Gentiles gods can worke any of these things.
z That is, the Israelites which returne from the captiuitie.
a To wit, a continuall succession of Prophets and ministers.
b When I looked whether the idoles could not do these things, I found that they had neyther wisedome nor power to doe any thing: therefore he concludeth that all are wicked, that trust in vanitie.

men of Israel: I wil helpe thee, saith the Lord and thy redeemer the holy one of Israel.

15 Behold, I wil make thee a roller, & a newe threshing instrument hauing teeth: thou shalt thresh the [n] mountaines, and bring them to pouder, and shalt make the hilles as chaffe.

16 Thou shalt fanne them, and the winde shal carie them away, and the whirlewinde shal scatter them: and thou shalt reioyce in the Lord, & shalt glory in the holy one of Israel.

17 When [o] the poore & the needie seeke water, & there [u] none (their tongue faileth for thirst: I the Lorde will heare them: I the God of Israel wil not forsake them)

18 I will open riuers in the tops of the hilles, and fountaines in the middes of the valleys: I will make the wildernesse as a poole of water, and the waste land as springs of water.

19 I will set in the wildernesse the cedar, the Shittah tree, and the mirre tree, and the pine tree, and I will set in the wildernesse the firre tree, the elme and the boxe tree together.

20 Therefore let them see and knowe, and let them consider and vnderstand together that the hand of the Lord hath done this, & the holy one of Israel [q] hath created it.

21 [r] Stand to your cause, saith the Lord: bring forth your strong reasons, saith ỹ king of Iaakob.

22 Let them bring foorth, and let them tell vs what shal come: let them shew the former things what they be, that wee may consider them, and knowe the later ende of them: either declare vs things for to come.

23 Shew the things that are to come hereafter, that we may know that you are gods: yea, doe good or doe euill, that we may declare, and beholde it together.

24 Beholde, ye are of no value, and your making is of nought: man hath [s] chosen an abomination by them.

25 ¶ I haue raised vp [t] from the North, and he shal come: from the East sunne shal [u] he call vpon my name, & shal come vpon [x] princes as vpō clay, and as the potter treadeth myre vnder the foote.

26 Who hath declared from the beginning, that we may know? or before time, that wee may say, Hee is righteous? Surely there is none that sheweth: surely there is none that declareth: surely there is none that heareth [y] your words.

27 I am the first, that saith to Zion, Beholde, beholde [z] them: and I will giue to Ierusalem [a] one that shall bring good tidings.

28 But when [b] I beheld, there was none, & whē I enquired of thē, there was no counsellor, & whē I demaunded of them, they answered not a word.

29 Beholde, they are al vanitie: their worke is of nothing, their images are winde and confusion.

CHAP. XLII.

1 The obedience and humilitie of Christ. 5 Why he was sent into the world. 11 The vocation of the Gentiles.

BEholde, [a] my seruant: [b] I will stay vpon him: mine elect, in whom my soule [c] deliteth: I haue put my Spirite vpon him: hee shall bring foorth [d] iudgement to the Gentiles.

2 He shall not [e] crie, nor lift vp, nor cause his voyce to be heard in the streete.

3 A [f] bruised reede shall hee not breake, and the smoking [g] flaxe shall he not quench: he shall bring forth iudgement in [h] trueth.

4 He shall not faile nor be discouraged til he haue [i] set iudgement in the earth: and the [k] yles shall waite for his lawe.

5 Thus saith God the Lord (he that created the heauens and spred them abroad: he that stretched forth the earth, and the buddes thereof: he that giueth breath vnto the people vpon it, and spirit to them that walke therein)

6 I the Lord haue called thee in [l] righteousnesse, and will hold [m] thine hand, and I will keepe thee, and giue thee for a [n] couenant of the people, and for a light of the Gentiles,

7 That thou maist open the eyes of the blinde, and bring out the prisoners from the prison: and them that sit in darknesse, out of the prison house.

8 I am the Lord, this is my Name, and my [o] glory wil I not giue to another, neither my praise to grauen images.

9 Beholde, the former things are [p] come to passe, and new things doe I declare: before they come forth, I tell you of them.

10 Sing vnto the Lorde a new song, and his praise from the ende of the earth: yee that goe downe to the sea, and all that is therein: the yles and the inhabitants thereof.

11 Let the wildernesse and the cities thereof lift vp their voyce, the townes that [q] Kedar doeth inhabite: let the inhabitants of the rocks sing: let them shoute from the top of the mountaines.

12 Let him giue glory vnto the Lorde, and declare his prayse in the ylands.

13 The Lord shal go forth as a [r] gyant: he shal stirre vp his courage like a man of warre: he shall shoute and crie, and shall preuaile against his enemies.

14 I haue a long time holden my peace: I haue bene still and refrained my selfe: now will I crie like a [s] trauailing woman: I will destroy and deuoure at once.

15 I will make waste mountaines, and hilles, and drie vp all their herbes, and I will make the floods ylands, and I will drie vp the pooles.

16 ¶ And I will bring the [t] blinde by a way, that they knew not, and leade them by paths that they haue not knowen: I will make darkenesse light before them, and crooked things straight. These things will I doe vnto them, and not forsake them.

17 They shall be turned backe: they shall be greatly ashamed, that trust in grauen images, and say to the molten images, Ye are our gods.

18 ¶ Heare, ye deafe: and yee blinde, regard, that ye may see.

19 Who is blinde but my [u] seruant? or deafe as my [x] messenger, that I sent? who is blinde as the [y] perfit, and blind as the Lords seruant?

20 Seeing many things, but thou keepest them not? opening the eares, but he heareth not?

a That is, Christ, who in respect of his manhoode is called here seruant. The Prophets vse to make mention of Christ after ỹ they haue declared any great promise, because he is the foundation whereupon al ỹ promises are made and ratified. b For I haue committed all my power to him as to a most faithful steward. Some reade, I will establish him: to wit, his office, by giuing him the fulnesse of my Spirit. c He only is acceptable vnto me & they that come vnto me by him: for there is no other meanes of reconciliation, Matt. 12. 18. Ephes. 1. 4.

d He shall declare himselfe gouernor ouer the Gentiles, and call them by his word, and rule them by his Spirit.
e His comming shall not be with pompe and noise, as earthly princes.
f He will not hurt the weake and feeble, but support and comfort them.
g Meaning the weeke of a lampe or candle which is almost out, but he will cherish it and snuffe it, that it may shine brighter.
h Although he fauour the weake, yet will he not spare the wicked, but will iudge them according to trueth and equitie.
i Till he haue set all things in good order.
k The Gentiles shall be desirous to receiue his doctrine.
l Meaning, vnto a lawfull and iust vocation.
m To assist and guide thee.
n As him, by whom the promise, made to all nations in Abraham, shal be fulfilled.
o I wil not suffer my glory to be diminished: which I should doe if I were not faithfull in performing the same, and the idolaters thereby would extoll their idoles aboue me.
p As in time past I haue bene true in my promises, so wil I be in time to come.
q Meaning the Arabians, vnder whom he comprehendeth all the people of the East.
r Hee sheweth the zeale of the Lord, and his power in the conseruation of his Church.
s I will haste to execute my vengeance, which I haue so long deferred as a woman that desireth to be deliuered when shee is in trauell. t That is, my poore people, which are in perplexitie and care. u To wit, Israel, which should haue most light because of my Lawe. x The Priest to whom my worde is committed, which should not onely heare it himselfe, but cause others to heare it. y As the Priests and Prophets that should be lights to others?

21 The Lorde is willing for his righteousnesse sake that he may magnifie the Law and exalt it.

22 But this people is [z] robbed and spoiled, and shalbe all snared in dungeons, and they shalbe hid in prison houses: they shalbe for a pray, and none shal deliuer: a spoile, and none shal say, [a] Restore.

23 Who among you shal hearken to this, and take heed, and heare for [b] afterwards?

24 Who gaue Iaakob for a spoyle, and Israel to the robbers? Did not ỹ Lord, because we haue sinned against him? for they would not walke in his wayes, neither be obedient vnto his Law.

25 Therefore hee hath powred vpon him his fierce wrath, and the strength of battel: and it set him on fire round about, and he knew not, and it burned him vp, yet he considered not.

z Because they wil not acknowledge this benefit of the Lord, who is ready to deliuer them he suffreth them to be spoiled of their enemies through their owne fault and incredulitie.
a There shall be none to succour them, or to wil the enemie to restore that which he hath spoyled.
b Meaning Gods wrath.

CHAP. XLIII.

1 The Lord comforteth his people. He promiseth deliuerance to the Iewes. 11 There is no God but one alone.

BVt now thus saith the Lord [a] that created thee, O Iaakob: and he that formed thee, O Israel, [b] Feare not: for I haue redeemed thee: I haue called thee by thy name, thou art mine.

2 When thou passest through the [c] waters, I wil be with thee, & through the floods, that they doe not ouerflowe thee. When thou walkest through the very fire, thou shalt not be burnt, neither shal the flame kindle vpon thee.

3 For I am the Lord thy God, the holy one of Israel, thy Sauiour: I gaue [d] Egypt for thy ransome, Ethiopia, and Seba for thee.

4 Because thou wast precious in my sight, and thou wast honorable, and I loued thee, therefore wil I giue [e] man for thee, and people for thy sake.

5 Feare not, for I am with thee: I will bring thy seed from the [f] East, and gather thee from the West.

6 I will say to the North, Giue: and to the South, Keepe not backe: bring my sonnes from farre, & my daughters from the ends of the earth.

7 Euery one shall be called by my [g] Name: for I created him for my glory, formed him and made him.

8 I wil bring forth the blind people, & they shal haue eies, & the deafe & they shal haue eares.

9 Let all the nations be gathered [h] together, and let the people bee assembled: who among them can declare this and shew vs former things? let them bring foorth their i witnesses, that they may be iustified: but let them [k] heare, and say, It is trueth.

10 You [l] are my witnesses, saith the Lord, and my [m] seruant, whom I haue chosen: therefore ye shall know and beleeue mee, and ye shall vnderstand that I am: before me there was no God formed, neither shall there be after me.

11 I, euen I am the Lord, and beside me there is no Sauiour.

12 I haue declared, and I haue saued, and I haue shewed, when there was no strange god among you: therefore you are my witnesses, saieth the Lord, that I am God.

13 Yea, before the day was, I am, and there is none that can deliuer out of mine hand: I will doe it, and who shall let it?

a After these threatnings he promiseth deliuerance to his Church, because he hath regenerate them, adopted them, and called them.
b When thou feelst dangers and conspiracies on all sides, remember this benefite and the loue of thy God, and it shall encourage thee.
c By water and fire he meaneth all kind of troubles and perils.
d I turned Saneheribs power a gainst these countries, & made them to suffer ỹ affliction which thou shouldest haue done, & so were as the paiment of thy ransome, chap 37.9.
e I wil not spare any mã, rather then thou shouldest perish, for God more esteemeth one of his faithfull, then all the wicked in the world.
f He prophecieth of their deliuerance frõ the captiuitie of Babylon, and so of the calling of the vniuersall Church, alluding to that which is written, Deut. 30.3.
g Meaning, that he could not be vnmindfull of them, except he would neglect his owne Name and glory.
h Signifying, that no power can resist him in doing this miraculous worke, nor all their idoles are able to doe the like, as Chap. 41.22.
i To proue that the things which are spoken of them, are true.
k Shewing, that the malice of the wicked hindreth them in the knowledge of the trueth, because they will not heare when God speaketh by his word.
l The Prophets and people to whom I haue giuen my Lawe.
m Meaning specially Christ, and by him all the faithfull.

14 Thus saith the Lord your redeemer, the holy one of Israel, For your sake I haue I sent to Babel, and [n] brought it downe: they are all fugitiues, and the Caldeans crie in [o] the ships.

15 I am the Lorde your holy one, the creator of Israel your King.

16 Thus saieth the Lorde which maketh a way in [p] the Sea, and a path in the mighty [q] waters.

17 When hee [r] bringeth out the [s] charet and horse, the armie and the power lie together, and shall not rise, they are extinct, & quenched as tow.

18 Remember yee not the former things, neither regard the things of olde.

19 Behold, I do a new thing: now shal it come foorth: shall you not know it? I wil euen make a way in the [t] desert, and floods in the wildernesse.

20 The wilde [u] beastes shall honour me, the dragons and the ostriches, because I gaue water in the desert, and floods in the wilderneſſe to giue drinke to my people, euen to mine elect.

21 This people haue I formed for my selfe: they shall shew foorth my praise.

22 And thou hast not [x] called vpon mee, O Iaakob, but thou hast [y] wearied me, O Israel.

23 Thou [z] hast not brought me the sheepe of thy burnt offerings, neither hast thou honoured me with thy sacrifices. I haue not caused thee to serue [ẅ] an offring, nor wearied thee with incense.

24 Thou boughtest mee no sweete [a] sauour with money, neither hast thou made mee drunke with the fat of thy sacrifices, but thou hast made mee to [b] serue with thy sinnes, and wearied mee with thine iniquities.

25 I, euen I am he that putteth away thine iniquities for mine owne sake, and will not remember thy sinnes.

26 Put me in [c] remembrance: let vs be iudged together: count thou that thou maiest be iustified.

27 Thy [d] first father hath sinned, and thy [e] teachers haue transgressed a gainst me.

28 Therefore I haue [f] prophaned the rulers of the Sanctuarie, & haue made Iaakob a curse, and Israel a reproch.

CHAP. XLIIII.

5 The Lord promiseth comfort, and that hee will assemble his Church of diuers nations. 9 The vanitie of idoles. 17 The beastlinesse of idolaters.

YEt now heare, O Iaakob my seruant, and Israel, whom I haue chosen.

2 Thus saith the Lord, that made thee, and formed [a] thee from the wombe: he wil helpe thee. Feare not, O Iaakob, my seruant, and thou righteous, [b] whom I haue chosen.

3 For I will powre water vpon the [c] thirstie, and floods vpon the drie ground: I wil powre my Spirit vpon thy seed, & my blessing vpõ thy buds.

4 And they [d] shal grow as among the grasse, and as the willowes by the riuers of waters.

5 One shall say, I am the Lordes: another

b Whom God accepteth as righteous: or which haddest occasion therevnto because of the Law, and of thine holy vocation.
c Because man of himselfe is as the drie and barren land, he promiseth to moisten him with the waters of his holy Spirite Ioel 2.28. Iohn 7.38. acts 2.17.
d That is, thy children and posteritie shall increase wonderfully after their deliuerance from Babylon.

e By this diuersitie of speach hee meaneth one thing, that is, that the people shalbe holy and receiue the true religion of God, as Psal. 87.5.

f I am alwayes like my selfe, that is, mercifull toward my Church, and most able to maintaine it, as chap. 41.4. & 48 22. Ezeuel. 1.17. & 22.23.

g And appoynt them that shall deliuer the Church.

h That is, declare vnto me how I ought to proceede herein.

i God calleth the Israelites ancient, because he preferred them to all other in his eternall election.

k Meaning, their idoles.

l Reade chap. 43.10.

m Whatsoeuer they bestow vpon their idoles to make them to seeeme glorious.

n That is, the idolaters seeing their idoles blinde, must needes be witnesses of their owne blindnesse: and feeling that they are not able to helpe them, must confesse that they haue no power.

o Meaning, that whatsoeuer is made by the hand of man, if it be esteemed as God, is most detestable.

p Whereby appeareth their blasphemie, which call images the bookes of the laitie, seeing that they are not onely here called vnprofitable, but chap. 41.24 abominable: and Ieremie calleth them the worke of errours. Ierem. 10.15. Habakkuk, a lying teacher, 2.18.

q That is, which by any way consent either to the making or worshipping.

r Signifying that the multitude shal not then saue the idolaters, when God will take vengeance, although they excuse themselues thereby among men.

s He describeth the raging affection of the idolaters, which forget their owne necessities, to set foorth their deuotion towarde their idoles.

t To place it in some Temple.

u He setteth foorth the obstinacie and malice of the idolaters, which though they see by daily experience that their idoles are no better then the rest of the matter whereof they are made, yet they refuse the one part, and make a god of the other, as the Papistes make their cake god, and the rest of their idoles.

x That is, he either maketh a table or trenchers.

y The Prophet giueth heere an answere to all them that wonder how it is possible that any should bee so blinde to commit such abomination, saying, that God hath blinded their eyes, and hardened their hearts, †Ex. 7. Iohn 12.

e shalbe called by the name of Iaakob: and another shall subscribe with his hand vnto the Lord, and name himselfe by the name of Israel.

6 Thus saith the Lord the King of Israel and his redeemer, the Lord of hostes, f I am the first, and I am the last, & without me u there no God.

7 And who is like mee, that shall g call and shall declare it, and set h it in order before mee, since I appointed the i ancient people? and what is at hand, and what things are to come? let k them shew vnto them.

8 Feare ye not, neither be afraide: haue not I told thee of olde, and haue declared it? l you are euē my witnesses, whether there be a God beside me, and that there is no God that I knowe not.

9 All they that make an image, are vanitie, and m their delectable things shall nothing profite: & they are their owne witnesses, n that they see not nor knowe: therefore they shall be confounded.

10 Who hath made o a god, or molten an image, that is p profitable for nothing?

11 Beholde, all that are of the q fellowship thereof, shalbe confounded: for the workemen themselues are men: let them all be gathered together, and r stand vp, yet they shall feare, and be confounded together.

12 The smith taketh an instrument, and worketh in the coles, and facioneth it with hammers, and worketh it with the strength of his armes: yea, he is an s hungred, and his strength faileth: he drinketh no water, and is faint.

13 The carpenter stretcheth out a line: he facioneth it with a red thread, he planeth it, and he purtreith it with the compasse, & maketh it after the figure of a man, and according to the beautie of a man that it may remaine in t an house.

14 Hee will hew him downe cedars, and take the pine tree and the oke, and taketh courage among the trees of the forest: hee planteth a firre tree, and the raine doeth nourish it.

15 And man burneth thereof: for he will take thereof and u warme himselfe: he also kindleth it & baketh bread, yet he maketh a god, & worshippeth it: he maketh it an idole and boweth vnto it.

16 Hee burneth the halfe thereof euen in the fire, and vpon the halfe thereof he x eateth flesh: he rosteth the roste and is satisfied: also hee warmeth himselfe and saith, Aha, I am warme, I haue bene at the fire.

17 And the residue thereof he maketh a god, euen his idole: hee boweth vnto it, and worshippeth and prayeth vnto it, and saith, Deliuer mee: for thou art my god.

18 They haue not knowen, nor vnderstood: y for God hath shut their eies that they cannot see, and their hearts, that they cannot vnderstand.

19 And none † considereth in his heart, neyther u there knowledge nor vnderstāding to say, I haue burnt halfe of it, euen in the fire, and haue baked bread also vpon the coles thereof: I haue rosted flesh, and eaten it, and shal I make the residue thereof an abomination? shall I bowe to the stocke of a tree?

20 He feedeth z of ashes: a seduced heart hath deceiued him, that hee cannot deliuer his soule, nor say, Is there not a lie in my right hand?

21 a Remember these (O Iaakob and Israel) for thou art my seruant: I haue formed thee: thou art my seruant: O Israel forget me not.

22 I haue put away thy transgressions like a cloude, and thy sinnes, as a mist: turne vnto mee, for I haue redeemed thee.

23 b Reioyce, yee heauens: for the Lorde hath done it: shoute, ye lower partes of the earth: brast foorth into prayses, ye mountaines, O forest and euery tree therein: for the Lord hath redeemed Iaakob and will be glorified in Israel.

24 Thus sayth the Lord, thy redeemer and he that formed thee from the wombe, I am the Lord that made all things, that spred out the heauens alone, and stretched out the earth by my selfe.

25 I destroy the c tokens of the southsayers, and make them that coniecture, fooles, and turne the wise men backward, and make their knowledge foolishnesse.

26 ¶ He confirmeth the word of his d seruant and performeth the counsell of his messengers, saying to Ierusalem, Thou shalt be inhabited: and to the cities of Iudah, Yee shalbe built vp, and I will repayre the decayed places thereof.

27 He saith to the e deepe, Be drie and I will drie vp thy floods.

28 He saith to f Cyrus, Thou art my shepheard: and he shal performe all my desire: saying also to Ierusalem, Thou shalt be built: and to the Temple, Thy foundation shall be surely laide.

z He is abused as one that woulde eate ashes, that in king to satisfie his hunger.

a Shewing that mans heart is most inclined to idolatrie, and therefore hee warneth his people by these examples, that they should not cleaue to any but to the liuing God, when they should be among the idolaters.

b He sheweth that the worke of the Lord towarde his people shall be so great, that the insensible creatures shalbe moued therewith.

c He armeth them against the soothsayers of Babylon, which would haue borne them in hand, that they knewe by the starres that God would not deliuer them, and that Babylon should stand.

d Of Isaiah and the rest of his Prophets, which did assure the Church of Gods fauour and deliuerance.

e He sheweth that Gods worke should be no lesse notable in this their deliuerance, then when hee brought them out of Egypt through the Sea.

f To assure them of their deliuerance, he nameth the person by whom it should be, more then an hundreth yeere before he was borne.

CHAP. XLV.

1 The deliuerance of the people by Cyrus. 9 God is iust in all his workes. 20 The calling of the Gentiles.

THus saith the Lord vnto a Cyrus his b anoynted, whose right hand I haue holden to c subdue nations before him: therefore will I weaken the loynes of Kings, and open the doores before him, and the gates shall not be shut.

2 I will goe before thee and make the d crooked streight: I will breake the brasen doores, and burst the yron barres.

3 And I will giue thee the treasures of darkenesse, and the things hid in secret places, that thou maiest e know that I am the Lord which call thee by thy name, euen the God of Israel.

4 For Iaakob my seruants f sake, and Israel mine elect, I will euen call thee by thy name and name thee, though thou hast not knowen me.

5 I am the Lorde and there is none other: there is no God besides mee: I g girded thee though thou hast not knowen me,

6 That they may knowe from the rising of the sunne, and from the West, that there is none besides me. I am the Lord, & there is none other.

7 I forme the h light and create darkenesse: I a To assure the Iewes of their deliuerance against the great tentations that they should abide, he nameth the person and the meanes.

b Because Cyrus should execute the office of a deliuerer, God called him his anoynted for a time, but after another sort then he called Dauid.

c To guide him in the deliuerance of my people.

d I will take away all impediments and lets.

e Not that Cyrus did know God to worship him aright, but he had a certaine particular knowledge, as prophane men may haue of his power, and so was compelled to confesse Gods people.

f Not for any thing that is in thee, or for thy worthinesse.

g I haue giuen thee strength, power and authoritie.

h I send peace and warre, prosperitie and aduersitie, as Amos 3.6.

make peace and create euill: I the Lord doe all these things.

8 Ye heauens, send the dewe from aboue, and let the cloudes droppe downe i righteousnesse: let the earth open, and let saluation and iustice grow foorth: let it bring them foorth together: I the Lord haue k created him.

9 l Wo be vnto him that striueth with his maker, the potsherd with the potsherdes of the earth: shall the clay say to him that facioneth it, What makest thou? or thy worke, m It hath none hands?

10 Woe vnto him that sayeth to his father, What hast thou begotten? or to his mother, What hast thou brought forth?

11 Thus saith the Lord, the holy one of Israel, and his maker, Aske me n of things to come concerning my sonnes, and concerning the works of mine hands: command you me.

12 I haue made the earth, and created man vpon it: I, whose hands haue spred out the heauens, I haue euen commanded all their o armie.

13 I haue raised p him vp in righteousnes, and I will direct all his wayes: he shall build my citie, and he shall let goe my captiues, not for q price nor reward, saith the Lord of hostes.

14 Thus sayth the Lorde, The labour r of Egypt, and the marchandise of Ethiopia, and of the Sabeans, men of stature shal come vnto thee, and they shall be s thine: they shall follow thee, and shall goe in chaines: they shall fall downe before thee, and make supplication vnto thee, saying, Surely God is in thee, and there is none other God besides.

15 Verily thou, O God, t hidest thy selfe, O God, the Sauiour of Israel.

16 All they shalbe ashamed and also confounded: they shall go to confusion together, that are the makers of images.

17 But Israel shall be saued in the Lord, with an euerlasting saluation: ye shall not be ashamed nor confounded world without end.

18 For thus saith the Lord (that created heauen, God himselfe, that formed the earth, & made it: he that prepared it, hee created it not in vaine: he formed it to bee u inhabited) I am the Lorde, and there is none other.

19 I haue not spoken in secrete, neither x in a place of darknesse in the earth: I said not in vaine vnto the seede of Iaakob, Seeke you mee: I the Lord do speake righteousnesse, and declare righteous things.

20 Assemble your selues, & come draw neere together, y ye abiect of the Gentiles: they haue no knowledge, that set vp the wood of their idole, and pray vnto a god, that cannot saue them.

21 Tell ye and bring them, and let them take counsell together, who hath declared this from the beginning? or hath told it of olde? Haue not I the Lord? and there is none other God beside mee, a iust God, and a Sauiour: there is none beside me.

22 Looke vnto me, and yee shall be saued: all z the endes of the earth shall be saued: for I am God, and there is none other.

23 I haue sworne by my selfe: the worde is gone out of my mouth in a righteousnesse, and shall not returne, That euery b knee shall bow vnto me, and euery tongue shall sweare by me.

24 Surely c he shall say, In the Lord haue I righteousnesse and strength: he shall come vnto him, and all that d prouoke him, shalbe ashamed.

25 The whole seede of Israel shall be iustified, and glory in the Lord.

CHAP. XLVI.

1 The destruction of Babylon and of their idoles. 3 He calleth the Iewes to the consideration of his workes.

BEl is bowed downe: a Nebo is fallen: their idoles were vpon the b beastes, and vpon the cattel: they which did beare you, were laden with a wearie burden.

2 c They are bowed downe, and fallen together: for they could not rid them of the burden, and their d soule is gone into captiuitie.

3 Heare ye me, O house of Iaakob, & all that remaine of the house of Israel, which are e borne of me from the wombe, and brought vp of mee from the birth.

4 Therefore vnto olde age, I the same, euen I will beare you vntill the hoare haires: I haue made you: I will also beare you, and I will carie you: and I will deliuer you.

5 ¶ To whom will ye make me like, or make me equall, or g compare me, that I should be like him?

6 They drawe gold out of the bagge & weigh siluer in the balance, and hire a goldsmith to make a god of it, and they bowe downe, and worship it.

7 They beare it vpon the shoulders: they carie him and set him in his place: so doeth he stand, and cannot remoue from his place. Though one crie vnto him, yet can he not answere, nor deliuer him out of his tribulation.

8 Remember this, and be ashamed: bring it againe h to minde, O yee transgressers.

9 Remember the former things of olde: for I am God, and there is none other God, and there is nothing like me,

10 Which declare the last thing from the beginning: and from of olde, the things that were not done, saying, My counsell shall stande, and I will doe whatsoeuer I will.

11 I call a i birde from the East, and the man of my k counsel from farre: as I haue spoken, so will I bring to passe: I haue purposed it, and I will doe it.

12 Heare mee ye stubburne hearted, that are farre from l iustice.

13 I bring m neere my iustice: it shall not bee farre off, and my saluation shal not tarie: for I will giue saluation in Zion, and my glory vnto Israel.

i He comforteth the Iewes, as if he would say, Though when ye looke to the heauens and earth for succour, yee see nothing now but signes of Gods wrath, yet I will cause them to bring foorth most certaine tokens of your deliuerance, and of the performance of my promise, which is meant by righteousnesse.

k I haue appoynted Cyrus to this vse and purpose.

l Hereby hee brideleth their impatiencie, which in aduersitie and trouble murmure against God, and will not tarie his pleasure: willing that man should matche with his like, and not contend against God.

m That is, it is not perfitely made.

n In steade of murmuring, humble your selues, and aske what ye will for the consolation of my children, and you shall be sure of it, as yee are of these things which are at your commandement. Some reade it with an interrogation, and make it the application of the similitude.

o That is, the starres.

p To wit, Cyrus, that I may shew by him the faithfulnesse of my promises in deliuering my people.

q Meaning, freely and without raunsome, or any grieuous condition.

r These people were tributaries to the Persians, and so King Artahshashte gaue this money toward the building of the Temple, Ezra 7.21.

s Whereas tofore they were thine enemies, they shall now humour thee, and thou shalt rule them: which was accomplished in the time of Christ.

t Hereby he exhorteth the Iewes to patience, though their deliuerance be deferred for a time: shewing that they should not repent their long patience, but the wicked and idolaters shall be destroyed.

u To wit, of man, but chiefly of his Church.

x As doe the false Gods, which giue vncertaine answeres.

y All ye idolaters, which though you seeme to haue neuer so much worldly dignitie, yet in Gods sight you are vile and abiect.

z He calleth the idolaters to repentance, willing them to looke vp to him with the eye of faith.

a That is, that the thing, which I haue promised, shalbe faithfully performed.

b The knowledge of God and the true worshipping shall be through all the world, Rom. 14.11. Phil. 2.10. whereby he signifieth that we must not onely serue God in heart, but declare the same also by outward profession.

c Meaning, the faithfull shall feele and confesse this.

d All the contemners of God.

a These were the chiefe idoles of Babylon, b Because they were of gold and siluer, the Medes and Persians caried them away.

c The beasts that caried the idoles, fell downe vnder their burden.

d He derideth the idoles which had neither soule nor sense.

e He sheweth the difference betweene the idoles and the true God: for they must be caried of others, but God himselfe carieth his, as Deu. 32.11.

f Seeing I haue begotten you, I will nourish and preserue you for euer.

g The people of God, seeing their owne calamitie and the flourishing estate of the Babylonians, should be tempted to thinke that their God was not so mightie as the idoles of their enemies: therefore he describeth the originall of all idoles, to make them to be abhorred of all men, shewing that the most that can be spoken in their commendation, is but to proue them vile, Baruch. 6.25.

h Become wise, meaning, that all idolaters are without wit or sense.

i That is, Cyrus, which shall come as swift as a bird and fight against Babylon.

k Him by whom I haue appointed to execute that, which I haue determined.

l Which by your incredulitie would let the performance of my promes.

m He sheweth that mans incredulitie cannot abolish the promes of God, Rom. 3.3.

CHAP. XLVII.

The destruction of Babylon, and the causes wherefore.

COme downe and sit in the dust: O a virgine, daughter Babel, sit on the ground: there is no throne, a Which hast liued in wealth and wantonnesse, and hast not yet beene ouercome by any enemie.

b throne, O daughter of the Chaldeans: for thou shalt no more be called, Tender and delicate.

2 Take the mill stones, and c grinde meale: loose thy lockes: d make bare the feete: vncouer the leg, and passe through the floods.

3 Thy filthinesse shalbe discouered, and thy shame shall be seene: I wil take vengeance, and I wil not meete thee as a e man.

4 f Our redeemer, the Lorde of hostes is his Name, the holy one of Israel.

5 g Sit still, and get thee into darkenesse, O daughter of the Chaldeans: for thou shalt no more be called, The lady of kingdoms.

6 I was wroth with my people: I haue polluted mine inheritance, and giuen them into thine hand: thou didst shew them no h mercy, but thou didst lay thy very heauie yoke vpon the ancient.

7 And thou saidst, I shall be a lady for euer, so that thou didst not set thy minde to these things, neither didst thou remember i later end thereof.

8 Therefore now heare, thou that art giuen to pleasures, and dwellest carelesse, She saith in her heart, I am & none els: I shall not sit as a widow, neither shal know the losse of children.

9 But these two things shal come to thee suddenly on one day, the losse of children & widowhood: they shal come vpon thee in their i perfection, for the multitude of thy diuinations, and for the great abundance of thine inchanters.

10 For thou hast trusted in thy wickednesse: thou hast said, None seeth me. Thy k wisdome and thy knowledge, they haue caused thee to rebel, & thou hast said in thine heart, I am, and none els.

11 Therefore shall euill come vpon thee, and thou shalt not knowe the morning thereof: destruction shal fal vpon thee, which thou shalt not be able to put away: destruction shal come vpon thee suddenly, or thou beware.

12 Stand now among thine inchanters, and in the multitude of thy sourhsaiers (with whom thou hast l wearied thy selfe from thy youth) if so bee thou maiest haue profite, or if so be thou maiest haue strength.

13 Thou art wearied in the multitude of thy counsels: let now the astrologers, the starre gasers, and prognosticaters stand vp, and saue thee from these things, that shall come vpon thee.

14 Beholde, they shall be as stubble: the fire shall burne them: they shall not deliuer their own liues from the power of the flame: there shalbe no coles m to warme at, nor light to sit by.

15 Thus shal they serue thee, with whom thou hast wearied thee, euen thy marchants from thy youth: euery one shal wander to his owne n quarter: none shall saue thee.

CHAP. XLVIII.

1 The hypocrite of the Iewes is reproued. 11 The Lord alone will be worshipped. 20 Of their deliuerance out of Babylon.

HEare yee this, O house of Iaakob, which are a called by the name of Israel, and are come out of b the waters of Iudah: which sweare by the Name of the Lord, & make mention of the God of Israel, but not in truth, nor in righteousnesse.

2 For they are called of the holy citie, and stay themselues c vpon the God of Israel, whose Name is the Lord of hostes.

3 I haue declared the former things of old, and they went out of my mouth, & I shewed d them: I did them suddenly, and they came to passe.

4 Because I knew, that e thou art obstinate, and thy necke is an iron sinew, and thy brow brasse,

5 Therefore I haue declared it to thee of olde: before it came to passe, I shewed f it thee, lest thou shouldest say, Mine idole hath done them, and my carued image, and my molten image hath commanded them.

6 Thou hast heard, behold all this, and will not ye g declare it? I haue shewed thee newe things, euen now, & hid things, which thou knewest not.

7 They are created now, and not of olde, and euen before this thou heardest them not, lest thou shouldest say, Behold, I h knew them.

8 Yet thou heardest them not, neither diddest know them, neither yet was thine eare opened of olde: for I knewe that thou wouldest grieuously transgresse: therefore haue I called thee a transgressour from the i wombe.

9 For my Names sake will I deferre my wrath, and for my prayse will I refraine it from thee, k that I cut thee not off.

10 Behold, I haue fined thee, but l not as siluer: I haue m chosen thee in the fornace of affliction.

11 For mine owne sake, for mine owne sake wil I doe it: for how should my Name n be polluted? o surely I wil not giue my glory vnto another.

12 Heare me, O Iaakob and Israel, my called, p I am, I am the first, and I am the last.

13 Surely mine hand hath laid the foundation of the earth, and my right hand hath spanned the heauens: whē I cal them, q they stand vp together.

14 All you, assemble your selues, and heare: which among them hath declared these things? The Lord hath loued r him: he wil doe his will in Babel, and his arme shalbe against the Chaldeans.

15 I, euen I haue spoken it, and I haue called him: I haue brought him, and his way shal prosper.

16 Come neere vnto me: heare ye this: I haue not spoken it in secret from the beginning: from the time that the thing was, I was there, and now the Lord God and his Spirit hath s sent me.

17 Thus saith the Lord thy redeemer, the Holy one of Israel, I am the Lorde thy God, which teach thee t to profite, and leade thee by the way, that thou shouldest goe.

18 Oh that thou hadst hearkened to my commandements! then had thy prosperitie bene as the flood, & thy righteousnes as the waues of the sea.

19 Thy seede also had bene as the sande, and the fruit of thy body like the grauell thereof: his u name should not haue bene cut off nor destroyed before me.

20 v Goe yee out of Babel: r flee yee from the Chaldeans, with a voice of ioy: tel & declare this: shewe it foorth to the ende of the earth: say yee, The Lord hath redeemed his seruant Iaakob.

21 And they z were not thirstie: he led them through the wilderneſse: he caused the waters to flowe out of the rocke for them: for he claue the rocke, and the water gushed out.

22 There is no a peace, saith the Lord, vnto the wicked.

a Thy gouernment shalbe taken from thee.
c Thou shalt be brought to most vile seruitude: for to turne the mill was the office of slaues.
d The things wherein she setteth her greatest pride, shalbe made vile, euen from the head to the foote.
e I will vse no humanitie nor pitie towa d thee.
f The Israelites shal confesse, that the Lord doth this for his Churches sake.
g For very shame, & hide thy selfe.
h They abused Gods iudgements, thinking that hee punished the Israelites, because he would vtterly cast them off, & therefore in stead of pitying their miserie, thou diddest increase it.
i So that thy punishment shall be so great, as is possible to be imagined.
k Thou diddest thinke that thine owne wisdome & policie woulde haue saued thee.
l Hee derideth their vaine confidence, that put their trust in any thing, but in God, condemning also such vaine sciences, which serue to no vse, but to delude the people, and to bring them from depending onely on God.
m They shal vtterly perish, & no part of them remaine.
n They shall flee euery one to that place, which he thought by his speculations to be most sure: but that shal deceiue them.

a He detesteth their hypocrisie, which vaunted themselues to be Israelites, and were not so in deede.
b Meaning, the fountaine and stocke.
c They make a shewe, as though they would haue none other God.
d Hee sheweth that they could not accuse him in any thing, for as much as he had performed whatsoeuer he had promised.
e I haue done for thee more then I promised, that thy stubbornesse and impudencie might haue bene ouercome.
f How thou shouldest be deliuered out of Babylon.
g Will ye not acknowledge this my benefite, and declare it vnto others?
h Shewing that mans arrogancie is the cause why God doth not declare all things at once, lest they should attribute this knowledge to their owne wisedome.
i From the time that I brought thee out of Egypt: for that deliuerance was as the birth of my Church.
k As it was my free mercy that I did chuse thee: so is it my free mercy that must saue thee.
l For I had respect to thy weakenesse and infirmitie: for in siluer there is some purenes, but in vs there is nothing but drosse.
m I tooke thee out of the fornace where thou shouldest haue bene consumed.
n God ioyneth the saluation of his with his owne honour: so that they can not perish, but his glory should be diminished, as Deut. 32. 27.
o Reade Chap. 42. 8.
p Read chap 41. 4.
q To obey me, and to doe whatsoeuer I command them.
r Meaning, Cyrus, whom he had chosen to destroy Babylon.
s Since the time that I declared my selfe to your fathers.
t Thus the Prophet speaketh for himselfe, and to assure them of these things.
u What things shal do thee good.
x That is, the prosperous estate of Israel.
y After that he had forewarned them of their captiuitie, and of the cause thereof, hee sheweth them the great ioy, that shall come of their deliuerance.
z He sheweth that it shalbe as easie to deliuer them, as he did their fathers out of Egypt.
a Thus hee speaketh that the wicked hypocrites should not abuse Gods promise, in whome was neither faith nor repentance, as Chapter 47. 21.

CHAP. XLIX.

1 The Lorde exhorteth all nations to beleeue his promise

6 Christ is the saluation of all thas beleeue, and will deliuer them from the tyrannie of their enemies.

HEare ye me, O yles, and hearken, yee people from farre. The Lord hath called [a] me from [b] the wombe, and made mention of my name from my mothers belly.

2 And he hath made my mouth like a sharpe [c] sword: vnder the shadowe of his hand hath hee [d] hid me, and made me a chosen shaft, and hid me in his quiuer,

3 And said vnto me, Thou art my seruant, [e] Israel, for I wil be glorious in thee.

4 And I said, I haue [f] laboured in vaine: I haue spent my strength in vaine and for nothing: but my iudgement is with the Lorde, and my worke with my God.

5 And now saieth the Lord, that formed mee from the wombe to be his seruaunt, that I may bring Iaakob againe to him (though Israel be not gathered, & yet shal I be glorious in the eies of the Lord: and my God shalbe my strength)

6 And he said, It is a small thing that thou shouldest be my seruant, to raise vp the tribes of Iaakob, and to restore the desolations of Israel: I will also giue [h] thee for a light of the Gentiles, that thou maiest be my saluation vnto the end of the world.

7 Thus saieth the Lord the redeemer of Israel, and his Holy one, to him that is despised in soule, to a nation that is abhorred, to a [i] seruant of rulers, Kings shall see, and [k] arise, and princes shall worship because of the Lorde, that is faithfull: and the Holy one of Israel, which hath chosen thee.

8 Thus saieth the Lorde, [l] In an acceptable time haue I heard thee, and in a day of saluation haue I helped thee: and I will preserue thee, and wil giue [m] thee for a couenant of the people that thou maiest raise vp the [n] earth, and obtaine the inheritance of the desolate heritages:

9 That thou maiest say to the [o] prisoners, Goe foorth: and to them that are in darknesse, Shewe your selues: they shall feed in the wayes, and their [p] pastures shalbe in all the tops of the hils.

10 They shal not be hungrie, neither shal they be thirstie, neither shal the heate smite them, nor the sunne: for he that hath compassion [q] on them, shall leade them: euen to the springs of waters shall he driue them.

11 And I will make all my mountaines, as a way, and my paths shalbe exalted.

12 Beholde, these shall come from farre: and loe, these from the North and from the West, and these from the land of [r] Sinim.

13 Reioyce, O [s] heauens: and bee ioyfull, O earth: braste foorth into praise, O mountaines: for God hath comforted his people, and will haue mercie vpon his afflicted.

14 But Zion saide, The Lord hath [t] forsaken me, and my Lord hath forgotten me.

15 Can a woman forget her childe, & not haue compassion on the sonne of her wombe? though they should forget, yet will I not forget thee.

16 Behold, I haue grauen thee vpon the palme of mine [u] hands: thy [x] walles are euer in my sight.

17 Thy builders make [y] haste: thy destroyers and they that made thee waste, are departed from thee.

18 Lift vp thine eyes round about and behold: all these gather themselues together and come to thee: as I liue, saith the Lord, thou shalt surely [z] put them al vpon thee as a garment, and gird thy selfe with them like a bride.

19 For thy desolations, and thy waste places, and thy land destroyed, shall surely be now narow for them that shall dwell in it, and they that did deuoure thee, shalbe farre away.

20 The children of thy barrennesse shall say againe in thine eares, The place is straite for me: giue place to me that I may dwell.

21 Then shalt thou say in thine heart, Who hath begotten mee these, seeing I am barren and desolate, a captiue and a wanderer to and fro? and who hath nourished them? beholde, I was left alone: whence are these?

22 Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I will lift vp mine hand to the [a] Gentiles, and set vp my standart to the people, and they shall bring thy sonnes in their armes: and thy daughters shall be caried vpon their shoulders.

23 And Kings [b] shall be thy nursing fathers, and Queenes shalbe thy nources: they shall worship thee with their faces toward the earth, and licke vp the [c] dust of thy feete: and thou shalt know that I am the Lord: for they shall not bee ashamed that waite for me.

24 Shall the pray be [d] taken from the mightie? or the iust captiuitie deliuered?

25 But thus saith the Lord, Euen the captiuitie of the mightie shall be taken away: and the pray of the tyrant shalbe deliuered: for I will contend with him that contendeth with thee, and I will saue thy children, 26 And will feede them that spoyle thee, with [f] their owne flesh, and they shalbe drunken with their owne blood, as with sweete wine: and all flesh shall knowe that I the Lord am thy sauiour and thy redeemer, the mightie one of Iaakob.

CHAP. L.

1 The Iewes forsaken for a time. 2 Yet the power of God is not diminished. 5 Christes obedience and victorie.

THus saieth the Lord, Where is that [a] bill of your mothers diuorcement, [b] whom I haue cast off? or who is the creditour [c] to whom I sold you? Behold, for your iniquities are ye solde, and because of your transgressions is your mother forsaken.

2 Wherefore [d] came I, and there was no man? I called, & none answered: is mine hand so [e] shortened, that it cannot helpe? or haue I no power to deliuer? Behold, at my rebuke I drie vp the Sea: I make the floods desert: their fish rotteth for want of water, and dieth for thirst.

3 I clothe the heauens with darkenesse, and make a [f] sacke their couering.

4 The Lord God hath giuen [g] mee a tongue of the learned, that I should knowe to minister a word in time to him that is [h] wearie: he will raise a This is spoken in the person of Christ to assure the faithful, that these promises should come to passe: for they were al made in him, and in him should be performed.

b This is meant of the time that Christ should be manifested to the world, as Psal. 2.7.

c By the sworde and shaft, he signifieth the vertue & efficacie of Christs doctrine.

d God hath taken me to his protection and defence: this chiefly is meant of Christ, & may also be applied to the ministers of his word.

e By Israel is meant Christ, and all the body of the faithful, as the members & their head.

f Thus Christ in his members complaineth, that his labour and preaching take none effect, yet hee is contented that his doings are approued of God.

g Though the Iewes refuse my doctrine, yet God will approoue my ministerie.

h To declare my Gospel to the Gentiles Chap. 42. 6. act. 13. 47. luk. 2. 32.

i Meaning, the Iewes whome tirants kept in bondage.

k The benefite of their deliuerance shalbe so great, that great and smal shal acknowledge it, and reuerence God for it.

l Thus he speaketh of his Church, when he would shew his mercy toward it, 2. Cor. 6. 2.

m Meaning, Christ alone.

n Signifying, that before Christ renewe the earth by his word, there is nothing but confusion & disorder.

o To them that are in the prison of sinne and death.

p Being in Christs protection they shalbe safe against all dangers, & free from the feare of the enemies.

q Meaning, that there shoulde bee nothing in their way from Babylon, that should hinder or hurt them: but this is accomplished spiritually.

r Meaning, the South countrey, so that Christ shall deliuer his from all the partes of the world.

s Reade Chap. 44. 23.

t He obiecteth what the faithfull might say in their long affliction, and answereth thereunto to comfort them, with a most proper similitude, and full of consolation.

u Because I would not forget thee.

x Meaning, the good order of policie & discipline.

y I haue a continuall care to build the vp againe, and to destroy thine enemies.

z Hee sheweth what are the ornaments of the Church: to haue many children, which are assembled by the worde of God and gouerned by his Spirit.

a He sheweth that Christ wil not only gather this great number of the Iewes, but also of the Gentiles.

b Meaning, that Kings shalbe conuerted to the Gospel and bestowe their power, and authoritie for the preseruation of the Church.

c Being ioyned with the Church they shall humble themselues to Christ their head, and giue him all honour.

d He maketh this as an obiection as though the Caldeans were strong, and had them in iust possession.

e This is the answere to their obiection, that none is stronger then the Lord, neither hath a more iust title vnto them.

f I will cause them to destroy one another, as Iudg. 7. 22. 2. Chr. 20. 22. chap. 19. 2.

a Meaning, that he had not forsaken her, but through her owne occasion, as Hosea 2. 2.

b Which should declare that I haue cast her off: meaning, that they could shew none.

c Signifying, that he sold them not for any debte or povertie, but that they solde themselues to sinnes to buy their owne lustes and pleasures.

d Hee came by his Prophets and ministers, but they would not beleeue e Am I not as able to helpe you, as I haue holpen your fathers of olde, when I dried vp the red Sea, and killed the fish in the riuers, and also afterward in Iorden? Exod. 10. 21.

f As I did in Egypt in token of my displeasure, Exod.

g The Prophet doeth represent heere the person and charge of them that are iustly called to the ministerie of Gods worde.

h To him that is oppressed by affliction and misetie.

me vp in the morning: in the morning he wil waken mine eare to heare, as the learned.

5 The Lord God hath opened mine eare and I was not rebellious, neither turned I backe.

6 I gaue my backe vnto the [k] smiters, and my cheekes to the nippers: I hid not my face from shame and spitting.

7 For the Lord God will helpe me, therefore shall I not be confounded: therefore haue I set my face like a flint, and I know that I shall not be ashamed.

8 He is neere that iustifieth mee: who will contend with me? Let vs stand together: who is mine aduersarie? let him come neere to me.

9 Behold, the Lord God will helpe me: who is he that can condemne me? loe, they shall waxe olde as a garment: the mothe shall eate them vp.

10 [l] Who is among you that feareth the Lord? let him heare ỹ voyce of his seruant: he that walketh in darknesse, & hath no light, let him trust in the Name of the Lord, and stay vpon his God.

11 Beholde, all you kindle [m] a fire, and are compassed about with sparkes: walke in the light of your fire, & in the sparkes that ye haue kindled. This shall ye haue of mine hand: yee shall lye downe in sorowe.

i As they that are taught, and made meete by him.

k I did not shrinke from God for any persecution or calamitie. Whereby he sheweth that the true ministers of God can looke for none other recompence of the wicked but after this sort, and also what is their comfort.

l Shewing that it is a rare thing that any should obey aright Gods true ministers, though they labour to bring them from hell to heauen.

m You haue sought consolation by your owne deuises, and haue refused the light and consolation, which God hath offered: therefore ye shall remaine in sorow, and not be comforted.

CHAP. LI.

1 To trust in God alone by Abraham's example. 7 Not to feare men. 17 The great affliction of Ierusalem, & her deliuerance.

HEare me, ye [a] that follow after righteousnes: and ye that seeke the Lord: looke vnto the [b] rocke, whence ye are hewen, and to the hole of the pit, whence ye are digged.

2 Consider Abraham your father, and Sarah that bare you: for I called him alone, and blessed him, and increased him.

3 Surely the Lord shall comfort Zion: he shal comfort all her desolations, & he shall make her desert [c] like Eden, and her wildernesse like the garden of the Lord: ioy and gladnesse shall be found therein: praise, and the voyce of singing.

4 Hearken ye vnto mee, my people, and giue eare vnto me, O my people: for a [d] Lawe shall proceede from mee, and I will bring foorth my iudgement for the light of the people.

5 My [e] righteousnesse is neere: my saluation goeth foorth, and mine [f] armes shall iudge the people: the yles shall waite for me, and shal trust vnto mine arme.

6 Lift vp your eyes to the heauens, and looke vpon the earth beneath: for the [g] heauens shall vanish away like smoke, and the earth shall waxe olde like a garment, and they that dwell therein, shall perish in like maner: but my saluation shall be for euer, and my righteousnesse shall not bee abolished.

7 Hearken vnto mee, ye that know righteousnesse, the people in whose heart is my Law, Feare ye not the reproch of men, neither be ye afraide of their rebukes.

8 For the moth shall eate them vp like a garment, and the worme shall eate them like wooll: but my righteousnesse shall be for euer, and my saluation from generation to generation.

9 Rise vp, rise vp, and put on strength, O arme of the Lord: rise vp as [h] in the olde time in the generations of the world. Art not thou the same, that hath cut [i] Rahab, and wounded the [k] dragon?

10 Art not thou the same, which hath dryed the Sea, euen the waters of the great deepe, making the depth of the Sea a way for the redeemed to passe ouer?

11 Therefore the redeemed of the Lord shall [l] returne, and come with ioy vnto Zion, and euerlasting ioy shalbe vpon their head: they shal obtaine ioy and gladnesse: and sorowe and mourning shall flee away.

12 I, euen I am he, that comfort you. Who art thou, that thou shouldest feare a mortall man, & the sonne of man, which shalbe made as grasse?

13 And forgettest the Lord thy maker, that hath spred out the heauens, and laid the foundations of the earth? and hast feared continually all the day, because of the rage of the oppressour, which is ready to destroy? Where is nowe the rage of the oppressour?

14 The captiue [m] hasteneth to be loosed, and that he should not die in the pitte, nor that his bread should faile.

15 And I am the Lord thy God that diuided the Sea, when his waues roared: the Lord of hostes [n] is his Name.

16 And I haue put my words in thy [n] mouth, and haue defended thee in the shadow of mine hand, that I may plant the [o] heauens, and lay the foundation of the earth, and say vnto Zion, Thou art my people.

17 Awake, awake, and stand vp, O Ierusalem, which hast drunke at the hand of the Lord the [p] cup of his wrath: thou hast drunken the dregs of the cup of trembling, and wrung them out.

18 There is none to guide her among all the sonnes, whom she hath brought foorth: there is none that taketh her by the hand of all the sonnes that she hath brought vp.

19 These two [q] thinges are come vnto thee: who will lament thee? desolation and destruction and famine, and the sword: by whome shall I comfort thee?

20 Thy sonnes haue fainted, and lye at the head of all the streetes as a wilde bull in a nette, and are full of the wrath of the Lord, and rebuke of thy God.

21 Therefore heare now this, thou miserable and drunken, but [r] not with wine.

22 Thus saith thy Lord God, euen God that pleadeth the cause of his people, Beholde, I haue taken out of thine hand the cuppe of trembling, euen the dregges of the cuppe of my wrath: thou shalt drinke it no more.

23 But I will put it into their hand that spoyle thee: which haue said to thy soule, Bow downe, that we may goe ouer, and thou hast layde thy bodie as the ground, and as the streete to them that went ouer.

g He forewarneth them of the horrible changes and mutations of all things, and how he will preserue his Church in the midst of all these dangers.

h He putteth them in remembrance of his great benefite for their deliuerance out of Egypt, that thereby they might learne to trust in him constantly.

k To wit, Pharaoh, Ezek. 29.3.

m He comforteth them by the short time of their banishment: for in seuenty yeres they were restored, and the greatest empire of the world destroyed.

n Meaning of Isaiah, and of all true ministers, who are defended by his protection.

o That all things may be restored in heauen and earth, Ephes. 1.10.

p Thou hast bene iustly punished and sufficiently, as Chap. 40.2, and this punishment in the elect is by mesure & according as God giueth grace to beare it: but in the reprobate it is the iust vengeance of God to drine them to an insensiblenesse and madnesse, as Iere. 25.15,16.

q Whereof the one is outward as of the thinges that come to the body: as warre and famine: & the other is inward, and appertaineth to the minde: that is, to be without comfort: therefore he saith, howe shalt thou be comforted?

r But with trouble and feare.

CHAP. LII.

1 A consolation to the people of God. 7 Of the messengers thereof.

ARise, arise: put on thy strength, O Zion: put on the garments of thy beautie, O Ierusalem, the holy citie: for henceforth there shall no [a] more come into thee the vncircumcised and the vncleane.

2 Shake thy selfe from the [b] dust: arise, and sit downe, O Ierusalem: loose the bandes of thy necke, O thou captiue daughter, Zion.

3 For thus saith the Lord, Yee were solde

b Put off the garments of sorow & heauines & put on the apparel of ioye and gladnesse.

c The Babylonians payde nothing to me for you: therefore I will take you againe without raunsome.
d When Iaakob went thither in time of famine.
e The Egyptians might pretend some cause to oppresse my people because they went thither and remained among them, but the Assyrians haue no title to excuse their tyrannie by: and therefore will I punith them more then I did the Egyptians.
f To wit, by the wicked, which thinke that I haue no power to deliuer them.

h The Prophets which are thy watchmen shall publish this thy deliuerance: this was begun vnder Zerubbabel, Ezra, and Nehemiah, but was accomplished vnder Christ.

4 For thus saith the Lord God, My people went d downe afore time into Egypt to soiourne there, & Asshur e oppressed them without cause.

5 Nowe therefore what haue I here, saith the Lord, that my people is taken away for nought, and they that rule ouer them, make them to howle, saith the Lord? and my Name all the day continually is f blasphemed?

6 Therefore my people shall know my name: therefore they shall knowe in that day, that I am he that doe speake: beholde, it is I.

7 How g beautifull vpon the mountaines are the feete of him, that declareth and publisheth peace? that declareth good tidings, & publisheth saluation, saying vnto Zion, thy God reigneth!

9 O ye desolate places of Ierusalem, be glad and reioyce together: for the Lord hath comforted his people: he hath redeemed Ierusalem.

10 The Lord hath made i bare his holy arme in the sight of all the Gentiles, and all the endes of the earth shall see the saluation of our God.

11 kDepart, depart, ye: go ye out from thence and touch no vncleane thing: goe out of the middes of her: be ye cleane, that l beare the vessels of the Lord.

12 For ye shal not go out mwith haste, nor depart by fleeing away: but the Lord wil go before you, & the God of Israel will gather you together.

13 Behold, my n seruant shall prosper: he shal be exalted and extolled, and be very hie.

CHAP. LIII.

1 Of Christ and his kingdome, whose worde some will beleeue. 6 All men are sinners. 11 Christ is our righteousnesse. 12 And is dead for our sinnes.

a The Prophet sheweth that very fewe shall receiue this their preaching of Christ, and of their deliuerance by him, Iohn 12.38. rom 10.16.
b Meaning that none can beleeue, but whose hearts God toucheth with the vertue of his holy Spirite.

WHo a will beleeue our report? and to whom is the b arme of the Lord reueiled?

2 But hee shall growe vp before him as a branch, and as a c roote out of a drie d ground: he hath neither forme nor beautie: when we shal see him, there shalbe no forme that we should desire him.

3 He is despised and reiected of men: he is a man full of sorowes and hath experience of e infirmities: we hid as it were our faces from him: he was despised and we esteemed him not.

c The beginning of Christes kingdome shalbe small and contemptible in the sight of man, but it shall growe wonderfully, and flourish before God.
d Reade Chap 11.1.
e Which was by Gods singular prouidence for the comfort of sinners, Hebr 4.15.

4 Surely he hath borne our infirmities, and caryed f our sorowes: yet we did iudge him, as g plagued, and smitten of God, and humbled.

5 But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was broken for our iniquities: the h chastisement of our peace was vpon him, and with his stripes we are healed.

6 All we like sheepe haue gone astray, wee haue turned euery one to his owne way, and the Lord hath laid vpon him the i iniquitie of vs all.

7 He was oppressed and he was afflicted, yet did he not k open his mouth: he is brought as a sheepe to the slaughter, and as a sheepe before her shearer is dumme, so he openeth not his mouth.

8 He was taken out from l prison, and from iudgement: m and who shall declare his age? for he was cut out of the land of the liuing: for the transgression of my people was he plagued.

9 n And he made his graue with the wicked, and with the rich in his death, though hee had done no wickednesse, neither was any deceite in his mouth.

10 Yet the Lord would breake him, and make him subiect to infirmities: when o hee shall make his soule an offering for sinne, he shall see his seed and shall prolong his dayes, and the will of the Lord shall prosper in his hand.

11 He shall see of the p trauaile of his soule, and shalbe satisfied: by his knowledge shall my q righteous seruant iustifie many: for hee shall beare their iniquities.

12 Therefore will I giue him a portion with the great, and he shall diuide the spoile with the strong, because hee r hath powred out his soule vnto death: and he was counted with the transgressers, and he bare the sinne s of many, and prayed for the trespassers.

f That is, the punishment due to our sinnes: for the which hee hath both suffered, and made satisfaction, Matth. 8.17. 1.pet 2.24.
g We iudged euill, thinking that he was punished for his owne sinnes, and not for ours.

n God the Father deliuered him into the hands of the wicked, and to the powers of the world to doe with him what they would.
o Christ by offering vp himselfe shall giue life to his Church, and so cause them to liue with him for euer.
p That is, the fruite and effect of his labour, which is the saluation of his Church.
q Christ shall iustifie by faith through his word, whereas Moses could not iustifie by the Lawe.
r Because he humbled himselfe, therefore he shalbe exalted to glory, Philip 2.7,8. to vers. 12.
s That is, of all that beleeue in him.

CHAP. LIIII.

1 Moe of the Gentiles shall beleeue the Gospell then of the Iewes. 7 God leaueth his for a time, to whome afterward he sheweth mercie.

a After that he hath declared the death of Christ, he speaketh to the Church, because it should feele the fruite of the same, & calleth her barren, because that in the captiuitie she was as a widowe without hope to haue any children.
b The Church in this her affliction and captiuitie shal bring foorth moe children then when she was at libertie: or this may be spoken by admiration, considering the great number that should come of her. Her deliuerance vnder Cyrus was as her childhood, & therefore this was accomplished, when she came to her age, which was vnder the Gospel.
c Signifying that for the great number of children, that God should giue her, she shoulde seeme to want roome to lodge them.
d The afflictions which thou sufferedst at the beginning.
e When as thou wast refused for thy sinnes, Chap. 50.1.

3 For thou shalt increase on the right hand and on the left, and thy seede shall possesse the Gentiles, and dwell in the desolate cities.

4 Feare not: for thou shalt not be ashamed, neither shalt thou be confounded: for thou shalt not be put to shame: yea, thou shalt forget the shame of thy d youth, and shalt not remember the reproche of thy e widowhoode any more.

God of the whole g world.

6 For the Lorde hath called thee, being as a woman forsaken, and afflicted in spirite, and as a h yong wife when thou wast refused, sayeth thy God.

7 For a little while haue I forsaken thee, but with great compassion will I gather thee.

8 For a moment, in mine anger, I hidde my face from thee for a little season, but with euerlasting mercy haue I had compassion on thee, saith the Lord thy redeemer.

9 For this is vnto mee as the i waters of Noah: for as I haue sworne that the waters of Noah should no more goe ouer the earth, so haue I sworne that I would not be angry with thee, nor rebuke thee.

10 For the mountaines shall remooue, and the hilles shall fall downe: but my mercy shal not depart from thee, neither shall the couenant of my peace fall away, saith the Lord, that hath compassion on thee.

11 O thou afflicted and tossed with tempest, that hast no comfort, beholde, I wil lay thy stones with the k carbuncle, and lay thy foundation with saphirs, 12 And I will make thy windowes of ‖ emeraudes, and thy gates shining stones, and all thy borders of pleasant stones.

13 And all thy children shalbe l taught of the Lord, and much peace shalbe to thy children.

14 In m righteousnes shalt thou be established, and bee farre from oppression, for thou shalt not feare it: and from feare, for it shall not come neere thee.

15 Beholde, the enemie shall gather himselfe, but without n mee: whosoeuer shall gather himselfe in thee, o against thee, shall fall.

16 Beholde, I haue created the p smith that bloweth the coales in the fire, and him that bringeth forth an instrument for his worke, & I haue created the destroyer to destroy.

17 But all the weapons that are made against thee, shall not prosper: and euery tongue that shall rise against thee in iudgement, thou shalt condemne. This is the heritage of the Lordes seruants, and their righteousnesse is of mee, sayeth the Lord.

CHAP. LV.

1 An exhortation to come to Christ. 8 Gods counsels are not as mans. 12 The ioy of the faithfull.

HO, euery one that a thirsteth, come ye to the waters, & ye that haue b no siluer, come, bye and eate: come, I say, bye c wine and milke without siluer and without money.

2 Wherefore doe ye lay out siluer and not for bread? d and your labour without being satisfied? hearken diligently vnto mee, and eate that which is good, and let your soule delite in e fatnesse.

3 Encline your eares, and come vnto mee: heare and your soule shall liue, and I wil make an euerlasting couenant with you, euen the f sure mercies of Dauid.

4 Beholde, I gaue g him for a witnesse to the people, for a prince and a master vnto the people.

5 Beholde, thou shalt call a nation that thou knowest not, h and a nation that knewe not thee, shall runne vnto thee, because of the Lorde thy God, and the holy One of Israel: for hee hath glorified thee.

6 Seeke ye the Lord while he may i be found: call ye vpon him while he is neere.

7 Let the wicked k forsake his wayes, and the vnrighteous his owne imaginations, and returne vnto the Lorde, and he wil haue mercy vpon him: and to our God, for he is very ready to forgiue.

8 For my l thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your wayes my wayes, sayeth the Lorde.

9 For as the heauens are higher then the earth, so are my wayes higher then your wayes, and my thoughts aboue your thoughts.

10 Surely as the raine commeth downe and the snow from heauen, and returneth not thither, but watereth the earth and maketh it to bring foorth and bud, that it may giue seede to the sower, and bread vnto him that eateth,

11 So shall my m word bee, that goeth out of my mouth: it shall not returne vnto mee voyde, but it shall accomplish that which I will, and it shall prosper in the thing whereto I sent it.

12 Therefore ye shall goe out with ioy, and be led foorth with peace: the n mountaines and the hilles shall breake foorth before you into ioy, and all the trees of the fielde shall clap their handes.

13 For thornes there shall grow firre trees: for nettles shall growe the myrthe tree, and it shalbe to the Lorde o for a name, and for an euerlasting p signe that shall not be taken away.

CHAP. LVI.

1 An exhortation to iudgement and iustice. 10 Against shepheards that deuoure their flocke.

THus saith the Lorde, a Keepe iudgement and doe iustice: for my saluation is at hande to come, and my b righteousnes to be reuealed.

2 Blessed is the man that doeth this, and the sonne of man which layeth holde on it: hee that keepeth the c Sabbath and polluteth it not, and keepeth his hand from doing any euil.

3 And let not the sonne of the stranger, which d is ioyned to the Lord, speake and say, The Lord hath surely separate mee from his people: neither let the Eunuch say, Beholde, I am a dry tree.

4 For thus saith the Lord vnto the Eunuches, that keepe my Sabbaths, and chuse the thing that pleaseth me, and take holde of my couenant,

5 Euen vnto them will I giue in mine e House and within my walles, a place and a f name better then of the sonnes and of the daughters: I will giue them an euerlasting name, that shall not bee put out.

6 Also the strangers that cleaue vnto the Lord, to serue him, and to loue the Name of the Lorde, and to be his seruants: euery one that keepeth the Sabbath, and polluteth it not, and imbraceth my couenant,

7 Them will I bring also to mine holy Mountaine, and make them ioyfull in mine House of prayer: their burnt g offerings and their sacrifices shall be accepted vpon mine altar: for mine

g His glory shall shine through the whole worlde, which seemed before to be shut vp in Iudea.

h As a wife which was forsaken in thy youth.

i As sure as the promes that I made to Noah, that the waters should no more ouerflowe the earth.

k Hereby he declareth the excellent estate of the Church vnder Christ.

l By the hearing of his word and inward moouing of his Spirit.

m In stabilitie and surenes, so that it shall stand for euer.

n And therefore shall not preuaile.

o Meaning, the domesticall enemies of the Church as are the hypocrites.

p Signifying hereby that man can doe nothing, but so farre as God giueth power: for seeing that all are his creatures, he must needes gouerne and guide them.

a Christ by proposing his graces and giftes to his Church exempteth the hypocrites which are full with their imagined workes, and the Epicures, which are full with their worldly lustes, and so thirst not after these waters.

b Signifying, that Gods benefits can not be bought for money.

c By waters, wine, milke and bread, he meaneth all things necessary to the spirituall life, as these are necessary to this corporall life. d Hee reproueth their ingratitude which refuse those things that God offereth willingly, and in the meane time spare neither cost nor labour to obteine those, which are nothing profitable. e You shalbe fed abundantly. f The same couenant, which through my mercie, I ratified and confirmed to Dauid, that it should bee eternall, 2. Sam 7. 13. actes 13. 34. g Meaning Christ, of whom Dauid was a figure.

h To wit, the Gentiles, which before thou diedst not receiue to be thy people.

i When he offereth himselfe by preaching of his word.

k Hereby he sheweth that repentance must be ioyned with faith, & howe we cannot call vpon God aright, except the fruites of our faith appeare.

l Although you are not soone reconciled one to an other & iudge me by your selues, yet I am most easie to be reconciled, yea I offer my mercies to you.

m If these small things haue their effect, as dayly experience sheweth, much more shall my promes which I haue made and confirmed, bring to passe the thing which I haue spoken for your deliuerance.

n Reade Chap. 44. 23. and 49. 13.

o To set foorth his glory.

p Of Gods deliuerance, and that he wil neuer forsake his Church.

a God sheweth what he requireth of them after that he hath deliuered them: to wit, the workes of charitie whereby true faith is declared.

b Which I will declare toward you and powre into your hearts by my Spirit.

c Vnder the Sabbath he comprehendeth the whole seruice of God and true religion.

d Let none thinke himselfe vnmeete to receiue the graces of the Lorde: for the Lord will take away all impediments, and wil forsake none which wil keepe his true religion and beleeue in him.

e Meaning, in his Church.

f They shall be called after my people, and be of the same religion:

House shall be called an house of prayer for [h] all people.

8 The Lorde God sayeth, which gathereth the scattered of Israel, Yet will I gather to them those that are to be gathered to them.

9 All ye [i] beasts of the field, come to deuoure, euen all ye beastes of the forest.

10 Their [k] watchmen are all blinde: they haue no knowledge: they are all dumme dogs: they can not barke: they lie and sleepe and delight in sleeping.

11 And these greedie dogges can neuer haue ynough: and these shepheards cannot vnderstand: for they al looke to their owne way, euery one for his aduantage, and for his owne purpose.

12 Come, I will bring wine, and we will fill our selues with strong drinke, and to[l] morow shall be as this day, and much more abundant.

h Not onely for the Iewes, but for all others, Matth 21.13.

i Meaning, the enemies of the Church, as the Babylonians, Assyrians, &c. thus he speaketh to feare the hypocrites, and to assure the faithfull, that when this commeth, they may know it was tolde them before.

k He sheweth that this affliction shal come through the fault of the gouernours, Prophets & pastours, whose ignorance, negligence, auarice, & obstinacie prouoked Gods wrath against them.

l We are well yet, and to morow shall be better: therefore let vs not feare the plagues before they come: thus the wicked contemned the admonitions and exhortations which were made them in the Name of God.

CHAP. LVII.

1 God taketh away the good, that hee should not see the horrible plagues to come. 3 Of the wicked idolaters, 9 And their vaine confidence.

THe righteous perisheth, and no man considereth it in heart: and mercifull men are taken away, and no man vnderstandeth that the righteous is taken away [a] from the euil to come.

2 [b] Peace shall come: they shall rest in their beds, euery one that walketh before him.

3 But you [c] witches children, come hither, the seed of the adulterer and of the whore.

4 On whom haue ye iested? vpon whom haue ye gaped and thrust out your tongue? are not yee rebellious children, and a false seed?

5 Inflamed with idoles vnder euery greene tree? and sacrificing the [d] children in the valleys vnder the tops of the rocks?

6 Thy portion is in the smooth stones [e] of the riuer: they, they are thy lot: euen to them hast thou powred a drinke offering: thou hast offered a sacrifice. Should I delite in these?

7 Thou hast made thy [f] bed vpon a very hie mountaine: thou wentest vp thither, euen thither wentest thou to offer sacrifice.

8 Behinde the [h] doores also and postes hast thou set vp thy remembrance: for thou hast discouered thy selfe to another then me, and wentest vp, and diddest [i] enlarge thy bed, and make a couenant betweene thee and them, and louedst their bed in euery place where thou sawest it.

9 Thou wentest [k] to the King with oyle, and diddest increase thine oyntments and sendest thy messengers farre off, and diddest humble thy selfe vnto hell.

10 Thou weariedst thy selfe in thy manifolde iourneys, yet saydest thou not, [l] There is no hope: thou [m] hast founde life by thine hand, therefore thou wast not grieued.

11 And whom diddest thou reuerence or feare, seeing thou hast [n] lyed vnto mee, and hast not remembred mee, neither set thy minde thereon? is it not because I holde my peace, and that of long [o] time? therefore thou fearest not me.

12 I will declare thy [p] righteousnesse and thy workes, and they shall not profite thee.

13 When thou cryest, let them that thou hast gathered together deliuer thee: but the winde shall [q] take them all away: vanitie shal pull them away: but hee that trusteth in me, shall inherite the lande, and shall possesse mine holy Mountaine.

14 [r] And he shall say, Cast vp, cast vp: prepare the way: take vp the stumbling blocks out of the way of my people.

15 For thus saith he that is hie & excellent, hee that inhabiteth the eternitie, whose Name is the Holy one, I dwell in the hie and holy place: with him also that is of a contrite and humble spirit to reuiue the spirit of the humble, and to giue life to them that are of a contrite heart.

16 For I will not contend for euer, neither wil I be alwayes wroth, [s] for the spirit should fale before me: and I haue made the breath.

17 For his wicked [t] couetousnesse I am angry with him, and haue smitten him: I hid me and was angry, yet he went away, and turned after the way of his owne heart.

18 I haue seene his wayes, and wil [u] heale him: I wil leade him also, & restore comfort vnto him, and to those that lament him.

19 I create the [x] fruite of the lips, to be peace: peace vnto them that are [y] farre off, and to them that are neere, sayeth the Lorde: for I will heale him.

20 But the wicked are like the raging Sea, that can [z] not rest, whose waters cast vp myre and dirt.

21 There is no peace, sayeth my God, to the wicked.

n Broken promes with me.

o Meaning, that the wicked abuse Gods lenitie, and growe to further wickednes.

p That is, thy naughtines, idolatries, and impieties: which the wicked call Gods seruice: thus he derideth their obstinacie.

q Meaning, the Assyrians and other, whose helpe they looked for.

r God shall say to Darius and Cyrus.

s I will not vse my power against fraile man whose life is but a blast.

t That is for the vices and faults of the people, which is meant here by couetousnesse.

u Though they were obstinate, yet I did not withdraw my mercy from them.

x That is, I frame the speach and wordes of my messengers which shall bring peace.

y As wel to him that is in captiuitie as to him that remaineth at home.

z Their euill conscience doeth euer torment them, and therefore they can neuer haue rest, Reade Chap. 48.22.

CHAP. LVIII.

1 The office of Gods ministers. 2 The workes of the hypocrites, 6 The fast of the faithfull. 13 Of the true Sabbath.

CRy [a] aloude, spare not: lift vp thy voyce like a trumpet, and shewe my people their transgression, and to the house of Iaakob, their sinnes.

2 Yet they [b] seeke me dayly, and will know my wayes, euen as a nation that did righteously, and had not forsaken the statutes of their God: they aske of mee the ordinances of iustice: they will draw neere vnto God, saying,

3 [c] Wherefore haue wee fasted, and thou seest it not? wee haue punished our selues, and thou regardest it not. Beholde, in the day of your fast you will seeke [d] your will, and require all your dettes.

4 Beholde, yee fast to striue and debate, and to smite with the fist of wickednesse: yee shall not fast as [e] ye doe to day, to make your voyce to bee heard aboue.

5 Is it such a fast that I haue chosen, that a man should afflict his soule for a day, and to bow a From the plague that is at hand, and also because God wil punish the wicked.

b The soule of the righteous shall be in ioy, and their body shall rest in the graue vnto the time of the resurrection, because they walked before the Lord.

c He threateneth the wicked hypocrites, who vnder the pretence of the name of Gods people derided Gods word & his promises: boasting openly that they were the children of Abraham, but because they were not faithfull and obedient as Abraham was, he called them bastards, and the children of sorcerers, which forsooke God and fled to wicked meanes for succour.

d Reade Leuit. 18. 21. 2 King. 23. 10.

e Meaning, euery place was polluted with their idolatrie: or euery faire stone that they found, they made an idole of it.

f In the sacrifices which you offering before these idoles, thought you did serue God.

g To wit, thine altars, in an open place like an impudent harlot that careth not for the sight of her husband.

h In steade of setting vp the word of God in the open places on the postes and doores to haue it in remembrance, Deut. 6. 9. and 27. 1. thou hast set vp signes and markes of thine idolatrie in euery place.

i That is, diddest increase thine idolatrie more and more.

o He sheweth that this affliction shal come through the fault of the gouernours, Prophets & pastours, whose ignorance, negligence, auarice, & obstinacie prouoked Gods wrath against them.

p We are well yet, and to morow shall be better: therefore let vs not feare the plagues before they come: thus the wicked contemned the admonitions and exhortations which were made them in the Name of God.

q From the plague that is at hand, and also because God wil punish the wicked.

r The soule of the righteous shall be in ioy, and their body shall rest in the graue vnto the time of the resurrection, because they walked before the Lord.

s He threateneth the wicked hypocrites, who vnder the pretence of the name of Gods people derided Gods word & his promises: boasting openly that they were the children of Abraham, but because they were not faithfull and obedient as Abraham was, he called them bastards, and the children of sorcerers, which forsooke God and fled to wicked meanes for succour.

downe his head as a bulrush, and to lye downe in sackcloth and ashes? wilt thou call this a fasting, or an acceptable day to the Lord?

6 Is not this the fasting, that I haue chosen, to loose the bandes of wickednesse, to take off the heauie burdens, and to let the oppressed goe free, and that ye breake euery [f] yoke.

7 Is it not to deale thy bread to the hungry, and that thou bring the poore that wander, vnto thine house? when thou seest the naked, that thou couer him, and hide not thy selfe from [g] thine owne flesh?

8 Then shall thy [h] light breake forth as the morning, and thine health shal grow speedily: thy [i] righteousnesse shall goe before thee, & the glorie of the Lord shall embrace thee.

9 Then shalt thou cal, & the Lord shal answer: thou shalt cry, and he shal say, Here I am: if thou take away frō the mids of thee the yoke, the putting forth of the [k] finger, and wicked speaking:

10 If thou [l] powre out thy soule to the hungrie, and refresh the troubled soule: then shal thy light spring out in the [m] darknesse, and thy darknesse shalbe as the noone day.

11 And the Lord shall guide thee continually, and satisfie thy soule in drought, and make fat thy bones: and thou shalt be like a watred garden, & like a spring of water, whose waters faile not.

12 And they shall be of thee, that shall build the olde [n] waste places: thou shalt raise vp the foundations for many generations, and thou shalt be called the repairer of the breach, & the restorer of the pathes to dwell in.

13 If thou [o] turne away thy foote from the Sabbath, from doing thy will on mine holy day, and call the Sabbath a delite, to consecrate it, as glorious to the Lord, and shalt honour him, not doing thine owne waves, nor seeking thine owne will, nor speaking a vaine worde, 14 Then shalt thou delite in the Lord, and I will cause thee to mount vpon the hie places of the earth, and feed thee with the heritage of Iaakob thy father: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it.

CHAP. LIX.

1 The wicked perish through their owne iniquities. 12 The confession of sinnes. 16 God alone will preserue his Church, though all men faile.

BEholde, * the Lordes hand is not shortened, that it cannot saue: neither is his care heauie, that it cannot heare.

2 But * your iniquities haue separated betweene you and your God, and your sinnes haue hid his face from you, that he will not heare.

3 For your handes are defiled with [a] blood, & your fingers with iniquitie: your lips haue spoken lies, & your tongue hath murmured iniquity.

4 No man calleth for iustice: no man [b] contendeth for trueth: they trust in vanitie, & speake vaine things: they conceiue mischiefe, and [c] bring foorth iniquitie.

5 They hatch cockatrice [d] egges, and weaue the spiders [e] webbe: he that eateth of their egges, dieth, and that which is trode vpon, breaketh out into a serpent.

6 Their webbes shall be no garment, neither shall they couer themselues with their labours: for their workes are works of iniquities, & the worke of cruelties is in their handes.

7 Their feete runne to euill, and they make haste to shed innocent blood: their thoughtes are wicked thoughtes: desolation and destruction is in their paths.

8 The way of peace they know not, & there is none equitie in their goings: they haue made them crooked paths: whosoeuer goeth therein, shall not know peace.

9 Therefore is [f] iudgement farre from vs, neither doeth [g] iustice come neere vnto vs: wee waite for light, but loe, it is darknesse: for brightnesse, but we walke in darknesse.

10 Wee grope for the wall like the [h] blinde, and we grope as one without eyes: we stumble at the noone day as in the twilight: we are in solitarie places, as dead men.

11 We roare all like [i] beares, and mourne like doues: we looke for equitie, but there is none: for health, but it is farre from vs.

12 For our trespasses are many before thee, and our [k] sinnes testifie against vs: for our trespasses are with vs, and we know our iniquities

13 In trespassing and lying against the Lord, and we haue departed away from our God, and haue spoken of crueltie and rebellion, conceiuing and vttering out of the heart false [l] matters.

14 Therefore [m] iudgement is turned backeward, and iustice standeth farre off: for trueth is fallen in the streete, and equitie cannot enter.

15 Yea, trueth faileth, and hee that refraineth from euill, maketh himselfe [n] a pray: and when the Lord sawe it, it displeased him, that there was no iudgement.

16 And when he sawe that there was no man, hee wondered that none would offer himselfe. [o] Therefore his arme did [p] saue it, and his righteousnesse it selfe did sustaine it.

17 For he put on righteousnes, as an habergeon, and an [q] helmet of saluation vpon his head, and he put on the garments of vengeance for clothing, and was clad with zeale as a cloke.

18 As to make recompence, as to requite the furie of the aduersaries with a recompence to his enemies: he will surely repay the [r] ylandes.

19 So shall they feare the Name of the Lorde from the West, and his glory from the rising of the sunne: for the enemy shall come like a flood: but the Spirit of the Lord shall chase him away.

20 And the Redeemer shal come vnto Zion, and vnto [t] them that turne from iniquitie in Iaakob, saith the Lord.

21 And I will make this my couenant with them, saith the Lord, My Spirit that is vpon thee, and my wordes, which I haue put in thy mouth, [u] shall not depart out of thy mouth, nor out of the mouth of thy seede, nor out of the mouth of the seed of thy seede, saith the Lord, from henceforth euen for euer.

CHAP. LX.

3 The Gentiles shall come to the knowledge of the Gospell. 8 They shall come to the Church in abundance. 16 They shall haue abundance, though they suffer for a time.

ARise, O Ierusalem: be bright, for thy [a] light is come, and the glorie of the Lord is risen vpon thee.

2 For beholde, darknesse shall couer the [b] earth, and grosse darknesse the people: but the

[m] Thine aduersitie shall be turned into prosperitie.

[n] Signifying, that of the Iewes should come such, as should build againe the ruines of Ierusalem and Iudea: but chiefly this is ment of the spirituall Ierusalem, whose builders were the Apostles.

[e] They are profitable to no purpose.

[f] That is, Gods vengeance to punish our enemies.

[g] Gods protection to defend vs.

[h] We are altogether destitute of counsell and can finde no ende of our miseries.

[i] We expresse our sorowes by outward signes, some more, some lesse.

[k] This confession is generall to the Church to obteine remission of sinnes, and the prophets did not exempt themselues from the same.

[m] There is neither iustice nor vprightnesse among men.

[n] The wicked will destroy him.

[o] Meaning, to doe iustice, and to remedie the things that were so farre out of order.

[p] That is, his Church: or his arme did helpe it selfe, and did not seeke aide of any other.

[q] Signifying, that God hath all meanes at hand to deliuer his Church, and to punish their enemies.

[r] To wit your enemies, which dwell in diuers places, and beyond the sea.

[t] He sheweth that there shalbe great affliction in the Church, but God will euer deliuer his.

[u] Whereby he declareth that the true deliuerance from sinne and Satan belongeth to none, but to the children of God, whom he iustifieth.

[a] The time of thy prosperitie and felicitie: whereas speaking of Babylon he commaunded her to goe downe, Chap.47.1.

[b] Signifying, that all men are in darknesse til God giue them the light of his Spirite, and that this light shineth to none but to those that are in his Church.

Lord shall arise vpon thee, and his glorie shall be seene vpon thee.

3 And the Gentiles shall walke in [c] thy light, and Kings at the brightnesse of thy rising vp.

4 Lift vp thine eyes round about, and behold: all [d] these are gathered, and come to thee: thy sonnes shall come from farre, and thy daughters shalbe nourished at thy side.

5 Then thou shalt see and shine: thine heart shalbe astonied [e] and enlarged, because the multitude of the sea shalbe conuerted vnto thee, and the riches of the Gentiles shall come vnto thee.

6 The [f] multitude of camels shall couer thee: and the dromedaries of Midian and of Ephah: all they of Sheba shall come: they shall bring golde and incense, and shew foorth the prayses of the Lord.

7 All the sheepe of [g] Kedar shall be gathered vnto thee: the rammes of Nebaioth shall serue thee: they shall come vp to be accepted vpon mine [h] altar: and I will beautifie the house of my glorie.

8 Who are these [i] that flie like a cloud, and as the doues to their windowes?

9 Surely the yles shall waite for me, and the ships [k] of Tarshish, as at the beginning, that they may bring thy sonnes from farre, and their siluer, and their gold with them, vnto the Name of the Lord thy God, and to the Holy one of Israel, because he hath glorified thee.

10 And the sonnes of strangers shall build vp thy walles, and their [l] Kings shall minister vnto thee: for in my wrath I smote thee, but in my mercie I had compassion on thee.

11 Therefore thy gates shalbe open continually: neither day nor night shall they be shut, that men may bring vnto thee the riches of the Gentiles, and that their Kings may be brought.

12 For the nation and the [m] kingdome, that will not serue thee, shall perish: and those nations shalbe vtterly destroyed.

13 The [n] glorie of Lebanon shall come vnto thee, the firre tree, the elme and the boxe tree together, to beautifie the place of my Sanctuarie: for I will glorifie the place of my [o] feete.

14 The sonnes also of them that afflicted thee, shall come and bow vnto thee: and all they that despised thee, shall fal [p] downe at the soles of thy feete: and they shall call thee, The citie of the Lord, Zion of the Holy one of Israel.

15 Whereas thou hast bene forsaken and hated, so that no man went by thee, I will make thee an eternal glorie, and a ioy from generation to generation.

16 Thou shalt also sucke the milke of the Gentiles, and shalt sucke the [q] breastes of Kings: thou shalt know that I the Lord am thy Sauiour, and thy Redeemer, the mightie one of Iaakob.

17 For brasse will I bring golde, and for yron will I bring siluer, and for wood brasse, and for stones yron. I will also make thy gouernement [r] peace, and thine exactours righteousnesse.

18 Violence shall no more be heard of in thy land, neither desolation, nor destruction within thy borders: but thou shalt [s] call saluation, thy walles, and praise, thy gates.

19 Thou shalt haue no more sunne to shine by day, neither shal the brightnes of the [t] moone shine vnto thee: for the Lord shalbe thine euerlasting light, and thy God thy glorie.

20 Thy sunne shall neuer goe downe, neither shall thy moone be hid: for the Lord shall be thine euerlasting light, and the dayes of thy sorow shalbe ended.

21 Thy people also shalbe all righteous: they shall possesse the land for euer, the [u] graffe of my planting, shalbe the worke of mine handes, that I may be glorified.

22 A little one shall become as a [x] thousand, and a smal one as a strong nation: I the Lord wil hasten it in due time.

CHAP. LXI.

1 He prophecieth that Christ shalbe anointed, and sent to preach. 10 The ioy of the faithfull.

THe * Spirit of the Lord God [a] vpon mee, therefore hath the Lord anointed mee: hee hath sent mee to preach good tidings vnto the poore, to bind vp the [b] broken hearted, to preach libertie to the [c] captiues, and to them that are bound, the opening of the prison,

2 To preach the [d] acceptable yeere of the Lord, and the day of [e] vengeance of our God, to comfort all that mourne,

3 To appoint vnto them that mourne in Zion, and to giue vnto them beautie for [f] ashes, the oyle of ioy for mourning, the garment of gladnesse for the spirit of heauinesse, that they might be called [g] trees of righteousnesse, the planting of the Lord, that he might be glorified.

4 And they shall builde the olde waste places, and raise vp the former desolations, and they shal repaire the cities that were desolate & waste through many [h] generations.

5 And the strangers shall [i] stand and feede your sheepe, and the sonnes of the strangers shall be your plowmen and dressers of your vines.

6 But ye shalbe named [k] the Priestes of the Lord, and men shall say vnto you, The ministers of our God: Ye shal eate the [l] riches of the Gentiles, and shalbe exalted with their glory.

7 For your shame you shall receiue [m] double, and for confusion [n] they shall reioyce in [o] their portion: for in their land they shall possesse the [p] double: euerlasting ioy shalbe vnto them.

8 For I the Lord loue iudgement, and hate [q] robberie for burnt offring, and I wil direct their worke in trueth, and will make an euerlasting couenant with them.

9 And [r] their seede shalbe knowen among the Gentiles, and their budded among the people. All that see them, shall knowe them, that they are the seede which the Lord hath blessed.

10 [s] I will greatly reioyce in the Lord, & my soule shalbe ioyfull in my God: for he hath clothed me with the garments of saluation, and couered me with the robe of righteousnesse: hee hath decked me like a bridegrome, and as a bride tireth her selfe with her iewels.

11 For as the earth bringeth foorth her bud, and as the garden causeth to growe that which is sowen in it: so the Lord God wil cause righteousnesse to grow, and praise before all the heathen.

CHAP. LXII.

1 The great desire that the Prophets haue had for Christes comming. 5 The diligence of the Pastours to preach.

FOr Zions sake I wil not [a] hold my tongue, and for Ierusalems sake I will not rest, vntill the righteousnes thereof breake foorth as the [b] light, and saluation thereof as a burning lampe.

2 And the Gentiles shall see thy righteousnesse, and all Kings thy glory: and thou shalt bee called by [c] a new name, which the mouth of the Lord shall name.

3 Thou shalt also be [d] a crowne of glory in the hand of the Lord, & a royal diademe in the hand of thy God.

4 It shall no more be sayd vnto thee, [e] Forsaken, neither shall it be saide any more to thy land, Desolate, but thou shalt be called ‖ Hephzi-bah, and thy land ‖ Beulah: for the Lorde deliteth in thee, and thy land shall haue an [f] husband.

5 For as a yong man marrieth a virgine, so shal thy sonnes [g] marry thee: and as a bridegrome is glad of the bride, so shall thy God reioyce ouer thee.

6 I haue set [h] watchmen vpon thy walles, O Ierusalem, which all the day and all the night continually shall not cease: ye that are mindfull of the Lord, keepe not silence,

7 And giue him no rest, till he repaire and vntil he set vp Ierusalem the [k] praise of the world.

8 The Lord hath sworne by his right hand and by his strong arme, Surely I wil no more giue thy corne to bee meate for thine enemies, and surely the sonnes of the strangers shall not drinke thy wine, for the which thou hast laboured.

9 But they that haue gathered it, shall eate it, and praise the Lorde, and the gatherers thereof shal drinke it in the courts of my Sanctuary.

10 [l] Goe through, goe through the gates: prepare you the way for the people: cast vp, cast vp the way, and gather out the stones, and set vp a standart for the people.

11 Beholde, the Lorde hath proclaimed vnto the endes of the world: [m] tell the daughter Zion, Beholde, thy Sauiour commeth: beholde, his wages is with him, and [n] his worke is before him.

12 And they shall call them, The holy people, the redeemed of the Lorde, and thou shalt be named, A [o] citie sought out and not forsaken.

a The Prophet saith that he wil neuer cease to declare vnto the people the good tidings of their deliuerance.
b Til they haue full deliuerance: and this the Prophet speaketh to incourage all other ministers to the setting foorth of Gods mercies toward his Church.
c Thou shalt haue a more excellent fame then thou hast had hitherto.
d He shal esteeme thee as deare and precious, as a King doth his crowne.

i He exhorteth the ministers neuer to cease to call vpon God by prayer for the deliuerance of his Church, and to teach others to doe the same.
k For the restauration whereof all the worlde shall praise him.
l Signifying the great number that should come to the Church, and what meanes he would prepare for the restitution of the same, as Chap 57.14.
m Yee Prophets and ministers shew the people of this their deliuerance: which was chiefly meant of our saluation by Christ, Zach. 9. 9. matth. 21. 5.
n Hee shall haue all power to bring his purpose to passe, as Chap. 40.10.
o That is, one ouer whom God hath had a singular care to recouer her when she was lost.

CHAP. LXIII.

1 God shall destroy his enemies for his Churches sake. 7 Gods benefits towards his Church.

WHo is this that commeth [a] from Edom, with red garments from Bozrah? hee is glorious in his apparell, and walketh in his great strength. [b] I speake in righteousnesse, and am mightie to saue.

2 [c] Wherefore is thine apparel red, and thy garments like him that treadeth in the wine presse?

a This prophecie is against the Idumeans, and enemies which persecuted the Church, on whom God will take vengeance, and is here set foorth al bloody after that he hath destroyed them in Bozrah, the chiefe citie of the Idumeans: for these were the greatest enemies, and vnder the title of circumcision and the kinred of Abraham claimed to themselues the chiefe religion, and hated the true worshippers, Psalm. 137. 7.
b God answereth them that asked this question, Who is this? &c. and sayeth, Ye see nowe performed in deede the vengeance which my Prophets threatned.
c An other question to the which the Lord answereth.

3 Ihaue troden the wine presse alone, and of all people there was none with mee: for I will treade them in mine anger, and tread them vnder foote in my wrath, and their blood shalbe sprinkled vpon my garments, and I will staine all my rayment.

4 For the day of vengeance is in mine heart, and the [d] yeere of my redeemed is come.

5 And I looked, and there was none to helpe, and I wondered that there was none to vpholde: therefore mine owne [e] arme helped mee, and my wrath it selfe sustained me.

6 Therefore I will treade downe the people in my wrath, and make them [f] drunken in mine indignation, and wil bring downe their strength to the earth.

7 I will [g] remember the mercies of the Lorde and the praises of the Lorde according vnto all that the Lorde hath giuen vs, and for the great goodnesse toward the house of Israel, which hee hath giuen them according to his tender loue, and according to his great mercies.

8 For hee saide, Surely they are my [h] people, children that will not lie: so hee was their Sauiour.

9 In all their troubles hee was [i] troubled, and the Angel [g] of his presence saued them: in his loue and in his mercie he redeemed them, and he bare them and caried them alwayes continually.

10 But they rebelled and vexed his holy Spirit: therefore was hee turned to be their enemie, and he fought against them.

11 Then he [l] remembred the old time of Moses and his people, saying, Where is hee that brought them vp out of the Sea with the [m] shepheard of his sheepe? where is he that put his holy Spirit within [n] him?

12 Hee led them by the right hande of Moses: with his owne glorious arme, diuiding the water before them, to make himselfe an euerlasting Name.

13 Hee led them through the deepe, as an [o] horse in the wildernesse, that they should not stumble.

14 As the beast goeth downe into the valley, the Spirite of the Lord gaue them rest: so diddest thou leade thy people, to make thy selfe a glorious Name.

15 [p] Looke downe from heauen, and behold from the dwelling place of thine holines, and of thy glory. Where is thy [q] zeale and thy strength, the multitude of thy mercies, and of thy compassions? they are restrained from [r] me.

16 Doubtles thou art our Father: though Abraham be ignorant of vs, and Israel knowe vs not, yet thou, O Lord, art our Father, and our redeemer: thy Name is for euer.

17 O Lorde, why hast [t] thou made vs to erre from thy wayes? and hardened our heart from thy feare? Returne for thy [u] seruants sake, and for the tribes of thine inheritance.

18 The people of thine holinesse haue posd Shewing that when God punisheth his enemies, it is for the profite and deliuerance of his Church.
e God sheweth that he hath no neede of mans helpe for the deliuerance of his, and though men refuse to do their duetie through negligence, and ingratitude, yet he himselfe wil deliuer his Church, and punish the enemies, Reade Chap. 59.16.
f I will so astonish them and make them so giddy, that they shal not know which way to goe.
g The Prophet speaketh this to moue the people to remember Gods benefits in times past, that they may be confirmed in their troubles.
h For I did chuse them to be mine, that they should be holy, and not deceiue mine expectation.
i He bare their afflictions and griefes as though they had bene his owne.
k Which was a witnesse of Gods presence: and this may be referred to Christ, to whom belongeth the office of saluation.
l That is, the people of Israel being afflicted, called to remembrance Gods benefits, which he had bestowed vpon their fathers in times past.

CHAP. LXIIII.

1 The Prophet prayeth for the sinnes of the people. 6 Mans righteousnesse is like a filthy cloth.

1 The Prophet continueth his prayer, desiring God to declare his loue toward his Church by miracles, and mighty power, as he did in mount Sinai.
b Meaning, the raine, haile, fire, thunder, and lightnings.
c Saint Paul vseth the same kinde of admiration, 1 Cor. 2.9. marueiling at Gods great benefite he wed to his Church by the preaching of the Gospel.
d Thou shewedst fauour toward our fathers, when they trusted in thee, and walked after thy commandements.
e They considered thy great mercies.
f That is, in thy mercies, which he calleth the wayes of the Lord.
g Thou wilt haue pitie vpon vs.
h We are iustly punished and brought into captiuitie, because we haue prouoked thee to anger, and though we would excuse our selues, yet our righteousnes, and best vertues are before thee as vile cloutes, or, (as some reade), like the menstruous clothes of a woman. i Albeit, O Lord, by thy iust iudgement thou mayest vtterly destroy vs, as the potter may his pot, yet we appeale to thy mercies, whereby it hath pleased thee to adopt vs to be thy children. k For so the flesh iudgeth when God doeth not immediatly send succour. l Which were dedicate to thy seruice, and to call vpon thy Name. m Wherein we reioyced and worshipped thee, n That is, at the contempt of thine owne glory? though our sinnes haue deserued this, yet thou wilt not suffer thy glory thus to be diminished.

OH, that thou wouldest [a] breake the heauens, and come downe, and that the mountaines might melt at thy presence!

2 As the melting fire burned, as the fire caused [b] the waters to boyle, (that thou mightest declare thy Name to thy aduersaries) the people did tremble at thy presence.

3 When thou diddest terrible things, which wee looked not for, thou camest downe, and the mountaines melted at thy presence.

4 For since the beginning of the worlde they haue not [c] heard nor vnderstood with the eare, neither hath the eye seene another God beside thee, which doth so to him that waiteth for him.

5 Thou diddest meete him, [d] that reioyced in thee, and did iustly: they remembred thee in thy [e] wayes: beholde, thou art angry, for wee haue sinned: yet in [f] them [g] continuance, and we shalbe saued.

6 But wee haue all bene as an vncleane thing, and all our [h] righteousnes is as filthy cloutes, and we all doe fade like a leafe, and our iniquities like the winde haue taken vs away.

7 And there is none that calleth vpon thy Name, neither that stirreth vp himselfe to take holde of thee: for thou hast hid thy face from vs, and hast consumed vs because of our iniquities.

8 But now, O Lorde, thou art our Father: wee are the [i] clay, and thou art our potter, and wee all are the worke of thine handes.

9 Be not angry, O Lord, [k] aboue measure, neither remember iniquitie for euer: loe, we beseech thee beholde, we are all thy people.

10 [l] Thine holy cities lie waste: Zion is a wildernes, and Ierusalem a desert.

11 The House of our Sanctuary & of our glorie, [m] where our fathers praised thee, is burnt vp with fire, and all our pleasant things are wasted.

12 Wilt thou holde thy selfe still [n] at these things, O Lorde? wilt thou holde thy peace and afflict vs aboue measure?

CHAP. LXV.

1 The vocation of the Gentiles and the reiection of the Iewes. 13 The ioy of the elect, and the punishment of the wicked.

a Meaning, the Gentiles which knew not God, should seeke after him when he had mooued their hearts with his holy Spirite, Rom. 10.20.

I Haue bene sought of them that [a] asked not: I was found of them that sought mee not: I said, Beholde me, behold me, vnto a nation that called not vpon my Name.

4 Which remaine among the [f] graues, and lodge in the desarts, which eate [g] swines flesh, and the broth of things polluted are in their vessels.

5 Which say, [h] Stand apart, come not neere to mee: for I am holier then thou: these are a smoke in my wrath, and a fire that [i] burneth all the day.

6 Beholde, it is [k] written before me: I wil not keepe silence, but wil render it and recompense it into their bosome.

7 Your iniquities and the iniquities of your fathers shalbe [l] together (saith the Lorde) which haue burnt incense vpon the mountaines, & blasphemed mee vpon the hilles: therefore wil I measure their olde worke into their bosome.

8 Thus saith the Lorde, As the wine is founde in the cluster, and one saith, Destroy it not, for a [m] blessing is in it, so will I doe for my seruaunts sakes, that I may not destroy them whole.

9 But I will bring a seede out of Iaakob, and out of Iudah, that shal inherit my mountaine: and mine elect shall inherite it, and my seruants shall dwel there.

10 And [n] Sharon shalbe a sheepefolde, and the valley of Achor shalbe a resting place for the cattel of my people, that haue sought me.

11 But ye are they that haue forsaken the Lord and forgotten mine holy Mountaine, and haue prepared a table for the [o] multitude, and furnish the drinke offerings vnto the number.

12 Therfore wil I [p] number you to the sword, and al you shal bowe downe to the slaughter, because I called, and ye did not answere: I [q] spake, and ye heard not, but did euil in my sight, and did chuse that thing which I would not.

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, my seruants shal [r] eate, and ye shalbe hungry: beholde, my seruants shal drinke, and yee shall be thirstie: beholde, my seruants shal reioyce, and ye shalbe ashamed.

14 Beholde, my seruants shall sing for ioy of heart, and ye shal cry for sorow of heart, and shall howle for vexation of minde.

15 And ye shal leaue your name as a curse vnto my [s] chosen: for the Lorde God shall slay you, and call his seruants by [t] another name.

16 He that shal blesse in the [u] earth, shal blesse himselfe in the true God, and he that sweareth in the earth, shall sweare by the true God: for the former [x] troubles are forgotten, and shall surely hide themselues from mine eyes.

17 For loe, I wil create [y] newe heauens and a new earth: and the former shal not be remembred nor come into minde.

18 But be you glad and reioyce for euer in the things that I shall create. for beholde, I wil create Ierusalem as a reioycing, and her people as a ioye, z Meaning in this wonderfull reſtauration of the church, there ſhuld be no weakneſſe of youth, nor infirmities of age, but all ſhould be freſh, & flouriſhing: and this is accompliſhed in the heauenly Ieruſalem, when al ſinnes ſhall ceaſe, & the teares ſhall be wiped away.

a Whereby hee ſheweth that the infidels and vnrepentant ſinners haue no part of this benediction.

b He propoſeth to the faithfull the bleſſings which are contained in the Law, and ſo vnder temporall things comprehendeth the ſpirituall promiſes.

no more heard in her, nor the voyce of crying.

21 And they ſhall b build houſes, and inhabit them, and they ſhall plant vineyards, and eate the fruit of them.

22 They ſhall not build, and another inhabit they ſhall not plant, and another eate: for as the dayes of the tree are the dayes of my people, and mine elect ſhall inioy in olde age the worke of their hands.

23 They ſhall not labour in vaine, nor bring forth in feare: for they are the ſeed of the bleſſed of the Lord, and their buds with them.

24 Yea, before they call, I will anſwere, and whiles they ſpeake, I will heare.

25 The c wolfe and the lambe ſhall feed together, and the lion ſhall eate ſtraw like the bullocke: and to the ſerpent duſt ſhall be his meate. They ſhall no more hurt nor deſtroy in all mine holy mountaine, ſayth the Lord.

CHAP. LXVI.

1 God dwelleth not in temples made with hands. 3 He deſpiſeth ſacrifices done without mercie and faith. 5 God comforteth them that are troubled for his ſake. 19 The vocation of the Gentiles. 23 The perpetuall Sabbath. 24 The puniſhment of the wicked is euerlaſting.

THus ſayth the Lord, *The a heauen is my throne, and the earth is my footſtoole: where is that houſe that yee will build vnto me? and where is that place of my reſt?

2 For all theſe things hath mine hand made, b and all theſe things haue bene, ſayth the Lord: and to him wil I looke, euen to him that is poore, and of c a contrite ſpirit, and trembleth at my words.

3 He that killeth a bullocke, is as if he d ſlew a man: he that ſacrificeth a ſheepe, as if he cut off a dogges necke: he that offereth an oblation, as if he offered ſwines blood: he that remembreth incenſe, as if he bleſſed an idole: yea, they haue choſen their owne wayes, and their ſoule delighteth in their abominations.

4 Therefore will I e chuſe out their deluſions, and I will bring their feare vpon them, becauſe I called, and none would anſwere: I ſpake, and they would not heare: but they did euill in my ſight, and choſe the things which I would not.

5 Heare the word of the Lord, all yee that tremble at his f word, Your brethren that hated you, and caſt you out for my Names ſake, ſaid, Let the Lord be glorified: but he ſhall appeare to your ioy, and they ſhalbe aſhamed.

8 Who hath heard ſuch a thing? who hath ſeene ſuch things? ſhal the earth be brought forth in one i day? or ſhall a nation be borne at once? for aſſoone as Zion trauelled, ſhe brought foorth her children.

9 Shall I k cauſe to trauell, and not bring foorth? ſhall I cauſe to bring foorth, and ſhalbe barren, ſayth thy God?

11 That ye may ſucke l and be ſatisfied with the breſts of her conſolation: that ye may milke out and be delighted with the brightneſſe of her glorie.

12 For thus ſaith the Lord, Beholde, I will extend m peace over her like a flood, and the glory of the n Gentiles like a flowing ſtreame: then ſhall ye ſucke, ye ſhall be o borne vpon her ſides, & be ioyfull vpon her knees.

13 As one whom his mother comforteth, ſo will I comfort you, and ye ſhall be comforted in Ieruſalem.

14 And when ye ſee this, your hearts ſhall reioyce, and your p bones ſhall flouriſh like an herbe: and the hand of the Lord ſhall be knowen among his ſeruants, and his indignation againſt his enemies.

15 For beholde, the Lord will come with fire, and his charets like a whirlewinde, that he may q recompenſe his anger with wrath, and his indignation with the flame of fire.

16 For the Lord will iudge with fire, and with his ſword all fleſh, and the ſlaine of the Lord ſhall be many.

17 They that ſanctifie r themſelues, and purifie themſelues in the gardens behinde one tree in the middes eating f ſwines fleſh, and ſuch abomination, euen the mouſe, ſhall be conſumed together, ſaith the Lord,

20 And they ſhal bring all your f brethren for an offering vnto the Lord out of all nations, vpon g horſes, and in charets, and in horſe litters, and vpon mules, and ſwift beaſts, to Ieruſalem mine holy Mountaine, ſayth the Lord, as the children of Iſrael offer in a cleane veſſell in the Houſe of the Lord.

21 And I will take of them for h Prieſts, and for Leuites, ſayth the Lord.

a My maieſtie is ſo great that it filleth both heauen and earth, and therefore cannot be included in a temple like an idole: condemning hereby their vaine confidence, which truſted in the Temple and ſacrifices.

g The enemies ſhall ſhortly heare a more terrible voyce, euen fire and ſlaughter, ſeeing they would not heare the gentle voyce of the Prophets which called them to repentance.

h Meaning, that the reſtauration of the Church ſhould be ſo ſudden and contrarie to all mens opinions: as when a woman is deliuered before ſhe looked for it, and that without paine in trauell.

i This ſhall paſſe the capacitie of man to ſee ſuch a multitude that ſhall come vp at once, meaning vnder the preaching of the Goſpel, whereof they that came vp out of Babylon, were a figure.

k Declaring hereby, that as by his power and prodence woman trauelleth and is deliuered: ſo hath he power to bring forth his Church at his time appointed.

22 For as the newe i heauens, and the newe earth which I wil make, shall remaine before me, sayth the Lord, so shall your seed and your name continue.

23 And from moneth to moneth, and from Sabbath to Sabbath shall all flesh come to worship before me, saith the Lord.

k As he that declared y felicitie that shalbe within the Church for the cõfort of the godly, so doth he shew what horrible calamitie shall come to the wicked, that are out of the Church. l Meaning a continual torment of conscience, which shall euer gnaw them, & neuer suffer them to be at rest, Mar. 9.44. m This is the iust recompense for the wicked, which contemning God and his word, shalbe by Gods iust iudgement abhorred of all his creatures.

IEREMIAH.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe Prophet Ieremiah borne in the citie of Anathoth in the countrey of Beniamin, was the sonne of Hilkiah, whom some thinke to be he that found out the booke of the Law, and gaue it to Iosiah. This Prophet had excellent gifts of God, and most euident reuelations of prophesie. so that by the commandement of the Lord he began very yoong to prophesie, that is, in the thirteenth yeere of Iosiah, and continued eighteene yeeres vnder the said King, and three moneths vnder Iehoahaz, and vnder Iehoiakim eleuen yeeres and three moneths vnder Iehoiachin, and vnder Zedekiah eleuen yeeres: vnto the time that they were carried away into Babylon. So that this time amounteth to aboue fortie yeeres, besides the time that he prophesied after the captiuitie. In this booke he declareth with teares and lamentation the destruction of Ierusalem, and the captiuitie of the people, for their idolatrie, couetousnesse, subtiltie, cruelties, excesse, rebellion, and contempt of Gods word: and for the consolation of the Church, reueileth the iust time of their deliuerance. And here chiefly are to be considered three things. First the rebellion of the wicked, which waxe more stubburne and obstinate, when the Prophets doe admonish them most plainly of their destruction. Next how the Prophets and ministers of God ought not to be discouraged in their vocation, though they be persecuted and rigorously handled of the wicked for Gods cause. And thirdly though God shew his iust iudgement against the wicked, yet will he euer shew himselfe a preseruer of his Church, and when all meanes seeme to mans iudgement to be abolished, then will he declare himselfe victorious in preserving his.

CHAP. I.

1 In what time Ieremiah prophesied. 6 He acknowledgeth his imperfection, and is strengthened of the Lord. 11 The Lord sheweth him the destruction of Ierusalem. 17 He commandeth him to preach his word without feare.

THE a words of Ieremiah the sonne of b Hilkiah one of the Priests that were at c Anathoth in the land of Beniamin.

2 To whom the d word of the Lord came in the dayes of Iosiah the sonne of Amon King of Iudah in the thirteenth yeere of his reigne:

3 And also in the dayes of Iehoiakim the e sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah vnto the end of the eleuenth yeere of Zedekiah, the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, euen vnto the carrying away of Ierusalem captiue in the fift f moneth.

4 Then the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

5 Before I g formed thee in the wombe, I knew thee, and before thou camest out of the wombe, I sanctified thee, and ordeined thee to be a Prophet vnto the h nations.

6 Then said I, i Oh, Lord God, beholde, I can not speake, for I am a childe.

7 But the Lord said vnto me, Say not, I am a childe: for thou shalt goe to all that I shall send thee, and whatsoeuer I command thee, shalt thou speake.

8 Be not afrayd of their faces: for I am with thee to deliuer thee, saith the Lord.

9 Then the Lord stretched out his hand, and k touched my mouth, and the Lord said vnto me, Beholde, I haue put my words in thy mouth.

10 Beholde, this day haue I set thee ouer the l nations, and ouer the kingdomes, to plucke vp, and to root out, and to destroy, & throw downe, to build, and to plant.

11 After this the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, Ieremiah, what seest thou? And I said, I see a m rod of an almond tree.

12 Then sayd the Lord vnto mee, Thou hast seene aright: for I will hasten my word to performe it.

13 Againe the word of the Lorde came vnto me the second time, saying, What seest thou? And I sayd, I see a seething n pot looking out of the North.

14 Then sayd the Lord vnto mee, Out of the o North shall a plague be spread vpon all the inhabitants of the land.

15 For loe, I will call all the families of the kingdomes of the North, saith the Lord, and they shall come, and euery one shall set his throne in the entring of the gates of Ierusalem, and on all the walles thereof round about, and in all the cities of Iudah.

16 And I will declare vnto them my p iudgements touching all the wickednesse of them that haue forsaken me, and haue burnt incense vnto other gods, and worshipped the works of their owne hands.

17 Thou therefore trusse vp thy loines, and arise and speake vnto them all that I command a That is, the sermons and prophesies.

b Which is thought to be he that found the booke of the Law vnder King Iosiah, 2. King. 22 8.
c This was a citie about three miles distant from Ierusalem, and belonged to the Priests, the sonnes of Aaron, Iosh. 21. 18.
d This is spoken to confirme his vocation and office: forasmuch as he did not presume of himselfe to preach and prophesie, but was called thereunto by God.
e Meaning, the nephew of Iosiah: for Iehoahaz was his father, who reigned but three moneths, & therefore is not mentioned, no more is Ioachin that reigned no longer. f Of the eleuenth yeere of Zedekiah, who was also called Mattaniah, and at this time the Iewes were carried away into Babylon by Nebuchad-nezzar. g The scripture vseth this maner of speech, to declare that God hath appointed his ministers to their offices before they were borne, as Isa. 49 1. gal 1. 15. h For Ieremiah did not onely prophesie against the Iewes, but also against the Egyptians, Babylonians, Moabites, and other nations. i Considering the great iudgements of God, which according to his threatnings should come vpon the world, he was moued with a certeine compassion on the one side to pitie them that should thus perish, and on the other side by the infirmitie of mans nature, knowing how hard a thing it was to enterprise such a charge, as Isa. 6. 11. Exod 3. 11. and 4. 1.

k Which declareth, that God maketh them meet, and assureth them, whom he calleth to set foorth his glory: giuing them all meanes necessarie for the same, Exod. 4. 12. Isa. 6. 7.
l Here he sheweth what is the authoritie of Gods true ministers, which by his word haue power to beate downe whatsoeuer lifteth it selfe vp against God: and to plant and assure the humble, and such as giue themselues to the obedience of Gods word. 2. Corinth. 10 4. Ebr. 4. 12. and these are the keyes which Christ hath left to lose & bind, Matth. 18. 18.
m Hee ioyneth the signe with the word for a more ample confirmation: signifying by the rod of the almond tree, which first buddeth, the hastie comming of the Babylonians n Signifying that the Caldeans, and Assyrians should be as a pot to seethe the Iewes, which boiled in their pleasures and lusts. o Syria and Assyria were Northward in respect of Ierusalem, which were the Caldeans dominion. p I will giue them charge and power to execute my vengeance against the idolaters, which haue forsaken me for their idoles.

thee:

thee: be not afraid of their faces, least I q destroy thee before them.

18 For I, behold, I this day haue made thee a defenced citie, and an r yron pillar and walles of brasse against the whole land, against the Kings of Iudah, and against the princes thereof, against the Priestes thereof, and against the people of the land.

19 For they shall fight against thee, but they shall not preuaile against thee: for I am with thee to deliuer thee, saith the Lord.

q Which declareth that Gods vengeance is prepared against the, which dare not execute their duetie faithfully, either for feare of man, or for any other cause, 1. Cor. 9. 16.

r Signifying, on the one part, that the more that Satan, and the world rage against Gods ministers, the more present will he be to helpe them, Iosh. 1. 5. heb. 13. 5. and on the other part, that they are vtterly vnmeete to serue God, and his Church, which are afraid, and do not resist wickednes, whatsoeuer danger depend thereon, Isa. 50. 7. Ezek. 3 8.

CHAP. II.

2 God rehearseth his benefites done vnto the Iewes. 8 Against the Priestes and false prophets. 12 The Iewes are destroyed, because they forsake God.

MOreouer, the word of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

2 Goe, and cry in the eares of Ierusalem, saying, Thus saith the Lord, I remember thee, with the a kindnesse of thy youth, & the loue of thy mariage, when thou wentest after me in the wildernesse b in a land that was not sowen.

3 Israel was as a thing c halowed vnto the Lord, & his first fruites: all they d that eat it, shall offend: euil shal come vpon them, saith the Lord.

4 Heare ye the word of the Lord, O house of Iaakob, and al the families of the house of Israel.

5 Thus saith the Lord, What iniquitie haue your fathers found in mee, that they are gone e farre from me, and haue walked after vanitie, and are become f vaine?

6 For they said not, Where is the Lorde that brought vs vp out of the land of Egypt? that led vs through the wildernesse, through a desert, and waste land, through a drie land, and g by the shadow of death, by a land that no man passed thorow, and where no man dwelt?

7 And I brought you into a plentifull countrey, to eate the fruit thereof, & the commodities of the same: but when ye entred, ye defiled h my land, and made mine heritage an abomination.

8 The Priests said not, i Where is the Lord? and they that should minister the k Lawe, knewe me not: the l pastours also offended against mee, and the Prophets prophecied in m Baal, and went after things that did not profite.

9 Wherefore I will yet n pleade with you, saith the Lorde, and I will pleade with your childrens children.

10 For go ye to the yles of o Chittim, and behold, and send vnto p Kedar, and take diligent heede, and see whether there be such things.

11 Hath any nation changed their gods, which yet are no gods? but my people haue changed their q glory, for that which doeth not r profite.

12 O ye heauens, be astonied at this: be afraid and vtterly confounded, saith the Lord.

13 For my people haue committed two euils:

a According to that grace and fauor, which I shewed thee from the beginning, when I did first chuse thee to be my people, and married thee to my selfe, Ezek. 16. 8.

b When I had deliuered thee out of Egypt.

c Chosen aboue all other to serue the Lord only, and the first offered to the Lord of all other nations.

d Whosoeuer did challenge this people, or else did annoy them, was punished.

e That is, fallen to most vile idolatry.

f Altogether giuen to vanitie, and are become blinde and insensible as the idoles that they serue.

g Where for lacke of all things necessary for life, yee could look for nothing euery houre but present death.

h By your idolatrie, and wicked maners, Psal 78. 58. and 106 38.

i They taught not the people to seeke after God.

k As the Scribes, which should haue expounded the Lawe to the people.

l Meaning, the princes and ministers: signifying, that all estates were corrupt.

m That is, spake vaine things, and brought the people from the true worship of God to serue idoles: for by Baal, which was the chiefe idole of the Moabites, are meant all idoles.

n Signifying, that he would not as he might, straightway condemne them, but he weth them by euident examples their great ingratitude, that they might bee ashamed, and repent.

o Meaning, the Grecians and Italians.

p Vato Arabia.

q That is, God which is their glory, and who maketh them glorious aboue all other people: reproouing the Iewes, that they were lesse diligent to serue the true God, then were the idolaters to honour their vanities.

r Meaning, the idoles, which were their destruction, Psal 106 36.

s He sheweth, that the insensible creatures abhorre this vile ingratitude, and as it were, tremble for feare of Gods great iudgements against the same.

14 Is Israel a u seruant, or is hee borne in the house? why then is he spoyled?

15 The x lyons roared vpon him and yelled, and they haue made his lande waste: his cities are burnt without y an inhabitant.

16 Also the children of z Noph and Tahapanes haue a broken thine head.

17 Hast not thou procured this vnto thy selfe, because thou hast forsaken the Lorde thy God, when he b led thee by the way?

18 And what hast thou now to doe in the way of c Egypt? to drinke the water of Nilus? or what makest thou in the way of Assiur? to drinke the water of the d Riuer?

19 Thine owne wickednes shal e correct thee, and thy turnings backe shal reproue thee: know therefore and beholde, that it is an euil thing, and bitter, that thou hast forsaken the Lord thy God, and that my feare is not in thee, saith the Lorde God of hostes.

20 For of olde time I haue broken thy yoke, and burst thy bonds, and thou sayedst, f I will no more transgresse, but like an harlot thou runnest about vpon al hie hilles, & vnder all greene trees.

21 Yet I had planted thee, a noble vine, whose † plants were all naturall: how then art thou turned vnto me into the plants of a strange vine?

22 Though thou wash thee with g nitre, and take thee much sope, yet thine iniquity is marked before me, saith the Lord God.

23 How canst thou say, I am not polluted, neither haue I h followed Baalim? beholde thy wayes in the valley, and know, what thou hast done: thou art like a swift i dromedary, that runneth by his wayes.

24 And as a wilde k asse, vsed to the wildernesse, that snuffeth vp the winde by occasion at her pleasure: who can turne her backe? all they that seeke her, will not wearie themselues, but will finde her in her l moneth.

25 Keepe thou thy feet fro m barrennes, & thy throte from thirst: but thou saidst desperately, No, for I haue loued strangers, & them will I follow.

26 As the n thiefe is ashamed when hee is found, so is the house of Israel ashamed, they, their kings, their Princes, and their Priests, and their Prophets, 27 Saying to a tree, Thou art my o father, and to a stone, Thou hast begotten me: for they haue turned their backe vnto me, and not their face: but in the time of their trouble they wil say, Arise, and helpe vs.

28 But where are thy gods, that thou hast made thee? let them arise, if they can helpe thee

t Signifying that when men forsake Gods worde, which is the fountaine of life, they reiect God himselfe, and so fall to their owne inuentions, and vaine confidence, and procure to themselues destruction, Iona 2. 8. zecha. 10. 2.

u Haue I ordered them like seruants, and not like dearely beloued children? Exod. 4 22. therfore it is their fault onely, if the enemy spoile them.

x The Babylonians, Caldeans, and Assirians.

y Not one shalbe left to dwel there.

z That is, the Egyptians: for these were two great cities in Egypt.

a Haue grieuously vexed thee at sundry times.

b Shewing, that God would haue still led the aright, if they would haue followed him.

c To seeke helpe of man, as though God were not able enough to defend thee, which is to drinke of the puddles, and to leaue the fountaine, reade Isa. 31. 1.

d To wit, Euphrates.

e Meaning, that the wicked are insensible till the punishment for their sinne waken them, as vers. 2 6. Isa 3. 9.

f When I deliuered thee out of Egypt, Exod. 19. 8. deu. 5. 27. Iosh. 24. 6 ezr. 10. 12. neh. 8. 6.

g Though thou vse all the purifications & ceremonies of the Law, thou canst not escape punishment, except thou turne to me by faith, and repentance.

h Meaning, that hypocrites denie that they worship the idoles, but that they honour God in them and therefore they call their doings Gods seruice. i He compareth the idolaters to these beasts, because they neuer cease running to and fro: for both valleys and hilles are full of their idolatrie. k He compareth the idolaters to a wilde asse: for she can neuer be tamed, nor yet wearied: for as she runneth, she can take her winde at euery occasion. l That is, when she is with foale, and therefore the hunters wait their time: so though thou canst not be turned backe now from thine idolatrie, yet when thine iniquitie shall be at the full, God will meet with thee. m Hereby he warneth them that they should not goe into strange countreys to seeke helpe: for they should but spend their labour, and hurt themselues, which is heere meant by the bare foot and thirst. Isa. 57. 10. n As a thiefe will not acknowledge his fault, till he be taken with the deed, and ready to be punished, so they will not confesse their idolatrie, till the plagues due to the same light vpon them. o Meaning, that idolaters spoyle God of his honour: and whereas he hath taught to call him the father of all flesh, they attribute this title to their idoles.

p Thou thoughteſt that thy gods of blocks & ſtones could haue holpen thee, becauſe they were many in number & preſent in euery place: but nowe let vs ſee whether either the multitude, or their preſence can deliuer thee from my plague, chap. 11.13.

q As though I did you iniurie in puniſhing you ſeeing that your faultes are ſo euident.

r That is, you haue killed your Prophets that exhorted you to repentance, as Zechariah, Iſaiah, &c.

ſ Haue I not giuen them abundance of all things?

t But will truſt in our owne power and policie.

u With ſtrangers.

x The Prophets and the faithfull are ſlaine in euery corner of your countrey.

y For the Aſſyrians had taken away the ten tribes out of Iſrael, and deſtroyed Iudah euen vnto Ieruſalem: and the Egyptians ſlewe Ioſiah and vexed the Iewes in ſundry ſortes.

z In ſigne of lamentation, as 2. Sam. 13.19.

in the time of thy trouble: for according to the number of thy cities, are thy gods, O Iudah.

29 Wherefore will q ye plead with me? ye all haue rebelled againſt me, ſaith the Lord.

30 I haue ſmitten your children in vaine, they receiued no correction: your r owne ſword hath deuoured your Prophets like a deſtroying lyon.

31 O generation, take heede to the worde of the Lord: haue I bene as a ſ wildernes vnto Iſrael? or a land of darkeneſſe? Wherefore ſaith my people then, We are lordes, t we will come no more vnto thee?

32 Can a maid forget her ornament, or a bride her attire? yet my people haue forgotten mee, dayes without number.

33 Why doeſt thou prepare thy way, to u ſeeke amitie? euen therefore will I teach thee, that thy wayes are wickednes.

34 Alſo in thy x wings is found the blood of the ſoules of the poore innocents: I haue not found it in holes, but vpon all theſe places.

35 Yet thou ſayeſt, Becauſe I am guiltleſſe, ſurely his wrath ſhall turne from me: Behold, I wil enter with thee into iudgement, becauſe thou ſayeſt, I haue not ſinned.

36 Why runneſt thou about ſo much to change thy wayes? for thou ſhalt be confounded of Egypt, y as thou art confounded of Aſſhur.

37 For thou ſhalt goe foorth from thence, and thine handes vpon z thine head, becauſe the Lord hath reiected thy confidence, and thou ſhalt not proſper thereby.

CHAP. III.

God calleth his people vnto repentance. 14 Hee promiſeth the reſtitution of his Church. 20 He reproueth Iudah and Iſrael, comparing them to a woman diſobedient to her huſband.

a According as it is written, Deut. 24.4.

b If he take ſuch one to wife again.

c That is, with idoles, and with them, whome thou haſt put thy confidence in.

d And I will not caſt thee off, but receiue thee, according to my mercy.

e Which dwelleth in tentes, and waiteth for them that paſſe by to ſpoyle them.

f As God threatned by his Lawe, Deut. 28.24.

g Thou wouldeſt neuer be aſhamed of thine actes and repent: and this impudencie is common to idolatrie, which wil not giue off, though they be neuer ſo manifeſtly conuicted.

h He ſheweth that the wicked in their miſeries will cry vnto God, and vſe outward prayer as the godly do, but becauſe they turne not from their euil, they are not heard, Iſa. 58.3,4.

i Meaning, the ten tribes.

THey a ſay, If a man put away his wife, and ſhe goe from him, and become another mans, ſhall he returne againe vnto her? ſhall not this land b be polluted? but thou haſt played the harlot with many c louers: yet d turne againe to me, ſaith the Lord.

2 Lift vp thine eies vnto the hie places, & behold, where thou haſt not played the harlot: thou haſt ſit waiting for them in the wayes, as the e Arabian in the wildernes: and thou haſt polluted the lande with thy whoredomes, and with thy malice.

3 Therefore the ſhowres haue bene reſtrained, and the f latter raine came not, and thou haddeſt a g whores forehead: thou wouldeſt not bee aſhamed.

4 Diddeſt thou not ſtil cry h vnto mee, Thou art my father, and the guide of my youth?

5 Wil he keepe his anger for euer? wil hee reſerue it to the ende? thus haſt thou ſpoken, but thou doeſt euil, euen more and more.

6 The Lord ſaid alſo vnto mee, in the dayes of Ioſiah the King, Haſt thou ſeene what this rebel i Iſrael hath done? for ſhe hath gone vp vpon euery high mountaine, and vnder euery greene tree, and there played the harlot.

7 And I ſaid, when ſhe had done al this, Turne thou vnto me: but ſhe returned not, as her rebellious ſiſter Iudah ſawe.

8 When I ſawe, howe that by all occaſions rebellious Iſrael had played the harlot, I caſt k her away, and gaue her a bil of diuorcement: yet her rebellious ſiſter Iudah was not afraide, but ſhee went alſo, and played the harlot.

9 So that for the l lightnes of her whoredome ſhe hath euen defiled the land: for ſhe hath committed fornication with ſtones and ſtockes.

10 Neuertheleſſe for al this, her rebellious ſiſter Iudah hath not returned vnto mee with m her whole heart, but fainedly, ſaith the Lord.

11 And the Lord ſaid vnto me, The rebellious Iſrael hath n iuſtified herſelfe more then the rebellious Iudah.

12 Goe and cry theſe wordes towarde o the North and ſay, Thou diſobedient Iſrael, returne, ſaith the Lorde, and I wil not let my wrath fal vpon you: for I am merciful, ſaith the Lorde, and I wil not alway keepe mine anger.

13 But knowe thine iniquitie: for thou haſt rebelled againſt the Lord thy God, and haſt ſcattered thy wayes to the ſtrange gods vnder euery greene tree, but yee would not obey my voyce, ſaith the Lord.

14 O ye diſobedient children, turne againe, ſayth the Lord, for I am your Lord, and I wil take you one of a citie, and two of a tribe, & wil bring you to Zion, 15 And I will giue you paſtours according to mine heart, which ſhal feed you with knowledge and vnderſtanding.

16 Moreouer, when ye be increaſed and multiplied in the land, in thoſe dayes, ſayth the Lord, they ſhall ſay no more, The q Arke of the couenant of the Lord: for it ſhall come no more to minde, neither ſhall they remember it, neither ſhall they viſit it, for that ſhall be no more done.

17 At that time they ſhal call Ieruſalem, r The throne of the Lord, & all the nations ſhall be gathered vnto it, euen to the Name of the Lord in Ieruſalem: and thenceforth they ſhall follow no more the hardneſſe of their wicked heart.

18 In thoſe dayes the houſe of Iudah ſhall walke with the houſe of Iſrael, & they ſhall come together out of the land of the ſ North, into the land, that I haue giuen for an inheritance vnto your fathers.

19 But I ſayd, How did I take thee for children and giue thee a pleaſant land, euen the glorious heritage of the armies of the heathen, and ſayd, Thou ſhalt call me, ſaying, My father, and ſhalt not turne from me?

20 But as a woman rebelleth againſt her t huſband: ſo haue ye rebelled againſt me, O houſe of Iſrael, ſayth the Lord.

21 u A voice was heard vpon the high places, weeping and ſupplications of the children of Iſrael: for they haue peruerted their way, and forgotten the Lord their God.

22 O ye diſobedient children, returne, and I will heale your rebellions, x Behold, we come vnto thee, for thou art the Lord our God.

23 Truely the hope of the hilles u but vaine, nor the multitude of mountaines: but in the Lord our God is the health of Iſrael.

24 For confuſion hath deuoured our y fathers labor, from our youth, their ſheepe and their bullocks, their ſonnes and their daughters.

25 Wee lie downe in our confuſion, and our ſhame k And gaue her into the hands of the Aſſyrians.

l The Ebrewe word may either ſignifie lightneſſe and wantonnes, or noiſe and bruite.

m Iudah fained for a time that ſhe did returne, as vnder Ioſiah and other good Kings, but ſhe was neuer truely touched, or wholy reformed, as appeared when occaſion was offered by any wicked prince.

n Iſrael hath not declared her ſelfe ſo wicked as Iudah, which yet hath had more admonitions and examples to cal her to repentance.

o Whereas the Iſraelites were now kept in captiuitie by the Aſſyrians, to whom he promiſeth mercie, if they wil repent.

p There was no way, which thou diddeſt not haunt to ſeeke after the idoles, and to trot a pilgrimage.

q This is to be vnderſtood of the comming of Chriſt: for then they ſhall not ſeeke the Lord by ceremonies, and all figures ſhall ceaſe.

r Meaning the Church, where the Lord will be preſent to the worldes end, Matt. 28.20.

ſ Where they are now in captiuitie.

t The Ebrew word ſignifieth a friend or companion, and here may be taken for a husband, as it is vſed alſo, Hoſea 3.1.

u Signifying, that God, whom they had forſaken, wouldе bring their enemies vpon them, who ſhould leade them captiue and make them to crie and lament.

x This is ſpoken in the perſon of Iſrael to the ſhame of Iudah, which ſtayed ſo long to turne vnto God.

y For their idolatrie Gods vengeance hath light vpon them & theirs.

z They iustifie not themselues, or say that they would follow their fathers, but condemne their wicked Psalme 106.6. Isa.64.6.

shame coueredth vs : z for we haue sinned against the Lord our God, we and our fathers from our youth, euen vnto this day, and haue not obeyed the voice of the Lord our God.

CHAP. IIII.

1 True repentance. 4 He exhorteth to the circumcision of the heart. 5 The destruction of Iudah is propheſied, for the malice of their hearts. 19 The Prophet lamenteth it.

a That is, wholly, and without hypocrisie, Ioel 2.12. not dissembling to turne and serue God as they doe which serue him b, halfes, as Hoſe 7.16.

b Thou shalt detest the name of idoles, Psal.16.4. and shalt with reuerence sweare by the liuing God, when thine othe may aduā-ce Gods glory, and profit others: and he re, by sweating hee meaneth the true religion of God.

c He willeth them to plucke vp the impietie and wicked affection and worldly respects out of their heart, that the true seed of Gods worde may be sowen therein, Hoſ.10.12. and this is the true circumcision of the heart, Deut.10.16 rom.2.29.col.2.11.

d Hee warneth them of the great dangers that shall come vpon them by the Caldeans, except they repent and turne to the Lord.

e Hee speaketh this to admonish them of the great danger when euerie man shall prepare to saue himselfe, but it shall be too late, Ier.25.4.

f Meaning Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babylon, 2.Kin 24.1.

g That is, the false prophets which still propheſied peace & security.

h By the false prophets which promised peace and tranquillitie: and thus thou hast punished their rebellious stubbornes by causing them to hearken vnto lies which would not beleeue thy trueth, 1.King 22.23. Ezek.14.9 2 Thess 2.11.

i The Northwinde whereby he meaneth Nebuchad nezzar. k But to carie away both corne and chaffe. l Meaning, that Nebuchad-nezzar should come as suddenly, as a cloud that is caried with the winde. m This is spoken in the person of all the people, who in their affliction should crie thus. n Which was a citie in the vtmost border of Israel Northward toward Babylon. o Which was in the mid way betweene Dan and Ierusalem.

O Israel, if thou returne, a returne vnto me, sayth the Lord: and if thou put away thine abominations out of my sight, then shalt thou not remooue.

2 And thou shalt b sweare, the Lord liueth in trueth, in iudgement, and in righteousnesse, and the nations shalbe blessed in him, and shall glory in him.

3 For thus saith the Lord to the men of Iudah, and to Ierusalem,

4 Breake vp c your fallow ground, and sowe not among the thornes: be circumcised to the Lord, and take away the foreskinnes of your hearts, ye men of Iudah, and inhabitants of Ierusalem, lest my wrath come foorth like fire, and burne, that none can quench it, because of the wickednesse of your inuentions.

5 d Declare in Iudah, and shew foorth in Ierusalem, and say, Blowe the trumpet in the land: crie, and gather together, and say, Assemble your selues, and let vs goe into strong cities.

6 Set vp the standerd in Zion : e prepare to flee, and stay not: for I will bring a plague from the North, and a great destruction.

7 The f lyon is come vp from his denne, and the destroyer of the Gentiles is departed, & gone foorth of his place to lay thy land waste, and thy cities shalbe destroyed without an inhabitant.

8 Wherefore gird you with sackecloth : lament, and howle, for the fierce wrath of the Lord is not turned backe from vs.

9 And in that day, sayth the Lord, the heart of the king shall perish, and the heart of the princes and the Priests shalbe astonished, and the g Prophets shall woonder.

10 Then sayd I, Ah, Lord God, surely thou hast h deceiued this people, and Ierusalem, saying, Ye shall haue peace, and the sword pearceth vnto the heart.

11 At that time shall it be sayd to this people and to Ierusalem, A drie i winde in the hie places of the wildernesse commeth toward the daughter of my people, but neither k to fan nor to cleanse.

12 A mighty winde shall come vnto me from those places, and now will I also giue sentence vpon them.

13 Beholde, he shall come vp as the l clouds, and his charets shalbe as a tempest: his horses are lighter then egles. m Woe vnto vs, for wee are destroyed.

14 O Ierusalem, wash thine heart from wickednes, that thou mayest be saued: how long shal thy wicked thoughts remaine within thee?

15 For a voice declareth from n Dan, and publisheth affliction from mount o Ephraim.

16 Make ye mention of the heathen, and publish in Ierusalem, Beholde, the skouts come from a farre countrey, and crie out against the cities of Iudah.

17 They haue compassed her about as the watchmen of the p field, because it hath prouoked me vnto wrath, sayth the Lord.

18 Thy wayes and thine inuentions haue procured thee these things, such is thy wickednesse: therefore it shall be bitter, therefore it shal pierce vnto thine heart.

19 My belly, q my belly, I am pained, euen at the very heart: mine heart is troubled within me: I cannot be still: for my soule hath heard the sound of the trumpet, and the alarme of the battell.

20 Destruction vpon destruction is cried, for the whole land is wasted: suddenly are my r tents destroyed, and my curtaines in a moment.

21 How long shall I see the standerd, & heare the sound of the trumpet?

22 For my people is foolish, they haue not knowen me: they are foolish children, and haue none vnderstanding: s they are wise to doe euill, but to doe well they haue no knowledge.

23 I haue looked vpon the earth, and lo, it was without forme and t voyd: and to the heauens, and they had no light.

24 I beheld the mountaines: and loe, they trembled, and all the hilles shooke.

25 I beheld, and loe, there was no man, and all the birds of the heauen were departed.

26 I beheld, and loe, the fruitfull place was a wildernesse, and all the cities thereof were broken downe at the presence of the Lord, and by his fierce wrath.

27 For thus hath the Lord sayd, The whole land shalbe desolate: yet will I u not make a full end.

28 Therefore shall the earth mourne, and the heauens aboue shall be darkened, because I haue pronounced it: I haue thought it, and will not repent, neither will I turne backe from it.

29 The whole citie shall flee, for the noyse of the horsemen and bowe men: they shall goe into thickets, and clime vp vpon the rocks: euery city shalbe forsaken, and not a man dwell therein.

30 And when thou shalt be destroyed, what wilt thou doe? Though thou x clothest thy selfe with skarlet, though thou deckest thee with ornaments of golde, though thou paintest thy face with colours, yet shalt thou trimme thy selfe in vaine: for thy louers will abhorre thee and seeke thy life.

31 For I haue heard a noise as of a woman trauelling, or as one labouring of her first child, euen the voyce of the daughter Zion that sigheth and stretcheth out her hands: y woe is me now: for my soule fainteth because of the murtherers.

p Which keepe the fruits so streitly, that nothing can come in nor out: so should the Babylonians compasse Iudah.

q He sheweth that the true ministers are liuely touched with the calamities of the Church, so that all the parts of their body feele the griefe of their heart, albeit with zeale to Gods glory they pronounce his iudgements against the people.

r Meaning, the cities, which were as easily cast downe as a tent.

s Their wisdome and policie tend to their owne destruction, & polleth them from God.

t By these maner of speeches hee sheweth the horrible destruction that should come vpon the land, and also condemneth the obstinacie of the people, who repent not at the feare of these terrible tidings, seeing that the insensible creatures are moued therewith, as if the order of nature should be changed, Isa.13.10. and 24.23. Eze.32.7. Ioel 2.31. & 3.15.

u But for his mercies sake he will reserue himselfe a residue to be his Church, and to praise him in earth, Isai.2.9.

x Neither thy ceremonies nor rich gifts shall deliuer thee.

y As the Prophets were moued to pitie the destruction of their people, so they declared it to the people to moue them to repentance, Isai. 22.4. chap.9.1.

CHAP. V.

1 In Iudah no righteous man is found neither among the people nor the rulers. 15 Wherefore Iudah is destroyed of the Caldeans.

a That is, the city.

b Though they pretend religion and holinesse, yet all is but hypocrisie: for vnder this kinde of swearing is conteined the true religion.

RVnne to and fro by the streets of Ierusalem, and beholde now, and know, and inquire in the open places thereof, if ye can finde a man, or if there be any that executeth iudgement, and seeketh the trueth, and I will spare a it.

2 For though they say, The b Lord liueth, yet doe they sweare falsely.

3 O Lord,

3 O Lord, are not thine eyes vpon the c truth? thou hast d striken them, but they haue not sorowed: thou hast consumed them, but they haue refused to receiue correction: they haue made their faces harder then a stone, and haue refused to returne.

c Doeth not thou loue vprightnesse and faithfull dealing?
d Thou hast oft times punished them, but all is in vaine, Isa. 9. 13.

4 Therefore I said, Surely they are poore, they are foolish, for they know not the way of the Lord, nor the iudgement of their God.

5 I will get me vnto the e great men, and will speake vnto them: for they haue knowen the way of the Lord, and the iudgement of their God: but these haue altogether broken the yoke, and burst the bondes.

e Hee speaketh this to the reproch of them, which should gouerne and teach others, and yet are farther out of the way then the simple people.

6 Wherefore f a lyon out of the forest shall slay them, and a wolfe of the wildernesse shall destroy them: a leopard shal watch ouer their cities: euery one that goeth out thence, shalbe torne in pieces, because their trespasses are many, and their rebellions are increased.

f Meaning, Nebuchad nezzar and his annie.

7 How should I spare thee for this? thy children haue forsaken me, & g sworne by them that are no gods: though I fed them to the full, yet they committed adulterie, and assembled themselues by companies in the harlots houses.

g Hee sheweth that to sweare by any thing then by God, is to forsake him.

8 They rose vp in the morning like fed horses: for euery man * neyed after his neighbours wife.

* Ezek. 22. 11.

9 Shall I not visit for these things, sayth the Lord? shall not my soule be auenged on such a nation as this?

10 h Clime vp vpon their walles, and destroy them, but make not a full end: i take away their batlements, for they are not the Lords.

h He commandeth the Babylonians and enemies to destroy them.
i Reade Chap. 4. 27.

11 For the house of Israel, and the house of Iudah haue grieuously trespassed against me, sayth the Lord.

12 They haue k denied the Lord, and sayd, It is not he, neither shall the plague come vpon vs, neither shall we see sword nor famine.

k Because they gaue no credit to the words of his Prophets, as Isa. 28. 15.

13 And the Prophets shalbe as l winde, & the word is m not in them: thus shall it come vnto them.

l Their wordes shall be of none effect, but vaine.
m They are not sent of the Lord, and therefore that which they threaten to vs, shal come vpon them.

14 Wherefore thus sayth the Lord God of hosts, Because ye speake such words, Beholde, I will put my words into n thy mouth, like a fire, and this people shall be as wood, and it shall deuour them.

n Meaning, Ieremiah.

15 Loe, I will bring a nation vpon you, o from farre, O house of Israel, saith the Lord, which is a mightie nation, and an ancient nation, a nation whose language thou knowest not, neither vnderstandest what they say.

o Meaning, the Babylonians and Caldeans.

16 Whose quiuer is as an p open sepulchre: they are all very strong.

p Who shall kill many with their arrowes.

17 And they shall eate thine haruest and thy bread they shall deuour: thy sonnes & thy daughters: they shall eate vp thy sheepe and thy bullocks: they shall eate thy vines and thy fig trees: they shall destroy with the sword thy fenced cities, wherein thou didst trust.

18 Neuertheless, at those dayes, saith the Lord, I will not make a full end of q you.

q Here the Lord declareth his vnspeakeable fauour toward his church, as Chap. 4. 27.
* Lhap. 16. 10.

19 And when * ye shall say, Wherefore doth the Lord our God doe these things vnto vs? then shalt r thou answere them, Like as ye haue forsaken me and serued strange gods in your land, so shall ye serue strangers in a land that is not yours.

r Meaning, the Prophet Ieremiah.

20 Declare this in the house of Iaakob, and publish it in Iudah, saying, 21 Heare now this, O foolish people, and † without vnderstanding, which haue * eyes and see not, which haue eares and heare not.

* Isa. 6. 9. matth. 13. 14. act. 28. 27. rom. 11. 8.

22 Feare ye not me, saith the Lord? or will ye not be afrayd at my presence, which haue placed the sand for the * bounds of the sea by the perpetuall decree that it cannot passe it, and though the waues thereof rage, yet can they not preuaile, though they roare, yet can they not passe ouer it?

* Iob. 26. 10.

23 But this people hath an vnfaithfull and rebellious heart: they are departed and gone.

24 For they say not in their heart, Let vs now feare the Lord our God, that giueth raine both earely and late in due season: hee reserueth vnto vs the appointed weeks of the haruest.

25 Yet your s iniquities haue turned away these things, and your sinnes haue hindred good things from you.

s If there be any stay, that we receiue not Gods blessings in abundance, wee must consider that it is for our owne iniquities, Isa. 59. 1, 2.

26 For among my people are found t wicked persons, that lay wait as he that setteth snares: they haue made a pit, to catch men.

27 As a cage is full of birds, so are the houses full of deceit: thereby they are become great and waxen rich.

28 They are waxen fat and shining: they doe ouerpasse the deeds of the wicked: * they execute no iudgement, no not the iudgement of the fatherlesse: yet they t prosper, though they execute no iudgement for the poore.

* Isa. 1. 23. zech. 7. 9.
t They feele not the plague of God for it.

29 Shall I not visit for these things, sayth the Lord? or shall not my soule be auenged on such a nation as this?

30 An horrible and filthie thing is committed in the land.

31 The u Prophets prophesie lies, & the Priests ‖ receiue gifts in their hands, and my people delight therein. What will ye then doe in the end thereof?

u Meaning, that there could be nothing but disorder, where the ministers were wicked persons and corrupt.
‖ Or, beare rule.

CHAP. VI.

1 The comming of the Assyrians and Caldeans. 16 He exhorteth the Iewes to repentance.

O Ye children of a Beniamin, prepare to flee out of the middes of Ierusalem, and blow the trumpet in b Tekoa: set vp a standerd vpon c Bethhaccerem: for a plague appeareth out of the North and great destruction.

a He speaketh to them chiefly because they should take heed by the example of their brethren, the other half of their tribe, which were now caried away prisoners.
b Which was a citie in Iudah fiue miles from Bethlehem. 2. Chro. 11. 6.
c Reade Nehem. 3. 14.

2 I haue compared the daughter of Zion to d a beautifull and daintie woman.

d I haue intreated her gently, and giuen her abundance of all things.

3 The Pastours with their flocks e shall come vnto her: they shall pitch their tents round about by her, and euery one shall feed in his place.

e She shall be so destroyed, that the sheepe may be fed in her.

4 f Prepare warre against her: arise, and let vs go vp toward the South: woe vnto vs: for the day declineth, and the shadowes of the euening are stretched out.

f He speaketh this in the person of the Babylonians, which complaine that the time faileth them before they haue brought their enterprises to passe.

5 Arise, and let vs goe vp by night, and destroy her palaces.

6 For this hath the Lord of hostes sayd, Hew downe wood, and cast a mount against Ierusalem: this citie must be visited: all oppression is in the mids of it.

7 As the fountaine casteth out her waters, so she casteth out her malice: g crueltie and spoyle is continually heard in her before me with sorow and strokes.

g He sheweth the cause why it should be destroyed, and how it commeth of themselues.

8 Be thou instructed, O h Ierusalem, lest my soule depart from thee, lest I make thee desolate h He warneth them to amend by his corrections, and to turne to him by repentance.

as a land, that none inhabiteth.

9 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, They shall gather as a vine, the residue of Israel: turne i backe thine hand as the grape gatherer into the baskets.

10 Vnto whome shall I speake, and admonish that they may heare? behold, their eares are k vncircumcised, and they can not hearken: behold, the word of the Lord is vnto them as a reproch: they haue no delite in it.

11 Therefore I am full of the wrath of the Lord: I am wearie with holding it: l I wil powre it out vpon the m children in the streete, and likewise vpon the assembly of the yong men: for the husband shall euen bee taken with the wife, and the aged with him that is full of dayes.

12 And their houses with their landes, and wiues also shalbe turned vnto strangers: for I wil stretch out mine hand vpon the inhabitants of the land, saith the Lord.

13 For from the least of them, euen vnto the greatest of them, euery one is giuen vnto couetousnesse, and from the Prophet euen vnto the Priest, they all deale falsely.

14 They haue healed also the hurte of the daughter of my people with sweete wordes, saying, n Peace, peace, when there is no peace.

15 Were they ashamed when they had committed abomination? nay, they were not ashamed, no neither could they haue any shame: therefore they shall fall among the †slaine: when I shall visite them, they shalbe cast downe, saith the Lord.

16 Thus saith the Lord, Stand in the wayes, and behold, and aske for the o olde way, which is the good way, and walke therein, and yee shall finde rest for your soules: but they said, We wil not walke therein.

17 Also I set p watchmen ouer you, which said, Take heed to the sound of the trumpet: but they said, We will not take heede.

18 Heare therefore, ye q Gentiles, and thou Congregation know, what is among them.

19 Heare, O earth, beholde, I will cause a plague to come vpon this people, euen the fruite of their owne imaginations: because they haue not taken heede vnto my words, nor to my Law, but cast it off.

20 To what purpose bringest thou mee r incense from Sheba, and sweete calamus from a farre countrey? Your burnt offrings are not pleasant, nor your sacrifices sweete vnto me.

21 Therefore thus saith the Lorde, Beholde, I will lay stumbling blockes before this people, and the fathers and the sonnes together shall fall vpon them: the neighbour and his friende shall perish.

22 Thus sayeth the Lorde, Beholde, a people commeth from the s North countrey, and a great nation shall arise from the sides of the earth.

23 With bowe and shielde shall they bee weaponed: they are cruell and will haue no compassion: their voyce roareth like the sea, and they ride vpon horses, well appointed, like men of warre against thee, O daughter Zion.

24 Wee haue heard their fame, and our handes waxe t feeble: sorowe is come vpon vs, as the sorow of a woman in trauaile.

25 Goe not foorth into the fielde, nor walke by the way: for the sword of the enemy and feare is on euery side.

26 O daughter of my people, girde thee with sackecloth, and wallowe thy selfe in the ashes: make lamentation, and bitter mourning as for thine onely sonne: for the destroyer shall suddenly come vpon vs.

27 I haue set u thee for a defence and fortresse among my people, that thou mayest know and try their wayes.

28 They are all rebellious traitours, walking craftily: they are brasse, and yron, they all are destroyers.

29 The x bellowes are burnt: the lead is consumed in the fire: the founder melteth in vaine: for the wicked are not taken away.

30 They shall call them reprobate siluer, because the Lord hath reiected them.

i He exhorteth the Babylonians to be diligent to search out all and to leaue none.
k They delite to heare vaine things and to shut vp their eares to true doctrine.
l As the Lord had giuen him his word to be as a fire of his indignation to burne the wicked, Cha. 5. 14. so he kindleth it now when he seeth that all remedies are past.
m None shalbe spared.
n When the people began to feare Gods iudgements, the false Prophets comforted them by flatterings, shewing that God would send peace and not warre.
†Or, them that fall.
o Wherein the Patriarches and Prophets walked, directed by the word of God: signifying that there is no true way, but that which God prescribeth.
p Prophets which should warne you of the dangers that were at hand.
q God taketh all the world to witnesse and the insensible creatures of the ingratitude of the Iewes.
r Reade Isa. 1.11. and Amos 5.21.
s From Babylon by Dan, which was North from Ierusalem.
t For feare of the enemie: the speaketh this in the person of the Iewes.
u Meaning Ieremiah, whom God had appointed to try out the godly from the wicked as a founder doeth the pure mettal from the drosse.

CHAP. VII.

2 Ieremiah is commanded to shewe vnto the people the word of God, which trusted in the outwarde seruice of the Temple. 13 The exils that shall come to the Iewes, for the despising of their Prophets. 21 Sacrifices doth not the Lorde chiefly require of the Iewes, but that they should obey his word.

THe wordes that came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Stand in the gate of the Lords house and cry this word there, and say, Heare the word of the Lord, all ye of Iudah that enter in at these gates to worship the Lord.

3 Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, * Amend your wayes and your works, and I will let you dwell in this place.

*Chap. 26. 13.

4 Trust not in a lying wordes, saying, The Temple of the Lord, the Temple of the Lord: this is the Temple of the Lord.

5 For if you amend and redresse your wayes and your workes: if you execute iudgement betweene a man and his neighbour,

6 And oppresse not the stranger, the fatherlesse and the widow, and shed no innocent blood in this place, neither walke after other gods to your destruction,

7 Then b will I let you dwell in this place in the land that I gaue vnto your fathers, for euer and euer.

8 Beholde, you trust in lying words, that can not profit.

9 Will you steale, murder, and commit adulterie, and sweare falsely, and burne incense vnto Baal, and walke after other gods whom ye know not,

10 And come and stand before mee in this House, whereupon my Name is called, and say, We are deliuered, though we haue done all these abominations?

11 Is this House become c a denne of theeues, whereupon my Name is called before your eyes? Beholde, euen I see it, sayth the Lord.

12 But goe ye now vnto my place which was in Shilo, d where I set my Name at the beginning, and beholde what I did to it for the wickednesse of my people Israel.

13 Therefore now because ye haue done all these works, sayth the Lord, (and I e rose vp early and spake vnto you: but when I spake, ye would not heare me, neither whē I called, would f ye answer) a Beleeue not the false prophets, which say that for the Temples sake, and the sacrifices there, the Lord will preserue you, and so nourish you in your sinne, and vaine confidence.

b God sheweth on what condition he made his promise to this Temple: that they should be an holy people vnto him as hee would be a faithfull God to them.
c As thieues hid in holes and dennes thinke themselues safe, so when you are in my Temple, you thinke to be couered with the holinesse thereof, and that I cannot see your wickednesse, Matt. 21. 13.
d Because they depended so much on the Temple, which was for his promes, that he would be present and defend them where the Arke was, he sendeth them to Gods iudgements against Shilo, where the Arke had remained about 500. yeeres, and after was taken, the Priests slaine, and the people miserably discomfited, 1. 14 Therefore will I doe vnto this house, whereupon my Name is called, wherein also yee trust, euen vnto the place that I gaue to you and to your fathers, as I haue done vnto Shilo.

15 And I will cast g you out of my sight, as I haue cast out all your brethren, euen the whole seede of Ephraim.

16 Therefore thou shall not h pray for this people, neither lift vp crie or prayer for them, neither intreate me, for I will not heare thee.

17 Seest thou not what they doe in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem?

18 The children gather wood, and the fathers kindle the fire, and the women kneade the dough to make cakes to i the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offerings vnto other gods, that they may prouoke me vnto anger.

19 Doe they prouoke me to anger, saith the Lorde, and not themselues to the confusion of their owne faces?

20 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, mine anger and my wrath shall be powred vpon this place, vpon man and vpon beast, and vpon the tree of the fielde, and vpon the fruite of the ground, and it shall burne and not bee quenched.

21 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Put your burnt offerings vnto your sacrifices, and eate the flesh.

22 For k I spake not vnto your fathers, nor commanded them, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, concerning burnt offrings and sacrifices.

23 But this thing commanded I them, saying, Obey my voyce, and I will bee your God, and ye shall be my people: and walke yee in all the wayes which I haue commanded you, that it may be well vnto you.

24 But they would not obey, nor incline their eare, but went after the counsels and the stubbernesse of their wicked heart, and went backeward and not forward.

25 Since the day that your fathers came vp out of the land of Egypt, vnto l this day, I haue euen sent vnto you all my seruants the Prophets, m rising vp earely enery day, and sending them.

26 Yet would they not heare mee nor encline their eare, but hardned their necke and did worse then their fathers.

27 Therefore shalt thou speake al these words vnto them, but they n will not heare thee: thou shalt also cry vnto them, but they will not answere thee.

28 But thou shalt say vnto them, This is a nation that heareth not the voyce of the Lord their God, nor receiueth discipline: trueth is perished, and is cleane gone out of their mouth.

29 Cut off thine o haire, O Ierusalem, and cast it away, and take vp a complaint on the hie places: for the Lorde hath reiected and forsaken the generation of his p wrath.

30 For the children of Iudah haue done euill in my sight, saith the Lorde: they haue set their abominations in the House, whereupon my Name is called, to pollute it.

31 And they haue built the hie place of q Topheth, which is in the valley of Ben-Hinnom to burne their sonnes and their daughters in the fire, which I r commanded them not, neither came it in mine heart.

32 Therefore beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that it shal no more be called Topheth, nor the valley of Ben-Hinnom, but the valley of slaughter: for they shall bury in Topheth til there be no place.

33 And the carkeises of this people shall bee meate for the foules of the heauen, and for the beasts of the earth, & none shall fray them away.

34 * Then I will cause to cease from the cities of Iudah and from the streetes of Ierusalem the voyce of mirth and the voyce of gladnesse, the voyce of the bridegrome and the voyce of the bride: for the land shalbe desolate. * Ezek.26.13.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The destruction of the Iewes. 4 The Lord moueth the people to amendment. 10 He reprehendeth the lying doctrine and the couetousnesse of the Prophets and Priestes.

AT that time, saith the Lorde, they shall bring out the bones of the Kings of Iudah, and the bones of their princes, and the bones of the Priestes, and the bones of the Prophetes, and the bones of the inhabitants of Ierusalem out of their graues. a

2 And they shal spread them before the Sunne and the moone, and all the host of heauen, whom they haue loued, and whom they haue serued, and whom they haue followed, and whom they haue sought, and whom they haue worshipped: they shal not be gathered nor be buried, but shall be as doung vpon the earth.

3 And death shalbe desired b rather then life of all the residue that remaineth of this wicked familie, which remaine in all the places where I haue scattered them, sayth the Lord of hosts.

4 Thou shalt say vnto them also, Thus sayth the Lord, Shall they c fall and not arise? shall he turne away and not turne againe?

5 Wherefore is this people of Ierusalem turned backe by a perpetuall rebellion? they gaue themselues to deceit, and would not returne.

6 I hearkened and heard, but none spake aright: no man repented him of his wickednesse, saying, What haue I done? euery d one turned to their race, as the horse rusheth into the battell,

7 Euen the storke in the aire knoweth her appointed times, and the turtle and the crane and the swallowe obserue the time of their comming, but my people knoweth not the e iudgement of the Lord.

8 How doe ye say, We are wise, and the Law of the Lord is with vs? Loe, certeinely in vaine made he it, the penne of the scribes is in vaine.

9 The f wise men are ashamed: they are afraid and taken, loe, they haue reiected the word of the Lord, and what wisdome is in them?

10 Therefore will I giue their wiues vnto others, and their fields to them that shall possesse them: * for euery one from the least euen vnto the greatest is giuen to couetousnesse, and from the Prophet euen vnto the Priest, euery one dealeth falsely.

11 For they haue healed the hurt of the daughter of my people with sweet words, saying, h Peace, peace, when there is no peace.

12 Were they ashamed when they had committed abomination? nay, they were not ashamed, neither could they haue any shame: therefore shall they fall among the slaine: when I shall visit them, they shall be cast downe, sayth the Lord.

b Because of the afflictions that they shal feele through Gods iudgements.

c Is there no hope that they will returne?

d They are full of hypocrisie, and euerie one followeth his owne fantasie without any consideration.

e Hee accuseth them in that that they are more ignorant of Gods iudgements then these birds are of their appointed seasons to discerne the colde & heat, as Isa.1.3.

f The Law doth not profit you, neither needeth it to haue bene written for ought that you haue learned by it.

i That is, they sacrifice to the sunne, moone, and starres, which they called the Queene of heauen, Chap. 44.17.2.king.23.5.

k Shewing that it was not his chiefe purpose and intent, that they should offer sacrifices: but that they should regard, wherefore they were ordeined: to wit, to be ioyned to the word as seales and confirmations of remission of sinnes in Christ: for without the word they were vaine and vnprofitable.

13 I will surely consume them, saith the Lord: there shalbe no grapes on the vine, nor figges on the figtree, and the leafe shall fade, and the things that I haue giuen them, shall depart from them.

14 Why doe we stay? i assemble your selues, and let vs enter into the strong cities, and let vs be quiet there: for the Lord our God hath put vs to silence, & giuen vs water with k gall to drinke, because we haue sinned against the Lord.

d To belye and slaunder their neighbours.
e Meaning that all were corrupt, and none could finde an honest man. f They haue so practised deceite, that they can not forsake it. g They had rather forsake God, then leaue their wicked trade.

2 Oh, that I had in the wildernesse a b cottage of wayfaring men, that I might leaue my people, and go from them: for they be all c adulterers, and an assemblie of rebels,

3 And they bende their tongues like their bowes for d lyes: but they haue no courage for the trueth vpon the earth: for they proceed from euill to worse, and they haue not knowen mee, saith the Lord.

4 Let euery one take heed of his neighbour, and trust you not in any e brother: for euery brother will vse deceit, and euery friend will deale deceitfully.

5 And euery one will deceiue his friend, and will not speake the trueth: for they f haue taught their tongues to speake lies, and take great paines to doe wickedly.

6 Thine habitation is in the middes of deceiuers: g because of their deceite they refuse to know me, saith the Lord.

7 Therefore thus saith the Lorde of hostes, Beholde, I will h melt them, and trie them: for what should I else doe for the daughter of my people?

8 Their tongue *is as an arowe shot out, and speaketh deceite: one speaketh peaceably to his neighbour with his mouth, but in his heart he layeth waite for him.

9 Shal I not visite them for these things, saith the Lorde? or shall not my soule be auenged on such a nation as this?

10 Vpon the i mountaines will I take vp a weeping and a lamentation, and vpon the fayre places of the wildernes a mourning, because they are burnt vp: so that none can passe through them, neither can men heare the voyce of the flocke: both the foule of the aire, and the beast are fled away and gone.

11 And I will make Ierusalem an heape, and a den of dragons, and I will make the cities of Iudah waste, without an inhabitant.

12 Who is k wise, to vnderstand this? and to whome the mouth of the Lord hath spoken, euen he shall declare it. Why doth the land perish, and is burnt vp like a wildernesse, that none passeth through.

13 And the Lord saith, Because they haue forsaken my Law, which I set before them, and haue not obeyed my voyce, neither walked thereafter,

14 But haue walked after the stubbernesse of their owne heart, and after Baalims, which l their fathers taught them,

15 Therefore thus saith the Lorde of hostes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will feede this people with wormewood, and giue them waters of gall m to drinke:

16 I will scatter them also among the heathen, whom neither they nor their fathers haue known, and I will send a sword after them, till I haue consumed them.

17 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Take heede, and call for n the mourning women, that they may come, and send for skilfull women, that they may come,

18 And let them make haste, & let them take vp a lamentation for vs, that our eyes may cast out teares, and our eye liddes gush out of water.

19 For a lamentable noyse is heard out of Zion, How are we destroyed, and vtterly confounded, for we haue forsaken the land, and our dwellings o haue cast vs out.

20 Therefore heare the word of the Lord, O ye women, and let your eares regard the words of his mouth, & p teach your daughters to mourne, and euery one her neighbour to lament.

21 For death is come vp into our q windowes, and is entred into our palaces, to destroy the children without, and the yong men in the streetes.

22 Speake, Thus saith the Lord, The carkeises of men shall lye, euen as the dung vpon the field, and as the handfull after the mower, and none shall gather them.

23 Thus saith the Lord, Let not the r wise man glorie in his wisedome, nor the strong man glorie in his strength, neither the rich man glorie in his riches.

24 But let him that glorieth, glorie in this, that he vnderstandeth, and knoweth me: for I am the Lord, which s shewe mercie, iudgement, and i Signifying that all the places about Ierusalem should be destroyed.

k Meaning that they are all without sense and vnderstanding, and that God hath taken his Spirit from them.
l He sheweth that the children can not excuse themselues by their fathers: for both father and childe if they be wicked, shall perish.
m Reade Chap. 8.14.
n Seeing you can not lament your owne sinnes, call for those foolish women, whome of a superstition you haue to lament for the dead, that they by their fained teares may prouoke you to some sorowe.
o As though they were wearie of vs, because of our iniquities, Leu. 18.28. and 20.22.
p He derideth the superstition of the women, which made an arte of mourning, and taught to weepe with fained teares.
q Signifying, that there is no meanes to deliuer the wicked from Gods iudgements: but when they thinke to be most sure, & most farre off, then are they soonest taken.
r Forasmuch as none can saue him selfe by his owne labour or any worldly meanes, he sheweth that it is in vaine to put our trust therein, but that we trust in the Lord, and reioyce in him, who onely can deliuer vs, 1. Cor. 1. 31. 2. cor. 10. 17.
s These three points are necessary to know aright: his mercy, wherein consisteth our saluation: his iudgement, which he executeth continually against the wicked: and his iustice, whereby he defendeth and maintaineth the faithfull.

righteousnesse in the earth: for in these things I delite, saith the Lord.

25 Beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lorde, that I will visite all them, which are [t] circumcised with the vncircumcised:

26 Egypt and Iudah, and Edom, and the children of Ammon, and Moab, and all the vtmost corners of them that dwell in the wildernesse: for all these nations are vncircumcised, and all the house of Israel are vncircumcised in the heart.

t Meaning both Iewes and Gentiles, as in the next verse he sheweth the cause, reade Chap.4.4.

CHAP. X.

2 The constellations of the starres are not to be feared. 5 The weaknesse of idoles, and of the power of God. 21 Their Pastours are become brutie beastes.

HEare ye the word of the Lorde that he speaketh vnto you, O house of Israel.

2 Thus saith the Lord, Learne not the way of the heathen, and be not afraid for the [a] signes of heauen, though the heathen be afraid of such.

3 For the [b] customes of the people are vaine: for one cutteth a tree out of the forest (which is the worke of the handes of the carpenter) with the axe,

4 And another decketh it [c] with siluer, and with gold: they fasten it with nayles, and hammers, that it fall not.

5 The idoles stand vp as the palme tree, but speake not: they are borne because they can not goe: feare them not, for they can not doe euill, neither can they do good.

6 There is none like vnto thee, O Lorde: [d] thou art great, and thy Name [u] great in power.

7 Who would not feare thee, O king of nations? for to thee appertaineth the dominion: for among all the wise men of the Gentiles, and in all their kingdomes there is none like thee.

8 But altogether they dote, and are foolish: for the stocke is a [e] doctrine of vanitie.

9 Siluer plates are brought from Tarshish, and golde [f] from Vphaz, for the worke of the workeman, and the handes of the founder: the blewe silke, and the purple [u] their clothing: all these things are made by cunning men.

10 But the Lord [u] the God of truth: he is the liuing God, and an euerlasting King: at his anger the earth shall tremble, and the nations can not abide his wrath.

11 (Thus shall you say vnto them, The gods [g] that haue not made the heauens and the earth, shall perish from the earth, and from vnder these heauens)

12 He hath made the earth by his power, and established the world by his wisedome, and hath stretched out the heauen by his discretion.

13 Hee giueth by his voyce the multitude of waters, in the heauen, and he causeth the cloudes to ascend from the endes of the earth: he turneth lightnings to raine, and bringeth foorth the wind out of his treasures.

a God forbiddeth his people to giue credite or feare the constellations and coniunctions of starres and planets, which haue no power of themselues, but are gouerned by him, and their secrete motions and influences are not knowen to man, & therefore there can be no certaine iudgement thereof. Deut. 18.9.

b Meaning not only in the obseruation of the starres, but their Lawes & ceremonies whereby they confirme their idolatrie, which is forbidden. Deut. 12.30.

c The Prophets vse thus plainely and simply to set foorth the vile absurditie of the idolaters, that men might learne to be ashamed of that, whereunto their corrupt nature is most subiect, read Isa. 44.12.

d He teacheth the people to lift vp their eyes to God, who hath all power, and therefore ought onely to be feared: and herein he sheweth them not onely the euill that they ought to eschew, but the good which they ought to follow, Reuelat 15.4.

e Because the people thought that to haue images, was a meane to serue God and to bring them to the knowledge of him, he sheweth that nothing more displeaseth God, nor bringeth man into greater errours and ignorance of God: and therefore he calleth them the doctrine of vanity, the worke of errors, vers. 15. & Habak 2.18. calleth them the teachers of lies: contrary to that wicked opinion, that they are the bookes of the lay people.

f Whereas they found the best gold: shewing that they thought nothing too deare for their idols: some read Ophir as 1. King. 9.28.

g This declareth, that all that hath bene in this Chapter spoken of idoles, was to arme the Iewes when they should be in Caldea among the idolaters, and now with one sentence he instructeth them both howe to protest their owne religion against the idolaters, and howe to answer them to their shame which should exhort them to idolatrie, and therefore he writeth this sentence in the Caldeans tongue for a memoriall, whereas all the rest of his writing is Ebrew.

14 Euery man is a [h] beast by his owne knowledge: euery founder is confounded by the grauen image: for his melting is but falsehoode, and there is no breath therein.

15 They are vanitie, [&] the worke of errours: in the time of their visitation they shall perish.

16 The [i] portion of Iaakob [u] not like them: for he is the maker of all things, and Israel [u] the rodde of his inheritance: the Lord of hostes [u] his Name.

17 ¶ [k] Gather vp thy wares out of the land, O thou that dwellest in the strong place.

18 For thus saith the Lorde, Beholde, at this time I will throwe as with a sling the inhabitants of the land, and will trouble them, and they shall finde it so.

19 Wo is me for my destruction, and my grieuous plague: but I thought, Yet it [l] is my sorowe, and I will beare it.

20 [m] My Tabernacle is destroyed, and all my cordes are broken: my children are gone from me, and are not: there is none to spread out my tent any more, and to set vp my curtaines.

21 For the Pastors [n] are become beastes, and haue not sought the Lord: therefore haue they none vnderstanding: and all the flockes of their pastures are scattered.

22 Beholde, the noyse of the bruite is come, and a great commotion out of the [o] North country to make the cities of Iudah desolate, and a denne of dragons.

23 O Lorde, I knowe, that [p] the way of man is not in himselfe, neither [u] is in man to walke and to direct his steppes.

24 O Lorde, correct mee, but with [q] iudgement, not in thine anger, least thou bring mee to nothing.

25 Powre out [r] thy wrath vpon the heathen that knowe thee not, and vpon the families that cal not on thy Name: for they haue eaten vp Iaakob and deuoured him, and consumed him, and haue made his habitation desolate.

h The more that man thinketh to do any thing well by his owne wisdome, and not as God instructeth him, the more doth he proue himselfe to be a vile beast.

i By these wordes, Portion & Rod, he signifieth their inheritance, meaning that God should be all sufficient for them: & that their felicity consisted in him alone, & therefore they ought to renounce all other helpes & succours, as of idoles, &c. Deu. 32.9. pla. 1645.

k The Prophet willeth the Iewes to prepare themselues to this captiuitie, shewing that it was now at hand, that they should feele the things whereof he had told them.

l It is my last plague, and therefore I will take it patiently: whereby he teacheth the people how to behaue themselues toward God.

m He sheweth how Ierusalem shall lament.

n The gouernors and ministers.

o Read Chap. 4.15.

p He speaketh this because that Nebuchad-nezzar purposed to haue made warre against the Moabites and Ammonites, but hearing of Zedekiahs rebellion, he turned his power to goe against Ierusalem. Ezek. 21.21. therefore the Prophet saith, that this was the Lords direction.

q Concerning that God hath reuciled vnto him the certitude of their captiuitie, Chap. 7.16. hee onely prayeth, that he would punish them with mercie, which Isaiah calleth, in measure, Chap. 27.8. measuring his roddes by their infirmitie, 1 Cor. 10.13. for here by iudgement is meant not onely the punishment, but also the mercifull moderation of the same, as Chap. 30.11.

r Forasmuch as God cannot onely be knowen and glorified by his mercie, that hee vseth toward his Church, but also by his iustice in punishing his enemies, he prayeth that his glorie may fully appeare both in the one and the other, Psal. 79.6.

CHAP. XI.

3 A curse of them that obey not the word of Gods couenant. 10 The people of Iudah, following the steppes of their fathers, worship strange gods. 14 The Lorde forbiddeth Ieremiah to pray for them.

THe worde that came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Heare ye the wordes of this couenant, and speake vnto the men of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem,

3 And say thou vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, [a] Cursed be the man that obeyeth not the wordes of this couenant,

4 Which I commaunded vnto your fathers, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, from the yron furnace, saying, Obey my voyce, and doe according to all these things, which I commaund you: so shall ye be my people, and I will be your God, a He calleth the Iewes to the consideration of Gods mercies, who freely chose them, made a couenant of eternall felicitie with them, and how he euer performed it on his behalfe, and how they euer shewed themselues rebellious and ingrate toward him, and brake it on their part, and so are subiect to the curse of the Lawe, Deut. 27.26.

5 That

5 That I may confirme the othe, that I haue sworne vnto your fathers, to giue them a lande, which floweth with milke and hony, as appeareth this day. Then answered [b] I and sayd, So be it, O Lord.

6 Then the Lorde saide vnto me, Cry all these words in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, saying, Heare ye the words of this couenant, and doe them.

7 For I haue protested vnto your fathers, when I brought them vp out of the land of Egypt vnto this day, [e] rising earely and protesting, saying, Obey my voyce.

8 Neuertheless they would not obey, nor en-cline their eare: but euery one walked in the stub-bornesse of his wicked [d] heart: therefore I will bring vpon them all the [e] wordes of this couenant, which I commanded them to doe, but they did it not.

9 And the Lorde said vnto me, A [f] conspiracie is found among the men of Iudah, and among the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

10 They are turned backe to the iniquities of their forefathers, which refused to heare my wordes: and they went after other gods to serue them: thus the house of Israel, and the house of Iudah haue broken my couenant, which I made with their fathers.

11 Therefore thus saith the Lorde, Beholde, I will bring a plague vpon them, which they shall not bee able to escape, and though they cry vnto me, [g] I wil not heare them.

12 Then shall the cities of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem goe, and cry vnto the gods vnto whome they offer incense, but they shall not bee able to helpe them in the time of their trouble.

13 [h] For according to the number of thy cities were thy gods, O Iudah, and according to the number of the streetes of Ierusalem haue yee set vp altars of confusion, euen altars to burne incense vnto Baal,

14 Therefore thou shalt not [i] pray for this people, neither lift vp a cry, or prayer for them:
for when they cry vnto me in their trouble, I will not heare them.

15 What should my [k] beloued tarie in mine house, seeing they haue committed abomination with many? and the holy flesh [l] goeth away from thee: yet when thou doest euill, thou reioycest.

16 The Lorde called thy name, A greene oliue tree, faire, and of goodly fruite: but with [m] noyse and great tumult he hath set fire vpon it, and the branches of it are broken.

17 For the Lorde of hostes that planted thee, hath pronounced a plague against thee, for the wickednes of the house of Israel, and of the house of Iudah, which they haue done against themselues to prouoke me to anger in offering incense vnto Baal.

18 And the Lorde hath taught mee, and I knowe it, euen then thou shewedst mee [n] their practises.

19 But I was like a lambe, or a bullocke, that is brought to the slaughter, and I knewe not that they had deuised thus against mee, saying, Let vs [o] destroy the tree with the fruite thereof, and cut him out of the lande of the liuing, that his name may be no more in memorie.

20 But O Lorde of hostes, that iudgest righteously, and triest the reines and the heart, let mee see thy [p] vengeance on them: for vnto thee haue
I opened my cause.

21 The Lorde therefore speaketh thus of the men of [q] Anathoth, (that seeke the life, and say, [r] Prophesie not in the name of the Lorde, that thou die not by our handes)

22 Thus therefore sayeth the Lorde of hostes, Behold, I wil visite them: the yong men shall die by the sworde: their sonnes and their daughters shall die by famine,

23 And none of them shall remaine: for I will bring a plague vpon the men of Anathoth, euen the yeere of their visitation.

b Thus he speaketh in the person of the people, which agreed to the couenant.

c Reade Chap.7.23.

d According to his owne fantasie, and not as my word appointed him.

e Meaning, the menaces and curses conteined in the Lawe, Leuit. 26.14. deut. 28.16.

f That is, a generall consent to rebel against me.

g Because they wil not pray with true faith and repentance, but for the smart & griefe, which they feele, Prou. 1.28.

m Of the Babilonians and Caldeans.

n Which went about priuily to conspire my death.

o Let vs destroy the Prophet and his doctrine. Some reade, let vs corrupt his meat with wood, meaning poyson.

p Thus he spake, not for hatred, but being moued with the Spirit of God, he desireth the aduancement of Gods glory and the verifying of his word, which is by the destruction of his enemies.

q To wit, both the Priests and the rest of the people: for this towne was the Priests, and they dwelt in it, Reade Chap. 1. 1.

r Not that they coulde not abide to heare God named: (for herein they would shewe themselues most holy) but because they could not abide to be sharpely reprooued, and therefore desired to be flattered, Isa. 30.10. and to be maintained in their pleasures, Mich. 2 11. and not to heare vice condemned, Amos 7.12.

CHAP. XII.

1 The Prophet marueileth at the prosperitie of the wicked, although he confesse God to be righteous. 7 The Iewes are forsaken of the Lorde. 10 He speaketh against pastors and preachers, that seduce the people. 14 The Lord threateneth destruction vnto the nations, that troubled Iudah.

O Lord, if I dispute with thee, thou art [a] righteous: yet let me talke with thee of thy iudgements: wherefore doeth the way of the wicked [b] prosper? why are all they in wealth that rebelliously transgresse?

2 Thou hast planted them, and they haue taken roote: they grow, and bring forth fruit: thou art neere in their mouth, and farre from their [c] reines.

3 But thou, Lord, knowest me: thou hast seene me, and tried mine heart toward thee: pull them out like sheepe for the slaughter, and [d] prepare them for the day of slaughter.

4 Howe long shall the lande mourne, and the herbes of euery fielde wither, for the wickednes of them that dwell therein? the beastes are consumed and the birdes, because they said, [e] He will not see our last ende.

5 If thou hast runne with the [f] footemen, and they haue wearied thee, then howe canst thou match thy selfe with horses? and if thou though-test thy selfe safe in a peaceable lande, what wilt thou doe in the swelling of Iorden?

6 For euen they brethren, and the house of thy father, euen they haue delt vnfaithfully with thee, and they haue cryed out altogether vpon thee:
but beleeue them not, though they speake faire to thee.

7 I haue forsaken [g] mine house: I haue left mine heritage: I haue giuen the dearely beloued of my soule into the hands of her enemies.

8 Mine heritage is vnto mee, as a [h] lion in the forest: it crieth out against mee, therefore haue I hated it.

9 Shall mine heritage be vnto mee, as a birde

a The Prophet confesseth God to be iust in all his doings, although man be not able to giue reason of all his acts.

b This question hath bene alway a great tentation to the godly, to see the wicked enemies of God in prosperitie, and his deare children in aduersitie, as Iob 21.7. psalm. 37.1. and 73.3. Habac. 1.3.

c They professe God in mouth, but deny him in heart, which is here meant by the reines, Isa. 29.13. matth. 15.8.

d The Ebrewe word is, Sanctifie them, meaning, that God would be sanctified in the destruction of the wicked, to whom God for a while giueth prosperitie, that afterward they should the more feele his heauie iudgement when they lacke their riches, which were a signe of his mercy.

e Abusing Gods lenitie and his promises, they flattered themselues as though God would euer be mercifull, and not vtterly destroy them: therefore they hardened themselues in sinne, til at length the beastes and insensible creatures felt the punishment of their stubburne rebellion against God.

f Some thinke that God reproueth Ieremiah in that, that he would reason with him saying, that if he were not able to match with men, that he were farre vnable to dispute with God. Others by the footemen meane them of Anathoth, and by the horsemen them of Ierusalem, which should trouble the Prophet worse then his owne countrey men did.

g God willeth the Prophet to denounce his iudgements against Ierusalem, notwithstanding that they shall both by threatning and flatteries labour to put him to silence.

h Euer ramping and raging against mee and my Prophets.

i of diuers colours? are not the birdes about her, saying, Come, assemble all the beastes of the field, come to eate her?

10 Many pastors haue destroyed my k vineyarde, and troden my portion vnder foote: of my pleasant portion they haue made a desolate wildernesse.

11 They haue layde it waste, and it, being waste, mourneth vnto mee: and the whole land lyeth waste, because no man setteth his minde on l it.

12 The destroyers are come vpon all the high places in the wildernesse: for the sworde of the Lord shal deuoure from the one ende of the land, euen to the other ende of the lande: no flesh shall haue peace.

13 m They haue sowen wheate, and reaped thornes: they were n sicke, and had no profite: and they were ashamed of o your fruites, because of the fierce wrath of the Lord.

14 Thus saith the Lorde against all mine euill p neighbours, that touch the inheritance, which I haue caused my people Israel to inherite, Beholde, I will plucke them out of their lande, and plucke out the house of Iudah from among them.

15 And after that I haue plucked them out, I q will returne, and haue compassion on them, and will bring againe euery man to his heritage, and euery man to his land.

16 And if they will learne the r wayes of my people, to sweare by my Name, (s The Lorde liueth, as they taught my people to sweare by Baal) then shall they be built t in the middes of my people.

17 But if they will not obey, then will I vtterly plucke vp, and destroy that nation, saieth the Lord.

destroy the pride of Iudah, and the great pride of Ierusalem.

10 This wicked people haue refused to heare my worde, and walke after the stubburnnesse of their owne heart, and walke after other gods to serue them, and to worship them: therefore they shall be as this girdle, which is profitable to nothing.

11 For as the girdle cleaueth to the loynes of a man, so haue I tied to me the whole house of Israel, and the whole house of Iudah, saith the Lorde, that they might bee my people: that they might haue a name and praise, and glory, but they would not heare.

12 Therefore thou shalt say vnto them this worde, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Euery b bottell shalbe filled with wine, and they shal say vnto thee, Doe we not knowe that euery bottell shalbe filled with wine?

13 Then shalt thou say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I will fill all the inhabitants of this land, euen the Kings that sit vpon the throne of Dauid, and the Priestes and the Prophets, and all the inhabitants of Ierusalem with drunkennesse.

14 And I c will dash them one against another, euen the fathers and the sonnes together, saith the Lorde: I will not spare, I will not pitie nor haue compassion, but destroy them.

15 Heare and giue eare, bee not proud: for the Lord hath spoken it.

16 Giue glory to the Lorde your God before he bring d darkenes, and or euer your feete stumble in the darke mountains, and whiles you looke for e light, hee turne it into the shadowe of death and make it as darkenesse.

17 But if yee will not heare this, my soule shall sweepe in secret for your pride, and mine eye shall weepe and drop downe teares, because the Lords flocke is caried away captiue.

18 Say vnto the g King and to the Queene, Humble your selues, sit downe, for the crowne of your glory shall come downe from your heads.

19 The cities of h the South shall bee shut vp, and no man shall open them: all Iudah shall bee caried away captiue: it shal be wholy caried away captiue.

20 Lift vp your eyes and beholde them that come from the North: where is the i flocke that was giuen thee, euen thy beautifull flocke?

21 What wilt thou say, when he shal visit thee? (for thou hast k taught them to bee captaines and as chiefe ouer thee) shall not sorow take thee as a woman in trauaile?

22 And if thou say in thine heart, Wherefore come these things vpon me? for the multitude of thine iniquities are thy skirts l discouered and thy heeles made bare.

23 Can the blacke Moore change his skin? or the leopard his spots? then may ye also doe good, that are accustomed to doe euil.

24 Therefore will I scatter them, as the stubble that is taken away with the South winde.

25 This is thy portion, and the part of thy measures from mee, saith the Lorde, because thou hast forgotten me and trusted in lies.

26 Therefore I haue also discouered thy skirts vpon thy face, m that thy shame may appeare.

k He prophecieth of the destruction of Ierusalem by the captaines of Nebuchad-nezzar, whom he calleth pastors.

l Because no man regardeth my worde, or the plagues that I haue sent vpon the land.

m To wit, the Prophets.

n They lamented the sinnes of the people.

o For instead of amendement, you grew worse and worse, as Gods plagues testified.

p Meaning, the wicked enemies of his Church which blasphemed his name, and whom he would punish after that he hath deliuered his people.

q After that I haue punished the Gentiles, I will haue mercie vpon them. r The true doctrine and maner to serue God. s Reade Chap. 4. 2. t They shalbe of the number of the faithfull, and haue a place in my Church.

CHAP. XIII.

The destruction of the Iewes is prefigured. 11 Why Israel was receiued to be the people of God, and why they were forsaken. 15 He exhorteth them to repentance.

THus saith the Lorde vnto mee, Goe, and buy thee a linen girdle, and put it vpon thy loines, and put it not in water.

2 So I bought the girdle according to the commaundement of the Lord, and put it vpon my loynes.

3 And the worde of the Lorde came vnto mee the second time, saying,

4 Take the girdle that thou hast bought, which is vpon thy loynes, and arise, goe toward a Perath, and hide it there in the cleft of the rocke.

5 So I went, and hid it by Perath, as the Lorde had commanded me.

6 And after many dayes, the Lorde sayde vnto mee, Arise, goe toward Perath, and take the girdle from thence, which I commaunded thee to hide there.

7 Then went I to Perath, and digged, and tooke the girdle from the place where I had hid it, and beholde, the girdle was corrupt, and was profitable for nothing.

8 Then the word of the Lord came vnto mee, saying,

9 Thus saith the Lord, After this maner will I a Because this riuer Perath or Euphrates was farre from Ierusalem, it is euident, that this was a vision, whereby was signified that the Iewes should passe ouer Euphrates to be captiues in Babylon, and there for length of time should seeme to be rotten: although they were ioyned to the Lord before as a girdle about a man.

b Euery one of you shalbe filled with spirituall drunkennes, and be without all knowledge to seeke how to helpe your selues.

c It shall be as easie for me to destroy the greatest and the strongest, as it is for a man to breake earthen bottels.

d That is, affliction and miserie by the Babylonians, Isa. 8. 22.

o There is no place so hie nor lowe, whereas the markes and signes of thine idolatrie appeare not.

in o the fieldes, and thine abominations. Wo vnto thee, O Ierusalem: wilt thou not bee made cleane? when shall it once be?

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Of the dearth that should come. 7 The prayer of the people asking mercie of the Lord. 10 The vnfaithfull people are not heard. 12 Of prayer, fasting, and of false prophets that seduce the people.

THe worde of the Lord that came vnto Ieremiah, concerning the a ‖ dearth.

a Which came for lacke of raine, as vers. 4. ‖ Or, restraint.

2 Iudah hath mourned, and the gates thereof are desolate, they haue bene b brought to heauinesse vnto the ground, and the citie of Ierusalem goeth vp.

b The word signifieth to be made blacke, and so is here taken for extreme sorow.

3 And their nobles haue sent their inferiours to the water: who came to the welles, and founde no water: they returned with their vessels empty: they were ashamed and confounded, and c couered their heads.

c To wit, with ashes in token of sorow.

4 For the ground was destroyed, because there was no raine in the earth: the plowmen were ashamed, and couered their heads.

5 Yea, the hinde also calued in the field, and forsooke d it, because there was no grasse.

d Meaning, that the brute beasties for drought were compelled to forsake their yong, contrary to nature, & to goe seeke water, which they could not finde.

6 And the wilde asses did stand in the high places, and drew in their winde like e dragons: their eyes did faile, because there was no grasse.

e Which are so hote of nature, that they cannot be cooled with drinking of water, but still gape for the aire to refresh them.

7 f O Lorde, though our iniquities testifie against vs, deale with vs according to thy name: for our rebellions are many, we sinned against thee.

f He sheweth the only way to remedie Gods plagues, which is by vnfained confession of our sinnes, and returning to him by repentance.

8 O thou hope of Israel, ‖ g sauiour thereof in the time of trouble, why art thou as a stranger in the land, as one ‖ that passeth by to tarrie for a night?

g That taketh no care for vs.

9 Why art thou as a man astonied, and as h a strong man that can not helpe? yet thou, O Lord, art in the middes of vs, and thy Name is called vpon vs: forsake vs not.

h As one that hath strength to helpe, and yet is afraide to put to his hand.

10 Thus saith the Lord vnto his people, Thus haue they delited to wander: they haue not refrained their feete, therefore the Lorde hath no delight in them: but he will now remember their iniquitie, and visite their sinnes.

11 Then said the Lord vnto me, i Thou shalt not pray to doe this people good.

i Reade Chap. 7. 16. and 11. 14.

12 When they fast, I will not heare their cry, and when they offer burnt offering, and an oblation, I will not accept them: but I will consume them by the sworde, and by the famine, and by the pestilence.

13 Then answered I, Ah Lord God, beholde, the k prophets say vnto them, Ye shall not see the sworde, neither shall famine come vpon you, but I will giue you assured peace in this place.

k He pitieth the people, and accuseth the false prophets, which deceiued them: but the Lord answered, that both the prophets which deceiued, and the people, which suffered themselues to be seduced, shall perish Chap. 23. 15. and 27. 8. 9. and 29 8 * Chap. 23. 21. and 29. 10, 15. and 27. 9.

14 Then the Lord said vnto me, The prophets prophecie lyes in my Name: * I haue not sent them, neither did I command them, neither spake I vnto them, but they prophecie vnto you a false vision, and diuination, and vanitie, and deceitfulnesse of their owne heart.

15 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Concerning the prophets that prophecie in my Name, whom I haue not sent, yet they say, Sworde and famine shal not be in this land, by sword and famine shal those prophets be consumed.

16 And the people to whome these prophets doe prophecie, shall be cast out in the streetes of Ierusalem, because of the famine, & the sword, & there shall be none to bury them, both they, and their wiues, and their sonnes, and their daughters: for I will powre their wickednesse vpon them.

17 Therefore thou shalt say this worde vnto them, Let mine eyes drop downe l teares night & day without ceasing: for the virgine daughter of my people is destroyed with a great destruction, and with a sore grieuous plague.

l The false prophets promised peace, & assurance, but Ieremiah calleth to teares, and repentance for their affliction, which is at hand, as Chap. 9. 1. Lamen. 1. 16. and 2. 18.

18 For if I goe into the field, behold the slaine with the sword: and if I enter into the citie, behold them that are sicke for hunger also: moreouer the Prophet also and the Priest goe a wandring m into a land that they knowe not.

m Both hie and lowe shalbe led captiues into Babylon.

19 Hast thou vtterly reiected n Iudah, or hath thy soule abhorred Zion? why hast thou smitten vs, that we cannot be healed? We looked for peace, and there is no good, and for the time of health, and behold trouble.

n Though the Prophets knewe that God had cast off the multitude, which were hypocrites, and bastarde children, yet hee was assured that for his promes sake he would haue still a Church, for the which he prayeth.

20 We o acknowledge, O Lord, our wickednesse and the iniquitie of our fathers: for we haue sinned against thee.

o He teacheth the Church a forme of prayer to humble themselues to God by true repentance, which is the onely meane to auoyde this famine, which was the beginning of Gods plagues.

21 Doe not abhorre vs: for thy Names sake cast not downe the throne of thy glory: remember and breake not thy couenant with vs.

22 Are there any among the p vanities of the Gentiles, that can giue raine? or can the heauens giue showres? is it not thou, O Lord our God? therefore we will waite vpon thee: for thou hast made all these things.

p Meaning, their idoles, reade Chap. 10. 15.

CHAP. XV.

1 The Lord would heare no prayer for the Iewes, 3 But should punish them with foure plagues.

THen said the Lord vnto me, a Though Moses and Samuel stood before me, yet mine affection could not be toward this people: cast them out of my sight, and let them depart.

a Meaning, that if there were any man liuing moued with so great zeale toward the people, as were these two, yet that he would not grant this requeste, forasmuch as he had determined the contrary, Ezek 14. 14. * Iere. 11. 9.

2 And if they say vnto thee, Whither shall we depart? then tell them, Thus saith the Lord, * Such as are appointed to death, vnto death: and such as are for the sword, to the sworde: and such as are for the famine, to the famine: and such as are for the captiuitie, to the captiuitie.

b The dogges, birdes and beastes should deuoure them that were slaine.

3 And I will appoint ouer the foure kindes, saith the Lord, the sword to slay, & the b dogs to teare in pieces, and the foules of the heauen, and the beastes of the earth to deuoure, and to destroy.

c The word signifieth to runne to & fro for feare & vnquietnes of conscience, as did Kain.

4 I will c scatter them also in all kingdomes of the earth, d because of Manasseh the sonne of Hezekiah King of Iudah, for that which he did in Ierusalem.

d Not that the people was punished for the Kings sinne onely, but for their owne sinnes also, because they consented to his wickednes, 2 king. 21. 9.

5 Who shall then haue pitie vpon thee, O Ierusalem? or who shall be sorie for thee? or who shall goe to pray for thy peace?

6 Thou hast forsaken me, saith the Lord, and gone backward: therefore will I stretch out mine hand against thee, and destroy thee: for I e am weary with repenting.

e That is, I will not call backe my plagues, or spare thee any more.

7 And I will scatter them with the fanne f in the gates of the earth: I haue wasted, & destroyed my people, yet they would not returne from their wayes.

f Meaning, the cities.

8 Their widowes are g increased by mee aboue the sand of the sea: I haue brought vpon them, and against the ‖ assemblie of the young men a destroyer at noone day: I haue caused him to fall vpon them, and the citie suddenly, and ‖ speedily.

g Because I had slaine their husbands. ‖ Or, mother. ‖ Or, fearefully.

9 She that hath borne h seuen, hath bene made weake: her heart hath failed: the sunne hath failed i her, while it was day: she hath bene confounded, and ashamed, and the residue of them

h She that had many, lost all her children.

i She was destroyed in the mids of her prosperitie.

will I deliuer vnto the sword before their enemies, saith the Lord.

10 ¶ [k] Woe is me, my mother, that thou hast borne me, a contentious man, and a man that striueth with the whole earth: I haue neither [l] lent on vsurie, nor men haue lent vnto me on vsurie: yet euery one doeth curse me.

11 The Lord said, [m] Surely thy remnant shall haue wealth: surely I will cause thine enemie to intreate thee in the time of trouble, and in the time of affliction.

12 Shall the [n] yron breake the yron, and the brasse that commeth from the North?

13 Thy substance and thy treasures will I giue to be spoyled without [||] gaine, and that for all thy sinnes euen in all thy borders.

14 And I will make thee to go with thine enemies into a land that thou knowest not: for a fire is kindled in mine anger, which shall burne you.

15 O Lord, thou knowest, remember me, and visite me, & reuenge me of my [o] persecuters; take me not away in the continuance of thine anger: know that for thy sake I haue suffered rebuke.

16 Thy wordes were found by me, and I did [p] eate them, and thy worde was vnto me the ioy and reioycing of mine heart: for thy Name is called vpon me, O Lord God of hostes.

17 I sate not in the assemblie of the mockers, neither did I reioyce, but sate alone [q] because of thy plague, for thou hast filled me [r] with indignation.

18 Why is mine heauines continuall? and my plague desperate and cannot be healed? why art thou vnto me [s] as a lyar, and as waters that faile?

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord, If thou [t] returne, then will I bring thee againe, & thou shalt stand before me: & if thou take away the [u] precious from the vile, thou shalt be [x] according to my worde: let them returne [x] vnto thee, but returne not thou vnto them.

20 And I will make thee vnto this people a strong brasen wall, & they shal fight against thee, but they shal not [y] preuaile against thee: for I am [z] thee to saue thee & to deliuer thee, saith the Lord.

21 And I will deliuer thee out of the hand of the wicked, and I will redeeme thee out of the hand of the tyrants.

k These are the prophets wordes, complaining of the obstinacie of the people, and that he was reserued to so wicked a time: wherein also he sheweth what is the condition of Gods ministers, to wit, to haue all the world against them, though they giue none occasion.

l Which is an occasion of contention and hatred.

m In this perplexitie the Lord comforted me, and said that my last dayes should be quiet: and by the enemie he meaneth here Nebuzarsidan the captain of Nebuchadnezzar, who gaue Ieremiah the choise either to remaine in his countrey, or to goe whither he would: or by the enemy he meaneth the Iewes, which should afterward knowe Ieremiahs fidelitie, & therefore fauour him.

n As for the people, though they seemed strong as yron, yet should they not be able to resist the hard yron of Babylon, but should be led captiues.

o He speaketh not this for desire of reuengeance, but wishing that God would deliuer his Church of them whome he knew to be hardened, and incorrigible.

p I received them with as great ioy, as he that is, assamished, eateth meate.

q I had nothing a doe with the wicked contemners of thy word, but lamented bitterly for thy plagues: shewing what the faithfull should do when they see tokens of Gods anger.

r And hast not assisted me according to thy promise? wherein appeareth that in the Saints of God is imperfection of faith, which through impatiencie is oft times assailed, as Chap. 20.7.

s If thou forget these carnall considerations, & faithfully execute thy charge.

t That is, seeke to winne the good from the bad.

u To wit, as my mouth hath pronounced, Chap. 1.18 & as here followeth vers. 20.

x Conforme not thy selfe to their wickednes, but let them follow thy godly example.

y I will arme thee with an inuincible strength & constancie, so that all the powers of the world shal not ouercome thee.

z Meaning, that the affliction should be so horrible in Ierusalem, that wife and children should not increase his sorrow.

CHAP. XVI.

2 The Lord forbidding Ieremiah to marrie, sheweth him what should be the afflictions vpon Iudah. 13 The captiuity of Babylon. 15 Their deliuerance. 19 The calling of the Gentiles.

THe worde of the Lord came also vnto mee, saying,

2 Thou shalt not take [a] thee a wife, nor haue sonnes nor daughters in this place.

3 For thus saith the Lorde concerning the sonnes, and concerning the daughters that are borne in this place, and concerning their mothers that beare them, and concerning their fathers that beget them in this land,

4 They shall dye of deathes and diseases: they shal not be lamented, neither shal they be buried, but they shall be as dung vpon the earth, & they shalbe consumed by the sword, & by famine, and their carkeises shalbe meate for the foules of the heauen, and for the beastes of the earth.

5 For thus saith the Lord, [b] Enter not into the house of mourning, neither goe to lament, nor be moued for them: for I haue taken my peace fro this people, saith the Lord, euen mercy & compassion.

6 Both the great and the small shall die in this land: they shall not be buryed, neither shall men lament for them [c] nor cut themselues, nor make themselues bald for them.

7 They shal not stretch out the hands for them in the morning to comfort them for the dead, neither shal they giue them the [d] cup of consolation to drink for their father or for their mother.

8 Thou shalt not also goe into the house of feasting to sit with them to eate and to drinke.

9 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will cause to cease out of this place in your eyes, euen in your dayes the voyce of mirth, and the voyce of gladnesse, the voyce of the bridegrome, and the voyce of the bride.

10 And when thou shalt shew this people all these words, & they shall say vnto thee, *Wherefore hath the Lorde pronounced all this great plague against vs? or what is [e] our iniquitie? and what is our sinne that we haue committed against the Lord our God?

11 Then shalt thou say vnto them, Because your fathers haue forsaken me, saith the Lord, and haue walked after other gods, and haue serued them, and worshipped them, and haue forsaken me, and haue not kept my Law,

12 (* And ye haue done worse then your fathers: for beholde, you walke euery one after the stubbernesse of his wicked heart, and will not heare me)

13 Therefore will I driue you out of this land into a land that ye knowe not, neither you, nor your fathers, and there shall ye serue other gods day and night: for I will shew you no grace.

14 * Beholde therefore, saith the Lord, the dayes come that it shall no more be sayde, The Lord liueth, which brought vp the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt, 15 But the Lorde liueth, that brought vp the children of Israel [f] from the land of the North, and from all the landes where hee had scattered them, and I will bring them againe into their land that I gaue vnto their fathers.

16 Behold, saith the Lord, I will send out many [g] fishers, and they shall fish them, and after, will I send out many hunters, and they shall hunt them from euery mountaine and from euery hil, and out of the caues of the rockes.

17 For mine eyes are vpon all their wayes: they are not hid from my face, neither is their iniquitie hid from mine eyes.

18 And first I will recompense their iniquitie and their sinne double, because they haue defiled my land, and haue filled mine inheritance with their filthie [h] carions, and their abominations.

19 O Lord, thou art my [i] force, & my strength, & my refuge in the day of affliction: the Gentiles shal come vnto thee from the ends of the world, and shall say, Surely our fathers haue inherited [k] lyes and vanitie, wherein was no profite.

20 Shall a man make gods vnto himselfe, and they are no gods?

21 Beholde,

b Signifying, that the affliction should be so great, that one should not haue leisure to comfort another.

c That is, should not rent their clothes in signe of mourning.

d For in these great extremities all consolation and comfort shall be in vaine.

* Chap. 5.19.

e Because the wicked are alwayes rebellious and dissemble their owne sinnes, and murmure against Gods iudgements as though he had no iust cause to punish them, he sheweth him what to answere.

* Chap. 7.26.

* Chap. 22.7.

f Signifying the benefite of their deliuerance out of Babylon should be so great that it should abolish the remembrance of their deliuerance from Egypt: but he hath here chiefely respect to the spirituall deliuerance vnder Christ.

g By the fishers & hunters are meant the Babylonians & Caldeans, who should destroy the in such sort, that if they escaped the one, the other should take them.

h That is, their sonnes and daughters, which they offered to Molech.

i He wondreth at the great mercie of God in this deliuerance, which shal not only extend to the Iewes, but also to the Gentiles.

k Our fathers were most vile idolaters: therefore it commeth onely of Gods mercie, that he perfometh his promise, and hath not vtterly cast vs off.

21 Beholde, therefore I will this once [l] teach them: I will shewe them mine hande and my power, and they shall knowe that my Name is the Lorde.

CHAP. XVII.

1 The feare and trust of the Iewes. 5 Cursed bee those that put their confidence in man. 9 Mans heart is wicked. 10 God is the searcher of the heart. 13 The liuing waters are forsaken. 21 The right keeping of the Sabbath commanded.

THe sinne of Iudah is [a] written with a penne of yron, and with the point of a dyamond, and grauen vpon the [b] table of their heart, and vpon the hornes of your [c] altars.

2 [d] They remember their altars as their children, with their groues by the greene trees vpon the hilles.

3 [e] O my mountaine in the fielde, I will giue thy substance, and all thy treasures to bee spoyled, for the sinne of thy hie places throughout all thy borders.

4 And thou shalt rest, [f] and in thee shall bee a rest from thine heritage that I gaue thee, and I will cause thee to serue thine enemies in the land, which thou knowest not: for yee haue kindled a fire in mine anger, which shall burne for euer.

5 ¶ Thus saith the Lorde, [g] Cursed be the man that trusteth in man, and maketh flesh his arme, and withdraweth his heart from the Lord.

6 For hee shall be like the heath in the wildernesse, and shall not see when any good commeth, but shall inhabite the parched places in the wildernesse, in a salt land, and not inhabited.

7 Blessed be the man that trusteth in the Lord, and whose hope the Lord is.

8 [h] For hee shall be as a tree that is planted by the water, which spreadeth out her rootes by the riuer, and shall not feele when the heate commeth, but her leafe shall bee greene, and shall not care for the yeere of drought, neither shall cease from yeelding fruite.

9 [i] The heart is deceitfull and wicked aboue all things, who can know it?

10 I the Lorde search the heart, and try the reines, euen to giue euery man according to his wayes, and according to the fruite of his workes.

11 [k] As the Partriche gathereth the yong, which she hath not brought forth: so he that getteth riches, and not by right, shall leaue them in the middes of his dayes, and at his ende shall bee a foole.

12 As a glorious throne [l] exalted from the beginning, so is the place of our Sanctuarie.

13 O Lorde, the hope of Israel, all that forsake thee, shall bee confounded: they that depart from thee, shall bee written [m] in the earth, because they haue forsaken the Lorde, the fountaine of liuing waters.

14 Heale me, O Lorde, and I shall bee whole: [n] saue mee, and I shall bee saued: for thou art my praise.

15 Beholde, [o] they say vnto mee, Where is the word of the Lord? let it come nowe.

16 But [p] I haue not thrust in my selfe for a pastour after thee, neither haue I desired the day of misery, thou knowest: that which came out of my lips, was right before thee.

17 Bee not [q] terrible vnto mee: thou art mine hope in the day of aduersitie.

18 Let them bee confounded, that persecute me, but let not me be confounded: let them be afraid, but let not mee be afraide: bring vpon them the day of aduersitie, [r] and destroy them with double destruction.

19 Thus hath the Lord said vnto me, Goe and stande in the [s] gate of the children of the people, whereby the Kings of Iudah come in, and by the which they go out, & in al the gates of Ierusalem, 20 And say vnto them, Heare the word of the Lord, ye Kings of Iudah, and all Iudah, and all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, [ŷ] enter in by the gates.

21 Thus saith the Lorde, Take heede to your soules, and beare no burden in the [t] Sabbath day, nor bring it in by the gates of Ierusalem.

22 Neither cary foorth burdens out of your houses in the Sabbath day: neither doe yee any worke, but sanctifie the Sabbath, as I commaunded your fathers.

23 But they obeyed not, neither inclined their eares, but made their neckes stiffe and would not heare, nor receiue correction.

24 Neuertheles if yee will heare mee, saith the Lorde, and beare no burden through the gates of the citie in the Sabbath day, but sanctifie the Sabbath day, so that yee doe no worke therein,

25 Then shall the Kings and the Princes enter in at the gates of this citie, and shall sit *vpon the throne of Dauid, and shall ride vpon charets, and vpon horses, both they and their princes, the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem: and this citie shall remaine for euer.

26 And they shall come from the cities of Iudah, and from about Ierusalem, and from the land of Beniamin, and from the plaine, and from the mountaines, & from the South, which shall bring burnt offerings, and sacrifices, and meate offrings, and incense, and shall bring sacrifice of praise into the house of the Lord.

27 But if you wil not heare me to sanctifie the Sabbath day, and not to beare a burden nor to go through the gates of Ierusalem in the Sabbath day, then wil I kindle a fire in the gates thereof, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Ierusalem, and it shall not be quenched.

CHAP. XVIII.

2 God sheweth by the example of a potter, that it is in his power to destroy the destroiers of his worde. 18 The conspiracie of the Iewes against Jeremiah. 19 His prayer against his aduersaries.

THe worde which came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Arise, and go downe into the potters house, and there shall I shewe thee my wordes.

3 Then I went downe to the potters house, and beholde, he wrought a worke on the wheeles.

4 And the vessell that hee made of [a] clay, was broken in the hande of the potter, so he returned, and made it another vessel, as seemed good to the potter to make it.

5 Then the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

[l] They shall once againe feele my power, and mercy for their deliuerance, that they may learne to worship me.

[a] The remembrance of their contempt of God cannot passe, albeit for a time hee deferre the punishment, for it shall be manifest to men and Angels.
[b] Instead of the Law of God, they haue written idolatrie and all abominations in their heart.
[c] Your sinnes appeare in all the altars that you haue erected of deules.
[d] Some reade, So that their children remember their altars, that is, folow their fathers wickednesse.
[e] Zion that was my mountaine shall now be left as a waste field.
[f] Because thou wouldest not giue the land rest at such times, dayes, and yeeres, as I appointed, thou shalt hereafter be caried away, and it shall rest for lacke of labourers.
[g] The Iewes were giuen to worldly policies, & thought to make themselues strong by the friendship of the Egyptians, Isa 31.3. and strangers, and in the meane season did not depend on God, and therefore he denounceth Gods plagues against them, shewing that they preferre corruptible man to God, which is immortall, Isa. 2.22.

6 O house of Israel, cannot I doe with you as this potter, saith the Lord? beholde, as the clay is in the potters hande, so are you in mine hande, O house of Israel.

7 I will speake suddenly against a nation, or against a kingdome to plucke it vp, and to roote it out and to destroy it.

8 But if the nation, against whom I haue pronounced, turne from their wickednesse, I will b repent of the plague that I thought to bring vpon them.

9 And I will speake suddenly concerning a nation, and concerning a kingdome to builde it and to plant it.

10 But if it doe euil in my sight and heare not my voyce, I wil repent of the good that I thought to doe for them.

11 Speake thou now therefore vnto the men of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, saying, Thus saith ỹ Lord, beholde, I prepare a plague for you, and purpose a thing against you: returne you therefore euery one from his euill way, and make your wayes and your workes good.

12 But they sayde c desperately, Surely wee will walke after our owne imaginations, and doe euery man after the stubburnesse of his wicked heart.

13 Therefore thus saith the Lorde, Aske now among the heathen, who hath heard such things? the virgine of Israel hath done very filthily.

14 Will a man forsake the snowe of Lebanon, which commeth from the rocke of the fielde? d or shall the colde flowing waters, that come from another place, be forsaken?

15 Because my people hath forgotten me, and haue burnt incense to vanitie, and their Prophets haue caused them to stumble in their wayes from the e ancient wayes, to walke in the paths and way that is not troden,

16 To make their land desolate and a perpetual derision, so that euery one that passeth thereby, shalbe astonished and wagge his head,

17 I will scatter them with an East winde before the enemie: I wil shewe them the backe, and not the face in the day of their destruction.

18 Then sayde they, Come, and let vs imagine some deuise against Ieremiah: for the Law g shall not perish from the Priest, nor counsell from the wise, nor the worde from the Prophet: come, and let vs smite him with the h tongue, and let vs not giue heede to any of his words.

19 Hearken vnto mee, O Lorde, and heare the voyce of them that contend with me.

20 Shall euill bee recompensed for good? for they haue digged a pit for my soule: remember that I stood before thee, to speake good for them and to turne away thy wrath from them.

21 Therefore, i deliuer vp their children to famine, and let them drop away by the force of the sworde, and let their wiues be robbed of their children, and be widowes: and let their husbands be put to death, and let their yong men bee slaine by the sword in the battel.

22 Let the cry bee heard from their houses, when thou shalt bring an hoste suddenly vpon them: for they haue digged a pit to take me, and hid snares for my feete.

23 Yet Lord thou knowest all their counsel against me tendeth to death: forgiue not their iniquitie, neither put out their sinne from thy sight, but let them bee ouerthrowen before thee: deale thus with them in the time of thine anger.

CHAP. XIX.

Hee propheciеth the destruction of Ierusalem for the contempt and despising of the word of God.

THus sayde the Lord, Goe, and buy an earthen bottel of a potter, and take of the ancients of the people, and of the ancients of the Priests,

2 And goe foorth vnto the valley of Ben-hinnom, which is by the entrie of the ‖ East gate: and thou shalt preach there the wordes, that I shall tell thee,

3 And shalt say, Heare yee the worde of the Lorde, O a Kings of Iudah, and inhabitants of Ierusalem, Thus saith the Lorde of hostes, the God of Israel, Beholde, I will bring a plague vpon this place, the which whosoeuer heareth, his eares shall b tingle.

4 Because they haue forsaken mee, and profaned this place, and haue burnt incense in it vnto other gods, whome neither they, nor their fathers haue knowen, nor the Kings of Iudah: (they haue filled this place also with the blood of innocents,

5 And they haue built the hie places of Baal, to burne their sonnes with fire for burnt offrings vnto Baal, which I c commanded not, nor spake it, neither came it into my minde)

6 Therefore beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that this place shall no more be called d Topheth nor the valley of Ben-hinnom, but the valley of slaughter.

7 And I wil bring the counsel of Iudah and Ierusalem to nought in this place, and I will cause them to fal by the sword before their enemies, and by the hande of them that seeke their liues: and their carkeises wil I giue to be meat for the foules of the heauen, and to the beastes of the fielde.

8 *And I will make this citie desolate and an hissing, so that euery one that passeth thereby, shall bee astonished and hisse because of all the plagues thereof.

9 *And I wil feede them with the flesh of their sonnes and with the flesh of their daughters, and euery one shall eate the flesh of his friende in the siege and straitnes, wherewith their enemies that seeke their liues, shall hold them strait.

10 Then shalt thou breake the bottell in the sight of the men that goe with thee, 11 And shalt say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Euen so will I breake this people and this citie, as one breaketh a e potters vessell, that cannot be made whole againe, and they shall bury them in Topheth til there be no place to bury.

12 Thus will I doe vnto this place, saith the Lorde, and to the inhabitants thereof, and I will make this citie like Topheth.

13 For the houses of Ierusalem, and the houses of the Kings of Iudah shall be defiled as the place of Topheth, because of all the houses vpō whose g rooues they haue burnt incense vnto al the hoste of heauen, and haue powred out drinke offerings vnto other gods.

14 Then came Ieremiah frō Topheth where the Lord had sent him to prophesie, and he stood in the court of the Lordes house, and sayde to all the people, b When the Scripture attributeth repentance vnto God, it is not that he doth contrary to that which he hath ordeined in his secret counsell: but when hee threateneth, it is a calling to repentance, and when he giueth man grace to repent, the threatning (which euer conteineth a condition in it) taketh no place: and this the Scripture calleth repentance in God, because it so appeareth to mans iudgement.

c As men that had no remorse, but were altogether bent to rebellion, and to their owne selfe will.

15 Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Beholde, I will bring vpon this citie, and vpon all her townes, all the plagues that I haue pronounced against it, because they haue hardened their necks, and would not heare my words.

CHAP. XX.

2 Jeremiah is smitten and cast into prison for preaching of the word of God. 3 Hee propheseth the captiuitie of Babylon. 7 He complaineth that he is a mocking flocke for the word of God. 9 He is compelled by the spirit to preach the word.

WHen Pashur, the sonne of Immer, the Priest, which was appointed gouernour in the house of the Lord, heard that Ieremiah propheſied these things,

2 Then Pashur smote Ieremiah the Prophet, and put him in the [a] stocks that were in the high gate of Beniamin which was by the House of the Lord.

3 And on the morning, Pashur brought Ieremiah out of the stocks. Then sayd Ieremiah vnto him, The Lord hath not called thy name Pashur, but ‖ Magor-missabib.

4 For thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will make thee to be a terrour to thy selfe, and to all thy friends, and they shall fall by the sword of their enemies, and thine eyes shall behold it, and I will giue all Iudah into the hand of the king of Babel, and he shall carie them captiue into Babel, and shall slay them with the sword.

5 Moreouer, I will deliuer all the substance of this citie, and all the labours thereof, and all the precious things thereof, and all the treasures of the Kings of Iudah will I giue into the hand of their enemies, which shall spoyle them, and take them away and cary them to Babel.

6 And thou Pashur, and all that dwell in thine house, shal go into captiuitie, and thou shalt come to Babel, and there thou shalt die, and shalt be buried there, thou and all thy [b] friends, to whom thou hast propheſied lies.

7 O Lord, thou hast deceiued me, and I am [c] deceiued: thou art stronger then I, and hast [d] preuailed: I am in derision dayly: euery one mocketh me.

8 For since I spake, I cried out of wrong, and proclaimed [e] desolation, therefore the word of the Lord was made a reproch vnto me, and in derision dayly.

9 Then I sayd, I will not make mention of him, nor speake any more in his Name. But his word was in mine heart as a burning fire shut vp in my bones, and I was wearie with forbearing, and I could not stay.

10 For I had heard the railing of many, and feare on euery side. [f] Declare, sayd they, and we will declare it: all my familiars watched for mine halting, saying, It may be that he is deceiued: so we shall preuaile against him, and we shall execute our vengeance vpon him.

11 [g] But the Lord is with me like a mighty giant: therefore my persecuters shalbe ouerthrowen, and shall not preuaile, and shalbe greatly confounded: for they haue done vnwisely, and their euerlasting shame shall neuer be forgotten.

12 * But, O Lord of hosts, that triest the righteous, and seest the reines and the heart, let me see thy vengeance on them: for vnto thee haue I opened my cause.

13 Sing vnto the Lord, praise ye the Lord: for he hath deliuered the soule of the poore from the hand of the wicked.

14 ¶ [h] Cursed be the day wherein I was borne: and let not the day wherein my mother bare me, be blessed.

15 Cursed be the man, that shewed my father, saying, A man childe is borne vnto thee, and comforted him.

16 And let that man be as the [i] cities, which the Lord hath ouerturned & repented not: and let him heare the crie in the morning, and the shouting at noone ride, 17 Because he hath not slaine me, euen from the wombe, or that my mother might haue bene my graue, or her wombe a perpetuall [k] conception.

18 How is it, that I came forth of the wombe, to see labour and sorow, that my dayes should be consumed with shame?

CHAP. XXI.

He propheſieth that Zedekiah shalbe taken, and the citie burned.

THe word which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, when king Zedekiah sent vnto him Pashur, the sonne of Malchiah, and Zephaniah, the sonne of Maasciah the Priest, saying,

2 [a] Inquire, I pray thee, of the Lord for vs, (for Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel maketh warre against vs) if so be that the Lord will deale with vs according to all his woonderous works, that he may returne vp from vs.

3 Then sayd Ieremiah, Thus shall you say to Zedekiah,

4 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Beholde, I will [b] turne backe the weapons of warre that are in your hands, wherewith yee fight against the king of Babel, and against the Caldeans, which besiege you without the walles, and I will assemble them into the mids of this citie.

5 And I my selfe will fight against you with an outstretched hand, and with a mightie arme euen in anger and in wrath, and in great indignation.

6 And I will smite the inhabitants of this citie, both man and beast: they shall die of a great pestilence.

7 And after this, saith the Lord, I will deliuer Zedekiah the king of Iudah, and his seruants, and the people, and such as are left in this citie, from the pestilence, from the sword, and from the famine into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of those that seeke their liues, and he shall smite them with the edge of the sword: he shall not spare them, neither haue pitie nor compassion.

8 ¶ And vnto this people thou shalt say, Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I set before you the [c] way of life, and the way of [d] death.

9 * Hee that abideth in this citie, shall die by the sword and by the famine, and by the pestilence: but he that goeth out, and falleth to the Caldeans, that besiege you, he shall liue, and his life shalbe vnto him for a [e] pray.

10 For I haue set my face against this citie, for euill and not for good, saith the Lord: it shall be giuen into the hand of the King of Babel, and he shall burne it with fire.

liuer the oppressed out of the hand of the oppressour, lest my wrath go out like fire and burne, that none can quench it, because of the wickednesse of your works.

g Meaning Ierusalem, which was builded part on the hill and part in the valley and was compassed about with mountaines.

CHAP. XXII.

2 He exhorteth the King to iudgement & righteousnesse. 9 Why Ierusalem is brought into captiuitie. 11 The death of Shallum the sonne of Iosiah is prophesied.

THus sayd the Lord, Goe downe to the house of the King of Iudah, and speake there this thing,

2 And say, Heare the word of the Lord, O King of Iudah, that sittest vpon the throne of Dauid, thou and thy seruants, and thy people that enter in by these gates.

3 Thus sayth the Lord, * Execute ye iudgement and a righteousnesse, and deliuer the oppressed from the hand of the oppressour, and vexe not the stranger, the fatherlesse, nor the widow: do no violence, nor shead innocent blood in this place.

4 For if ye doe this thing, then shall the kings sitting vpon the throne of Dauid enter in by the gates of this House, * and ride vpon charets, and vpon horses, both he and his seruants and his people.

5 But if yee will not heare these words, I b sweare by my selfe, sayth the Lord, that this House shall be waste.

6 For thus hath the Lord spoken vpon the kings house of Iudah, Thou art c Gilead vnto me, and the head of Lebanon, yet surely I will make thee a wildernesse, and as cities not inhabited,

7 And I will d prepare destroyers against thee, euery one with his weapons, and they shall cut downe thy chiefe e cedar trees, and cast them in the fire.

8 f And many nations shall passe by this citie, and they shall say euery man to his neighbour, Wherefore hath the Lord done thus vnto this great citie?

9 Then shall they answere, Because they haue forsaken the couenant of the Lord their God, and worshipped other gods, and serued them.

10 ¶ Weepe not for the dead, and be not moued for them, but weepe for him g that goeth out: for he shall returne no more, nor see his natiue countrey.

11 For thus saith the Lord, As touching h Shallum the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, which reigned for Iosiah his father, which went out of this place, he shall not returne thither, 12 But he shall die in the place, whither they haue led him captiue, and shall see this land no more.

13 ¶ Woe vnto him that buildeth his house by i vnrighteousnesse, and his chambers without equitie: he vseth his neighbour without wages, and giueth him not for his worke.

14 He saith, I will build me a wide house and large chambers: so hee will make him selfe large windoes, and seeling with cedar, and paint them with vermilion.

15 Shalt thou reigne, because thou closest thy selfe in cedar? did not thy k father eate and drinke, and prosper, when he executed iudgement and iustice?

16 When he iudged the cause of the afflicted and the poore, he prospered: was not this because he knew me, sayth the Lord?

17 But thine eyes and thine heart are but onely for thy couetousnesse, and for to shead innocent blood, and for oppression, and for destruction, euen to do this.

18 Therefore thus sayth the Lord against Iehoiakim, the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, They shall not lament l him, saying, Ah, my brother, or ah sister: neither shall they mourne for him, saying, Ah, lord, or ah, his glorie.

19 He shall be buried, as an asse m is buried, euen drawen and cast foorth without the gates of Ierusalem.

20 ¶ Goe vp to n Lebanon, and crie: shout in o Bashan, and crie by the passages: for all thy louers are destroyed.

21 I spake vnto thee when thou wast in prosperitie: but thou saidest, I will not heare: this hath bene thy maner from thy youth, that thou wouldest not obey my voyce.

22 The winde shall feed all thy pastors, p and thy louers shall goe into captiuitie: and then shalt thou be ashamed and confounded of all thy wickednesse.

23 Thou that dwellest in Lebanon, and makest thy nest in the q cedars, how beautifull shalt thou be when sorowes come vpon thee, as the sorow of a woman in trauaile?

24 As I liue, saith the Lord, though r Coniah the sonne of Iehoiakim King of Iudah, were the signet of my right hand, yet would I plucke thee thence.

25 And I will giue thee into the hand of them that seeke thy life, and into the hand of them, whose face thou fearest, euen into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and into the hand of the Caldeans.

26 And I will cause them to cary thee away, and thy mother that bare thee, into another countrey, where ye were not borne, and there shall ye die.

27 But to the land, whereunto they desire to returne, they shall returne thither.

28 Is not this man Coniah as a despised and broken idole? or as a vessell, wherein is no pleasure? wherefore are they caried away, he and his seed, and cast out into a land that they know not?

29 O earth, earth, earth, heare the word of the Lord.

30 Thus sayth the Lord, Write this t man destitute of children, a man that shall not prosper in his dayes: for there shall be no man of his seed that shall prosper and sit vpon the throne of Dauid, or beare rule any more in Iudah.

k Meaning Iosiah, who was not giuen to ambition and superfluitie, but was content with mediocritie, and did onely delight in setting forth Gods glorie and to doe iustice to all.

n Which they haue inuented of their owne braine.

WO be vnto a the pastors that destroy and scatter b the sheepe of my pasture, saieth the Lord.

2 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God of Israel vnto the pastours that c feed my people, Yee haue scattered my flocke and thrust them out, and haue not visited them: beholde, I will visite you for the wickednesse of your worke, sayeth the Lord.

3 And I will gather the d remnant of my sheepe out of all countries, whither I had driuen them, and will bring them againe to their foldes, and they shall grow and encrease.

4 And I will set vp shepheardes ouer them, which shall feede them: and they shall dread no more nor be afraid, neyther shall any of them be lacking, saith the Lord.

5 Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will raise vnto Dauid a righteous e branch, and a King shall reigne, and prosper, and shall execute iudgement, and iustice in the earth.

6 In his dayes Iudah shal be saued, and* Israel shall dwel safely, and this is the Name whereby they shall cal him, * The Lorde our righteousnesse.

7 Therefore behold, the daies come, saith the Lord, that they shall no more say, The f Lord liueth, which brought vp the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt,

8 But the Lord liueth, which brought vp and led the seed of the house of Israel out of g North countrey and from all countreyes where I had scattered them, and they shal dwell in their owne land.

9 Mine heart breaketh within mee, because of the g prophets, all my bones shake, I am like a drunken man (and like a man whom wine hath †ouercome) for the presence of the Lord and for his holy words.

10 For the land is full of adulterers, and because of othes the land mourneth, the pleasant places of the wildernesse are dried vp, and their h course is euil, and their force is not right.

11 For both the prophet and the Priest ‖ doe wickedly: and their wickednesse haue I found in mine i House, sayeth the Lord.

12 Wherefore their way shalbe vnto them as slipperie wayes in the darkenesse they shalbe driuen foorth and fall therein: for I will bring a plague vpon them, euen the yeere of their visitation, saieth the Lord.

13 And I haue seene foolishnesse in the prophets of Samaria, that prophecied in Baal, & caused my people Israel to erre.

14 I haue seene also in the prophets of Ierusalem k filthines? they commit adultery & walke in lies: they strengthen also the hands of the wicked that none can returne from his wickednesse: they are all vnto l me as Sodome, and the inhabitants thereof as Gomorah,

15 Therefore thus sayeth the Lorde of hostes concerning the prophetes, Beholde, I will feede them with m wormewood, & make them drinke the water of gall: for from the prophets of Ierusalem is ‖ wickednes gone forth into all the land.

16 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Heare not the words of the prophets that prophecie vnto you, and teach you vanitie: they speake the vision of their owne heart, and not out of the mouth of the Lord.

17 They say still vnto them that despise mee, The Lord hath sayde, Ye o shall haue peace: and they say vnto euery one that walketh after the stubbernesse of his owne heart, No euill shall come vnto you.

18 For p who hath stoode in the counsell of the Lorde that hee hath perceiued and heard his worde? Who hath marked his worde and heard it?

19 Beholde, the tempest of the Lorde goeth foorth in his wrath, and a violent whirlewind shal fall downe vpon the head of the wicked.

18 The anger of the Lorde shall not returne vntill he haue executed, and till he haue performed the thoughts of his heart: in the latter dayes ye q shall vnderstand it plainely.

21 * I haue not sent these prophets, saieth the Lord, yet they ranne: I haue not spoken to them, and yet they prophecied.

22 But if they had stood in my counsell, and r had declared my words to my people, then they should haue turned them from that euill way, and from the wickednesse of their inuentions.

23 Am I a God at hand, saith the Lord, and not a God f farre off?

24 Can any hide himselfe in secrete places, that I shall not see him, saith the Lorde? Doe not I fill heauen and earth, saith the Lord?

25 I haue heard what the prophets sayde, that prophecie lies in my Name, saying, I t haue dreamed, I haue dreamed.

26 How long? † Doe the prophetes delite to prophecie lies, euen prophecying the deceite of their owne heart?

17 Thinke they to cause u my people to forget my Name by their dreames, which they tell euery man to his neighbour, as their forhfathers haue forgotten my Name for Baal?

21 The Prophet that hath a dreame, let him x tell a dreame, and he that hath my worde, let him speake my worde faithfully: y what is the chaffe to the wheate, saith the Lord?

29 Is not my word euen like a fire, sayeth the Lorde? and like a hammer, that breaketh the stone?

32 Beholde, I will come against them that prophecie false dreames, saith the Lorde, and doe tell them, and cause my people to erre by their lies, and by their flatteries, and I sent them not, nor commanded them: therefore they bring no profite vnto this people, saith the Lord.

33 And when this people, or the prophet, or a Priest shall aske thee, saying, What is the b burden of the Lord? thou shalt then say vnto them, What burden? I will euen forsake you, saieth the Lord.

CHAP. XXIIII.

1 The vision of the baskets of figs. 5 Signifieth that part of the people should be brought again from captiuitie, 8 And that Zedekiah and the rest of the people should be carried away.

THe Lorde shewed me, and behold, two [a] baskets of figges were set before the Temple of the Lorde, after that Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel had carried away captiue Ieconiah the sonne of Iehoiakim King of Iudah, and the princes of Iudah with the workemen, and the cunning men of Ierusalem, and had brought them to Babel.

2 One basket had very good figges, euen like the figges that are first ripe: and the other basket had very naughtie figs, which could not be eaten, they were so euill.

3 Then sayde the Lorde vnto mee, What seest thou, Ieremiah? And I sayd, Figges, the good figs very good, and the naughtie very naughtie, which cannot be eaten, they are so euill.

4 Againe the worde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

5 Thus sayeth the Lorde, the God of Israel, Like these good figges, so will I know them that are [c] ied away captiue of Iudah to bee good, whome I haue sent out of this [b] place, into the land of the Caldeans.

6 For I wil set mine eyes vpon them for good, and I will bring them againe to this land, and I wil build them, and not destroy them: and I will plant them, and not roote them out,

7 And I will giue them [c] an heart to knowe me, that I am the Lord, and they shalbe my *people, and I will be their God: for they shal returne vnto me with their whole heart.

8 *And as the naughtie figges which cannot be eaten, they are so euill (surely thus sayeth the Lord) so will I giue Zedekiah the king of Iudah, and his princes, and the residue of Ierusalem, that remaine in this land, and them that dwel [d] in the land of Egypt:

9 I wil euen giue them for a terrible plague to all the kingdomes of the earth, and for a reproch, and for a prouerbe, for a common talke, and for a curse in all places where I shall cast them.

10 And I will send the sword, the famine, and the pestilence among them, till they bee consumed out of the land, that I gaue vnto them and to their fathers.

CHAP. XXV.

1 He prophecieth that they shall be in captiuitie seuentie yeres, 12 And that after the seuentie yeeres the Babylonians should be destroyed. 15 The destruction of all nations is prophecied.

THe word that came to Ieremiah, concerning all the people of Iudah in the [a] fourth yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah that was in the first yeere of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel:

4 And the Lord hath sent vnto you all his seruants the Prophets, rising early & sending them, but yee would not heare, and incline your eares to obey.

5 They [d] sayde, Turne againe now euery one from his euill way, and from the wickednesse of your inuentions, and yee shall dwell in the land that the Lorde hath giuen vnto you, and to your fathers for euer and euer.

6 And goe not after other Gods to serue them and to worship them, and prouoke me not to anger with the works of your handes, and I wil not punish you.

7 Neuertheless yee woulde not heare mee, sayeth the Lord, but haue prouoked mee to anger with the works of your handes to your owne hurt.

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, Because ye haue not heard my words, 9 Beholde, I will send and take to mee all the [e] families of the North, sayeth the Lord, and Nebuchad-nezzar the King of Babel my [f] seruaunt, and will bring them against this land, and against the inhabitants thereof, and against all these nations [g] round about, and will destroy them, and make them an astonishment and an hissing, and a continuall desolation.

CHAP. XXVI.

2 Ieremiah moueth the people to repentance. 7 He is taken of the false prophets and priests, and brought to iudgement. 23 Vriiah the Prophet is killed of Iehoiakim contrary to the will of God.

IN the beginning of the reigne of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, came this word from the Lord, saying,

2 Thus sayth the Lord, Stand in the a court of the Lords house, and speake vnto all the cities of Iudah, which come to worship in the Lordes House, all the words that I command thee to speake vnto them: keepe not b a word backe, a That is, in that place of the Temple whereunto the people resort out of all Iudah to sacrifice.

b To the intent that they should pretend no ignorance, as Acts 20. 27.

3 If so be they will hearken, and turne euery man from his euill way, that I may c repent me of the plague, which I haue determined to bring vpon them, because of the wickednesse of their works.

c Reade Chap. 18.8.

4 And thou shalt say vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord, If ye will not heare me to walke in my Lawes, which I haue set before you,

d Reade Chap. 7.12.

5 And to heare the words of my seruants the Prophets, whom I sent vnto you, both rising vp early, and sending them, and will not obey them.

e So that when they would curse any, they shall say, God doe to thee as to Ierusalem.

6 Then will I make this House like d Shiloh, and will make this city e a curse to all the nations of the earth.

f Because of Gods promise to the Temple, Psal. 132. 14. that he would for euer remaine there, the hypocrites thought this Temple could neuer perish, & therefore thought it blasphemie to speake against it, Matth. 26.61 Acts 6.13 not considering that this was meant of the Church, where God will remaine for euer.

7 So the Priests, and the Prophets, and all the people heard Ieremiah speaking these words in the House of the Lord.

g So called, because it was repaired by Ioatham 2. King. 15.35.

8 Now when Ieremiah had made an end of speaking all that the Lord had commanded him to speake vnto all the people, then the f Priests, and the Prophets, and all the people tooke him, and sayd, Thou shalt die the death.

† Ebr. iudgement of death belongeth to this man.

9 Why hast thou prophesied in the Name of the Lord, saying, This f House shalbe like Shiloh, and this citie shall be desolate without an inhabitant? and all the people were gathered against Ieremiah in the House of the Lord.

h He both sheweth the cause of his doings plainly, and also threateneth them that they should nothing auaile though they should put him to death, but heape greater vengeance vpon their heads.

10 And when the Princes of Iudah heard of these things, they came vp from the Kings house into the House of the Lord, and sate downe in the entrie of the g new gate of the Lords House.

11 Then spake the Priests, and the Prophets vnto the Princes, and to all the people, saying, † This man is worthy to die: for he hath prophesied against this citie, as ye haue heard with your eares.

your works, and heare the voice of the Lord your God, that the Lord may repent him of the plague that he hath pronounced against you.

14 As for me, beholde, I am in your hands: do with me as ye thinke good and right.

15 But know ye for certeine, that if ye put me to death, ye shal surely bring innocent blood vpō your selues, & vpon this citie, & vpon the inhabitants thereof: for of a truth the Lord hath sent me vnto you, to speake all these words in your eares.

16 Then sayd the princes and all the people vnto the Priests, and to the Prophets, This man is not worthie to die: for he hath spoken vnto vs in the Name of the Lord our God.

17 ¶ Then rose vp certeine of the Elders of the land, and spake to all the assembly of the people, saying,

18 Michah the Morashite * prophesied in the dayes of Hezekiah king of Iudah, and spake to all the people of Iudah, saying, Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Zion shalbe plowed like a field, and Ierusalem shalbe an heape, & the mountaine of the i House shalbe as the hie places of the forest.

19 Did Hezekiah King of Iudah, and all Iudah put him to death? did he not feare the Lord, and prayed before the Lord, and the Lord repented him of the k plague, that he had pronounced against them? Thus might we procure great euill against our soules.

20 And there was also a man that prophesied in the Name of the Lord, one Vriah the sonne of Shemaiah, of Kiriath-iarem, who prophesied against this citie, and against this land, according to all the words of Ieremiah.

21 Nowe when Iehoiakim the King with all his men of power, and all the princes heard his words, the King sought to slay him. But when Vriiah heard it, he was afrayd and fled, and went into Egypt.

22 Then Iehoiakim the King l sent men into Egypt, euen Elnathan the sonne of Achbor, and certeine with him into Egypt.

23 And they fet Vriiah out of Egypt, & brought him vnto Iehoiakim the King, who slew him with the sword, and m cast his dead bodie into the graues of the children of the people.

24 But the hand of Ahikam n the sonne of Shaphan was with Ieremiah that they should not giue him into the hand of the people to put him to death.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Ieremiah, at the commandement of the Lord, sendeth to the King of Iudah and to the other Kings that were here, where by they are monished to be subiects vnto Nebuchad-nezzar.
9 He warneth the people, and the Kings and rulers that they beleeue not false prophets.

a As touching the disposition of these prophesies, they that gathered the into a booke, did not altogether obserue the order of times, but did set some afore which should be after, and contrariwise: which if the reader marke well, it shall auoid many doubts, and make the reading much more easie. b By such signes the Prophets vsed sometimes to confirme their prophesies, which notwithstanding they could not do of themselues, but inasmuch as they had a reuelation for the same, Isa. 30. 2. and therfore the false prophets to get more credit, did vse also such visible signes, but they had no reuelation, 1. King. 22. 12.

IN the beginning of the reigne of a Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah came this word vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Thus sayth the Lord to mee. Make thee b bonds, and yokes, & put them vpon thy necke,

3 And send them to the King of Edom, and to the King of Moab, and to the King of the Ammonites, & to the King of Tyrus, and to the King of Zidon, by the hand of the messengers which come to Ierusalem vnto Zedekiah the King of Iudah,

4 And command them to say vnto their masters, Thus sayth the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, Thus shall ye say vnto your masters,

5 I haue made the earth, the man, & the beast that are vpon the ground, by my great power, and by my outstretched arme, and haue giuen it vnto whom it pleased me.

6 But now I haue giuen all these lands into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar the King of Babel my c seruant, and the beasts of the field haue I also giuen him to serue him.

7 And all nations shall serue him, and his d sonne, and his sonnes sonne vntill the very time of his land come also: then many nations and great Kings shall e serue themselues of him.

8 And the nation and kingdome which will not serue the same Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and that will not put their necke vnder the yoke of the king of Babel, the same nation will I visit saith the Lord, with the sword, and with the famine, and with the pestilence, vntil I haue wholly giuen them into his hands.

9 Therefore heare not your prophets nor your soothsayers, nor your dreamers, nor your inchanters, nor your sorcerers, which say vnto you thus, Ye shall not serue the King of Babel.

10 For they prophesie a lie vnto you to cause you to go farre from your land, and that I should cast you out, and you should perish.

11 But the nation that put their necks vnder the yoke of the King of Babel, and serue him, those will I let remaine still in their owne land, saith the Lord, and they shall occupie it, and dwel therein.

12 ¶ I spake also to Zedekiah King of Iudah according to all these words, saying, Put your necks vnder the yoke of the King of Babel, and serue him and his people, that ye may liue.

13 Why will ye die, thou, and thy people by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, as the Lord hath spoken against the nation that will not serue the King of Babel?

14 Therefore heare not the words of the prophets that speake vnto you, saying, Ye shall not serue the King of Babel: for they prophesie a lie vnto you.

15 For I haue not * sent them, saith the Lord, yet they prophesie a lie in my name, that I might cast you out, and that ye might perish, both you, and the prophets that prophesie vnto you.

niah the sonne of Iehoiakim King of Iudah from Ierusalem to Babel, with all the nobles of Iudah and Ierusalem.

21 For thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, concerning the vessels that remaine in the House of the Lorde, and in the house of the King of Iudah, and at Ierusalem, 22 They shall be brought to Babel, and there they shalbe vntill the day that I visite [b] them, saith the Lord: then will I bring them vp, and restore them vnto this place.

b That is, for the space of seuentie yeeres, till I haue caused the Medes and Persians to ouercome the Caldeans.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 The false prophecie of Hananiah. 12 Ieremiah reproueth Hananiah, and prophecieth.

AND that same yeere in the beginning of the [a] reigne of Zedekiah King of Iudah in the [b] fourth yeere, and in the fifth moneth, Hananiah the sonne of Azur the Prophet, which was of [c] Gibeon, spake to me in the House of the Lorde in the presence of the Priestes, and of all the people, and said, a When Ieremiah began to beare these bondes and yokes.

b After that the land had rested, as Leuit. 25.2.

2 Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, saying, I haue broken the yoke of the King of Babel.

c This was a citie in Beniamin belonging to the sonnes of Aaron, Iosh. 21.17.

3 † Within two yeeres space I will bring into this place all the vessels of the Lordes House, that Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel tooke away from this place, and caryed them into Babel.

4 And I will bring againe to this place Ieconiah the sonne of Iehoiakim king of Iudah, with all them that were caryed away captiue of Iudah, and went into Babel, saith the Lorde: for I will breake the yoke of the King of Babel.

5 Then the Prophet Ieremiah said vnto the [d] Prophet Hananiah in the presence of the Priests, and in the presence of all the people that stood in the House of the Lord, d He was so esteemed, though he was a false prophet.

6 Euen the Prophet Ieremiah said, So be it: the [e] Lord so doe, the Lord confirme thy wordes which thou hast prophecied to restore the vessels of the Lordes House, and all that is carryed captiue, from Babel into this place.

e That is, I would with the same for Gods honour, and wealth of my people, but he hath appointed the contrarie.

7 But heare thou nowe this worde that I wil speake in thine eares, and in the eares of all the people.

8 The Prophets that haue bene before me and before thee in time past, [f] prophecied against many countreys, and against great kingdomes of warre, and of plagues, and of pestilence.

f Meaning, that the Prophets that did either denounce warre or peace, were tried either true or false by the successe of their prophecies. Albeit God maketh to come to passe sometime that which the false prophet speaketh, to trie the faith of his, Deut 13.3.

9 And the Prophet which prophecieth of peace, when the worde of the Prophet shall come to passe, then shall the Prophet bee knowen that the Lord hath truely sent him.

10 Then Hananiah the prophet tooke the yoke from the Prophet Ieremiahs necke, and [g] brake it.

g This declareth the impudencie of the wicked hirelings, which haue no zeale to the trueth, but are led with ambition to get the fauour of men, and therefore cannot abide any, that might discredite them, but burst foorth into rages, and contrary to their owne conscience, passe not what lies they report, or how wickedly they doe, so that they may maintaine their estimation.

11 And Hananiah spake in the presence of all the people, saying, Thus saith the Lorde, Euen so will I breake the yoke of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, from the necke of all nations within the space of two yeeres: and the Prophet Ieremiah went his way.

12 ¶ Then the word of the Lorde came vnto Ieremiah the Prophet, (after that Hananiah the prophet had broken the yoke from the necke of the Prophet Ieremiah) saying, 13 Goe, and tell Hananiah, saying, Thus saith the Lorde, Thou hast broken the yokes of wood, but thou shalt make for them yokes of yron.

14 For thus saith the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel, I haue put a [h] yoke of yron vpon the necke of al these nations, that they may serue Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel: for they shal serue him, and I haue giuen him the [i] beastes of the field also.

h That is a hard, and cruel seruitude.
i Signifying, that all should be his, as Dan 2.38.

15 Then said the Prophet Ieremiah vnto the prophet Hananiah, Heare now Hananiah, the Lord hath not sent thee, but thou makest this people to trust in a lie.

k Seeing this thing was euident in the eyes of the people, and yet they returned not to the Lord, it is manifest, that miracles cannot moue vs, neither the word it selfe, except God touch the heart.

16 Therefore thus saith the Lorde, Beholde, I will cast thee from off the earth: this yeere thou shalt die, because thou hast spoken rebelliously against the Lord.

17 So Hananiah the prophet [k] died the same yeere in the seuenth moneth.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Ieremiah writeth vnto them that were in captiuitie in Babylon. 10 Hee prophecieth their returne after seuentie yeeres. 16 Hee prophecieth the destruction of the King and of the people that remaine in Ierusalem. 21 Hee threatneth the prophets that seduce the people. 25 The death of Shemaiah a prophecied.

NOw these are the wordes of the ‖booke that Ieremiah the Prophet sent from Ierusalem vnto [a] the residue of the Elders, which were caried away captiues, and to the Priests, and to the Prophets, and to all the people whome Nebuchad-nezzar had caried away captiue from Ierusalem to Babel:

‖ Or, letter.

a For some died in the way.

2 (After that Ieconiah the King, and the [b] Queene, and the eunuches, the * princes of Iudah, and of Ierusalem, and the workmen, and cunning men were departed from Ierusalem) b Meaning, Ieconiahs mother. Chap. 24.1.*

3 By the hand of Elasah the sonne of Shaphan and Gemariah the sonne of Hilkiah, (whom Zedekiah King of Iudah [c] sent vnto Babel to Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel) saying,

c To intreat of some equall conditions.

4 Thus hath the Lord of hosts the God of Israel spoken vnto all that are caried away captiues, whom I haue [d] caused to be caried away captiues from Ierusalem vnto Babel:

d To wit, the Lord, whose worke this was.

5 Build you houses to dwell in, and plant you gardens, and eat the fruits of them.

6 Take you wiues, and beget sonnes & daughters, and take wiues for your sonnes, and giue your daughters to husbandes, that they may beare sonnes and daughters, that yee may be increased there, and not diminished.

7 And seeke the prosperitie of the citie, whither I haue caused you to be caried away captiues, and [e] pray vnto the Lord for it: for in the peace thereof shall you haue peace.

e The Prophet speaketh not this for the affection that he bare to the tyrant, but that they should pray for the common rest & quietnesse, that their troubles might not be increased, and that they might with more patience and lesse griefe wait for the time of their deliuerance, which God had appointed most certeine: for els not onely the Israelites, but all the world, yea, and the insensible creatures should reioyce when these tyrants should be destroyed, as Isa. 14.4.

8 ¶ For thus sayth the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, Let not your prophets and your soothsayers that be among you, deceiue you, neither giue eare to your dreames, which you dreame.

9 For they prophesie you a lie in my Name: I haue not sent them, sayth the Lord.

10 But thus saith the Lord, That after seuentie yeeres be accomplished at Babel, I will visit you, and performe my good promise toward you, and cause you to returne to this place.

11 For I know the thoughts, that I haue thought towards you, sayth the Lord, euen the thoughts of peace, and not of trouble, to giue you an end, and your hope.

12 Then shall you crie vnto me, and ye shall go and pray vnto me, and I will heare you,

13 And ye shall seeke mee and finde me, because o Shemaiah the false prophet flattereth Zephaniah the chiefe Priest, as though God had giuen him the spirit and zeale of Iehoiada, to punish whosoeuer trespassed against the word of God, of the which he would haue made Ieremiah one. calling him a rauer and a false prophet.

cause ye shall seeke me with all f your heart.

14 And I will be found of you, saith the Lord, and I will turne away your captiuitie, and I will gather you from all the nations, and from all the places, whither I haue cast you, saith the Lord, and will bring you againe vnto the place, whence I caused you to be caryed away captiue.

15 ¶ Because ye haue said, The Lord hath raised vs vp g Prophets in Babel.

16 Therefore thus saycth the Lorde of the King, that sitteth vpon the throne of Dauid, and of all the people, that dwell in this citie, your brethren that are not gone foorth with you into captiuitie:

17 Euen thus saith the Lord of hostes, Behold, I will send vpon them the h sword, the famine, and the pestilence, and will make them like vile i figges, that can not be eaten, they are so naughtie.

18 And I will persecute them with the sword, with the famine, and with the pestilence: and I will make them a terrour to all kingdomes of the earth, and k a curse, and astonishment and an hissing, and a reproch among all the nations whither I haue cast them,

19 Because they haue not heard my wordes, saith the Lord, which I sent vnto them by my seruants the Prophets, l rising vp earely, and sending them, but ye would not heare, saith the Lord.

20 ¶ Heare ye therefore the word of the Lord, all ye of the captiuitie, whom I haue sent from Ierusalem to Babel.

21 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, of Ahab the sonne of Kolaiah, and of Zedekiah the sonne of Maaseiah, which prophecie lyes vnto you in my Name, Behold, I will deliuer them into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, and hee shall slay them before your eyes.

22 And all they of the captiuitie of Iudah, that are in Babel, shall take vp this curse against them, and say, The Lord make thee like Zedekiah and like Ahab, whome the King of Babel burnt m in the fire.

23 Because they haue committed n villenie in Israel, and haue committed adulterie with their neighbours wiues, and haue spoken lying wordes in my Name, which I haue not commaunded them, euen I knowe it, and testifie it, saycth the Lord.

24 ¶ Thou shalt also speake to Shemaiah the ‖Nehelamite, saying,

25 Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, saying, Because thou hast sent letters in thy Name vnto all the people, that are at Ierusalem, and to Zephaniah the sonne of Maaseiah the Priest, and to all the Priests, saying,

26 The Lorde hath made thee Priest, for o Iehoiada the Priest, that ye should be officers in the House of the Lord, for euery man that raueth and maketh himselfe a prophet, to put him in prison and in the stockes.

27 Now therefore why hast not thou reproued Ieremiah of Anathoth, which prophecieth vnto you?

28 For, for this cause he sent vnto vs in Babel, saying, This captiuitie is long: builde houses to dwell in, and plant gardens, and eate the fruites of them.

29 And Zephaniah the Priest read this letter in the eares of Ieremiah the Prophet.

30 Then came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah, saying,

31 Send to all them of the captiuitie, saying, Thus sayeth the Lorde of Shemaiah the Nehelamite, Because that Shemaiah hath prophecied vnto you, and I sent him not, and hee caused you to trust in a lie, 32 Therefore thus saith the Lorde, Beholde, I will visite Shemaiah the Nehelamite, and his seed: hee shall not haue a man p to dwell among this people, neither shall he beholde the good, that I will do for my people, saith the Lord, because hee hath spoken rebelliously against the Lord.

p He and his seed shall be destroyed, so that none of them should see the benefite of this deliuerance.

CHAP. XXX.

1 The returne of the people from Babylon. 16 He menaceth the enemies, 18 And comforteth the Church.

THe worde, that came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Thus speaketh the Lorde God of Israel, saying, Write thee all the words, that I haue spoken vnto thee in a a booke.

3 For loe, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will bring againe the captiuitie of my people Israel and Iudah, sayth the Lord: for I will restore them vnto the land, that I gaue to their fathers, and they shall possesse it.

4 Againe, these are the words that the Lord spake concerning Israel, and concerning Iudah.

5 For thus sayth the Lord, Wee haue heard a b terrible voice, of feare and not of peace.

6 Demand now, and beholde, if man trauell with childe? wherefore doe I beholde euery man with his handes on his loines as a woman in trauell, and all faces are turned into a paleneſſe?

7 Alas, for this c day is great: none hath bene like it: it is euen the time of Iaakobs trouble, yet shall he be deliuered from it.

8 For in that d day, sayth the Lord of hosts, I will breake e his yoke from off thy necke, and breake thy bondes, and strangers shall no more serue themselues f of him.

9 But they shall serue the Lord their God, and g Dauid their King, whome I will raise vp vnto them.

10 Therefore feare not, O my seruant Iaakob, sayth the Lord, neither be afraid, O Israel: for loe, I will deliuer thee from a farre countrey, and thy seed from the land of their captiuitie, and Iaakob shall turne againe, and shalbe in rest and prosperitie, and none shall make him afrayd.

11 For I am with thee, sayth the Lord, to saue thee: though I vtterly destroy all the nations where I haue scattered thee, yet will I not vtterly destroy thee, but I will correct thee by iudgement, and not h vtterly cut thee off.

12 For thus sayth the Lord, Thy bruising is incurable, and i thy wound is dolorous.

13 There is none to iudge thy cause, or to lay a plaister: there are no medecines, nor help for thee.

14 All thy k louers haue forgotten thee: they seeke thee not: for I haue striken thee with the wound of an enemie, and with a sharpe chastisement for the multitude of thine iniquities, because thy sinnes were increased.

15 Why criest thou for thine affliction? thy sorow is incurable, for the multitude of thine iniquities: because thy sinnes were increased, I haue done these things vnto thee.

a Because they should be assured and their posteritie confirmed in the hope of this deliuerance promised.

b Hee sheweth that before that this deliuerance shall come, the Caldeans should be extremely afflicted by their enemies, and that they should be in such perplexitie and sorow, as a woman in her trauell as Isa.13.8.

16 l Therefore all they that deuoure thee, shall be deuoured, and all thine enemies euery one shall go into captiuitie: and they that spoile thee, shalbe spoiled, and all they that robbe thee, will I giue to be robbed.

18 Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I will bring againe the captiuitie of Iaakobs tentes, and haue compassion on his dwelling places: and the citie shalbe builded vpon her owne heape, m and the palace shall remaine after the maner thereof.

19 And out of them shall proceede n thankesgiuing, and the voyce of them that are ioyous, and I will multiplie them, and they shall not be fewe: I will also glorifie them, and they shal not be diminished.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 He rehearseth Gods benefites after their returne from Babylon, 23 And the spirituall ioy of the faithfull in the Church.

AT the a same time, saith the Lorde, will I be the God of all the families of Israel, and they shalbe my people.

2 Thus saith the Lord, The people which b escaped the sword, found grace in the wildernesse: c he walked before Israel to cause him to rest.

3 The Lord hath appeared vpto me d of olde, say they: c Yea, I haue loued thee with an euerlasting loue, therefore with mercie I haue drawen thee.

4 Againe I will build thee, and thou shalt be builded, O virgine Israel: thou shalt still f be adorned with thy timbrels, and shalt goe foorth in the dance of them that be ioyfull.

5 Thou shalt yet plant vines vpon the mountaines of g Samaria, and the planters that plant them, h shall make them common.

6 For the dayes shall come that the i watchmen vpon the mount of Ephraim shal cry, Arise, & let vs go vp vnto k Zion to the Lord our God.

7 For thus saith the Lord, Reioyce with gladnesse for Iaakob, and shoute for ioy among the chiefe of the l Gentiles: publish, praise, and say, O Lord, saue thy people, the remnant of Israel.

8 Beholde, I will bring them from the North countrey, and gather them from the coasts of the world, with the blinde & the lame among them, with the woman with childe, and her that is deliuered also: a great companie shal returne hither.

9 They shall come m weeping, and with mercie will I bring them againe: I wil lead them by the riuers of n water in a straight way, wherein they shall not stumble: for I am a father to Israel, and Ephraim is o my first borne.

10 ¶ Heare the word of the Lord, O ye Gentiles, and declare in the yles afarre off, and say, He that scattered Israel, will gather him and will keepe him, as a shepheard doeth his flocke.

11 For the Lord hath redeemed Iaakob, and ransomed him from the hand p of him, that was stronger then he.

12 Therefore they shall come, and reioyce in the height of Zion, and shall runne to the bountifulnes of the Lord, euen for the q wheat and for the wine, and for the oyle, & for the increase of sheepe, & bullocks: & their soule shalbe as a watered garden, and they shal haue no more sorow.

13 Then shal ỹ virgine reioyce in the r dance, and the yong men and the old men together: for I will turne their mourning into ioy, & will comfort them, and giue them ioy for their sorowes.

14 And I will replenish the soule of the Priests with s fatnesse, and my people shall be satisfied with my goodnesse, saith the Lord.

15 Thus saith the Lord, A voyce was heard on hie, a mourning & bitter weeping. t Rahel weeping for her children, refused to be comforted for her children, because they were not.

16 Thus saith the Lord, Refraine thy voyce from weeping, and thine eyes from teares: for thy worke shalbe rewarded, saith the Lord, and they shall come againe from the land of the enemie:

17 And there is hope in thine ende, saith the Lord, that thy children shall come againe to their owne borders.

18 I haue heard u Ephraim lamenting thus, Thou hast corrected me, and I was chastised as an x vntamed calfe: y conuert thou me, and I shall be conuerted: for thou art the Lord my God.

19 Surely after that I conuerted, I repented: and after that I was instructed, I smote vpon my z thigh: I was ashamed, yea, euen confounded, because I did beare the reproch of my youth.

20 Is Ephraim a my deare sonne or pleasant child? yet since I spake vnto him, I still b remembred him: therefore my bowels are troubled for him: I will surely haue compassion vpon him, saith the Lord.

21 Set thee vp c signes: make thee heapes: set thine heart toward the path and way, that thou hast walked: turne againe, O virgine of Israel: turne againe to these thy cities.

22 How long wilt thou go astray, O thou rebellious daughter? for the Lord hath created d a newe thing in the earth: A WOMAN shall compasse a man.

q By these temporall benefites he meaneth the spirituall graces, which are in the Church, and where of there should be euer plentie, Isa. 58. 11, 12

r In the companie of the faithfull, which euer praise God for his benefites.

s Meaning the spirit of wisedom, knowledge, and zeale.

t To declare the greatnesse of Gods mercie in deliuering the Iewes, he sheweth them that they were like to the Beniamites, or Israelites: that is, vtterly destroyed and carryed away, in so much that if Rahel the mother of Beniamin could haue risen againe to seeke for her children, she should haue found none remaining.

u That is, the people that were led captiue.

x Which was wanton, and could not be subiect to the yoke.

y He sheweth how the faithfull vse to pray: that is, desire God to turne them, forasmuch as they can not turne of themselues.

z In signe of repentance, and detestation of my sinne a As though he would say, No: for by his iniquitie he did what lay in him to cast me off.

b To wit, in pitying him for my promise sake.

c Marke by what way thou diddest goe into captiuitie, and thou shalt turne againe by the same.

d Because their deliuerance from Babylon was a figure of their deliuerance from sinne, he sheweth howe this should be procured, to wit, by Iesus Christ, whome a woman should conceiue, and beare in her woombe. Which is a strange thing in earth, because he should be borne of a virgin without man: or, he meaneth that Ierusalem which was like a barren woman in her captiuitie, should be fruitfull as she, that is ioyned in marriage, and whome God blesseth with children.

Iudah, and in the cities thereof, when I shal bring againe their captiuitie, The Lord blesse thee, O habitation of iustice and holy mountaine.

24 And Iudah shall dwell in it, and all the cities thereof together, the husbandmen and they that goe foorth with the flocke.

25 For I haue saciate the wearie soule, and I haue replenished euery sorowfull soule.

26 Therefore I awaked and beheld, and my sleepe e was sweete vnto me.

27 Behold, the daies come, saith the Lord, that I will sow ỹ house of Israel, & the house of Iudah f with the seed of man and with the seed of beast.

28 And like as I haue watched vpon them, to plucke vp and to root out, and to throw downe, and to destroy, & to plague them, so will I watch ouer them, to build & to plant them, saith ỹ Lord.

29 In those dayes shall they say no more, The fathers haue g eaten a sowre grape, and the childrens teeth are set on edge.

30 But euery one shal die for his owne iniquitie: euery man that eateth the sowre grape, his teeth shalbe set on edge.

31 ¶ Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will make a h new couenant with the house of Israel, and with the house of Iudah, 32 Not according to the couenant that I made with their fathers, when I tooke them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt, the which my couenant they i brake, although I was ‖ an husband vnto them, saith the Lord.

33 But this shall be the couenant that I will make with the house of Israel, After k those daies, saith the Lord, I will put my Law in their inward partes, and write it in their hearts, and wil be their God, and they shall be my people.

34 And they shall l teach no more euery man his neighbour, and euery man his brother, saying, Know the Lord: for they shal all know me from the least of them vnto the greatest of them, saith the Lord: for I will forgiue their iniquitie, and will remember their sinnes no more.

35 Thus saith the Lord, which giueth m the sunne for a light to the day, & the courses of the moone and of the starres for a light to the night, which breaketh the sea, when the waues thereof roare: his Name is the Lord of hostes.

36 If these ordinances depart out of my sight, saith the Lord, then shal the seede of Israel cease from being a nation before me, for euer.

37 Thus saith the Lord, If the heauens can be measured, n or the foundations of the earth be searched out beneath, then will I cast off all the seede of Israel, for all that they haue done, saith the Lord.

38 Beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that the o citie shalbe built to the Lord from the tower of Hananeel, vnto the gate of the corner.

39 And the line of the measure shall go forth in his presence vpon the hil Gareb, and shal compasse about to Goath.

40 And the whole valley of the dead bodyes, and of the ashes, & all the fields vnto the brooke of Kidron, and vnto the corner of the horsegate toward the East, shalbe holy vnto the Lord, neither shall it be plucked vp nor destroyed any more for euer.

CHAP. XXXII.

Ieremiah is cast into prison because he prophecied that the citie should be taken of the King of Babylon. 7 He sheweth that the people should come againe to their owne possession. 38 The people of God are his seruants, and he is their Lord.

THe word that came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, in the a tenth yeere of Zedekiah King of Iudah, which was the eighteenth yeere of Nebuchad-nezzar.

2 For then the King of Babels hoste besieged Ierusalem: and Ieremiah the Prophet was shut vp in the court of the prison, which was in the King of Iudahs house.

3 For Zedekiah King of Iudah had shut him vp, saying, Wherefore doest thou prophecie, and say, Thus saith the Lord, * Behold, I wil giue this citie into the hands of the King of Babel, and he shall take it?

4 And Zedekiah the King of Iudah shall not escape out of the hand of the Caldeans, but shall surely be deliuered into the handes of the King of Babel, and shall speake with him mouth to mouth, and his eyes shall behold his face,

5 And he shal lead Zedekiah to Babel, & there shal he be, vntil b I visit him, saith ỹ Lord: though ye fight with the Caldeans, ye shall not prosper.

6 ¶ And Ieremiah said, The word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

7 Beholde, Hanameel, the sonne of Shallum thine vncle, shall come vnto thee and say, c Buy vnto thee my fielde, that is in Anathoth, : for the ‖ title by kinred apperteineth vnto thee d to bie it.

8 So Hanameel, mine vncles sonne, came to me in the court of the prison, according to the word of the Lord, and said vnto me, Buy my e field, I pray thee, that is in Anathoth, which is in the countrey of Beniamin: for the right of the possession is thine, and the purchase belongeth vnto thee: buy it for thee. Then I knewe that this was the word of the Lord.

9 And I bought the field of Hanameel mine vncles sonne, that was in Anathoth, and weighed him the siluer, euen seuen f shekels, and ten peeces of siluer.

10 And I writ it in the booke and signed it, & tooke witnesses, and weighed him the siluer in the balances.

11 So I tooke the booke of the possession, being sealed g according to the Law, & custome, with the booke that was open,

12 And I gaue the booke of the possession vnto Baruch the sonne of Neriah, the sonne of Maaseiah, in the sight of Hanameel mine vncles sonne, and in the presence of the witnesses, written in the booke of the possession, before all the Iewes that sate in the court of the prison.

13 And I charged Baruch before them, saying,

14 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Take the writings, euen this booke of the possession, both that is sealed, and this booke that is open, and put them in an earthen h vessell, that they may continue a long time.

15 For the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel saith thus, Houses and fieldes, and vineyards shall be possessed againe in this land.

16 ¶ Nowe when I had deliuered the booke of the possession vnto Baruch, the sonne of Neriah, I prayed vnto the Lord, saying, m If the sunne, moone, and starres cannot but giue light according to mine ordinance, so long as this world lasteth, so shall my Church neuer faile, neither shall any thing hinder it: and as sure as I will haue a people, so certaine is it, that I will leaue them my word for euer to gouerne them with.

17 Ah Lord God, behold, thou hast made the heauen and the earth by thy great power, and by thy stretched out arme, and there is nothing ‖hard vnto thee.

18 *Thou sheweſt mercy vnto thousands, and recompenseſt the iniquitie of the fathers into the boſome of their i children after them: O God the great & mightie, whoſe name is ỹ Lord of hoſtes,

19 Great in counſell, & mightie in worke, (for thine eyes are open vpon all the waies of ỹ ſonnes of men, to giue to euery one according to his waies, and according to the fruite of his workes)

20 Which haſt ſet ſignes and wonders in the land of Egypt vnto this k day, and in Iſrael, and among all men, and haſt made thee a Name, as appeareth this day,

21 And haſt brought thy people Iſrael out of the land of Egypt with ſignes, and with wonders, and with a ſtrong hand, and a ſtretched out arme, and with great terrour,

22 And haſt giuen them this lande, which thou diddeſt ſweare to their fathers to giue them, euen a land, that floweth with milke and hony,

23 And they came in, and poſſeſſed it, but they obeyed not thy voice, neither walked in thy Law: all that thou commaundedſt them to doe, they haue not done: therefore thou haſt cauſed this whole plague to come vpon them.

24 Beholde, the l mounts, they are come into the citie to take it, and the citie is giuen into the hande of the Caldeans, that fight againſt it by meanes of the ſword, and of the famine, and of the peſtilence, and what thou haſt ſpoken, is come to paſſe, and beholde, thou ſeeſt it.

25 And thou haſt ſayd vnto me, O Lord God, Bye vnto thee the fielde for ſiluer, and take witneſſes: for the citie ſhalbe giuen into the hand of the Caldeans.

26 ¶ Then came the word of the Lorde vnto Ieremiah, ſaying, 27 Beholde, I am the LORD GOD of all m fleſh: is there any thing too hard for me?

28 Therefore thus ſaith the Lorde, Beholde, I will giue this citie into the hand of the Caldeans, and into the hande of Nebuchad-nezzar, King of Babel, and he ſhall take it.

29 And the Caldeans ſhall come and fight againſt this citie, and ſet fire on this citie and burne it, with the houſes, vpon whoſe roofes they haue offred incenſe vnto Baal, and powred drinke offrings vnto other gods, to prouoke me vnto anger.

30 For the children of Iſrael, and the children of Iudah haue ſurely done euill before mee from their n youth: for the children of Iſrael haue ſurely prouoked me to anger with the works of their hands, ſaith the Lord.

31 Therefore this citie hath bene vnto me as a prouocation of mine anger, and of my wrath, from the day, that they built it, euen vnto this day, that I ſhould remoue it out of my ſight,

32 Becauſe of all the euil of the children of Iſrael, and of the children of Iudah, which they haue done to prouoke mee to anger, euen they, their Kings, their Princes, their Prieſtes, and their Prophets, and the men of Iudah, & the inhabitants of Ieruſalem.

33 And they haue turned vnto mee the backe and not the face: though I taught them, o riſing vp earely, and inſtructing them, yet they were not obedient to receiue doctrine,

34 But they ſet their abominations in the houſe (whereupon my Name was called) to defile it,

35 And they built the hie p places of Baal, which are in the valley of q Benhinnom, to cauſe their ſonnes and their daughters to r paſſe through the fire vnto Molech, which I commaunded them not, neither came it into my minde, ỹ they ſhould doe ſuch abomination, to cauſe Iudah to ſinne.

36 And nowe ſ therefore, thus hath the Lorde God of Iſrael ſpoken, concerning this city, whereof ye ſay, It ſhalbe deliuered into the hand of the King of Babel by the ſworde, and by the famine, and by the peſtilence.

37 * Beholde, I will gather them out of all countreys, wherein I haue ſcattered them in mine anger, and in my wrath, and in great indignation, and I will bring them againe vnto this place, and I will cauſe them to dwell ſafely.

38 And they ſhall be *my people, and I wil be their God.

39 And I will giue them t one heart and one way that they may feare mee for euer for the wealth of them, and of their children after them.

40 And I will make an euerlaſting u couenant with them, that I wil neuer turne away from them to doe them good, but I will put my feare in their hearts, that they ſhall not depart from me.

41 Yea, I wil delite in them to do them good, and I will plant them in this lande aſſuredly with my whole heart, and with all my ſoule.

42 For thus ſayeth the Lorde, Like as I haue brought all this great plague vpon this people, ſo will I bring vpon them all the good that I haue promiſed them.

43 And the fields ſhalbe poſſeſſed in this land, whereof ye ſay, It is deſolate without man or beaſt, and ſhalbe giuen into the hand of the Caldeans.

44 Men ſhall bye x fieldes for ſiluer, and make writings and ſeale them, and take witneſſes in the land of Beniamin, and round about Ieruſalem, and in the cities of Iudah, & in the cities of the mountaines, and in the cities of the plaine, and in the cities of the South: for I will cauſe their captiuitie to returne, ſaith the Lord.

7 And I will cause the captiuitie of Iudah and the captiuitie of Israel to returne, and will builde them as at the first.

8 And I will g clense them from all their iniquitie, whereby they haue sinned against me: yea, I will pardon all their iniquities, whereby they haue sinned against mee, and whereby they haue rebelled against me.

9 And it shalbe to me a name, a h ioy, a praise, and an honour before al the nations of the earth, which shal heare al the good that I do vnto them: and they shal feare & tremble for al the goodnes, and for all the wealth, that I shew vnto this citie.

10 Thus sayeth the Lord, Againe there shall be heard in this place (which yee say shalbe desolate, without man, and without beast, euen in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, that are desolate without man, and without inhabitant, and without beast)

11 The voice of ioy and the voyce of gladnes, the voyce of the bridegrome, and the voice of the bride, the voyce of them that shall say, i Prayse the Lord of hostes, because the Lorde is good: for his mercy endureth for euer, and of them that offer the sacrifice of praise in the House of the Lord, for I will cause to returne the captiuitie of the land, as at the first, saith the Lord.

12 Thus saith the Lorde of hostes, Againe in this place, which is desolate, without man, & without beast, and in all the cities thereof there shall be dwelling for shepheards to rest their flockes.

13 In the cities of the k mountaines, in the cities in the plaine, and in the cities of the South, and in the land of Beniamin, and about Ierusalem, and in the cities of Iudah shall the sheepe passe againe, vnder the hande of him that telleth them, saith the Lord.

14 Beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lorde, that I wil performe that good thing, which I haue promised vnto the house of Israel, & to the house of Iudah.

15 In those dayes and at that time, wil I cause l the branche of righteousnesse to growe vp vnto Dauid, and he shal execute iudgement, and righteousnesse in the land.

16 In those dayes shall Iudah be saued, and Ierusalem shall dwell safely, and hee that shall call m her, is the Lord our n righteousnesse.

17 For thus saith the Lorde, Dauid shall neuer want a man to sit vpon the throne of the house of Israel.

18 Neither shal the Priests and Leuites want a man before me to offer o burnt offerings, & to offer meate offerings, & to do sacrifice continually.

19 ¶ And the worde of the Lorde came vnto Ieremiah, saying,

20 Thus saith the Lorde, If you can breake my couenant of the p day, and my couenant of the night, that there should not bee day, and night in their season,

21 Then may my couenant bee broken with Dauid my seruant, that he should not haue a sonne to reigne vpon his throne, and with the Leuites, and Priestes my ministers.

22 As the armie of heauen cannot be numbred, neither the sande of the sea measured: so wil I multiply the seede of Dauid my seruant, and the Leuites, that minister vnto me.

23 ¶ Moreouer, the worde of the Lorde came to Ieremiah, saying,

24 Considerest thou not what q this people haue spoken, saying, The two families, which the Lorde hath chosen, hee hath euen cast them off? thus they haue despised my people, that they should be no more a nation before them.

25 Thus saith the Lord, If my couenant be not with day and night, and if I haue not appointed the order of heauen and earth, 26 Then will I cast away the seede of Iaakob and Dauid my seruant, and not take of his seede to be rulers ouer the seed of Abraham, Izhak, and Iaakob: for I wil cause their captiuitie to retume, and haue compassion on them.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

1 He threatneth that the citie, and the King Zedekiah shall bee giuen into the handes of the King of Babylon. 11 He rebuketh their cruelnes toward their seruants.

THe worde which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord (when a Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, and all his hoste, and all the kingdomes of the earth, that were vnder the power of his hand, and all people fought against Ierusalem, and against all the cities thereof) saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Goe, and speake to Zedekiah King of Iudah, and tell him, Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, * I wil giue this citie into the hand of the King of Babel, and he shal burne it with fire,

3 And thou shalt not escape out of his hande, but shalt surely bee taken, and deliuered into his hand, and thine eyes shall beholde the face of the King of Babel, & he shal speake with thee mouth to mouth, and thou shalt goe to Babel.

4 Yet heare the worde of the Lorde, O Zedekiah, King of Iudah: thus saith the Lorde of thee, Thou shalt not die by the sword,

5 But thou shalt die in b peace: and according to the burning for thy fathers the former Kings which were before thee, so shal they burne odours for thee, and they shall lament thee, saying, Oh c lorde: for I haue pronounced the worde, saith the Lord.

6 Then Ieremiah the Prophet spake all these words vnto Zedekiah king of Iudah in Ierusalem,

7 (When the King of Babels hoste fought against Ierusalem, and against all the cities of Iudah, that were left, euen against Lachish, and against Azekah: for these strong cities remained of the cities of Iudah)

8 This is the worde that came vnto Ieremiah from the Lorde, after that the King Zedekiah had made a couenant with all the people, which were at Ierusalem, d to proclaime libertie vnto them,

9 That euery man should let his e seruant goe free, and euery man his handmayde, which was an Ebrue or an Ebruesse, and that none should serue himselfe of them, to wit, of a Iewe his brother.

10 Now when all the princes, and all the people which had agreed to the couenant, heard that euery one should let his seruant go free, and euery one his handmayde, and that none should serue themselues of them any more, they obeyed and let them goe.

11 But afterwarde they † repented and caused the seruants and the handmaydes, whom they had let goe free, to returne, and holde them in subiection as seruants and handmayds.

12 Therefore the word of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

13 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, I made a couenant

g Declaring that there is no deliuerance nor ioy, but whereas we feele remission of sinnes.

couenant with your fathers, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of ‖seruants, saying,

‖ Or, bondage.

14 *At the terme of seuen yeres let ye go, euery man his brother an Hebrewe which hath bene solde vnto thee: and when he hath serued thee sixe yeeres, thou shalt let him go free from thee: but your fathers obeyed me not, neither inclined their eares.

* Deut. 15.1, 12.

15 And ye were nowe turned, and had done right in my sight in proclayming libertie, euery man to his neighbour, and yee had made a couenant before mee in f the house, whereupon my Name is called.

f Meaning, in the Temple, to declare that it was a most solemne and straite couenant, made in the Name of the Lord.

16 But ye repented, and polluted my Name: for ye haue caused euery man his seruant, and euery man his handmaid, whome ye had set at libertie at their pleasure, to returne, and hold them in subiection to be vnto you as seruants, and as handmaides,

17 Therefore thus saith the Lord, ye haue not obeyed me, in proclayming freedome euery man to his brother, and euery man to his neighbour: beholde, I proclaime a libertie for you, saith the Lord, to g the sword, to the pestilence, and to the famine, and I will make you a terrour to all the kingdomes of the earth.

g That is, I giue the sword libertie to destroy you.

18 And I will giue those men that haue broken my couenant, and haue not kept the wordes of the couenant, which they haue made before me, when they h cut the calfe in twaine, and passed betweene the partes thereof:

h As touching this maner of solemne couenant, which the ancient vsed by passing betweene the two partes of a beast, to signifie that the transgressour of the same couenant should be so diuided in pieces, reade Gene. 15. 10.

19 The princes of Iudah, and the princes of Ierusalem, the Eunuches, and the Priestes, and all the people of the land, which passed betweene the partes of the calfe, 20 I wil euen giue them into the hand of their enemies, and into the handes of them that seeke their life: and their dead bodies shalbe for meat vnto the foules of the heauen, and to the beastes of the earth.

21 And Zedekiah King of Iudah, and his princes will I giue into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of them that seeke their life, and into the hand of the King of Babels hoste, which i are gone vp from you.

i To fight against the Egyptians, as Chap 37.11.

22 Behold, I will commaund, saith the Lord, and cause them to returne to this citie, and they shall fight against it, and take it, and burne it with fire: and I will make the cities of Iudah desolate without an inhabitant.

CHAP. XXXV.

Hee proposeth the obedience of the Rechabites, and thereby confoundeth the pride of the Iewes.

THe worde which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lorde, in the dayes a of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, saying, a For the disposition and order of these prophecies, reade Chap. 27.1.

2 Goe vnto the house of the b Rechabites, and speake vnto them, and bring them into the house of the Lord into one of the chambers, and giue them wine to drinke.

b They came of Hobab Moses father in lawe, who was no Israelite, but after ioyned with them in the seruice of God.

3 Then tooke Iaazaniah, the sonne of Ieremiah the sonne of Habazziniah, and his brethren, and all his sonnes, and the whole house of the Rechabites,

4 And I brought them into the house of the Lord, into the chamber of the sonnes of Hanan, the sonne of Igdaliah a man c of God, which was by the chamber of the Princes, which was aboue the chamber of Maaseiah the sonne of Shallum, the keeper of the ‖ treasure.

c That is, a Prophet.

‖ Or, doore.

5 And I set before the sonnes of the house of the Rechabites, pots full of wine, and cuppes, and d said vnto them, Drinke wine.

d The Prophet saith not, The Lord saith thus: for then they ought to haue obeyed: but he tendeth to another ende: that is, to declare their obedience to man, seeing the Iewes would not obey God himselfe.

6 But they said, We will drinke no wine: for e Ionadab the sonne of Rechab our father commanded vs, saying, f Yee shall drinke no wine, neither you nor your sonnes for euer.

e Whom Iehu the King of Israel sanouted for his zeale, 2 king. 10. 15.

f Teaching them hereby to flee all occasion of intemperancie, ambition, and auarice, and that they might knowe that they were strangers in the earth, and be ready to depart at all occasions.

7 Neither shall ye build house, nor sow seed, nor plant vineyarde, nor haue any, but all your dayes ye shall dwell in tentes, that ye may liue a long time in the land where ye be strangers.

8 Thus haue we obeyed the voyce of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab our father, in all that he hath charged vs, and we drinke no wine all our dayes, neither we, our wiues, our sonnes, nor our daughters.

9 Neither build we houses for vs to dwell in, neither haue we vineyard, nor field, nor seede,

10 But we haue remained in tentes, and haue obeyed, and done according to g all that Ionadab our father commanded vs.

g Which was nowe for the space of three hundreth yeeres from Iehu to Iehoiakim.

11 But when Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel came vp into the land, we said, Come, & let vs go to Ierusalem, from the hoste of the Caldeans, & from the host of Aram: so we dwel at Ierusalem.

h Which declareth that they were not so bound to their vowe, that it could not be broken for any necessitie: for where they were commanded to dwell in tents, they dwell nowe at Ierusalem for feare of the warres.

12 Then came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah, saying,

13 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Go, and tell the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem, Will i ye not receiue doctrine to obey my wordes, saith the Lord?

i Whom I haue chosen to be my children, seeing these which were the children of an heathen man, obeyed the commandement of their father.

14 The comandement of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab that he commanded his sonnes, that they should drinke no wine, is surely kept: for vnto this day they drinke none, but obey their fathers commandement: notwithstanding I haue spoken vnto you, k rising earely, and speaking, but ye would not obey me.

k I haue most diligently exhorted and warned you both by my selfe and my Prophets, * Chap. 18. 11. and 25 5.

15 I haue sent also vnto you all my seruants the Prophets, rising vp earely, and sending them, saying, *Returne now euery man from his euill way, and amend your workes, and goe not after other gods to serue them, and ye shall dwell in the land which I haue giuen vnto you, & to your fathers, but ye would not encline your care, nor obey me.

16 Surely the sonnes of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab, haue kept the commandement of their father, which he gaue them, but this people hath not obeyed me.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Beholde, I will bring vpon Iudah, and vpon all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, al the euill that I haue pronounced against them, because I haue l spoken vnto them, but they would not heare, and I haue called vnto them, but they would not answere.

l That is, by his Prophets and ministers: which sheweth that it is as much as though he should speake to vs himselfe, when he sendeth his ministers to speake in his Name.

18 And Ieremiah said to the house of the Rechabites, Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Because ye haue obeyed the commaundement of Ionadab your father, and kept all his precepts, and done according vnto all that he hath commanded you, 19 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Ionadab the sonne of Rechab shal m not want a man, to stand before me for euer.

m His posteritie shall continue and be in my fauour euer.

before the rulers, and readeth it before them also. 23 The King casteth it in the fire. 28 There is another written at the commandement of the Lord.

a Reade Chap. 25.4.

AND in the fourth a yeere of Iehoiakim the ſonne of Ioſiah King of Iudah, came this word vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, ſaying,

2 Take thee a roule or booke, & write therein all the wordes that I haue ſpoken to thee againſt Iſrael, and againſt Iudah, and againſt all the nations, from the day that I ſpake vnto thee, euen b from the dayes of Ioſiah vnto this day.

b Which were twentie and three yere, as Chap. 25.3. counting from the thirteenth yeere of Ioſiahs reigne.

3 It may be that the houſe of Iudah will heare of all the euill, which I determined to doe vnto them that they may returne euery man from his euill way, that I may forgiue their iniquitie and their ſinnes.

4 Then Ieremiah called Baruch the ſonne of Neriah, and Baruch wrote c at the mouth of Ieremiah all the wordes of the Lord, which hee had ſpoken vnto him, vpon a roule or booke.

c As he did indite.

5 And Ieremiah commaunded Baruch, ſaying, I am d ſhut vp, and can not go into the houſe of the Lord.

d Meaning, in priſon, through the malice of the Prieſtes.

6 Therefore goe thou, and reade the roule, wherein thou haſt written at my mouth the words of the Lord, in the audience of the people in the Lordes Houſe vpon the e faſting day: alſo thou ſhalt read them in the hearing of all Iudah, that come out of their cities.

e Which was proclaimed for feare of the Babylonians, as their cuſtome was when they feared warre or any great plague of God.

7 It may be that they will f pray before the Lord, and euery one returne from his euill way, for great is the anger and the wrath, that the Lord hath declared againſt this people.

f He ſheweth that faſting without prayer and repentance auaileth nothing, but is meere hypocriſie.

8 So Baruch the ſonne of Neriah did according vnto all, that Ieremiah the Prophet commanded him, reading in the booke the wordes of the Lord in the Lordes Houſe.

9 ¶ And in the fift g yeere of Iehoiakim the ſonne of Ioſiah King of Iudah, in the ninth moneth, they proclaimed a faſt before the Lord to al the people in Ieruſalem, and to all the people that came from the cities of Iudah vnto Ieruſalē.

g The faſt was then proclaimed, and Baruch read this roule, which was a litle before that Ieruſalem was firſt taken, and then Iehoiakim and Daniel, and his companions were led away captiues.

10 Then read Baruch in ỹ booke the words of Ieremiah in the houſe of the Lord, in ỹ chamber of Gemariah the ſonne of Shaphan the ſecretary, in the hier court at the entry of the h new gate of the Lords houſe, in the hearing of all the people.

h Which is the Eaſt gate of the Temple.

11 When Michaiah the ſonne of Gemariah, the ſonne of Shaphan had heard out of the booke all the wordes of the Lord, 12 Then hee went downe to the Kings houſe into the Chancellours chamber, and loe, all the Princes ſate there, euen Eliſhama the Chancellour, and Delaiah the ſonne of Shemaiah, and Elnathan the ſonne of Achbor, and Gemariah the ſonne of Shaphan, and Zedekiah the ſonne of Hananiah, and all the princes.

13 Then Michaiah declared vnto them all the wordes that he had heard when Baruch read in the booke in the audience of the people.

14 Therefore all the Princes ſent Iehudi the ſonne of Nethaniah, the ſonne of Shelemiah, the ſonne of Chuſhi, vnto Baruch, ſaying, Take in thine hand the roule, wherein thou haſt read in the audience of the people, and come. So Baruch the ſonne of Neriah tooke the roule in his hand, and came vnto them.

15 And they ſaid vnto him, Sit downe nowe, and reade it, that we may heare. So Baruch read it in their audience.

16 Now when they had heard all the wordes, they were i afraid both one and other, and ſayde vnto Baruch, Wee will certifie the King of all theſe wordes.

i The godly were afraid, ſeeing God ſo offended, and the wicked were aſtonied for the horrour of the puniſhment.

17 And they examined Baruch, ſaying, Tell vs nowe, howe diddeſt thou write all theſe wordes at his mouth?

18 Then Baruch anſwered them, He pronounced all theſe wordes vnto me with his mouth, and I wrote them with ynke in the booke.

19 Then ſaid the Princes vnto Baruch, Goe, k hide thee, thou and Ieremiah, and let no man knowe where ye be.

k They that were godly among the Princes, gaue this counſell, by whoſe meanes it is like that Ieremiah was deliuered: for they knewe the rage of the King and of the wicked to be ſuch, that they could not eſcape without danger of their liues.

20 ¶ And they went in to the King to the court, but they laide vp the roule in the chamber of Eliſhama the Chancellour, and told the King all the wordes that he might heare.

21 So the King ſent Iehudi to fet the roule, and he tooke it l out of Eliſhama the Chancellours chamber, and Iehudi read it in the audience of the King, and in the audience of all the Princes, which ſtood before the King.

l Out of the Chancellours chamber.

22 Now the King ſate in the winter Houſe, in the l ninth moneth, and there was a fire burning before him.

l Which conteined part of November, and part of December.

23 And when Iehudi had read three or foure ſides, he cut it with the penknife, and caſt it into the fire that was on the hearth, vntil all the roule was conſumed in the fire, that was on the hearth.

24 Yet they were not afraide, nor rent m their garments, neither the King, nor any of his ſeruants, that heard all theſe wordes.

m Shewing that the wicked inſtead of repenting when they heare Gods iudgements, growe into further malice againſt him and his word.

25 Neuertheleſſe, Elnathan, and Delaiah, and Gemariah had beſought the King, that he would not burne ỹ roule: but he would not heare them.

26 But the King commanded Ierahmeel the ſonne of Hammelech, and Seraiah the ſonne of Azriel, and Shelemiah the ſonne of Abdiel, to take Baruch the ſcribe, and Ieremiah the Prophet, but the Lord n hid them.

n Thus we ſee the continuall care, that God hath euer ouer his to preſerue them from the rage of the wicked.

27 ¶ Then the word of the Lord came to Ieremiah (after that the King had burnt the roule and the wordes that Baruch wrote at the mouth of Ieremiah) ſaying,

28 Take thee againe o another roule, and write in it all the former wordes that were in the firſt roule which Iehoiakim the King of Iudah hath burnt, o Though the wicked thinke to haue aboliſhed the worde of God, when they haue burnt the booke thereof: yet this declareth that God wil not onely raiſe it vp againe, but alſo increaſe it in greater abundance to their condemnation, as verſ. 32.

29 And thou ſhalt ſay to Iehoiakim King of Iudah, Thus ſaith the Lord, Thou haſt burnt this roule, ſaying, p Why haſt thou written therein, ſaying, That the King of Babel ſhall certainely come and deſtroy this land, and ſhall take thence both man and beaſt?

p Theſe are Iehoiakims wordes.

30 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord of Iehoiakim King of Iudah, Hee ſhall haue q none to ſit vpon the throne of Dauid, and his r dead body ſhalbe caſt out in the day to the heate, and in the night to the froſt.

q Though Iehoiachin his ſonne ſucceeded him, yet becauſe he reigned but three moneths, it was eſteemed as no reigne.

r Reade Chap. 22.19.

31 And I will viſite him and his ſeede, and his ſeruants for their iniquitie, and I will bring vpon them, and vpon the inhabitants of Ieruſalem, and vpon the men of Iudah all ỹ euil that I haue pronounced againſt them: but they would not heare.

32 Then tooke Ieremiah another roule, and gaue it Baruch the ſcribe the ſonne of Neriah, which wrote therein at the mouth of Ieremiah al the wordes of the booke which Iehoiakim King of Iudah had burnt in the fire, and there were added beſides them many like wordes.

CHAP. XXXVII.

Zedekiah succeeded Ieconiah. 3 Hee sendeth vnto Ieremiah to pray for him. 12 Jeremiah, going into the land of Beniamin, is taken. 15 He is beaten and put in prison.

*2.Kings 24.17. 2.chro.36.10. chap.52.1.

a Who was called Iehoiachin, or Ieconiah.

b And called him Zedekiah, whereas before his name was Mattaniah, 2.King.24.17.

†Ebr.hand.

c Because he was afraid of the Caldeans that came against him, d That is, was out of prison and at libertie.

e To helpe the Iewes.

† Ebr.went vp.

ANd *King Zedekiah the sonne of Iosiah reigned for [a] Coniah the sonne of Iehoiakim, whome Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel [b] made King in the land of Iudah.

2 But neither he, nor his seruants, nor the people of the lande would obey the wordes of the Lorde, which hee spake by the † ministerie of the Prophet Ieremiah.

3 And Zedekiah the King [c] sent Iehucal the sonne of Shelemiah, and Zephaniah the sonne of Maaseiah the Priest to the Prophet Ieremiah, saying, Pray now vnto the Lord our God for vs.

4 (Now Ieremiah [d] went in & out among the people: for they had not put him into the prison.

5 Then Pharaohs hoste was [e] come out of Egypt: and when the Caldeans that besieged Ierusalem, heard tidings of them, they † departed from Ierusalem)

6 Then came the worde of the Lord vnto the Prophet Ieremiah, saying,

7 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Thus shal yee say to the King of Iudah, that sent you vnto me to inquire of mee, Beholde, Pharaohs hoste, which is come forth to helpe you, shall returne to Egypt into their owne land.

8 And the Caldeans shall come againe, and fight against this citie, and take it and burne it with fire.

‖Or, lift not vp your minds.

9 Thus saith the Lorde, ‖Deceiue not your selues, saying, The Caldeans shall surely depart from vs: for they shall not depart.

10 For though ye had smitten the whole hoste of the Caldeans that fight against you, and there remained but wounded men among them, yet should euery man rise vp in his tent, & burne this citie with fire.

11 ¶ When the hoste of the Caldeans was broken vp from Ierusalem, because of Pharaohs armie, f As some thinke to go to Anathoth his owne towne.

g By the which men went into the countrey of Beniamin.

†Ebr.falleſt.

12 Then Ieremiah went out of Ierusalem to goe into the [f] lande of Beniamin, separating himselfe thence from among the people.

13 And when hee was in the [g] gate of Beniamin, there was a chiefe officer, whose name was Iriiah, the sonne of Shelemiah, the sonne of Hananiah, and hee tooke Ieremiah the Prophet, saying, Thou † fleest to the Caldeans.

14 Then said Ieremiah, That is false, I flee not to the Caldeans: but he would not heare him: so Iriiah tooke Ieremiah, & brought him to [y] princes.

15 Wherefore the princes were angry with Ieremiah, and smote him, and layde him in prison in the house of Iehonathan the scribe: for they had made that the [h] prison.

h Because it was a vile and straite prison.

16 When Ieremiah was entred into the dungeon, and into the prisons, & had remained there a long time, 17 Then Zedekiah the King sent, and tooke him out, and the King asked him secretly in his house, and said, Is there any word from the Lord? And Ieremiah sayd, Yea: for, said he, thou shalt be deliuered into the hand of the King of Babel.

18 Moreouer, Ieremiah sayd vnto King Zedekiah, What haue I offended against thee, or against thy seruants, or against this people, that yee haue put me in prison?

19 *Where are nowe your prophets, which prophecied vnto you, saying, The King of Babel shall not come against you, nor against this lande?

*Chap.28.4.

20 Therefore heare nowe, I pray thee, O my lord the King: let my prayer be †accepted before thee, that thou cause mee not to returne to the house of Iehonathan the scribe, least I die there.

i That is, so long as there was any bread in the citie: thus God prouideth for his that he wil cause their enemies to preserue them to that end whereunto he hath appointed them.

21 Then Zedekiah the King commanded, that they should put Ieremiah in the court of the prison, and that they should giue him dayly a piece of bread out of the bakers streete vntill all the [i] bread in the citie were eaten vp. Thus Ieremiah remained in the court of the prison.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 By the motion of the rulers Ieremiah is put into a dungeon. 10 At the request of Ebed-melech the King commandeth Ieremiah to be brought foorth of the dungeon. 17 Jeremiah sheweth the King how he might escape death.

THen Shephatiah the sonne of Mattan, and Gedaliah the sonne of Pashhur, and Iucal the sonne of Shelemiah, and Pashhur the sonne of [a] Malchiah, heard the wordes that Ieremiah had spoken vnto all the people, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lorde, Hee that remaineth in this citie, shall die by the sword, by the famine and by the pestilence: but he that goeth foorth to the Caldeans, shall liue: for hee shall haue his life for [b] a praye, and shall liue.

a For Zedekiah had sent these to Ieremiah to inquire at the Lord for the state of the countrey now when Nebuchad-nezzar came, as Chap.21.1.

b Reade Chap.22.9.and 45.5.

3 Thus saith the Lord, This citie shall surely be giuen into the hand of the King of Babels armie, which shall take it.

4 Therefore the Princes sayde vnto the King, We beseech you, let this man be put to death: for thus hee ‖weakeneth the handes of the men of warre [c] that remaine in this citie, and the handes of all the people, in speaking such wordes vnto them: for this man seeketh not the wealth of this people, but the hurt.

c Thus we see how the wicked when they can not abide to heare the trueth of Gods worde, seeke to put the ministers to death as transgressours of policies.

d Wherein he grieuously offended in that that not onely he would not heare the trueth spoken by the Prophet, but also gaue him to the lustes of the wicked to be cruelly intreated.

5 Then Zedekiah the King said, Beholde, he is in your hands, for the king can deny [d] you nothing.

6 Then tooke they Ieremiah, and cast him into the dungeon of Malchiah the sonne of Hammelech, that was in the court of the prison: and they let downe Ieremiah with coards: and in the dungeon there was no water but myre: so Ieremiah stucke fast in the myre.

†Ebr.Cushite, or, Ethiopian.

e To heare matters and giue sentence.

f Hereby is declared that the Prophet fonnd more fauour at this strangers hands, then he did by all them of his countrey, which was to their great condemnation.

7 Nowe when Ebed-melech the † blacke Moore one of the Eunuches, which was in the kings house, heard that they had put Ieremiah in the dungeon, (then the King sate in the [e] gate of Beniamin)

8 And Ebed-melech went out of the Kings house, and spake to the King, saying,

9 My lorde the King, [f] these men haue done euill in all that they haue done to Ieremiah the Prophet, whom they haue cast into the dungeon, and he dieth for hunger in the place where he is: for there is no more bread in the citie.

10 Then the King commaunded Ebed-melech the blacke Moore, saying, Take from hence thirtie men †with thee, and take Ieremiah the Prophet out of the dungeon before he die.

†Ebr.vnder thine hand.

11 So Ebed-melech tooke the men with him and went to the house of the King vnder the treasurie, and tooke there old rotten ragges, and olde worne cloutes, and let them downe by coardes into the dungeon to Ieremiah.

12 And Ebed-melech the blacke Moore sayd vnto Ieremiah, Put now these olde rotten ragges and worne, vnder thine arme holes, betweene the coardes. And Ieremiah did so.

13 So they drewe vp Ieremiah with coardes and tooke him vp out of the dungeon, and Ieremiah remained in the g court of the prison.

g Where the King had set him before to be at more libertie, as Chap. 37.21.

14 ¶ Then Zedekiah the King sent, and tooke Ieremiah the Prophet vnto him, into the thirde entrie that is in the House of the Lorde, and the King sayd vnto Ieremiah, I wil aske thee a thing: hide nothing from me.

15 Then Ieremiah sayd to Zedekiah, If I declare it vnto thee, wilt not thou slay mee? and if I giue thee counsel, thou wilt not heare me.

16 So the King sware secretly vnto Ieremiah, saying, As the Lorde liueth, that made vs these soules, I will not slay thee, nor giue thee into the hands of those men that seeke thy life.

17 Then sayde Ieremiah vnto Zedekiah, Thus saith the Lorde God of hostes, the God of Israel, If thou wilt goe foorth vnto the King of Babels h princes, then thy soule shall liue, and this citie shall not be burnt vp with fire, & thou shalt liue, and thine house.

h And yeelde thy selfe vnto them.

18 But if thou wilt not goe foorth to the King of Babels princes, then shall this citie be giuen into the hand of the Caldeans, and they shall burne it with fire, and thou shalt not escape out of their handes.

19 And Zedekiah the King sayde vnto Ieremiah, I am carefull for the Iewes that are fled vnto the Caldeans, least they deliuer mee into their handes, and they i mocke me.

i Which declareth that he more feared the reproch of men then the threatnings of God.

20 But Ieremiah sayde, They shall not deliuer thee: hearken vnto the voyce of the Lorde, I beseech thee, which I speake vnto thee: so shall it be well vnto thee, and thy soule shall liue.

21 But if thou wilt refuse to goe foorth, this is the word that the Lord hath shewed me.

k When Ieconiah and his mother with others were caried away, these women of the kings house were left: which shalbe taken, saith the Prophet, and tell the King of Babel how Zedekiah hath bene seduced by his familiar friends and false prophets, which haue left him in the myre.

22 And beholde, all the women that are k left in the king of Iudahs house, shalbe brought forth to the King of Babels princes: and those women shall say, Thy friendes haue perswaded thee, and haue preuailed against thee: thy feete are fastened in the myre, and they are turned backe.

23 So they shall bring out all thy wines, and thy children to the Caldeans, and thou shalt not escape out of their handes, but shalt bee taken by the hand of the King of Babel: and this citie shalt thou cause to be burnt with fire.

24 Then said Zedekiah vnto Ieremiah, Let no man know of these wordes, & thou shalt not die.

25 But if the princes vnderstand that I haue talked with thee, and they come vnto thee, and say vnto thee, Declare vnto vs nowe, what thou hast said vnto the King, hide it not from vs, and we wil not slay thee: also what the King said vnto thee,

26 Then shalt thou say vnto them, I humbly l besought the King that he would not cause mee to returne to Iehonathans house, to die there.

l Herein appeareth the infirmitie of the Prophet, who did dissemble to saue his life, albeit it was not to the denial of his doctrine, or to the hurt of any.

27 Then came all the princes vnto Ieremiah and asked him. And he tolde them according to all these wordes that the King had commaunded: so they left off speaking with him, for the matter was not perceiued.

28 So Ieremiah abode still in the court of the prison, vntil the day that Ierusalem was taken: and he was there, when Ierusalem was taken.

2 And in the eleuenth yeere of Zedekiah in the fourth moneth, the ninth day of the moneth, the citie was broken a vp.

a The gates and walles were broken downe.

3 And all the princes of the King of Babel came in, and sate in the middle gate, euen Neregal, Sharezer, Samgarnebo, Sarsechim, Rab-saris, Neregal, Sharezer, Rab-mag with all the residue of the princes of the King of Babel.

4 And when Zedekiah the King of Iudah saw them, and all the men of warre, then they fled, and went out of the citie by night, through the Kings garden, and by the b gate betwene the two walles, and he went toward the wildernes.

b Which was a posterne doore, reade 2. King 25.4.

5 But the Caldeans hoste pursued after them, and ouertooke Zedekiah in the desert of Iericho: and when they had taken him, they brought him to Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel vnto c Riblah in the land of Hamath, where hee gaue iudgement vpon him.

c VVhich is called Antiochia in Syria.

6 Then the King of Babel slewe the sonnes of Zedekiah in Riblah before his eyes: also the King of Babel slew all the nobles of Iudah.

7 Moreouer hee put out Zedekiahs eyes, and bound him in chaines, to cary him to Babel.

8 And the Caldeans burnt the Kings house, and the houses of the people with fire, and brake downe the walles of Ierusalem.

9 Then Nebuzar-adan the || chiefe steward caried away captiue into Babel the remnant of the people that remained in the citie, and those that were fled and fallen vnto him, with the rest of the people that remained.

|| Or, captaine of the garde.

10 But Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward left the d poore that had nothing in the lande of Iudah, and gaue them vineyardes and fieldes at the same time.

d For the riche and the mightie which put their trust in their shifts and meanes, were by Gods iust iudgements most rigorously handled.

11 Nowe Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel gaue charge concerning Ieremiah † vnto Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward, saying, † Ebr. by the hand of.

12 Take him, and † looke well to him, and do him no harme, but doe vnto him e euen as he shall say vnto thee.

† Ebr. set thine eyes vpon them.

e Thus God preserued his Prophet by his means, whom he made the scourge to punish the King, and them that were his enemies.

13 So Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward sent, and Nebushaz-ban, Rabsaris, and Neregal, Sharezar, Rabmag, and all the King of Babels princes:

14 Euen they sent, and tooke Ieremiah out of the court of the prison, and committed him vnto f Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, that hee should cary him home: so he dwelt among the people.

f VVhome the King of Babel had nowe appointed gouernour ouer the rest of the Iewes that he left behinde.

15 Now the word of the Lorde came vnto Ieremiah, while hee was shut vp in the court of the prison, saying,

16 Go and speake to Ebed-melech the blacke Moore, saying, Thus saith the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring my wordes vpon this citie for euill, and not for good, and they shalbe accomplished in that day before thee.

17 But I wil deliuer thee in that day, saith the Lord, and thou shalt not be giuen into the hande of the men whom thou fearest.

18 For I wil surely deliuer thee, and thou shalt not fall by the sworde, but thy life shall be for a praye vnto thee, because thou g hast put thy trust in me, saith the Lord.

g Thus God recompensed his zeale and fauour, which he shewed to his Prophet in his troubles.

CHAP. XL.

4 Ieremiah hath licence to goe whither he will. 6 He dwelleth with the people that remaine with Gedaliah.

THe word which came to Ieremiah from the Lord after that Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward had let him go from Ramath, when he had taken him being bound in chaines among all that were caried away captiue of Ierusalem and Iudah, which were caried away captiue vnto Babel.

2 [a] And the chiefe steward tooke Ieremiah, and sayd vnto him, The Lord thy God hath pronounced this plague vpon this place.

3 Now the Lord hath brought it, and done according as he hath said: because ye haue [b] sinned against the Lord, and haue not obeyed his voyce, therefore this thing is come vpon you.

4 And now behold, I loose thee this day from the chaines which were on thine hands, if it please thee to come with me into Babel, come, and I will looke well vnto thee: but if it please thee not to come with me into Babel, † tary still: behold, all the land is ‖ before thee: whither it seemeth good, and conuenient for thee to go, thither go.

5 For yet he was not returned: therefore hee sayd, Returne to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan, whom the King of Babel hath made gouernour ouer all the cities of Iudah, and dwell with him among the people, or goe whereso euer it pleaseth thee to go. So the chiefe steward gaue him vitailes and a reward, and let him goe.

6 Then went Ieremiah vnto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, to [c] Mizpah, and dwelt there with him among the people that were left in the land.

7 Now when all the captaines of the hoste, [d] which were in the fields, euen they and their men heard that the King of Babel had made Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam gouernour in the land, and that he had committed vnto him men, and women, and children, and of the poore of the land, that were not caried away captiue to Babel,

8 Then they came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, euen [e] Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, and Iohanan, and Ionathan the sonnes of Kareah, and Seraiah the sonne of Tanehumeth, & the sonnes of Ephai, the Netophathite, and Iezaniah the sonne of Maachathi, they and their men.

9 And Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan * sware vnto them, and to their men, saying, Feare not to serue the Caldeans: dwel in the land, and serue the king of Babel, and it shalbe well with you.

10 As for me, Beholde, I will dwell at Mizpah to ‖ serue the Caldeans, which will come vnto vs: but you, gather you wine, and summer fruits, and oyle, and put them in your vessels, and dwell in your cities, that ye haue ‖ taken.

11 Likewise when all the Iewes that were in [f] Moab, and among the Ammonites, & in Edom, and that were in all the countries, heard that the King of Babel had left a remnant of Iudah, and that he had set ouer them Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, 12 Euen all the Iewes returned out of all places where they were driuen, and came to the land of Iudah to Gedaliah vnto Mizpah, and gathered wine and summer fruits, very much.

13 Moreouer, Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the host, that were in the fields, came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, 14 And sayd vnto him, Knowest thou not that [g] Baalis the King of the Ammonites hath sent Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah to slay thee? But Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam beleeued them not.

15 Then Iohanan the sonne of Kareah spake to Gedaliah in Mizpah secretly, saying, Let me go, I pray thee, and I will slay Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, and no man shall know it. Wherefore should he kill thee, that all the Iewes, which are gathered vnto thee, should be scattered, and the remnant in Iudah perish?

16 But Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam said vnto Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, Thou shalt [h] not do this thing: for thou speakest falsly of Ishmael.

CHAP. XLI.

2 Ishmael killeth Gedaliah guilefully, and many other with him. 11 Iohanan followeth after Ishmael.

BVt in the [a] seuenth moneth came Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, the sonne of Elishama of the seed royall, and the princes of the [b] king, and tenne men with him, vnto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam to Mizpah, & there they did [c] eat bread together in Mizpah.

2 Then arose Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah with these tenne men that were with him, and smote Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan with the sword, and slew him, whom the King of Babel had made gouernour ouer the land.

3 Ishmael also slew all the Iewes that were with Gedaliah at Mizpah, and all the Caldeans that were found there, and the men of warre.

4 Now the second day that he had slaine Gedaliah, and no man knew it,

5 There came men from Shechem, from Shiloh, and from Samaria, euen fourescore men, hauing their beards shauen, & their clothes rent and cut, with [d] offerings and incense in their hands to offer in the house of the Lord.

6 And Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah went foorth from Mizpah to meet them, weeping as he went: and when he met them, he said vnto them, Come [e] to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam.

7 And when they came into the mids of the citie, Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah slew them, and cast them into the mids of the pit, he and the men that were with him.

8 But ten men were found among them, that sayd vnto Ishmael, Slay vs not: for we haue treasures in the field, of wheat, and of barley, and of oyle, and of honie: so he stayed, and slew them not among their brethren.

9 Now the pit wherein Ishmael had cast the dead bodies of the men (whom he had slaine because of Gedaliah) is it, which Asa the King had [f] made because of Basha King of Israel, and Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah filled it with them that were slaine.

10 Then Ishmael caried away captiue all the residue of the people that were in Mizpah, euen the Kings daughters, & all the people that remained in Mizpah, whom Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward had committed to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, and Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah caried them away captiue, and departed to go ouer to the Ammonites.

11 But when Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, & all the [g] captaines of the host that were with him, heard heard of all the euill that Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah had done, 12 Then they all tooke their men, and went to fight with Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, and found him by the great waters that are in Gibeon.

13 Now when all the people whom Ishmael caried away captiue, saw Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste, that were with him, they were glad.

14 So all the people, that Ishmael had caried away captiue from Mizpah, returned and came againe, & went vnto Iohanan the sonne of Kareah.

15 But Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, escaped from Iohanan with eight men, and went to the [h] Ammonites.

16 Then tooke Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste that were with him, all the remnant of the people, whom Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah had caried away captiue from Mizpah, (after that he had slaine Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam) euen the strong men of warre, and the women, and the children, and the eunuches, whom he had brought againe from Gibeon:

17 And they departed and dwelt in Geruth [i] Chimham, which is by Beth-lehem, to goe and to enter into Egypt, 18 Because of the Caldeans: for they feared them, because Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah had slaine Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, whom the King of Babel made gouernour in the land.

a The captaines aske counsell of Ieremiah what they ought to do. 7 He admonisheth the remnant of the people not to goe into Egypt.

THen all the captaines of the hoste, and Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and Ieremiah the sonne of Hoshaaiah, and all the people from the least vnto the most came,

2 And sayde vnto Ieremiah the Prophet, † Heare our prayer we beseech thee, and pray for vs vnto the Lord thy God, euen for all this remnant (for we are left, but a few of many, as thine eyes do beholde)

3 That the Lord thy God may shew vs the way wherein we may walke, and the thing that we may [a] doe.

4 Then Ieremiah the Prophet sayd vnto them, I haue heard you: behold, I wil pray vnto the Lord your God according to your words, and whatsoeuer thing the Lord shal answere you, I wil declare it vnto you: I wil keepe nothing backe from you.

5 Then they sayd to Ieremiah, [b] The Lord be a witnesse of trueth, and faith betweene vs, if we do not euen according to al things for the which the Lord thy God shall send thee to vs.

6 Whether it be good or euill, we will obey the voice of the Lord our God, to whom we send thee that it may be well with vs, when we obey the voice of the Lord our God.

7 ¶ [c] And so after ten dayes came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah.

8 Then called he Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste, which were with him, and all the people from the least to the most.

9 And sayd vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord God of Israel, vnto whom ye sent me to present your prayers before him.

10 If ye will dwell in this land, then I wil build you, and not destroy you, and I will plant you, and not root you out: for I [d] repent me of the euill that I haue done vnto you.

11 Feare not for the King of Babel, of whom ye are afraid: be not afraid of him, saith the Lord: for I am with you, to saue you, and to deliuer you from his hand, 12 And I will grant you mercie that hee may haue compassion vpon you, and he shal cause you to ‖ dwell in your owne land.

13 But if ye say, We will not dwel in this land, neither heare the voyce of the Lord your God,

14 Saying, Nay, but we will goe into the land of Egypt, where we shall see no warre, nor heare the sound of the trumpet, nor haue hunger of bread, and there will we dwell,

15 (And now therefore heare the word of the Lord, ye remnant of Iudah: thus sayth the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, If ye set your faces to enter into Egypt, and go to dwell there)

16 Then the sword that ye feared, [f] shall take you there in the land of Egypt, and the famine, for the which ye care, shall there hang vpon you in Egypt, and there shall ye die.

17 And all the men that set their faces to enter into Egypt to dwell there, shall die by the sword, by the famine and by the pestilence, and none of them shall remaine nor escape from the plague, that I will bring vpon them.

18 For thus sayth the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, As mine anger and my wrath hath bene powred forth vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem: so shall my wrath be powred foorth vpon you, when ye shall enter into Egypt, and ye shall be a detestation, and an astonishment, and a [g] curse and a reproch, and ye shall see this place no more.

19 O ye remnant of Iudah, the Lord hath said concerning you, Goe not into Egypt: know certeinly that I haue admonished you this day.

20 Surely ye [h] dissembled in your hearts when ye sent me vnto the Lord your God, saying, Pray for vs vnto the Lord our God, and declare vnto vs euen according vnto al that the Lord our God shall say, and we will do it.

21 Therefore I haue this day declared it you, but you haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord your God, nor any thing for the which hee hath sent me vnto you.

22 Now therefore, know certeinly that yee shall die by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, [i] in the place whither ye desire to goe and dwell.

† Ebr. Let our prayer fall before thee, as Chap. 36, 7.

b There are none more ready to abuse the Name of God, and take it in vaine, then the hypocrites, which to colour their falsehood vse it without all reuerence, & make it a means for them to deceiue the simple and the godly.

Iohanan caryeth the remnant of the people into Egypt, contrary to the minde of Ieremiah. 8 Ieremiah propheseth the destruction of Egypt.

NOw when Ieremiah had made an end of speaking vnto the whole people all the words of the Lord their God, for the which the Lord their God had sent him to them, euen all these words,

2 Then spake [a] Azariah the sonne of Hoshaiah, and Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the [b] proud men, saying vnto Ieremiah, [c] Thou speakest falsly: the Lord our God hath [d] not sent thee to say, Go not into Egypt to dwell there,

3 But Baruch the sonne of Neriah [e] prouoketh

b This declareth that pride is the cause of rebellion, and contempt of Gods ministers.

c When the hypocrisie of the wicked is discouered, they brast forth into open rage: for they can abide nothing but flatteries, reade Isai. 30. 10. d He sheweth what is the nature of the hypocrites: to wit, to faine that they would obey God and imbrace his word, if they were assured that his messengers spake the trueth: though indeed they be most farre from all obedience. e Thus the wicked doe not onely contemne and hurt the messengers of God, but slander, & speake wickedly of all them that support or sanout the godly.

thee against vs,for to deliuer vs into the hand of the Caldeans, that they might slay vs,and carrie vs away captiues into Babel.

4 So Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste, and all the people obeyed not the voice of the Lorde,to dwell in the land of Iudah.

5 But Iohanan the sonne of Kareah,and al the captaines of the hoste tooke all the remnant of Iudah,that were returned frō al f nations,whither they had bin driuen to dwel in the land of Iudah:

7 So they came into the land of Egypt: for they obeied not the voice of the Lord:thus came they to h Tahpanhes.

8 ¶ Then came the word of the Lorde vnto Ieremiah in Tahpanhes,saying.

9 Take great stones in thine hand, and i hide them in the clay in the bricke kill,which is at the entrie of Pharaohs house in Tahpanhes in the sight of the men of Iudah,

10 And say vnto them,Thus saieth the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel,Beholde, I will send and bring Nebuchad-nezzar the King of Babel k my seruant,and will set his throne vpon these stones that I haue hid,and he shall spread his pauilion ouer them.

11 And when he shall come,he shall smite the land of Egypt: l such as are appointed for death, to death,and such as are for captiuitie,to captiuitie,and such as are for the sword,to the sword.

12 And I wil kindle a fire in the houses of the gods of Egypt,and he shall burne them and carie them away captiues,& he shall aray himselfe with the land of Egypt,as a m shepheard putteth on his garment,and shal depart from thence in peace.

13 He shal breake also ỹ images of ‖Beth-shemesh,that is in the land of Egypt, and the houses of the gods of ỹ Egyptians shal he burne with fire.

CHAP. XLIIII.

He reproueth the people for their idolatrie. 15 They that set light by the threatning of the Lorde, are chastened. 26 The destruction of Egypt,and of the Iewes therein u prophecied.

THe word that came to Ieremiah concerning all the Iewes,which dwell in the lande of Egypt, and remained at Migdol and at a Tahpanhes,& at Noph,& in ỹ coūtry of Pathros, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Yee haue seene all the euill that I haue brought vpon Ierusalem,and vpon all the cities of Iudah: and behold,this day they are desolate, and no man dwelleth therein,

3 Because of their wickednesse which they haue committed, to prouoke me to anger in that they went to burne incense, and to serue other gods whom they knew not, neither they nor you nor your fathers.

4 Howbeit I sent vnto you al my seruants the Prophets b rising earely, & sending them, saying, Oh do not this abominable thing that I hate.

5 But they would not heare nor incline their eare to turne from their wickednes,and to burne no more incense vnto other gods.

6 Wherefore c my wrath, & mine anger was powred forth and was kindled in the cities of Iudah,and in the streetes of Ierusalem,and they are desolate,and wasted,as appeareth this day.

7 Therefore now thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel,Wherfore commit ye this great euill against your soules,to cut off from you man and woman,child and suckling out of Iudah, and leaue you none to remaine?

8 In that yee prouoke mee vnto wrath with the workes of your hands, burning incense vnto other gods in the land of Egypt whither yee bee gone to dwell: that yee might bring destruction vnto your selues, and that yee might be a curse and a reproch among all nations of the earth.

9 Haue ye forgotten the wickednesse of your fathers,and the wickednes of the d Kings of Iudah,and the wickednesse of their wiues and your owne wickednes & the wickednes of your wiues, which they haue committed in the land of Iudah and in the streetes of Ierusalem?

10 They are not ‖humbled vnto this day,neither haue they feared nor walked in my lawe nor in my statutes, that I set before you and before your fathers.

11 Therefore thus saith the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel,Beholde, I will set my face against you * to euill and to destroy all Iudah.

12 And I wil take the remnant of Iudah, that e haue set their faces to go into the land of Egypt there to dwel,and they shal all be consumed and fall in the lande of Egypt: they shall euen be consumed by the sword and by the famine: they shall die from the least vnto the most,by the sword,& by the famine,and they shall be a detestation and an astonishment and a f curse and a reproch.

13 For I will visite them that dwel in the land of Egypt, as I haue visited Ierusalem, by the sword,by the famine,and by the pestilence, 14 So that none of the remnant of Iudah, which are gone into the lande of Egypt to dwell there,shal escape or remaine, that they should returne into the land of Iudah to the which they † haue a desire to returne to dwel there: for none shall returne,but g such as shall escape.

15 Then all the men which knewe that their wiues had burnt incense vnto other gods and all the women that stood by,a great multitude, euen all the people that dwelt in the land of Egypt in Pathros,answered Ieremiah,saying,

18 But since wee left off to burne incense to the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offerings vnto her, wee haue had ‖ scarcenesse of all things,and haue bene consumed by the sword and by the famine.

l This teacheth vs how great danger it is for the husbands to permit their wiues any thing wherof they be not assured by Gods word: for thereby they take an occasion to iustifie their doings, and their husbands shall giue an account thereof before God, reade Isa. 3.25.

†Hee is not come vp into his heart.

20 Then said Ieremiah vnto all the people, to the men, and to the women, and to all the people which had giuen him that answere, saying,

21 Did not the Lorde remember the incense, that yee burnt in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, both you, and your fathers, your kings, and your princes, and the people of the land, and † hath he not considered it?

22 So that the Lord could no longer forbeare because of the wickednes of your inuentions, and because of the abominations, which ye haue committed: therefore is your land desolate, and an astonishment, and a curse and without inhabitant, as appeareth this day.

23 Because ye haue burnt incense & because ye haue sinned against the Lord, & haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord, nor walked in his law, nor in his statutes, nor in his testimonies, therfore this plague is come vpon you, as appeareth this day.

24 Moreouer Ieremiah sayd vnto all the people and to all the women, Heare the word of the Lord, all Iudah that are in the land of Egypt, 25 ¶ Thus speaketh the Lorde of hostes, the God of Israel, saying, Ye & your wiues haue both spoken with your mouthes, and fulfilled with your m hand, saying, We wil performe our vowes that we haue vowed to burne incense to the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offerings to her: ye will performe your vowes and doe the things that ye haue vowed.

26 Therefore heare the word of the Lord, all Iudah that dwell in the land of Egypt, Behold, I haue sworne by my great Name, saith the Lorde, that my Name n shall no more be called vpon by the mouth of any man of Iudah, in all the land of Egypt, saying, The Lord God liueth, 27 Behold, I wil watch ouer them for euil and not for good, and all men of Iudah that are in the land of Egypt, shall be consumed by the sworde, and by the famine, vntil they be vterly destroied.

28 Yet a small number that escape the sword, o shall returne out of the land of Egypt into the land of Iudah: and al the remnant of Iudah that are gone into the land of Egypt to dwell there, shal know whose words shal stand, mine or theirs.

29 And this shalbe a signe vnto you, saith the Lorde, when I visite you in this place, that ye may knowe that my wordes shall surely stand against you for euill.

30 Thus saith the Lorde, Behold, I wil p giue Pharaoh Hophra King of Egypt into the hand of his enemies, and into the hand of them that seeke his life: as I gaue Zedekiah King of Iudah into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel his enemie, who also sought his life.

m You haue committed double euil in making wicked vowes, and in performing the same.

n This declareth an horrible plague toward idolaters, seeing that God will not vouchsafe to haue his Name mentioned by such as haue polluted it.

o We see therfore, that God hath a perpetuall care ouer his, whersoeuer they are scattered: for though they be but two or three, yet he wil deliuer them when he destroyeth his enemies.

p He sheweth the meanes whereby they should be destroyed, to assure them of ỹ certaintie of the plague, & yet they remain stil in their obstinacie till they perish: for Iosephus lib. 10. de Antiq. cap. 11. writeth that fiue yeeres after the taking of Ierusalem, Nebuchad-nezzar the yonger, hauing ouercome the Moabites and the Ammonites, went against Egypt, and slew the king and so brought these Iewes and other into Babylon.

CHAP. XLV.

2 Ieremiah comforteth Baruch, assuring that hee shoulde not perish in the destruction of Ierusalem.

a Which was Ieremiahs disciple and wrote his prophesies vnder him.

b Whereof reade Chap. 36.9, 10.

c Baruch mooued with an inconsiderate zeale of Ieremiahs imprisonment, but chiefly for the destruction of the people, and the Temple, maketh this lamentation, as Psal. 6.6.

THe worde that Ieremiah the Prophet spake vnto a Baruch the sonne of Neriah, when hee had written these b wordes in a booke at the mouth of Ieremiah, in the fourth yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, saying,

2 Thus sayeth the Lorde God of Israel vnto thee, O Baruch,

3 Thou diddest say, Woe is mee now: for the Lord hath laid sorrow vnto my sorrow: I c fainted in my mourning, and I can find no rest.

4 Thus shalt thou say vnto him, The Lorde saith thus, Behold, that which I haue built, will I d destroy, and that which I haue planted, will I plucke vp euen this whole land.

5 And seekest e thou great things for thy self? seeke them not: for behold, I will bring a plague vpon al flesh, saith the Lord: but thy life wil I giue thee for f a pray in all places, whither thou goest.

CHAP. XLVI.

1 Hee prophecieth the destruction of Egypt. 27 Deliuerance is promised to Israel.

THe wordes of the Lord, which came to Ieremiah the Prophet against the a Gentiles.

2 As against Egypt, against the army of b Pharaoh Necho King of Egypt, which was by the riuer Perath in Carchemish, which Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel smote in the fourth yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah.

3 Make c ready the buckler and shield, and goe forth to battell.

4 Make readie the horses, and let the horsemen get vp, and stand vp with your sallets, fourbish the speares, and put on the brigandines.

5 d Wherefore haue I seene them afraid, and driuen backe? for their mighty men are smitten, and are fled away, and looke not backe: for feare was round about, saith the Lord.

6 The swift shall not flee away, nor the strong man escape: they shall stumble, and fall towarde the e North by the riuer Perath.

7 Who is this that commeth vp, as f a flood, whose waters are mooued like the riuers?

8 Egypt riseth vp like the flood, and his waters are mooued like the riuers, and he sayth, I wil go vp, and wil couer the earth: I wil destroy the citie with them that dwell therein,

9 Come vp, ye horses, and rage ye charets, and let the valiant men come forth, g the blacke Moores, and the Libyans that beare the shielde, and the Lydians that handle and bend the bowe.

10 For this is the day of the Lorde God of hostes, and a day of vengeance, that he may auenge him of his enemies: for the sworde shall deuoure, and it shalbe satiate, and made drunke: with their blood: for the Lord God of hostes hath h a sacrifice in the North countrey i by the riuer Parath.

11 Goe vp vnto Gilead, k and take balme, O virgine, the daughter of Egypt: in vaine shalt thou vse many m medicines: for thou shalt haue no health.

12 The nations haue heard of thy shame, and thy crie hath filled the land: for the strong hath stumbled against the strong and they are fallen both together.

13 ¶ The word that the Lord spake to Ieremiah the Prophet, how Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel should come and smite the land of Egypt.

14 Publish in Egypt and declare in Migdol, and proclaime in Noph, and in Tahpanes, and say, Stand still, and prepare thee: for the sworde shall deuoure round about thee.

15 Why are thy valiant men put backe? they coulde not stand because the Lorde did driue them.

16 He made many to fall, and one fell vpon another: and they sayd, Arise, let vs goe againe to our n owne people, and to the land of our natiuitie from the sword of the violent.

17 They did cry there, Pharaoh king of Egypt, and d The prophet had this vision of the Egptians which should be put to flight by the Babylonians at Carchemish.

e The Babylonians shall discomfite them at the riuer Euphrates.

f He describeth the boastings of the Egyptians, who thought by their riches, and power to haue ouercome all the world, alluding to the riuer Nilus, which at certaine times ouerfloweth the country of Egypt

g For these nations tooke part with ỹ Egyptians.

The word of the Lord againſt the Moabites, 26 becauſe of their pride and cruelte.

COncerning Moab, thus ſayth the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, Woe vnto a Nebo: for it is waſted: Kiriathaim is confounded and taken: Miſgab is confounded and afraid.

2 Moab ſhall boaſt no more of Heſhbon: for they haue deuiſed euill againſt it. b Come, and let vs deſtroy it, that it be no more a nation: alſo thou ſhalt be deſtroyed, c O mad-men, and the ſword ſhall purſue thee.

3 A voyce of crying ſhall be from Horonaim with deſolation and great deſtruction.

4 Moab is deſtroyed: her little ones haue cauſed their crie to be heard.

5 For at the going vp of d Luhith, the mourner ſhall goe vp with weeping: for in the going downe of Horonaim, the enemies haue heard a crie of deſtruction,

6 Flee and ſaue your liues, and be like vnto the e heath in the wilderneſſe.

7 For becauſe thou haſt truſted in thy f works and in thy treaſures, thou ſhalt alſo be taken, and g Chemoſh ſhall go forth into captiuitie with his Prieſts and his Princes together.

8 And the deſtroyer ſhall come vpon all cities, and no citie ſhall eſcape: the valley alſo ſhall periſh, & the plaine ſhalbe deſtroyed as the Lord hath ſpoken.

9 Giue wings vnto Moab, that it may flee and get away: for the cities thereof ſhall be deſolate, without any to dwell therein.

10 h Curſed be he that doth the worke of the Lord ‖ negligently, and curſed be he that keepeth backe his ſword from blood.

11 Moab hath bene at reſt from his youth: and he hath ſetled on his lees, and hath not bene i powred from veſſell to veſſell, neither hath he gone into captiuitie: therefore his taſte remained in him, and his ſent is not changed.

12 ¶ Therefore behold, the dayes come, ſaith the Lord, that I will ſend vnto him ſuch as ſhall cary him away, and ſhall emptie his veſſels, and breake their bottels.

13 And Moab ſhall be aſhamed of Chemoſh as the houſe of Iſrael was aſſamed of k Beth-el their confidence.

14 How thinke you thus, We are mightie and ſtrong men of warre?

15 Moab is deſtroyed, & his cities † burnt vp, & his choſen yong mẽ are gone downe to ſlaughter, ſaith the king, whoſe name is the Lord of hoſts.

16 The deſtruction of Moab is ready to come, and his plague haſteth faſt.

17 All ye that are about him, mourne for him, and all ye that know his name, ſay, l How is the ſtrong ſtaffe broken, and the beautifull rod!

18 Thou daughter that doeſt inhabit Dibon, come downe from thy glory, and ſit in thirſt: for the deſtroyer of Moab ſhall come vpon thee, and he ſhall deſtroy thy ſtrong holdes.

19 Thou that dwelleſt in Aroer, ſtand by the way, and beholde: aſke him that fleeth and that eſcapeth, and ſay, What is done?

20 m Moab is cõfounded: for it is deſtroyed: houle and cry, tel ye it in Arnon, ỹ Moab is made waſte, h Meaning, that it is not poſſible ỹ the wicked ſhuld by any meanes eſcape or ſtay the Lord, when he wil take vengeance.

g Both thy great idole & his maintainers ſhalbe led away captiues, ſo that they ſhall the know that it is in vaine to looke for helpe at idoles, Iſa.15.5.

h Hee ſheweth that God would puniſh the Caldeans, if they did not deſtroy the Egyptians, & that with a courage, and calleth this executing of his vengeance againſt his enemies his worke though the Caldeans fought another end, Iſa.10.12.

21 And iudgement is come vpon the plaine countrey, vpon Holon and vpon Iahazah, and vpon Mephaath, 22 And vpon Dibon, and vpon Nebo, and vpon the house of Diblathaim, 23 And vpon Kiriathaim, and vpon Beth-gamul, and vpon Beth-meon, 24 And vpon Keioth, and vpon Bozrah, & vpon all the cities of the land of Moab far or neere.

25 The [n] horne of Moab is cut off, & his arme is broken, saith the Lord.

26 Make ye him [o] drunken: for he magnified himselfe against the Lord: Moab shall ‖ wallow in his vomit, and he also shalbe in derision.

27 For didst not thou deride Israel, as though hee had bene found among theeues? for when thou speakest of him, thou art [p] mooued.

28 O ye that dwell in Moab, leaue the cities, and dwell in the rocks, and be like the doue, that maketh her nest in the sides of the holes mouth.

29 * We haue heard the pride of Moab (he is exceeding proud) his stoutnesse and his arrogancie, and his pride, and the hautinesse of his heart.

30 I know his wrath, saith ỹ Lord, but it shal not be so: and his dissimulations, for they do not right.

31 [r] Therefore will I howle for Moab, and I will cry out for all Moab: mine heart shal mourne for the men of Kir-heres.

32 O vine of Sibmah, I will weepe for thee, as I wept for Iazer: thy plants are gone ouer the sea, they are come to the sea of Iazer: the destroyer is falle vpon thy summer fruits, & vpõ thy vintage, 33 And ioy, and gladnesse is taken from the plentifull field, and from the land of Moab: and I haue caused wine to faile from the winepresse: none shall tread with shouting: their shouting shall be no shouting.

34 Frõ the cry of Heshbon vnto Elaleh & vnto Iahaz haue they made their noise: frõ Zoar vnto Horonaim, the heifer of three yere olde shal go lowing: for ỹ waters also of Nimrim shalbe wasted.

35 Moreouer, I will cause to cease in Moab, saith the Lord, him that offered in the hie places, and him that burneth incense to his gods.

36 Therefore mine heart shall sound for Moab like a [u] shaume, and mine heart shal sound like a shaume for the men of Kir-heres, because the riches that he hath gotten is perished.

37 * For euery head shalbe ‖ balde, and euery beard plucked: vpon all the hands shall be cuttings, and vpon the loynes sackcloth.

38 And mourning shalbe vpon all the house tops of Moab and in all the streets thereof: for I haue broken Moab like a vessell wherein is no pleasure, saith the Lord.

39 They shal howle, saying, How is he destroyed? how hath Moab turned the backe with shame? so shall Moab be a derision, and a feare to all them about him.

40 For thus saith the Lord, Beholde, [x] he shall flee as an egle, & shal spred his wings ouer Moab.

41 The cities are taken, & the strong holds are woon, & the mighty mens hearts in Moab at that day shalbe as the heart of a woman in trauaile.

42 And Moab shalbe destroyed from being a people, because he hath set vp himselfe against the Lord.

43 [y] Feare, and pit, and snare shalbe vpon thee, O inhabitant of Moab, saith the Lord.

44 He that escapeth from the feare, shal fall in the pit, & he that getteth vp out of the pit shalbe taken in ỹ snare: for I wil bring vpon it, euen vpon Moab, the yere of their visitation, saith the Lord.

45 They that fled, stood vnder the shadow [z] of Heshbon, because of the force: for [a] the fire came out of Heshbon, and a flame from Sihon, and deuoured the corner of Moab, and the top of the seditious children.

46 Woe be vnto thee, O Moab: the people of [b] Chemosh perisheth: for thy sonnes are taken captiues, and thy daughters led into captiuitie.

47 Yet will I bring againe the captiuitie of Moab in the [c] latter dayes, sayth the Lord. Thus farre of the iudgement of Moab.

CHAP. XLIX.

1 The word of the Lord against the Ammonites, 7 Idumea, 23 Damascus, 28 Kedar, 34 and Elam.

VNto the children of [a] Ammon thus saith the Lord, Hath Israel no sonnes? or hath he none heire? Why then hath their [b] king possessed Gad? and his people dwelt in [c] his cities?

2 Therefore beholde, the dayes come, sayeth the Lord, that I will cause a noyse of warre to be heard in [d] Rabbah of the Ammonites, & it shall be a desolate heape, and her daughters shall [e] be burnt with fire: then shall Israel possesse those that possessed him sayth the Lord.

3 Howle, O Heshbon, for Ai is wasted: crie ye daughters of Rabbah: gird you with sackecloth: mourne and runne to and fro by the hedges: for their king shall go into captiuitie, and his Priests, and his Princes likewise.

4 Wherefore gloriest thou in the [e] valleyes? thy valley floweth away, O rebellious daughter: she trusted in her treasures, saying, Who shall come vnto me?

5 Beholde, I will bring [f] a feare vpon thee, sayth the Lord God of hosts, of all those that be about thee, & ye shalbe scattered euery man right forth, and none shall gather him that fleeth.

6 And [h] afterward I will bring againe the captiuitie of the children of Ammon.

7 ¶ To Edom thus sayth the Lord of hosts, Is wisdome no more in [i] Teman? is counsell perished from their children? is their wisdome vanished?

8 Flee, yee inhabitants of Dedan ([k] they are turned backe, and haue consulted to dwell) for I haue brought the destruction of Esau vpon him, and the time of his visitation.

9 If the [l] grape gatherers come to thee, would they not leaue some grapes? if theeues come by night, they will destroy till they haue enough.

10 For I haue discouered Esau: I haue vncouered his secrets, and he shall not be able to hide himselfe: his seed is wasted, and his brethren and his neighbours, and there shalbe none to say,

11 Leaue thy [m] fatherles children, & I wil preserue them aliue, and let thy widowes trust in me.

12 For thus sayth the Lord, [n] Beholde, they whose iudgement was not to drinke of the cuppe, haue assuredly drunken, and art thou he that shall escape free? thou shalt not goe free, but thou shalt surely drinke of it.

13 For I haue sworne by my selfe, sayth the Lord, that [o] Bozrah shall be waste, and for a reproch, and a desolation, and a curse, and all the cities thereof shalbe perpetuall desolations.

14 I haue heard a rumour from the Lord, & an ambassadour ambassadour is sent vnto the heathen, saying, Gather you together, and come against [p] her, and rise vp to the battell.

15 For loe, I will make thee but small among the heathen, and despised among men.

16 Thy ‖ feare, and the pride of thine heart hath deceiued thee, thou that dwellest in the clefts of the rocke, and keepest the height of the hill: though thou shouldest make thy nest as hie as the egle, I will bring thee downe from thence, saith the Lord.

17 ¶ Also Edom shalbe desolate: euery one that goeth by it, shall bee astonished, and shall hisse at all the plagues thereof.

18 As in the ouerthrowe of Sodom, and of Gomorah, and the places thereof neere about, saith the Lord: no man shall dwell there, neither shall the sonnes of men remaine in it.

19 Behold, [q] he shal come vp like a lion from the swelling of Iorden vnto the strong dwelling place: for I wil make Israel to rest, euen I wil make him to haste away from her, and who is a chosen man that I may appoint against her? for who is like me? and who will apoint me the time? and who is the [s] shepheard that will stand before me?

20 Therefore heare the counsell of the Lorde that hee hath deuised against Edom, and his purpose that hee hath conceiued against the inhabitants of Teman: surely the least [t] of the flocke shall draw them out: surely [u] he shal make their habitations desolate with them.

21 The earth is moosed at the noise of their fal: the crie of their voice is heard in the red sea.

22 Behold, he shall come vp, and flie as the Egle, [x] and spread his wings ouer Bozrah, and at that day shal the heart of the strong men of Edom be as the heart of a woman in trauaile.

23 ¶ Vnto [y] Damascus hee saith, Hamath is confounded and Arpad, for they haue heard euill tidings, and they are faint hearted as one on the feareful sea that cannot rest.

24 Damascus is discouraged, and turneth her selfe to flight [z] and feare hath seased her: anguish & sorowes haue taken her as a woman in trauaile.

25 How is the glorious [a] citie not reserued, the citie of my ioy?

26 Therefore her yong men shall fall in her streetes, and all her men of warre shal bee cut off in that day, saith the Lord of hostes.

27 And I will kindle a fire in the wall of Damascus, which shal consume the palaces of [b] Benhadad.

28 ¶ Vnto [c] Kedar, and to the kingdomes of Hazor, which Nebuchad-nezzar, king of Babel shal smite thus sayeth the Lord, Arise, and goe vp vnto Kedar, and destroy the men of the East.

29 Their tents and their flockes shal they take away: yea, they shal take to themselues their [d] curtaines and all their vessels, and their camels, and they shall crie vnto them, Feare is on euery side.

30 Flee, get you farre off (e they haue consulted to dwel) O ye inhabitantes of Hazor, saith the Lord: for Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel hath taken counsel against you, and hath deuised a purpose against you, 31 [f] Arise, & get you vp vnto the welthy nation [y] dwelleth without care, saith the Lord, which haue neither gates nor barres, but dwell alone.

32 And their camels shalbe a bootie, and the multitude of their cattel a spoile, and I wil scatter them into all winds, and to the vttermost corners, and I wil bring their destruction from al the sides thereof, saith the Lord.

33 And Hazor shalbe a dwelling for dragons, and desolation for euer: there shal no man dwel there, nor the sonnes of men remaine in it.

34 ¶ The wordes of the Lorde that came to Ieremiah the Prophet, concerning [g] Elam, in the beginning of the reigne of Zedekiah King of Iudah, saying, 35 Thus sayeth the Lorde, of hostes, Beholde, I wil breake the [h] bowe of Elam, euen the chiefe of their strength.

36 And vpon Elam I will bring the foure winds from the foure quarters of heauen, and will scatter them towards al these winds, & there shal be no nation, whither the fugitiues of Elam shal not come.

37 For I will cause Elam to be afraide before their enemies, and before them that seeke their liues, and will bring vpon them a plague, euen the indignation of my wrath, saith the Lorde, & I will send the sworde after them til I haue consumed them.

38 And I will set my [i] throne in Elam, & I wil destroy both the King & the princes from thence, saith the Lord: but [k] in the latter daies I wil bring againe the captiuitie of Elam, saith the Lord.

CHAP. L.

He prophecieth the destruction of Babylon, and the deliuerance of Israel, which was in captiuitie.

THe word that the Lord spake, concerning Babel, and concerning the land of the Caldeans by the † ministerie of Ieremiah the Prophet.

2 Declare among the nations, and publish it, and set vp a standart, proclaime it and conceale it not: say, [a] Babel is taken, Bel is confounded, [b] Merodach is bro ken downe: her idoles are confounded, and their images are burst in pieces.

3 For out of the North there [c] commeth vp a nation against her, which shal make her lande waste, and none shall dwel therein: they shal flee and depart, both man and beast.

4 In those dayes, and at that time, saieth the Lord, the children of Israel shal [d] come, they and the children of Iudah together, going, and [e] weeping shal they go, and seeke the Lord their God.

5 They shal aske the way to Zion, with their faces thitherward, saying, Come, and let vs cleaue to the Lorde in a perpetuall couenant that shall not be forgotten.

6 ¶ My people hath beene as lost sheepe: their [f] shepheards haue caused them to go astray, and haue turned them away to the mountaines: they haue gone from [g] mountaine to hil, and forgotten their resting place.

7 Al that found them, haue deuoured them, & their enemies said, We offend not, because they haue sinned against the Lord, [h] the habitation of iustice, euen the Lord the hope of their fathers.

8 [i] Flee from the middes of Babel, and depart out of the land of the Caldeans, and bee ye as the hee goates [k] before the flocke.

9 For loe, I will raise, and cause to come vp against Babel a multitude of mightie nations frō the North countrey, and they shall set themselues in aray against her, whereby shee shal be taken: their arrowes shalbe as of a strong man, which is expert, for none shal returne in vaine.

10 And Caldea shal be a spoile: all that spoile her.

her, [1] shalbe satisfied, saith the Lord.

11 Because ye were glad and reioyced in destroying mine heritage, & because ye are growen fatte, as the calues in the grasse, [m] and neyed like strong horses, 12 Therefore your mother shall be sore confounded, and she that bare you, shalbe ashamed: behold, the vttermost of the nations shalbe a desert, a drie land, and a wildernesse.

13 Because of the wrath of the Lorde it shall not be inhabited, but shalbe wholy desolate: euery one that goeth by Babel, shall be astonished, [n] and hisse at all her plagues.

14 [o] Put your selues in aray against Babel round about: all yee that bend the bowe, shoote at her, spare no arrowes: for shee hath [p] sinned against the Lord.

15 Crie against her round about: shee hath ‖ giuen her hand: her foundations are fallen, and her walles are destroyed: for it is the vengeance of the Lorde: take vengeance vpon her: as shee hath done, doe vnto her.

16 Destroy the [q] sower from Babel, and him that handleth the sithe in the time of harueste: because of the sworde of the oppressour they shall turne euery one to his people, and they shall flee euery one to his owne land.

17 Israel is like scattered sheepe: the lions haue dispersed them: first the king of [r] Asshur hath deuoured him, and last this Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel hath broken [t] his bones.

18 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Behold, I wil visite [s] king of Babel, and his land, as I haue visited the king of Asshur.

19 And I will bring Israel againe to his habitation: he shall feede on Carmel and Bashan, and his soule shal be satisfied vpon the mount Ephraim and Gilead.

20 In those dayes, and at that time saieth the Lorde, the iniquitie of Israel shal be sought for, & there shall be none: and the sinnes of Iudah, and they shall not be found: for I will be merciful vnto them, whom I reserue.

21 Go vp against the land of the [r] rebelles, euen against it, & against the inhabitants * of ‖ Pekod: destroy, and lay it wast after them, saith the Lorde, and do according to all that I haue commanded thee.

22 A crie of battell [u] in the land, and of great destruction.

23 How is the [u] hammer of the whole worlde destroyed, and broken! howe is Babel become desolate among the nations!

24 I haue snared thee, and thou art taken, O Babel, and thou wast not aware: thou art found, and also caught, because thou hast striuen against the Lord.

25 The Lorde hath opened his treasure, and hath brought forth the weapons of his wrath: for this is the worke of the Lorde God of hostes in the land of the Caldeans.

26 Come against her † from the vtmost border: open her store houses: treade on her as on sheaues, and destroy her vtterly: let nothing of her be left.

27 Destroy all her [x] bullockes: let them goe downe to the slaughter. Wo vnto them, for their day is come, and the time of their visitation.

28 The voice of them that [y] flee, and escape out of the land of Babel to declare in Zion the vengeance of the Lord our God, and the vengeance of his Temple.

29 Call vp the archers against Babel: al ye that bend the bowe, besiege it round about: let none thereof escape: * recompense her according to her worke, and according to all that shee hath done, do vnto her: for she hath bin proud against the Lord, euen against the holy one of Israel.

30 Therefore shall her yong men fall in the streetes, and al her men of warre shalbe destroied in that day, saith the Lord.

31 Beholde, I come vnto thee, O proude man saith the Lord God of hosts: for thy day is come, euen to the time that I will visite thee.

32 And the proude shall stumble and fall, and none shall raise him vp: and I will kindle a fire in his cities, and it shall deuoure all rounde about him.

33 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, The children of Israel, and the children of Iudah were oppressed together: and all that tooke them captiues, held them, and would not let them goe.

34 But their strong redeemer, whose Name [z] is the Lord of hostes, he shall maintaine their cause, that he may giue rest to the lande, [z] and disquiet the inhabitants of Babel.

35 A sworde [a] vpon the Caldeans, sayeth the Lord, and vpon the inhabitants of Babel, and vpon her princes, and vpon her wise men.

36 A sworde [a] vpon the † soothsaiers, and they shall dote: a sworde [a] vpon her strong men, and they shalbe afraide.

37 A sworde [a] vpon their horses, and vpon their charets, and vpon all the multitude that are in the middes of her, and they shalbe like women: a sworde [a] vpon her treasures, and they shal be spoiled.

38 A [a] drought [a] vpon her waters, and they shalbe dried vp: for it is the land of grauen images, and they dote vpon their idoles.

39 Therefore the [b] Zijms with the Iims shall dwell there, and the ostriches shall dwel therein: for it shalbe no more inhabited, neither shal it be inhabited from generation vnto generation.

40 As God destroied * Sodom and Gomorah with the places thereof neere about, sayeth the Lord: so shall no man dwell there, neither shal the sonne of man remaine therein.

41 ¶ Beholde, a people shall come from the North, and a great nation, and many kings shall be raised vp from [c] the coastes of the earth.

42 They shall holde the bowe and the buckeler: they are cruell and vnmercifull: their voyce shall roare like the sea, and they shall ride vpon horses, and bee put in aray like men to the battell against thee, O daughter of Babel.

43 The king of Babel hath heard the report of them, & his hands [d] waxed feeble: sorow came vpon him, euen sorowe as of a woman in trauaile.

44 Behold, he * shal come vp like a lion from the swelling of Iorden vnto the strong habitation: for I wil make Israel to rest, and I will make them to haste away from her: & who is a chosen man † I may appoint against her? for who is like me, and who will appoint me the time? and who is the [c] shepheard that wil stand before me?

45 Therefore heare the counsell of the Lorde that he hath deuised against Babel, and his purpose that he hath conceiued against the lande of the Caldeans: surely the least of the flocke shall drawe drawe them out: surely he shall make their habitation desolate with them.

46 At the noyse of the winning of Babel the earth is mooued, and the crie is heard among the nations.

CHAP. LI.

6 Why Babylon is destroyed. 41 The vaine confidence of the Babylonians. 43 The vanitie of idolaters. 59 Ieremiah giueth his booke to Sheraiah.

THus saith the Lord, Behold, I will raise vp against Babel, & against the inhabitants ‖ that lift vp their heart against me, a destroying a wind, a The Medes and Persians, that shall destroy them as the winde doeth the chaffe.

‖ Or, of the land that riseth vp.

2 And will send vnto Babel fanners that shal fanne her, & shall emptie her land: for in the day of trouble they shall be against her on euery side.

3 Also to the bender that bendeth his bow, and to him that lifteth himselfe vp in his brigandine, will I say, Spare not her yong men, but destroy all her hoste.

4 Thus the slaine shall fall in the land of the Caldeans, and they that are thrust through in her streetes.

5 For Israel hath bene no b widowe, nor Iudah from his God, from the Lorde of hostes, though their land was filled with sinne against the Holy one of Israel.

b Though they were forsaken for a time, yet they were not vtterly cast off, as though their husband were dead.

6 ¶ c Flee out of the mids of Babel, and deliuer euery man his soule: be not destroyed in her iniquitie: for this is the time of the Lordes vengeance: he will render vnto her a recompence.

c He sheweth that there remaineth nothing for them that abide in Babylon, but destruction, Chap. 17.6. and 48.6.

7 Babel hath bene as a golden cuppe in the d Lordes hand, that made all the earth drunken: the nations haue drunken of her wine, therefore doe the nations e rage.

d By whome the Lord powred out the drinke of his vengeance, to whom it pleased him.

e For the great afflictions that they haue felt by the Babylonians.

8 * Babel is suddenly fallen, and destroyed: howle for her, bring balme for her sore, if she may be healed.

* Ier. 21.9. reuel. 14 8.

9 We would haue cured Babel, but she could not be healed: forsake her, and let f vs go euery one into his owne country: for her iudgement is come vp vnto heauen, & is lifted vp to ȳ clouds.

f Thus the people of God exhort one another to goe to Zion and praise God.

10 The Lord hath brought foorth our g righteousnesse: come and let vs declare in Zion the worke of the Lord our God.

g In approuing our cause and punishing our enemies.

11 Make bright the arrowes: ‖ gather the shieldes: the Lord hath raised vp the spirit of the King of the Medes: for his purpose is against Babel to destroy it, because it is the h vengeance of the Lord, and the vengeance of his Temple.

‖ Or, fill, or multiply.

h For the wrong done to his people and to his Temple, Chap. 50 28.

12 Set vp the standard vpon the walles of Babel, make the watch strong: set vp the watchmen: prepare the skoutes: for the Lord hath both deuised, and done that which he spake against the inhabitants of Babel.

13 O thou that dwellest vpon many i waters, abundant in treasures, thine ende is come, euen the ‖ ende of thy couetousnesse.

i For the land of Caldea was full of riuers which ran into Euphrates.

‖ Or, measure.

14 The Lord of hostes hath sworne by † him * selfe, saying, Surely I will fill thee with men, as with caterpillers, and they shall cry and showte against thee.

† Ebr. his soule.

* Amos 6.8.

15 * He hath made the earth by his power, and established the world by his wisedome, and hath stretched out the heauen by his discretion.

* Chap. 10.12.

16 Hee giueth by his voyce the multitude of waters in the heauen, and hee causeth the cloudes to ascend from the ends of the earth: he turneth lightnings to raine, and bringeth forth the winde out of his treasures.

17 Euery man is a beast by his owne k knowledge: euery founder is confounded by the grauen image: for his melting is but falsehood, and there is no breath therein.

k Reade Chap. 10.14.

18 They are vanitie, & the worke of errours: in the time of their l visitation they shall perish.

l When God shal execute his vengeance.

19 The m portion of Iaakob is not like them: for he is the maker of all things, and Israel is the rod of his inheritance: the Lord of hosts is his Name.

m That is, the true God of Israel is not like to these idoles: for he can helpe when all thiugs are desperate.

20 Thou art mine n hammer, and weapons of warre: for with thee will I breake the nations, and with thee will I destroy kingdomes, n He meaneth the Medes & Persians, as he did before call the Babylonians his hammer, Chap. 50. 23.

21 And by thee will I breake horse and horseman, and by thee will I breake the charet and him that rideth therein.

22 By thee also will I breake man and woman, and by thee will I breake olde and yong, and by thee will I breake the yong man and the mayde.

23 I will also breake by thee the shepheard and his flocke, and by thee will I breake the husbandman and his yoke of oxen, and by thee will I breake the dukes and princes.

24 And I will render vnto Babel, and to all the inhabitants of the Caldeans all their euill, that they haue done in Zion, euen in your sight, saith the Lord.

25 Behold, I come vnto thee, O destroying o mountaine, saith the Lord, which destroyest all the earth: and I will stretch out mine hand vpon thee, and rolle thee downe from the p rockes, and will make thee a burnt mountaine.

o Not that Babylon stood on a mountaine, but because it was strong and seemed inuincible.

p From thy strong holdes and fortresses.

26 They shall not take of thee a stone for a corner, nor a stone for foundations, but thou shalt be destroyed for euer, saith the Lord.

27 Set vp a standard in the land: blowe the trumpets among the nations: prepare the nations against her: call vp the kingdomes of q Ararat, Minni, and Ashchenaz against her: appoint the prince against her: cause horses to come vp as the rough caterpillars.

q By these three nations he meaneth Armenia the higher, and Armenia the lower, and Scythia: for Cyrus had gathered an armie of diuers nations.

28 Prepare against her the nations with the Kings of the Medes, the dukes thereof, and the princes thereof, and all the land of his dominion.

29 And the land shall tremble and sorow: for the deuise of the Lord shalbe performed against Babel, to make the land of Babel waste without an inhabitant.

30 The strong men of Babel haue ceased to fight: they haue remained in their holdes: their strength hath failed, and they were like women: they haue burnt her dwelling places, and her barres are broken.

31 A post shall runne to meete the post, and a messenger to meete the messenger, to shewe the King of Babel, that his citie is taken on a r side thereof, r By turning the course of the riuer one side was made open, & the reedes that did grow in the water, were destroyed, which Cyrus did by the counsell of Gobrta and Gabatha Belthazzars captaines.

32 And that the passages are stopped, and the reedes burnt with fire, and the men of warre troubled.

33 For thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, the daughter of Babel is like a threshing floore, the time of her threshing is come: yet a litle while, and the time of her haruest s shall come.

s When she shall be cut vp and threshed.

34 Nebuchad-nezzar the King of Babel hath t deuoured me, and destroyed me: he hath made me an emptie vessell: he swallowed me vp like a dragon, and filled his belly with my delicates, and hath cast me out.

t This is spoken in the person of the Iewes, bewayling their state, and the cruelties of the Babylonians.

35 The spoyle of me, and that which was left of me, is brought vnto Babel, shall the inhabitant of Zion say: and my blood vnto the inhabitants of Caldea,shall Ierusalem say.

36 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I wil maintaine thy [u] cause,and take vengeance for thee, and I will drie vp the sea, and drie vp her springs.

37 And Babel shalbe as heapes, a dwelling place for dragons, an astonishment, and an hissing,without an inhabitant.

38 They shall roare together like lyons, and yell as the lyons whelpes.

39 In their [x] heate I wil make them feasts,and I wil make them drunken,that they may reioyce, and sleepe a perpetuall sleepe,and not wake,saith the Lord.

40 I will bring them downe like lambes to the slaughter,and like rammes and goates.

41 Howe is [y] Shesshach taken! and how is the glory of the whole earth taken! how is Babel become an astonishment among the nations!

42 The [z] sea is come vp vpon Babel: she is couered with the multitude of the waues thereof.

43 Her cities are desolate: the land is dry and a wildernesse, a land wherein no man dwelleth, neither doeth the sonne of man passe thereby.

44 I will also visite Bel in Babel,& I wil bring out of his mouth that which [a] he hath swallowed vp, and the nations shall run no more vnto him, and the wall of Babel shall fall.

45 My people, goe out of the middes of her, & deliuer ye euery man his soule from the fierce wrath of the Lord, 46 Least your heart faint, and yee feare the rumour that shalbe heard in the land: the rumour shall come this yeere, and after that in the other [b] yeere shall come a rumour, and crueltie in the land,and ruler against ruler.

47 Therefore behold, the dayes come, that I will visite the images of Babel, and the whole land shall be confounded, and all her slaine shall fall in the middes of her.

48 Then the heauen and [c] the earth, and all that is therein,shal reioyce for Babel: for the destroyers shall come vnto her from the North, saith the Lord.

49 As Babel caused the [d] slaine of Israel to fal, so by Babel the slaine of all the earth did fall.

50 Yee that [e] haue escaped the sword, goe away, stand not still: remember the Lord afarre off,and let Ierusalem come into your minde.

51 Wee are [f] confounded, because wee haue heard reproch: shame hath couered our faces, for strangers are come into the Sanctuaries of the Lords House.

52 Wherefore beholde, the dayes come,saith the Lord,that I will visite her grauen images,and through all her land the wounded shall grone.

53 Though Babel should mount vp to [g] heauen, and though shee should defend her strength on hie, yet from mee shall her destroyers come, saith the Lord.

54 A sound of a cry commeth from Babel, and great destruction from the land of the Caldeans, 55 Because the Lord hath laide Babel waste, and destroyed from her the great voyce, and her waues shall roare like great waters, and a sound was made by their noyse:

56 Because the destroyer is come vpon her, euen vpon Babel, and her strong men are taken, their bowes are broken: for the Lord God that recompenceth,shall surely recompence.

57 And I will [h] make drunke her princes, and her wise men, her dukes, and her nobles, and her strong men: and they shall sleepe a perpetuall sleepe,and not wake,saith the King, whose Name is the Lord of hostes.

58 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, The [i] thicke wall of Babel shalbe broken, & her hie gates shall be burnt with fire,& the people shal labour in vaine, and the folke in the fire,for they shall be wearie.

60 So Ieremiah wrote in a booke all the euill that should come vpon Babel, euen all these things,that are written against Babel.

61 And Ieremiah said to Seraiah, When thou commest vnto Babel,and shalt see,and shalt reade all these wordes, 62 Then shalt thou say,O Lord,thou hast spoken against this place to destroy it, that none should remaine in it, neither man nor beast, but that it should be desolate for euer.

63 And when thou hast made an end of reading this booke, thou shalt binde a [l] stone to it, and cast it in the middes of Euphrates, 64 And shalt say, Thus shall Babel bee drowned, and shall not rise from the euill, that I will bring vpon her: and they shal [m] be wearie. Thus farre are the wordes of Ieremiah.

1 Ierusalem is taken. 10 Zedekiahs sonnes are killed before his face,and his eyes put out. 13 The citie burnt. 31 Jehoiachin is brought from prison,and fedde like a King.

ZEdekiah * was one and twentie yeere olde when he began to reigne,and he reigned eleuen yeeres in Ierusalem, & his mothers name was Hamutal,the daughter of Ieremiah of Libnah.

2 And he did euil in the eyes of the Lord,according to all that Iehioiakim had done.

3 [a] Doubtlesse because the wrath of the Lord was against Ierusalem and Iudah, till hee had cast them out from his presence, therefore Zedekiah rebelled against the King of Babel.

4 * But in the ninth yeere of his reigne, in the tenth moneth the tenth day of the moneth, came Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, hee and all his hoste against Ierusalem,and pitched against it,and built fortes against it round about.

5 So the citie was besieged vnto the eleuenth yeere of the King Zedekiah.

6 Nowe in the fourth moneth, the ninth day of the moneth,the famine was sore in the citie,so that there was no more bread for the people of the land.

of Iudah in Riblah.

11 Then he put out the eyes of Zedekiah, and the King of Babel bound him in chaines, and caried him to Babel, and put him in prison till the day of his death.

12 Nowe in the fift moneth in the [d] tenth day of the moneth (which was the nineteenth yere of the King Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel) came Nebuzar-adan chiefe steward which [e] stood before the King of Babel in Ierusalem, 13 And burnt the House of the Lorde, and the Kings House, and all the houses of Ierusalem, and all the great houses burnt he with fire.

14 And al the army of the Caldeans that were with the chiefe steward brake downe all the wals of Ierusalem round about.

15 Then Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward caried away captiue certaine of the poore of the people, and the residue of the people that remained in the citie, and those that were fled, and fallen to the King of Babel, with the rest of the multitude.

16 But Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward left certaine of the poore of the lande, to dresse the vines, and to til the land.

17 Also the [f] pillars of brasse that were in the House of the Lorde, and the bases, and the brasen Sea, that was in the house of the Lorde, the Caldeans brake, and caried all the brasse of them to Babel.

18 The pots also and the [g] besoms, and the instruments of musicke, and the basins, and the incense dishes, and all the vessels of brasse wherewith they ministred, tooke they away.

19 And the bowles, and the ashpans, and the basins, and the pots, and the candlesticks, and the incense dishes, and the cuppes, and all that was of golde, and that was of siluer, tooke the chiefe steward away,

20 With the two pillars, one Sea, and twelue brasen buls, that were vnder the bases, which King Salomon had made in the house of the Lord: the brasse of all these vessels was without [h] weight.

21 And concerning the pillars, the height of one pillar was eighteene cubites, and a threede of twelue cubites did compasse it, and the thickenes thereof was foure fingers: it was holow.

22 And a chapiter of brasse was vpon it, and the height of one chapiter was fiue cubites with networke, and pomegranates vpon the chapiters round about, all of brasse: the second pillar also, and the pomegranates were like vnto these.

23 And there were ninetie and sixe pomegranates on a side: and all the pomegranates vpon the networke were an [i] hundreth round about.

24 And the chiefe steward tooke Sheraiah the chiefe Priest, and Zephaniah the [k] second Priest, and the three keepers of the doore.

25 Hee tooke also out of the citie an Eunuch, which had the ouersight of the men of warre, and [l] seuen men that were in the kings presence, which were founde in the citie, and Sopher captaine of the hoste who mustered the people of the lande, and threescore men of the people of the land, that were found in the middes of the city.

26 Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward tooke them, and brought them to the King of Babel to Riblah.

27 And the King of Babel smote them, and slewe them in Riblah, in the lande of Hamath: thus Iudah was caryed away captiue out of his owne land.

28 ¶ This is the people, whome Nebuchad-nezzar caryed away captiue, in the [m] seuenth yeere, euen three thousand Iewes, and three and twentie.

29 In the [n] eighteenth yere of Nebuchad-nezzar hee caried away captiue from Ierusalem eight hundreth thirtie and two † persons.

30 In the three and twentieth yeere of Nebuchad-nezzar, Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward caryed away captiue of the Iewes seuen hundreth fourtie and fiue persons: al the persons were foure thousand and sixe hundreth.

31 And in the seuen and thirtieth yeere of the captiuitie of Iehoiachin King of Iudah, in the twelfth moneth, in the fiue and twentieth day of the moneth, Euil-merodach King of Babel, in the first yeere of his reigne, [o] lifted vp the head of Iehoiachin King of Iudah, and brought him out of prison,

32 And spake kindly vnto him, and set his throne aboue the throne of the Kings, that were with him in Babel, 33 And changed his prison [p] garments, and hee did continually eate bread before him all the dayes of his life.

34 His portion was a [p] continuall portion giuen him of the King of Babel, euery day a certaine, all the dayes of his life vntil he died.

14 The p yoke of my transgressions is bound vpon his hand: they are wrapped, & come vp vpon my necke: hee hath made my strength to fall: the Lord hath deliuered me into their handes, neither am I able to rise vp.

15 The Lorde hath troden vnder foote all my valiant men in the middes of mee: he hath called an assembly against me to destroy my yong men: the Lorde hath troden q the wine presse vpon the virgine the daughter of Iudah.

16 * For these things I weepe: mine eye, euen mine eye casteth out water, because the comforter that should refresh my soule, is farre from me: my children are desolate, because the enemie preuailed.

17 Zion stretched out her handes, and there is none to comfort her: the Lord hath appointed the enemies of Iaakob rounde about him: Ierusalem is r as a menstruous woman in the middes of them.

20 Beholde, O Lord, howe I am troubled: my bowels swell: mine heart is turned within me, for I am full of heauines: the sword spoyleth abroad, as death doeth at home.

21 They haue heard that I mourne, but there is none to comfort mee: all mine enemies haue heard of my trouble, and are glad, that thou hast done it: thou wilt bring the day, that thou hast pronounced, and they shalbe like vnto me.

HOw hath the Lorde a darkened the daughter of Zion in his wrath! and hath caſt downe from b heauen vnto the earth the beautie of Iſrael, and remembred not his c footeſtoole in the day of his wrath!

4 Hee f hath bent his bowe like an enemie: his right hande was ſtretched vp as an aduerſarie, and ſlew all that was pleaſant to the eye in the tabernacle of the daughter of Zion: he powred out his wrath like fire.

a The Prophet complaineth of the punishments and afflictions that he endured by the false prophets and hypocrites, when hee declared the destruction of Ierusalem, as Iere. 20.2.

b He speaketh this as one that felt Gods heauie iudgements, which he greatly feared, and therefore setteth them out with this diuersitie of wordes.

c This is a great tentation to the godly, when they see not the fruite of their prayers, and causeth them to thinke that they are not heard, which thing God vseth to doe, that they might pray more earnestly and the oftner.

d And keepeth me in hold as a prisoner.

a Am the man, that hath seene [a] affliction in the rod of his indignation.

2 He hath ledde me, and brought mee into darkenesse, but not to light.

3 Surely he is turned against me: he turneth his hand against me all the day.

4 My flesh and my skinne hath he caused to waxe old, and he hath broken my bones.

5 Hee hath [b] builded against me, and compassed me with gall and labour.

6 He hath set me in darke places, as they that be dead for euer.

7 Hee hath hedged about mee, that I cannot get out: he hath made my chaines heauie.

8 Also when I cry and showte, hee shutteth out my [c] prayer.

9 He hath [d] stopped vp my wayes with hewen stone, and turned away my paths.

10 [e] He was vnto me as a beare lying in wayt, and as a Lion in secret places.

11 He hath stopped my wayes, and pulled me in pieces: he hath made me desolate.

12 Hee hath bent his bowe, and made mee a marke for the arrow.

13 Hee caused † the arrowes of his quiuer to enter into my reines.

14 I was a derision to all my people, and their song all the day.

15 He hath filled me with bitternes, & made me drunken with [f] wormewood.

16 He hath also broken my teeth with stones, and hath couered me with ashes.

17 Thus my soule was farre off from peace: I forgate prosperitie,

18 And I said, My strength and mine hope [g] is perished from the Lord, 19 Remembring mine affliction, & my mourning, the wormewood and the gall.

20 My soule hath them in remembrance, and is humbled [h] in me.

21 I consider this in mine heart: therefore haue I hope.

22 It is the Lordes [i] mercies that wee are not consumed, because his compassions faile not.

23 They are renued [k] euery morning: great is thy faithfulnesse.

24 The Lord is my [l] portion, saith my soule: therefore will I hope in him.

25 The Lord is good vnto them, that trust in him, and to the soule that seeketh him.

26 It is good both to trust, and to wait for the saluation of the Lord.

27 It is good for a man that he beare the yoke in his [m] youth.

28 He sitteth alone, [n] and keepeth silence, because he hath borne it vpon him.

29 He putteth his [o] mouth in the dust, if there may be hope.

30 He giueth his cheeke to him that smiteth him: he is filled full with reproches.

31 For the Lord will not forsake for euer.

32 But though he send affliction, yet will hee haue compassion according to the multitude of his mercies.

33 For he doeth not [p] punish † willingly, nor afflict the children of men, 34 In stamping vnder his feete all the prisoners of the earth.

35 In ouerthrowing the right of a man before the face of the most High, 36 In subuerting a man in his cause: the Lord [q] seeth it not.

37 Who is he then that saith, and it commeth to passe, and the Lord [r] commandeth it not?

38 Out of the mouth of the most High proceedeth not [s] euill and good?

39 Wherefore then is the liuing [t] man sorowfull? man suffereth for his sinne.

40 Let vs search and trie our wayes, and turne againe to the Lord.

41 Let vs lift vp [u] our hearts with our handes vnto God in the heauens.

42 We haue sinned, and haue rebelled: therefore thou hast not spared.

43 Thou hast couered vs with wrath, and persecuted vs: thou hast slaine, and not spared.

44 Thou hast couered thy selfe with a cloude, that our prayer should not passe through.

e He hath no pitie on me.

f With great anguish & sorow he hath made me to lose my sense.

g Thus with paine he was driuen to and fro betweene hope & despaire as the godly oft times are, yet in the end the Spirit getteth the victorie.

h He sheweth that God thus vseth to exercise his, to the intent that hereby they may know themselues and seeke his mercies.

i Considering the wickednes of man, it is maruel that any remaineth alive: but only that God for his owne mercies sake & for his promise will euer haue his Church to remaine though they be neuer so fewe in number, Isa 1.9.

k We feele thy benefites daily.

l The godly put their whole confidence in God, and therfore looke for none other inheritance, as Psal.16.5.

m He sheweth that we can neuer begin too timely to be exercised vnder the crosse that when the afflictions grow greater, our patience also by experience may be stronger.

n He murmureth not against God, but is patient

o He humbleth himselfe, as they that fall downe with their face to the ground, and so with patience waiteth for succour.

p He taketh no pleasure in it, but doeth it of necessity for our amendment, when he forbeareth the wicked to oppresse the poore.

q He doeth not delite therein.

r He sheweth that nothing is done without Gods prouidence.

s That is, aduersitie and prosperitie, Amos 3.6.

t When God afflicteth him.

u That is, both hearts & hands: for els to lift vp the hands is but hypocrisie.

2 Cor.4.13.

45 Thou haſt made vs as the * offſkowring and refuſe in the middes of the people.

46 All our enemies haue opened their mouth againſt vs.

47 Feare, and a ſnare is come vpon vs with deſolation and deſtruction.

48 Mine eye caſteth out riuers of water, for the deſtruction of the daughter of my people.

49 Mine eye droppeth without ſtay and ceaſeth not,

50 Till the Lord looke downe, and beholde from heauen.

x I am ouercome with ſore weeping for all my people.

51 Mine eye x breaketh mine heart becauſe of all the daughters of my citie.

52 Mine enemies chaſed me ſore like a birde, without cauſe.

y Reade Iere.37.16. how he was in the miry dungeon.

53 They haue ſhut vp my life y in the dungeon, and caſt a ſtone vpon me.

54 Waters flowed ouer mine head, then thought I, I am deſtroyed.

55 I called vpon thy Name, O Lord, out of the lowe dungeon.

56 Thou haſt heard my voyce: ſtop not thine eare from my ſigh and from my crie.

57 Thou dreweſt neere in the day that I called vpon thee: thou ſaideſt, Feare not.

58 O Lord, thou haſt maintained the cauſe of my z ſoule, and haſt redeemed my life.

z Meaning, the cauſe wherefore his life was in danger.

59 O Lord, thou haſt ſeene my wrong, iudge thou my cauſe.

60 Thou haſt ſeene all their vengeance, and all their deuiſes againſt me.

61 Thou haſt heard their reproche, O Lorde, and all their imaginations againſt me:

62 The lips alſo of thoſe that roſe againſt me, and their whiſpering againſt me continually.

63 Behold, their ſitting downe and their riſing vp, how I am their ſong.

* Pſalme 28.4.

64 * Giue them a recompence, O Lord, according to the worke of their handes.

‖ Or, an obſtinate heart.

65 Giue them ‖ ſorow of heart, euen thy curſe to them.

66 Perſecute with wrath and deſtroy them from vnder the heauen, O Lord.

CHAP. IIII.

a By the golde he meaneth the princes, as by the ſtones he vnderſtandeth the Prieſtes.
‖ Or, bid.
‖ Or, ſonnes.

HOwe is the a golde become ſo ‖ dimme? the moſt fine gold is changed, and the ſtones of the Sanctuary are ſcattered in the corner of euery ſtreete.

b Which are of ſmall eſtimation, and haue none honour.

2 The noble ‖ men of Zion comparable to fine golde, howe are they eſteemed as earthen b pitchers, & the worke of the handes of the potter!

c Though the dragons be cruell, yet they pitie their yong and nouriſh them, which thing Ieruſalem doth not.

3 Euen the dragons c draw out the breaſtes, and giue ſucke to their yong, but the daughter of my people is become cruell like the d oſtriches in the wilderneſſe.

d The women forſake their children, as the oſtrich doeth her egges, Iob.39.17.

4 The tongue of the ſucking childe cleaueth to the rooſe of his mouth for thirſt: the young children aſke bread, but no man breaketh it vnto them.

5 They that did ſoede delicately, periſh in the ſtreetes: they that were brought vp in ſcarlet embrace the dongue.

6 For the iniquitie of the daughter of my people is become greater then the ſinne of Sodom, that was * deſtroyed as in a moment, and ‖ none pitched campes againſt her.

* Gene 19 25.
* Numb.6.2.

7 Her * Nazarites were purer then the ſnow, and whiter then the milke: they were more ruddie in bodie, then the redde precious ſtones: they were like poliſhed ſaphir.

e They that were before moſt in Gods fauour, are nowe in greateſt abomination vnto him.

8 Nowe their e viſage is blacker then a cole: they cannot knowe them in the ſtreets: their ſkinne cleaueth to their bones: it is withered like a ſtocke.

f For lacke of fonde they pine away, and conſume.

9 They that be ſlaine with the ſword are better then they that are killed with hunger: for they fade away as they were ſtricken through for the f fruites of the fielde.

10 The handes of the pitifull women haue ſodden their own children, which were their meat in the deſtruction of the daughter of my people.

g He meaneth that theſe things are come to paſſe therefore, contrary to all mens expectation.

11 The Lord hath accompliſhed his indignation: he hath powred out his fierce wrath, hee hath kindled a fire in Zion, which hath deuoured the foundations thereof.

h Some referre this to the blinde men, which as they went ſtumbled on the blood, whereof the citie was full.

12 The Kings of the earth, and all the inhabitants of the world would not haue beleeued that the aduerſarie and the enemie ſhould haue entred into the gates of Ieruſalem:

i Meaning, the heathen, which came to deſtroy them, could not abide them.

13 For the ſinnes of her Prophets, & the iniquities of her Prieſts that haue ſhed the blood of the iuſt in the middes of g her.

‖ Or, face.

14 They haue wandred as blinde men h in the ſtreetes, and they were polluted with blood, ſo that i they would not touch their garments.

k That is, the enemies.

15 But they cryed vnto them, Depart, ye polluted, depart, depart, touch not: therefore they fled away, and wandered: they haue ſaid among the heathen, They ſhall no more dwel there.

l He ſheweth two principal cauſes of their deſtruction: their crueltie, and their vaine confidence in man: for they truſted in the helpe of the Egyptians.

16 The ‖ anger of the Lorde hath ſcattered them, he wil no more regard them: k they reuerenced not the face of the Prieſtes, nor had compaſſion of the Elders.

m Our King Ioſiah, in whom ſtoode our hope of Gods fauour, and on whome depended our ſtate, and life, was ſlaine, whome he calleth anointed, becauſe he was a figure of Chriſt.

17 Whiles we waited for our vaine helpe, our eyes failed: for in our waiting we looked for l a nation that could not ſaue vs.

18 They hunt our ſteppes that we cannot goe in our ſtreetes: our ende is neere, our dayes are fulfilled, for our end is come.

n This is ſpoken by deriſion.
‖ Or, ſhewe thy nakednes.

19 Our perſecuters are ſwifter then the egles of the heauen: they purſued vs vpon the mountaines, and laid waite for vs in the wilderneſſe.

o He comforteth the Church by that after ſeuentie yeeres their ſorowes ſhal haue an end, whereas the wicked ſhould be tormented for euer.

20 The m breath of our noſtrels, the Anoynted of the Lord was taken in their nets, of whom we ſaid, Vnder his ſhadowe we ſhalbe preſerued aliue among the heathen.

21 Reioyce and be glad, n O daughter Edom, that dwelleſt in the land of Vz, the cup alſo ſhal paſſe through vnto thee: thou ſhalt be drunken, ‖ and vomit.

22 Thy puniſhmẽt is accompliſhed, O daughter Zion: he o wil no more carie thee away into captiuitie, but hee will viſite thine iniquitie, O daughter Edom, he will diſcouer thy ſinnes.

CHAP. V.

The prayer of Ieremiah.

a This prayer as is thought, was made when ſome of the people were caryed away captiue rothers, as the pooreſt remained, and ſome went into Egypt and other places for ſuccour: albeit it ſeemeth that * the Prophet foreſeeing their miſeries to come,

REmember, O Lorde, what is come vpon vs: a conſider, and behold our reproche.

2 Our inheritance is turned to the ſtrangers, our houſes to the aliants.

3 We are fatherleſſe euen without father, and our mothers are as widowes.

4 Wee haue drunke our b water for money, and our wood is ſold vnto vs.

b Meaning their extreme ſeruitude and bondage.

5 Our neckes are vnder perſecution: we are wearie, and haue no reſt.

6 We haue giuen our c handes to the Egyptians, c We are ioyned in league and amitie with them, or haue ſubmitted our ſelues vnto them.

thus prayed.

d As our fathers haue bin punished for their sinnes, so we that are culpable of the same sinnes, are punished.
e Because of the enemie ‖ came frō the wildernes, and would not suffer vs to goe & seeke our necessary foode.
f That is, by the enemies hand.
g Their slauery was so great that they were not able to abide it.
h There were no more lawes nor forme of common wealth.

tians, and to Asshur: to be satisfied with bread.
7 Our fathers haue sinned, and are not, and we haue borne their d iniquities.
8 Seruants haue ruled ouer vs, none would deliuer vs out of their hands.
9 Wee gate our bread with the peril of our liues, because of the sword e of the wildernesse.
10 Our skinne was blacke like as an ouen because of the terrible famine.
11 They defiled the women in Zion, and the maydes in the cities of Iudah.
12 The princes are hanged vp by f their hand: the faces of the Elders were not had in honour.
13 They tooke the yong men to grind, and the children fell vnder g the wood.
14 The Elders haue ceased from the hgate and the yong men from their songs.
15 The ioy of our heart is gone, our daunce is turned into mourning.
16 The crowne of our head is fallen: wo now vnto vs, that we haue sinned.
17 Therefore our heart is heauie for these things, our i eyes are dimme, 18 Because of the mountaine of Zion which is desolate: the foxes runne vpon it.
19 But thou, O Lord, remainest for k euer: thy throne is from generation to generation.
20 Wherefore doest thou forget vs for euer, and forsake vs so long time?
21 l Turne thou vs vnto thee, O Lord, and wee shalbe turned: renue our dayes as of olde.
22 But thou hast vtterly reiected vs: thou art exceedingly angry against vs.

i With weeping.
k And therefore thy couenant and mercies can neuer faile.
l Whereby is declared that it is not in mans power to turne to God, but is onely his worke to conuert vs, and thus God worketh in vs before we can turne to him, Iere. 31.18.

EZEKIEL.

THE ARGVMENT.

After that Iehoiachin by the counsel of Ieremiah and Ezekiel had yeelded himselfe to Nebuchadnezzar, and so went into captiuitie with his mother and diuers of his princes and of the people, certaine beganne to repent and murmure that they had obeyed the Prophets counsell, as though the thing which they had prophecied should not come to passe, and therefore their estate should be still miserable vnder the Caldeans. By reason whereof he confirmeth his former prophecies, declaring by newe visions and reuelations shewed vnto him, that the citie should most certainely bee destroyed, and the people grieuously tormented by Gods plagues, insomuch that they that remained, shoulde bee brought into cruel bondage. And lest the godly should despaire in these great troubles, hee assureth them that God will deliuer his Church at his time appointed, and also destroy their enemies which either afflicted them, or reioyced in their miseries. The effect of the one and the other should chiefly be performed vnder Christ, of whome in this booke are many notable promises, and in whome the glory of the newe Temple should perfectly bee restored. He prophecied these things in Caldea, at the same time that Ieremiah prophecied in Iudah, and there beganne in the fift yeere of Iehoiachins captiuitie.

CHAP. I.

c The time wherein Ezekiel prophecied, and in what place. 3 His kindred. 5 The vision of the foure beastes. 26 The vision of the Throne.

a After that the booke of the Law was found, which was the eighteenth yeere of the reigne of Iosiah, so that fiue and twentie yeeres after this booke was found, Ieconiah was led away captiue with Ezekiel (and many of the people) who the first yeere after saw these visions.
b Which was a part of Euphrates, so called.
c That is, notable, and excellent visions, so that it might be knowen, it was no naturall dreame, but came of God.
d That is, the Spirit of prophecie, as Chap. 3.22, and 37.1.
e By this diuersity of words, he signifieth the fearefull iudgement of God, and the great afflictions, that should come vpon Ierusalem, ‖ Or, pale yellow.
f Which were the foure Cherubims that represented the glory of God, as Chap. 3.23.

IT came to passe in the a thirtieth yeere in the fourth moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth (as I was among the captiues by the riuer b Chebar) that the heauens were opened, and I sawe visions of c God.
2 In the fift day of the moneth (which was the fift yeere of King Ioiachins captiuitie)
3 The word of the Lorde came vnto Ezekiel the Priest, the sonne of Buzi, in the lande of the Caldeans, by the riuer Chebar, where the d hande of the Lord was vpon him.
4 And I looked, and beholde, e a whirlewinde came out of the North, a great cloude and a fire wrapped about it, and a brightnesse was about it, and in the middes thereof, to wit, in the middes of the fire came out the likenesse of ‖ amber.
5 Also out of the mids thereof came the likenesse of foure beastes, f and this was their forme: they had the appearance of a man.
6 And euery one had foure faces, and euery one had foure wings.
7 And their feete were streight feete, and the sole of their feete was like the sole of a calues foote, and they sparkled like the appearance of bright brasse.
8 And the hands of a man came out from vnder their wings in the foure parts of them, & they foure had their faces, and their wings.
9 They were g ioyned by their wings one to another, and when they went foorth, they returned not, but euery one went streight forward.
10 And the similitude of their faces was as h the face of man: and they foure had the face of a lyon on the right side, and they foure had the face of a bullocke on the left side: they foure also had the face of an egle.
11 Thus were their faces: but their wings were spred out aboue: two wings of euery one were ioyned one to another, and two couered their bodies.
12 And euery one went streight forward: they went whither their † spirit lead them, and they returned not when they went forth.
13 The similitude also of the beastes, and their appearance was like burning coales of fire, and like the appearance of lampes: for the fire ranne among the beastes, and the fire gaue a glister, and out of the fire there went lightning.
14 And the beastes ranne, and i returned like vnto lightning.
15 ¶ Nowe as I behelde the beastes, beholde a wheele appeared vpon the earth by the beasts, hauing foure faces.
16 The fashion of the wheeles and their worke was like vnto a k chrysolite: and they foure had one forme, and their fashion, and their worke was as one wheele in another wheele.
17 When they went, they went vpon their foure sides, and they returned not when they went.
18 They had also ‖ rings, and height, and were feareful to beholde, and their rings were full of eyes, round about them foure.

g The wing of the one touched the wing of the other.
h Euery Cherubim had foure faces, the face of a man, and of a lyon on the right side, and the face of a bullocke, and of an egle on the left side.
† Ebr. Whither their spirit or will was to goe.
i That is, when they had executed Gods will: for afore they returned not, til God had changed the state of things.
k The Ebrewe worde is Tarshishe meaning, that the colour was like the Cilician sea, or a precious stone so called.
‖ Or, the wrest.

20 Whither the spirit led them, they went, and thither did the spirite of the wheeles leade them, and the wheeles were lifted vp besides them: for the spirit of the beastes was in the wheeles.

28 As the likenesse of the bowe, that is in the cloud in the day of raine, so was the appearance of the light round about.

29 This was the appearance of the similitude of the glorie of the Lord: and when I saw it, I fell [o] vpon my face, and I heard a voice of one that spake.

o Considering the maiestie of God, & the weakenesse of flesh.

CHAP. II.

The Prophet is sent to call the people from their errour.

AND [a] he said vnto me, [b] Sonne of man, stand vp vpon thy feet, and I wil speake vnto thee.

2 [c] And the Spirit entred into me, when he had spoken vnto me, and set me vpon my feet, so that I heard him that spake vnto me.

3 And he sayd vnto me, Sonne of man, I send thee to the children of Israel, to a rebellious nation that hath rebelled against me: for they & their fathers haue rebelled against me, euen vnto this very day.

4 For they are † impudent children, and stiffe hearted: I doe send thee vnto them, & thou shalt say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God.

5 But surely they will not heare, neither in deed will they cease: for they are a rebellious house: yet shall they know that [d] there hath bene a Prophet among them.

6 And thou sonne of man, [e] feare them not, neither be afraid of their words, although rebels, and thornes be with thee, and thou remainest with scorpions: feare not their words, nor be afraid at their looks, for they are a rebellious house.

7 Therefore thou shalt speake my words vnto them: but surely they will not heare, neither will they indeed cease: for they are rebellious.

8 But thou sonne of man, heare what I say vnto thee: be not thou rebellious, like this rebellious house: open thy mouth, and [f] eat that I giue thee.

9 And when I looked vp, beholde, an hand was sent vnto me, and loe, a roule of a booke was therein.

10 And he spred it before me, and it was written within and without, and there was written therein, [g] Lamentations, and mourning, and woe.

a That is, the Lord.
b Meaning man, which is but earth and ashes, which was to humble him, and cause him to consider his owne state, and Gods grace.
c So that he could not abide in Gods presence till Gods spirit did enter into him.
† Ebr. hard of face.
d This declareth on the one part Gods great affection toward his people, that notwithstanding their rebellion yet he will send his Prophets among thē, and admonisheth his ministers on the other part that they cease not to doe their duetie, though the people be neuer so obstinate: for the word of God shall be either to their saluation or greater condemnation.
e Reade Ierem. 1.17: he sheweth that for none afflictions they should cease to doe their duties.
f Hee doth not onely exhort him to his duetie, but also giueth him the meanes wherewith he may be able to execute it.
g Hee sheweth what were the contents of this booke: to wit, Gods iudgements against the wicked.

CHAP. III.

1 The Prophet being fed with the word of God, and with the constant boldnesse of the Spirit, is sent vnto the people that were in captiuitie. 17 The office of true ministers.

MOreouer he said vnto me, Sonne of man, eat that thou findest: [a] eate this roule, and goe, and speake vnto the house of Israel.

2 So I opened my mouth, and he gaue me this roule to eate.

3 And he sayd vnto me, Sonne of man, cause thy bellie to eate, and fill thy bowels with this roule that I giue thee. Then did I eate it, & it was in my mouth as sweet as honie.

4 And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, go, and enter into the house of Israel, and declare them my words.

5 For thou art not sent to a people of an vnknowen † tongue, or of an hard language, but to the house of Israel,

6 Not to many people of an vnknowen toung, or of an hard language, whose wordes thou canst not vnderstand: yet if I should send thee to them, they would obey thee.

7 But the house of Israel will not obey thee: for they will not obey me: yea, all the house of Israel are impudent and stiffe hearted.

8 Beholde, I haue made thy face [b] strong against their faces, and thy forehead hard against their foreheads.

9 I haue made thy forehead as the adamant, and harder then the flint: feare them not therefore, neither be afraid at their looks: for they are a rebellious house.

10 He said moreouer vnto me, Sonne of man, receiue in thine heart all my words that I speake vnto thee, and heare them with thine eares, 11 And goe and enter to them that are led away captiues vnto the children of thy people, and speake vnto them, and tell them, Thus saith the Lord God: but surely they will not heare, neither will they indeed cease.

12 Then the spirit tooke me vp, and I heard behind mee a noyse of a great rushing, saying, [d] Blessed be the glory of the Lord out of his place.

13 I heard also the noyse of the wings of the beasts, that touched one another, and the rattling of the wheeles that were by them, euen a noise of a great rushing.

14 So the Spirit lift me vp, and tooke me away and I [e] went in bitternesse, and indignation of my spirit, but the hand of the Lord was strong vpon me.

15 Then I came to them that were led away captiues to [f] Tel-abib, that dwelt by the riuer Chebar, and I sate where they sate, and remained there astonished among them [g] seuen dayes.

16 And at the end of seuen dayes, the word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

17 Sonne of man, I haue made thee a [h] watchman vnto the house of Israel: therefore heare the word at my mouth, and giue them warning from mee.

18 When I shall say vnto the wicked, Thou shalt surely die, and thou giuest not him warning, nor speakest to admonish the wicked of his wicked way, that he may liue, the same wicked man shall die in his iniquitie: but his blood will I require at thine hand.

19 Yet, if thou warne the wicked, and he turne not from his wickednesse, nor from his wicked way, he shall die in his iniquitie, but thou hast deliuered thy soule.

20 Likewise if a [i] righteous man turne from his righteousnesse, and commit iniquitie, I will lay a [k] stumbling blocke before him, and he shal die, because thou hast not giuen him warning: he shal die in his sinne, and his [l] righteous deeds, which he hath done, shall not be remembred: but his blood will I require at thine hand.

21 Neuertheless, if thou admonish that righteous man, that the righteous sinne not, and that he doth not sinne, he shall liue because he is admonished: also thou hast deliuered thy soule.

22 And the [m] hand of the Lord was there vpon me, and he said vnto me, Arise, and go into the ‖field, and I will there talke with thee.

23 So when I had risen vp, and gone forth into the field, behold, the [n] glory of the Lord stood there, as the glory which I saw by the riuer Chebar, and I fell downe vpon my face.

24 Then the Spirit entred into me, which [o] set me a Whereby is meant that none is meet to be Gods messenger before he haue receiued the word of God in his heart, as verse 10. and haue a zeale thereunto, and delight therein, as Ierem. 15.16. reuel. 10.10.

CHAP. IIII.

r The besieging of the citie of Ierusalem is signified. 9 The long continuance of the captiuitie of Israel. 16 An hunger is prophesied to come.

THou also, sonne of man, take thee a bricke, and lay it before thee, and pourtray vpon it the citie, euen Ierusalem.

2 And lay siege against it, and build a fort against it, & cast a mount against it, set the campe also against it, and lay engins of warre against it round about.

3 Moreouer, take an a yron pan, and set it for a wall of yron betweene thee and the citie, and direct thy face toward it, and it shall be besieged, and thou shalt lay siege against it: this shall be a signe vnto the house of Israel.

a Which signified the stubburnnesse and hardnesse of their heart.

4 Sleepe thou also vpon thy left side, and lay the iniquitie of the b house of Israel vpon it: according to the nũber of the dayes, that thou shalt sleepe vpon it, thou shalt beare their iniquitie.

b Hereby he represented the idolatrie and sinne of the ten tribes (for Samaria was on his left hand from Babylon) and how they had remained therein three hundreth and ninetie yeeres.

5 For I haue layd vpon thee the yeres of their iniquitie, according to the number of the dayes, euen three hundreth and ninetie dayes: so shalt thou beare the iniquitie of the house of Israel.

6 And when thou hast accomplished them, sleepe againe vpon thy c right side, and thou shalt beare the iniquitie of the house of Iudah fortie dayes: I haue appointed thee a day for a yeere, euen a day for a yeere.

c Which declared Iudah, who had nowe from the time of Iosiah slept in their sinnes fortie yeres.

d In token of a speedie vengeance.

7 Therefore thou shalt direct thy face toward the siege of Ierusalem, and thine d arme shall be vncouered, and thou shalt prophesie against it.

8 And beholde, I will lay e bands vpon thee, and thou shalt not turne thee from one side to another, till thou hast ended the dayes of thy siege.

e The people should so straitly be besieged, that they should not be able to turne them.

9 Thou shalt take also vnto thee wheat, and barley, and beanes, and lentiles, and millet, f and fitches, and put them in one vessell, & make thee bread thereof according to the number of the dayes, that thou shalt sleepe vpon thy side: euen g three hundreth and ninetie dayes shalt thou eat thereof.

f Meaning, that the famine should be so great, that they should be glad to eate whatsoeuer they could get.

g Which were foureteene monethes that the citie was besieged, and this was as many dayes as Israel sinned yeres.

10 And the meate, whereof thou shalt eate, shalbe by weight, euen h twenty shekels a day: and from time to time shalt thou eate thereof.

h Which make a pound.

11 Thou shalt drinke also water by measure, euen the sixt part of i an Hin: from time to time shalt thou drinke.

i Reade Exod. 29.40.

12 And thou shalt eate it as barley cakes, and thou shalt bake it k in the doung that commeth out of man in their sight.

k Signifying, hereby the great scarsitie of fuell, and matter to burne.

13 And the Lord said, So shall the children of Israel eate their defiled bread among the Gentiles, whither I will cast them.

14 Then sayd I, Ah, Lord God, beholde, my soule hath not bene polluted: for from my youth vp, euen vnto this houre, I haue not eaten of a thing dead, or torne in pieces, neither came there any l vncleane flesh in my mouth.

l Much lesse such vile corruption.

15 Then he sayd vnto me, Loe, I haue giuen thee bullocks m doung for mans doung, and thou shalt prepare thy bread therewith.

m To be as fire to bake thy bread with.

16 Moreouer, he said vnto me, Sonne of man, beholde, I will breake n the staffe of bread in Ierusalem, and they shall eate bread by weight, and with care, and they shal drinke water by measure, and with astonishment.

n That is, the force and strength wherewith it should nourish, Isa.3 1.chap.5.16 and 14.13.

CHAP. V.

The signe of the haires, whereby is signified the destruction of the people.

AND thou sonne of man, take thee a sharpe knife, or take thee a barbours rasor, and cause it a to passe vpon thine head, and vpon thy beard: then take thee balances to weigh, and diuide the haire.

a To shaue thine head & thy bread.

2 Thou shalt burne with fire the third part in the mids of b the citie, when the dayes of the siege are fulfilled, and thou shalt take the other third part, and smite about it with a knife, and the last third part thou shalt scatter in the winde, and I will draw out a sword after them.

b To wit, of that city which he had pourtrayed vpon the bricke, Chap. 4.1. By the fire and pestilence he meaneth the famine, wherewith one part perished during the siege of Nebuchadnezzar. By the sworde, those that were slaine when Zedekiah fled, and those that were caried away captiue. And by the scattering into the winde those that fled into Egypt, and into other parts after the citie was taken.

3 Thou shalt also take thereof a few in number, and binde them in thy c lappe.

c Meaning, that a very few should be left, which the Lord would preserue among all these stormes, but not without troubles and triall.

4 Then take of them againe and cast them into the middes of the fire, and burne them in the fire: d for thereof shall a fire come foorth into all the house of Israel.

d Out of that fire which thou kindlest, shall a fire come, which shall signifie the destruction of Israel.

5 Thus saith the Lord God, This is Ierusalem: I haue set it in the mids of the nations and countries, that are round about her.

6 And she hath changed my e iudgements into wickednesse more then the nations, and my statutes more then the countries, that are round about her: for they haue refused my iudgements and my statutes, and they haue not walked in them.

e My word and law into idolatrie and superstitions.

7 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Because your f multitude is greater then the nations that are round about you, and yee haue not walked in my statutes, neither haue yee kept my iudgements: no, yee haue not done according to the iudgements of the nations, that are round about you, f Because your idoles are in greater number, and your superstitions moe then among the professed idolaters, reade Isa. 65.11. or he condemneth their ingratitude in respect of his benefits.

8 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, I, euen I come against thee, and wil execute iudgement in the mids of thee, euen in the sight of the nations.

9 And I will doe in thee, that I neuer did before, neither will do any more the like, because of all thine abominations.

10 For in the middes of thee, the fathers * shall eate their sonnes, and the sonnes shall eate their fathers, & I will execute iudgement in thee, and the whole remnant of thee will I scatter into all the windes.

*Leuit.26.29. deut.28.53.2.king. 6.29.lament.4.10. baruch 2.3.

11 Wherefore, as I liue, saith the Lord God, Surely because thou hast defiled my sanctuarie with all thy filthinesse, and with all thine abominations, therefore will I also destroy thee, neither

neither shall mine eye spare thee, neither will I haue any pitie.

12 The third part of thee shall dye with the pestilence, and with famine shall they be consumed in the mids of thee: and another third part shall fall by the sword round about thee: and I will scatter the last third part into all windes, and I will draw out a sword after them.

13 Thus shall mine anger bee accomplished, and I will cause my wrath to cease in them, and I will be g comforted: and they shall know that I the Lord haue spoken it in my zeale, when I haue accomplished my wrath in them.

g That is, I will not be pacified, till I be reuenged, Isa.1.24.

14 Moreouer, I will make thee waste, and abhorred among the nations, that are round about thee, and in the sight of all that passe by.

15 So thou shalt be a reproche and shame, a chastisement and an astonishment vnto the nations, that are round about thee, when I shall execute iudgements in thee, in anger and in wrath, and in sharpe rebukes: I the Lord haue spoken it.

‖ Or, dangerous.

16 When I shall send vpon them the ‖ euill h arrowes of famine, which shalbe for their destruction, and which I wil send to destroy you: and I will encrease the famine vpon you, and will breake your staffe of bread.

h Which were the grashoppers, mildew, & whatsoeuer were occasions of famine.

17 * So will I send vpon you famine, and euill beastes, and they shall spoyle thee, and pestilence and blood shall passe through thee, and I will bring the sword vpon thee: I the Lorde haue spoken it.

* Chap.14.15.

CHAP. VI.

He sheweth that Ierusalem shalbe destroyed for their idolatrie. 8 He prophecieth the repentance of the remnant of the people, and their deliuerance.

AGaine the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, Set thy face towardes the * mountaines of Israel, and prophecie against them,

* Chap.36.1.

3 And say, Ye mountaines of Israel, heare the worde of the Lord God: thus saith the Lorde God to the a mountaines and to the hilles, to the riuers and to the valleyes, Behold, I, euen I will bring a sword vpon you, and I will destroy your hie places:

a He speaketh to all the places where the Israelites accustomed to commit their idolatries, threatning them destruction.

4 And your altars shall be desolate, and your images of the b Sunne shall be broken: and I will cast downe your slaine men before your idoles.

b Read 2. King. 23.11.

5 And I will lay the dead carkeises of the children of Israel before their c idoles, and I wil scatter your bones roundabout your altars.

c In contempt of their power and force, which shall neither be able to deliuer you nor themselues. 2. King. 23.20.

6 In all your dwelling places the cities shalbe desolate, and the hie places shalbe layed waste, so that your altars shall be made waste and desolate, and your idoles shalbe broken, & cease, and your images of the Sunne shalbe cut in pieces, and your workes shalbe abolished.

7 And the slaine shal fal in the middes of you, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

d He sheweth that in all dangers God wil preserue a few, which shal be as the seed of his Church, & cal vpon his Name.

8 Yet will I leaue a remnant, d that you may haue some that shall escape the sworde among the nations, when you shall be scattered through the countreys.

9 And they that escape of you, shall remember me among the nations, where they shall be in captiuitie, because I am grieued for their whorish hearts, which haue departed from mee, and for their eyes, which haue gone a whoring after their idoles, and they e shall be displeased in themselues for the euils, which they haue committed in all their abominations.

e They shalbe ashamed to see that their hope in idoles, was but vaine, and so shal repent.

10 And they shall knowe that I am the Lord, and that I haue not said in vaine, that I would do this euil vnto them.

11 Thus saith the Lord God, f Smite with thine hand, and stretch foorth with thy foote, and say, Alas, for al the wicked abominations of the house of Israel: for they shall fall by the sworde, by the famine, and by the pestilence.

f By these signes he would that the Prophet should signifie the great destruction to come.

12 Hee that is farre off, shall die of the pestilence, and he that is neere, shall fall by the sword, and he that remaineth and is besieged, shall die by the famine: thus will I accomplish my wrath vpon them.

13 Then ye shall know, that I am the Lord, when their slaine men shall be among their idoles round about their altars, vpon euery hie hill in all the toppes of the mountaines, and vnder euery greene tree, and vnder euery thicke oke, which g the place where they did offer sweete sauour to al their idoles.

g That is, all nations when you shal see my iudgements.

14 So will I * stretch mine hande vpon them, and make the land waste and desolate h from the wilderneesse vnto Diblath in all their habitations, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

* Chap.5.14.

h Some reade, more desolate then the wilderneesse of Diblath, which was in Sytia, and bordered vpon Israel, or from the wilderneesse, which was South vnto Diblath, which was North: meaning the whole countrey.

CHAP. VII.

The end of all the land of Israel shall suddenly come.

MOreouer the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Also thou sonne of man, thus sayth the Lord God, An end is come vnto the land of Israel: the end is come vpon the foure corners of the land.

3 Now is the end come vpon thee, and I will send my wrath vpon thee, and will iudge thee according to thy wayes, and will lay vpon thee all a thine abominations.

a I will punish thee as thou hast deserued for thine idolatrie.

4 Neither shall mine eye spare thee, neither will I haue pitie: but I will lay thy wayes vpon thee: and thine abomination shall be in the middes of thee, and yee shall know that I am the Lord.

‖ Or, beholde, euill commeth after euill.

5 Thus sayth the Lord God, ‖ Beholde, one euill, euen one euill is come.

b He sheweth that the iudgements of God euer watch to destroy the sinners, which notwithstanding delayeth till there be no more hope of repentance.

6 An end is come, the end is come, it b watched for thee: beholde, it is come.

7 The c morning is come vnto thee, that dwellest in the land: the time is come, the day of trouble is neere, and not the d sounding againe of the mountaines.

c The beginning of his punishments is alreadie come.

d Which was a voice of ioy and mirth.

8 Now I will shortly powre out my wrath vpon thee, and fulfill mine anger vpon thee: I will iudge thee according to thy wayes, and will lay vpon thee all thine abominations.

9 Neither shall mine eie spare thee, neither will I haue pitie, but I wil lay vpon thee according to thy wayes, and thine abominations shall be in the middes of thee, and ye shall know that I am the Lord that smiteth.

e The scourge is in a readinesse.

10 Beholde, the day, beholde, it is come: the morning is gone foorth, the e rod flourisheth: f pride hath budded.

f That is, the proud tyrant Nebuchadnezzar hath gathered his force and is ready.

11 g Crueltie is risen vp into a rod of wickednesse: none of them shal remaine, nor of their riches, nor of any of theirs, neither shall there be h lamentation for them.

g This cruell enemy shalbe a sharpe scourge for their wickednesse.

h Their owne affliction shall be so great, that they shall haue no regard to lament for others.

12 The time is come, the day draweth neere: let not the buier i reioice, nor let him that selleth, k mourne:

13 For hee that selleth, shall not l returne to that which is sold, although they were yet aliue: for the m vision was vnto all the multitude thereof, & they returned not, n neither doeth any encourage himselfe in the punishment of his life.

14 o They haue blowen the trumpet, and prepared all, but none goeth to the battel: for my wrath is vpon all the multitude thereof.

15 The sword without, and the pestilence, and the famine within: he that is in the field, shal die with the sword, and he that is in the citie, famine and pestilence shall deuoure him.

16 But they that flee away from them, shall escape, and shall be in the mountaines, like the doues of the vallies: all they shall mourne, euery one for his iniquitie.

17 * All handes shall be weake, and all knees shall fall away as water.

18 *They shall also gird themselues with sackcloth, and feare shall couer them, and shame shall be vpon all faces, and baldnes vpon their heads.

19 They shall cast their siluer in the streetes, and their gold shalbe cast farre off: their * siluer and their gold cannot deliuer them in the day of the wrath of the Lorde: they shall not satisfie their soules, neither fil their bowels: for this ruine is for their iniquitie.

20 Hee had also set the beautie of his p ornament in maiestie: but they made images of their abominations, and for their idoles therein: therefore haue I set it farre from them.

21 And I will giue it into the handes of the q strangers to be spoiled, and to the wicked of the earth to be robbed, and they shall pollute it.

22 My face will I turne also from them, and they shall pollute my r secrete place: for the destroyers shall enter into it, and defile it.

23 ¶ Make a s chaine: for the land is full of the t iudgement of blood, and the citie is full of crueltie.

24 Wherefore I wil bring the most wicked of the heathen, & they shall possesse their houses: I will also make the pompe of the mightie to cease, and their u holy places shalbe defiled.

25 When destruction commeth, they shall seeke peace, and shall not haue it.

26 Calamitie shall come vpon calamitie, and rumour shall bee vpon rumour: then shall they seeke a vision of the Prophet: but the Lawe shall perish from the Priest, and counsell from the Ancient.

27 The King shall mourne, and the prince shal be clothed with desolation, and the handes of the people in the land shalbe troubled: I will do vnto them according to their wayes, and according to their iudgements wil I iudge them, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. VIII.

1 An appearance of the similitude of God. 5 Ezekiel is brought to Ierusalem in the spirit. 6 The Lorde sheweth the Prophet the idolatrie of the house of Israel.

AND in the a sixt yeere, in the b sixt moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth, as I sate in mine house, and the Elders of Iudah sate before me, the hand of the Lord God fell there vpon me.

2 Then I beheld, and lo, there was a likenesse, as the appearance of c fire to looke to, from his loynes downeward, & from his loines vpward, as the appearance of brightnes, & like vnto amber.

3 And hee stretched out the likenesse of an hande, and tooke mee by an hairie locke of mine head, and the Spirit lift me vp betweene the earth, and the heauen, and brought mee † by a Diuine d vision to Ierusalem, into the entrie of the inner e gate that lyeth toward the North, where remained the idole of f indignation, which prouoked indignation.

4 And beholde, the glory of the God of Israel was there according to the vision, that I sawe g in the fielde.

5 Then said hee vnto me, Sonne of man, lift vp thine eyes nowe towarde the North. So I lift vp mine eyes toward the North, and behold, Northward, at the gate of the h altar, this idole of indignation was in the entrie.

6 He said furthermore vnto me, Sonne of man, seest thou not what they doe? euen the great abominations that the house of Israel committeth here to cause me to depart from i my Sanctuarie? but yet turne thee and thou shalt see greater abominations.

7 And he caused me to enter at the gate of the court: and when I looked, behold, an hole was in the wall.

8 Then sayd he vnto me, Sonne of man, digge now in the wall. And when I had digged in the wall, beholde, there was a doore.

9 And he sayd vnto me, Goe in, and beholde the wicked abominations that they doe here.

10 So I went in, and saw, and beholde, there was euery similitude of creeping things & k abominable beasts, and all the idoles of the house of Israel painted vpon the wall round about.

11 And there stood before them seuentie l men of the Ancients of the house of Israel, and in the middes of them stood Iaazaniah, the sonne of Shaphan, with euery man his censor in his hand, and the vapor of the incense went vp like m a cloud.

12 Then said he vnto me, Sonne of man, hast thou seene what the Ancients of the house of Israel h do in the darke, euery one in the chamber of his imagerie? for they say, The Lord seeth vs not, the Lord hath forsaken the earth.

13 Againe he sayd also vnto me, Turne thee againe, and thou shalt see greater abominations that they doe.

14 And he caused me to enter into the entrie of the gate of the Lords house, which was toward the North: and beholde there sate women mourning for o Tammuz.

15 Then said he vnto me, Hast thou seene this, O sonne of man? Turne thee againe, & thou shalt see greater abominations then these.

16 And hee caused me to enter into the inner court of the Lordes house, and beholde, at the doore of the Temple of the Lord, betweene the porch and the altar were about fiue and twentie men, with their backs toward the Temple of the Lord, and their faces toward the East, and they worshipped the sunne, toward the East.

17 Then he said vnto me, Hast thou seene this, O sonne of man? Is it a smal thing to the house of Iudah to commit these abominations which they do here? for they haue filled the land with crueltie, and haue returned to prouoke me: and loe, they haue cast out p stinke before their noses.

1 The destruction of the citie. 4 They that shall be saued, are marked. 8 A complaint of the Prophet for the destruction of the people.

a The time to take vengeance.
b Which were Angels in the similitude of men.
c Signifying, that the Babylonians should come from the North to destroy the citie and the Temple.
d To marke them that should be saued.
e Which declared that hee was not bound thereunto, neither would remaine any longer, the there was hope that they would returne from their wickednesse, and worship him aright.

f He sheweth what is the maner of Gods children, whom he marketh to saluation: to wit, to mourne, and crie out against the wickednes, which they see committed against Gods glory.
g Thus in all his plagues the Lord preserueth his final number, which he marketh, as Exod. 12.22. reuel.7.3. but the chiefe marke is the Spirit of adoption, wherewith the heart is sealed vp to life euerlasting.
h Which were the chiefe occasion of all these euils, as Chap 8.11.
i This declareth that the seruants of God haue a compassion, when they see his iudgements executed.
k That is, with all kinde of wickednes, reade Isa.1.15.

HE cried also with a loud voice in mine eares, saying, The visitations of a the citie draw neere, and euery man hath a weapon in his hand to destroy it.

2 And beholde, sixe b men came by the way of the hie gate, which lieth toward the c North, and euery man a weapon in his hand to destroy it: and one man among them was clothed with linnen, with a writers d inke-horne by his side, and they went in, and stood beside the brasen altar.

3 And the glorie of the God of Israel was e gone vp from the Cherub, whereupon he was, and stood on the ‖ doore of the house, and he called to the man clothed with linnen, which had the writers inke-horne by his side.

4 And the Lord sayd vnto him, Goe thorow the mids of the citie, euen thorow the mids of Ierusalem, and ‖ set a marke vpon the foreheads of them that f mourne, and crie for all the abominations that be done in the mids thereof.

5 And to the other he said, that I might heare, Goe ye after him thorow the citie, and smite: let your eye spare none, neither haue pitie.

6 Destroy vtterly the olde, and the yoong, and the maids, and the children, and the women, but touch no man vpon whom is the g marke, and begin at my Sanctuarie. Then they began at the h ancient men, which were before the house.

7 And he sayd vnto them, Defile the house, and fill the courts with the slaine, then goe forth: and they went out, and slew them in the citie.

8 Now when they had slaine them, and I had escaped, I fell downe vpon my face, and cried, saying, i Ah Lord God, wilt thou destroy all the residue of Israel, in powring out thy wrath vpon Ierusalem?

9 Then sayd he vnto me, The iniquitie of the house of Israel, and Iudah is exceeding great: so that the land is full k of blood, and the citie full of corrupt iudgement: for they say, The Lord hath forsaken the earth, and the Lord seeth vs not.

10 As touching me also, mine eye shall not spare them, neither will I haue pity, but will recompense their wayes vpon their heads.

11 And beholde, the man clothed with linnen which had the inke-horne by his side, made report, and said, Lord, I haue done as thou hast commanded me.

CHAP. X.

* Chap.1.22.
a Which in the first chapter ver.5. he called the foure beasts.
b This signified, that ỹ citie should be burnt.

AND as I looked, beholde, in the * firmament that was aboue the head of the a Cherubims there appeared vpon them like vnto the similitude of a throne, as it were a saphir stone.

2 And hee spake vnto the man clothed with linnen, & said, Go in betweene the wheeles, euen vnder the Cherub, & fill thine hands with coales of fire from betweene the Cherubims, and scatter them ouer b the citie. And he went in in my sight.

3 Now the Cherubims stood vpon the right side of the house, when the man went in, and the cloud filled the inner court.

4 Then the glory of the Lord c went vp from the Cherub, & stood ouer the doore of the house, and the house was filled with the cloud, and the court was filled with the brightnesse of the Lords glorie.

c Meaning, that the glorie of God should depart frō the Temple.

5 And the d sound of the Cherubims winges was heard into the vtter court, as the voice of the Almightie God, when he speaketh.

d Reade Chap.1. 24.

6 And when he had commanded the man clothed with linnen, saying, Take fire from betweene the wheeles, and from betweene the Cherubims, then he went in, and stood beside the wheele.

7 And one Cherub stretched foorth his hand from betweene the Cherubims vnto the fire, that was betweene the Cherubims, and tooke thereof, and put it into the hands of him that was clothed with linnen, who tooke it, and went out.

8 And there appeared in the Cherubims, the likenesse of a mans hand vnder their wings.

9 And when I looked vp, beholde, foure wheeles were beside the Cherubims, one wheele by one Cherub, and another wheele by another Cherub, and the appearance of the wheeles was as the colour of a e Chrysolite stone.

e Reade Chap.1. 16.

10 And their appearance (for they were all foure of one fashion) was as if one wheele had bene in another wheele.

11 When they went foorth, they went vpon their foure sides, and they returned not as they went: but to the place whither the first went, they went after it, and they f turned not as they went.

f Vntill they had executed Gods iudgements. ‖ Or, turnes.

12 And their whole bodie, and their ‖ rings, and their hands, and their wings, and the wheeles were full of eyes round about, euen in the same foure wheeles.

13 And the Cherub cried to these wheeles in mine hearing, saying, O wheele.

14 And euery beast had foure faces: the first face was the face of a Cherub, & the second face was the face of a man, and the third the face of a lion, and the fourth the face of an Eagle.

15 And the Cherubims were lifted vp: * this is the beast that I saw at the riuer Chebar.

* Chap.1.5.

16 And whē the Cherubims went, the wheeles went by them: and when the Cherubims lift vp their wings to mount vp from the earth, the same wheeles also turned not from beside them.

17 When the Cherubims stood, they stood: and when they were lifted vp, they lifted themselues vp also: for the g spirit of the beast was in them.

g There was one consent betweene the Cherubims & the wheeles.

18 h Then the glorie of the Lord departed from aboue the doore of the house, and stood vpon the Cherubims.

h Reade Chap. 9.3.

19 And the Cherubims lift vp their wings and mounted vp from the earth in my sight: when they went out, the wheeles also were beside them: and euery one stood at the entrie of the gate of the Lords House at the East side, and the glory of the God of Israel was vpon them on hie.

20 * This is the i beast that I saw vnder the God of Israel by the riuer Chebar, and I knew that they were the Cherubims.

* Chap.1.15.
i That is, the whole body of the foure beasts or Cherubims.

21 Euery one had foure faces, and euery one foure wings, and the likenesse of mans hands was vnder their wings.

22 And the likenesse of their faces was the selfe same faces, which I saw by the riuer Chebar, and

CHAP. XI.

2 Who they were that seduced the people of Israel. 5 Against these he propheseth, shewing them how they shall be dispersed abroad. 19 The renewing of the heart commeth of God. 21 He threatneth them that leane vnto their owne counsels.

MOreouer, the Spirit lift me vp, and brought mee vnto the east gate of the Lords house, which lieth Eastward, & beholde, at the entrie of the gate were fiue & twentie men: among whom I saw Iaazaniah the sonne of Azur, and Pelatiah the sonne of Benaiah, the princes of the people.

2 Then said he vnto me, Sonne of man, these are the men that imagine mischiefe, and deuise wicked counsell in this citie.

3 For, they say, [a] It is not neere, let vs builde houses: this citie is the [b] caldron, and we be the flesh.

4 Therefore propheſie against them, sonne of man, propheſie.

5 And the Spirit of the Lord fell vpon me, and sayd vnto me, Speake, Thus saith the Lord, O ye house of Israel, this haue ye said, and I know that which riseth vp of your mindes.

6 Many haue ye murthered in this citie, and ye haue filled the streets thereof with the slaine.

7 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, They that ye haue slaine, and haue laid in the middes of it, they are [c] the flesh, and this citie is the caldron, but I will bring you forth of the mids of it.

8 Ye haue feared the sword, and I will bring a sword vpon you, saith the Lord God.

9 And I will bring you out of the mids thereof, and deliuer you into the [d] hands of strangers, and will execute iudgements among you.

10 Ye shall fall by the sword, and I will iudge you in the border of [e] Israel, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

11 This citie shal not be your caldron, neither shall ye be the flesh in the middes thereof, but I will iudge you in the border of Israel.

12 And ye shall know that I am the Lord: for ye haue not walked in my statutes, neither executed my iudgements, but haue done after the maners of the heathen, that are round about you.

13 ¶ And when I propheſied, Pelatiah the sonne of [f] Benaiah died: then fell I downe vpon my face, and cried with a loud voyce, and sayd, Ah Lord God, wilt thou then vtterly destroy all the remnant of Israel?

14 Againe the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

15 Sonne of man, thy [g] brethren, euen thy brethren, the men of thy kinred, and all the house of Israel, wholly are they vnto whom the inhabitants of Ierusalem haue said, Depart ye farre from the Lord: for the land is giuen vs in possession.

16 Therefore say, Thus sayth the Lord God, Although I haue cast them farre off among the heathen, and although I haue scattered them among the countreys, yet will I be to them as a little [h] Sanctuarie in the countreys where they shall come.

17 Therefore say, Thus saith the Lord God, I will gather you againe from the people, & assemble you out of the coūtreys where you haue bene scattered, and I will giue you the land of Israel.

18 And they shall come thither, and they shall take away all the idoles thereof, and all the abominations thereof from thence.

19 * And I wil giue them one heart, and I will put a new spirit within their bowels, & I will take the [i] stonie heart out of their bodies, and wil giue them an heart of flesh.

20 That they may walke in my statutes, and keepe my iudgements, & execute them: and they shall be my people, and I will be their God.

21 But vpon them, whose heart is toward their idoles, and whose affection goeth after their abominations, I will lay their way vpon their owne heads, saith the Lord God.

22 ¶ Then did the Cherubims lift vp their wings, and the wheeles besides them, & the glory of the God of Israel was vpon them on hie.

23 And the glory of the Lord went vp from the mids of the citie, and stood vpon the mountaine which is toward the East side of the citie.

24 Afterward the Spirit tooke me vp, and brought me in a vision by the Spirit of God into Caldea to them that were led away captiues: so the vision that I had seene, went vp from me.

25 Then I declared vnto them that were [k] led away captiues, all the things that the Lord had shewed me.

CHAP. XII.

1 The parable of the captiuitie. 18 Another parable whereby the distresse of hunger and thirst is signified.

THe word of the Lord also came vnto mee, saying,

2 Sonne of man, thou dwellest in the middes of a rebellious house, which haue eyes to see, and see [a] not: they haue eares to heare, and heare not: for they are a rebellious house.

3 Therefore thou sonne of man, † prepare thy stuffe to goe into captiuitie, and goe forth by day in their sight: and thou shalt passe from thy place to another place in their sight, if it be possible that they may consider it: for they are a rebellious house.

4 Then shalt thou bring forth thy stuffe by day in their sight, as the stuffe of him that goeth into captiuity: and thou shalt go forth at euen in their sight, as they that go forth into captiuitie.

5 Digge thou thorow the wall in their sight, and cary out thereby.

6 In their sight shalt thou beare it vpon thy shoulders, & cary it forth in the darke: thou shalt couer thy face that thou see not the earth: for I haue set thee as a [b] signe vnto the house of Israel.

7 And as I was commanded, so I brought foorth my stuffe by day, as the stuffe of one that goeth into captiuitie: and by night I digged thorow the wall with mine hand, and brought it forth in the darke, and I bare it vpon my shoulder in their sight.

8 And in the morning came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

9 Sonne of man, hath not the house of Israel, the rebellious house, said vnto thee, What [c] doest thou?

10 But say thou vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord God, This ‖ burden concerneth the chiefe in Ierusalem, and all the house of Israel that are among them.

11 Say, I am your signe: like as I haue done, so shall it be done vnto them: they shall go into bondage and captiuitie.

12 And the chiefest that is among them, shall beare vpon his shoulder in the darke, and shall goe a Thus the wicked derided the Prophets, as though they preached but errours, and therefore gaue themselues still to their pleasures.

b We shall not be pulled out of Ierusalem, till the houre of our death come, as the flesh is not taken out of the caldron till it be sodde.

c Contratie to their vaine confidence, he sheweth in what sense this citie is the caldron: that is, because of the dead bodies that haue bene murthered therein, and so lie as flesh in the caldron.

d That is, of the Caldeans.

e That is in Riblah, reade 2. King. 25. 6.

f It seemeth that this noble man died of some terrible death, and therefore the Prophet feared some straunge iudgement of God toward the rest of the people.

g They that remained still at Ierusalem thus reproched them that were gone into captiuitie, as though they were cast off and forsaken of God.

h They shall be yet a little Church: shewing that the Lord will euer haue some to call vpon his Name, whom hee will preserue and restore, though they be for a time afflicted.

c Doe not they deride thy doings?

goe foorth: they shall digge through the wall to carie out thereby: he shall couer his face, that he see not the ground with his eyes.

d When the king shall thinke to escape by fleeing, I will take him in my net, as Chap. 17.20. and 32 3.

13 My net also will I spread vpon d him, and he shall be taken in my net, and I will bring him to Babel to the land of the Caldeans, yet shall he not see it, though he shall die there.

14 And I will scatter toward euery winde all that are about him to helpe him, and all his garisons, and I will draw out the sword after them.

15 And they shall knowe that I am the Lord, when I shall scatter them among the nations, and disperse them in the countreis.

e Which should beare his Name, and should be his Church, reade Chap 11.16.

16 But I will leaue a e litle number of them from the sworde, from the famine, and from the pestilence, that they may declare all these abominations among the heathen, where they come, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

17 ¶ Moreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, eat thy bread with trebling, & drinke thy water w trouble, & with carefulnes,

19 And say vnto the people of the land, Thus saith the Lord God of the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and of the land of Israel, They shall eate their bread with carefulnesse, and drinke their water with desolation: for the land shalbe desolate from her abundance, because of the crueltie of them that dwell therein.

20 And the cities that are inhabited, shall bee left void, and the land shalbe desolate, and ye shal know that I am the Lord.

21 ¶ And the word of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

22 Sonne of man, what is that prouerbe that you haue in the land of Israel, saying, The dayes f are prolonged, and all visions ‖ faile?

f Because they did not immediatly see the prophecies accomplished, they contemned them as though they should neuer be fulfilled. ‖ Or, take none effect.

23 Tell them therefore, Thus saith the Lord God, I will make this prouerbe to cease, and they shall no more vse it as a prouerbe in Israel: but say vnto them, The dayes are at hand and the effect of euery vision.

24 For no vision shall be any more in vaine, neither shall there be any flattering diuination within the house of Israel.

25 For I am the Lord: I will speake, and that thing that I shall speake, shall come to passe: it shalbe no more prolonged: for in your dayes, O rebellious house, will I say the thing, and will performe it, saith the Lord God.

26 Againe the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, g That is, it shall not come to passe in our dayes and therefore we care not for it: thus the wicked euer abuse Gods patience and benignitie.

27 Sonne of man, beholde, they of the house of Israel say, The vision that he seeth, is for g many dayes to come, and he prophecieth of the times that are farre off.

28 Therefore say vnto them, Thus sayeth the Lord God, All my wordes shall no longer be delayed, but that thing which I haue spoken, shalbe done, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XIII.

2 The word of the Lord against false prophets, which teach the people the counsels of their owne hearts.

AND the worde of the Lorde came vnto mee, saying,

*Chap. 14.9.

2 Sonne of man, prophecie against the prophets of *Israel, that prophecie, and say thou vnto them, that prophecie out of their a owne hearts, Heare the word of the Lord.

a After their own fantasie, and not as hauing the reuelation of the Lord, Iere. 23.16.

3 Thus saith the Lorde God, Woe vnto the foolish prophetes that followe their owne spirit, and haue seene nothing.

4 O Israel, thy Prophets are like the foxes b in the waste places.

b Watching to destroy the vineyard.

5 c Yee haue not risen vp in the gaps, neither made vp the hedge for the house of Israel, to stand in the battel in the day of the Lord.

c Hee speaketh to the gouernours and true ministers that should haue resisted them.

6 They haue seene vanitie, and lying diuination, saying, The Lord saith it, and the Lorde hath not sent them: and they haue made others to hope that they would confirme the worde of their prophecie.

7 Haue yee not seene a vaine vision? and haue ye not spoken a lying diuination? d ye say, The Lord saith it, albeit I haue not spoken.

d Ye promised peace to this people, and now ye see their destruction, so that it is manifest, that ye are false prophets.

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because ye haue spoken vanitie & haue seene lies, therfore behold, I am against you, saith the Lord God,

9 And mine hande shalbe vpon the prophetes that see vanitie, and diuine lies: they shall not be in the assembly of my people, neither shall they be written in the e writing of the house of Israel, neither shall they enter into the lande of Israel: and ye shall know that I am the Lord God.

e That is, in the booke of life, wherein the true Israelites are written. f Reade Ier. 6.14.

10 And therefore, because they haue deceiued my people, saying, f Peace, & there was no peace: and one built vp a g wall, and beholde, the others daubed it with vntempered morter, g Whereas the true Prophets prophesied the destruction of the citie to bring the people to repentance, the false prophets spake the contrary and flattered them in their vanities, so that what one false prophet said, (which is here called the building of the wall) another false prophet would affirme, though he had neither occasion nor good ground to beare him.

11 Say vnto them which daube it with vntempered morter, that it shall fall: for there shall come a great showre, and I will send haile stones, which shall cause it to fall, and a stormie winde shall breake it.

12 Loe, when the wall is fallen, shall it not be sayd vnto you, Where is the daubing wherewith ye haue daubed it?

13 Therefore thus say th the Lord God, I will cause a stormy wind to breake forth in my wrath, and a great showre shalbe in mine anger, & haile stones in mine indignation to consume it.

14 So I wil destroy the wall that ye haue daubed with vntempered morter, and bring it downe to the ground, so that the foundation thereof shalbe discouered, and it shall fall, and ye shalbe consumed in the mids thereof, and ye shall know, that I am the Lord.

15 Thus will I accomplish my wrath vpon the wall, and vpon them that haue daubed it with h vntempered morter, and will say vnto you, The wall is no more, neither the daubers thereof, h Whereby is meant whatsoeuer man of himselfe setteth forth vnder the authoritie of Gods word.

16 To wit, the Prophets of Israel, which prophesie vpon Ierusalem, and see visions of peace for it, and there is no peace, sayth the Lord God.

i These superstitious women for lucre would prophesie and tell euery man his fortune giuing them pillowes to leane vpon, & kerchiefs to couer their heads, to the intent they might the more allure them & bewitch them.

17 Likewise thou sonne of man, set thy face against the daughters of thy people, which prophesie out of their owne heart: and prophesie thou against them, and say, k Will ye make my word to serue your bellies?

18 Thus say th the Lord God, Woe vnto the women that sowe i pillowes vnder all arme-holes, and make vailes vpon the head of euery one that standeth vp, to hunt soules: wil ye hunt the soules of my people, and will ye giue life to the soules that come vnto you?

l These sorcerers made the people beleeue that they could preserue life or destroy it, and that it should come to euery one according as they prophesied.

19 And will ye pollute me among my people for hand fuls of k barly, and for pieces of bread to slay the soules of them that should not die, and l to giue life to the soules that should not liue in lying to my people, that heare your lies?

with ye hunt the [m] soules to make them to flie, and I will teare them from your armes, and will let the soules goe, euen the soules that ye hunt, to make them to flie.

21 Your vailes also will I teare, and deliuer my people out of your hand, and they shall bee no more in your handes to be hunted, and ye shal know that I am the Lord.

22 Because with your lyes, ye haue made the heart of the [n] righteous sadde, whome I haue not made sad, and strengthened the hands of the wicked, that hee should not returne from his wicked way, by promising him life,

23 Therefore ye shall see no more vanitie, nor diuine diuinations: for I will deliuer my people out of your hand, & ye shal know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XIIII.

4 The Lord sendeth false prophets for the ingratitude of the people. 22 He reserueth a small portion for his Church.

THen came certaine of the Elders of Israel vnto me, and [a] sate before me.

2 And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

3 Sonne of man, these men haue set vp their idoles in their [b] heart, and put the stumbling blocke of their iniquitie before their face: should I, being required, answere them?

4 Therefore speake vnto them, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Euery man of the house of Israel that setteth vp his idoles in his heart, and putteth the stumbling blocke of his iniquitie before his face, and commeth to the [c] Prophet, I the Lord will answere him that commeth, according to the multitude [d] of his idoles:

5 That [e] I may take the house of Israel in their owne heart, because they are all departed from me through their idoles.

6 Therefore say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Returne, and withdraw your selues, and turne your faces from your idoles, and turne your faces from all your abominations.

7 For euery one of the house of Israel, or of the stranger that soiourneth in Israel, which departeth from me, and setteth vp his idoles in his heart, and putteth the stumbling blocke of his iniquitie before his face, and commeth to a Prophet, for to inquire of him for me, I the Lord will answere him ‖ for my selfe,

8 And I wil set my face against that man, and wil make him an example and prouerbe, and I wil cut him off from the middes of my people, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

9 And if the Prophet be [f] deceiued, when hee hath spoken a thing, I the Lorde haue deceiued that Prophhet, and I wil stretche out mine hande vpon him, and will destroy him from the mids of my people of Israel.

10 And they shall beare their punishment: the punishment of the Prophet shall bee euen as the punishment of him that asketh, 11 That the house of Israel may goe no more astray from mee, neither bee polluted any more with all their transgressions, but that they may be my people, and I may be their God, sayeth the Lord God.

12 ¶ The word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

13 Sonne of man, whe the land sinneth against mee by committing a trespasse, then will I stretch out mine hand vpon it, [h] and will breake the staffe of the bread thereof, and will sende famine vpon it, and I wil destroy man and beast forth of it.

14 Though these three men, [i] Noah, Daniel, and Iob were among them, they should deliuer but their owne soules by their [k] righteousnes, saith the Lord God.

15 If I bring noisome beasts into the land and they spoile it, so that it bee desolate, that no man may passe through because of beasts,

16 Though these three men were in the mids thereof, As I liue, sayeth the Lorde God, they shall saue neither sonnes nor daughters: they onely shalbe deliuered, but the land shalbe waste.

17 Or if I bring a sworde vpon this land, and say, Sword, goe through the land, so that I destroy man and beast out of it, 18 Though these three men were in the mids thereof, As I liue, saith the Lorde God, they shall deliuer neither sonnes nor daughters, but they onely shalbe deliuered themselues.

19 Or if I send a pestilence into this land, and powre out my wrath vpon it in blood, to destroy out of it man and beast,

20 And though Noah, Daniel & Iob were in the mids of it, As I liue, saith the Lord God, they shall deliuer neither sonne nor daughter: they shall but deliuer their owne soules by their righteousnesse.

21 For thus sayth the Lord God, How much more when I send my * foure sore iudgements vpon Ierusalem, euen the sword, and famine, and the noisome beast, and pestilence, to destroy man and beast out of it?

22 Yet beholde, therein shall be left a [l] remnant of them that shalbe caried away both sonnes and daughters: behold, they shal come forth vnto you, and ye shall see their way, and their enterprises: and ye shalbe comforted, concerning the euil that I haue brought vpon Ierusalem, euen concerning all that I haue brought vpon it.

23 And they shall comfort you, when ye see their way & their enterprises: and ye shall know, that I haue not done without cause all that I haue done in it, sayth the Lord God.

CHAP. XV.

As the vnprofitable wood of the vine tree is cast into the fire, so Ierusalem shall be burnt.

AND the word of the Lord came vnto mee, saying,

2 Sonne of man, what commeth of the vine tree aboue all other trees? and of the vine branch, which is among the [a] trees of the forest?

3 Shall wood be taken thereof to doe any worke? or will men take a pin of it to hang any vessell thereon?

4 Behold, it is cast in the fire to be consumed: the fire consumeth both the endes of it, and the mids of it is burnt. Is it meet for any worke?

5 Beholde, when it was whole, it was meet for no worke: how much lesse shall it be meet for any worke, when the fire hath consumed it, and it is burnt?

6 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, As the vine tree, that is among the trees of the forest, which I haue giuen to the fire to be consumed, so will I giue the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

7 And I will set my face against them: they shall go out from one [b] fire, and another fire shall consume them; and ye shall know, that I am the Lord, m That is, to cause them to perish, and that they should depart from the body.

a He sheweth the hypocrisie of the idolaters, who wil dissemble to heare the Prophets of God, though in their heart they follow nothing lesse then their admonitions, and also how by one meanes or other, God doeth discouer them.

b They are not onely idolaters in heart, but also worship their filthy idoles openly, which leade them in blindnesse, and cause them to stumble, and cast them out of Gods fauour, so that he will not heare them when they call vnto him, reade Iere. 11.11.

Lord, when I set my face against them.

8 And when I make the land waste, because they haue greatly offended, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XVI.

The Prophet declareth the benefites of God toward Ierusalem, 15 Their vnkindnesse. 46 He iustifieth the wickednesse of other people in comparison of the sinnes of Ierusalem. 49 The cause of the abominations, into which the Sodomites fell. 60 Mercie is promised to the repentant.

AGaine, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, cause Ierusalem to knowe her abominations,

3 And say, Thus saith the Lord God vnto Ierusalem, Thine habitation and thy kindred is of the land [a] of Canaan: thy father was an Amorite, and thy mother an Hittite.

4 And in thy natiuitie when thou wast [b] borne, thy nauell was not cut: thou wast not washed in water to soften thee: thou wast not salted with salt, nor swadled in cloutes.

5 None eye pitied thee to do any of these vnto thee, for to haue compassion vpon thee, but thou wast cast out in the open fielde to the contempt of thy person in the day ỹ thou wast borne.

6 And when I passed by thee, I sawe thee polluted in thine [c] owne blood, and I said vnto thee, when thou wast in thy blood, Thou shalt liue: euen when thou wast in thy blood, I sayde vnto thee, Thou shalt liue.

7 I haue caused thee to multiplie as the bud of the field, and thou hast encreased and waxen great, and thou hast gotten excellent ornaments: thy breastes are fashioned, thine haire is growen, whereas thou wast naked and bare.

8 Nowe when I passed by thee, and looked vpon thee, beholde, thy time was as the time of loue, and I spred my skirtes ouer thee, & couered [d] thy filthinesse: yea, I sware vnto thee, & entred into a couenant with [e] thee, saith the Lord God, and thou becamest mine.

9 Then washed I thee with [f] water: yea, I washed away thy blood from thee, and I [g] anointed thee with oyle.

10 I clothed thee also with broydred worke, and shod thee with badgers skinne: and I girded thee about with fine linnen, and I couered thee with silke.

11 I decked thee also with [h] ornaments, and I put bracelets vpon thine hands, and a chaine on thy necke.

12 And I put a frontlet vpon thy face, and earerings in thine eares, and a beautifull [i] crowne vpon thine head.

13 Thus wast thou deckt with gold and siluer, and thy raiment was of fine linen, and silke, and broydred worke: thou diddest eate fine floure, and hony and oyle, and thou wast very beautiful, and thou diddest grow vp into a kingdome.

14 And thy name was spread among the heathen for thy beautie: for it was perfite through my [i] beautie which I had set vpon thee, saith the Lord God.

15 Now thou diddest [k] trust in thine owne beautie, & playedst the harlot, because of thy renowme, and hast powred out [l] thy fornications on euery one ỹ passed by, thy desire was to him.

16 And thou diddest take thy garments, and deckedst thine hie places with diuers colours, [m] and playedst the harlot thereupon: the like things shall not come, neither hath any done so.

17 Thou hast also taken thy faire iewels made of my golde and of my siluer, which I had giuen thee, and [n] madest to thy selfe images of men, and diddest commit whoredome with them,

18 And tookest thy broydred garments, and coueredst them: and thou hast set mine oyle and my perfume before them.

19 My meate also, which I gaue thee, as fine floure, oyle, and honie, wherewith I fedde thee, thou hast euen set it before them for a sweete sauour: thus it was, saith the Lord God.

20 Moreouer thou hast taken thy sonnes and thy daughters, whome thou hast borne vnto me, and these hast thou sacrificed vnto them, to [o] be deuoured: is this thy whoredome a smal matter?

21 That thou hast slaine my childre, & deliuered the to cause the to passe through fire for the?

22 And in all thine abominations and whoredomes thou hast not remembred the dayes of thy youth, when thou wast naked and bare, and wast polluted in thy blood.

23 And beside all thy wickednes (wo, wo vnto thee, saith the Lord God)

24 Thou hast also built vnto thee an hie place, and hast made thee an hie place in euery streete,

25 Thou hast built thine hie place at euery ‖ corner of the way, and hast made thy beautie to be abhorred: thou hast opened thy feete to euery one that passed by, & multiplied thy whoredom.

26 Thou hast also committed fornication with the [p] Egyptians thy neighbours, which haue great members, and hast encreased thy whoredome, to prouoke me.

27 Beholde, therefore did I stretch out mine hand ouer thee, and wil diminish thine ordinary, and deliuer thee vnto the will of them that hate thee, euen to the ‖ daughters of the Philistims, which are ashamed of thy wicked way.

28 Thou hast played the whore also with the Assyrians, because thou wast insatiable: yea, thou hast plaied the harlot with them, and yet couldest not be satisfied.

29 Thou hast moreouer multiplied thy fornication from the land of Canaan vnto Caldea, and yet thou wast not satisfied herewith.

30 Howe weake is thine heart, saith the Lord God, seeing thou doest all these things, euen the worke of a ‖ presumptuous whorish woman?

31 In that thou buildest thine hie place in the corner of euery way, and makest thine hie place in euery streete, and hast not bene as an harlot [q] that despiseth a reward,

32 But as a wife that playeth the harlot, and taketh others for her husband.

33 They giue giftes to all other whores, but thou giuest giftes vnto all thy louers, and rewardest them, that they may come vnto thee on euery side for thy fornication.

34 And the contrary is in thee from other women in thy fornications, neither the like fornication shall be after thee: for in that thou giuest a reward, and no reward is giuen vnto thee, therefore thou art contrary.

35 Wherefore, O harlot, heare the worde of the Lord.

36 Thus saith the Lorde God, Because thy ‖ shame was powred out, and thy filthinesse discouered through thy fornications with thy louers, a Thou boastest to be of the seede of Abraham, but thou art degenerate and followest the abominations of the wicked Canaanites, as children doe the maners of their fathers, Isa. 1.4 & 57.3.

b When I first brought thee out of Egypt, and planted thee in this land to be my Church.

c Being thus in thy filthines and forsaken of all men, I tooke thee & gaue thee life: whereby is meant that before God wash his Church, and giue life, there is nothing but filthines and death.

d These wordes, as blood, pollution, nakednes, & filthinesse are oft times repeated, to beate down their pride, and to cause them to consider what they were before God receiued the to mercy, fauoured them and couered their shame.

e That thou shouldest be a chaste wife vnto me, and that I should maintaine thee and endue thee with all graces.

f I washed away thy sinnes.

g I sanctified thee with mine holy Spirit.

h Hereby he sheweth how he faued his Church, enriched it, and gaue it power and dominion to reigne.

i He declareth where in the dignitie of Ierusalem stood: to wit, in that that the Lord gaue them of his beautie and excellencie.

k In abusing my giftes & in putting thy confidence in thine own wisdom and dignitie, which were the occasions of thine idolatrie.

l There was none idolatrie so vile wherewith thou diddest not pollute thy selfe.

m This declareth how the idolaters put their chiefe delite in those things, which please the eies & outward senses.

n Thou hast conuerted my vessels and instruments, which I gaue thee to serue me with, to the vse of thine idoles.

o Meaning, by fire, reade Leuit. 18.21. 2.King 13.10.

‖ Or, head.

p He noteth the great impietie of this people, who first falling from God to seeke helpe at strange nations, did also at length embrace their idolatrie, thinking thereby to make their amitie more strong.

‖ Or, cuities.

‖ Or, that will beare rule.

q Meaning, that some harlots contemne small rewards, but no louers gaue a reward to Israel, but they gaue to all others: signifying, that the idolaters bestowe all their substance, which they receiue of God for his glorie, to serue their vile abominations.

‖ Or, nether parts.

and with all the idoles of thine abominations, and by the blood of thy children, which thou diddest offer vnto them, 37 Behold, therefore I wil gather all [r] thy louers, with whom thou hast taken pleasure, and all them that thou hast loued, with al them that thou hast hated: I will euen gather them round about against thee, and will discouer thy filthinesse vnto them, that they may see all thy filthinesse.

38 And I will iudge thee after [ſ] maner of them that are [ſ] harlots, and of them that shead blood, & I will giue thee the blood of wrath & ielousie.

39 I will also giue thee into their handes, and they shal destroy thine hie place, and shal breake downe thine hie places: they shall strippe thee also out of thy clothes, and shall take thy faire iewels, and leaue thee naked and bare.

40 They shal also bring vp a company against thee, and they shall stone thee with stones, and thrust thee through with their swordes.

41 And they * shall burne vp thine houses with fire, and execute iudgements vpon thee in the sight of many women: and I will cause thee to cease from playing the harlot, and thou shalt giue no reward any more.

42 So will I make my wrath toward thee to rest, and my [t] ielousie shall depart from thee, and I will cease and be no more angry.

43 Because thou hast not remembred [ŷ] dayes of thy youth, but hast prouoked me with al these things, behold, therfore I also haue [u] brought thy way vpō thy head, saith [ŷ] Lord God: yet hast not thou had cōsideration of all thine abominations.

44 Behold, all that vse prouerbes, shall vse this prouerbe against thee, saying, As is the mother, [x]so is her daughter.

45 Thou art thy mothers daughter, that hath cast off her husband and her children, and thou art the sister of thy [y] sisters, which forsooke their husbands and their children: your mother is an Hittite, and your father an Amorite.

46 And thine elder sister is Samaria, and her [z] daughters, that dwell at thy left hand, and [†]thy yong sister, that dwelleth at thy right hand, is Sodom, and her daughters.

47 Yet hast thou [a] not walked after their wayes, nor done after their abominations: but as it had bene a verie litle thing, thou wast corrupted more then they in all thy wayes.

48 As I liue, saith the Lord God, Sodom thy sister hath not done, neither shee nor her daughters, as thou hast done and thy daughters.

49 Behold, this was the iniquitie of thy sister Sodom, [b] Pride, fulnesse of bread, and aboundance of idlenesse was in her, and in her daughters: neither did she strengthen the hand of the poore and needie.

50 But they were hautie, and committed abomination before me: therefore I tooke them away, as pleased me.

51 Neither hath Samaria committed halfe of thy sinnes, but thou hast exceeded them in thine abominations, and hast [d] iustified thy sisters in all thine abominations, which thou hast done.

52 Therefore thou which hast iustified thy sisters, beare thine owne shame for thy sinnes, that thou hast cōmitted more abominable then they which are more righteous then thou art: be thou therefore confounded also, and beare thy shame, seeing that thou hast iustified thy sisters.

53 Therefore I will bring againe [e] their captiuitie with the captiuitie of Sodom, & her daughters, and with the captiuitie of Samaria, and her daughters: euen the captiuitie of thy captiues in the middes of them, 54 That thou maiest beare thine owne shame, and mayest be confounded in all that thou hast done, in that thou hast [f] comforted them.

55 And thy sister Sodom and her daughters shall returne to their former state. Samaria also and her daughters shall returne to their former state, & when thou and thy daughters shall returne to your former state.

56 For thy sister Sodom † was not heard of [h] by thy report in the day of thy pride.

57 Before thy wickednes was [i] discouered, as in the same time of the reproch of the daughters of Aram, and of all the daughters of the Philistims round about [k] her which despise thee on al sides.

58 Thou hast borne therefore thy wickednesse and thine abomination, saith the Lord.

59 For thus saith the Lord God, I might euen deale with thee, as thou hast done: when thou diddest despise [ŷ] [l] othe, in breaking the couenāt.

60 Neuertheles, I will [m] remember my couenant made with thee in the daies of thy youth, & I wil confirme vnto thee an euerlasting couenāt.

61 Then thou shalt remember thy wayes, and be ashamed, when thou shalt receiue [n] thy sisters, both thy elder & thy yonger, and I wil giue them vnto thee for daughters, but not [o] by thy couenāt.

62 And I wil establish my couenant with thee, and thou shalt knowe that I am the Lord.

63 That thou mayest remember, & be [p] ashamed, & neuer open thy mouth any more: because of thy shame when I am pacified toward thee, for all that thou hast done, saith the Lord God.

beare fruite, and be an excellent vine.

9 Say thou, Thus saith the Lorde God, Shall it prosper? shall h he not pull vp the rootes thereof, and destroy the fruite thereof, and cause them to drie? all the leaues of her bud shall wither without great power, or many people, to plucke it vp by the rootes thereof.

10 Beholde, it was planted: but shal it prosper? shall it not bee dried vp, and wither? i when the East winde shall touche it, it shall wither in the trenches, where it grew.

11 Moreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

12 Say now to this rebellious house, Know ye not, what these things meane? tell them, Behold, the King of Babel is come to Ierusalem, and hath taken k the King thereof, and the princes thereof, and led them with him to Babel,

13 And hath taken one of the Kings seed, and made a couenant with him, & hath taken l an othe of him: he hath also taken the princes of the land, 14 That the kingdome might bee in subiection, and not lift it selfe vp, but keepe their couenant, and stand to it.

15 But hee rebelled against him, and sent his ambassadours into Egypt, that they might giue him horses, and much people: shall hee prosper? shall he escape, that doeth such things? or shall he breake the couenant, and be deliuered?

16 As I liue, saith the Lord God, hee shall die in the middes of Babel, in the place of the King, that had made him King, whose othe he despised, and whose couenant made with him, he brake.

17 Neither shal Pharaoh with his mighty host, and great multitude of people, maintein him in the warre, when they haue cast vp mounts, and builded ramparts to destroy many persons.

18 For he hath despised the oth, & broken the couenant (yet lo, he had giuen m his hand) because he hath done all these things, he shall not escape.

19 Therefore, thus saith the Lord God, As I liue, I wil surely bring mine othe that he hath despised, and my couenant that he hath broken vpon his owne head.

24 And all the q trees of the field shall know that I the Lord haue brought downe the hie tree, and exalted the low tree: that I haue dried vp the greene tree, & made the drie tree to florish: I the Lord haue spoken it, and haue done it.

CHAP. XVIII.

2 He sheweth that euery man shal beare his owne sinne. 21 To him that amendeth, is saluation promised. 24 Death is propheciied to the righteous, which turneth backe from the right way.

THe word of the Lord came vnto me againe, saying, 28 Because hee considereth,and turneth away from all his transgressions that hee hath committed,he shall surely liue and not die.

29 Yet saith ỹ house of Israel, The way of the Lorde is not equal. O house of Israel, are not my wayes equall? or are not your wayes vnequall?

30 Therefore I will iudge you, O house of Israel,euery one according to his wayes, sayeth the Lorde God: returne therefore and cause others to turne away from all your transgressions: so iniquitie shall not be your destruction.

31 Cast away from you al your transgressions, whereby ye haue transgressed, and make [i] you a new heart and a new spirit: for why wil ye die,O house of Israel?

32 For I desire not the death of him that dyeth,sayeth the Lord God: cause therefore one another to returne,and liue ye.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The captiuitie of the Kings of Iudah ſignified by the lyons whelpes, and by the lyon. 10 The proſperitie of the citie of Ieruſalem that is paſt, and the miſerie thereof that is preſent.

THou also, take vp a lamentation for the [a] princes of Israel,

2 And say, Wherefore lay thy [b] mother as a lyoneſſe among the lyons? shee nourished her yong ones among the lyons whelps,

3 And she brought vp one of her whelps, and it became a lyon,and it learned to catch the pray, and it deuoured men.

4 The [c] nations also heard of him, and he was taken in their nettes, and they brought him in chaines vnto the land of Egypt.

5 Nowe when shee sawe, that she had waited and her hope was lost, shee tooke another of her [d] whelps,and made him a lyon.

6 Which went among the lyons, and became a lyon,and learned to catch the praye,and he deuoured [e] men.

7 And he knewe their widowes,& he destroyed their cities, and the lande was wasted, and all that was therein by the noyse of his roaring.

8 Then the [f] nations set against him on euery side of the countreys, and layde their nets for him: so he was taken in their pit.

9 And they put him in prison and in chaines, and brought him to the King of Babel, and they put him in holdes,that his voyce should no more be heard vpon the mountaines of Israel.

10 Thy [g] mother is like a vine in thy blood, planted by the waters: she brought foorth fruite and branches by the abundant waters,

11 And she had strong rods for the scepters of them that beare rule, and her stature was exalted among the branches, and shee appeared in her height with the multitude of her branches.

12 But she was plucked vp in wrath:she was cast downe to the ground,& the [h] East wind dried vp her fruit: her branches were broken, & withered: as for the rod of her strength,the fire cõsumed it.

13 And now she is planted in the wildernes in a drie and thirstie ground.

14 And fire is gone out [i] of a rod of her branches,which hath deuoured her fruite,so that shee hath no strong rod to be a scepter to rule: this is a lamentation, and shalbe for a lamentation.

CHAP. XX.

3 The Lord denieth that he will answere them when they pray, becauſe of their vnkindues. 33 He promiſeth that his people ſhall returne from captiuitie. 46 By the fireſt that ſhould be burnt,is ſignified the burning of Ieruſalem.

AND in the [a] seuenth yeere,in the fift moneth, the tenth day of the moneth, came certaine of the elders of Israel to enquire of the Lord,and sate before me.

2 Then came the word of the Lorde vnto me, saying,

3 Sonne of man,speake vnto the Elders of Israel,and say vnto them,Thus saith the Lord God, Are ye come to enquire of me? as I liue,saith the Lord God,when I am asked,I wil not answer you.

4 Wilt thou iudge them, sonne of man? wilt thou iudge them? cause [b] them to vnderstand the abominations of their fathers,

5 And say vnto them, Thus sayeth the Lorde God, In the day when I chose Israel,and [c] lift vp mine hand vnto the seed of the house of Iaakob, and made my self knowen vnto them in the land of Egypt, when I lift vp mine hande vnto them, and said,I am the Lord your God,

6 In the day ỹ I lift vp mine hande vnto them to bring them forth of the lande of Egypt,into a lande that I had prouided for them,flowing with milke & hony,which is pleasant among all lands,

7 Then sayde I vnto them, Let euery man cast away the abominations of his eyes, [d] and defile not your selues with the idoles of Egypt: for I am the Lord your God.

8 But they rebelled against mee,& would not heare me: for none cast away the abominations of their eyes, neither did they forsake the idoles of Egypt: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them, and to accomplish my wrath against them in the midst of the land of Egypt.

9 But I had respect to my [f] Name, that it shoulde not bee polluted before the heathen, among whom they were,& in whose sight I made my selfe knowen vnto them in bringing them forth of the land of Egypt.

d He ioyneth the obſeruation of the commandements with repentance: for none can repent in deede except he labour to keepe the Lawe. ‖ Or,not lay a to his charge.

e That is,in the fruits of his faith which declare that God doeth accept him.

f He speaketh this to commend Gods mercy to poore sinners,who rather is ready to pardon, then to punish,as his long suffering declareth,Chap. 33.11. Albeit God in his eternall counsell appointed the death and damnation of the reprobate,yet the end of his counsell was not their death onely, but chiefly his owne glory. And also because he doeth not approue sinne, therefore it is here said that he would haue them to turne away from it that they might liue. ‖ Or,rather that hee may returne from his wayes and liue.

g That is, the false opinion that the hypocrites haue of their righteousnes.

h In punishing the father with the children.

i He sheweth that man cannot forsake his wickednes til his heart be changed, which is only the worke of God.

d Which was Iehoiakim.

e He slew of the Prophets,& them that feared God, and rauished their wiues.

g He speaketh this in the reproch of this wicked King,in whose blood, that is,in the race of his predecessours, Ieruſalem should haue bene blessed,according to Gods promes,and flourished as a fruitful vine.

h Meaning,that the Caldeans should destroy them as the East winde doeth the fruite of the vine.

i Destruction is come by Zedekiah who was the occasion of this rebellion.

a Of the captiuitie of Ieconiah.

b This declareth the great lenitie and patience of God which calleth sinners to repentance before he condemne them.

c I sware that I would be their God, which maner of othe was obserued from all antiquitie,where they vsed to lift vp their hands toward the heauen,acknowledging God to be the author of trueth, and the defender thereof,and also ỹ iudge of the heart, wishing that he should take vengeance, if they cõcealed any thing which they knew to be trueth.

d God had forbidden them to make mention of the idoles,Exod. 23.13.Psal.16.4.

e Which thing declareth the wickednes of mans heart which iudge Gods seruice by their eyes and outward senses.

f God had euer this respect to his glory ỹ hee would not haue his Name euil spoken of among the Gentiles for the punishment that his people deserued,in confidence whereof the godly euer prayed,as Exo.32.12.Num.14.13.

10 Nowe I caryed them out of the land of Egypt, and brought them into the wildernesse.

11 And I gaue them my statutes, and declared my iudgements vnto them, * which if a man do, he shall liue in them.

12 Moreouer I gaue them also my * Sabbaths to be a signe betweene me & them, that they might knowe that I am the Lord, that sanctifie them.

13 But the house of Israel rebelled against me in the wildernes: they walked not in my statutes, and they cast away my iudgements, which if a man doe, he shall liue in them, and my Sabbaths haue they greatly polluted: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them * in the wildernesse to consume them,

14 But I had respect to my Name, that it should not bee polluted before the g heathen in whose sight I brought them out.

15 Yet neuertheless, I lift vp mine hand vnto them in the wildernesse that I would not bring them into the lande, which I had giuen them, flowing with milke and honie, which was pleasant aboue all lands, 16 Because they cast away my iudgements, & walked not in my statutes, but haue polluted my h Sabbaths: for their heart went after their idoles.

17 Neuertheless, mine eye spared them, that I would not destroy them, neither would I consume them in the wildernesse.

18 But I said vnto their children in the wildernesse, Walke ye not in the ordinances of your i fathers, neither obserue their maners, nor defile your selues with their idoles.

19 I am the Lord your God: walke in my statutes, and keepe my iudgements and do them, 20 And sanctifie my Sabbaths, and they shall be a signe betweene me and you, that ye may know that I am the Lord your God.

21 Notwithstanding the children rebelled against me: they walked not in my statutes, nor kept my iudgements to do them, which if a man doe, he shall liue in them, but they polluted my Sabbaths: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them, and to accomplish my wrath against them in the wildernesse.

22 Neuertheless I withdrewe mine hand and had respect to my Name that it shoulde not bee polluted before the heathen, in whose sight I brought them foorth.

23 Yet I lift vp mine hand vnto them in the wildernes, that I would scatter them among the heathen, & disperse them through the countries, 24 Because they had not executed my iudgements, but had cast away my statutes, and had polluted my Sabbaths, and their eyes were after k their fathers idoles.

25 Wherefore I l gaue them also statutes that were not good, and iudgements, wherein they should not liue.

26 And I polluted them in their owne m giftes in that they caused to passe by the fire all that first openeth the wombe, that I might destroy them, to the ende, that they might knowe that I am the Lord.

27 Therefore, Sonne of man, speake vnto the house of Israel, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Yet in this your fathers haue blasphemed me, though they had before grieuously transgressed against me.

28 n For when I had brought them into the land, for the which I lifted vp mine hand to giue it to them, then they saw euery hie hill, and all the thicke trees, & they offred there their sacrifices, & there they presented their offering of prouocation: there also they made their sweete sauour, and powred out there their drinke offrings.

29 Then I sayde vnto them, What is the hie place whereunto ye goe? And the name thereof was called o Bamah vnto this day.

30 Wherefore, say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Are yee not polluted † after the maner of your fathers? and commit ye not whoredome after their abominations?

31 For when you offer your giftes, and make your sonnes to passe through the fire, you pollute your selues with all your idoles vnto this day: shall I answere you when I am asked, O house of Israel? As I liue, saith the Lord God, p I will not answere you when I am asked.

32 Neither shall that be done that commeth into your minde: for ye say, We will be as the heathen, and as the families of the countreyes, and serue wood, and q stone.

33 As I liue, saith the Lord God, I will surely rule you with a mighty hand, and with a stretched out arme, and in my wrath powred out,

34 And I will bring you from the people, and wil gather you out of the countreyes, wherein ye are scattered, with a n ighty hand, & with a stretched out arme, and in my wrath powred out, 35 And I will bring you into the r wildernesse of the people, and there will I pleade with you face to face.

36 Like as I pleaded with your fathers in the wildernesse of the land of Egypt, so will I pleade with you, saith the Lord God.

37 And I wil cause you to passe vnder the rod, & will bring you into the bond of the couenant.

38 And I wil s chuse out from among you the rebels, and them that transgresse against me: I will bring them out of the lande where they dwell, and they shall not enter into the land of Israel, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

39 As for you, O house of Israel, thus saith the Lord God, t Goe you, and serue euery one his idole, seeing that ye will not obey me, and pollute mine holy Name no more with your giftes and with your idoles.

40 For in mine holy mountaine, euen in the hie mountaine of Israel, saith the Lord God, there shall all the house of Israel, and all in the lande, serue me: therefore will I accept them, and there will I require your offrings and the first fruites of your oblations, with all your holy things.

41 I will accept your sweete sauour, when I bring you from the people, & gather you out of the countries, wherin ye haue bene scattered, that I may be sanctified in you before the heathen.

42 And ye shall knowe, that I am the Lorde, when I shall bring you into the land of Israel, into the land, for the which I lifted vp mine hand to giue it to your fathers.

43 And there shall ye remember your wayes, & all your works, wherein ye haue bene defiled, and ye u shall iudge your selues worthy to be cut off, for all your euils that ye haue committed.

44 And ye shall knowe that I am the Lorde, when I haue respect vnto you for my Names sake, and not after your wicked wayes, nor according to your corrupt workes, O ye house of Iſrael, ſaith the Lord God.

45 ¶ Moreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, ſaying,

46 Sonne of man, Set thy face toward the way of Teman, and droppe thy word towarde [x] the South, and prophecie toward the foreſt of the fielde of the South,

47 And ſay to the foreſt of the South, Heare the word of the Lord: thus ſaith the Lord God, Beholde, I will kindle a fire in thee, and it ſhall deuoure all the ygreene wood in thee, and all the drie wood: the continuall flame ſhall not bee quenched, and euery face from the South to the North ſhall be burnt therein.

48 And all fleſh ſhall ſee, that I the Lord haue kindled it, and it ſhall not be quenched. Then ſaid I, Ah Lord God, they ſay of me, Doeth not he ſpeake [z] parables?

CHAP. XXI.

3 He threatneth the ſword, and deſtruction to Ieruſalem. 25 He ſheweth the fall of Zedekiah. 28 He is commaunded to prophecie the deſtruction of the children of Ammon. 30 The Lord threatneth to deſtroy Nebuchad-nezzar.

THe word of the Lord came to me againe, ſaying,

2 Sonne of man, ſet thy face toward Ieruſalem, [a] and drop thy word toward the holy places, and prophecie againſt the land of Iſrael,

3 And ſay to the land of Iſrael, Thus ſaith the Lord, Beholde, I come againſt thee, and will draw my ſword out of his ſheath, & cut off from thee both the [b] righteous and the wicked.

4 Seeing then that I will cut off from thee both the righteous and wicked, therefore ſhall my ſword goe out of his ſheath againſt all fleſh from the South to the [c] North,

5 That all fleſh may knowe that I the Lorde haue drawen my ſworde out of his ſheath, and it ſhall not returne any more.

6 Mourne therefore, thou ſonne of man, as in the paine of thy [d] reines, and mourne bitterly before them.

7 And if they ſay vnto thee, Wherefore mourneſt thou? then anſwere, Becauſe [e] of the bruite: for it commeth, and euery heart ſhall melt, & all handes ſhall be weake, and all mindes ſhall faint, and all knees ſhall fall away, as water: behold, it commeth, and ſhalbe done, ſaith the Lord God.

8 ¶ Againe, the word of the Lord came vnto me, ſaying,

9 Sonne of man, prophecie, and ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord God, ſay, A ſworde, a ſworde both ſharpe and fourbiſhed.

10 It is ſharpened to make a ſore ſlaughter, & it is fourbiſhed that it may [f] glitter: how ſhall we reioyce? for it contemneth the rod of my ſonne, as [h] all other trees.

11 And he hath giuen it to be fourbiſhed, that he may handle it: this ſword is ſharpe, & is fourbiſhed, [ỹ] he may giue it into [ỹ] hand of the [i] ſlaier.

12 Cry, & houle, ſonne of man: for this ſhall come to my people, & it ſhall come vnto all the princes of Iſrael: the terrours of the ſword ſhalbe vpon my people: [k] ſmite therfore vpon thy thigh.

13 For it is a triall, and what ſhall this be, if the ſword contemne euen the rodde? It ſhall be no more, ſaith the Lord God.

14 Thou therefore, ſonne of man, prophecie, and ſmite [m] hand to hand, and let the ſword be doubled: let the ſword that hath killed, returne the third time: it is the ſword of the great ſlaughter entring into their priuie chambers.

15 I haue brought the feare of the ſword into all their gates to make their heart to faint, and to multiplie their ruines. Ah, it is made bright, and it is dreſſed for the ſlaughter.

16 Get thee [n] alone: goe to the right hand, or get thy ſelfe to the left hand, whitherſoeuer thy face turneth.

17 I wil alſo ſmite mine hands together, & wil cauſe my wrath to ceaſe. I the Lord haue ſaid it.

18 ¶ The word of the Lord came vnto me againe, ſaying,

19 Alſo thou ſonne of man, appoint thee [o] two wayes, that the ſword of the King of Babel may come: both twaine ſhall come out of one lande, and chuſe a place, and chuſe it in the corner of the way of the citie.

20 Appoint a way, that the ſword may come to Rabbath of the Ammonites, and [p] to Iudah in Ieruſalem the ſtrong citie.

21 And [ỹ] King of Babel ſtood at the [q] parting of the way, at the head of the two wayes, conſulting by diuination, and made his arrowes bright: he conſulted with idoles, [&] looked in [r] the liuer.

22 At his right hand was the diuination for Ieruſalē to appoint captaines, to open their mouth in the ſlaughter, and to liſt vp their voyce with ſhouting, to lay engins of warre againſt the gates, to caſt a mount, and to build a fortreſſe.

23 And it ſhalbe vnto them [ſ] as a falſe diuination in their ſight for the othes made vnto them: [t] but he will call to remembrance their iniquitie, to the intent they ſhould be taken.

24 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, Becauſe ye haue made your iniquitie to be remembred in diſcouering your rebellion, that in all your workes your ſinnes might appeare, becauſe, I ſay, that ye are come to remembrance, ye ſhall be taken with the hand.

25 And thou [u] prince of Iſrael polluted, and wicked, whoſe day is come, when iniquitie ſhall haue an ende, 26 Thus ſaith the Lord God, I will take away the [x] diademe, and take off the crowne: this ſhalbe no more the ſame: I wil exalt the humble, and will abaſe him that is hie.

27 I will ouerturne, ouerturne, ouerturne it, and it ſhall be no more vntill he [y] come, whoſe right it is, and I will giue it him.

28 ¶ And thou, Sonne of man, prophecie, and ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord God to the children of Ammon, and to their blaſphemie: ſay thou, I ſay, The ſword, the ſword is drawen forth, and fourbiſhed to the ſlaughter, to conſume, becauſe of the glittering:

29 Whiles they ſee [z] vanitie vnto thee, and prophecied a lie vnto thee to bring thee vpō the neckes of the wicked that are ſlaine, whoſe day is come, when their iniquitie ſhall haue an ende.

30 Shall I cauſe it to returne into his ſheath? I will iudge thee in the place where thou waſt created, euen in the land of thine habitation.

31 And I wil powre out mine indignation vpon thee, and will blowe againſt thee in the fire of my wrath, and deliuer thee into the hand of beaſtly men, and ſkilfull to deſtroy.

32 Thou ſhalt be in the fire to be deuoured: thy blood ſhall be in the middes of the land, and thou ſhalt be no more remembred: for I the Lord haue ſpoken it.

CHAP. XXII.

1 Jerusalem is reproued for cruelitie. 25 Of the wicked doctrine of the false prophets and Priests, and of their vnsatiable couetousnesse. 27 The tyrannie of rulers. 29 The wickednesse of the people.

MOreouer, the word of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

2 Nowe thou sonne of man, wilt thou [a] iudge, wilt thou iudge this bloody city? wilt thou shewe her all her abominations?

3 Then say, Thus sayeth the Lorde God, The citie shedding blood in the middes of it, that her [b] time may come, and maketh idoles [c] against her selfe to pollute herselfe.

4 Thou hast offended in thy blood, that thou hast shed, & hast polluted thy selfe in thine idoles, which thou hast made, and thou hast caused thy dayes to draw neere, and art come vnto thy terme therefore haue I made thee a reproch to the heathen, and a mocking to all countreys.

5 Those that bee neere, and those that be farre from thee, shall mocke thee, which art vile in [d] name and sore in affliction.

6 Beholde, the princes of Israel euery one in thee was ready to his power, to shed blood.

7 In thee haue they despised father and mother: in the middes of thee [e] haue they oppressed the stranger: in thee haue they vexed the fatherlesse and the widow.

8 Thou hast despised mine holy things, and hast polluted my Sabbaths.

9 In thee are men that cary tales to shedde blood: in thee are they that eate vpon the mountaines: in the mids of thee they commit abomination.

10 *In thee haue they discouered their fathers shame: in thee haue they vexed her that was polluted in her floures.

11 And euery one *hath committed abomination with his neighbours wife, and euery one hath wickedly defiled his daughter in lawe, and in thee hath euery man forced his owne sister, euen his fathers daughter.

12 In thee haue they taken giftes to shedde blood: thou hast taken vsury and the increase, and thou hast defrauded thy neighbours by extortion, and hast forgotten me, saith the Lord God.

13 Beholde, therefore I haue [f] smitten mine handes vpon thy couetousnes, that thou hast vsed, and vpon the blood, which hath bene in the mids of thee.

14 Can thine heart endure, or can thine hands [g] bee strong, in the dayes that I shall haue to doe with thee? I the Lorde haue spoken it, and will doe it.

15 And I will scatter thee among the heathen, and disperse thee in the countreys, and wil cause thy [h] filthines to cease from thee.

16 And thou shalt take thine [i] inheritance in thy selfe in the sight of the heathen, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

17 ¶ And the worde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, the house of Israel [k] is vnto me as drosse: all they are brasse, and tinne, and yron, and leade in the mids of the fornace: they are euen the drosse of siluer.

19 Therefore, thus saith the Lorde God, Because ye are all as drosse, beholde, therefore I will gather you in the middes of Ierusalem.

20 As they gather siluer and brasse, and yron, and leade, and tinne into the middes of the fornace, to blowe the fire vpon it to melt it, so will I gather you in mine anger and in my wrath, and wil put you there and melt you.

21 I wil gather you, I say, and blowe the fire of my wrath vpon you, and you shalbe melted in the mids thereof.

22 As siluer is melted in the midst of the fornace, so shall ye be melted in the mids thereof, and ye shall knowe, that I the Lorde haue powred out my wrath vpon you.

23 And the word of the Lord came vnto mee, saying,

24 Sonne of man, say vnto her, Thou art the land, that is vncleane, [m] and not rained vpon in the day of wrath.

25 There is a conspiracie [n] of her prophetes in the mids thereof like a roaring lyon, rauening the praye: they haue deuoured soules: they haue taken the riches and precious things: they haue made her many widowes in the mids thereof.

26 Her Priests haue broken my Lawe, and haue defiled mine holy things: they haue put no difference betweene the holy and prophane, neither discerned betweene the vncleane, and the cleane, and haue hidde their [o] eyes from my Sabbaths, and I am prophaned among them.

27 Her princes in * the mids thereof are like woolues, rauening the praye to shed blood, and to destroy soules for their owne couetous lucre.

28 And her [p] prophets haue dawbed them with vntempered morter, seeing vanities, and diuining lies vnto them, saying, Thus saith the Lord God, when the Lord had not spoken.

29 The people of the land haue violently oppressed by spoyling and robbing, and haue vexed the poore and the needy: yea, they haue oppressed the stranger against right.

30 And I sought for a man among them, that should [q] make vp the hedge, and stand in the gap before mee for the land, that I should not destroy it, but I found none.

31 Therefore haue I powred out mine indignation vpon them, and consumed them with the fire of my wrath: their owne wayes haue I rendred vpon their heads, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXIII.

Of the idolatrie of Samaria and Ierusalem, vnder the names of Aholah and Aholibah.

THe word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, there were two women, the daughters of one [a] mother.

3 And they committed fornication in [b] Egypt, they committed fornication in their youth: there were their breastes pressed, and there they bruised the teates of their virginitie.

4 And the names of [c] them were Aholah the elder, & Aholibah her sister: and they were mine, and they bare sonnes and daughters: thus were their names. Samaria is Aholah, and Ierusalem Aholibah.

5 And Aholah played the harlot † when [d] shee was mine, and shee was set on fire with her louers, to wit, with the Assyrians her neighbours,

6 Which were clothed with blewe silke, both captaines and princes: they were all pleasant yong men, and horsemen riding vpon horses.

a Art thou ready to execute thy charge, which I commit vnto thee against Ierusalem, that murdereth the Prophets, and them that are godly?
b That is, the time of her destruction.
c To her owne vndoing.
d Whose very name al men hate.
e He meaneth hereby that there was no kinde of wickednes which was not committed in Ierusalem, and therefore the plagues of God should speedily come vpon her.
*Leuit. 20.11, 18.
*Iere. 5.8.
f In token of my wrath and vengeance.
g That is, able to defend thy selfe.
h I wil thus take away the occasion of thy wickednes.
i Thou shalt be no more the inheritance of the Lord, but forsaken.
k Which before was most precious.
l Meaning hereby, that the godly should be tried and the wicked destroyed.
m Thou art like a barren land which the Lord plagueth with drought.
n The false prophets haue conspired together to make their doctrine more probable.
o They haue neglected my seruice.
*Mich.3.11, Zepha.3.3. p They which should haue reproued them, flattered them in their vices, and couered their doings with lyes, Chap.13.10.
q Which would shew himselfe zealous in my cause by resisting vice. Isa.59.16. and 63.5. and also pray vnto me to withhold my plagues, Psal. 105.23.
a Meaning, Israel and Iudah, which came both out of one familie.
b They became idolaters after the maner of the Egyptians.
c Aholah signifyeth a mansion or dwelling in her selfe, meaning Samaria, which was the royal citie of Israel, and Aholibah signifieth my mansion in her, whereby is meant Ierusalem where Gods Temple was.
† Ebr. vnder me.
d When the Israelites were named the people of God, they became idolaters, and forsooke God, and put their trust in the Assyrians.

7 Thus she committed her whoredome with them, euen with all them that were the chosen men of Asshur, and with all on whom she doted, and defiled her selfe with all their idoles.

8 Neither left she her fornications, learned of the Egyptians: for in her youth they [e] lay with her, and they bruised the breasts of her virginitie, and powred their whoredome vpon her.

9 Wherefore I deliuered her into the handes of her louers, euen into the handes of the Assyrians, vpon whom she doted.

10 These discouered her shame: they tooke away her sonnes & her daughters, & slewe her with the sword, and she had an euill name among women: for they had executed iudgement vpon her.

11 And when her sister Aholibah sawe this, she marred her selfe with inordinate loue, more then she, and with her fornications more then her sister with her fornications.

12 Shee doted vpon the Assyrians her neighbours, both captaines and princes clothed with diuers suites, horsemen riding vpon horses: they were all pleasant yong men.

13 Then I sawe that she was defiled, and that they were both after one sort,

14 And that she increased her fornications: for when shee sawe men [g] painted vpon the wall, the images of the Caldeans painted with vermillion,

15 And girded with girdles vpon their loynes, and with dyed attire vpon their heades (looking all like princes after the maner of the Babylonians in Caldea, the land of their natiuitie)

16 Assoone, I say, as shee sawe them, she doted vpon them, and sent messengers vnto them, into Caldea.

17 Nowe when the Babylonians came to her into the bed of loue, they defiled her with their fornication, and she was polluted with them, and her lust departed from them.

18 So she discouered her fornication, and discloſed her shame: then mine heart forsooke her, like as mine heart had forsaken her sister.

19 Yet shee increased her whoredome more, and called to remembrance the daies of her youth wherein she had played the harlot in the lande of Egypt.

20 For shee doted vpon their seruaunts whose members are as the members of asses, and whose yssue is like the yssue of horses.

21 Thou calledst to remembrance the wickednes of thy youth, when thy teates were bruised by the Egyptians: therefore the paps of thy youth are thus.

22 Therefore, O Aholibah, thus sayeth the Lorde God, Beholde, I will rayse vp thy louers against thee, from whome thine heart is departed, and I will bring them against thee on euery side,

23 To wit, the Babylonians, and all the Caldeans, [h] Peked, and Shoah, and Koa, and all the Assyrians with them: they were all pleasant yong men, captaines and princes: all they were valiant and renoumed, riding vpon horses.

24 Euen these shal come against thee with charets, wagons, and wheeles, and with a multitude of people, which shall set against thee buckler and shield, and helmet round about: and †I wil leaue the punishment vnto them, and they shall iudge thee according to their ‖ iudgements.

25 And I wil lay mine indignation vpon thee, and they shall deale cruelly with thee: they shall cut off thy [i] nose and thine eares, and thy remnant shall fall by the sworde: they shall cary away thy sonnes and thy daughters, and thy residue shal be deuoured by the fire.

26 They shal also strip thee out of thy clothes, and take away thy faire iewels.

27 Thus will I make thy wickednesse to cease from thee, and thy fornication out of the land of Egypt: so that thou shalt not lift vp thine eyes vnto them, nor remember Egypt any more.

28 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will deliuer thee into the hande of them, whome thou hatest: euen into the handes of them from whom thine heart is departed.

29 And they shal handle thee despitefully, and shall take away all thy [k] labour, and shall leaue thee naked and bare, and the shame of thy fornications [l] shalbe discouered, both thy wickednes, and thy whoredome.

30 I will doe these things vnto thee, because thou hast gone a whoring after the heathen, and because thou art polluted with their idoles.

31 Thou hast walked in the way of thy sister: therefore will I giue her [m] cup into thine hand.

32 Thus saith the Lord God, Thou shalt drinke of thy sisters cup, deepe and large: thou shalt be laughed to scorne and had in derision, because it containeth much.

33 Thou shalt be filled with [n] drunkennes and sorow, euen with the cup of destruction, and desolation, with the cup of thy sister Samaria.

34 Thou shalt euen drinke it, and wring it out to the dregges, and thou shalt breake the sheards thereof, and teare thine owne breastes: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

35 Therefore thus sayeth the Lorde God, Because thou hast forgotten mee, and cast mee behinde thy backe, therefore thou shalt also beare thy wickednes and thy whoredome.

36 ¶ The Lord said moreouer vnto me, Sonne of man, wilt thou iudge Aholah & Aholibah? and wilt thou declare to them their abominations?

37 For they haue played the whores, and blood is in their hands, and with their idoles haue they committed adulterie, and haue also caused their sonnes, whom they bare vnto me, to passe by the fire to be their [o] meate.

38 Moreouer, thus haue they done vnto mee: they haue defiled my Sanctuary in the same day, and haue prophaned my Sabbaths.

39 For when they had slaine their children to their idoles, they came the same day into my Sanctuarie to defile it: and loe, thus haue they done in the mids of mine house.

40 And how much more is it that they sent for men to come from [p] farre vnto whom a messenger was sent, and loe, they came? for whome thou diddest wash thy selfe, and paintedst thine eyes, and deckedst thee with ornaments,

41 And sattest [q] vpon a costly bed, and a table prepared before it, whereupon thou hast set mine incense and mine oyle.

42 And a voyce of a multitude being at ease, was with her: and with the men to make the company great were brought men of [r] Saba from the wildernes, which put bracelets vpon their hands, and beautiful crownes vpon their heads.

43 Then I sayde vnto her that was olde in adulteries, Now shall she and her fornications come to an ende.

44 And

e The holy Ghost vseth these termes which seeme straūge to chaste eares, to cause this wicked vice of idolatrie so to be abhorred that vneth any should abide to heare the name thereof mentioned.

f Meaning, the Assyrians.

g This declareth that no words are able sufficiently to expresse the rage of idolaters, and therefore the holy Ghost here compareth them to those which in their raging loue and filthy lustes dote vpon the images and paintings of them after whome they lust.

h These were the names of certaine princes and captaines vnder Nebuchad-nezzar.

†Ebr. I will giue iudgement before them.

‖Or, lawes.

i They shall destroy the princes and Prieſtes, with the rest of thy people.

k All thy treasures and riches which thou hast gotten by labour.

l All the world shall see thy shamefull forsaking of God to serue idoles.

m I wil execute the same iudgements and vengeance against thee, and that with greater seueritie.

n Meaning, that the afflictions should be so great that they should cause them to lose their senses, and reason.

o That is, to be sacrifices to their idols, reade Chap. 16.20.

p They sent into other countreys to haue such as should teach the seruice of their idoles.

q He meaneth the altar that was prepared for the idoles.

r Which should teach the maner of worshipping their gods.

44 And they went in vnto her as they goe to a common harlot: so went they to Aholah and Aholibah the wicked women.

45 And the righteous men they shall iudge them, after the maner of [f] harlots, and after the maner of murtherers: for they are harlots, and blood is in their hands.

[f] That is, worthy death, reade Chap. 16.38.

46 Wherefore thus saith the Lord God, I will bring a multitude vpon them, and will giue them vnto the tumult, and to the spoile, 47 And the multitude shall stone them with stones, and cut them with their swords: they shall slay their sonnes, and their daughters, and burne vp their houses with fire.

48 Thus will I cause wickednesse to cease out of the land, that all [t] women may be taught not to do after your wickednesse.

[t] Meaning all other cities and countries.

49 And they shall lay your wickednesse vpon you, and ye shall beare the sinnes of your idoles, and ye shall know that I am the Lord God.

CHAP. XXIIII.

He sheweth the destruction of Ierusalem by a parable of a seething pot. 16 The parable of Ezekiels wife being dead.

[a] Of Ieconiahs captiuitie, and of the reigne of Zedekiah, 2. King. 25.1.

AGaine in the [a] ninth yeere, in the tenth moneth, in the tenth day of the [b] moneth, came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

[b] Called Tebeth, which containeth part of December & part of Ianuary, in the which moneth & day Nebuchad-nezzar besieged Ierusalem.

2 Sonne of man, write thee the name of the day, euen of this same day: for the king of Babel set himselfe against Ierusalem this same day.

3 Therefore speake a parable vnto the rebellious house, and say vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord God, Prepare a [c] pot, prepare it, and also powre water into it.

[c] Whereby was meant Ierusalem.

4 Gather the [d] pieces thereof into it, euen euery good piece, as the thigh and the shoulder, and fill it with the chiefe bones.

[d] That is, the citizens, & the chiefe men thereof.

5 Take one of the best sheepe, and ‖ burne also the [e] bones vnder it, and make it boile wel, and seethe the bones of it therein,

‖ Or, heape.

[e] Meaning of the innocents whom they had slain, who were the cause of the kindling of Gods wrath against them.

6 Because the Lord God saith thus, Woe to the bloody citie, euen to the pot, [f] whose skumme is therein, & whose skumme is not gone out of it: bring it out ‖ piece by piece: let no [g] lot fal vpon it.

[f] Whose iniquities, and wicked citizens there yet remaine.

[g] Signifying that they should not be destroyed all at once, but by little and little.

‖ Or, peece.

7 For her blood is in the middes of her: shee set it vpon an high [i] rocke, and powred it not vpon the ground to couer it with dust,

[h] Spare no estate or condition.

8 That it might cause wrath to arise, and take vengeance: euen I haue set her blood vpon an high rocke that it should not be couered.

[i] The citie shewed her cruelties to all the world, and was not ashamed thereof, neither yet hid it.

9 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, * Wo to the bloody city, for I wil make ‖ the burning great.

* Nah. 3.1. Habak. 2.12.

10 Heape on much wood: [k] kindle the fire, consume the flesh, and cast in spice, and let the bones be burnt.

‖ Or, an heape of wood.

11 Then set it emptie vpon the coles thereof, that ‖ the brasse of it may be hot, and may burne and that the filthinesse of it may be molten in it, and that the skumme of it may be consumed.

[k] Meaning, that the citie should be vtterly destroyed, and that hee would giue the enemies an appetite thereunto.

12 [l] She hath wearied her selfe with lies, and her great skumme went not out of her: therefore her skumme shalbe consumed with fire.

13 Thou remainest in thy filthinesse and wickednesse: because I would [m] haue purged thee, and thou wast not purged, thou shalt not be purged from thy filthinesse, till I haue caused my wrath to light vpon thee.

[m] I laboured by sending my Prophets to call thee to repentance, but thou wouldest not.

14 I the Lord haue spoken it, it shall come to passe, and I will doe it: I will not goe backe, neither will I spare, neither will I repent: according to thy wayes, and according to thy works shall [n] they iudge thee, saith the Lord God.

[n] That is, the Babylonians.

15 ¶ Also the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

16 Sonne of man, beholde, I take away from thee the [o] pleasure of thine eyes with a plague: yet shalt thou neither mourne nor weepe, neither shall thy teares runne downe.

[o] Meaning, his wife in whom he delighted, as verse 18.

17 Cease from sighing: make no mourning for the dead, and binde the tire of thine head vpon thee, [p] and put on thy shooes vpon thy feet, and couer not thy lips, and eat [q] not the bread of men.

[p] For in mourning they went bare headed and bare footed, and also couered their lippes.

18 So I spake vnto the people in the morning, and at euen my wife died: and I did in [r] the morning, as I was commanded.

[q] That is, which the neighbours sent to them that mourned.

[r] Meaning, the morning following.

19 And the people said vnto me, Wilt thou not tell vs what these things meane toward vs that thou doest so?

20 Then I answered them, The word of the Lord came vnto me saying, 21 Speake vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, behold, I wil [s] pollute my Sanctuarie, euen the [t] pride of your power, the pleasure of your eyes, & your hearts desire, & your sonnes, and your daughters whom ye haue left, shall fall by the sword.

[s] By sending the Caldeans to destroy it, as Chap. 7.22.

[t] Wherein you boast and delight.

22 And ye shal do as I haue done: ye shal not couer your lips, neither shal ye eat [u] bread of men.

23 And your tire shalbe vpon your heads, and your shooes vpon your feet: ye shall not mourne nor weepe, but ye shall pine away for your iniquities, and mourne one toward another.

24 Thus Ezekiel is vnto you a signe: according to all that he hath done, ye shal do: and when this commeth, ye shall know that I am the Lord God.

25 Also, thou sonne of man, shal it not be in the day whē I take from them their power, the ioy of their honor, the pleasure of their eyes, & the [x] desire of their heart, their sonnes & their daughters?

[u] Ebr. lifting vp of their soules.

26 That he that escapeth in that day, shal come vnto thee to tell thee that which hee hath heard with his eares?

27 In that day shall thy mouth be opened to him which is escaped, and thou shalt speake, & be no more dumbe, and thou shalt be a signe vnto them, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXV.

1 The word of the Lord against Ammon, which reioyced at the fall of Ierusalem. 8 Against Moab and Seir, Idumea, and the Philistims.

THe word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against the Ammonites, and prophesie against them,

3 And say vnto the Ammonites, Heare the word of the Lord God, Thus saith the Lord God, Because thou saydest, [a] Ha, ha, against my Sanctuarie, when it was polluted, and against the land of Israel, when it was desolate, and against the house of Iudah, when they went into captiuitie.

[a] Because ye reioyced when the enemy destroyed my citie and Temple.

4 Beholde, therefore I will deliuer thee to the [b] men of the East for a possession, and they shall set their [c] palaces in thee, and make their dwellings in thee: they shall eat thy fruit, & they shall drinke thy milke.

[b] That is, to the Babylonians.

[c] They shall chase thee away and take thy gorgeous houses to dwell in.

5 And I will make [d] Rabbah a dwelling place for camels, and the Ammonites a sheepcote, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

[d] Called also Philadelphia, which was the chiefe citie of the Ammonites, and full of conduits, 2. Sam. 12.27.

6 For thus saith the Lord God, Because thou hast clapped the hands, & stamped with the feet, and and reioyced in heart with all thy despight against the land of Israel,

7 Beholde, therefore I will stretch out mine hand vpon thee, and will deliuer the to be spoyled of the heathen, and I will root thee out from the people, and I will cause thee to be destroyed out of the countreys, and I will destroy thee, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

8 Thus saith the Lord God, Because that Moab and Seir doe say, Beholde, the house of Iudah is like vnto all the heathen, 9 Therefore, beholde, I will open the side of Moab, euen of the cities [c] of his cities, I say, in his frontiers with the pleasant countrey, Beth-iesimoth, Baal-meon, and Kariathaim.

10 I will call the men of the East against the Ammonites, and will giue them in possession, so that the Ammonites shall no more be remembred among the nations, 11 And I will execute iudgements vpon Moab, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

12 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, Because that Edom hath done euill by taking vengeance vpon the house of Iudah, and hath committed great offence, and reuenged himselfe vpon them, 13 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I will also stretch out mine hand vpon Edom, and destroy man and beast out of it, and I will make it desolate from Teman, and they of Dedan, shall fal by the sword.

14 And I will execute my vengeance vpon Edom by the hand of my people Israel, & they shal do in Edom according to mine anger, and according to mine indignation, and they shall know my vengeance, saith the Lord God.

15 Thus saith the Lord God, Because the Philistims haue executed vengeance, and reuenged themselues with a despightfull heart, to destroy it for the olde hatred, 16 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I will stretch out mine hand vpon the Philistims, and I wil cut off the [f] Cherethims, and destroy the remnant of the sea coast.

17 And I will execute great vengeance vpon them with rebukes of mine indignation, and they shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall lay my vengeance vpon them.

c So that no power or strength should be able to resist the Babylonians.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 He prophesieth that Tyrus shall be ouerthrowen because it reioyced at the destruction of Ierusalem. 15 The wondring and astonishment of the marchants for the destruction of Tyrus.

[a] And in the eleuenth yeere, in the first day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, because that Tyrus hath sayd against Ierusalem, Aha, the [b] gate of the people is broken: it is turned vnto me: for seeing she is desolate: I shall be [c] replenished,

3 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Tyrus, and I will bring vp many nations against thee, as the sea mounteth vp with his waues.

4 And they shall destroy the walles of Tyrus, & breake downe her towres: I wil also scrape her dust from her, & make her like the top of a rocke.

5 Thou shalt be for the spreading of nettes in the midst of the sea: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God, and it shall be a spoyle to the nations.

6 And her [d] daughters which are in the field, shall be slaine by the sword, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

b That is, the famous citie Ierusalem, whereunto all people resorted.

c My riches and fame shal increase thus the wicked reioyce at their fall by whom they may haue any profit or aduantage.

d The townes that belonged vnto her.

7 For thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I will bring vpon Tyrus Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, a King of Kings from the North, with horses and with charets, and with horsemen, with a multitude and much people.

8 He shall slay with the sword thy daughters in the field, and he shal make a fort against thee, and cast a mount against thee, and lift vp the buckler against thee.

9 He shall set engins of warre before him against thy walles, and with his weapons breake downe thy towers.

10 The dust of his horses shall couer thee, for their multitude: thy walles shall shake at the noise of the horsemen, and of the wheeles, and of the charets, when he shall enter into thy gates as into the entrie of a citie that is broken downe.

11 With the hooues of his horses shal he tread downe all thy streets: he shall slay thy people by the sword, and the [e] pillars of thy strength shall fall downe to the ground.

12 And they shall robbe thy riches, and spoile thy marchandise, and they shall breake downe thy walles, and destroy thy pleasant houses, and they shall cast thy stones and thy timber and thy dust into the mids of the water.

13 * Thus will I cause the sound of thy songs to cease, and the sound of thine harps shall be no more heard.

14 I wil lay thee like the top of a rocke: [f] thou shalt be for a spreading of nets: thou shalt be built no more: for I the Lord haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

15 Thus saith the Lord God to Tyrus, Shal not the iles tremble at the sound of thy fal? and at the crie of the wounded, when they shalbe slaine and murthered in the mids of thee?

16 Then all the princes of the [g] sea shal come downe from their thrones: they shall lay away their robes, and put off their broidered garments, and shall clothe themselues with astonishment: they shall sit vpon the ground, and be astonied at euery moment, and be amased at thee.

17 And they shall take vp a lamentation for thee, and say to thee, How art thou destroyed, that wast inhabited [h] of the sea men, the renowned citie which was strong in the sea, both she and her inhabitants, which cause their feare to be on all that haunt therein!

18 Now shall the iles be astonished in the day of thy fall: yea, the iles that are in the sea, shall be troubled at thy departure.

19 For thus saith the Lord God, when I shall make thee a desolate citie, like the cities that are not inhabited, and when I shall bring the deepe vpon thee, and great waters shall couer thee,

20 When I shall cast thee downe with them that descend into the pit, with the people [i] of old time, & shall set thee in the low parts of the earth, like the olde ruines, with them, I say, which goe downe to the pit, so that thou shalt not be inhabited and I shall shew my glory in the land of the [k] liuing.

THe word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, take vp a lamentation for Tyrus,

3 And say vnto Tyrus, that is situate at the entrie of the sea, which is the marte [a] of the people for many yles, Thus sayeth the Lorde God, O Tyrus, thou hast sayd, I am of perfite beautie.

4 Thy borders are in the † middes of the sea, and thy builders haue made thee of perfit beauty.

5 They haue made all thy shippe boardes of firre trees of [b] Shenir: they haue brought cedars from Lebanon, to make mastes for thee.

6 Of the okes of Bashan haue they made thine ores: the company of the Assyriãs haue made thy banks of yuory: brought out of ỹ iles of [c] Chittim.

7 Fine linen with broidred worke, brought from Egypt, was spread ouer thee to be thy saile, blue silke and purple, brought from the yles of Elishah, was thy couering.

8 The inhabitants of Zidon, and Aruad were thy mariners, O Tyrus: thy wise men that were in thee, they were thy ‖ pilots:

9 The ancients of Gebal, and the wise men thereof were in thee thy [d] calkers, all the shippes of the sea with their mariners were in thee to occupie thy merchandise.

10 They of Persia, & of Lud & of Phut were in thine army, thy men of war they hanged ỹ shield and helmet in thee: they set forth thy beautie.

11 The men of Aruad with thine armie were vpon thy walles round about, and the [e] Gammadims were in thy towres: they hanged their shields vpon thy walles round about: they haue made thy beautie perfite.

12 They of Tarshish were thy merchants for the multitude of all riches, for siluer, yron, tynne, and lead, which they brought to thy faires.

13 They of [f] Iauan, Tubal and Meshech were thy merchants, [g] concerning the liues of men, & they brought vessels of brasse for thy marchãdise.

14 They of the house of [h] Togarmah brought to thy faires horses, and horsmen, and mules.

15 The men of Dedan were thy merchantes: and the merchandise of many yles were in thine handes: they brought thee for a present [i] hornes, teeth, and peacockes.

16 They of Aram were thy merchants for the multitude of thy ‖ wares: they occupied in thy faires with ‖ Emeraulds, purple, & broidred worke, and ‖ fine linen, and corall, and pearle.

17 They of Iudah and of the land of Israel were thy merchants: they brought for thy merchandise wheat of [k] Minnith, and Pannag, and honie and oyle, and ‖ balme.

18 They of Damascus were thy merchants in the multitude of thy wares, for ỹ multitude of all riches, as in the wine of Helbon & white wool.

19 They of Dan also and of Iauan, going to and fro, occupied in thy faires: yron worke, cassia and calamus were among thy merchandise.

20 They of Dedan were thy merchants in precious clothes for the charets.

21 They of Arabia, and all the princes of Kedar ‖ occupied with thee, in lambes, and rammes and goates: in these were they thy merchants.

22 The merchants of Sheba, & Raamah were thy merchants: they occupied in thy faires with ỹ chief of al spices, & with al precious stones & gold.

23 They of Haran and Canneh and Eden, the marchants of Sheba, Asshur and Chilmad were thy merchants.

24 These were thy merchants in all sortes of things, in raiment of blewe silke, and of broidred worke, and in coffers for thy rich apparell, which were bound with cordes: chains also were among thy merchandise.

25 The shippes of Tarshish ‖ were thy chiefe in thy merchandise, and thou wast replenished and made very glorious in the middes of the sea.

26 The ‖ robbers haue brought thee into great waters: the [l] East wind hath broken thee in the middes of the sea.

27 Thy riches & thy faires, thy merchandise, thy mariners and pilotes, thy calkers, and the occupiers of thy merchandise & all the men of war that are in thee, and all thy multitude which is in the middes of thee, shall fall in the middes of the sea in the day of thy ruine.

28 The [m] suburbs shal shake at the sounde of the crie of thy pilotes.

29 And all that handle the oare, the mariners and al the pilots of the sea shal come down from their shippes, and shal stand vpon the land,

30 And shall cause their voyce to be heard against thee, and shall cry bitterly, and shall cast dust vpon their heades, and wallow themselues in the ashes,

31 They shal plucke off their haire for thee & gird them with a sackcloth, and they shall weepe for thee with sorow of heart & bitter mourning.

32 And in their mourning, they shall take vp a lamentation for thee, saying, What citie is like Tyrus, so destroyed in the middes of the sea!

33 When thy wares went foorth of the seas, thou filledst many people, & thou diddest enrich the Kings of the earth with the multitude of thy riches and of thy merchandise.

34 When thou shalt be broken by ỹ seas in the depths of the waters, thy merchandise and all thy multitude, which was in ỹ mids of thee, shall fall.

35 Al the inhabitants of the yles shall be astonished at thee, and all their Kings shall be sore afraid and troubled in their countenance.

36 The merchants among the people shall hisse at thee: thou shalt be a terrour, and neuer shalt be [n] any more.

CHAP. XXVIII.

2 The word of God against the King of Tyrus for his pride. 21 The word of the Lorde against Zidon. 25 The Lorde promiseth that he will gather together the children of Israel.

THe word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, say vnto the prince of Tyrus, Thus saith the Lorde God, Because thine heart is exalted, & thou hast said, [a] I am a god, I sit in the seat of God in ỹ mids of ỹ sea, yet thou art but a man & not God, & † though thou diddest thinke in thine heart, that thou wast equall with God.

3 Beholde, thou art wiser then [b] Daniel: there is no secrete, that they can hide from thee.

4 With thy wisedome and thine vnderstanding thou hast gotten thee riches, and hast gotten golde and siluer into thy treasures.

5 By thy great wisedome and by thine occupying hast thou encreased thy riches, and thine heart is lifted vp because of thy riches.

6 Therefore thus saieth the Lorde God, Because thou diddest thinke in thine heart, that thou wast equall with God.

7 Behold, therefore I will bring strangers vpon thee, euen the terrible nations: and they shall drawe their swordes against the beautie of thy wisedome, and they shall defile thy brightnesse.

8 They shall cast thee downe to the pit, and thou shalt die the death of them, that are slaine in the middes of the sea.

9 Wilt thou say then before him that slayeth thee, I am a god? but thou shalt be a man, and no god, in the hands of him that slayeth thee.

10 Thou shalt die the death of the [c] vncircumcised by the handes of strangers: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

11 ¶ Moreouer the word of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

12 Sonne of man, take vp a lamentation vpon the king of Tyrus, and say vnto him, Thus sayeth the Lord God, Thou sealest vp the summe, and art full of [d] wisedome and perfite in beautie.

13 Thou hast bin in Eden the garden of God: euery precious stone was in thy garment, the rubie, the topaze & the ‖ diamond, the chrysolite, the onyx, and the iasper, the saphir, ‖ emeraude, & the carbuncle and golde: the workemanship of thy tymbrels, and of thy pipes was prepared in thee in the day that thou wast created.

14 Thou art [e] the anointed Cherub, that couereth, and I haue set thee [f] in honour: thou wast vpon the holy mountaine of God: thou hast walked in the middes of the [g] stones of fire.

15 Thou wast perfite in thy wayes from the day that thou wast [h] created, till iniquitie was found in thee.

16 By the multitude of thy merchandise, they haue filled the mids of thee with crueltie, & thou hast sinned: therefore I will cast thee as prophane out of the [i] mountaine of God: and I will destroy thee, O couering Cherub from the mids of the stones of fire.

17 Thine heart was lifted vp because of thy beauty, and thou hast corrupted thy wisedome by reason of thy brightnesse: I will cast thee to the ground: I wil lay thee before kings that they may behold thee.

18 Thou hast defiled thy [k] sanctification by the multitude of thine iniquities, & by the iniquitie of thy merchandise: therefore wil I bring forth a fire from the middes of thee, which shal deuoure thee: and I wil bring thee to ashes vpon the earth, in the sight of all that behold thee.

19 All they that knowe thee among the people, shalbe astonished at thee: thou shalt be [l] a terrour, and neuer shalt thou be any more.

20 ¶ Againe, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

21 Sonne of man, set thy face against Zidon, and prophecie against it,

22 And say, Thus sayth the Lord God, behold, I come against thee, O Zidon, and I will be [l] glorified in the mids of thee: & they shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall haue executed iudgements in her, and shalbe sanctified in her.

23 For I wil send into her pestilence, & blood into her streetes, and the slaine shall fall in the mids of her: [m] the enemie shall come against her with the sword on euery side, and they shal know that I am the Lord.

23 And they shalbe no more a pricking thorne vnto the house of Israel, nor any grieuous thorne of al that are round about them, & despised them, and they shall know that I am the Lord God.

25 Thus saith the Lord God, When I shal haue gathered [y] house of Israel frō the people where they are scattered, and shalbe [n] sanctified in them in the sight of the heathen, then shal they dwel in the land, that I haue giuen to my seruant Iaakob.

26 And they shall dwell safely therein, & shal build houses, and plant vineyards: yea, they shall dwell safely, when I haue executed iudgements vpon al round about them that despise them, and they shal know that I am the Lord their God.

CHAP. XXIX.

Hee prophecieth against Pharaoh and Egypt. 13 The Lorde promiseth that he will restore Egypt after fourtie yeeres. 18 Egypt is the reward of King Nebuchad-nezzar for the labour, whice he tooke against Tyrus.

IN the [a] tenth yeere, and in the tenth moneth in the twelfth day of the moneth, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy selfe against Pharaoh the king of Egypt, and prophecie against him, and against all Egypt.

3 Speake, and say, Thus saith the Lorde God, Beholde, I come against thee, Pharaoh king of Egypt, the great [b] dragon, that lyeth in the middes of his riuers, which hath saide, The riuer is mine, and I haue made it to my selfe.

4 But I will put [c] hookes in thy chawes, and I will cause the fish of thy riuers to sticke vnto thy scales, and I will draw thee out of the middes of thy riuers, and all the fish of thy riuers shall sticke vnto thy scales.

5 And I will leaue thee in the wildernes, both thee, and al the fish of thy riuers: thou shalt fal vpon the open field: thou shalt not bee brought together, nor gathered: for I haue giuen thee for meate to the beastes of the field, and to the foules of the heauen.

6 And all the inhabitants of Egypt shal knowe that I am the Lorde, because, they haue bin a staffe of [d] reede to the house of Israel.

7 When they tooke holde of thee with their hand, thou didst breake, & rent all their shoulder: & when they leaned vpon thee, thou brakest and madest all their loynes to ‖ stand [e] vpright.

8 Therefore thus sayeth the Lorde God, Behold, I will bring a sword vpon thee, and destroy man and beast out of thee,

9 And the land of Egypt shalbe desolate, and waste, & they shal know [y] I am the Lord: because he hath said, [f] The riuer is mine, & I haue made it,

10 Behold, therfore I come vpon thee, & vpon thy riuers, & I will make the land of Egypt vterly waste, and desolate from the towre of Seueneh, euen vnto [y] borders of the † black Moores.

11 No foote of man shal passe by it, nor foote of beast shall passe by it, neyther shal it be inhabited fourtie yeeres.

12 And I wil make the land of Egypt desolate in the middes of the countries, that are desolate, and her cities shall bee desolate among the cities that are desolate, for fourtie yeeres: and I wil scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and wil disperse them through the countries.

13 Yet thus saith the Lord God, * At the end of fourtie yeeres wil I gather the Egyptians from the people, where they were scattered.

14 And I wil bring againe the captiuitie of Egypt, and wil cause them to returne into the land of Pathros, into the land of their habitation, and they shalbe there a [g] small kingdome.

The destruction of Egypt and the cities thereof.

THe word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, prophesie, and say, Thus sayth the Lord God, Howle and crie, Wo be vnto this day.

3 For the day is nere, and the day of the Lord is at hand, a cloudy day, and it shalbe the time of the heathen.

4 And the sword shall come vpon Egypt, and feare shalbe in Ethiopia, when the slaine shall fall in Egypt, when they shall take away her multitude, and when her foundations shall be broken downe.

5 [a] Ethiopia and Phut, and Lud, and all the common people, & Cub, & the men of the land, that is in league, shal fal with them by the sword.

6 Thus sayth the Lord, They also that maintein Egypt, shall fall, & the pride of her power shall come downe: from the towre of [b] Seueneh shall they fall by the sword, saith the Lord God.

7 And they shalbe desolate in the mids of the countries that are desolate, and her cities shalbe in the mids of the cities that are wasted.

8 And they shall know that I am the Lord, when I haue set a fire in Egypt, and when all her helpers shalbe destroyed.

9 In that day shall there messengers goe forth from me in ships, to make the careless Moores afrayd, and feare shall come vpon them, as in the day of Egypt: for loe, it commeth.

10 Thus sayth the Lord God, I will also make the multitude of Egypt to cease by the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel.

11 For he and his people with him, euen the terrible nations shall be brought to destroy the land: and they shall draw their swords against Egypt, and fill the land with the slaine.

12 And I will make the riuers drie, & sell the land into the hands of the wicked, & I will make the land waste, & all that therein is by the hands of strangers: I the Lord haue spoken it.

13 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also destroy the idoles, and I will cause their idoles to cease out of ‖ Noph, and there shall be no more a prince of the land of Egypt, and I will send a feare in the land of Egypt.

14 And I will make Pathros desolate, and will set fire in ‖ Zoan, and I will execute iudgement in No.

15 And I will powre my wrath vpon ‖ Sin, which is the strength of Egypt: and I wil destroy the multitude of ‖ No.

23 And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will disperse them thorow the countries.

24 And I wil strengthen the arme of the king of Babel, and put my sword in his hand but I will breake Pharaohs armes, & he shall cast out sighings, as the sighings of him, that is wounded before him.

25 But I wil strengthen the armes of the king of Babel, and the armes of Pharaoh shall fall downe, and they shall know, that I am the Lord, [h] when I shall put my sword into the hand of the king of Babel, and he shall stretch it out vpon the land of Egypt.

4 The waters nourished him, and the deepe exalted him on hie with her riuers running round about his plants, and sent out her [c] litle riuers vnto all the trees of the ‖ field.

5 Therefore his height was exalted aboue all the trees of the field, and his boughes were multiplied, and his branches were long, because of the multitude of the waters, which the deepe sent out.

6 All the fowles of the heauen made their nestes in his boughes, and vnder his branches did all the beasts of the field bring forth their yong, and vnder his shadow dwelt all mighty nations.

7 Thus was he faire in his greatnesse, and in the length of his branches: for his root was nere great waters.

8 The cedars in the garden [d] of God could not hide him: no firre tree was like his branches: and the chesnut trees were not like his boughes: all the trees in the garden of God were not like vnto him in his beautie.

9 I made him faire by the multitude of his branches: so that all the trees of Eden, that were in the garden of God, enuied him.

10 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Because ‖ he is lift vp on high, and hath shot vp his toppe among the thicke boughes, and his heart is lift vp in his height, 11 I haue therefore deliuered him into the hands of the [e] mightiest among the heathen: he shall handle him, for I haue cast him away for his wickednesse.

12 And the strangers haue destroyed him, euen the terrible nations, and they haue left him vpon the mountaines, and in all the valleys his branches are fallen, and his boughes are [f] broken by all the riuers of the land: and all the people of the earth are departed from his shadow, and haue forsaken him.

13 Vpon his ruine shall all the fowles of the heauen remaine, and all the beasts of the field shalbe vpon his branches,

14 So that none of all the trees by the waters shalbe exalted by their height, neither shall shoot vp their toppe among the thicke boughes, neither shall their leaues stand vp in their height, which drinke so much water: for they are all deliuered vnto death in the nether parts of the earth in the mids of the children of men among them that go downe to the pit.

15 Thus saith the Lord God, In the day when he went downe to hel, I caused them to mourne, and I [g] couered the deepe for him, and I did restreine the floods thereof, and the great waters were stayed: I caused Lebanon to mourne for him, and all the trees of the field fainted.

16 I made the nations to shake at the sound of his fall, when I cast him downe to hell, with them that descend into the pit, and all the excellent trees of Eden, and the best of Lebanon: euen all that are nourished with waters, shal [h] be comforted in the nether parts of the earth.

17 They also went downe to hell with him vnto them that be slaine with the sword, and his arme, and they that dwelt vnder his shadow in the mids of the heathen.

18 To whom [i] art thou thus like in glory and in greatnesse among the trees of Eden? yet thou shalt be cast downe with the trees of Eden vnto the nether parts of the earth: thou shalt sleepe in the mids of the vncircumcised, with them that be slaine by the sword: this is Pharaoh and all his multitude, sayth the Lord God.

CHAP. XXXII.

2 The Prophet is commanded to bewaile Pharaoh king of Egypt. 12 He prophesieth that destruction shall come vnto Egypt through the king of Babylon.

AND in the [a] twelfth yeere in the twelfth moneth, and in the first day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, take vp a lamentation for Pharaoh King of Egypt, and say vnto him, Thou art like a [b] lion of the nations, and art as a ‖ dragon in the sea: thou castedst out thy riuers [c] and troubledst the waters with thy feet, and stampedst in the riuers.

3 Thus saith the Lord God, * I will therefore spread my net ouer thee with a great multitude of people, and they shall make thee come vp into my net.

4 Then will I leaue thee vpon the land, and I will cast thee vpon the open field, & I will cause all the fowles of the heauen to remain vpon thee, and I will fill all the beasts of the field with thee.

5 And I will lay thy flesh vpon the mountaines, and fill the valleys [d] with thine height.

6 I will also water with thy blood the land wherein thou [e] swimmest, euen to the mountaines, and the riuers shall be full of thee.

7 And when I shall [f] put thee out, I will couer the heauen, and make the starres thereof darke: * I will couer the Sunne with a cloud, and the Moone shall not giue her light.

8 All the lights of heauen will I make darke for thee, and bring [g] darkenesse vpon thy land, sayth the Lord God.

9 I will also trouble the hearts of many people, when I shall bring thy destruction among the nations, and vpon the countries which thou hast not known.

10 Yea, I will make many people amased at thee, and their kings shalbe astonished with feare for thee, when I shall make my sword to glitter against their faces, and they shalbe afrayd at euery moment: euery man for his owne life in the day of thy fall.

11 For thus saith the Lord God, The sword of the king of Babel shall come vpon thee.

12 By the swords of the mightie will I cause thy multitude to fall: they all shalbe terrible nations, & they shall destroy the [h] pompe of Egypt, and all the multitude thereof shalbe consumed.

13 I will destroy also the beasts thereof from the great water-sides, neither shall the foot of man trouble them any more, nor the hooues of beast trouble them.

14 Then will I make [i] their waters deepe, and cause their riuers to runne like oyle, sayth the Lord God.

15 Whē I shall make the land of Egypt desolate, & the country with all that is therein, shalbe layd waste: when I shall smite all thē which dwel therein, then shal they know that I am the Lord.

16 This is the mourning wherewith they shal lament her: the daughters of the nations shall lament her: they shall lament for Egypt, and for all her multitude, saith the Lord God.

17 ¶ In the twelfth yeere also in the fifteenth day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, lament for the multitude of Egypt, c Many other nations were vnder their dominion. ‖ Or, countrey.

d Signifying, that there was no greater power in the world then his was.

‖ Or, thou wast lift vp.

e That is, of Nebuchad-nezzar, who afterward was the monarch and onely tulet of the world.

f Hereby is signified the destruction of the power of the Assyrians by the Babylonians.

g The deepe waters that caused him to mount so hie (meaning his great abundance and pompe) shall now lament as though they were couered with sack-cloth.

h To cause this destruction of the King of Assyria to seeme more horrible, he setteth forth other kings and princes which are dead as though they reioyced at the fall of such a tyrant.

i Meaning, that Pharaohs power was nothing so great as his was.

k Reade Chap. 28.10.

a Which was the first yeere of the generall captiuitie vnder Zedekiah.

b Thus the scriptures compare tyrants to cruell and huge beasts which deuoure all that be weaker then they, and such as they may ouercome. ‖ Or, whale.

c Thou preparedst great armies. * Chap. 12.13. and 17.20.

d With heaps of the carkaies of thine armie.

e As Nilus ouerfloweth Egypt, so will I make the blood of thine hoste to ouerflow it.

f The word signifieth to be put out as a candle is put out. * Isa. 13.10. Ioel 2. 31. and 3.15. Matt. 24.29.

g By this maner of speech is meant the great sorow that shall be for the slaughter of the King and his people.

h This came to passe in lesse then foure yeeres after this prophesie.

i To wit, of the Caldeans thine enemies, which shall quietly enioy all thy commodities.

Egypt,and [k] caſt them downe,euen them and the daughters of the mighty nations vnto the nether partes of the earth,with them that go downe into the pit.

19 Whome doeſt thou paſſe [l] in beautie? goe downe and ſleepe with the vncircumciſed.

20 They ſhall fall in the middes of them that are ſlaine by the ſword : [m] ſhe is deliuered to the ſword : draw her downe,and all her multitude.

21 The moſt mighty & ſtrong ſhal ſpeake to [n] him out of the mids of hel with them that helpe her : they are gone downe and ſleepe with the vncircumciſed that be ſlaine by the ſword.

22 Aſſhur is there and all his company : their graues are about him : all they are ſlaine and fallen by the ſword.

23 Whoſe graues are made in the ſide of the pit,and his multitude are round about his graue: all they are ſlaine and fallen by the ſword,which cauſed feare to be in the land of the liuing.

24 There [o] is Elam and al his multitude round about his graue:al they are ſlaine & fallen by the ſword,which are gone down with the vncircumciſed into [p] nether parts of the earth, which cauſed themſelues to be feared in the land of the liuing,yet haue they borne their ſhame with them that are gone downe to the pit.

25 They haue made his bed in the mids of the ſlaine with al his multitude:their graues are round about him:al theſe vncircūciſed are ſlaine by the ſword:though they haue cauſed their feare in the land of [p] liuing,yet haue they borne their ſhame with them that go downe to the pit:they are laid in the middes of them that be ſlaine.

26 There [q] is Meſhech,Tubal,& al their multitude : their graues are rounde about them : all theſe vncircumciſed were ſlaine by the ſworde, though they cauſed their feare to be in the lande of the liuing.

27 And they ſhal not lie [r] with the valiant of the vncircumciſed,[p] are fallen,which are gone down to the graue,with their weapons of war,& haue laid their ſwords vnder their heads,but their iniquitie ſhalbe vpon their bones:becauſe they were the feare of the mighty in the land of the liuing.

28 Yea,thou ſhalt be broken in the middes of the vncircumciſed, and lie with them that are ſlaine by the ſword.

29 There [s] is Edom, his kings,and all his princes, which with their ſtrength are laide by them that were ſlaine by the ſworde : they ſhall ſleepe with the vncircumciſed, and with them that goe downe to the pit.

30 There be al the princes of the [t] North,with al the Zidonians,which are gone down with the ſlaine,with their feare : they are aſhamed of their ſtrength,and the vncircumciſed ſleepe with them that be ſlaine by the ſword, & beare their ſhame with them that go downe to the pit.

31 Pharaoh ſhal ſee thē,& he ſhalbe [t] comforted ouer al his multitude:Pharaoh, and al his army ſhalbe ſlaine by the ſword,ſaith [p] Lord God.

32 For I haue cauſed my [u] feare to be in the land of the liuing:and he ſhalbe laide in the mids of the vncircumciſed with them, that are ſlaine by the ſword,euen Pharaoh and al his multitude, ſaith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXXIII.

2 The office of the gouernours and miniſters. 14 He ſtrengtheneth them that deſpaire, and boldeneth them with the promiſe of mercie. 30 The worde of the Lord againſt the mockers of the Prophet.

AGaine,the word of the Lord came vnto me, ſaying.

2 Sonne of man,ſpeake to the children of thy people:and ſay vnto them,When I bring the ſworde vpon a lande, if the people of the lande take a man ‖ from among them, and make him their [a] watchman,

3 If when he ſeeth the ſword come vpon the land,he blow the trumpet,& warne the people,

4 Then hee that heareth the ſounde of the trumpet, and will not bee warned,if the ſworde come,and take him away,his blood ſhalbe vpon his owne head.

5 For he heard the ſound of the trumpet, and would not be admoniſhed : therefore his blood ſhalbe vpon him : but he that receiueth warning, ſhal ſaue his life.

6 But if the watchman ſee the ſworde come, and blow not the trumpet,and the people be not warned : if the ſword come,and take any perſon from among them,he is taken away for his [b] iniquitie,but his blood will I require at the watchmans hand.

7 * So thou, O ſonne of man, I haue made thee a watchman vnto the houſe of Iſrael:therefore thou ſhalt heare the worde at my [c] mouth, and admoniſh them from me.

8 When I ſhall ſay vnto the wicked, O wicked man, thou ſhalt die the death, if thou doeſt not ſpeake,and admoniſh the wicked of his way, that wicked man ſhal die for his iniquitie,but his blood will I [d] require at thine hand.

9 Neuertheleſſe,if thou warne the wicked of his way, to turne from it,if he do not turne from his way,he ſhal die for his iniquity, but thou haſt deliuered thy ſoule.

10 Therefore,O thou ſonne of man, ſpeake vnto the houſe of Iſrael,Thus ye ſpeake and ſay, If our tranſgreſſions and our ſinnes be vpon vs, and we are conſumed becauſe of them , [e] howe ſhould we then liue?

11 Say vnto them,As I liue,ſaieth the Lorde God, [f] I deſire not the death of the wicked, but that the wicked turne from his way and liue: turne you,turne you from your euill wayes, for why will ye die,O ye houſe of Iſrael?

12 Therefore thou ſonne of man, ſay vnto the children of thy people, The [g] righteouſneſſe of the righteous ſhall not deliuer him in the day of his tranſgreſſion, nor the wickedneſſe of the wicked ſhall cauſe him to fall therein, in the day that he turneth from his wickedneſſe, neyther ſhall the righteous liue for his righteouſneſſe in the day that he ſinneth.

13 When I ſhal ſay vnto the righteous, that he ſhall ſurely liue,if he truſt to his owne righteouſnes,and commit iniquitie,al his righteouſnes,ſhal be no more remembred,but for his iniquity that he hath committed,he ſhall die for the ſame.

14 Againe,when I ſhall ſay vnto the wicked, thou ſhalt die the death,if he turne from his ſin, and do that which is lawfull and [h] right, 15 To wit, if the wicked reſtore the pledge, and giue againe that he had robbed,and walke in the ſtatutes of life,without committing iniquity, he ſhall ſurely liue,and not die.

16 None of his ſinnes that he hath cōmitted, ſhalbe mētioned vnto him:becauſe he hath done that,

[k] That is,prophecie,that they ſhall be caſt downe: thus the Lord giueth his Prophets power both to plant and to deſtroy by his word, reade Iere.1.10.

[l] Haue not other kingdomes,more beautifull then thou periſhed?

[m] That is, Egypt,

[n] To make the matter more ſenſible,he bringeth in Pharaoh whom the dead ſhal meet and marualle at him,reade Iſa.14.9.

[o] Meaning,the Perſians.

[p] Whom in this life all the world feared.

[q] That is,the Cappadocians and Italians,or Spaniards, as Ioſephus writeth.

[r] Which died not by cruell death, but by the courſe of nature,and are honourably buried with their coate armour and ſignes of honour.

[s] The king of Babylon.

[t] As the wicked reioyce when they ſee others partakers of their miſeries.

[u] I will make the Egyptians afraide of me,as they cauſed others to feare them.

‖ Or,of their coaſts.

[a] He ſheweth that the people ought to haue continually gouernours and teachers which may haue a care ouer them,and to warne them euer of the dangers which are at hand.

[b] Signifying, that the wicked ſhal not eſcape puniſhment though the watchman be negligent : but if the watchman blowe the trumpet,and then he will not obey,he ſhall deſerue double puniſhment.

Chap.3.17.*

[c] Which teacheth that he that receiueth not his charge at the Lords mouth, is a ſpie,and not a true watchman.

[d] The watchman muſt anſwere for ſ blood of all that periſh through his negligence.

[e] Thus the wicked when they heare Gods iudgements for their ſinnes, deſpair of his mercies and murmure.

[f] Reade Chap. 18.23.

[g] Reade of this righteouſneſſe, Chap.18.22,24.

[h] Hereby he condemneth all them of hypocriſie, which pretend to forſake wickednes,& yet declare not themſelues ſuch by their fruits,that is,in obeying Gods cōmaudements and by godly life.

that, which is lawfull, & right, he shal surely liue.

*Chap.18.25.

17 Yet the children of thy people say, * The way of the Lorde is not equall: but their owne way is vnequall.

18 When the righteous turneth from his righteousnesse, and committeth iniquitie, he shall euen die thereby.

19 But if the wicked returne from his wickednesse, and do that which is lawfull and right, hee shall liue thereby.

20 Yet ye say, The way of the Lord is not equall. O ye house of Israel, I will iudge you euery one after his wayes.

21 Also in the twelth yeere of i our captiuitie, in the tenth moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth, one that had escaped out of Ierusalem, came vnto me, and said, The citie is smitten.

i When the Prophet was led away captiue with Ieconiah.

22 Now the k hand of the Lord had bin vpon me in the euening afore hee that had escaped, came, and had opened my mouth vntil he came to me in the morning: and when he had opened my l mouth, I was no more dumme.

k I was indued with the Spirite of prophecie, Chap 8.2.

l Whereby is signified that the ministers of God cannot speak till God giue them courage and open their mouthes, Chap 24.27 & 29.21. Ephe.6.19.

23 Againe the word of the Lord came vnto me, and said,

24 Sonne of man, these that dwel in the desolate places of the land of Israel, talke and say, m Abraham was but one, and hee possessed the land: but we are many, therefore the land shall be giuen vs in possession.

m Thus the wicked thinke themselues more worthy to enioy Gods promises then the Saints of God, o whom they were made: and would binde God to be subiect to them, though they would not be bound to him.

25 Wherefore say vnto them, Thus saith the Lorde God, Yee eate with the n blood, and lift vp your eies toward your idoles, and sheade blood: should ye then possesse the land?

n Contrary to the Law, Leuit.17.14.

26 Ye leane vpon your o swordes: ye worke abomination, and ye defile euery one his neighbours wife: should ye then possesse the land?

o As they that are ready still to shead blood.

27 Say thus vnto them, Thus saith the Lorde God, As I liue, so surely they that are in the desolate places, shall fall by the sword: and him that is in the open field, wil I giue vnto the beasts to be deuoured: and they that be in the fortes and in the caues, shall die of the pestilence.

28 For I will lay the land desolate and waste, and the * pompe of her strength shal cease: and the mountains of Israel shalbe desolate, and none shall passe through.

*Chap.7.24. and 24.21. and 30.6,7.

29 Then shal they know that I am the Lord, whe I haue laid p land desolate & waste, because of al their abominations, p they haue committed.

30 Also thou sonne of man, the children of thy people that p talke of thee by the walles & in the doores of houses, & speake one to another, euery one to his brother, saying, Come, I pray you, and heare what is the word that cōmeth from p Lord.

p In derision.

31 For they come vnto thee, as the people vseth to come: and my people sit before thee, and heare thy wordes, but they will not do them: for with their mouthes they make q iestes, and their heart goeth after their couetousnesse.

q This declareth that we ought to heare Gods word with such zeale & affection, that we should in al points obey it, els we abuse the word to our own condemnation & make of his ministers as though they were iesters to serue mens fooish fantasies.

32 And lo, thou art vnto them, as a iesting song of one that hath a pleasant voice, & can sing wel: for they heare thy words, but they do them not.

33 And when this commeth to passe (for loe, it wil come) then shal they know, that a Prophet hath bene among them.

The pleasant, and false song.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

2 Against the shepheards that deuoure the flocke of Christ, and seeke their owne gaines. 7 The Lord saith that he wil visite his dispersed flocke, and gather them together. 23 He promiseth the true shepheard Christ, and with him peace.

AND the worde of the Lord came vnto mee, saying,

2 Sonne of man prophecie against the shepheards of Israel, prophecie and say vnto them, Thus sayth the Lorde God vnto the shepheards, * Wo be vnto the a shepheards of Israel, that feed themselues, should not the shepheards feede the flockes?

*Iere 23.1.

a By the shepheards he meaneth the king, the magistrates, Priests, and Prophets.

3 Yee eate the b fat, and yee cloth you with the wooll: ye kill them that are fed, but ye feede not the sheepe.

b Ye seeke to enrich your selues by their commodities, and so spoile their riches and substance.

4 The c weake haue ye not strengthened: the sicke haue ye not healed, neither haue yee bound vp the broken, nor brought againe that which was driuen away, neither haue yee sought that which was lost, but with crueltie, and with rigour haue ye ruled them.

c He describeth the office & dutie of a good pastor, who ought to loue and succour his flocke and not to be cruel toward them.

5 And they were scattered without a shepheard: and when they were dispersed they were d deuoured of all the beastes of the field.

d For lacke of good gouernment and doctrine they perished.

6 My sheepe wandred through all the mountaines, and vpon euery hie hil: yea, my flocke was scattered through all the earth, and none did seeke or search after them.

7 Therefore ye shepheardes, heare the worde of the Lord.

8 As I liue, saieth the Lorde God, surely because my flocke was spoiled, and my sheepe were deuoured of all the beasts of the field, hauing no shepeheard, neyther did my shepheards seeke my sheepe, but the shepheards fedde themselues, and fedde not my sheepe, 9 Therefore, heare ye the worde of the Lord, O ye shepheards.

10 Thus sayeth the Lord God, Behold, I come against the shepheards, and wil require my sheep at their hands, and cause them to cease from feeding the sheepe: neither shal the shepheards feed themselues any more: for I will deliuer my sheep from e their mouthes, and they shal no more deuoure them.

e By destroying the couetous hirelings and restoring true shepheards, whereof we haue a signe so oft as God sendeth true preachers who both by doctrine and life labour to feede his sheepe in the pleasant pastures of his worde.

11 For thus saieth the Lorde God, Behold, I wil search my sheepe, and seeke them out.

12 As a shepheard searcheth out his flocke, when he hath bin among his sheep that are scattered, so will I seeke out my sheepe and wil deliuer them out of all places where they haue bene scattered in f the cloudie and darke day.

f In the day of their affliction and miserie: and this promise is to comfort the Church in all dangers.

13 And I will bring them out from the people, and gather them from the countreies, and wil bring them to their owne land, and feed them vpon the mountaines of Israel, by the riuers, and in all the inhabited places of the countrey.

14 I wil feed them in a good pasture, & vpon the hie mountaines of Israel shall their fold be: there shal they lie in a good fold, & in fat pasture shal they feede vpon the mountaines of Israel.

15 I will feede my sheepe, and bring them to their rest, saith the Lord God.

16 I will seeke that which was lost, and bring againe that which was driuen away, and wil bind vp that which was broken, and will strengthen the weake, but I will destroy the fat and the g strong, and I wil feede them with h iudgement.

g Meaning, such as lift vp themselues aboue their brethren, & thinke they haue no need to be gouerned by me.

h That is, by putting difference betweene the good and the bad, and so giue to either, as they deserue.

17 Also you my sheepe, Thus saith the Lord God, behold, I iudge betweene sheep, and sheep, betweene the rammes and the goates.

18 Seemeth it a small thing vnto you to haue eaten vp the good i pasture, but ye must treade down with your feet the residue of your pasture? and i By and good pasture and deepe waters is meant the pure word of God and the administration of iustice, which they did not distribute to the poore till they had corrupted it, and to haue drunke of the deepe waters, but yee must trouble the residue with your feete?

19 And my sheepe eate that which yee haue troden with your feete, and drinke that which ye haue troubled with your feete.

20 Therefore thus saith the Lord God vnto them, Beholde, I, euen I will iudge betweene the fat sheepe and the leane sheepe.

21 Because ye haue thrust with side and with shoulder, and pusht all the weake with your hornes, till ye haue scattered them abroad, 22 Therefore will I helpe my sheepe, & they shall no more bee spoyled, and I will iudge betweene sheepe and sheepe.

23 And I will set vp a sheepheard ouer them, and he shall feed them, euen my seruant [k] Dauid, he shall feede them, and he shalbe their shepherd.

k Meaning, Christ, of whome Dauid was a figure, Iere. 30.9. hos. 3.5.

24 And I the Lord will be their God, and my seruant Dauid shalbe the prince among them, I the Lord haue spoken it.

25 And will make with them a couenant of peace, and will cause the euill beastes to cease out of the land: and they shall [l] dwell safely in the wildernesse, and sleepe in the woods.

l This declareth that vnder Christ the flocke should be truely deliuered from sinne, and hell, and so be safely preserued in the church where they should neuer perish.

26 And I will set them, as a blessing, euen round about my mountaine: and I will cause raine to come downe in due season, and there shal be raine of blessing.

27 And the [m] tree of the field shal yeelde her fruite, and the earth shall giue her fruite, and they shalbe safe in their land, and shall know that I am the Lord, when I haue broken the cordes of their yoke, and deliuered them out of the handes of those that serued themselues of them.

m The fruites of Gods graces shall appeare in great abundance in his Church.

28 And they shall no more be spoyled of the heathen, neither shall the beastes of the land deuoure them, but they shall dwell safely, and none shall make them afraid.

29 And I will raise vp for them a [n] plant of renoume, and they shall be no more consumed with hunger in the land, neither beare the reproche of the heathen any more.

n That is, the rod that shall come out of the roote of Ishai, Isa. 11. 1.

30 Thus shall they vnderstand that I the Lord their God am with them, and that they, euen the house of Israel, are my people, saith the Lord God.

31 And ye my sheepe, the sheep of my pasture are men, & I am your God, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXXV.

2 The destruction that shall come on mount Seir, because they troubled the people of the Lord.

MOreouer the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, Set thy face against mount [a] Seir, and prophecie against it, a Where the Idumeans dwelt.

3 And say vnto it, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, O mount Seir, I come against thee, and I will stretch out mine hand against thee, and I will make thee desolate and waste.

4 I will lay thy cities waste, and thou shalt be desolate, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

5 Because thou hast had a perpetuall hatred, and hast put the children of Israel to flight by the force of the sword in the time of their calamitie, when their [b] iniquitie had an end, b When by their punishment I call them from their iniquitie.

6 Therefore as I liue, saith the Lord God, I will prepare thee vnto blood, and blood shal pursue thee: except thou [c] hate blood, euen blood shall pursue thee.

c Except thou repent thy former cruelties.

7 Thus will I make mount Seir desolate and waste, and cut off from it him that passeth out & him that returneth.

8 And I wil fil his mountaines with his slaine men: in thine hilles, and in thy valleyes, and in all riuers shal they fal, that are slaine with the sword.

9 I will make thee perpetuall desolations, and thy cities shall not [d] returne, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord.

d To wit, to their former estate.

10 Because thou hast said, [e] These two nations, and these two countreyes shalbe mine, and wee will possesse them, (seeing the Lord was [f] there) e Meaning, Israel and Iudah.

f And so by fighting against Gods people, they should goe about to put him out of his own possession.

11 Therefore as I liue, saith the Lord God, I will euen do according to thy [g] wrath, and according to thine indignation which thou hast vsed in thine hatred against them: & I wil make my selfe knowen among [h] them when I haue iudged thee.

g As thou hast done cruelly, so shalt thou be cruelly handled.

h Shewing, that when God punisheth the enemies, the godly ought to consider that he hath a care ouer them, and so praise his Name: & also that the wicked rage as though there were no God, till they feele his hand to their destruction.

12 And thou shalt know, that I the Lord haue heard al thy blasphemies which thou hast spoken against the mountaines of Israel, saying, They lye waste, they are giuen vs to be deuoured.

13 Thus with your mouthes yee haue boasted against me, and haue multiplied your wordes against me: I haue heard them.

14 Thus saith the Lord God, So shall all the world reioyce when I shall make thee desolate.

15 As thou diddest reioyce at the inheritance of the house of Israel, because it was desolate, so will I doe vnto thee: thou shalt bee desolate, O mount Seir, and all Idumea wholly, and they shal know, that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXVI.

8 He promiseth to deliuer Israel from the Gentiles. 22 The benefites done vnto the Iewes, are to be ascribed to the mercie of God, and not vnto their deserumes. 26 God renueth our hearts that we may walke in his commandements.

ALso thou sonne of man, prophecie vnto the * mountaines of Israel, and say, Yee mountaines of Israel, heare the word of the Lord.

* Chap. 6. 2.

2 Thus saith the Lord God, because the [a] enemie hath said against you, Aha, euen the [b] hye places of the world are ours in possession, a That is, the Idumean.

b That is, Ierusalem, which for Gods promises was the chiefest of all the world.

3 Therefore prophecie, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, Because that they haue made you desolate, and swallowed you vp on euery side, that ye might be a possession vnto the residue of the heathen, and yee are come vnto the lippes and [c] tongues of men, and vnto the reproche of the people, c Ye are made a matter of talke and derision to all the world.

4 Therefore ye mountaines of Israel, heare the word of the Lord God, Thus saith the Lord God to the mountaines and to the hilles, to the riuers, and to the valleyes, and to the waste, and desolate places, and to the cities that are forsaken: which are spoiled and had in derision of the residue of the heathen that are round about.

5 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Surely in the fire of mine indignation haue I spoken against the residue of the heathen, and against all Idumea, which [d] haue taken my land for their possession, with the ioy of all their heart, & with despiteful mindes to cast it out for a pray.

d They appointed with themselues to haue it, and therefore came with Nebuchadnezzar against Ierusalem for this purpose.

6 Prophecie therefore vpon the land of Israel, and say vnto the mountaines, and to the hils, to the riuers, and to the valleyes, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I haue spoken in mine indignation, and in my wrath, because yee haue suffered the [e] shame of the heathen, e Because you haue bene a laughing stocke vnto them.

7 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I haue [f] lifted vp mine hand, surely the heathen that are about you shall beare their shame.

8 But you, O mountains of Israel, ye shall shoot forth your branches, & bring forth your fruite to my people of Israel: for they are readie to come.

9 For behold, I come vnto you, and I wil turne vnto you, and ye shalbe tilled and sowen.

10 And I will multiplie the men vpō you, euen al the house of Israel wholly, and the cities shalbe inhabited, & the desolate places shalbe builded.

11 And I wil multiplie vpon you man & beast, and they shall encrease, and bring fruite, and I wil cause you to dwell after your old estate, and I wil bestow benefits vpon you more then h at the first, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

12 Yea, I wil cause men to walke vpon i you, euen my people Israel, and they shal possesse ‖ you, and ye shall be their inheritance, and ye shall no more hencefoorth deprive them of men.

13 Thus saith the Lord God, Because they say vnto you, Thou k land deuourest vp men, and hast bene a waster of thy people,

14 Therefore thou shalt deuoure men no more, neither waste thy people henceforth, saith the Lord God, 15 Neither will I cause men to heare in thee the shame of the heathen any more, neither shalt thou beare the reproch of the people any more, neither shalt cause thy folke to fall any more, saith the Lord God.

16 ¶ Morcouer, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

17 Sonne of man, when the house of Israel dwelt in their owne land, they defiled it by their owne wayes, and by their deedes: their way was before me as the filthinesse of the menstruous.

18 Wherefore I powred my wrath vpon them, for the blood that they had shed in the land, and for their idoles, wherewith they had polluted it.

19 And I scattered them among the heathen, and they were dispersed through the countreyes: for according to their wayes, and according to their deedes, I iudged them.

20 * And when they entred vnto the heathen, whither they went, they polluted mine holy Name, when they said of them, These are the people of the Lord, and are gone out of his land.

21 But I fauoured mine holy [l] Name which the house of Israel had polluted among the heathen, whither they went.

22 Therefore say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, I doe not this for your sakes, O house of Israel, but for mine [m] holy Names sake, which ye polluted among the heathen whither ye went.

23 And I will sanctifie my great Name, which was polluted among the heathen, among whome you haue polluted it, and the heathen shal knowe that I am the Lord, saith the Lord God, when I shalbe sanctified in you before ‖ their eyes.

24 For I will take you from among the heathen, and gather you out of all countreies, and wil bring you into your owne land.

25 Then wil I powre cleane [n] water vpon you, and ye shalbe cleane: yea, from all your filthinesse, and from all your idoles wil I cleanse you.

26 * A newe heart also will I giue you, and a newe spirit will I put within you, and I will take away the stonie heart out of your bodie, and I will giue you an heart of flesh.

27 And I will put my spirite within you, and cause you to walke in my statutes, and yee shall keepe my iudgements, and doe them.

28 And ye shall dwell in the land, that I gaue to your fathers, and ye shall be my people, and I will be your God.

29 I will also deliuer you from all your filthinesse, and I will call for [o] corne, and will increase it, and lay no famine vpon you.

30 For I will multiplie the fruite of the trees, and the increase of the field, that ye shall beare no more the reproch of famine among the heathen.

31 Then shal ye remember your owne wicked wayes, & your deedes that were not good, & shal iudge your selues worthy to haue bene [p] destroyed for your iniquities, & for your abominations.

32 Be it knowen vnto you that I doe not this for your sakes, saith the Lord God: therefore, O ye house of Israel, be ashamed, and confounded for your owne wayes.

33 Thus saith the Lorde God, What time as I shall haue clensed you from all your iniquities, I will cause you to dwell in the cities, and the desolate places shalbe builded.

34 And the desolate land shalbe tilled, whereas it lay waste in the sight of all that passed by.

35 For they said, This waste land was like the garden of Eden, and these waste and desolate & ruinous cities were strong, and were inhabited.

36 Then the residue of the heathen that are left round about you, shal [q] know that I the Lord build the ruinous places, and plant the desolate places: I the Lord haue spoken it, and will doe it.

37 Thus saith the Lord God, I will yet for this be sought of [r] house of Israel, to performe it vnto them: I wil encrease them with men like a flocke.

38 As the holy flocke, as the flocke of Ierusalem in their solemne feastes, so shall the desolate cities be filled with flockes of men, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 He prophecieth the bringing againe of the people, being in captiuitie. 16 He sheweth the vnion of the ten tribes with the two.

THe hand of the Lorde was vpon me, and caryed me out in the Spirit of the Lord, and set me downe in the middes of the ‖ field, which was full of [a] bones.

2 And he led mee round about by them, and behold, there were very many in the open fielde, and loe, they were verie drie.

3 And he said vnto mee, Sonne of man, can these bones liue? And I answered, O Lord God, thou knowest.

4 Againe hee said vnto me, Prophecie vpon these bones, and say vnto them, O ye drie bones, heare the word of the Lord.

5 Thus saith the Lord God vnto these bones, Behold, I will cause breath to enter into you, and ye shall liue.

6 And I will lay sinewes vpon you, and make flesh grow vpon you, and couer you with skinne, and put breath in you, that yee may liue, and yee shall know that I am the Lord.

7 So I prophecied, as I was commaunded: and as I prophecied, there was a noyse, and behold, there was a shaking, and the bones came together, bone to his bone.

8 And when I beheld, lo, the sinewes, and the flesh grew vpon them, and aboue the skinne couered them, but there was no breath in them.

9 Then said he vnto me, Prophecie vnto the winde:

g God declareth his mercies and goodnesse toward his Church, who stil preserueth his, euen when he destroyeth his enemies.

h Which was so complished vnder Christ, to whom al these temporall deliuerances did direct them.

i That is, vpon the mountaines of Ierusalem.

‖ Or, thee.

k This the enemies imputed as the reproch of the land, which God did for the sinnes of the people according to his iust iudgements.

* Isa. 52.5. rom. 2.24.

l And therefore would not suffer my Name to be had in contempt, as the heathen would haue reproched me if I had suffered my Church to perish.

m This excludeth from man all dignitie, and meane to deserue any thing by, seeing that God referreth the whole to himselfe, and that onely for the glory of his holy Name.

‖ Or, your.

n That is, his Spirit whereby he reformeth the heart, and regenerateth his, Ita. 44.3.

* Ierem 32.39. ebap. 31.19.

o Vnder the abundance of temporall benefites he concludeth the spirituall graces.

p Ye shall come to true repentance, and thinke your selues vnworthy to be of the number of Gods creatures for your ingratitude against him.

q He declareth that it ought not to be referred to the soyle or plentifulnesse of the earth that any countrey is so rich, and abundant, but onely to Gods mercies, as his plagues and curses declare, when he maketh it barren.

a He sheweth by a great miracle, that God hath power, and also will deliuer his people from their captiuitie, in as much as he is able to giue life to the dead bones, and bodyes, and raise them vp againe.

winde: prophecie, sonne of man, and say to the winde, Thus saith the Lorde God, Come from the foure [b] windes, O breath, and breathe vpon these slaine, that they may liue.

10 So I prophecied as he had commanded me: and the breath came into them, and they liued, and stoode vp vpon their feete, an exceeding great armie.

11 Then he said vnto me, Sonne of man, these bones are the whole house of Israel. Beholde, they say, Our bones are dried, and our hope is gone, and we are cleane cut off.

12 Therefore prophecie, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lorde God, Beholde, my people, I will open your graues, and cause you to come vp out of your sepulchres, and bring you into the land of Israel,

13 And yee shall knowe that I am the Lorde, [c] when I haue opened your graues, O my people, and brought you vp out of your sepulchres,

14 And shal put my Spirit in you, and ye shall liue, and I shal place you in your owne land: then ye shal knowe that I the Lord haue spoken it, and performed it, saith the Lord.

15 ¶ The word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

16 Moreouer thou sonne of man, take thee a piece of wood, & write vpon it, Vnto Iudah, and to the children of Israel his companions: then take [d] another piece of wood, and write vpon it, Vnto Ioseph the tree of Ephraim, and to al the house of Israel his companions:

17 And thou shalt ioyne them one to another into one tree, & they shalbe as one in thine hand.

18 And when the children of thy people shall speake vnto thee, saying, Wilt thou not shewe vs what thou meanest by these?

19 Thou shalt answere them, Thus sayeth the Lorde God, Beholde, I wil take the tree [e] of Ioseph, which is in the hande of Ephraim, and the tribes of Israel his fellowes, and wil put them with him, euen with the tree of Iudah, and make them one tree, and they shall bee one in mine hand.

20 And the pieces of wood, whereon thou writest, shalbe in thine hand, in their sight.

21 And say vnto them, Thus sayeth the Lord God, Beholde, I wil take the children of Israel from among the heathen, whither they be gone, and wil gather them on euery side, & bring them into their owne land.

22 And I will make them one people in the land, vpon the mountaines of Israel, * and one king shalbe king to them all: and they shal be no more two peoples, neither bee diuided any more henceforth into two kingdomes.

23 Neither shal they bee polluted any more with their idols, nor with their abominations, nor with any of their transgressions: but I wil saue them out of all their dwelling places, wherein they haue sinned, & wil clense them: so shall they be my people, and I wil be their God.

24 And Dauid my * seruaunt shalbe King ouer them, and they all shal haue one shepheard: they shal also walke in my iudgements, and obserue my statutes, and do them.

25 And they shal dwel in the [f] land, that I haue giuen vnto Iaakob my seruant, where your fathers haue dwelt, and they shal dwel therein, euen they, and their sonnes, and their sonnes sonnes for euer, and my seruant Dauid shall be their prince for euer.

26 Moreouer, I wil make *a couenant of peace with them: it shall bee an euerlasting couenant with them, and I will place them, and multiply them, and will set my Sanctuary among them for euermore.

27 My tabernacle also shalbe with them: yea, I wil be their God, and they shalbe my people.

28 Thus the heathen shall know, that I the Lord do sanctifie Israel, when my Sanctuary shal be among them for euermore.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 Hee prophecieth that Gog and Magog shall fight with great power against the people of God. 21 Their destruction.

AND the word of the Lorde came vnto mee, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against [a] Gog, and against the land of Magog, the chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal, and prophecie against him,

3 And say, Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I come against thee, O Gog the chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal.

4 And I wil destroy thee, & put hookes in thy chawes, and I wil bring thee foorth, and all thine hoste both horses, & horsmen, all clothed with all sorts of armour, euen a great multitude with bucklers, and shields, all [b] handling swords.

5 They of [c] Paras, of Cush, & Phut with them, euen all they that beare shield and helmet.

6 [d] Gomer and all his bands, and the house of Togarmah of the North quarters, & al his bands, and much people with thee.

7 Prepare thy selfe, & [e] make thee ready, both thou, and al thy multitude, that are assembled vnto thee, and be thou their safegard.

8 After many dayes thou shalt be visited: for in the latter yeeres thou shalt come into the lande, that hath bene destroyed with the sworde, and is gathered out of many people vpon the mountaines of Israel, which haue long lien waste: yet ‖ they haue bene brought out of the people, and they shal dwel al safe.

9 Thou shalt ascend and come vp like a tempest, and shalt be like a cloude to couer the land, both thou, and all thy bandes, and many people with thee.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, Euen at the same time shall many things come into thy minde, and thou shalt thinke [f] euil thoughts.

11 And thou shalt say, I wil goe vp to the land that hath no walled towres: [g] I wil goe to them that are at rest, and dwel in safetie, which dwel all without walles, and haue neither barres nor gates,

12 Thinking to spoyle the praye, and to take a bootie, to turne thine hand vpon the desolate places that are now inhabited, and vpon the people, that are gathered out of the nations which haue gotten cattel and goods, and dwell in the middes of the land.

13 Sheba and Dedan, and the marchants of Tarshish with al the lyons thereof shall say vnto thee, [h] Art thou come to spoyle the praye? hast thou gathered thy multitude to take a bootie? to cary away siluer and gold, to take away cattel and goods, and to spoyle a great praye?

14 Therefore, sonne of man, prophecie, and say vnto Gog, Thus sayeth the Lorde God, In that day when my people of Israel [i] dwelleth safe, b Signifying, all parts whereas the Israelites were scattered: that is, the faithful shalbe brought to the same vnitie of spirit, and doctrine, wheresoeuer they are scattered through the world.

c That is, when I haue brought you out of those places, and townes where you are captiues.

*Psal.109.4. and 110.2.

a Which was a people that came of Magog § sonne of Iaphet, Gen.10.2. Magog also here signifieth a certaine countrey, so that by these two countreys, which had the gouernment of Grecia & Italy, he meaneth the principall enemies of § Church, Reue.20.8.

b He sheweth that the enemies should bend themselues against the Church, but it should be to their owne destruction.

c The Persians, Ethiopians, and men of Affrica.

d Gomer was Iapheths sonne, & Togarmah the sonne of Gomer and are thought to be they that inhabite Asia minor.

e Signifying, that all the people of the world should assemble themselues against the Church & Christ their head.

‖ Or, it meaning, the land of Israel.

f That is, to molest and destroy the Church.

g Meaning, Israel which had now bene destroyed, & was not yet built againe: declaring hereby the simplicitie of the godly, who seeke not so much to fortifie themselues by outward force, as to depend on the prouidence and goodnes of God.

h One enemy shal enuie another because euery one shal thinke to haue the spoyle of the Church.

i Shalt not thou spy thine occasions to come against my Church, when they suspect nothing?

shalt thou not know it?

15 And come from thy place out of the North partes, thou and much people with thee? all shall ride vpon horses, euen a great multitude and a mightie armie.

16 And thou shalt come vp against my people of Israel, as a cloude to couer the land: thou shalt be in the [k] latter daies, & I wil bring thee vpō my land, that [ȳ] heathen may know me, when I [l] shall be sanctified in thee, O Gog before their eyes.

17 Thus saith the Lord God, Art not thou he, of whome I haue spoken in olde time, [m] by the hand of my seruants the Prophets of Israel which prophecied in those dayes & yeeres, that I would bring thee vpon them?

18 At the same time also when Gog shal come against the land of Israel, saith the Lord God, my wrath shall arise in mine anger.

19 For in mine indignation and in the fire of my wrath haue I spokē it: surely at that time there shalbe a great shaking in the land of Israel,

20 So that the fishes of the sea, and the foules of the heauen, and the beastes of the fielde and all that moone and creepe vpon the earth, and all the men that are vpon the earth, shall tremble at my presence, & the mountaines shalbe ouerthrowen, and the [n] staires shall fall, and euery wall shall fall to the ground.

21 For I will call for a sworde against him [o] throughout all my mountaines, saith the Lorde God: euery mans sword shalbe against his brother.

22 And I will pleade against him with pestilence, and with blood, and I wil cause to raine vpon him and vpon his bandes, and vpon the great people, that are with him, a sore raine, and haile-stones, fire, and brimstone.

23 Thus will I bee * magnified, and sanctified, and knowen in the eyes of many nations, & they shall know, that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 He sheweth the destruction of Gog, and Magog. 11 The graues of Gog and his host. 17 They shalbe deuoured of birdes and beastes. 23 Wherefore the house of Israel is captiue. 24 Their bringing againe from captiuitie is promised.

THerefore, thou sonne of man, prophecie against Gog, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I come against thee, O Gog, the chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal.

2 And I wil destroy thee [a] and leaue but the sixt part of thee, and will cause thee to come vp from the North partes and will bring thee vpon the mountaines of Israel:

3 And I will smite thy bowe out of thy left hand, and I will cause thine arrowes to fall out of thy right hand.

4 Thou [b] shalt fall vpon the mountaines of Israel, and all thy bandes and the people, that is with thee: for I will giue thee vnto the birdes and to euery feathered foule and beast of the field to be deuoured.

5 Thou shalt fall vpon the open fielde: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

6 And I will send a fire on Magog, and among them that dwell safely in the [c] yles, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

7 So will I make mine holy Name knowen in the middes of my people Israel, and I wil not suffer them to pollute mine holy Name any more, and the heathen shall knowe that I am the Lorde, the holy One of Israel.

8 Beholde, [d] it is come, and it is done, saieth the Lorde God: this is the day whereof I haue spoken.

9 And they that dwel in the cities of Israel, shal [e] goe foorth, and shal burne and set fire vpon the weapons, and on the shieldes, and bucklers, vpon the bowes, and vpon the arrowes, and vpon the staues in their handes, and vpon the speares, and they shall burne them with fire seuen yeeres.

10 So that they shall bring no wood out of the fielde, neither cut downe any out of the forestes: for they shal burne the weapons with fire, and they shal robbe those that robbed them, and spoyle those that spoyled them, saieth the Lorde God.

11 And at the same time wil I giue vnto Gog [f] a place there for burial in Israel, euen the valley whereby men goe toward the East part of the sea: and it shal cause them that passe by, to stoppe their [g] noses, and there shal they bury Gog with all his multitude: and they shal cal it the valley of ‖ Hamon-Gog.

12 [h] And seuen moneths long shall the house of Israel be burying of them, that they may clense the land.

13 Yea, all the people of the lande shall burie them, and they shal haue a name when I shall bee glorified, saith the Lord God.

14 And they shall chuse out men to goe continually through the [i] land with them that trauel, to bury those that remaine vpon the ground, and clense it: they shall search to the ende of seuen moneths.

15 And the trauailers that passe through the land, if any see a mans bone, then shal hee set vp a signe by it, till the buriers haue buried it, in the valley of Hamon-Gog.

16 And also the name of the citie shalbe ‖ Hamonah: thus shal they clense the land.

17 And thou sonne of man, thus saieth the Lorde God, Speake vnto euery feathered foule, and to all the beastes of the field, Assemble your selues, and come: [k] gather your selues on euery side to my sacrifice: for I doe sacrifice a great sacrifice for you vpon the mountaines of Israel, that ye may eate flesh, and drinke blood.

18 Yee shall eate the flesh of the valiant, and drinke the blood of the princes of the earth, of the weathers, of the lambes, and of the goates, and of bullockes, euen of al fat beastes of Bashan.

19 And ye shal eate fatte til you bee full, and drinke blood, til ye bee drunken of my sacrifice, which I haue sacrificed for you.

20 Thus you shall be filled at my table with horses and chariots with valiant men, and with all men of warre, saith the Lord God.

21 And I wil set my glory among the heathen, and all the heathen shall see my iudgement, that I haue executed, and mine hande, which I haue layed vpon them.

22 So the house of Israel shal know, that I am the Lord their God from that day and so forth.

23 And the heathen shal know, that the house of Israel went into captiuitie for [l] their iniquitie, because they trespassed against me: therefore hid I my face from them, and gaue them into the hand of their enemies: so fel they al by the sword.

24 According to their vncleannes, and according to their transgressions haue I done vnto them, and hid my face from them.

25 There-

l Signifying, that God wil be sanctified by maintening his Church, and destroying his enemies, as Chap. 36.23 and 37.28.

m Hereby he declareth that none affliction can come to the Church, whereof they haue not bene aduertised aforetime, to teach them to indure all things with more patience when they know that God hath so ordeined.

n All meanes whereby man should thinke to saue himselfe shall faile, the affliction in those dayes shall be so great, and the enemies destruction shalbe so terrible.

o Against the people of Gog and Magog.

c That is among all nations where the enemies of my people dwel, seeme they neuer so farre separate.

d That is, this plague is fully determined in my counsel & cannot be changed.

e After this destruction of Church shall haue great peace and tranquilitie, and burne all their weapons because they shal no more feare the enemie: and this is chiefly ment of the accomplishment of Christs kingdome, when by their head Christ all enemies shalbe ouercome.

f Which declareth that the enemies shall haue an horrible fall.

g For the stinke of the carkeises.

‖ Or, of the multitude of Gog.

h Meaning, a long time.

i Partly that the holy land should not be polluted, and partly for the compasion that the children of God haue, euen on their enemies.

‖ Or, multitude.

k Whereby he signifieth the horrible destruction that should come vpon the enemies of his Church.

l The heathen shal know that they ouercame not my people by their strength, neither yet by the weakenes of mine armes, but that this was for my peoples sinnes.

25 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Nowe will I bring againe the captiuitie of Iaakob, and haue compassion vpon the whole house of Israel, and will be ielous for mine holy Name.

26 After that they haue borne their shame, and all their transgression, whereby they haue transgressed against me, when they dwelt safely in their land, and without feare of any.

27 When I haue brought them againe from the people, and gathered them out of their enemies landes, and am * sanctified in them in the sight of many nations,

28 Then shall they knowe, that I am the Lord their God, which caused them to be led into captiuitie among the heathen: but I haue gathered them vnto their owne land, and haue left none of them any more there, 29 Neither will I hide my face any more from them: for I haue powred out my Spirit vpon the house of Israel, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XL.

The restoring of the citie and the Temple.

a The Iewes counted the beginning of the yeere after two sortes: for their feastes they began to count in March, and for their other affaires in September: so that this is to be vnderstood of September.

IN the fiue and twentieth yeere of our being in captiuitie, in the a beginning of the yeere, in the tenth day of the moneth, in the fourteenth yeere after that the citie was smitten, in the selfe same day, the hand of the Lord was vpon mee, and brought me thither.

2 Into the land of Israel brought he mee by ‖ a diuine vision, and set mee vpon a verie hie mountaine, whereupon was as the building of a citie, toward the South.

‖ Or, visions of God.

3 And he brought me thither, & behold, there was a b man, whose similitude was to looke to, like brasse, with a linnen thread in his hand, & a reede to measure with: and he stood at the gate.

b Which was an Angel in forme of a man, that came to measure out this building.

4 And the man said vnto me, Sonne of man, beholde with thine eyes, and heare with thine eares, & set thine heart vpon all that I shal shew thee: for to the intent, that they might be shewed thee, art thou brought hither: declare all that thou seest, vnto the house of Israel.

5 And beholde, I saw a wall on the outside of the house round about: and in the mans hand was a reede to measure with, of sixe cubites long, by the cubite, and an hand breadth: so he measured the breadth of the building with one reede, and the height with one reede.

6 Then came he vnto the gate, which looketh toward the East, and went vp the staires thereof, and measured the ‖ poste of the gate, which was one reede broad, and ‖ the other poste of the gate, which was one reede broad.

‖ Or, threshold. ‖ Or, vpper poste.

7 And euery chamber was one reede long, and one reede broade, and betweene the chambers were fiue cubites: & the poste of the gate by the porch of the gate within was one reede.

8 Hee measured also the porch of the gate within with one reede.

9 Then measured he the porch of the gate of eight cubites, and the ‖ postes thereof, of two cubites, and the porch of the gate was inward.

‖ Or, pentises.

10 And the chambers of the gate Eastwarde, were three on this side, & three on that side: they three were of one measure, and the postes had one measure on this side, and one on that side.

11 And he measured the breadth of the entrie of the gate ten cubites, and the height of the gate thirteene cubites.

12 The space also before the chambers was one cubite on this side, and the space was one cubite on that side, and the chambers were sixe cubites on this side, and sixe cubites on that side.

13 He measured then the gate from the roofe of a chamber to the top of the gate: the breadth was fiue and twentie cubites, doore against doore.

14 He made also postes of threescore cubites, and the postes of the court, and of the gate had one measure round about.

15 And vpon the forefront of the entrie of the gate vnto the forefront of the porch of the gate within were fiftie cubites.

16 And there were narrowe windowes in the chambers, and in their postes within the gate round about, and likewise to the arches: and the windowes went round about within: and vpon the postes were palme trees.

17 ¶ Then brought he me into the outward court, and loe, there were chambers, and a pauement made for the court round about, and thirtie chambers were vpon the pauement.

18 And the pauement was by the side of the gates ouer against the length of the gates, and the pauement was beneath.

19 Then he measured the breadth from the forefront of the lower gate without, vnto the forefront of the court within, an hundreth cubits Eastward and Northward.

20 And the gate of the outward court, that looked toward the North, measured he after the length and breadth thereof.

21 And the chambers thereof were three on this side, and three on that side, and the postes thereof and the arches thereof were after the measure of the first gate: the length thereof was fiftie cubites, and the breadth fiue and twentie cubites.

22 And their windowes, and their arches with their palme trees, was after the measure of the gate that looketh toward the East, and the going vp vnto it had seuen steppes, and the arches thereof were before them.

23 And the gate of the inner court stood ouer against the gate toward the North, and towarde the East, and he measured from gate to gate an hundreth cubites.

24 After that, he brought me towarde the South, and loe, there was a gate towarde the South, and he measured the postes thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures.

25 And there were windowes in it, and in the arches thereof round about, like those windowes: the height was fiftie cubites, and the breadth fiue and twentie cubites.

26 And there were seuen steppes to goe vp to it, and the arches thereof were before them: and it had palme trees, one on this side, and another on that side vpon the poste thereof.

27 ¶ And there was a gate in the inner court toward the South, and hee measured from gate to gate toward the South an hundreth cubites.

28 And he brought me into the inner court by the South gate, and he measured the South gate according to these measures, 29 And the chambers thereof, and the postes thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures, and there were windowes in it, and in the arches thereof round about, it was fiftie cubites long, and fiue and twentie cubites broad.

30 And the arches round about were fiue and twentie cubites long, and fiue cubites broad.

31 And the arches thereof were towarde the vtter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof, and the going vp to it had eight steppes.

32 ¶ Againe he brought me into the inner court toward the East, and he measured the gate according to these measures.

33 And the chambers thereof, and the postes thereof, and the arches thereof were according to these measures, and there were windowes therein, and in the arches thereof round about it was fiftie cubites long, and fiue and twentie cubites broad.

34 And the arches thereof were towarde the vtter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof, on this side and on that side, and the going vp to it had eight steppes.

35 ¶ After hee brought me to the North gate, and measured it, according to these measures, 36 The chambers thereof, the postes thereof, and the arches thereof, and there were windowes therein round about: the height was fiftie cubites, and the breadth fiue and twentie cubites.

37 And the postes thereof were towarde the vtter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof on this side, and on that side, and the going vp to it had eight steppes.

38 And euery chamber, and the entrie thereof was vnder the postes of the gates: there they washed the burnt offering.

39 And in the porch of the gate stood two tables on this side, and two tables on that side, vpon the which they slewe the burnt offering, and the sinne offering, and the trespasse offering.

40 And at the side beyond the steppes, at the entrie of the North gate stood two tables, and on the other side, which was at the porch of the gate were two tables.

41 Foure tables were on this side, and foure tables on that side by the side of the gate, euen eight tables whereupon they slewe their sacrifice.

42 And the foure tables were of hewen stone for the burnt offering, of a cubite and an halfe long, and a cubite and an halfe broade, and one cubite hie: whereupon also they layd the instruments wherewith they slewe the burnt offering and the sacrifice.

43 And within were borders an hand broade, fastened round about, and vpon the tables lay the flesh of the offring.

44 And without the inner gate were the chambers of the singers in the inner court, which was at the side of the North gate: and their prospect was toward the South, and one was at the side of the East gate, hauing the prospect toward the North.

THE VISION OF THE TEMPLE.

45 And he ſaide vnto me, This chamber whoſe proſpect is towarde the South, u for the Prieſtes that haue charge to keepe the houſe, 46 And the chamber whoſe proſpect is toward the North, u for the Prieſtes that haue the charge to keepe the altar: theſe are the ſonnes of Zadok among the ſonnes of Leui which may come neere to the Lord to miniſter vnto him.

48 And hee brought mee to the porch of the houſe, and meaſured the poſtes of the porch, fiue cubites on this ſide, and fiue cubites of that ſide: and the breadth of the gate was three cubites on this ſide, and three cubites on that ſide.

1 The diſpoſition and ordre of the building of the Temple and the other things thereto belonging.

AFterwarde, hee brought mee to the Temple, and meaſured the poſtes, ſixe cubites broade on the one ſide, and ſixe cubites broad on the other ſide, which was the breadth of the Tabernacle.

2 And the breadth of the entrie was tenne cubites, and the ſides of the entrie were fiue cubites on the one ſide, and fiue cubits on the other ſide, and hee meaſured the length thereof fourtie cubites, and the breadth twentie cubites.

3 Then went he in, and meaſured the poſtes of the entrie two cubites, and the entrie ſixe cubites, and the breadth of the entrie ſeuen cubites.

4 So hee meaſured the length thereof twentie cubites, and the breadth twentie cubites before the Temple. And he ſaid vnto me, This is the moſt holy place.

5 After, hee meaſured the wall of the houſe, ſixe cubites, and the breadth of euery chamber foure cubites round about the houſe, on euery ſide.

6 And the chambers were chamber vpō chamber, three and thirtie foote high, and they entred into the wall made for the chambers which was rounde about the houſe, that the poſtes might bee faſtened therein, and not be faſtened in the wall of the houſe.

7 And it was large and went rounde mounting vpward to the chambers: for the ſtaire of the houſe was mounting vpwarde, round about the houſe: therefore the houſe was larger vpward: ſo they went vp from the loweſt chamber to the hieſt by the middes.

8 I sawe also the house hie rounde about: the foundations of the chambers were a full reede of sixe great cubites.

9 The thickenesse of the wall which was for the chamber without, was fiue cubites, and that which remained, was the place of the chambers that were within.

10 And betweene the chambers was the widenes of twentie cubites round about the House on euery side.

11 And the doores of the chambers were toward the place that remained, one doore towarde the North, and another doore toward the South, and the breadth of the place that remained, was fiue cubites round about.

12 Nowe the buildiug that was before the separate place towarde the West corner, was seuentie cubites broad, and the wall of the building was fiue cubites thicke, round about, and the length ninetie cubites.

13 So he measured the house an hundreth cubites long, and the separate place and the building with the walles thereof were an hundreth cubites long.

14 Also the breadth of the forefront of the house and of the separate place towarde the East, was an hundreth cubites.

15 And hee measured the length of the building ouer against the separate place, which was behinde it, and the chambers on the one side and on the other side an hundreth cubites with the Temple within, and the arches of the court.

16 The postes and the narrow windowes, and the chambers round about, on three sides ouer against the postes, sieled with cedar wood round about, and from the ground vp to the windowes, and the windowes were sieled.

17 And from aboue the doore vnto the inner house and without, and by all the wall rounde about within and without it was sieled according to the measure.

18 And it was made with Cherubims & palme trees, so that a palme tree was betweene a Cherub and a Cherub: and euery Cherub had two faces.

19 So that the face of a man was toward the palme tree on the one side, and the face of a lyon toward the palme tree on the other side: thus was it made through all the house round about.

20 From the ground vnto aboue the doore were Cherubims and palme trees made as in the wall of the Temple.

21 The posts of the Temple were squared, and thus to looke vnto was the similitude and forme of the Sanctuarie.

22 The altar of wood was three cubites hie, and the length thereof two cubites, and the corners thereof and the length thereof and the sides thereof were of wood. And he said vnto me, This is the table that shalbe before the Lord.

23 And the Temple and the Sanctuarie had two doores.

24 And the doores had two wickets, euen two turning wickets, two wickets for one doore, and two wickets for another doore.

25 And vpon the doores of the Temple there were made Cherubims and palme trees, like as was made vpon the walles, and there were thicke planks vpon the forefront of the porch without.

26 And there were narrow windowes & palme trees on the one side, and on the other side, by the sides of the porch, and vpon the sides of the house, and thicke plankes.

CHAP. XLII.

Of the chambers of the Temple for the Priester, and the holy things.

THen brought he mee into the inner court by the way towarde the North, and hee brought me into the chamber that was ouer against the separate place, and which was before the building toward the North,

2 Before the length of an hundreth cubits, was the North doore, and it was fiftie cubites broad.

3 Ouer against the twentie cubites which were for the inner court, and ouer against the pauement, which was for the vtter court, was chamber against chamber in three rowes.

4 And before the chambers was a gallery of ten cubites wide, and within was a way of one cubite, and their doores toward the North.

5 Nowe the chambers aboue were narrower: for those chambers seemed to eate vp these, to wit the lower, and those that were in the middes of the building.

6 For they were in three rowes, but had not pillars as the pillars of the court: therefore there was a difference from them beneath and from the middlemost, euen from the ground.

7 And the wall that was without ouer against the chambers, toward the vtter court on the forefront of the chambers, was fiftie cubites long.

8 For the length of the chambers that were in the vtter court, was fiftie cubites: and loe, before the Temple were an hundreth cubites.

9 And vnder these chambers was the entrie, on the Eastside, as one goeth into them from the outward court.

10 The chambers were in the thickenes of the wall of the court toward the East, ouer against the separate place, and ouer against the building.

11 And the way before them was after the maner of the chambers, which were towarde the North, as long as they, and as broad as they: and all their entries were like, both according to their facions, and according to their doores.

12 And according to the doores of the chambers that were towarde the South, was a doore in the corner of the way, euen the way directly before the wall toward the East, as one entreth.

13 Then said he vnto me, The North chambers and the South chambers which are before the separate place, they be holy chambers, wherein the Priestes that approch vnto the Lord, shall eat the most holy things: there shall they lay the most holy things, and the meate offering, and the sinne offering, and the trespasse offering: for the place is holy.

14 When the Priestes enter therein, they shall not go out of the holy place into the vtter court, but there they shall lay their garments wherein they minister: for they are holy, and shall put on other garments, and so shall approche to those things, which are for the people.

15 Nowe when hee had made an ende of measuring the inner house, hee brought me forth toward the gate whose prospect is towarde the East, and measured it round about.

16 He measured the East side with the measuring rod, fiue hundreth reedes, euen with the measuring round about.

17 He measured also the Northside, fiue hundreth

CHAP. XLIII.

2 He seeth the glorie of God going into the Temple from whence it had before departed. 7 He mentioneth the idolatrie of the children of Israel, for the which they were consumed and brought to noughts. 9 He is commanded to call them againe to repentance.

AFterward he brought me to the gate euen the gate that turneth toward the East.

2 And beholde, the glory of the God of Israel came from out of the East, whose voyce was like a noise of great waters, and the earth was made light with his glory.

*Chap.9.3.

3 And the vision which I saw was * like the vision, euen as the vision that I saw a when I came to destroy the citie: and the visions were like the vision that I saw by the riuer Chebar: and I fell vpon my face.

4 And the b glory of the Lord came into the house by the way of the gate, whose prospect is toward the East.

5 So the Spirit tooke me vp and brought mee into the inner court, and beholde, the glory of the Lord filled the house.

6 And I heard one speaking vnto mee out of the house: and there stood a man by me,

7 Which sayd vnto mee, Sonne of man, this place is my throne, & the place of the soles of my feet, whereas I will dwell among the children of Israel for euer, & the house of Israel shal no more c defile mine holy Name, neither they, nor their Kings by their fornication, nor by the carkeises of d their Kings in their high places.

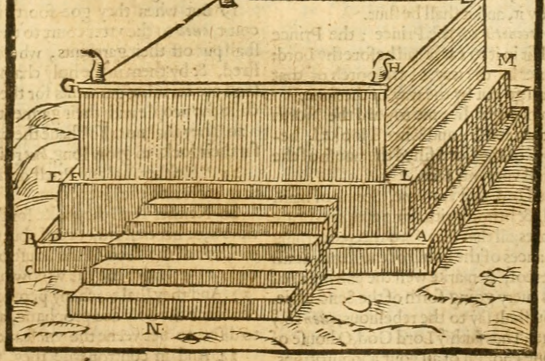
c By their idolatties.

d He alludeth to Ammon and Manasseh, who were buried in their gardens nere the Temple, & there had erected vp monuments to their idoles.

8 Albeit they set their thresholds by my thresholdes, and their postes by my postes (for there was but a wall betweene me and them) yet haue they defiled mine holy Name with their abominations, that they haue committed: wherefore I consumed them in my wrath.

9 Now therefore let them put away their fornication, and the carkeises of their Kings farre from me, and I will dwell among them for euer.



10 ¶ Thou sonne of man, shew this House to the house of Israel, that they may be ashamed of their wickednes, & let them measure the paterne.

11 And if they be ashamed of al that they haue done, shew them the forme of the House, and the paterne thereof, & the going out thereof, and the comming in thereof, & the whole fashion thereof, & all the ordinances thereof, and all the figures thereof, and all the lawes thereof: and write it in their sight, that they may keepe the whole fashion thereof, & all the ordinances thereof, & do them.

26 Thus shall they seuen dayes purifie the altar, and cleanse it, and † consecrate it.

† Ebr. fill his hand.

27 And when these dayes are expired, vpon the eight day and so forth, the Priests shal make your burnt offrings vpon the altar, and your peace offrings, and I will accept you, sayth the Lord God.

CHAP. XLIIII.

He reproueth the people for their offence. 7 The vncircumcised in heart, and in the flesh. 9 Who are to be admitted to the seruice of the Temple, and who to be refused.

Verse 1. The East gate D in the great figure.

THen he brought mee toward the gate of the outward Sanctuarie, which turneth toward the East, and it was shut.

2 Then sayd the Lord vnto me, This gate shall be a shut, and shall not be opened, and no man shall enter by it, because the Lord God of Israel hath entred by it, and it shall be shut.

a Meanidg, from the common people, but not from the Priests, nor the prince, reade Chap. 46.8,9.

3 It appertaineth to the Prince: the Prince himselfe shal sit in it to eat bread before the Lord: hee shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate, and shall go out by the way of the same.

4 ¶ Then brought hee me toward the North gate before the House: and when I looked, behold the glory of the Lord filled the house of the Lord, and I fell vpon my face.

5 And the Lord said vnto me, Sonne of man, † marke well, & behold with thine eyes, and heare with thine eares, all that I say vnto thee, cõcerning all the ordinances of the house of the Lord, & all the lawes thereof, & marke well the entring in of the house with euery going forth of the Sanctuarie.

† Ebr. set thine heart.

6 And thou shalt say to the rebellious, euen to the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, O house of Israel, ye haue enough of all your abominations,

7 Seeing that ye haue brought into my Sanctuarie [b] strangers, vncircumcised in heart, and vncircumcised in flesh, to be in my Sanctuarie, to pollute mine house, when ye offer my bread, euen fat, and blood: and they haue broken my couenant, because of all your abominations.

b For they had brought idolaters which were of other countries, to teach them their idolatrie, Chap. 23.40.

8 For yee haue not kept the [c] ordinances of mine holy things: but you your selues haue set other to take the charge of my Sanctuarie.

c Ye haue not offered vnto me according to my Law.

9 Thus sayth the Lord God, No stranger vncircumcised in heart, nor vncircumcised in flesh, shall enter into my Sanctuarie, of any stranger that is among the children of Israel,

10 Neither yet the [d] Leuites that are gone backe from me, when Israel went astray, which went astray from me after their idoles, but they shall beare their iniquitie.

d The Leuites which had committed idolatrie, were put from their dignitie and could not be receiued into the Priests office, although they had bene of the house of Aaron, but must serue in the inferiour offices, as to watch and to keepe the doores, reade 2. Kin. 23.9.

11 And they shall serue in my Sanctuarie, and keepe the gates of the House, and minister in the House: they shall slay the burnt offering and the sacrifice for the people: and they shall stand before them to serue them.

12 Because they serued before their idoles, and caused the house of Israel to fal into iniquity, therefore haue I lift vp mine hand against them, sayth the Lord God, and they shall beare their iniquity, 13 And they shall not come neere vnto me to do the office of the Priest vnto me, neither shall they come neere vnto any of mine holy things in the most holy place, but they shall beare their shame and their abominations, which they haue committed.

14 And I will make them keepers of the watch of the House, for all the seruice thereof, and for all that shalbe done therein.

15 But the Priests of the Leuites, the sonnes of Zadok, that [e] kept the charge of my Sanctuarie, when the children of Israel went astray from me, they shall come neere to me to serue me, and they shall stand before me to offer me the fat and the blood, saith the Lord God.

e Which obserued the Law of God and fell not to idolatrie.

16 They shall enter into my Sanctuarie, and shall come neere to my table, to serue me, and they shall keepe my charge.

17 And when they shall enter in at the gates of the inner court, they shall be clothed with linnen garments, and no wooll shall come vpon them while they serue in the gates of the inner court, and within.

18 They shall haue linnen bonets vpon their heads, & shal haue linen breches vpõ their loines: they shal not gird themselues in the sweating places.

19 But when they goe foorth into the vtter court, euen to the vtter court to the people, they shall put off their garments, wherein they ministred, & by them in the holy chambers, and they shall put on other garments for they shal not sanctifie the people with their garments.

20 They shal not also [f] shaue their heads, nor suffer their locks to grow long, but roũd their heads.

f As did the infidels and heathen.

21 * Neither shal any Priest drinke wine when they enter into the inner court.

* Leuit. 10.9.

22 Neither shall they take for their * wiues a widow, or her that is diuorced: but they shall take maidens of the seed of the house of Israel, or a widow that hath bene the widow of a Priest.

* Leuit. 21.13,14.

23 And they shal teach my people the difference betweene the holy and prophane, and cause them to discerne betweene the vncleane & the cleane.

24 And in controuersie they shall stand to iudge, and they shall iudge it according to my iudgements: and they shall keepe my lawes and my statutes in all mine assemblies, and they shall sanctifie my Sabbaths.

25 * And they shal come at no dead person to defile themselues, except at their father or mother, or sonne, or daughter, brother or sister, that hath had yet none husband: in these may they [g] be defiled.

* Leuit. 21.1,2,11.

g They may be at their buriall, which was a defiling.

26 And when he is cleansed, they shall reckon vnto him seuen dayes.

27 And when he goeth into the Sanctuary, vnto the inner court to minister in the Sanctuary, he shall offer his sinne offering, sayth the Lord God.

28 * And

CHAP. XLV.

1 Out of the land of promise are there separate foure portions, of which the first is giuen to the Priest, & to the Temple, the second to the Leuites, the third to the citie, the fourth to the prince. 9 An exhortation vnto the heads of Israel. 10 Of iust weights and measures. 13 Of the first fruits, &c.

MOreouer when ye shall diuide the lande for inheritance, ye shall offer an oblation vnto the Lord an [a] holy portion of the land, fiue and twentie thousand reedes long, and ten thousande broad: this shalbe holy in all the borders thereof round about.

a Of all the land of Israel the Lord onely requireth this portion for the Temple and for the Priestes, for the citie and for the prince.

2 Of this there shalbe for the Sanctuarie fiue hundreth in length, with fiue hundreth in breadth, all square round about, and fifte cubites round about for the suburbes thereof.

3 And of this measure shalt thou measure the length of fiue and twentie thousande, and the breadth of tenne thousande: and in it shall be the Sanctuarie, and the most holy place.

4 The holy portion of the land shall bee the Priestes, which minister in the Sanctuarie, which came neere to serue the Lord: and it shall bee a place for their houses, and an holy place for the Sanctuarie.

5 And in the fiue and twentie thousand of length, and the ten thousand of breadth shall the Leuites that minister in the house, haue their possession for twentie chambers.

6 Also yee shall appoynt the possession of the citie, fiue thousand broade, and fiue and twentie thousand long ouer against ỹ oblation of the holy portion: it shalbe for the whole house of Israel.

7 And a portion shalbe for the prince on ỹ one side, and on that side of the oblation of the holy portion, and of the possession of the citie, euen before the oblation of the holy portion, and before the possession of the citie from the West corner Westward, and from the East corner Eastwarde, and the length shalbe by one of the portions from the West border vnto the East border.

8 In this land shall be his possession in Israel: and my princes shall no more oppresse my people, and the rest of the land shall they giue to the house of Israel, according to their tribes.

b The Prophet sheweth that the heads must be first reformed afore any good order can be established among the people.

9 Thus sayth the Lorde God, Let it [b] suffice you, O princes of Israel: leaue off crueltie and oppression, and execute iudgement and iustice: take away your exactions from my people, sayth the Lord God.

c Ephah & Bath were both of one quantitie, saue that Ephah conteined in dry things, that which Bath did in licour, Leuit.5,11. 2 kings 5.11.

10 Ye shall haue iust balances, and a true [c] Ephah, and a true Bath.

11 The Ephah and the Bath shalbe equall: a Bath shall conteine the tenth part of an Homer, and an Ephah the tenth part of an Homer: the equalitie thereof shalbe after the Homer.

*Exod.30.13. leuit.27.25. numb.3.47.

12 * And the shekel shall be twentie gerahs, and twentie shekels, and [d] fiue and twentie shekels and fifteene shekels shalbe your Maneh.

d That is, three score shekels make a weight called Minai for he ioyneth these three parts to a Mina.

13 ¶ This is the oblation that ye shal offer, the sixt part of an Ephah of an Homer of wheate, and ye shall giue the sixt part of an Ephah of an Homer of barley.

14 Concerning the ordinance of the oile, euen of the Bath of oyle, ye shall offer the tenth part of a Bath out of the Cor (ten Baths are an Homer: for ten Baths fill an Homer)

15 And one lambe of two hundreth sheepe out of the fat pastures of Israel for a meat offring, and for a burnt offring and for peace offrings, to make reconciliation for them, sayeth the Lorde God.

16 All the people of the land shall giue this oblation for the prince in Israel.

17 And it shalbe the princes part to giue burnt offrings, and meate offrings, and drinke offrings in the solemne feastes & in the newe moones, and in the Sabbaths, and in all the hie feastes of the house of Israel: he shall prepare the sinne offring, and the meate offring, and the burnt offring, and the peace offrings to make reconciliation for the house of Israel.

18 ¶ Thus sayeth the Lorde God, In the first moneth, in the first day of the moneth, thou shalt take a yong bullocke without blemish and clense the Sanctuarie.

e Which was Nisan, conteining part of March and part of Aprill.

19 And the Priest shall take of the blood of the sinne offring, and put it vpon the posts of the house, and vpon the foure ‖ corners of the frame of the altar, and vpon the posts of the gate of the inner court.

‖ Or, court.

20 And so shalt thou doe the seuenth day of the moneth, for euery one that hath erred and for him that is deceiued: so shall you reconcile the house.

21 * In the first moneth in the fourteenth day of the moneth, ye shall haue the Passeouer, a feast of seuen daies, and ye shal eat vnleauened bread.

*Exod.12.18. leuit.23.5.

22 And vpon that day, shall the prince prepare for himselfe, and for all the people of the land, a bullocke for a sinne offring.

23 And in the seuen dayes of the feast he shall make a burnt offring to the Lorde, euen of seuen bullockes, and seuen rammes without blemish dayly for seuen dayes, and an hee goate dayly for a sinne offring.

24 And he shall prepare a meate offring of an Ephah for a bullocke, an Ephah for a ramme, and an [f] Hin of oyle for an Ephah.

f Reade Exod. 29.40.

25 In the seuenth moneth, in the fifteenth day of the moneth, shall he do the like in the feast for seuen dayes, according to the sinne offering, according to the burnt offring, and according to the meate offring, and according to the oyle.

CHAP. XLVI.

1 The sacrifice of the Sabbath and of the newe moones. 8 Thorowe which doores they must go in, or come out of the Temple, &c.

THus saieth the Lord God, The gate of the inner court that turneth toward the East, shall bee shut the sixe working dayes: but on the Sabbath it shalbe opened, and in the day of the newe moone it shall be opened.

shall worship at the threshold of the gate: after he shall goe foorth, but the gate shall not be shut till the euening.

3 Likewise the people of the land shall worshippe at the entrie of this gate before the Lorde on the Sabbaths, and in the new moones.

4 And the burnt offring that the prince shall offer vnto the Lord on the Sabbath day, shall bee sixe lambes without blemish, and a ram without blemish.

5 And the meate offring shalbe an Ephah for a ram: and the meate offring for the lambes [a] a gift of his hand, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

a That is, as much as he will.

6 And in the day of the newe moone it shall be a yong bullocke without blemish, and sixe lambes and a ram: they shalbe without blemish.

7 And he shall prepare a meat offring, euen an Ephah for a bullocke, and an Ephah for a ramme, and for the lambes [b] according as his hand shall bring, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

b Meaning, as he shall thinke good.

8 And when the prince shall enter, hee shall goe in by the way of the porch of that gate, and he shall goe forth by the way thereof.

Vers. 9. He that entreth in by the North gate R. shall goe out by the South gate D. and contrary, and in going forward they worshipped in the middes M.

9 But when the people of the land shall come before the Lord in the solemne feasts, he that entreth in by the way of the North gate to worship, shall go out by the way of the South gate: and he that entreth by the way of the South gate, shal go foorth by the way of the North gate: he shall not returne by the way of the gate whereby he came in, but they shall goe forth ouer against it.

10 And the prince shall bee in the middes of them: he shall goe in when they go in, and when they goe forth, they shall goe forth together.

11 And in the feastes, and in the solemnities the meate offring shall bee an Ephah to a bullocke, and an Ephah to a ramme, and to the lambes, the gift of his hand, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

12 Nowe when the prince shall make a free burnt offering or peace offerings freely vnto the Lord, one shall then open him the gate, that turneth toward the East, and he shall make his burnt offering and his peace offerings, as he did on the Sabbath day: after, he shall goe foorth, and when he is gone forth, one shall shut the gate.

13 Thou shalt daily make a burnt offring vnto the Lord of a lambe of one yeere without blemish: thou shalt doe it euery morning.

14 And thou shalt prepare a meate offering for it euery morning, the sixt part of an Ephah, & the third part of an Hin of oyle, to mingle with the fine floure: thu meate offering shalbe continually by a perpetuall ordinance vnto the Lord.

15 Thus shall they prepare the lambe, and the meate offering and the oyle euery morning for a continuall burnt offering.

16 ¶ Thus sayth the Lord God, If the prince giue a gift of his inheritance vnto any of his sonnes, it shall be his sonnes, and it shall be their possession by inheritance.

17 But if hee giue a gift of his inheritance to one of his seruants, then it shall bee his to the [c] yeere of libertie: after it shal returne to ỹ prince, but his inheritance shal remaine to his sonnes for them.

c Which was at the Iubile, Leuit. 25.9.

18 Moreouer the prince shal not [d] take of the peoples inheritance, nor thrust them out of their possession: but he shall cause his sonnes to inherit of his owne possession, that my people bee not scattered euery man from his possession.

d But be content with that portion that God hath assigned him, as Chap. 45.8.

19 ¶ After, hee brought mee through the entrie, which was at the side of the gate, into the holy chambers of the Priestes, which stoode toward the North: and beholde, there was a place at the West side of them.

20 Then sayd hee vnto mee, This is the place where the Priests shall seethe the trepasse offring and the sinne offering, where they shall bake the meate offering, that they should not beare them into the vtter court, [e] to sanctifie the people.

21 Then he brought me foorth into the vtter court, and caused me to goe by the foure corners of the court: and beholde, in euery corner of the court there was a court.

22 In the foure corners of the court there were courts ioyned of fourty cubits long, & thirty broade: these foure corners were of one measure.

23 And there went a wall about them, euen about those foure, and kitchins were made vnder the walles round about.

24 Then sayd hee vnto me, This is the kitchin where the ministers of the house shall seethe the sacrifice of the people.

Vers. 19. He describeth the Priests chambers, which were at the side of the Temple toward the North: and so commeth to the place, which was on the West side. S. which verse 21. is called the vter court in respect of the inner court as also where the people were, was the vtter court in respect of this inner.

e That the people should not haue to do with those things which apperteine to the Lord, and thinke it lawfull for them to eate them Vers. 21. The litle court in euery corner, was fourty cubites long 7, 8. and litle courts, which thirtie broad 8 & 7, 9. Verse 23. About the walles of these were as kitchins, were litle chambers for the cookes 10.

CHAP. XLVII.

1 The vision of the waters that came out of the Temple. 13 The coasts of the land of promise, and the diuision thereof by tribes.

Vers 1. The doore of the Temple R. and from vnder the threshold issued out waters, which came out of the South side, and ranne toward the East. Looke in the great figure 11.

AFterward he brought me vnto the doore of the house: and beholde, [a] waters issued out from vnder the threshold of the house Eastward: for the forefront of the house stoode towarde the East, and the waters ranne downe from vnder the right side of the house, at the southside of the altar.

a Whereby are meant the spiritual graces that should be giuen to the Church vnder the kingdom of Christ.

2 Then brought hee me out toward the north gate, and led me about by the way without vnto the vtter gate, by the way that turneth Eastward: and beholde, there came foorth waters on the right side.

3 And when the man that had the line in his hand, went foorth Eastward, he measured a thousand cubites, and he brought me through the waters: the waters were to the ancles.

4 Again e hee measured a thousande, and brought me through the waters: the waters were to the knees: againe he measured a thousand, and brought me through: the waters were to ỹ loynes.

b Signifying that the graces of God should neuer decrease but euer abound in his Church.

5 Afterward hee measured a thousand, and it was a [b] riuer, that I could not passe ouer: for the waters were risen, and the waters did flowe, as a riuer that could not be passed ouer.

c Meaning, the multitude of them that should be refreshed by the spirituall waters.

6 And he saide vnto mee, Sonne of man, hast thou seene this? then hee brought me, and caused me to returne to the brinke of the riuer.

d Shewing that the abundance of these graces should be so great, that all the world should be full thereof, which is here meant by the Persian Sea, or Genezareth, and the Sea called Mediterraneum, Zech 14 8.

7 Now when I returned, behold, at the brinke of the riuer were very many [c] trees on the one side, and on the other.

8 Then sayde he vnto mee, These waters issue out toward the East countrey, and runne downe into the plaine, and shall goe into one [d] sea: they shall runne into another sea, and the [e] waters shalbe wholesome.

e The waters which of nature are salt and vnholsome, shalbe made sweete and comfortable.

9 And euery thing that liueth, which mooueth, whersoeuer the riuers shall come, shal liue, and there shall bea very great multitude of fish, because these waters shall come thither: for they shall bee wholesome, and euery thing shall liue whither the riuer commeth.

10 And

10 And then the [f] fishers shall stand vpon it, and from En-gedi euen vnto [g] En-eglaim, they shall spread out their nets: for their fish shalbe according to their kindes, as the fish of [h] the maine sea, exceeding many.

11 But [i] the mirie places thereof, and the marshes thereof shall not be wholesome: they shalbe made salt pits.

12 And by this riuer vpon the brinke thereof, on this side, and on that side shall grow all ‖ fruitfull trees, whose leafe shall not fade, neither shall the fruit thereof faile: it shall bring foorth new fruit according to his moneths, because their waters run out of the Sanctuary: and the fruit thereof shall be meat, and the leafe thereof shall be for ‖ medicine.

13 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, This shalbe the border, whereby ye shall inherit the land according to the twelue tribes * of Israel: Ioseph shall haue two portions.

14 And ye shall inherit it, one aswell as another: * concerning the which I lift vp mine hand to giue it vnto your fathers, and this land shall fall vnto you for inheritance.

15 And this shall be the border [k] of the land toward the North side, from the maine sea toward Hethlon, as men go to Zedadah:

16 Hamath, Berothah, Sibraim, which is betweene the border of Damascus, and the border of Hamath, and Hazar, Hatticon, which is by the coast of Hauran.

17 And the border from the sea shalbe Hazar, Enan, and the border of Damascus, and the residue of the North, Northward, and the border of Hamath: so shall be the North part.

18 But the East side shall ye measure from Hauran, and from Damascus, and from Gilead, and from the Land of Israel by Iorden, and from the border vnto the East sea: and so shall be the East part.

19 And the South side shall be toward Teman from Tamar to the waters of ‖ Meriboth in Kadesh, and the riuer to the maine sea: so shall be the South part toward Teman.

20 The West part also shalbe the great sea from the border, till a man come ouer against Hamath: this shalbe the West part.

21 So shall ye diuide this land vnto you, according to the tribes of Israel.

22 And you shall diuide it by lot for an inheritance vnto you, and to the strangers that dwell among you, which shall beget children among you, and they shall be vnto you, as borne in the country among the children of Israel, [l] they shal part inheritance with you in the mids of the tribes of Israel.

23 And in what tribe the stranger dwelleth, there shall ye giue him his inheritance, sayth the Lord God.

CHAP. XLVIII.

The lots of the tribes. 9 The parts of the possession of the Priests of the Temple, of the Leuites, of the citie and of the Prince are rehearsed.

NOw these are the names of the [a] tribes, From the North side to the coast toward Hethlon, as one goeth to Hamath, Hazar, Enan, and the border of Damascus: Northward the coast of Hamath, euen from the East side to the West shall be a portion for Dan.

2 And by the border of Dan from the East side vnto the West side, a portion for Asher.

3 And by the border of Asher from the East part euen vnto the West part a portion for Naphtali.

4 And by the border of Naphtali from the East quarter vnto the West side, a portion for Manasseh.

5 And by the border of Manasseh, from the East side vnto the West side, a portion for Ephraim.

6 And by the border of Ephraim, from the East part euen vnto the West part, a portion for Reuben.

7 And by the border of Reuben, from the East quarter vnto the West quarter, a portion for Iudah.

8 And by the border of Iudah from the East part vnto the West part [b] shalbe the offring which they shall offer of fiue and twentie thousand reeds broad, and of length as one of the other parts, from the East side vnto the West side, and the Sanctuarie shalbe in the mids of it.

9 The oblation that ye shall offer vnto the Lord, shall be of fiue and twentie thousand long, and of ten thousand the breadth.

10 And for them, euen for the Priests shall be this holy oblation, toward the North fiue and twentie thousand long, and toward the West, ten thousand broad, and toward the East ten thousand broad, and toward the South fiue and twentie thousand long, and the Sanctuarie of the Lord shall be in the mids thereof.

11 It shall be for the Priests that are sanctified of the sonnes of * Zadok, which haue kept my charge, which went not astray when the children of Israel went astray, as the Leuites went astray.

12 Therefore this oblation of the land that is offered, shalbe theirs, as a thing most holy by the border of the Leuites.

13 And ouer against the border of the Priests the Leuites shall haue fiue and twentie thousand long, and ten thousand broad: all the length shall be fiue and twentie thousand, and the breadth ten thousand.

14 And they shall not sell of it, neither change it, nor abalienate the first fruits of the land: for it is holy vnto the Lord.

15 And the fiue thousand that are left in the breadth ouer against the fiue and twentie thousand, shall be a prophane place for the citie, for housing, and for suburbs, and the citie shall be in the mids thereof.

16 And these shall be the measures thereof, the North part fiue hundred and foure thousand, and the South part [c] fiue hundred and foure thousand, and the East part fiue hundred and foure thousand, and the West part fiue hundred and foure thousand.

17 And the suburbs of the citie shalbe toward the North two hundred and fiftie, and toward the South two hundreth & fiftie, and toward the East two hundred and fiftie, and toward the West, two hundred and fiftie.

18 And the residue in length ouer against the oblation of the holy portion shalbe ten thousand Eastward, and tenne thousand Westward: and it shalbe ouer against the oblation of the holy portion, and the increase thereof shall be for food vnto them that serue in the citie.

19 And they that serue in the citie, shalbe of all the tribes of Israel that shall serue therein.

20 All the oblation shall be fiue and twentie thousand with [d] fiue and twentie thousand: you shall offer this oblation foure square for the Sanctuarie, and for the possession of the citie.

d Euery way it shall be fiue and twentie thousand.

21 And the residue shalbe for the prince on the one side and on the other of the oblation of the Sanctuarie, and of the possession of the citie, ouer against the fiue and twentie thousand of the oblation toward the East border, and Westward ouer-against the fiue and twentie thousand toward the West border, ouer-against shalbe for the portion of the prince: this shalbe the holy oblation, and the house of the Sanctuarie shalbe in the middes thereof.

22 Moreouer, from the possession of the Leuites, and from the possession of the citie, that which is in the mids shalbe the princes: betweene the border [e] of Iudah, and betweene the border of Beniamin shall be the princes.

e So that Iudah was on the North side of the Princes and Leuites portions, and Beniamin on the South side.

23 And the rest of the tribes shalbe thus: from the East part vnto the West part Beniamin shalbe a portion.

24 And by the border of Beniamin, from the East side vnto the West side Simeon a portion.

25 And by the border of Simeon from the East part vnto the West part, Issachar a portion.

26 And by the border of Issachar, from the East side vnto the West, Zebulun a portion.

27 And by the border of Zebulun from the East part vnto the West part, Gad a portion.

28 And by the border of Gad at the South side, toward [f] Temah, the border shall be euen from [g] Tamar, vnto the waters of Meribath in Kadesh, and to the [h] riuer, that runneth into the maine sea.

f Which is here taken for Idumea.

g Which was Iericho the citie of palme trees.

h Meaning, Nilus that runneth into the Sea, called Mediterraneum.

29 This is the land, which ye shall distribute vnto the tribes of Israel for inheritance, and these are their portion, saith the Lord God.

30 And these are the boundes of the citie, on the North side fiue hundreth, and foure thousand measures.

31 And the gates of the citie shalbe after the names of the tribes of Israel, the gates Northward, one gate of Reuben, one gate of Iudah, and one gate of Leui.

32 And at the East side fiue hundred & foure thousand: and three gates, and one gate of Ioseph, one gate of Beniamin, and one gate of Dan.

33 And at the South side, fiue hundred and foure thousand measures, and three ports, one gate of Simeon, one gate of Issachar, and one gate of Zebulun.

34 At the West side, fiue hundred and foure thousand, with their three gates, one gate of Gad, one gate of Asher, and one gate of Naphtali.

35 It was round about eighteene thousand measures, and the name of the citie from that day shalbe, † The Lord is there.

DANIEL.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe great prouidence of God, and his singular mercy toward his Church, are most liuely here set forth, who neuer leaueth his destitute, but now in their greatest miseries and afflictions giueth them Prophets, as Ezekiel, and Daniel, whom he adorned with such graces of his holy Spirit, that Daniel aboue all other had most speciall reuelations of such things as should come to the Church, euen from the time that they were in captiuitie, to the last end of the world, and to the generall resurrection, as of the foure Monarchies and Empires of the world, to wit, of the Babylonians, Persians, Grecians, and Romans. Also of the certeine number of the times euen vnto Christ, when all ceremonies and sacrifices should cease, because he should be the accomplishment thereof: moreouer he sheweth Christes office and the cause of his death, which was by his sacrifice to take away sinnes, and to bring euerlasting life. And as from the beginning God euer exercised his people vnder the crosse, so he teacheth here, that after that Christ is offered, he will still leaue this exercise to his Church vntill the dead rise againe, and Christ gather his vnto his kingdome in the heauens.

CHAP. I.

1 The captiuitie of Iehoiakim King of Iudah. 4 The King chuseth certeine yong men of the Iewes to learne his law. 5 They haue the Kings ordinarie appointed, 8 but they abstaine from it.

a Reade 2. King. 24. 1. & Ier. 25. 1.

b Which was a plaine by Babylon, where was the Temple of their great god, and is here taken for Babylon.

IN the [a] third yeere of the reigne of Iehoiakim King of Iudah, came Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel vnto Ierusalem and besieged it.

2 And the Lord gaue Iehoiakim King of Iudah into his hand, with part of the vessels of the house of God, which he carried into the land of [b] Shinar, to the house of his god, and he brought the vessels into his gods treasurie.

c Who was as master of the wards.

d He calleth them Eunuches whom the King nourished and brought vp to be rulers of other countries afterward.

3 And the King spake vnto [c] Ashpenaz the master of his [d] Eunuches, that he should bring certeine of the children of Israel, of the [e] Kings seed, and of the princes:

4 Children in whom was no blemish, but well [f] fauoured, and instruct in all wisedome, and well seene in knowledge, and able to vtter knowledge, and such as were able to stand in the Kings palace, and whom they might teach the [g] learning, and the tongue of the Caldeans.

f The King required three things, that they should be of noble birth, that they should be wittie and learned, and that they shoulde be of a strong and comely nature, that they might do him better seruice: this he did for his owne commodity, therefore it is not to praise his liberalitie: yet in this he is woorthie praise, that he esteemed learning, and knew that it was a necessarie meane to gouerne by. g That they might forget their owne religion, and contrey fashions, to serue him the better to his purpose: yet it is not to be thought that Daniel did learne any knowledge that was not godly: in all points he refused the abuse of things and superstition, insomuch that he would not eat the meat which the King appointed him, but was content to learne the knowledge of naturall things. h That by their good entertainment they might learne to forget the mediocritie of their owne people. i To the intent that in this time they might both learne the maners of the Caldeans, and also their tongue. k As well to serue at the table, as in other offices.

5 And the king appointed them prouision euery day of a [h] portion of the Kings meat, and of the wine, which he dranke, so nourishing them [i] three yeere, that at the end thereof, they might stand [k] before the King.

6 Now among these were certeine of the children of Iudah, Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael and Azariah.

7 Vnto whome the chiefe of the Eunuches gaue other names: for he called Daniel, Belteshazzar, and Hananiah, Shadrach, and Mishael, Meshach, and Azariah, Abednego.

8 ¶ But Daniel had determined in his heart, that he would not [m] defile himselfe with the portion of the Kings meate, nor with the wine which he dranke: therefore he required the chiefe of the Eunuches that he might not defile himselfe.

9 (Nowe God had brought Daniel into fauour, and tender loue with the chiefe of the Eunuches)

10 And the chiefe of the Eunuches said vnto Daniel, [n] I feare my lord the King, who hath appointed your meate and your drinke: therefore if he see your faces worse liking then the other children which are of your sort, then shall you make me lose mine head vnto the King.

11 Then said Daniel to Melzar, whome the chiefe of the Eunuches had set ouer Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah, 12 Prooue thy seruants, I beseech thee, [o] ten dayes, and let them giue vs [p] pulse to eate, and water to drinke.

13 Then let our countenances be looked vpon before thee, and the countenances of the children that eate of the portion of the Kings meate: and as thou seest, deale with thy seruants.

14 So he consented to them in this matter, and prooued them ten dayes.

15 And at the end of ten dayes, their [q] countenances appeared fairer, and in [†] better liking then all the childrens, which did eate the portion of the Kings meate.

16 Thus Melzar tooke away the portion of their meat, and the wine that they should drinke, and gaue them pulse.

17 As for these foure children, God gaue them knowledge, & vnderstanding in all learning, [r] and wisdome: also he gaue Daniel vnderstanding of all [s] visions and dreames.

18 Nowe when the time [t] was expired, that the King had appointed to bring them in, the chiefe of the Eunuches brought them before Nebuchad-nezzar.

19 And the King communed with them: and among them all was found none like Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah: therefore stoode they before the King.

20 And in all matters of wisdome, and vnderstanding that the King enquired of them, hee founde them tenne times better then all the inchanters and astrologians, that were in all his Realme.

21 And Daniel was vnto [u] the first yeere of King Cyrus.

solute the question. 24 Daniel is brought vnto the King and sheweth him his dreame and the interpretation thereof. 44 Of the euerlasting kingdome of Christ.

AND in the [a] second yere of the reigne of Nebuchad-nezzar, Nebuchad-nezzar dreamed [b] dreames wherewith his spirit was troubled, and his [d] sleepe was vpon him.

2 Then the King commaunded to call the inchanters, and the astrologians and the sorcerers, and the [e] Caldeans for to shewe the King his dreames: so they came and stoode before the King.

3 And the King sayde vnto them, I haue dreamed a dreame, and my spirite was troubled to know the dreame.

4 Then spake the Caldeans to the King in the [f] Aramites language, O King, liue for euer: shewe thy seruants the dreame, and wee shall shewe the interpretation.

5 And the King answered & saide to the Caldeans, The thing is gone from mee. If ye will not make mee vnderstand the dreame with the interpretation thereof, ye [g] shall bee drawen in pieces, and your houses shalbe made a iakes.

6 But if ye declare the dreame and the interpretation thereof, ye shall receiue of me gifts and rewards, and great honour: therefore shew mee the dreame and the interpretation of it.

7 They answered againe, and sayd, Let the King shew [h] his seruants the dreame, and we will declare the interpretation thereof.

8 Then the King answered, and said, I know certeinly that ye [†] would gaine the time, because ye see the thing is gone from me.

9 But if yee will not declare me the dreame, there is but one iudgement for you: for ye haue prepared lying and corrupt words, to speake before me till the time be changed: therefore tell me the dreame, that I may know if ye can declare me the interpretation thereof.

10 Then the Caldeans answered before the King, and sayd, There is no man vpon earth that can declare the Kings matter: yea, there is neither King nor Prince nor Lord that asked such things at an inchanter or astrologian or Caldean.

11 For it is a rare thing that the King requireth, and there is none other that can declare it before the King, except the gods whose dwelling is not with flesh.

12 For this cause the King was angrie and in great furie, and commanded to destroy all the wise men of Babel.

13 ¶ And when sentence was giuen, the wise men were slaine: and they [i] sought Daniel and his fellowes to be put to death.

14 Then Daniel answered with counsell and wisedome to Arioch the Kings ‖ chiefe steward, which was gone foorth to put to death the wise men of Babel.

15 Yea, hee answered and sayd vnto Arioch the kings captaine, why is the sentence so hastie from the king? Then Arioch declared the thing to Daniel.

16 So Daniel went and desired the King that he would giue him leasure, and that hee would shew the King the interpretation thereof.

CHAP. II.

1 The dreame of Nebuchad-nezzar. 13 The King commaundeth all the wise men of Babylon to bee slaine, because they could not interprete his dreame. 16 Daniel requireth time to m Not that hee thought any religion to be in the meate or drinke, (for afterward he did eate) but because the King should not entise him by this sweet poyson to forget his religion and accustomed sobrietie, and that in his meat & drinke he might daily remember of what people he was: and Daniel bringeth this in, to shew how God from the beginning assisted him with his Spirit, and at length called him to be a Prophet.

1 That they might altogether forget their religion: for the Iewes gaue their children names, which might euer put them in remembrance of some point of religion: therefore this was a great tentation and a signe of seruitude which they were not able to resist.

n He supposed they did this for their religion, which was contrarie to the Babylonians, and therefore herein he representeth them, which are of no religion: for neither he would condemne theirs, nor maintaine his owne.

o Meaning, that within this space he might haue the trial, and that no man should be able to discerne it: and thus he spake, being moued by the Spirit of God.

p Not that it was a thing abominable to eate deintie meates, and to drinke wine, as both before and after they did, but if they should haue hereby bene wonne to the King and haue refused their owne religion, that meate and drinke had bene accursed. q This bare feeding and that also of Moses when he fled from the court of Egypt, declareth that we must liue in such sobrietie as God doeth call vs vnto, seeing he wil make it more profitable vnto vs, then all deinties: for his blessing onely sufficeth. † Ebr. fatter in flesh. r Meaning, in the liberall sciences, and natural knowledge, and not in the magical arts which are forbidden. Deut. 18. 11. s So that he only was a Prophet and none of the other: for by dreames and visions God appeared to his Prophets, Num. 12. 6. t Of the three yeeres aboue mentioned, vers. 5. u That is, hee was esteemed in Babylon as a Prophet so long as that common wealth stoode.

a The father and the sonne were both called by this name: so that this is ment of the sonne, when he reigned alone: for he reigned also after a sort with his father.

b Not that he had many dreams, but because many matters were conteined in this dreame.

c Because it was so rare & strange a dreame that he had not had the like.

d He was so heauy with sleepe that he began to sleepe againe. Some reade, and his sleepe was broken from him.

e For all these Astrologers and sorcerers called themselues by this name of honour: as though all the wisedome and knowledge of the countrey depended vpon them, and that all other countreys were voyd of the same.

f That is, in the Syrian tongue, which differed not much from the Caldeans, saue it seemed to be more eloquent, and therefore the learned vsed to speake it: as the Iewish writers do to this day.

g This is a iust reward of their arrogancie (which vanted of themselues that they had the knowledge of all things), that they should be proued fooles, and that to their perpetuall shame and confusion.

h Herein appeared their ignorance, that notwithstanding their bragges, yet were they not able to tell the dreame, except he entred them into the matter, and therefore they would pretend knowledge where was but mere ignorance, and so as deinders of the people, they were woorthie to die.

† Ebr. redeeme the time. i Which declareth that God would not haue his seruant ioyned in the companie of these sorcerers, and Astrologers, whose artes were wicked, and therefore iustly ought to die, though the king did it vpon a rage, and no zeale. ‖ Or, the captaine of the garde.

17 ¶ Then

17 ¶ Then Daniel went to his house, and shewed the matter to Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah his companions, 18 That they should beseech the God of heauen for grace in this secrete, that Daniel and his fellowes should not perish with the rest of the wise men of Babel.

19 Then was the secrete reueiled vnto Daniel in a vision by night: therefore Daniel praised the God of heauen.

20 And Daniel answered and sayde, * The Name of God be praised for euer and euer: for wisedome and strength are his,

21 And he changeth the times and seasons: he taketh away Kings: he setteth vp Kings: he giueth wisdome vnto the wise, and vnderstanding to those that vnderstand.

22 Hee discouereth the deepe and secrete things: he knoweth what is in the darkenesse, and the [k] light dwelleth with him.

23 I thanke thee and praise thee, O thou God of my [l] fathers, that thou hast giuen me wisdome and [m] strength, and hast shewed mee nowe the thing that we desired of thee: for thou hast declared vnto vs the Kings matter.

24 ¶ Therefore Daniel went vnto Arioch, whome the King had ordeined to destroy the wise men of Babel: hee went and said thus vnto him, Destroy not [n] the wise men of Babel, but bring me before the King, and I will declare vnto the King the interpretation.

25 Then Arioch brought Daniel before the King in all hatte, and said thus vnto him, I haue found a man of the children of Iudah that were captiues, that will declare vnto the King the interpretation.

26 Then answered the King, and sayde vnto Daniel, whose name was Belteshazzar, Art thou able to shew me the dreame, which I haue seene, and the interpretation thereof?

27 Daniel answered in the presence of the King, and said, The secret which the King hath demaunded, can neither the wise, the astrologians, the inchanters, nor the southsayers declare vnto the King.

28 But there is a God in [o] heauen that reueileth secrets, and sheweth the King Nebuchadnezzar what shall bee in the latter dayes. Thy dreame, and the things which thou hast seene in thine head vpon thy bed, is this.

29 O King, when thou wast in thy bedde, thoughts came into thy minde, what should come to passe hereafter, and hee that reueileth secrets, telleth thee what shal come.

30 As [p] for mee, this secret is not shewed mee for any wisedome that I haue, more then any other liuing, but onely to shewe the King the interpretation, and that thou mightest knowe the thoughts of thine heart.

31 O King, thou sawest, and behold there was a great image: this great image, whose glory was so excellent, stoode before thee, and the forme thereof was terrible.

32 This images head was of fine [q] golde, his breast and his armes of siluer, his belly and his thighs of brasse, 33 His legges of yron, and his feete were part of yron, and part of clay.

34 Thou beheldest it till a stone was cut without handes, which smote the image vpon his feete, that were of yron and clay, and brake them to pieces.

35 Then was the yron, the clay, the brasse, the siluer and the golde broken all together, and became like the chaffe of the summer floures, and the winde caried them away, that no place was founde for them: and the stone that smote the image, became a great mountaine, and filled the whole earth.

36 This is the dreame, and wee wil declare before the King the interpretation thereof.

37 ¶ O King, thou art a King of Kings: for the God of heauen hath giuen thee a kingdome, power, and strength, and glory.

38 And in all places where the children of men dwel, the beastes of the field, and the foules of the heauen hath hee giuen into thine hande, and hath made thee ruler ouer them all: thou art [r] this head of golde.

39 And after thee shal rise another kingdome, [s] inferiour to thee, of siluer, and another [t] third kingdome shalbe of brasse, which shall beare rule ouer all the earth.

40 And the fourth kingdome shall be strong as yron: for as yron breaketh in pieces, and subdueth all things, and as yron bruiseth all these things, so shall it breake in [u] pieces, and bruise all.

41 Where as thou sawest the feet and toes, part of potters clay, and part of yron: the kingdome shall be [x] diuided, but there shalbe in it of the strength of the yron, as thou sawest the yron mixt with the clay and earth.

42 And as the toes of the feet were part of yron, and part of clay, so shall the kingdome be partly strong, and partly broken.

43 And where as thou sawest yron mixt with clay and earth, they shall mingle themselues with [y] the seed of men: but they shall not ioyne one with another, as yron cannot be mixed with clay.

44 And in the dayes of these Kings, shall the God of heauen set vp a kingdome, which [z] shall neuer be destroyed: and this kingdome shall not be giuen to another people, but it shall breake, and destroy all these kingdomes, and it shal stand for euer.

45 Where as thou sawest, that the [a] stone was cut out of the mountaine without hands, and that it brake in pieces the yron, the brasse, the clay, the siluer, and the golde: so the great God hath shewed the King what shall come to passe hereafter, and the dreame is true, and the interpretation thereof is sure.

46 ¶ Then the King Nebuchad-nezzar fell vpon his face, and [b] bowed himselfe vnto Daniel, and commanded that they should offer meat offerings, and sweet odours vnto him.

47 Also the King answered vnto Daniel, and

* Psal. 113. and 115. 18.

k He sheweth that man hath neither wisdome nor knowledge, but very darke blindnesse & ignorance of himselfe: for it commeth onely of God, that man vnderstandeth any thing.

l To whome thou madest thy promise, and who liued in thy feare: whereby he excludeth all other gods.

m Meaning power to interprete it.

n Whereby appeareth that many were slaine, as verse 13. and the rest at Daniels offer were prestrued on condition: not that Daniel fauoured their wicked profession, but that he had respect to equitie because the King proceeded according to his wicked affection, & not considering if their science were lawful or no.

o He affirmeth that man by reason and arte is not able to atteine to the cause of Gods secrets, but the vnderstanding onely thereof must come of God: whereby he stirreth the king with a certaine feare & reuerence of God, that he might be the more apt to receiue the hie mysteries that should be reueiled.

p Because he had said that God onely must reueile the significatio of this dreame, the King might haue asked, why Daniel did enterprise to interprete it and therfore he sheweth that he was but Gods minister, and had no gifts, but such as God had giuen him to set forth his glory.

q By golde, siluer, brasse and yron, are ment the Caldean, Persian, Macedonian and Romane kingdoms, which should successiuely rule all the world, till Christ (which is he called the stone) come himselfe, and destroy the last: and this was to assure the Iewes, that their afflictions should not ende with the empire of the Caldeans, but that they should be patiently abide the comming of Messiah, which should be at the ende of this fourth Monarchie.

r Daniel leaueth out the kingdome of the Assyrians, which was before the Babylonian, both because it was not a Monarchie and generall empire, and also because he would declare the things, that were tocome, to the comming of Christ, for the cõfort of the elect among these wonderful alterations: and he calleth the Babylonian kingdome the golden head, because in respect of the other three, it was the best, and yet was of it selfe wicked and cruel.

s Meaning, ỹ Persians, which were not inferiour in dignitie, power, & riches, but were woorse touching ambition, cruelty, and all kinde of vice: shewing, that the world should grow woorse and woorse, till it was restored by Christ.

t That is, of the Macedonians shall be of brasse, not alluding to the hardnesse thereof, but to the vilenesse in respect of siluer.

u That is, the Romane empire shall subdue all these other aforenamed, which after Alexander were diuided into the Macedonians, Grecians, Syrians and Egyptians.

x They shall haue ciuill wars & continuall discords among themselues.

y They shall by marriages, and affinities thinke to make themselues strong: yet shall they neuer be ioyned in hearts.

z His purpose is to shew, that all the kingdomes of the world are transitorie, and that the kingdome of Christ shall onely remaine for euer.

a Meaning, Christ, who was sent of God, and not set vp by man, whose kingdome at the beginning should be small and without beautie, to mans iudgement, but should at length growe and fill the whole earth, which he calleth a great mountaine, as verse 35. And this kingdome, which is not onely referred to the person of Christ, but also to the whole body of his Church, and to euery member thereof, shall be eternall: for the spirit that is in them, is life eternall, Rom 8. 10.

b Though this humbling of the King seemed to deserue commendation, yet because he ioyned Gods honour with the Prophets, it is to be reproued, and Daniel herein erred, if he suffered it: but it is credible that Daniel admonished him of his fault, and did not suffer it.

said, I know of a trueth that your c God is a God of gods, and the Lord of Kings, and the reueiler of secrets, seeing thou couldest open this secret.

48 So ỹ King made Daniel a great man, & gaue him many and great d gifts. He made him gouernour ouer the whole prouince of Babel, & chiefe of the rulers, & aboue all the wise men of Babel.

49 Then Daniel e made request to the King, and he set Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego ouer the charge of the prouince of Babel: but Daniel sate in the f gate of the King.

c This confession was but a sudden motion, as it was also in Pharaoh, Exod. 9. 28. but his heart was not touched, as appeared soone afterward.

d Not that the Prophet was desirous of gifts or honour, but because by this meanes he might relieue his poore brethren, which were grieuously oppressed in this their captiuitie, and also he receiued them, least he should ouerlead this cruell King, which willingly gaue them.

e He did not this for their priuate profite, but that the whole Church which was then there in affliction, might haue some release and ease by this benefite.

f Meaning, that either he was a Iudge, or that he had the whole authoritie, so that none could be admitted to the Kings presence, but by him.

CHAP. III.

1 The King setteth vp a golden image. 8 Certaine are accused because they despised the Kings commandement, and are put into a burning ouen. 25 By beleefe in God they are deliuered from the fire. 26 Nebuchad-nezzar confesseth the power of God, after the sight of the miracle.

NEbuchad-nezzar the King made a an image of gold, whose height was threescore cubits, & the breadth thereof fiue cubites: he set it vp in the plaine of Dura, in the prouince of Babel.

2 Then Nebuchad-nezzar the King sent forth to gather together the nobles, the princes, and the dukes, the Iudges, the receiuers, the counsellers, the officers, and all the gouernours of the prouinces, that they should come to the b dedication of the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar the c King had set vp.

3 So the nobles, princes & dukes, the iudges, the receiuers, the counsellers, the officers, and all the gouernours of the prouinces were assembled vnto ỹ dedicating of the image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the King had set vp: & they stood before the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar had set vp.

4 Then an herald cryed aloud, Be it knowen to you, O people, d nations, and languages,

5 That when ye heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, dulcimer, and all instruments of musike, ye fall downe and worship the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the King hath set vp,

6 And whosoeuer falleth not downe and worshippeth, shall the same houre be cast into the middes of an hote fierie fornace.

7 Therefore assoone as all the people heard the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, and all instruments of musike, all the people, nations, and languages fell downe, and worshipped the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the King had set vp.

8 ¶ By reason whereof at that same time came men of the Caldeans, and grieuously accused the Iewes.

9 For they spake and said to the King Nebuchad-nezzar, O King, liue for euer.

10 Thou, O King, hast made a decree, that euery man that shall heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musicke, shall fall downe and worship the golden image, 11 And whosoeuer falleth not downe, and worshippeth, that he should be cast into the midst of an hote fierie fornace.

12 There are certaine Iewes whom thou hast set ouer the charge of the prouince of Babel, e Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: these men, O King, haue not regarded thy commandement, neither will they serue thy gods, nor worship the golden image, that thou hast set vp.

13 ¶ Then Nebuchad-nezzar in his anger and wrath commaunded that they should bring Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: so these men were brought before the King.

14 And Nebuchad-nezzar spake, and said vnto them, What disorder? will not you, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego serue my god, nor worship the golden image, that I haue set vp?

15 f Nowe therefore are ye ready when ye heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musike, to fall downe, and worship the image, which I haue made? for if ye worship it not, yee shall be cast immediatly into the middes of an hote fierie fornace: for who is that God, that can deliuer you out of mine hands?

16 Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego answered and said to the King, O Nebuchad-nezzar, we g are not carefull to answere thee in this matter.

17 Behold, our God whom we serue, is h able to deliuer vs from the hote fierie fornace, and he wil deliuer vs out of thine hand, O King.

18 But if not, be it knowen to thee, O King, that we will not serue thy gods, nor worship the golden image, which thou hast set vp.

19 ¶ Then was Nebuchad-nezzar full of rage, and the forme of his visage was changed against Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: therefore hee charged and commanded that they should heate the fornace at once seuen i times more then it was wont to bee heat.

20 And hee charged the most valiant men of warre that were in his armie, to binde Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, and to cast them into the hote fierie fornace.

21 So these men were bound in their coates, their hosen, and their clokes, with their other garments, and cast into the middes of the hote fierie fornace.

22 Therefore, because the Kings commaundement was straite, that the fornace should bee exceeding hote, the flame of the fire slewe those men that brought foorth Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego.

23 And these three men, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego fel downe bound into the middes of the hote fierie fornace.

24 ¶ Then Nebuchad-nezzar the King was astonied and rose vp in haste, and spake, and said vnto his counsellers, Did not we cast three men bound into the middes of the fire? Who answered and said vnto the King, It is true, O King.

25 And he answered, and said, Loe, I see foure men loose, walking in the middes of the fire, and they haue no hurt, and the forme of the fourth is like the k Sonne of God.

26 Then the King Nebuchad-nezzar came neere to the mouth of the hote fierie fornace, & spake and said, Shadrach, Meshach, & Abednego, a Vnder pretence of religion, & holinesse in making an image to his idol Bel, he sought his owne ambition and vaine glorie: and this declareth that he was not touched with the true feare of God before, but that he confessed him on a sudden motion, as the wicked when they are ouercome with the greatnesse of his workes. The Greeke interpreters write, that this was done eighteen yeeres after the dreame and as may appeare, the King feared least the Iewes by their religion should haue altered the state of his common wealth and therefore he ment to bring all to one kinde of religion, and so rather sought his owne quietnesse, then Gods glorie.

b Shewing, that the idole is not knowen for an idole so long as he is with the workeman: but when the ceremonies and customes are recited and vsed, and the consent of the people is there, then of a blocke they thinke they haue made a god.

c This was sufficient with the wicked at all times to approoue their religion, if the Kings authoritie were alledged for the establishment thereof, not considering in the meane season what Gods word did permit. d These are the two dangerous weapons wherewith Satan vseth to fight against the children of God, the consent of the multitude and the crueltie of the punishment: for though some feared God, yet the multitude, which consented to the wickednesse, astonied them: and here the King required not an inward consent, but an outward gesture, that the Iewes might by litle and litle learne to forget their true religion.

e It seemeth that they named not Daniel because he was greatly in the Kings fauour, thinking if these three had bin destroyed, they might haue had better occasion to accuse Daniel: and this declareth that this policie of erecting this image, was inuented by the malicious flatterers, which sought nothing but the destruction of the Iewes, whom they accused of rebellion & ingratitude.

f Signifying, that he would receiue them to grace, if they would nowe at the length obey his decree.

g For they should haue done iniurie to God, if they should haue doubted in this holy cause, and therefore they say, that they are resolued to die for Gods cause.

h They ground on two points: first on the power, and prouidence of God ouer them, and secondly on their cause, which was Gods glory, and the testifying of his true religion with their blood, and so make open confession, that they will not so much as outwardly consent to idolatrie.

i This declareth that the more that tyrants rage, and the more wittie they shew themselues in inuenting strange and cruell punishments, the more is God glorified by his seruants to whom he giueth patience and constancie to abide the crueltie of their punishments: for either he deliuereth them from death, or els for this life giueth them a better.

k For the Angels were called the sonnes of God, because of their excellencies: therefore the King called this Angel, whom God sent to comfort his in these great torments, the sonne of God.

the seruants of the hie God, goe foorth and come hither: so Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego came foorth of the middes of the fire.

27 Then the nobles, princes and dukes, and the Kings counsellers came together to see these men, because the fire had no power ouer their bodies: for not an haire of their head was burnt, neither were their coates changed, nor any smell of fire came vpon them.

28 Wherefore Nebuchad-nezzar spake and said, [m] Blessed be the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, who hath sent his Angel, and deliuered his seruants, that put their trust in him, and haue changed the kings commandement, and yeelded their bodies rather then they would serue or worship any god, saue their owne God.

29 Therefore I make a decree, that euery people, nation, and language, which speake any [n] blasphemie against the God of Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, shalbe drawen in pieces, and their houses shall be made a iakes, because there is no god that can deliuer after this sort.

30 Then the King promoted Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego in the prouince of Babel.

31 Nebuchad-nezzar King vnto all people, nations and languages, that dwell in all the [o] world, Peace be multiplied vnto you:

32 I thought it good to declare the signes and wonders, [y] the hie God hath wrought toward me.

33 How great are his signes, and how mightie are his wonders! [p] his kingdome is an euerlasting kingdome, and his dominion is from generation to generation.

l This commendeth their obedience vnto God, that they would not for any feare depart out of this fornace, till the time was appointed, as Noah remained in the Arke till the Lord called him foorth.

m He was mooued by the greatnesse of the miracle to praise God, but his heart was not touched. And here we see that miracles are not sufficient to conuert men to God, but that doctrine most chiefly be adioyned without [y] which there can be no faith.

n If this heathen King mooued by Gods spirit would not see blasphemie vnpunished, but made a lawe and set a punishment to such transgressours, much more ought all they that professe religion, take order that such impietie seigne not, least according as their knowledge and charge is greater, so they suffer double punishment.

o Meaning, so farre as his dominion extended.

CHAP. IIII.

[q] Another dreame of Nebuchad-nezzar, which Daniel declareth. 29 The Prophet declareth howe of a proude King hee should become a beast, 31 After, he confesseth the power of God, and is restored to his former dignitie.

q There was no trouble that might cause mee to dreame, and therefore it came onely of God.

I Nebuchad-nezzar, being at [a] rest in mine house, and flourishing in my palace,

2 Saw a [b] dreame, which made me afraid, and the thoughtes vpon my bed, and the visions of mine head troubled me.

b This was another dreame besides that which he sawe of the foure empires: for Daniel both declared what that dreame was, and what it meant: and here he onely expoundeth the dreame.

3 Therefore made I a decree, that they should bring all the wise men of Babel before mee, that they might declare vnto me the interpretation of the dreame.

4 So came the inchanters, the astrologians, the Caldeans and the soothsayers, to whome I tolde the dreame, but [c] they could not shewe me the interpretation thereof, c In that that he sent abroad to others, whose ignorance in times past he had experimented and left Daniel which was euer ready at hand, it declareth the nature of the vngodly, which neuer seeke to the seruants of God, but for very necessitie, and then they spare no flatterings.

5 Till at the last Daniel came before mee, (whose name was [d] Belteshazzar, according to the name of my god, which hath the spirit of the holy gods in him) and before him I tolde the dreame, saying,

d This no doubt was a great griefe to Daniel not onely to haue his name changed, but to be called by the name of a vile idole, which thing Nebuchad-nezzar did to make him forget the true religion of God.

6 O Belteshazzar, [e] chiefe of the inchanters, because I know that the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and no secret troubleth thee, tell me the visions of my dreame, that I haue seene, and the interpretation thereof.

e Which also was a great griefe to the Prophet to be numbred among the sorcerers, and men whose practises were wicked and contrary to Gods word.

7 Then were the visions of mine head in my bed, and beholde, I sawe a [f] tree in the middes of the earth, and the height thereof was great:

f By the tree, is signified the dignitie of a King, whome God ordeineth to be a defence for all kinde of men, and whose state is profitable for mankinde.

8 A great tree and strong, and the height thereof reached vnto heauen, and the sight thereof to the endes of all the earth.

9 The boughes thereof were faire, and the fruite thereof much, and in it was meate for all: it made a shadowe vnder it for the beastes of the fielde, and the foules of the heauen dwelt in the boughes thereof, and all flesh fed of it.

10 I sawe in the visions of mine head vpon my bed, and beholde, a [g] watchman and an holy one came downe from heauen,

11 And cryed aloude, and said thus, Hewe downe the tree, and breake off his branches: shake off his leaues, and scatter his fruite, that the beastes may flee from vnder it, and the foules from his branches.

12 Neuertheless leaue the stumpe of his rootes in the earth, and with a band of yron and brasse binde it among the grasse of the fielde, and let it be wet with the dewe of heauen, and let his portion be with the beastes among the grasse of the field.

13 [h] Let his heart be changed from mans nature, and let a beastes heart be giuen vnto him, and let seuen times be passed ouer him.

14 [i] The sentence is according to the decree of the watchmen, and according to the word of the holy ones: the demand was answered, to the intent that liuing men may knowe, that the most High hath power ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it to whomsoeuer he will, and appointeth ouer it the most abiect among men.

15 This is the dreame, that I King Nebuchad-nezzar haue seene: therefore thou, O Belteshazzar, declare the interpretation thereof: for al the wisemen of my kingdome are not able to shewe me the interpretation: but thou art able: for the spirit of the holy gods is in thee.

16 ¶ Then Daniel (whose name was Belteshazzar) helde his [k] peace by the space of one houre, and his thoughtes troubled him, and the King spake and said, Belteshazzar, let neither the dreame, nor the interpretation thereof trouble thee. Belteshazzar answered and said, My lord, the dreame be to them that hate thee, and the interpretation thereof to thine enemies.

17 The tree that thou sawest, which was great and mightie, whose height reached vnto the heauen, and the sight thereof through all the world,

18 Whose leaues were faire, & the fruit thereof much, & in it was meat for al, vnder the which the beastes of the fielde dwelt, and vpon whose branches the foules of the heauen did sit,

19 It is thou, O King, that art great and mightie: for thy greatnesse is growen, and reacheth vnto heauen, and thy dominion to the endes of the earth.

20 Where as the King saw a watchman, and an holy one, that came downe from heauen, and said, Hew downe the tree and destroy it, yet leaue the stumpe of the rootes thereof in the earth, and with a band of yron and brasse binde it among the grasse of the fielde, and let it be wette with the dewe of heauen, and let his portion be with the beastes of the field, [l] till seuen times passe ouer him,

21 This is the interpretation, O King, and it is the decree of the most High, which is come vpon my lord the King, g Meaning, the Angel of God, which neither eateth nor sleepeth, but is euer readie to do Gods will, and is not infect with mans corruption, but is euer holy: and in that that he commaundeth to cut down this tree, he knew that it should not be cut downe by man but by God.

22 That

h Hereby he meaneth that Nebuchad-nezzar should not onely for a time lose his kingdome, but be like a beast.

i God hath decreed this iudgement, and the whole armie of heauen haue as it were subscribed vnto it, like as also they desire the execution of his decree against all them that lift vp themselues against God.

k He was troubled for the great iudgement of God which he saw ordeined against the King: and so the Prophets vsed on the one part to denounce Gods iudgements for the zeale they bare to his glory, and on the other part to haue compasion vpon man, and also to consider that they should be subiect to Gods iudgements, if he did not regard them with pitie.

l Whereby hee meaneth a long space, as seuen yeeres. Some interprete seuen moneths, and others seuen weeks but it seemeth he meant of yeeres.

22 That they shall driue thee from men, and thy dwelling shalbe with the beastes of the fielde: they shall make thee to eate grasse as the [m] oxen, and they shall wet thee with the dewe of heauen: and seuen times shall passe ouer thee, till thou know, that [n] the most High beareth rule ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it to whom soeuer he will.

23 Whereas they sayde, that one should leaue the stumpe of the tree rootes, thy kingdome shall remaine vnto thee: after that, thou shalt knowe, that the heauens haue the rule.

24 Wherefore, O King, let my counsell be acceptable vnto thee: and [o] breake off thy sinnes by righteousnesse, and thine iniquities by mercy toward the poore: loe, let there bee a [p] healing of thine errour.

25 All these things shall come vpon the King Nebuchad-nezzar.

26 ¶ At the end of twelue [q] moneths, he walked in the royall palace of Babel.

27 And the King spake, and sayde, Is not this great Babel, that I haue built for the house of the kingdome by the might of my power, and for the honour of my maiestie?

28 While the word was in the Kings mouth, a voyce came downe from heauen, saying, O king Nebuchad-nezzar, to thee be it spoken, Thy kingdome is departed from thee, 29 And they shall driue thee from men, and thy dwelling shalbe with the beastes of the fielde: they shall make thee to eate grasse, as the oxen, and seuen times shall passe ouer thee, vntill thou knowest, that the most High beareth rule ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it vnto whomsoeuer he will.

30 The very same houre was the thing fulfilled vpon Nebuchad-nezzar, and hee was driuen from men, and did eate grasse, as the oxen, and his body was wette with the dewe of heauen, till his haires were growen as egles feathers, & his nailes like birds clawes.

31 And at the ende of these [r] dayes I Nebuchad-nezzar lift vp mine eyes vnto heauen, and mine vnderstanding was restored vnto mee, and I gaue thankes vnto the most High, and I praysed and honoured him, that liueth for euer, [*] whose power is an euerlasting power, and his kingdome is from generation to generation.

32 And all the inhabitants of the earth are reputed as nothing: and according to his [s] will hee worketh in the armie of heauen, and in the inhabitants of the earth: and none can stay his hande, nor say vnto him, What doest thou?

33 At the same time was mine vnderstanding restored vnto mee, and I returned to the honour of my kingdome: my glory and my beautie was restored vnto mee, and my counsellours: and my princes sought vnto mee, and I was established in my kingdome, and my glory was augmented toward me.

34 Now therefore I Nebuchad-nezzar [t] praise, and extoll & magnifie the King of heauen, whose workes are al trueth, & his wayes iudgement, and those that walke in pride, he is able to abase.

CHAP. V.

Belshazzar King of Babylon seeth an hande writing on the wall. 8 The soothsayers called of the King, cannot expound the writing. 25 Daniel readeth it, and interpreteth it also. 30 The King is slaine. 31 Darius enioyeth the kingdome.

KIng [a] Belshazzar made a great feast to a thousand of his princes, and dranke wine [b] before the thousand.

2 And Belshazzar [||] whiles he tasted the wine, commaunded to bring him the golden and siluer vessels, which his [c] father Nebuchad-nezzar had brought from the Temple in Ierusalem, that the King and his princes, his wiues, and his concubines might drinke therein.

3 Then were brought the golden vessels, that were taken out of the Temple of the Lords house at Ierusalem, and the King and his princes, his wiues and his concubines dranke in them.

4 They drunke wine and praysed the [d] gods of golde, and of siluer, of brasse, of yron, of wood and of stone.

5 At the same houre appeared fingers of a mans hande, which wrote ouer [e] against the candlesticke vpon the plaister of the wal of the Kings palace, and the King sawe the palme of the hande that wrote.

6 Then the Kings countenance was changed, and his thoughts troubled him, so that the ioynts of his loynes were loosed, and his [f] knees smote one against the other.

7 Wherefore the King cryed loude, that they should bring [g] the astrologians, the Caldeans and the soothsayers. And the King spake, and sayd to the wise men of Babel, Whosoeuer can reade this writing, and declare me the interpretation thereof, shalbe clothed with purple, and shall haue a chaine of golde about his necke, and shall bee the third ruler in the kingdome.

8 Then came all the Kings wise men, but they coulde neither reade the writing, nor shewe the King the interpretation.

9 Then was King Belshazzar greatly troubled, and his countenance was changed in him, and his princes were astonied.

10 Now the [h] Queene by reason of the talke of the King, and his princes came into the banket house, and the Queene spake, and sayde, O King, liue for euer: let not thy thoughts trouble thee, nor let thy countenance be changed.

11 There is a man in thy kingdome, in whome is the spirite of the holy gods, and in the dayes of thy father, light and vnderstanding and wisdome like the wisdome of the gods, was founde in him: whome the King Nebuchad-nezzar thy father, the King, I say, thy father, made chiefe of the [i] enchanters, astrologians, Caldeans, and soothsayers,

12 Because a more excellent spirit, and knowledge, and vnderstanding (for hee did expound dreames, & declare hard sentences, and dissolued doubtes) were found in him, euen in Daniel, whom the King named Belteshazzar: nowe let Daniel be called, and he wil declare the interpretation.

13 ¶ Then was Daniel brought before the King, and the King spake and sayde vnto Daniel, Art thou that Daniel, which art of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, whome my father the King brought out of Iewrie?

14 Nowe I haue heard of thee, that [k] the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and that light and vn-

a Daniel receiteth this historie of King Belshazzar Euilmerodachs sonne, to shewe Gods iudgements against the wicked for the deliuerance of his Church, and how the prophecie of Ieremiah was true, that they should be deliuered after seuentie yeeres.

b The Kings of the East parts vsed to sit alone commonly, & disdained that any should sit in their company: and now to shew his power, & howe litle he set by his enemy, which then besieged Babylon, he made a solemne banket, & vsed excesse in their company, which is meant here by drinking wine: thus the wicked are most dissolute, and negligent when their destruction is at hand.

c Meaning, his grandfather.

d In contempt of the true God they praised their idols, not that they thought that the gold or siluer were gods, but that there was a certaine vertue, and power in them to doe them good, which is also the opinion of idolaters.

e That it might the better be seene.

f So he that before contemned God, was moued by this sight to tremble for feare of Gods iudgments.

g Thus the wicked in their troubles seeke many meanes, who draw them from God, because they seeke not to him who is the onely comfort in all afflictions.

h To wit, his grandmother, Nebuchad-nezzars wife, which for her age was not before at the feast, but came thither when she heard of these strange newes.

i Reade Chap 4.6. and this declareth, that both this name was odious vnto him, and also that hee did not vse these vile practises, because hee was not among them when al were called.

k For the idolaters thought the Angels had power as God, & therefore had them in like estimation, as they had God, thinking that the spirit of prophecie, and vnderstanding came of them.

m Not that his shape or forme was changed into a beast: but that he was either striken mad, and so auoyded mans company, or was cast out for his tyrannie and so wandred among the beastes and ate herbes and grasse.

n Daniel sheweth the cause, why God thus punished him.

o Cease from prouoking God to anger any longer by thy sinnes, that he may mitigate his punishment, if thou shewe by thine vpright life that thou hast true faith and repentance.

p Suffer the errors of thy former life to be redressed.

q After that Daniel had declared this vision and this his pride declareth that it is not in man to conuert to God except his Spirit moue him, seeing that these terrible threatnings could not moue him to repent.

r When the terme of these seuen yeeres were accomplished.

* Chap.7.14.mich.4.17.luke 1.33.

s He confesseth Gods will to be the rule of all iustice and a most persite law where by he gouerneth both man and Angels and deuils, so that none ought to murmure, or aske a reason of his doings, but onely to stand content therewith & giue him the glory.

t By whom it seemeth that he had bene put from his kingdome before.

u He doeth not onely praise God for his deliuerace, but also confesseth his fault that God may onely haue the glory, and man the shame, and that he may be exalted and man cast downe.

derstãding & excellent wisdome is found in thee.

15 Now therefore, wise-men and astrologians haue bene brought before mee, that they should reade this writing, and shewe mee the interpretation thereof: but they coulde not declare the interpretation of the thing.

16 Then heard I of thee, that thou couldest shewe interpretations, and dissolue doutes: nowe if thou canst reade the writing, and shewe me the interpretation thereof, thou shalt be clothed with purple, and shalt haue a chaine of golde about thy necke, and shalt bee the thirde ruler in the kingdome.

17 Then Daniel answered, and saide before the King, Keepe thy rewards to thy selfe, and giue thy gifts to another: yet I wil reade the writing vnto the King, and shew him the interpretation.

18 O King, beare thou, The most high God gaue vnto [1] Nabuchad-nezzar thy father a kingdome, and maiestie, and honour, and glory.

19 And for the maiestie that hee gaue him, all people, nations, and languages trembled, and feared before him: he put to death whom he would: he smote whom he would: whom he would he set vp, and whom he would he put downe.

20 But when his heart was puft vp, and his minde hardened in pride, hee was deposed from his kingly throne, and they tooke his honour from him.

21 And hee was driuen from the sonnes of men, and his heart was made like the beastes, and his dwelling was with the wilde asses: they fedde him with grasse like oxen, and his body was wette with the dewe of the heauen, till hee knewe, that the most high God bare rule ouer the kingdome of men, and that he appointeth ouer it, whomsoeuer he pleaseth.

22 And thou his sonne, O Belshazzar, hast not humbled thine heart, though thou kneweſt all these things, 23 But hast lift thy selfe vp against the Lorde of heauen, and they haue brought the vessels of his House before thee, and thou and thy princes, thy wiues and thy concubines haue drunke wine in them, and thou hast praised the gods of siluer and golde, and brasse, yron, wood & stone, which neither see, neither heare, nor vnderstand: and the God in whose hande thy breath is and all thy wayes, him hast thou not glorified.

24 [m] Then was the palme of the hande sent from him, and hath written this writing.

25 And this is the writing that hee hath written, [n] MENE, MENE, TEKEL VPHARSIN.

26 This is the interpretation of the thing, MENE, God hath numbred thy kingdome, and hath finished it.

27 TEKEL, thou art weyed in the balance, and art found ‖too light.

28 PERES, thy kingdome is diuided, and giuen to the Medes and Persians.

29 Then at the commaundement of Belshazzar they clothed Daniel with purple, and put a chaine of golde about his necke, and made a proclamation concerning him that hee should be the third ruler in the kingdome.

30 The same night was Belshazzar the King of the Caldeans slaine.

31 And Darius [o] of the Medes tooke the kingdome, being threescore and two yeeres olde.

[1] Before he reade the writing, he declareth to the King his great ingratitude toward God, who could not be moued to giue him the glory, considering his wonderful worke toward his grandfather, & so sheweth, that hee doeth not sinne of ignorance, but of malice.

[m] After that God had so long time deferred hisanger, and patiently waited for thine amendement.

[n] This word is twise written for the certaintie of the thing shewing that God had moist surely counted: signifying also that God hath appointed a terme for all kingdoms, and that a miserable ende shall come on all that raise themselues against him.

‖ Or, wanting.

[o] Cyrus his sonne in lawe gaue him this title of honour, although Cyrus in effect had the dominion.

CHAP. VI.

1 Daniel is made ruler ouer the gouernours. 5 An act against Daniel. 16 He is put into a denne of lyons by the commandement of the King. 23 He is deliuered by faith in God. 24 Daniels accusers are put vnto the lyons. 25 Darius by a decree magnifieth the God of Daniel.

IT pleased Darius to set ouer the kingdome [a] an hundreth and twenty gouernours, which should be ouer the whole kingdome.

2 And ouer these, three rulers (of whom Daniel was one) that the gouernours might giue accompts vnto them, and the King should ‖haue no domage.

3 Nowe this Daniel [b] was preferred aboue the rulers and gouernours, because the spirit was excellent in him, and the King thought to set him ouer the whole Realme.

4 ¶ Wherefore the rulers and the gouernours [c] sought an occasion against Daniel concerning the kingdome: but they could find none occasion nor fault: for he was so faithfull that there was no blame nor fault found in him.

5 Then said these men, Wee shall not finde an occasion against this Daniel, except we finde it against him concerning the Lawe of his God.

6 Therefore the rulers and these gouernours went together to the King, and saide thus vnto him, King Darius, liue for euer.

7 All the rulers of thy kingdome, the officers and gouernours, the counsellers, and dukes haue consulted together to make a decree for the king and to establish a statute, that whosoeuer shall aske a petition of any god or man for thirtie dayes saue of thee, O King, he shalbe cast into the denne of lyons.

8 Now, O King, confirme the decree, and seale the writing, that it bee not changed, according to the lawe of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

9 Wherefore King Darius [d] sealed the writing and the decree.

10 ¶ Nowe when Daniel vnderstood that hee had sealed the writing, he went into his house, and his [e] window being open in his chamber toward de Ierusalem, hee kneeled vpon his knees three times a day, and prayed and praised his God, as hee did aforetime.

11 Then these men assembled, and found Daniel praying, and making supplication vnto his God.

12 So they came, & spake vnto the King concerning the Kings decree, Hast thou not sealed the decree that euery man that shall make a request to any God or man within thirtie dayes, saue to thee, O King, shalbe cast into the denne of lyons? The King answered, and sayde, The thing is true, according to the Lawe of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

13 Then answered they, and sayde vnto the King, This Daniel which is of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, regardeth not thee, O King, nor the decree, that thou hast sealed, but maketh his petition three times a day.

14 When the King heard these wordes, he was sore displeased with himselfe, and set his heart on Daniel, to deliuer him: and hee laboured till the sunne went downe, to deliuer him.

15 Then these men assembled vnto the King, and saide vnto the King, Vnderstand, O King, that the lawe of the Medes and Persians [u], that no decree nor statute which the King confirmeth,

[a] Reade Ester, Chap. 1. 1.

‖ Or, not be troubled,

[b] This heathen King preferred Daniel a stranger to all his nobles and familiars because the graces of God were more excellent in him then in others.

[c] Thus the wicked cannot abide the graces of God in others, but seeke by all occasions to deface them: therefore against such assaults there is no better remedie then to walke vprightly in the feare of God, & to haue a good conscience.

[d] Herein is condemned the wickednesse of the King, who would be set vp as a god, and passed not what wicked lawes he approued for the maintenance of the same.

[e] Because he would not by his silence shew that he consented to this wicked decree, he set open his windowes toward Ierusalem, when he prayed: both to stirre vp himselfe with the remembrance of Gods promises to his people when they should pray toward the Temple, and also that others might see, that he would neither consent in heart nor deede for these fewe dayes to any thing that was contrary to Gods glory.

f Thus the wicked maintein euill lawes by constancie, and authoritie, which is oft times either lightnes, or stubbernes, when as the innocents thereby perish and therefore gouernors neither ought to feare nor be ashamed to breake such.

g This declareth that Darius was not touched with the true knowledge of God, because he doubted of his power.

h My iust cause & vprightnes in this thing, wherein I was charged, is approoued of God.

i For he did disobey the kings wicked commandemēt to obey God, and so did no iniurie to ỹ King, who ought to cōmand nothing whereby God should be dishonoured.

k Because he committed himselfe wholy vnto God whose cause he did defend, he was assured, that nothing but good could come vnto him: wherein we see the power of faith, as Ebrewes 11.33.

l This is a terrible example against al the wicked, which doe against their conscience make cruel lawes to destroy the children of God, and also admonisheth Princes how to punish such, when their wickednes is come to light: though not in euery point or with like circumstances, yet to execute true iustice vpon them.

m This prooueth not that Darius did worship God aright, or els was conuerted: for then he would haue destroyed all superstition and idolatrie, and not onely giuen God the chiefe place, but also haue set vp, and cauled him to be honoured according to his worde: but this was a certaine confession of Gods power, whereunto he was compelled by this wonderfull miracle.

n Which hath not onely life in himselfe, but is the onely fountaine of life, and quickeneth all things, so that without him there is no life.

meth, may be [f]altered.

16 ¶ Then the king commaunded, and they brought Daniel, and cast him into the denne of lyons: now the king spake, and sayd vnto Daniel, Thy God, whom thou alway seruest, euen he will deliuer thee.

17 And a stone was brought, and laied vpon the mouth of the denne, and the King sealed it with his owne signet, and with the signet of his princes, that the purpose might not be changed, concerning Daniel.

18 Then ỹ king went vnto his palace, & remained fasting, neither were ỹ instruments of musike brought before him, & his sleepe went from him.

19 ¶ Then the King arose earely in the morning, & went in all haste vnto the denne of lions.

20 And when he came to the denne, he cryed with a lamentable voyce vnto Daniel: and the King spake, and sayd to Daniel, O Daniel, the seruant of ỹ liuing God, is not thy God (whom thou alway seruest) [g]able to deliuer thee from ỹ lions?

21 Then sayd Daniel vnto the King, O King, liue for euer.

22 My God hath sent his Angel and hath shut the lions mouthes, that they haue not hurt mee: for [h] my iustice was found out before him: and vnto thee, O King, I haue done [i] no hurt.

23 Then was the king exceeding glad for him, and commaunded that they should take Daniel out of the denne: so Daniel was brought out of the denne, and no maner of hurt was found vpon him, because he [k] beleeued in his God.

24 And by the cōmandement of the king these men which had accused Daniel, were brought, & were [l] cast into the denne of lions, euen they, their children, and their wiues: and the lions had the masterie of them, and brake all their bones apeces, or euer they came at the ground of the denne.

25 ¶ Afterward king Darius wrote, Vnto all people, nations and languages, that dwel in all the world: Peace be multiplied vnto you.

26 [m]I make a decree that in all the dominion of my kingdome, men tremble and feare [m] before the God of Daniel: for he is the [n] liuing God, and remaineth for euer: and his kingdome shall not perish, and his dominion shalbe euerlasting.

27 He resteueth and deliuereth, and hee worketh signes & wonders in heauen & in earth: who hath deliuered Daniel fro the power of the lions.

28 So this Daniel prospered in the reigne of Darius and in the reigne of Cyrus of Persia.

CHAP. VII.

3 A vision of foure beasts is shewed vnto Daniel. 8 The ten hornes of the fourth beast. 27 Of the euerlasting kingdome of Christ.

a Whereas the people of Israel looked for a continuall quietnesse after these seuenty yeeres as Ieremiah had declared, he sheweth that this rest shal not be a deliuerance from all troubles but a beginning, and therefore incouraged them to looke for a continuall affliction till the Messiah be vttered & reuealed, by whome they should haue a spirituall deliuerance, and all the promises fulfilled: whereof they should haue a certaine token in the destruction of the Babylonicall kingdome.

IN the first yeere of Belshazzar King of Babel, Daniel sawe a dreame, and there were visions in his head, vpon his bed: [a] then hee wrote the dreame, and declared the summe of the matter.

2 Daniel spake, and sayd, I sawe in my vision by night, and behold, the foure windes of the heauen stroue vpon [b] the great sea:

3 And foure great beastes came vp from the sea one diuers from another.

4 The first was as a [c] lion, & had egles wings: I behelde, till the wings thereof were pluckt off, and it was lifted vp from the earth, and set vpon his feete as a man, and a mans heart was giuen him.

5 And behold, another beast which was the second, was like a [d] Beare & stood vpon the [e] one side: and hee had three ribbes in his [f] mouth betweene his teeth, & they sayd thus vnto him, Arise and deuoure much flesh.

6 After this I behelde, and loe, there was an other like a [h] leopard, which had vpon his backe [i] foure wings of a foule: the beast had also foure heads, and [k] dominion was giuen him.

7 After this I sawin the visions by night, and behold, the [l] fourth beast was fearefull and terrible and very strong. It had [m] great yron teeth: it deuoured and brake in pieces and stamped [n] the residue vnder his feete: and it was vnlike to the beasts that were before it: for it had [o] ten hornes

8 As I considered the hornes, beholde, there came vp among them another little [p] horne, before whome there were [q] three of the first hornes pluckt away: and behold, in this horne were [r] eyes like the eyes of man, and a mouth speaking presumptuous things.

9 I beheld, till the [s] thrones were set vp and the [t] Ancient of dayes did sit, whose garment was white as snowe, and the haire of his head like the pure wooll: his throne was like the firie flame, and his wheeles as burning fire.

10 A firie streame issued, and came foorth from before him: thousand thousands ministred vnto him, and tenne thousand [u] thousands stood before him: the iudgement was set, and the [x] bookes opened.

b Which signified that there should be horrible troubles and afflictions in the world in all corners of the world and at sundrie times.

c Meaning, the Assyrian and Caldean empire, which was most strong and fierce in power, and most soone come to their authoritie as though they had had winges to flie: yet their wings were pulled by the Persians, and they went on their feete, and were made like other men, which is here meant by mans heart.

d Meaning, the Persians, which were barbarous and cruell.

e They were smal in the beginning and were shut vp in their mountaines and had no bruite.

f That is, destroied many kingdomes, and was insatiable.

g To wit, the Angels by Gods commandement, who by this meanes punished the ingratitude of the world.

h Meaning, Alexander the king of Macedonie.

i That is his foure chiefe captaines, which had the empire among them after his death. Seleucus had Asia the great, Antigonus, the lesse, Cassander and after him Antipater was King of Macedonia, and Ptolemeus had Egypt.

k It was not of him selfe nor of his owne power that hee gate all these countries: for his armie conteined but thirtie thousand men, and hee ouercame in one battell Darius, which had tenne hundreth thousand, when hee was so heauie with sleepe that his eyes were scarse open, as the stories report: therefore this power was giuen him of God.

l That is, the Romane empire which was as a monster & could not be compared to any beast, because the nature of none was able to expresse it.

m Signifying the tyrannie and greedinesse of the Romanes.

n That which the Romanes could not quietly inioy in other countries, they would giue it to other Kings and rulers, that at all times when they would, they might take it against which liberalitie is here called the stamping of the rest of vnder the feet.

o That is, sundrie and diuers prouinces which were gouerned by the deputies and proconsuls, where of euery one might be compared to a king.

p Which is meant of Iulius Cæsar, Augustus, Tiberius, Caligula, Claudius, and Nero, &c. who were as Kings in effect, but because they coulde not rule but by the consent of the Senate, their power is compared to a little horne. For Mahomet came not of the Romane empire, and the Pope hath no vocation of gouernement: therefore this cannot be applied vnto them. and also in this prophesie the Prophets purpose is chiefly to comfort the Iewes vnto the reuelation of Christ. Some take it for the whole body of Antichrist.

q Meaning, a certaine portion of the tenne hornes: that is, a part from the whole estate was pluckt away. For Augustus tooke from the Senate the libertie of choosing the deputies to send into the prouinces, and tooke the gouernement of certaine countries to himselfe.

r These Romane Emperours at the first vsed a certaine humanitie and gentlenesse, and were content that others, as the Consuls and Senate, should beare the name of dignitie, so that they might haue the profite, and therefore in Elections and Counsels would behaue themselues according as did other Senatours: yet against their enemies and those that would resist them, they were fierce and cruell, which is here meant by the proud mouth.

s Meaning the places where God & his Angels should come to iudge these Monarchies, which iudgement should beginne at the first comming of Christ.

t That is, God which was before all times, and is heere described as mans nature is able to comprehend some portion of his glory.

u That is, an infinite number of Angels, which were ready to execute his commandement.

x This is meant of the first comming of Christ, when as the will of God was plainely reuelled by his Gospel.

y Meaning, that he was astonied, when he saw these Emperours in such dignity, and pride, and so suddenly destroyed at the coming of Christ, when this fourth Monarchie was subiect to men of other nations.

z As the three former Monarchies had an ende at the time that God appointed, although they florished for a time, so shall this fourth haue, and they that patiently abide Gods appointment, shal enioy the promises.

a Which is meant of Christ, who had not yet taken vpon him mans nature, neither was the sonne of David according to the flesh, as he was afterward: but appeared then in a figure, and that in the cloudes: that is, being separate from the common sort of men by manifest signes of his diuinitie.

b To wit, when he ascended into the heauens, and his diuine maiestie appeared, and all power was giuen vnto him in respect of that that he was our Mediatour.

c This is ment of the beginning of Christs kingdome when God the Father gaue vnto him all dominion, as to the Mediatour, to the intent that he should gouerne here his Church in earth continually till the time that he brought them to eternall life.

d Through the strangenesse of the vision.

e Meaning, of the Angels, as verse 10.

f Because Abraham was appointed heire of all the world, Rom. 4. 13. and in him all the faithfull, therefore the kingdome thereof is theirs by right, which these foure beastes or tyrants should inuade, and vsurpe vntill the world were restored by Christ: and this was to confirme them that were in troubles, that their afflictions should haue an end at length.

11 Then I behelde, y because of the voyce of the presumptuous words, which the horne spake: I behelde, euen till the beast was slaine, and his body destroyed, and giuen to the burning fire.

12 As z concerning the other beasts, they had taken away their dominion: yet their liues were prolonged for a certaine time and season.

13 ¶ As I beheld in visions by night, beholde, a one like the sonne of man came in the cloudes of heauen, and b approched vnto the Ancient of dayes, and they brought him before him.

14 And he gaue him c dominion, and honour, and a kingdome, that all people, nations and languages should serue him: his dominion is an euerlasting dominion, which shall neuer be taken away: and his kingdome shall neuer be destroyed.

15 ¶ I Daniel was d troubled in my spirit, in the middes of my body, and the visions of mine head made me afraid.

16 Therefore I came vnto e one of them that stoode by, and asked him the trueth of all this: so he tolde me, and shewed me the interpretation of these things.

17 These great beastes which are foure, are foure Kings, which shall arise out of the earth, 18 And they shall take the f kingdome of the Saints of the g most High, which shal possesse the kingdome for euer, euen for euer and euer.

19 ¶ After this, I would know the trueth of the fourth beast, which was so h vnlike to all the others, very fearefull, whose teeth were of yron, and his nailes of brasse: which deuoured, brake in pieces, and stamped the i residue vnder his feete.

20 Also to know of the ten hornes that were in his head, and of the other which came vp, before whom three fell, and of the horne that had eyes, and of the mouth that spake presumytuous things, whose k looke was more stoute then his fellowes.

21 I behelde, and the same l horne made battell against the Saints, yea, and preuailed against them, 22 Vntill m the Ancient of dayes came, and iudgement was giuen to the Saints of the most High: and the time approched, that the Saintes possessed the kingdome.

23 Then he said, The fourth beast shall be the fourth kingdome in the earth, which shalbe vnlike to all the kingdomes, and shall deuoure the whole earth, and shal treade it downe and breake it in pieces.

24 And the ten hornes out of the kingdome are tenne Kings that shall rise: and another shall rise after them, and he shall be vnlike to the first, and he shall subdue n three Kings.

25 And shall speake words against o the most High, and shall consume the Saintes of the most High, and thinke that he may p change times and Lawes, and they shalbe giuen into his hand, vntill a q time, and times, and the diuiding of time.

26 But the r iudgement shall sit, and they shall take away his dominion, to consume and destroy it vnto the ende.

27 And the s kingdome, and dominion, and the greatnesse of the kingdome vnder the whole heauen shall be giuen to the holy people of the most High, whose kingdome is an euerlasting kingdome and all t powers shall serue and obey him.

28 Euen this is the ende of the matter, I Daniel had many u cogitations which troubled mee, and my countenance changed in me: but I kept the matter in mine heart.

g That is, of the most high things, because God hath chosen them out of this worlde, that they should looke vp to the heauens, whereon all their hope dependeth.

h For the other three Monarchies were gouerned by a King & the Romane empire by Consuls: the Romanes changed their gouernours yeerely, and the other Monarchies receiued them for terme of life: also the Romanes were the strongest of all the other, and were neuer quiet among themselues.

i Reade verse 7.

k This is ment of the fourth beast, which was more terrible then the other.

l Meaning the Romane Emperours, who were most cruell against the Church of God both of the Iewes and of the Gentiles.

m Till God thewed his power in the person of Christ, & by the preaching of the Gospel gaue vnto his some rest, and so obteined a famous name in the world, & were called the Church of God, or the kingdome of God.

n Reade the exposition here of verse 8.

o That is, shal make wicked decrees and proclamations against Gods word, and send throughout all their dominion, to destroy all that did professe it.

p These Emperours shal not consider that they haue their power of God, but thinke it is in their owne power to change Gods lawes and mans, and as it were the order of nature, as appeareth by Octauius, Tiberius, Caligula, Nero, Domitianus, &c.

q God shall suffer them thus to rage against his Saints for a long time, which is meant by the time & times, for his elects sake.

r God by his power shall restore things that were out of order, and so destroy this little horne, that it shal neuer rise vp againe.

s He sheweth wherefore the beast should be destroied, to wit, that his Church might haue rest and quietnesse, which though they doe not fully enioy here, yet they haue it in hope and by the preaching of the Gospel enioy the beginning thereof, which is meant by these wordes, vnder the heauens and therefore he heere speaketh of the beginning of Christes kingdome in this worlde, which kingdome the faithfull haue by the participation that they haue with Christ their head.

t That is, some of euery sort that beare rule.

u Though he had many motions in his heart which mooued him to and fro to seeke out this matter curiously: yet he was content with that which God reuealed, and kept it in memorie, and wrote it for the vse of the Church.

but at length will asswage these troubles and shorten the time Matth. 24. 22. which is here meant by the diuiding of time.

CHAP. VIII.

A vision of a battell betweene a ramme and a goate. 20 The vnderstanding of the vision.

IN the third yeere of the reigne of King Belshazzar, a vision appeared vnto mee euen vnto me Daniel, a after that which appeared vnto mee at the first.

2 And I saw in a vision, and when I sawe it, I was in the palace of Shushan, which is in the prouince b of Elam, and in a vision mee thought I was by the riuer of Vlai.

3 Then I looked vp and sawe, and beholde, there stoode before the riuer a c ramme, which had two hornes: and these two hornes were hie: but one was d hier then another, and the highest came vp last.

4 I saw the ramme pushing against the West, and against the North, and against the South: so that no e beastes might stand before him, nor could deliuer out of his hand, but he did what he listed, and became great.

5 And as I considered, beholde, f a goate came from the West ouer the whole earth, and touched not the ground: and this goate had no g horne that appeared betweene his eyes.

6 And he came vnto the ramme that had the two hornes, whome I had seene standing by the riuer, and ranne vnto him in his fierce rage.

7 And I sawe him come vnto the ramme, and being moued against him, he h smote the ramme, and brake his two hornes: and there was no power in the ramme to stand against him, but hee cast him downe to the ground, and stamped vpon him, and there was none that could deliuer the ramme out of his power.

8 Therefore the goate waxed exceeding great, and when he was at the strongest, his great i horne was broken: and for it came vp foure that a After the generall vision, he commeth to certaine particular visions as touching the destruction of the Monarchie of the Persians, and Macedonians: for the ruine of the Babylonians was at hand, and also he had sufficiently spoken thereof.

b That is, of Persia.

c Which represented the kingdome of the Persians and Medes, which were ioyned together.

d Meaning Cyrus, which after grewe greater in power then Darius his vncle and father in lawe.

e That is, no kings or nations.

f Meaning Alexander that came from Grecia with great speede and expedition.

g Though he came in the name of all Grecia, yet hee bare the title and dignitie of the generall captaine, so that the strength was attributed to him, which is meant by this horne.

h Alexander ouercame Darius in two sundry battels, and so had the two kingdomes of the Medes and Persians.

i Alexanders great power was broken: for when hee had ouercome all the East, hee thought to returne toward Grecia to subdue them that there had rebelled, and so dyed by the way.

k That is, which were famous: for almost in the space of fifteene yeere there were fifteene diuers successours before this monarchie was diuided to these foure, whereof Cassander had Macedonia, Seleucus Syria, Antigonus Asia the lesse, and Ptolemeus Egypt.
l Which was Antiochus Epiphanes, who was of a seruile and flattering nature, and also there were other betweene him and the kingdome, and therefore is here called the litle horne, because neither princely conditions, nor any other thing was in him, why he should obteine this kingdome.
m That is, toward Egypt.
n Whereby he meaneth Ptolemais o That is, Iudea.
p Antiochus raged against the elect of God, and trode his precious starres vnder feete, which are so called, because they are separated from the world.
q That is, God, who gouerneth and maintaineth his Church.
r He laboured to abolish all religion, and therefore cast Gods seruice out of his Temple, which God had chosen as a little corner from all the rest of the world to haue his Name there truely called vpon.
s He sheweth that their sinnes are the cause of these horrible afflictions: and yet comforteth them, in that hee appoynteth this tyrant a time, whom he wouldnt not suffer vtterly to abolish his religion.
t This horne shall abolish for a time the true doctrine, & so corrupt Gods seruice.
u Meaning, that he heard one of the Angels asking this question of Christ, whom he calleth a certaine one or a secret one, or a marueilous one.
x That is, the Iewes sinnes, which were cause of this destruction.
y That is, which suppresseth Gods religion, and his people.
z Christ answered mee for the comfort of the Church.
a That is, vntill so many naturall dayes be past, which make sixe yeeres three moneths and an halfe: for so long vnder Antiochus was the Temple prophaned.
b Which was Christ, who in this maner declared himselfe to the olde fathers before he would be God manifested in the flesh.
c This power to command the Angel, declared that hee was God.
d The effect of this vision shall not yet appeare, but a long time after.
e Meaning the great rage which Antiochus should shew against the Church.
f That is, Grecia.
g They shall not haue like power as had Alexander.
h Noting that this Antiochus was impudent and cruell, and also craftie that he could not be deceiued.
i That is, not like Alexanders strength.
k Both the Gentiles that dwell about him, and also the Iewes, k appeared toward the foure winds of the heauen.

9 And out of one of them came foorth l a little horne, which waxed very great toward the m South, and towarde the n East, and towarde the o pleasant land.

10 Yea, it grewe vp vnto the p hoste of heauen, and it cast downe some of the hoste, & of the starres to the ground, and trode vpon them,

11 And extolled himselfe against the q prince of the hoste from whom the r dayly sacrifice was taken away, and the place of his Sanctuarie was cast downe.

12 And s a time shall bee giuen him ouer the daily sacrifice for the iniquite: and it shall t cast downe the trueth to the ground, and thus shall it doe, and prosper.

13 Then I heard one of the u Saints speaking, and one of the Saints spake vnto a certaine one, saying, Howe long shall endure the vision of the dayly sacrifice, and the iniquitie of the x desolation to treade both the Sanctuarie and the y armie vnder foote?

14 And z he answered me, Vnto the a euening and the morning, two thousand and three hundreth: then shall the Sanctuarie be clensed.

15 ¶ Nowe when I Daniel had seene the vision, and sought for the meaning, beholde, there stoode before me b like the similitude of a man.

16 And I heard a mans voyce betweene the bankes of Vlai, which called, and sayde, Gabriel, c make this man to vnderstand the vision.

17 So he came where I stoode: and when he came, I was afraid, and fell vpon my face: but he sayd vnto me, Vnderstand, O sonne of man: for d in the last time shalbe the vision.

18 Nowe as he was speaking vnto mee, I being a sleepe fell on my face to the ground: but he touched me, and set me vp in my place.

19 And hee sayde, Beholde, I will shewe thee what shalbe in the last e wrath: for in the ende of the time appointed it shall come.

21 And the goate is the King of Grecia, and the great horne that is betweene his eyes, is the first King.

22 And that that is broken, and foure stoode vp for it, are foure kingdomes, which shall stand vp f of that nation, but not g in his strength.

23 And in the ende of their kingdome, when the rebellious shalbe consumed, a King of h fierce countenance, and vnderstanding darke sentences, shall stand vp,

26 And the vision of the p euening and the morning, which is declared, is true: therefore seale thou vp the vision, for it shall be after many dayes.

CHAP. IX.

3 Daniel desireth to haue that performed of God, which he had promised concerning the returne of the people from their banishment in Babylon. 5 A true confession. 20 Daniels prayer is heard. 21 Gabriel the Angel expounideth vnto him the vision of the seuenty weekes. 24 The anointing of Christ. 25 The building againe of Ierusalem. 26 The death of Christ.

IN the first yeere of Darius the sonne of a Ahasheuerosh, of the seede of the Medes, which was made King ouer the b realme of the Caldeans,

2 Euen in the first yeere of his reigne, I Daniel vnderstoode by c bookes the number of the yeeres, whereof the Lord had spoken vnto Ieremiah the Prophet, that hee would accomplish seuentie yeeres in the desolation of Ierusalem.

3 And I turned my face vnto the Lord God, and d sought by prayer and supplications with fasting and sackcloth and ashes.

4 And I prayed vnto the Lord my God, and made my confession, saying, Oh Lord God, which art e great and feareful, and keepest couenant and mercy towarde them which † loue thee, and toward them that keepe thy commandements,

5 Wee haue sinned, and haue committed iniquitie and haue done wickedly, yea, wee haue rebelled, and haue departed from thy precepts, and from thy iudgements.

6 For wee woulde not obey thy seruants the Prophets, which spake in thy Name to our kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, and to all the people of the land.

7 O Lord, † righteousnesse belongeth vnto thee, and vnto vs † open shame, as appeareth this day vnto euery man of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem: yea, vnto all Israel, both neere and farre off, through al the countreys, whither thou hast driuen them, because of their offences, that they haue committed against thee.

8 O Lord, vnto vs appertaineth open shame, to our g Kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, because we haue sinned against thee.

9 Yet compassion and forgiuenesse is in the Lorde our God, albeit wee haue rebelled against him.

10 For we haue not obeyed the h voyce of the Lord our God, to walke in his lawes, which hee had layde before vs by the ministerie of his seruants the Prophets.

11 Yea, all Israel haue transgressed thy Lawe, and are turned backe, and haue not heard thy voyce: therefore the i curse is powred vpon vs, and the othe that is written in the Law of Moses a Who was also called Astyages.

b For Cyrus led with ambition, went about warres in other countreys, and therfore Darius had the title of the kingdome, though Cyrus was King in effect.
c For though he was an excellent Prophet, yet hee daily increased in knowledge by reading of the Scriptures.
d He speaketh not of that ordinarie prayer, which he vsed in his house thrise a day, but of a rare and vehement prayer, lest their fiones should cause God to delay the time of their deliuerance prophecied by Ieremiah.
e That is, hast all power in thy selfe to execute thy terrible iudgements against obstinate sinners, as thou art rich in mercie to comfort them which obey thy word and loue thee.
† Ebr. him.
f He sheweth that when soeuer God punisheth, he doeth it for iust cause: and thus the godly neuer accuse him of rigour as the wicked doe, but acknowledge that in themselues there is iust cause why he should so intreate them.
g He doeth not excuse the Kings because of their authoritie, but prayeth chiefly for them as the chiefe occasions of these great plagues.
h He sheweth that they rebell against God, which serue him not according to his commandement and word.
i As Deut. 27. 15. & the curse confirmed by an othe.

the seruant of God, because we haue sinned against him.

12 And hee hath confirmed his wordes, which hee spake against vs, and against our iudges that ‖iudged vs, by bringing vpon vs a great plague: for vnder the whole heauen hath not bene the like, as hath bene brought vpon Ierusalem.

13 All this plague is come vpon vs, as it is written in the Lawe of Moses: yet made wee not our praier before the Lord our God, that wee might turne from our iniquities & vnderstand thy truth.

14 Therefore hath the Lord † made ready the plague, and brought it vpon vs: for the Lord our God is righteous in al his workes, which he doeth: for we would not heare his voyce.

15 * And nowe, O Lord our God, that hast brought thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mightie hand, and hast gotten thee renoume, as appeareth this day, we haue sinned, we haue done wickedly.

16 O Lord, according to all thy k righteousnesse, I beseech thee, let thine anger and thy wrath bee turned away from thy citie Ierusalem thine holy Mountaine: for because of our sinnes, and for the iniquities of our fathers, Ierusalem and thy people are a reproch to all that are about vs.

17 Nowe therefore, O our God, heare the prayer of thy seruant, and his supplications, and cause thy face to l shine vpon thy Sanctuarie, that lyeth waste for the m Lords sake.

18 O my God, encline thine eare and heare: open thine eyes, and behold our desolations, and the citie whereupon thy Name is called: for we doe not present our supplications before thee for our owne n righteousnesse, but for thy great tender mercies.

19 O Lorde heare, O Lord forgiue, O Lord o consider, and doe it: deferre not, for thine owne sake, O my God: for thy Name is called vpon thy citie, and vpon thy people.

20 ¶ And whiles I was speaking and praying, and confessing my sinne, and the sinne of my people Israel, and did present my supplication before the Lord my God, for the holy Mountaine of my God, 21 Yea, while I was speaking in prayer, euen the man * Gabriel, whome I had seene before in the vision, came flying, and touched mee about the time of the euening oblation.

22 And hee informed me, and talked with me, and said, O Daniel, I am now come forth to giue thee knowledge and vnderstanding.

23 At the beginning of thy supplications the commandement came foorth, and I am come to shewe thee, for thou art greatly beloued: therefore vnderstand the matter, and consider the vision.

24 Seuentie p weekes are determined vpon q thy people, and vpon thine holy citie, to finish the wickednesse, and to seale vp the r sinnes, and to reconcile the iniquitie, and to bring in euerlasting righteousnesse, and to seale vp the vision and prophecie, and to anoynt the most Holy.

25 Knowe therefore and vnderstand, that from s the going foorth of the commaundement to bring againe the people, and to builde Ierusalem, vnto Messiah the prince, shall bee seuen t weekes and u threescore and two weekes, and the streete shalbe built againe, and the wall euen in a † troublous time.

26 And after threescore and two x weekes, shal Messiah be slaine, and shall y haue nothing, and the people of z the prince that shall come, shall destroy the citie and the Sanctuarie, and the ende thereof shalbe with a flood: and vnto the ende of the battell it shalbe destroyed by desolations.

27 And he a shall confirme the conenant with many for one weeke: and in the middes of the weeke he shall cause the sacrifice and the oblation to b cease, c and for the ouerspreading of the abominations, he shall make it desolate, euen vntill the consummation determined shalbe powred vpon the desolate.

‖ Or, gouerned vs.
† Ebr. watched vpon the euill.
* Exod. 14.28. Isa. 2.11.
k That is, according to all thy mercifull promises and the performance thereof.
l Shew thy selfe fauourable.
m That is, for thy Christes sake in whom thou wilt accept all our prayers.
n Declaring, that the godly fle only vnto Gods mercies, and renounce their owne works when they seeke for remission of their sinnes.
o Thus he could not content himselfe with any vehemencie of wordes: for he was so led with a feruent zeale considering Gods promise made to the citie in respect of his Church, and for the aduancement of Gods glory.
* Chap. 8.16.
p He alludeth to Ieremiahs prophecie, who prophecied that their captiuitie should be seuentie yeeres: but now Gods mercie should seuen folde exceede his iudgement, which should be foure hundred and ninetie yeeres, euen to the comming of Christ, and so then it should continue for euer.
q Meaning, Daniels nation, ouer whom he was carefull.
r To shew mercy & to put sinne out of remembrance.
s That is, from the time that Cyrus gaue them leaue to depart.
t These weekes make fourtie nine yeere, whereof 46. are referred to the time of the building of the Temple, and three to the laying of the foundation.
u Counting from the fixt yeere of Darius, who gaue the second commandement for the building of the Temple, are 62. weekes, which make 439 yeeres, which comprehend the time from the building of the Temple vnto the Baptisme of Christ.
† Ebr. in straits of time.
x In this last weeke of the seuentie, shall Christ come and preach and suffer death.
y He shall seeme to haue no beautie, nor to be of any estimation, as Isa. 53 2.
z Meaning Titus Vespasianus sonne, who should come and destroy both the Temple and the people without all hope of recouerie.
a By the preaching of the Gospel hee confirmed his promise, first, to the Iewes and after to the Gentiles.
b Christ accomplished this by his death & resurrection.
c Meaning, that Ierusalem and the Sanctuarie should be vtterly destroyed for their rebellion against God, and their idolatry: or as some reade, that the plagues shalbe so great, that they shall all be astonished at them.

CHAP. X.

There appeareth vnto Daniel a man clothed in linnen, 11 Which sheweth him wherefore he is sent.

IN the a third yeere of Cyrus King of Persia, a thing was reueiled vnto Daniel (whose name was called Beltesh-azzar) & the word was true, but the time appointed was b long, and he vnderstood the thing, and had vnderstanding of the vision.

2 At the same time I Daniel was in heauinesse for three weekes of dayes.

3 I ate no pleasant bread, neither came flesh nor wine in my mouth, neither did I anoynt my selfe at all, till three weekes of daies were fulfilled.

4 And in the foure and twentieth day of the c first moneth, as I d was by the side of that great riuer, euen Hiddekel,

5 And I lift vp mine eyes, and looked, and beholde, there was a man e clothed in linnen, whose loynes were girded with fine golde of * Vphaz.

6 His body also was like the Chrysolite, and his face (to looke vpon) like the lightning, and his eyes as lampes of fire, and his armes and his feete were like in colour to polished brasse, and the voyce of his wordes was like the voyce of a multitude.

7 And I Daniel alone sawe the vision: for the men that were with me, sawe not the vision: but a great feare fell vpon them, so that they fled away and hid themselues.

8 Therefore I was left alone, and saw this great vision, and there remained no strength in me: for f my strength was turned in me into corruption, and I retained no power.

9 Yet heard I the voyce of his words: and when I heard the voyce of his wordes, I slept on my face: and my face was toward the ground.

10 And behold, an hand g touched me, which set me vp vpon my knees and vpon the palmes of mine hands.

11 And he sayde vnto mee, O Daniel, a man greatly beloued, vnderstand the wordes that I speake vnto thee, and stand in thy place: for vnto thee am I nowe sent. And when hee had sayd this word vnto me, I stood trembling.

12 Then sayd he vnto me, Feare not, Daniel: for from the first day that thou diddest set thine heart to vnderstand, and to humble thy selfe before thy God, thy wordes were heard, and I am come for thy wordes.

a He noteth this third yere, because at this time the building of the Temple began to be hindered by Cambyses Cyrus sonne, when the father made warre in Asia minor against the Scythians, which was a discouraging to the godly, and a great feare to Daniel.
b Which is to declare that the godly should not hasten too much but patiently to abide the ysue of Gods promise.
c Called Abib, which conteineth part of March and part of April.
d Being caried by the Spirit of prophecie to haue the sight of this riuer Tygris.
e This was the Angel of God, which was sent to assure Daniel in this prophecie that followeth.
* Iere. 10.9.
f The word also signifieth comelinesse, or beautie, so that for feare he was like a dead man for deformitie.
g Which declareth that when we are stricken down with the maiestie of God, we cannot rise except he also list vs vp with his hand, which is his power.

13 But the [b] prince of the kingdome of Persia withstoode mee one and twentie dayes: but loe, [i] Michael one of the chiefe princes, came to helpe me, and I remained there by the kings of Persia.

14 Now I am come to shew thee what shall come to thy people in the latter dayes: for yet the [k] vision is for many dayes.

15 And when he spake these words vnto me, I set my face toward the ground, and held my tongue.

16 And behold, [l] one like the similitude of the sonnes of man touched my lippes: then I opened my mouth, and spake, & said vnto him that stood before me, O my Lord, [m] by the vision my sorowes are returned vpon me, and I haue reteined no strength.

17 For how can the seruant of this my Lord talke with my Lord being such one? for as for me straightway there remained no strength in mee, neither is there breath left in me.

18 Then there came againe and touched me one like the appearance of a man, and he strengthened me, 19 And saide, O man, greatly beloued, feare not: [n] peace be vnto thee: be strong and of good courage. And when he had spoken vnto mee, I [o] was strengthened, and said, Let my Lord speake: for thou hast strengthened me.

20 Then said hee, Knowest thou wherefore I am come vnto thee? but now will I returne to fight with the Prince of Persia: and when I am gone forth, loe, the [p] prince of Grecia shal come.

21 But I will shew thee that which is decreed in the Scripture of trueth: [q] and there is none that holdeth with me in these things, but Michael your prince.

h Meaning Cambyses who reigned in his fathers absence, and did not only for this space hinder the building of the Temple, but would haue farther raged, if God had not sent me to resist him, and therfore haue I stayed for the profite of the Church.

i Though God could by one Angel destroy all the world, yet to assure his children of his loue, he sendeth foorth double power, euen Michael, that is, Christ Iesus the head of Angels.

k For though the Prophet Daniel should ende and cease, yet the Spirit shall continue till the coming of Christ for the comfort of his Church.

l This was the same Angel that spake with him before in the similitude of a man.

m I was ouercome with feare and sorow, when I sawe the vision.

n He declareth hereby that God would be mercifull vnto the people of Israel.

o Which declareth that when God smiteth downe his children, hee doeth not immediatly lift them vp at once (for now the Angel had touched him twise) but by litle and litle.

p Meaning that he would not only himselfe bridle the rage of Cambyses, but also the other Kings of Persia by Alexander the King of Macedonia.

q For this Angel was appointed for the defence of the Church vnder Christ, who is the head thereof.

CHAP. XI.

A prophecie of the kingdomes, which should be enemies to the Church of God, as of Persia, 3 Of Greece, 5 Of Egypt, 28 Of Syria, 36 And of the Romanes.

ALso I in [y] first yere of Darius of [y] Medes, euen I [a] stood to incourage & to strengthen him.

2 And now will I shewe thee the trueth. Behold, there shal stand vp yet [b] three Kings in Persia, and the fourth shall be farre richer then they all: and by his strength, and by his riches hee shall stirre vp [c] all against the realme of Grecia.

3 But a [d] mightie King shall stand vp, that shal rule with great dominion, and do according to his pleasure.

4 And when he shal stand vp, [e] his kingdome shalbe broken, [f] and shall be diuided toward the [g] foure windes of heauen: and not to his [h] posteritie, nor according to [i] his dominion, which he ruled: for his kingdome shalbe pluckt vp, euen to be for others besides [k] those.

a The Angel assureth Daniel that God hath giuen him power to performe these things, seeing he appointed him to assist Darius, when he ouercame the Caldeans.

b Whereof Cambyses that now reigned, was the first, the second Smerdes, the third, Darius the sonne of Hystaspis, and the fourth Xerxes, which all were enemies to the people of God, and stood against them.

c For he raised vp all the East countries to fight against the Grecians: and albeit he had in his armie nine hundred thousand men yet in foure battels he was discomfited & fled away with shame.

d That is, Alexander the great.

e For when his estate was most flourishing, he ouercame himselfe with drinke, and so fell into a disease: or as some write, was poysoned by Cassander.

f For his twelue chiefe princes first deuided his kingdome among themselues.

g After this his Monarchie was deuided into foure: for Seleucus had Syria, Antigonus Asia minor, Cassander the kingdome of Macedonia, and Ptolemeus Egypt.

h Thus God reuenged Alexanders ambition and cruelties in causing his posteritie to bee murthered, partly of the fathers chiefe frendes, and partly one of another.

i None of these foure shalbe able to be compared to the power of Alexander.

5 And the [l] king of the South shalbe mighty, and one of [m] his princes, and shall preuaile against him, and beare rule: his dominion shalbe a great dominion.

6 And in the end of yeres they shalbe ioyned together: for the Kings [n] daughter of the South shall come to the King of the North to make an agreement, but she shall not retaine the power of the [o] arme, neither shall [p] hee continue, nor his [q] arme: but shee shall be deliuered to death, and they that brought her, and hee [r] that begate her, and he that comforted her in these times.

7 But out of the bud of her [s] rootes shall one stand vp in his stead, [t] which shall come with an armie, and shall enter into the fortresse of the King of the North, and doe with them as hee list, and shall preuaile,

8 And shal also cary captiues into Egypt their gods with their molten images, and with their precious vessels of siluer and of gold, and he shal continue [u] mo yeres then the king of the North.

9 So the king of the South shal come into his kingdome, and shall returne into his owne land.

10 Wherefore his [x] sonnes shall be stirred vp, and shall assemble a mighty great armie: and one [y] shal come, and ouerflow, & passe through: then shal [z] he returne, & be stirred vp at his fortresse.

11 And the king of the South shall be angrie, and shall come forth, and fight with him, euen with the king of the North: for he shal set forth a great [a] multitude, and the multitude shall be giuen into his hand.

12 Then the multitude shall be proude, and their heart shall be lifted vp: for hee shall cast downe thousandes: but he shall not still preuaile.

13 For the king of the North [b] shall returne, and shal set forth a greater multitude then afore, and shall come forth (after certaine yeeres) with a mightie armie, and great riches.

14 And at the same time there shall [c] many stand vp against the King of the South: also the rebellious children of thy [d] people shal exalt themselues to establish the vision, but they shall fall.

15 So the king of the North shal come, & cast vp a mount, and take the strong citie: & the armes of the South shal not resist, neither his chosen people, neither shall there be any strength to withstand.

16 But he that shall come, shal doe vnto him as he list, and none shall stand against him: and he shall stand in the [f] pleasant lande, which by his hand shalbe consumed.

17 Againe he shall [g] set his face to enter with the power of his whole kingdome, & his confederates with him: thus shal he doe, & he shal giue him [h] the daughter of women, to destroy [i] her: but

m That is, Antiochus the sonne of Seleucus, and one of Alexanders princes shall be more mightie: for he should haue both Asia & Syria.

n That is, Berenice the daughter of Ptolemeus Philadelphus, shall be giuen in mariage to Antiochus Theos, thinking by this affinitie that Syria and Egypt should haue a continuall peace together.

o That force and strength shall not continue: for soone after Berenice and her yong sonne after her husbands death, was slaine of her stepsonne Seleucus Calinicus the sonne of Laodice, the lawfull wife of Antiochus, but put away for this womans sake.

p Neither Ptolemeus nor Antiochus.

q Some reade, Ieede, meaning the child begotten of Berenice.

r Some reade, she that begate her, and thereby vnderstand her nurse, which brought her vp: so that all they that were occasion of this mariage, were destroyed.

s Meaning, that Ptolemeus Euergetes after the death of his father Philadelphus should succeede in the kingdome being of the same stocke that Berenice was.

t To reuenge his sisters death against Antiochus Calinicus king of Syria.

u For this Ptolemeus reigned sixe and fourtie yeeres.

x Meaning Seleucus and Antiochus the Great, the sonnes of Calinicus shal make warre against Ptolemeus Philopater the sonne of Philadelphus.

y For his elder brother Seleucus died or was slaine while the warres were preparing.

z That is, Philopater when he shal see Antiochus to take great dominions from him in Syria, and also ready to inuade Egypt.

a For Antiochus had sixe thousand horsemen and three score thousand footemen.

b After the death of Ptolemeus Philopater, who left Ptolemeus Epiphanes his heire.

c For not onely Antiochus came against him but also Philip king of Macedonia & these two brought great power with them.

d For vnder Onias which falsely alleaged that place of Isa. 19.19. certaine of the Iewes retyred with him into Egypt to fulfill this prophecie: also the Angel sheweth that all these troubles which are in the Church, are by the prouidence and counsell of God.

e The Egyptians were not able to resist Stopas Antiochus captaine.

f He sheweth that he shall not onely afflict the Egyptians, but also the Iewes, & shal enter into their countrey, where of he admonisheth them before, that they may know that all these things come by Gods prouidence.

g This was the second battel that Antiochus fought against Ptolemeus Epiphanes.

h To wit a beatiful woman, which was Cleopatra Antiochus daughter.

i For he regarded not the life of his daughter in respect of the kingdome of Egypt.

k She shall not agree to his wicked counsell, but shall loue her husband, as her duetie requireth, and not seeke his destruction.

l That is, toward Asia, Grecia, and those yles which are in the Sea called Mediterranean: for the Iewes called al countries yles which were diuided from them by Sea.

m For whereas Antiochus was wont to contemne the Romanes, and put their ambassadours to shame in all places, Antilius the Consull, or Lucius Scipio put him to flight, and caused his shame to turne on his owne head.

n By his wicked life and obeying of foolish counsell.

o For feare of the Romanes he shall flee to his holdes.

p For when as vnder the pretence of pouertie he would haue robbed the Temple of Iupiter Dodoneus, the countrey men slewe him.

q That is, Seleucus shall succeede his father Antiochus.

r Not by forreine enemies, or battel, but by treason.

s Which was Antiochus Epiphanes, who as is thought, was the occasion of Seleucus his brothers death, and was of a vile, cruell and flattering nature, and defrauded his brothers sonne of the kingdome, and vsurped the kingdome without the consent of the people.

t Hee sheweth that great forreine powers shall come to helpe the yong sonne of Seleucus against his vncle Antiochus, and yet shall be ouerthroven.

u Meaning Ptolemeus Philometor Philopaters sonne, who was this childes cousin germane, and is here called the prince of the couenant, because he was the chiefe, and all other followed his conduct.

x For after the battel Philometor and his vncle Antiochus made a league.

y For he came vpon him at vnwares, and when hee suspected his vncle Antiochus nothing.

z Meaning, in Egypt.

a He wil content himselfe with the smal holdes for a time, but neuer labour by craft to attaine to the chiefest.

b He shalbe ouercome with treason.

c Signifying his princes and the chiefe about him.

d Declaring that his souldiers shall braue out and venture their life to slay and to bee slaine for the safegard of their prince.

e The vncle and the nephew shall take truce, and banket together, yet in their hearts they shall imagine mischiefe one against another.

f Signifying, that it standeth not in the counsell of men to bring things to passe, but in the prouidence of God, who ruleth the Kings by a secret bridle that they cannot doe what they list themselues.

g Which he shal take of the Iewes in spoiling Ierusalem and the Temple, and this is told them before to moue them to patience, knowing that all things are done by Gods prouidence.

h That is, the Romane power shall come against him: for P. Popilius the Ambassador appointed him to depart in the Romanes name, to which thing he obeied, although with griefe, and to reuenge his rage he came against the people of God the second time, k shee shall not stand on his side, neither bee for him.

18 After this shall he turne his face vnto the Iyles, and shal take many, but a prince m shal cause his shame to light vpon him, beside that he shall cause his owne shame to light vpon n himselfe.

19 For he shal turne his face toward the fortes of o his owne land: but he shall be ouerthrowen and fall, and be no more p found.

20 q Then shal stand vp in his place in the glorie of the kingdome, one that shal raise taxes: but after fewe dayes he shall be destroyed, neither in r wrath, nor in battell.

21 And in his place shall stand vp a s vile person, to whom they shall not giue the honour of the kingdome: but hee shall come in peaceably, and obteine the kingdome by flatteries.

22 And the t armes shal be ouerthrowen with a flood before him, and shall be broken: and also the prince of the u couenant.

23 And after x the league made with him, hee shall worke deceitfully: for he shall come vp, and ouercome with a y small people.

24 He shall enter into the quiet and plentifull prouince, and hee shall doe that which his fathers z haue not done, nor his fathers fathers: he shall diuide among them the praye and the spoyle, and the substance, yea, and he shal forecast his deuises against the strong holdes, euen for a a time.

25 Also hee shall stirre vp his power and his courage against ŷ King of the South with a great armie, and the King of the South shall be stirred vp to battell with a very great and mightie armie: but he shall not b stand: for they shal forecast and practise against him.

26 Yea, they that feede of the portion of c his meate, shal destroy him: and his armie d shal ouerflow: and many shall fall, and be slaine.

27 And both these Kings hearts shalbe to doe e mischiefe, and they shall talke of deceit at one table: but it shall not auaile: for f yet the ende shall be at the time appointed.

28 Then shall hee returne inro his land with great g substance: for his heart shall bee against the holy couenant: so shall he doe and returne to his owne land.

29 At the time appointed he shal returne, and come toward the South: but the last shall not be as the first.

30 For the ships h of Chittim shall come against him: therefore he shalbe sory and returne, and fret against the holy couenant: so shall hee doe, he shall euen returne i and haue intelligence with them that forsake the holy couenant.

31 And armes k shal stand on his part, & they shal pollute the Sanctuarie l of strength, and shall take away the daily sacrifice, and they shall set vp the abominable desolation.

32 And such as wickedly m breake ŷ couenant, shal he cause to sinne by flatterie: but the people that do know their God, shal preuaile & prosper.

33 And they ŷ vnderstand among n the people, shall instruct many: o yet they shal fall by sword, & by flame, by captiuitie & by spoile many dayes.

34 Now when they shal fall, they shal be holpen with a p litle helpe: but many shal cleaue vnto them q fainedly.

35 And some of r the vnderstanding shal fal to trie them, & to purge, & to make them white, til the time be out: for there is a time appointed.

36 And the s king shall doe what him list: he shall exalt himselfe, and magnifie himselfe against all, that ŷ God, and shal speake marueilous things against ŷ God of gods, & shal prosper, til ŷ wrath t be accomplished: for the determination is made.

37 Neither shal he regard the u God of his fathers, nor the desires x of women, nor care for any God: for he shal magnifie himselfe aboue all.

38 But in his place shall he honour the y god Mauzzim, and the god whom his fathers knewe not, shal hee honour with z gold and with siluer, and with precious stones, and pleasant things.

39 Thus shal he do in a the holdes of Mauzzim with a strange god whom he shall acknowledge: he shall increase his glory, and shall cause them to rule ouer many, and shall deuide ŷ land for gaine.

40 And at the ende of time shall the King of the b South push at him, & the King of the North shall come against him like a whirlewinde with charets, and with horsemen, and with many ships, and he shal enter into the countries, & shal ouerflow and passe through.

41 He shal enter also into the c pleasant land, and many countries shalbe ouerthrowen: but these shal escape out of his hand, euen Edom & Moab, and the chiefe of the children of Ammon.

42 He shall stretch forth his hands also vpon the countries, & the land of Egypt shal not escape.

43 But he shal haue power ouer the treasures of golde and of siluer, and ouer all the precious things of Egypt, and of the Libyans, and of the blacke Mores where he shall passe.

i With the Iewes which shal forsake the couenant of the Lord: for first he was called degainst the Iewes by Iason the high Priest, and this second time by Menelaus.

k A great faction of the wicked Iewes shall hold with Antiochus.

l So called, because the power of God was nothing diminished, although this tyrant set vp in the Temple the image of Iupiter Olympius, and so began to corrupt ŷ pure seruice of God.

m Meaning such as bare the name of Iewes, but in deede were nothing iesse: for they sold their soules, and betraied their brethren for gaine.

n They that remaine constant among the people shall teache others by their example, and edifie many in the true religion.

o Whereby he exhorteth ŷ godly to cõstancy, although they should perish a thousand times, and though their miseries endure neuer so long.

p As God wil not leaue his Church destitute, yet will he not deliuer it all at once, but so helpe, as they may still seeme to fight vnder the crosse, as he did in the time of the Maccabees whereof he here prophecieth.

q That is, there shall be euen of this small number many hypocrites.

r To wit, of them that feare God, & wil lose their life for the defence of true religion, signifying also that the Church must continually be tried and purged, and ought to looke for one persecution after another: for God hath appointed the time: therefore we must obey.

s Because the Angels purpose is to shew the whole course of the persecutions of the Iewes vnto the comming of Christ, he now speaketh of the Monarchie of the Romanes which he noteth by the name of a King, who were without all religion, and contemned the true God.

t So long the tyrants shal preuaile as God hath appointed to punish his people: but he sheweth that it is but for a time.

u The Romanes shal obserue no certaine forme of religion as other nations, but shall change their gods at their pleasures, yea, contemne them and preferre themselues to their gods.

x Signifying that they should be without all humanitie: for the loue of women is taken for singular or great loue, as 2. Sam. 1. 26.

y That is, the god of power and riches: they shal esteeme their owne power aboue all their gods and worship it.

z Vnder pretence of worshipping the gods, they shal enrich their citie with the most precious iewels of all the world, because that hereby all men should haue them in admiration for their power and riches.

a Although in their hearts they had no religion, yet they did acknowledge the gods, & worshipped them in their temples, lest they should haue bene despised as Atheists: but this was to increase their fame and riches: and when they gate any countrey, they somade others the rulers thereof, that the profite euer came to the Romanes.

b That is, both the Egyptians and the Syrians shall at length fight against the Romanes, but they shall be ouercome.

c The Angel sore warneth the Iewes that when they should see the Romanes inuade them, and that the wicked should escape their hands, then they should not thinke but that all this was done by Gods prouidence, forasmuch as he warned them of it so long afore, and therefore he would still preserue them, 44 But the tidings out of the East & the North shall [d] trouble him: therefore he shall go foorth [e] with great wrath to destroy & roote out many.

45 And he shall plant the tabernacles [f] of his palace betweene the seas in the glorious and holy mountaine, yet he shal come to his end, and none shall helpe him.

d Hearing that Crassus was slaine and Antonius discomfited.
e For Augustus overcame the Parthians, and recovered that which Antonius had lost.
f The Romanes after this reigned quietly through all countries and from sea to sea, and in Iudea: but at length for their cruelties God shall destroy them.

CHAP. XII.

1 Of the deliverance of the Church by Christ.

AND at [ỹ] a time shal Michael stand vp, [ỹ] great prince, which standeth for the children of thy people, and there shalbe a time of trouble, such as neuer was since there began to be a nation vnto [ỹ] same time: and at [ỹ] time thy people shalbe deliuered, euery one [ỹ] shalbe fou̇d written in [ỹ] book.

2 And many [b] of them that sleepe in the dust of the earth, shall awake, some to euerlasting life, and some to shame and perpetuall contempt.

3 And they [ỹ] be [c] wise, thal shine, as [ỹ] brightnes of the firmament: & they [ỹ] [d] turne many to righteousnes, shal shine as the stars, for euer and euer.

4 But thou, O Daniel, [e] shut vp the words, & seale the booke [f] till the end of [ỹ] time: many shal run tȯ and frȯ, and knowledge shall be increased.

a The Angel here noteth two things first that [ỹ] Church shalbe in great affliction & trouble at Christs cōming, & next [ỹ] God will send his Angel to deliuer it, whome here hee calleth Michael, meaning Christ, which is published by the preaching of the Gospel.
b Meaning, al shal rise at the generall resurrection, which thing he here nameth, because the faithfull should haue euer their respect to that: for in the earth there shalbe no sure comfort.
c Who haue kept the true feare of God & his religion.
d He chiefly meaneth the ministers of Gods word, & next all the faithfull which instruct the ignorant, and bring them to the true knowledge of God.
e Though the most part despise this prophesie, yet keepe thou it sure & esteeme it as a treasure.
f Till the time that God hath appointed for the full revelation of these things: and then many shall runne to and fro to search the knowledge of these mysteries, which things they obtaine now by the light of the Gospel.

5 ¶ Thē I Daniel looked, & behold, there stood other two, [ỹ] one on this side of [ỹ] brinke of [ỹ] riuer, & the other on [ỹ] side of [ỹ] brink of the riuer.

6 And one saide vnto the man clothed in linen, which was vpon the waters of the riuer, When shalbe the end of these wonders?

7 And I heard the man clothed in linen which was vpon the waters of the riuer, when he held vp his [h] right hand, and his left hand vnto heauen, & swareby him that liueth for euer, that it shall tarie for a [i] time, two times & an halfe: & when he shal haue accomplished [k] to scatter the power of the holy people, all these things shall be finished.

8 Thē I heard it, but I vnderstood it not, thē said I, O my Lord, what shalbe the end of these things?

9 And he said, Go thy way, Daniel: for the words are closed vp, and sealed, till the end of the time.

10 Many shalbe purified, made white, and tried: but the wicked shall doe wickedly, and none of the wicked shall haue vnderstanding: but the wise shall vnderstand.

11 And frō [ỹ] time that the [l] daily sacrifice shalbe take away, & [ỹ] abominable desolatiō set vp, there [m] shalbe a thousand, two hundred & ninety daies.

12 Blessed u he that waiteth & commeth to the thousand, three hundreth & [n] fiue & thirty dayes.

13 But go [o] thou thy way til the end be: for thou shalt rest & stand vp in thy lot, at [ỹ] end of [ỹ] days.

g Which was Tygris.
h Which was as it were a double oth and did the more cōfirme the thing.
i Meaning, a long time, a longer time, and at length a short time, signifying that their troubles should haue an end.
k When [ỹ] Church shalbe scattred and diminished in such sort as it shal seem to haue no power.
l From the time that Christ by his sacrifice shal take away the sacrifice and ceremonies of the Lawe.
m Signifying that the time shall be long of Christes second comming, and yet the children of God ought not to be discouraged, though it be deferred.
n In this number he addeth a month and a halfe to the former number, signifying that it is not in man to appoynt the time of Christes comming, but that they are blessed that patiently abide his appearing.
o The Angell warneth the Prophet patiently to bide, till the time appointed come, signifying that he should depart this life, and rise againe with the elect, when God had sufficiently humbled and purged his Church.

HOSEA.

THE ARGVMENT.

AFter that the ten tribes had fallen away frō God by the wicked & subtile counsel of Ieroboā the son of Nebat, & in stead of his true seruice cōmāded by his word, worshipped him according to their own fantasies & traditiō of mē, giuing thēselues to most vile idolatry & superstitiō, the Lord frō time to time sent thē Prophets to cal thē to repentance: but they grew euer worse & worse, & stil abused Gods benefits. Therfore now when their prosperity was at the highest vnder Ieroboā the son of Ioash, God sent Hosea & Amos to the Israelites (as he did at the same time Isaiah & Micah to them of Iudah) to condemne thē of their ingratitude: & whereas they thought thēselues to be greatly in the fauor of God, & to be his people, the Prophet calleth thē bastards & children borne in adultery: & therfore sheweth thē that God would take away their kingdome, & giue thē to the Assyrians to be led away captiues. Thus Hosea faithfully executed his office for the space of fiuety yeres, though they remained stil in their vices & wickednes, & derided the Prophets, & cōtemned Gods iudgements. And because they should neither be discouraged with threatnings onely, nor yet flatter thēselues by the sweetnes of Gods promises, he setteth before thē the two principal parts of the Law, which are the promes of saluation, & the doctrine of life: for the first part he directeth the faithful to Messiah, by whō only they should haue true deliuerāce: and for the second, he vseth threatnings & menaces to bring them frō their wicked maners & vices, and thus is the chiefe scope of all the Prophets, either by Gods promises to allure them to be godly, or else by threatnings of his iudgements to feare them from vice: and albeit that the whole Law conteine these two points, yet the Prophets moreouer note peculiarly both the time of Gods iudgements & the maner.

CHAP. I.

1 The time wherein Hosea prophecied. 2 The idolatrie of the people. 10 The calling of the Gentiles. 11 Christ is the head of all people.

THE worde of the Lord that came vnto Hosea the sonne of Beeri, in the daies [a] of Vzziah, Iotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah [b] kings of Iudah, & in the dayes of Ieroboam the sonne of Ioash king of Israel.

2 At the beginning the Lord spake by Hosea, and the Lord said vnto Hosea, Go, [c] take vnto thee a wife of fornications, and children of fornications: for the lande hath committed great whoredome, departing from the Lord.

a Called also Azariah, who being a leper was deposed from his kingdom.
b So that it may be gathered by the reigne of these foure kings, that he preached aboue threescore yeeres.
c That is, one that of long time hath accustomed to play the harlot: not that the Prophet did this thing in effect, but hee saw this in a vision, or els was commanded by God to set forth vnder this parable or figure the idolatrie of the Synagogue, and of the people her children.

3 So he went, & tooke [d] Gomer, the daughter of Diblaim, which cōceiued & bare him a sonne.

4 And the Lord said vnto him, Call his name [e] Izreel: for yet a litle, and I wil visite the blood of Izreel vpon the house [f] of Iehu, and wil cause to cease the kingdome of the house of Israel.

5 And at that [g] day wil I also breake the bowe of Israel in the valley of Izreel.

6 She conceiued yet againe, & bare a daughter, and God said vnto him, Call her name [h] Lo-cause Israel did preuaile with God: but that they were as bastards, and therefore should be called Izreelites, that is, scattered people, alluding to Izreel, which was the chiefe city of [ỹ] ten tribes vnder Ahab where Iehu shed so much blood 2. Kin. 10. 8.
f I will be reuenged vpon Iehu for the blood that he shed in Izreel: for albeit God stirred him vp to execute his iudgements, yet he did them for his owne ambition, and not for the glory of God at the ende declared: for he built vp that idolatrie, which he had destroyed.
g When the measure of their iniquity is ful, and I shal take vengeance and destroy all their policie and force.
h That is not obtaining mercy: whereby he signifieth, that Gods fauor was departed from them.

d Gomer signifieth a consumption or corruption & Diblaim clusters of figs, declaring that they were all corrupt like rotten figs.
e Meaning, [ỹ] they should be no more called Israelites of the which name they boasted, & therefore ruhamah: for I wil no more haue pitie vpon the house of Israel: but I wil vtterly i take them away.

7 Yet I will haue mercy vpon the house of Iudah, and will k saue them by the Lorde their God, and will not saue them by bowe, nor by sword nor by battell, by horses, nor by horsemen.

8 Nowe when she had wained Lo-ruhamah, she conceiued, and bare a sonne.

9 Then sayd God, Call his name l Lo-ammi: for ye are not my people: therefore will I not be yours.

10 Yet the number of the m children of Israel shall be as the sand of the sea, which can not be measured nor told: and in the place where it was sayd vnto them, Ye are not my people, it shall be sayd vnto them, Ye are the sonnes of the liuing God.

11 Then shall the children of Iudah, and the children of Israel be n gathered together, and appoint themselues one head, & they shall come vp out of the land: for great is the o day of Izreel.

i For the Israelites neuer returned after that they were taken captiues by the Assyrians.
k For after their captiuitie he restored them miraculously by ỹ means of Cyrus, Ezr. 1.1.
l That is, not my people.
m Because they thought that God could not haue bin true in his promes except he had preserued them, he declareth, that though they were destroied, yet the true Israelites, which are ỹ sonnes of ỹ promes should be without nũber, which stand both of the Iewes, and the Gentiles, Rom. 9.26.
n To wit, after the captiuitie of Babylon when the Iewes were restored: but chiefly this is referred to the time of Christ, who shoud be the head both of the Iewes and Gentiles.
o The calamitie and destruction of Izreel shall be so great, that to restore them shall be as a miracle.

CHAP. II.

1 The people is called to repentance. 5 He sheweth their idolatrie and threatneth them except they repent.

a Seeing ỹ I haue promised you deliuerance, it remaineth that you incourage one another to embrace the same considering that ye are my people on whome I will haue mercy.
b God sheweth that the fault was not in him but in their Synagogue, & their idolatries, that he forsooke them, Isa. 50.1.
c Meaning, that their idolatrie was so great, that they were not ashamed, but boasted of it, Ezek. 16.25.
d For though this people were as an harlot for their idolatries, yet he had left them with their apparell and dowrie & certaine signes of his fauor, but if they continued still, he would vtterly destroy them. e When I brought her out of Egypt, Ezek. 16.4.
f That is, bastards and begotten in adulterie.
g Meaning, the idoles which they serued, and by whome they thought they had wealth and abundance.
h I will punish thee that then thou mayest trie whether thine idoles can helpe thee, and bring thee into such straitnesse, that thou shalt haue no lust to play the wanton.
i This he speaketh of the faithfull, which are truely conuerted, and also sheweth the vse and profite of Gods rods.
k This declareth that idolaters defraude God of his honour when they attribute his benefites to their idoles.
l Signifying that God will take away his benefites, when man by his ingratitude doeth abuse them.
m That is, all her seruice, ceremonies and inuentions whereby she worshipped her idoles.

SAy vnto your a brethren, Ammi, and to your sisters, Ruhamah,

2 Pleade with your b mother: plead with her: for she is not my wife, neither am I her husband: but let her take away her fornications out of her sight, & her adulteries c frõ betwene her breasts,

3 d Lest I strip her naked, & set her as in the day that she was borne, e & make her as a wildernes, and leaue her like a dry land, and slay her for thirst.

4 And I wil haue no pitie vpon her children: for they be the f children of fornications.

5 For their mother hath played the harlot: she that conceiued them, hath done shamefully: for she said, I will goe after my g louers that giue me my bread and my water, my wooll and my flaxe, mine oyle and my drinke.

6 Therefore beholde, I wil stoppe h thy way with thornes, and make an hedge, that shee shall not finde her paths.

7 Though shee followe after her louers, yet shall shee not come at them: though shee seeke them, yet shall she not finde them: then shall shee say, i I will goe and returne to my first husband: for at that time was I better then now.

8 Now shee did not knowe that I k gaue her corne, and wine, and oyle, and multiplied her siluer and gold, which they bestowed vpon Baal.

9 Therefore will I returne, and take away l my corne in the time thereof, and my wine in the season thereof, and will recouer my wooll and my flaxe lent, to couer her shame.

10 And nowe will I discouer her m lewdnesse in the sight of her louers, and no man shal deliuer her out of mine hand.

11 I will also cause all her mirth to cease, her feast dayes, her newe moones, and her Sabbaths, and all her solemne feastes.

12 And I wil destroy her vines and her figtrees, whereof she hath said, These are my rewards that my louers haue giuen me: and I will make them as a forest, and the wilde beasts shall eate them.

13 And I wil visit vpon her the dayes of n Baalim, wherein she burnt incense to them: and shee decked her selfe with her o earings and her iewels, and she followed her louers, and forgate me, saith the Lord.

14 Therefore behold, I will p allure her, and bring her into the wildernesse, and speake friendly vnto her.

15 And I will giue her her vineyardes from thence, and the valley q of Achor for the doore of hope, and she shall r sing there as in the dayes of her youth, and as in the dayes when she came vp out of the land of Egypt.

16 And at that day, saith the Lord, thou shalt call me s Ishi, and shalt call me no more t Baali.

17 For I will take away the names of Baalim out of her mouth, and they shall be no more remembred by their u names.

18 And in that day wil I make a couenant for them, with the x wilde beasts, and with the foules of the heauen, and with that that creepeth vpon the earth: and I will breake the bowe, and the sworde and the battell out of the earth, and will make them to sleepe safely.

19 And I will marry thee vnto mee for euer: yea, I wil marry thee vnto me in righteousnes, and in iudgement, and in mercy and in compassion.

20 I will euen marry thee vnto me in y faithfulnesse, and thou shalt know the Lord.

21 And in that day I wil heare, saith the Lord, I wil euen heare z the heauens, and they shal heare the earth, 22 And the earth shal heare the corne, and the wine, and the oyle, and they shall heare Izreel.

23 And I will sowe her vnto me in the earth, and I will haue mercy vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will say to them which were not my people, * Thou art my people. And they shal say, Thou art my God.

n I wil punish her for her idolatrie.
o By shewing how harlots trim themselues to please others, he declareth how the superstitious idolaters set a great part of their religiõ in decking themselues on their holidayes, p By my benefites in offring hir grace and mercie, euen in that place where shee shall thinke her selfe destitute of all helpe & comfort.
q Which was a plentifull valley, and wherein they had great comfort when they came out of the wildernes, as Iosh. 7.26. and is called the doore of hope, because it was a departing frõ death, and an entrie into life.
r She shall then praise God as she did when she was deliuered out of Egypt.
s That is, mine husband, knowing ỹ I am ioyned to thee by an inuiolable couenant.
t That is, my master: which name was applied to their idoles.
u No idolatrie shall once come into their mouth, but they shall serue me purely according to my word.
x Meaning, that he wil so bleese them, that all creatries shall fauour them.
y With a couenant that neuer shalbe broken.
z Then shal the heauen desire raine for the earth which shall bring foorth for the vse of man.
* Rom. 9.25. 1. pet. 2.10.

CHAP. III.

1 The Iewes shalbe cast off for their idolatrie. 5 Afterward they shall returne to the Lord.

THen said the Lord to me, a Goe yet, and loue a woman (beloued of her husband, and was an harlot) according to the loue of the Lord toward the children of Israel: yet they looked to other gods, and b loued the wine bottels.

2 So c I bought her to me for fifteene pieces of siluer, and for an homer of barlie and an halfe homer of barlie.

3 And I said vnto her, Thou shalt abide with d me many dayes: thou shalt not play the harlot, and thou shalt be to none other man, and I wil be so vnto thee.

4 For the children of Israel shall e remaine a Herein the Prophet representeth the person of God, which loued his Church before he called her, and did not withdraw the same whē she gaue her selfe to idoles.

b That is, gaue themselues wholy to pleasures, and could not take vp, as they that are giuen to drunkennesse.
c Yet I loued her and payed a small portion for her, lest shee perceiuing the greatnesse of my loue, should haue abused me and not beene vnder duetie: for fifteene pieces of siluer were but halfe the price of a slaue, Exod. 21.32.
d I will trie thee a long time as in thy widowhoode whether thou wilt be mine or no.
e Meaning, not onely all the time of their captiuitie, but also vnto Christ.

many

f That is, they should neither haue policie nor religion, and their idoles also where-in they put their confidence, should be destroyed.
g This is meant of Christes kingdome, which was promised vnto Dauid to be eternall, Psal. 72. 17.

many dayes without a King & without a f prince, and without an offering, and without an image, and without an Ephod, and without Teraphim.

5 Afterward shall the children of Israel conuert, and seeke the Lord their God, and g Dauid their King, and shal feare the Lord, and his goodnesse in the latter dayes.

CHAP. IIII.

A complaint against the people, and the Priests of Israel.

a Because the people would not obey the admonitions of the Prophet, hee citeth them before the iudgement seat of God, against whō they chiefly offended, Isa. 7. 13. Zacha. 12. 10 mich. 6. 1, 2. b In euery place appeareth a liberty to most hainous vices, so that one followeth in the necke of another.
c As though he would say that it were in vaine to rebuke them: for no man can abide it: yea, they will speake against the prophets & priests whose office it is chiefly to rebuke them.
d Ye shall perish altogether: the one, because hee would not obey, and the other because he would not admonish.
e That is the Synagogue wherein thou boastest.
f That is, the Priests shall be cast off, because that for lacke of knowledge, they are not able to execute their charge, & instruct others, Deu 33 3. Mal. 2. 7.
g Meaning, the whole body of the people, which were weary with hearing the word of God.
h The more I was beneficiall vnto them.
i To wit, ỹ Priests seeke to eate the peoples offerings and flatter them in their sinnes.
k Signifying that as they haue sinned together, so shall they be punished together.
l Shewing, that their wickednesse shall be punished on all sorts: for though they thinke by the multitude of wiues to haue many children, yet they shalbe deceiued of their hope.
m In giuing themselues to pleasures, they become like brute beasts. n Thus he speaketh by derision in calling them his people, which now for their sinnes they were not: for they sought helpe of stocks and sticks. o They are caried away with rage. p Because they take away Gods honour, and giue it to idoles, therefore he will giue them vp to their lusts, that they shall dishonour their owne bodies, Rom. 1. 28. q I will not correct your shame to bring you to amendment, but let you runne headlong to your owne damnation.

Heare the word of the Lord, ye children of Israel: for the Lord a hath a controuersie with the inhabitants of the land, because there is no trueth nor mercie nor knowledge of God in the land.

2 By swearing, and lying, and killing, and stealing, and whoring, they breake out, and b blood toucheth blood.

3 Therefore shall the land m ourne, and euery one that dwelleth therein, shalbe cut off, with the beasts of the field, and with the foules of the heauen, and also the fishes of the sea shalbe taken away.

4 Yet c let none rebuke, nor reproue another: for thy people are as they that rebuke the Priest.

5 Therefore shalt thou fall in the d day, and the Prophet shall fall with thee in the night, and I will destroy thy e mother.

6 My people are destroied for lacke of knowledge: because f thou hast refused knowledge, I wil also refuse thee, that thou shalt be no Priest to me: and seeing g thou hast forgotten the Law of thy God, I will also forget thy children.

7 As they were h increased, so they sinned against me: therefore will I change their glory into shame.

8 i They eate vp the sinnes of my people, and lift vp their mindes in their iniquitie.

9 And there shall be like people, like k Priest: for I will visit their wayes vpon them, & reward them their deeds.

10 For they shall eate, and not haue enough: they shall l commit adulterie, and shall not increase, because they haue left off to take heed to the Lord.

11 m Whoredome, and wine, and new wine take away their heart.

12 My n people aske counsell at their stocks, and their staffe teacheth them: for the o spirit of fornications hath caused them to erre, and they haue gone awhoring from vnder their God.

13 They sacrifice vpon the tops of the mountaines, and burne incense vpon the hils vnder the okes, and the poplar tree, and the elme, because the shadowe thereof is good: therefore your daughters shalbe p harlots, and your spouses shall be whores.

14 I will not q visit your daughters when they are harlots: nor your spouses, when they are whores: for they themselues are separated with harlots, and sacrifice with whores: therefore the people that doth not vnderstand, shall fall.

15 Though thou, Israel, play the harlot, yet let not Iudah sinne: come not ye vnto r Gilgal, neither goe yee vp to s Beth-auen, nor sweare, The Lord liueth.

16 For Israel is rebellious as an vnruly heifer. Now the Lord will feede them as a t lambe in a large place.

17 Ephraim u ioyned to idols: let him alone.

18 Their drunkennes stinketh: they haue committed whoredome: their rulers loue to say with shame, x Bring ye.

19 The winde hath y bound them vp in her wings, & they shalbe ashamed of their sacrifices.

r God complaineth that Iudah is infected, & willeth them to learne by their example to returne in time.
s For albeit the Lord hath honoured this place in time past by his presence, yet because it was abused by their idolatrie, he would not that his people should retort thither.
t He called Bethel, that is, the house of God, Beth-auen, that is ỹ house of iniquitie, because of their abominations set vp there, signifying that no place is holy where God is not purely worshipped. u God will so disperse them that they shall not remaine in any certeine place. x They are so impudent in receiuing brides, that they will command men to bring them vnto them. y To cause them suddenly away.

CHAP. V.

1 Against the Priests and rulers of Israel. 13 The help of man is in vaine.

a The Priests and Princes catched the poore people in their snares as the foulers did the birds, in these two hie mountaines.
b Notwithstanding they seemed to be giuen altogether to kolines and to sacrifices, which here hee calleth slaughter in contempt.
c Though I had admonished them continually by my Prophets.
d They boasted themselues not onely to be Israelites, but also Ephraimites, because their King Ieroboam came of that tribe.
e Meaning their contemning of all admonitions.
f That is, their children are degenerate so ỹ there is no hope in them.
g Their destruction is not farre off.
h That is, all Israel cōprehended vnder this part, signifying that ỹ Lords plagues should pursue them frō place to place till they were destroyed.
i By the successe they shall know that I haue surely determined this.
k They haue turned vpside downe all political order, and all maner of religion.
l To wit, after King Ieroboams commandement, and did not rather follow God.
m In sted of seeking for remedie at Gods hand.
n Who was king of the Assyrians.

HEare this, and hearken yee, O house of Israel, and giue ye eare, O house of the King: for iudgement is toward you, because you haue bene a a snare on Mizpah, and a net spred vpon Tabor.

2 Yet they were profound, to decline to b slaughter, though I haue bene a c rebuker of them all.

3 I know d Ephraim, and Israel is not hid from me: for now, O Ephraim thou art become an harlot, and Israel is defiled.

4 They will not giue their m indes to turne vnto their God: for the spirit of fornication is in the mids of them, and they haue not knowen the Lord.

5 And the e pride of Israel doth testifie to his face: therefore shall Israel and Ephraim fall in their iniquitie: Iudah also shall fall with them.

6 They shall goe with their sheepe, and with their bullocks to seeke the Lord: but they shall not finde him: for he hath withdrawen himselfe from them.

7 They haue transgressed against the Lord: for they haue begotten f strange children: now shall a moneth deuoure them with their portions.

8 Blowe yee the trumpet in Gibeah, and the shaume in Ramah: crie out at Bethauen, after thee, O b Beniamin.

9 Ephraim shall be desolate in the day of reproofe: among the tribes of Israel haue I caused to g know the trueth.

10 The princes of Iudah were like them that h remoue the bound: therefore will I powre out my wrath vpon them like water.

11 Ephraim is oppressed, & broken in iudgement, because hee willingly walked after the i commandement.

12 Therfore wil I be vnto Ephraim as a moth, and to the house of Iudah as rottennesse.

13 When Ephraim saw his sicknesse, and Iudah his wound, then went Ephraim vnto m Assur, and sent vnto King n Iareb: yet could he not heale you, nor cure you of your wound.

14 For I will be vnto Ephraim as a Lion, and as a lions whelpe to the house of Iudah: I euen I will spoyle, and goe away: I will take away, and none shall rescue it.

15 I will go, and returne to my place, till they acknowledge their fault, & seeke me: in their affliction they will seeke me diligently.

CHAP. VI.

1 Affliction causeth a man to turne to God. 9 The wickednesse of the Priests.

COme, and let vs [a] returne to the Lord: for he hath spoyled, and he will heale vs: he hath wounded vs, and he will binde vs vp.

2 After two dayes will [b] he reuiue vs, and in the third day he will raise vs vp, and we shall liue in his sight.

3 Then shall we haue knowledge, & indeuour our selues to know the Lord: his going foorth is prepared as the morning, & he shal come vnto vs as the raine, and as the latter raine vnto the earth.

4 O Ephraim, what shall I doe vnto thee? O Iudah, how shall I intreat thee? for [c] your goodnesse is as a morning cloud, and as the morning dew it goeth away.

5 Therefore haue I [d] cut downe by the Prophets: I haue slaine them by the wordes of my mouth, and thy [e] iudgements were as the light that goeth foorth.

6 For I desired [f] mercy, and not sacrifice, and the knowledge of God more then burnt offrings.

7 But they [g] like men haue transgressed the couenant: there haue they trespassed against me.

8 [h] Gilead is a city of them that worke iniquitie, and is polluted with blood.

9 And as theeues wait for a man, so the companie of Priests murther in the way by consent: for they worke mischiefe.

10 I haue seene villenie in the house of Israel: there is the whoredom of Ephraim: Israel is defiled.

11 Yea, Iudah hath set a [i] plant for thee, whiles I would returne the captiuitie of my people.

a He sheweth the people how they ought to turne to the Lord, that he might call backe his plagues.
b Though he correct vs from time to time, yet his helpe will not be farre off if we returne to him
c You seeme to haue a certeine holinesse and repentance, but it is vp. the sudden, & as a morning cloud.
d I haue still laboured by my prophets, & as it were framed you to bring you to amendment, but all was in vaine: for my word was not meat to feed them, but a sword to slay them.
e My doctrine which I taught thee, was most euident.
f He sheweth to what scope his doctrine tended, that they should ioyne the obedience of God, and the loue of their neighbour with outward sacrifice. g That is, like light and weake persons. h Which was the place where the Priests dwelt, and which should haue bene best instructed in my word. i That is, doth imitate thine idolatrie, and hath taken graffes of thy trees.

CAHP. VII.

1 Of the vices and wantonnesse of the people. 12 Of their punishment.

WHen I would haue healed Israel, then the iniquitie of Ephraim was discouered, and the wickednesse of Samaria: for they haue dealt falsly: and [a] the thiefe commeth in, and the robber spoileth without.

2 And they consider not in their hearts, that I remember all their wickednesse: now their owne inuentions haue beset them about: they are in my sight.

3 They make the [b] King glad with their wickednesse, and the princes with their lies.

4 They are all adulterers, and as a very [c] ouen heated by the baker, which ceaseth frō raising vp, & from kneading the dough vntil it be leauened.

5 This is the [d] day of our King: the princes haue made him sicke with flagons of wine: hee stretcheth out his hand to scorners.

6 For they haue made readie their heart like an ouen whiles they lie in wait: their baker sleepeth all the night: in the morning it burneth as a flame of fire.

7 They are all hote as an ouen, and haue [e] deuoured their iudges: all their Kings are fallen: there is none among them that calleth vnto me.

8 Ephraim hath [f] mixt himselfe among the people. Ephraim is as a cake on the hearth not turned,

9 Strangers haue deuoured his strength, and he knoweth it not: yea, [g] gray haires are here and there vpon him, yet he knoweth not.

10 And the pride of Israel testifieth to his face, and they doe not returne to the Lord their God, nor seeke him for all this.

11 Ephraim also is like a doue deceiued, without [h] heart: they call to Egypt: they go to Assiur.

12 But when they shall go, I will spred my net vpon them, and draw them downe as the foules of the heauen: I will chastise them as their [i] congregation hath heard.

13 Woe vnto them: for they haue fled away from me: destruction shall be vnto them, because they haue transgressed against me: though I haue [k] redeemed them, yet they haue spoken lies against me.

14 And they haue not cried vnto mee with their hearts, [l] when they howled vpon their beds: [m] they assembled themselues for corne, and wine, and they rebell against me.

15 Though I haue bound & strengthened their arme, yet doe they imagine mischiefe against me.

16 They returne, but not to the most hie: they are like a deceitfull bowe: their princes shall fall by the sword, for the rage [n] of their tongues: this shall be their derision in the land of Egypt.

a Meaning, that there was no one kinde of vice among them, but that they were subiect to all wickednesse, both secret and open.
b They esteeme their wicked king Ieroboam aboue God, and seeke but how to flatter and please him.
c He compareth the rage of the people to a burning ouen which the baker heateth still till his dough be leauened and raised.
d They vsed all riot and excesse in their feasts and solemnities, whereby their King was ouercome with surfet, & brought into diseases, & delited in flatteries.
e By their occasion God hath deprined them of all good rulers. f That is, he counterfeited the religion of the Gentiles yet is but as a cake baked on the one side, and raw on the other, that is, neither thorow hote, nor thorow colde, but partly a Iew, and partly a Gentile.
g Which are a token of his manifolde afflictions.
h That is, without all iudgement, as they that cannot tell whether it is better to cleaue onely to God, or to seeke the helpe of man.
i According to my curses made to the whole congregation of Israel.
k That is, diuers times redeemed them, and deliuered them from death.
l When they were in affliction & cried out for paine, they sought not vnto me for helpe.
m They onely seeke their owne commoditie and wealth, and passe not for me their God.
n Because they boast of their own strength, and passe not what they speake against me and my seruants, Psalm. 73. 9.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The destruction of Iudah and Israel, because of their idolatrie.

SEt the trumpet to thy [a] mouth: he shall come as an egle against the House of the Lord, because they haue transgressed my couenant, & trespassed against my Law.

2 Israel shall [b] crie vnto mee, My God, wee know thee.

3 Israel hath cast off the thing that is good: the enemie shall pursue him.

4 They haue set vp a [c] King, but not by mee: they haue made princes, and I knew it not: of their siluer and their golde haue they made them idoles: therefore shall they be destroyed.

5 Thy calfe, O Samaria, hath cast thee off: mine anger is kindled against them: how long will they be without [d] innocencie!

6 [e] For it came euen from Israel: the workeman made it, therefore is it not God: but the calfe of Samaria shalbe broken in pieces.

7 For they haue [f] sowen the winde, and they shall reape the whirlwinde: it hath no stalke: the bud shall bring foorth no meale: if so be it bring foorth, the strangers shall deuoure it.

8 Israel is deuoured, now shall they be among the Gentiles as a vessell wherein is no pleasure.

9 For they are gone vp to Assiur: they are as a [g] wilde asse alone by himselfe: Ephraim hath hired louers.

10 Yet though they haue hired among the nations, now will I gather them, and they shall sorrow a little, for the [h] burden of the King and the Princes.

11 Because Ephraim hath made many altars to sinne, his altars shalbe to sinne.

12 I haue written to them the great things of my Law: but they were counted as a [i] strange thing.

13 They sacrifice flesh for the sacrifices of mine offerings, and eate it: but the [k] Lord accepteth them not: now will he remember their iniquitie, and visit their sinnes: they shall returne to Egypt.

a God encourageth the Prophet to signifie ỹ speedie comming of the enemy against Israel, which was once the people of God.
b They shall crie like hypocrites, but not from the heart, as their deeds declare.
c That is, Ieroboam, by whom they sought their owne libertie, and not to obey my will.
d That is, vpright iudgement and godly life.
e Meaning, the calfe was inuented by themselues, and of their fathers in the wildernesse.
f Shewing ỹ their religion hath but a shew, and in it selfe is but vanitie.
g They neuer cease but run to and fro to seeke helpe.
h That is, for the tribute which the King and the princes shall lay vpon them: which meanes the Lord vseth to bring them to repentance.
i Thus the idolaters count the word of God as strange in respect of their owne inuentions.
k Saying that they offer it to ỹ Lord, but he accepteth no seruice, which he himselfe hath not appointed.

14 For Israel hath forgotten his maker, and buildeth temples, and Iudah hath increased strong cities: but I will send a fire vpon his cities, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

CHAP. IX.

Of the hunger and captiuitie of Israel.

REioyce not, O Israel for ioy as [a] other people: for thou hast gone awhoring from thy God: thou hast loued [b] a reward vpon euery corne floore.

2 [c] The floore, and the winepresse shall not feede them, and the new wine shall faile in her.

3 They shall not dwell in the Lords land, but Ephraim will returne to Egypt, and they will eate vncleane things in Asshur.

4 They shall not offer [d] wine to the Lorde, neither shall their sacrifices be pleasant vnto him: but they shalbe vnto them as the bread of mourners: all that eate thereof, shall be polluted: for their bread [e] for their soules shall not come into the house of the Lord.

5 What will ye do [f] then in the solemne day, and in the day of the feast of the Lord?

6 For loe, they are gone from [g] destruction: but Egypt shall gather them vp, and Memphis shall burie them: the nettle shal possesse the pleasant places of their siluer, and the thorne shall be in their tabernacles.

7 The dayes of visitation are come: the dayes of recompence are come: Israel shal know it: [h] the Prophet is a foole: the spirituall man is mad, for the multitude of thine iniquitie: therefore the hatred is great.

8 The watchman of Ephraim [i] should be with my God: but the Prophet is the snare of a fouler in all his wayes, and hatred in the House of his God.

9 They [k] are deepely set: they are corrupt as in the dayes of Gibeah: therefore he will remember their iniquitie, he will visite their sinnes.

10 I found Israel like [l] grapes in the wildernes: I saw your fathers as the first ripe in the fig tree at her first time: but they went to Baal-Peor, and separated themselues vnto that shame, and their abominations were according to [m] their louers.

11 Ephraim their glorie shall flee away like a birde: from the birth [n] and from the wombe, and from the conception.

12 Though they bring vp their children, yet I will depriue them from being men: yea, woe to them, when I depart from them.

13 Ephraim, as I sawe, is as a tree [o] in Tyrus planted in a cottage: but Ephraim shall bring forth his children to the murtherer.

14 O Lorde, giue them: what wilt thou giue them? giue them a [p] barren wombe and drie breastes.

15 All their wickednesse is in [q] Gilgal: for there doe I hate them: for the wickednes of their inuentions, I will cast them out of mine House: I will loue them no more: all their princes are rebels.

16 Ephraim is smitten, their roote is dried vp: they can bring no fruite: yea, though they bring foorth, yet will I slay euen the deerest of their body.

17 My God will cast them away, because they did not obey him: and they shall wander among the nations.

CHAP. X.

1 Against Israel and his idoles. 14 His destruction for the same.

ISrael is an [a] emptie vine, yet hath it brought foorth fruite vnto it selfe, and according to the multitude of the fruite thereof he hath increased the altars: according to the [b] goodnesse of their land they haue made faire images.

2 Their heart is [c] diuided: nowe shall they be found faultie: he shall breake downe their altars: he shall destroy their images.

3 For now they shall say, Wee haue no [d] King because we feared not the Lord: and what should a King doe to vs?

4 They haue spoken wordes, swearing falsely in making [e] a couenant: thus [f] iudgement groweth as wormewood in the furrowes of the field.

5 The inhabitants of Samaria shall [g] feare because of the calfe of Beth-auen: for the people thereof shall mourne ouer it, and the [h] Chemarims thereof, that reioyced on it for the glorie thereof, because it is departed from it.

6 It shall be also brought to Asshur, for a present vnto King Iareb: Ephraim shall receiue shame, and Israel shall be ashamed of his owne counsell.

7 Of Samaria, the king thereof is destroyed, as the fome vpon the water.

8 The high places also of [i] Auen shall be destroyed, euen the sinne of Israel: the thorne and the thistle shall growe vpon their altars, and they shal say to the mountaines, * Couer vs, and to the hilles, Fall vpon vs.

9 O Israel, thou hast [k] sinned from the dayes of Gibeah: there they [l] stood: the battell in Gibeah against the children of iniquitie did not [m] touch them.

10 It is my desire [n] that I shoulde chastise them, and the people shall be gathered against them, when they shall gather themselues in their two [o] furrowes.

11 And Ephraim is as an heifer vsed to delight in [p] threshing: but I will passe by her [q] faire necke: I will make Ephraim to ride: Iudah shall plow, and Iaakob shall breake his cloddes.

12 Sowe to your selues in righteousnesse: reape after the measure of mercie: [r] breake vp your fallow ground: for it is time to seeke the Lord, till hee come and raine righteousnesse vpon vs.

13 But you haue plowed wickednes: ye haue reaped iniquitie: you haue eaten the fruit of lies: because thou diddest trust in thine owne wayes, and in the multitude of thy strong men,

14 Therefore shall a tumult arise among thy people, and all thy munitions shall be destroyed, as [s] Salman destroyed Beth-arbel in the day a For though all other people should escape, yet thou shalt be punished.

b Thou hast committed idolatrie in hope of reward. & to haue thy barnes filled, Iere. 44. 17. as an harlot that had rather liue by playing the whore then to be intertained of her owne husband.
c These outward things that thou seekest, shalbe taken from thee.
d All their doings both touching policie and religion, shall be reiected as things polluted.
e The meat offring which they offered for themselues.
f When the Lord shall take away all the occasions of seruing him, which shall be the most grieuous point of your captiuitie, when ye shall see your selues cut off from God.
g Though they thinke to escape by fleeing the destruction that is at hand yet shall they be destroied in the place whither they flee for succour.
h Then they shall know that they were deluded by them, who chalenged to themselues to be their prophets and spirituall men.
i The Prophets duety is to bring men to God & not to be a snare to pol them from God.
k This people is so rooted in their wickednesse, that Gibeah which was like to Sodom, was neuer more corrupt, Iud 19.22
l Meaning, that he so esteemed them and delited in them.
m They were as abominable vnto me, as their louers the idoles.
n Signifying, that God would destroy their children by these sundry meanes, and so consume them by litle and litle.
o As they kept tender plants in their houses in Tyrus, to preserue them from the colde aire of the Sea, so was Ephraim at the first vnto mee, but nowe I will giue him to the slaughter.
p The Prophet seeing the great plagues of God towarde Ephraim, prayeth to God to make them barren, rather then that this great slaughter should come vpon their children.
q The chiefe cause of their destruction is that they commit idolatrie, and corrupt my religion in Gilgal.

a Whereof though the grapes were gathered, yet euer as it gathered new strength, it increased new wickednesse, so that the correction which should haue brought them to obedience, did but vtter their stubbernesse.
b As they were rich and had abundance.
c To wit, from God.
d The day shall come that God shall take away their King, and then they shall feele the fruit of their sinnes, and how they trusted in him in vaine, 2. King. 17. 6. 7.
e In promising to be faithfull toward God.
f Thus their integritie and fidelitie which they pretended, was nothing but bitternesse and griefe.
g When the calfe shall be caried away.
h Chemarims were certeine idolatrous priestes, which did weare blacke apparell in their sacrifices and cried with a loud voyce: which superstition Elias derided, 1. King. 18. 27 reade 2. Kin. 23. 5.
i This he speaketh in contempt of Beth-el, reade Chap 4. 15.
* Isa. 2. 19. Luk. 23. 30 reuel. 6. 16. and 9. 6.
k In those dayes wast thou as wicked as the Gibeonites, as God there partly declared: for thy zeale could not be good in executing Gods iudgements, seeing thine owne deedes were as wicked as theirs.
l To wit, to fight, or the Israelites remained in that stubburnnesse from that time.
m The Israelites were not mooued by their example to cease from their sinnes.
n Because they are so desperate, I will delight to destroy them.
o That is, when they haue gathered all their strength together.
p Wherein is pleasure, as in plowing is labour and paine.
q I will lay my yoke vpon her fat necke.
r Reade Ieremie 4. 4.

of battell: the mother with the children was dashed in pieces.

15 So shall Beth-el doe vnto you, because of your malicious wickednesse: in a morning shall the King of Israel be destroyed.

CHAP. XI.

1 The benefites of the Lord toward Israel. 5 Their ingratitude against him.

WHen Israel [a] was a childe, then I loued him, and called my sonne out of Egypt.

2 They called them, but they [b] went thus from them: they sacrificed vnto Baalim, and burnt incense to images.

3 Iledde Ephraim also, as one should beare them in his armes: but they knew not that I healed them.

4 I led them with cordes [c] of a man, euen with bandes of loue, and I was to them, as he that taketh off the yoke from their iawes, and I layd the meate vnto them.

5 He shall no more returne into the land of Egypt: but Asshur shall be his [d] King, because they refused to conuert.

6 And the sword shall fall on his cities, and shall consume his barres, and deuoure them, because of their owne counsels.

7 And my people are bent to rebellion against me: though [e] they called them to the most high, yet none at all would exalt him.

8 [f] How shall I giue thee vp, Ephraim? how shall I deliuer thee, Israel? how shall I make thee, as [g] Admah? how shall I set thee, as Zeboim? mine heart is turned within me: [h] my repentings are rouled together.

9 I will not execute the fiercenesse of my wrath: I will not returne to destroy Ephraim: for I am God, and not man, the holy one in the mids of thee, and I will not [i] enter into the citie.

10 They shall walke after the Lord: hee shall roare like a lyon: when he shall roare, then the children of the West shall feare.

11 [k] They shal feare as a sparow out of Egypt, and as a doue of the land of Asshur, and I will place them in their houses, saith the Lord.

12 Ephraim compasseth me about with lies, & the house of Israel with deceit: but Iudah yet ruleth with [l] God, and is faithfull with the Saints.

a Whiles the Israelites were in Egypt and did not prouoke my wrath by their malice and ingratitude.
b They rebelled and went a contrary way, when the Prophets called them to repentance.
c That is, friendly: and not as beastes or slaues.
d Seeing they contemne all this kindnesse, they shalbe led captiue into Assyria.
e To wit, the Prophets.
f God considereth with himselfe, and that with a certaine griefe howe to punish them.
g Which were two of the cities that were destroyed with Sodom, Deut. 29. 23.
h Meaning that his loue where with he first loued them, made him betweene doubt and assurance what to doe: and herein appeareth his fatherly affection, that his mercy toward his shal ouercome his iudgements, as he declareth in the next verse.
i To cõsume thee, but will cause thee to yeeld, and so receiue thee to mercie: and this is meant of the small number who shall walke after the Lord.
k The Egyptians and Assyrians shalbe afraide when the Lord maintaineth his people.
l Gouerneth their state according to Gods word, and doeth not degenerate.

CHAP. XII.

Hee admonisheth by Iaakobs example to trust in God, and not in man.

EPhraim is fed [a] with the wind, and followeth after the East winde: he increaseth dayly lies and destruction, and they doe make a couenant with Asshur, and [b] oyle is caried into Egypt.

2 The Lorde hath also a controuersie with [c] Iudah, and will visite Iaakob, according to his wayes: according to his workes, will hee recompence him.

3 Hee tooke his brother by the heele in the wombe, and by his strength he had [d] power with God,

4 And had [e] power ouer the Angel, and preuailed: he wept and prayed vnto him: [f] he found him in Beth-el, and there he spake with vs.

a That is, flattreth himselfe with vaine confidence.
b Meaning, presents to get friendship.
c Which in these points was like to Ephraim, but not in idolatries.
d Seeing that God did thus preferre Iaakob their father, Iudahs ingratitude was the more to be abhorred.
e Reade Genes. 32. 31.
f God founde Iaakob as hee lay sleeping in Bethel. Gene. 28. 12. and so spake with him there, that the fruite of that speech appertained to the whole body of the people, whereof we are.

5 Yea, the Lorde God of hostes, the Lorde [a] himselfe his memoriall.

6 Therefore turne thee to thy God: keepe mercy and iudgement, and hope still in thy God.

7 He is [g] Canaan: the balances of deceit are in his hand: he loueth to oppresse.

8 And Ephraim saide, Notwithstanding I am rich, I haue found me out riches in al my labours: they shall finde none iniquitie in mee, [h] that were wickednesse.

9 Though I am the Lorde thy God, from the land of Egypt, yet wil I make thee to dwell in the tabernacles, as in [i] the dayes of the solemne feast.

10 I haue also spoken by the Prophetes, and I haue multiplied visions, and vsed similitudes by the ministerie of the Prophets.

11 Is there [k] iniquitie in Gilead? surely they are vanitie: they sacrifice bullocks in Gilgal, & their altars are as heapes in the furrowes of the field.

12 [l] And Iaakob fled into the countrey of Aram, and Israel serued for a wife, and for a wife he kept sheepe.

13 And by a [m] Prophet the Lorde brought Israel out of Egypt, and by a Prophet was hee reserued.

14 But Ephraim prouoked him with bitter places: therefore shall his blood be powred vpon him, and his reproch shall his Lord reward him.

a As for Ephraim he is more like the wicked Canaanites then godly Abraham or Iaakob.
b Thus the wicked measure Gods fauour by outward prosperitie, and like hypocrites cannot abide that any should reproue their doings.
c Seeing thou wilt not acknowledge my benefits, I will bring thee againe to dwel in tents as in the feast of the Tabernacles, which thou doest now contemne.
d The people thought that no man durst haue spoken against Gilead, that holy place, and yet the Prophet sayth, that all their religion was but vanitie.
e If you boast of your riches and nobilitie, ye seeme to reproch your father who was a poore fugitiue and seruant.
f Meaning Moses, whereby appeareth, that whatsoeuer they haue, it commeth of Gods free goodnesse.
m Meaning that no man durst haue spoken against Gilead, that holy place, and yet the Prophet sayth, that all their religion was but vanitie.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The abomination of Israel, 5 and the cause of their destruction.

WHen Ephraim spake, there was [a] trembling: he [b] exalted himselfe in Israel, but he hath sinned in Baal, [c] and is dead.

2 And now they sinne more and more, and haue made them molten images of their siluer, and idoles according to their owne vnderstanding: they were all the worke of the craftsmen: they say one to an other whiles they sacrifice a [d] man, Let them kisse the calues.

3 Therefore they shall be as the morning cloud, and as the morning dew that passeth away, as the chaffe that is driuen with a whirlewinde out of the floore, and as the smoake that goeth out of the chimney.

4 Yet I am the Lord thy God [e] from the land of Egypt, and thou shalt know no God but me: for there is no Sauiour beside me.

5 I did know thee in the wildernesse, in the land of drought.

6 As in their pastures, so were they filled: they were filled, and their heart was exalted: therefore haue they forgotten me.

7 And I will be vnto them as a very lion, and as a leopard in the way of Asshur.

8 I will meet them, as a beare that is robbed of her whelps, and I will breake the kall of their heart, and there will I deuoure them like a lion: the wilde beast shall teare them.

9 O Israel, one [f] hath destroyed thee, but in me is thine helpe.

10 [g] I am: where is thy King, that shoulde helpe thee in all thy cities? and thy iudges, of whom thou saidest, Giue me a King, and princes?

11 I gaue thee a King in mine anger, and I tooke him away in my wrath, a Hee sheweth the excellencie, and authority that this tribe had aboue all the rest.

b He made a king of his tribe.
c The Ephraimites are not farre from destruction, and haue lost their authoritie.
d The false prophets perswaded the idolaters to offer their children after the example of Abraham, and he sheweth how they would exhort one another to the same, and to kisse and worship these calues which were their idoles.
e He calleth them to repentance and reproueth their ingratitude.
f Thy destruction is certeine, and my benefits toward thee, declare that it commeth not of me: therfore thine owne malice, idolatrie and vaine confidence in men must needs be the cause thereof.

h It is surely layd vp to be punished, as Ier. 17. 1.
i But would come out of the wombe, that is, out of this danger wherein he is, and not tary to be ryfeled.
k Meaning, that no power shall resist God when he wil deliuer his, but euen in death wil he giue them life.
l Because they wil not turne to me, I will not change my purpose.

12 The iniquitie of Ephraim is h bound vp: his sinne is hid.

13 The sorowes of a trauelling woman shall come vpon him: he is an vnwise sonne, els would he not stand still at the time, euen at the i breaking forth of the children.

14 I wil redeeme them from the power of the graue: I will deliuer them from death: O k death, I will be thy death: O graue, I will be thy destruction: l repentance is hid from mine eyes.

15 Though he grewe vp among his brethren, an East winde shall come, euen the winde of the Lord shal come vp from the wildernesse, and drie vp his veine, and his fountaine shalbe dried vp: he shall spoyle the treasure of all pleasant vessels.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 The destruction of Samaria. 2 Hee exhorteth Israel to turne to God, who requireth prayse and thanks.

a He exhorteth them to repentance, to auoyde all these plagues, willing them to declare by wordes their obedience and repentance.
b He sheweth the how they ought to confesse their sinnes.

SAmaria shalbe desolate: for she hath rebelled against her God: they shall fall by the sword: their infants shall be dashed in pieces, and their women with childe shalbe ript.

2 O Israel, a returne vnto the Lord thy God: for thou hast fallen by thine iniquitie.

3 Take vnto you words, & turne to the Lord, and say vnto him, b Take away all iniquitie, and receiue vs graciously: so wil we render the calues of our c lips.

c Declaring that this is the true sacrifice, that the faithful can offer, euen thanks and prayse, Heb. 13. 15.
d We will leaue off all vaine confidence and pride.
e He declareth how ready God is to receiue them that doe repent.
f Whosoeuer ioyne themselues to this people, shalbe blessed.
g God sheweth how prompt he is to heare his, when they repent, and to offer himselfe, as a protection, & safegard vnto them as a most sufficient fruite and profite.
h Signifying, that the true wisdome & knowledge consisteth in this, euen to rest vpon God.

4 Asshur shal d not saue vs, neither wil we ride vpon horses, neither will we say any more to the worke of our handes, Ye are our gods: for in thee the fatherlesse findeth mercy.

5 e I wil heale their rebellion: I wil loue them freely: for mine anger is turned away from him.

6 I will be as the dewe vnto Israel: hee shall grow as the lilie and fasten his rootes, as the trees of Lebanon.

7 His branches shall spread, and his beautie shalbe as the oliue tree, and his smell as Lebanon.

8 They that dwell vnder his f shadow, shal returne: they shall reuiue as the corne, and florish as the vine: the sent thereof shall be as the wine of Lebanon.

9 Ephraim shall say, What haue I to doe any more with idoles? I haue heard him and looked vpon him: I am like a greene firre tree: vpon me is thy fruite found.

10 Who is h wise, and hee shall vnderstand these things? and prudent, and hee shall knowe them? for the wayes of the Lorde are righteous, and the iust shall walke in them: but the wicked shall fall therein.

IOEL.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe Prophet Ioel first rebuketh them of Iudah, that being now punished with a great plague of famine, remaine still obstinate. Secondly he threatneth greater plagues, because they grew dayly to a more hardnesse of heart, and rebellion against God not withstanding his punishments. Thirdly he exhorteth them to repentance, shewing that it must be earnest, and proceede from the heart because they had grieuously offended God. And so doing, he promiseth that God wil be mercifull, and not forget his couenant that he made with their fathers: but will send his Christ who shall gather the scattered sheepe, and restore them to life and libertie, though they seemed to be dead.

CHAP. I.

1 A prophesie against the Iewes. 2 He exhorteth the people to prayer, and fasting for the miserie that was at hand.

a Signifying, the Princes, y priests, & the gouernours.
b He calleth the Iewes to the consideration of Gods iudgements, who had now plagued the fruites of the ground for y space of foure yeere, which was for their sinnes, and to call them to repentance.
c Meaning, y the occasion of their excesse & drunkennes was taken away.
d This was another plague wherewith God had punished them, when he stirred vp y Assyrians against the.
e Mourne grieuously as a woman, which hath lost her husband, to whome she hath bene maried in her youth.
f The tokens of Gods wrath did appeare in his Temple, insomuch as Gods seruice was let off.

THE word of the Lord that came to Ioel the sonne of Pethuel.

2 Heare ye this, O a Elders, & hearken ye all inhabitants of the land, whether b such a thing hath bene in your dayes, or yet in the dayes of your fathers.

3 Tell you your children of it, and let your children shew to their children, and their children to another generation.

4 That which is left of y palmer worme, hath the grashopper eaten, & the residue of y grashopper hath the canker worme eaten, and the residue of the canker worme hath the caterpiller eaten.

5 Awake ye c drunkards, and weepe, & howle all ye drinkers of wine, because of the new wine: for it shalbe pulled from your mouth.

6 Yea, d a nation commeth vpon my land, mightie, & without number, whose teeth are like the teeth of a lyon, and hee hath the iawes of a great lion.

7 He maketh my vine waste, & pilleth off the barke of my figge tree, he maketh it bare, and casteth it down: y branches thereof are made white.

8 Mourne like a virgin girded with sackcloth for the e husband of her youth.

9 The meate offring, & the drinke offring is f cut off from the House of the Lord: the Priests the Lords ministers mourne.

10 The fielde is wasted: the land mourneth: for the corne is destroyed: g the new wine is dried vp, and the oyle is decayed.

g All comfort & substance for nourishment is taken away.

11 Be ye ashamed, O husbandmen: howle, O ye vine dressers for the wheate, & for the barley, because the haruest of the field is perished.

12 The vine is dried vp, and the figge tree is decayed: the pomegranate tree & the palme tree, and the apple tree, euen all the trees of the fielde are withered: surely the ioy is withered away from the sonnes of men.

13 h Girde your selues and lament, ye Priests: howle ye ministers of the altar: come, and lie all night in sackcloth, ye ministers of my God: for the meate offring, and the drinke offring is taken away from the house of your God.

h He sheweth that the onely meanes to auoyde Gods wrath, and to haue all things restored, is vnfeined repentance.

14 Sanctifie you a fast: call a solemne assembly: gather the Elders, and all the inhabitants of the land into the House of the Lorde your God, and crie vnto the Lord, 15 Alas: for the day, for the i day of the Lord is at hand, and it commeth as a destruction from the Almightie.

i We see by these great plagues that vtter destruction is at hand.

16 Is not y meate cut off before our eyes? and ioy, and gladnesse from the house of our God?

17 The seede is rotten vnder their clods: the garners are destroyed: the barnes are broken downe, for the corne is withered.

18 How did the beasts mourne! the herdes of cattell pine away, because they haue no pasture, and the flockes of sheepe are destroyed.

19 O Lord, to thee will I cry: for the fire hath deuoured the pastures of the wilderneſſe, and the flame hath burnt vp all the trees of the field.

20 The beaſts of the field cry alſo vnto thee: for the riuers of waters are dried vp, and the [k] fire hath deuoured the paſtures of the wilderneſſe.

k That is, drought.

CHAP. II.

He propheſieth of the comming and crueltie of their enemies. 13 An exhortation to moone them to conuert. 18 The loue of God toward his people.

BLowe [a] the trumpet in Zion, and ſhoute in mine holy mountaine: let all the inhabitants of the land tremble: for the day of the Lorde is come: for it is at hand.

a He ſheweth the great iudgements of God, which are at hand, except they repent.

2 A [b] day of darkeneſſe, and of blackneſſe, a day of clouds and obſcuritie, as the morning ſpred vpon the mountaines, ſo is there a [c] great people, and a mightie: there was none like it from the beginning, neither ſhalbe any more after it, vnto the yeere of many generations.

b Of affliction and trouble.

c Meaning, the Aſſyrians.

3 A fire deuoureth before him, and behinde him a flame burneth vp: the land is as the garden of [d] Eden before him, and behinde him a deſolate wilderneſſe, ſo that nothing ſhall eſcape him.

d The enemie deſtroyeth our plentiful countrey whereſoeuer he commeth.

4 The beholding of him is like the ſight of horſes, and like the horſemen, ſo ſhal they runne.

5 Like the noyſe of charets in the tops of the mountaines ſhall they leape, like the noyſe of a flame of fire that deuoureth the ſtubble, and as a mightie people prepared to the battell.

6 Before his face ſhall the people tremble: all faces [e] ſhall gather blackneſſe.

e They ſhalbe pale and blacke for feare, Nahum 2.10.

7 They ſhall runne like ſtrong men, and goe vp to the wall like men of warre, and euery man ſhall goe forward in his wayes, and they ſhall not ſtay in their paths.

8 Neither ſhal one [f] thruſt another, but euery one ſhall walke in his path: and when they fall vpon the ſword, they ſhall not be wounded.

f For none ſhalbe able to reſiſt them.

9 They ſhal runne to & fro in the citie: they ſhal runne vpon the wall: they ſhal clime vp vpon the houſes, & enter in at ỹ windowes like ỹ thiefe.

g Reade verſes 2, 31. & Iſa. 13.10. ezek. 32.7. chap. 3. 15 matt. 24.29.

10 The earth ſhal tremble before him, the heauens ſhall ſhake, the [g] ſunne & the moone ſhalbe darke, and the ſtarres ſhal withdraw their ſhining, h The Lord ſhall ſtirre vp the Aſſyrians to execute his iudgements. Ieve. 30.7. amos 5. 18. zeph. 1.15.*

11 And the Lord ſhal [h] vtter his voyce before his hoſte: for his hoſt is very great: for he is ſtrong that doeth his word: * for the day of the Lord is great and very terrible, and who can abide it?

12 Therefore alſo now the Lord ſaith, Turne you vnto me with all your heart, & with faſting, and with weeping, and with mourning.

i Mortifie your affections & ſeeke God with purenes of heart, and not with ceremonies.

13 And [i] rent your heart, & not your clothes: and turne vnto the Lord your God, for he is gracious and mercifull, ſlowe to anger, and of great kindneſſe, and repenteth him of the euill.

k He ſpeaketh this to ſtirre vp their ſlouthfulneſſe, and not that he doubted of Gods mercies, if they did repent. How God repenteth, reade Iere. 18.8.

14 Who knoweth, if he wil [k] returne & repent & leaue a bleſſing behinde him, euen a meate offring, & a drinke offring vnto ỹ Lord your God?

15 Blowe the trumpet in Zion, ſanctifie a faſt, call a ſolemne aſſemblie.

16 Gather the people: ſanctifie the congregation: gather the elders: aſſemble the [l] children, and thoſe that ſucke the breaſtes: let the bridegrome goe foorth of his chamber, and the bride out of her bride chamber.

l That as all haue ſinned, ſo all may ſhew forth ſignes of their repentance, that men ſeeing the children, which are not free frõ Gods wrath, might be the more liuely touched with the conſideration of their owne ſinnes.  Pſal. 79.10.*

17 Let the Prieſts, the miniſters of the Lorde weepe betweene the porch and the altar, and let them ſay, Spare thy people, O Lord, and giue not thine heritage into reproch that the heathen ſhould rule ouer them. * Wherefore ſhould they ſay among the people, Where is their God?

18 Then will the Lorde be [m] ielous ouer his land, and ſpare his people.

m If they repent he theweth that God will preſerue and defend them with a moſt ardent affection.

19 Yea, the Lord wil anſwere and ſay vnto his people, Beholde, I wil ſend you corne, and wine, and oyle, and you ſhalbe ſatisfied therewith: and I wil no more make you a reproch among the heathen, 20 But I will remooue farre off from you the [n] Northren armie, and I wil driue him into a land, barren & deſolate with his face toward the [o] Eaſt ſea, and his ende to the vtmoſt ſea, and his ſtinke ſhall come vp, and his corruption ſhal aſcend, becauſe he hath exalted himſelfe to doe this.

n That is, the Aſſyrians your enemies.

o Called the ſalt ſea, or Perſian ſea: meaning, that though his armie were ſo great, that it filled all from this ſea to the ſea called Mediterraneum, yet hee would ſcatter them.

21 Feare not, O land, but be glad, and reioyce: For the Lord will doe great things.

22 Be not afraid, ye beaſtes of the fielde: for the paſtures of the wilderneſſe are greene: for the tree beareth her fruite: the figge tree and the vine doe giue their force.

p That is, ſuch as ſhould come by iuſt meaſure, and as was wont to be ſent when God was reconciled with them.  Leuit. 26.4. deut. 11.14.*

23 Be glad then, ye children of Zion, and reioyce in the Lord your God: for hee hath giuen you the raine of [p] righteouſneſſe, * & he wil cauſe to come downe for you the raine, euen the firſt raine, and the latter raine in the firſt moneth.

q That is, in greater abundance, and more generally then in times paſt: and this was fulfilled vnder Chriſt, when as Gods graces, and his Spirit vnder the Goſpel was abundantly giuen to the Church, Iſa. 44.3. act. 2.17. iohn 7.38, 39.

24 And the barnes ſhalbe full of wheate, and the preſſes ſhall abound with wine and oyle. [q]

25 And I will render you the yeeres that the graſhopper hath eaten, the canker worme and the caterpiller and the palmer worme, my great hoſte which I ſent among you.

r As they had viſions and dreames in olde time, ſo ſhall they nowe haue clearer reuelations.

26 So you ſhall eate and be ſatisfied and praiſe the Name of the Lord your God, that hath dealt marueilouſly with you: and my people ſhal neuer be aſhamed.

27 Ye ſhal alſo know, that I am in the middes of Iſrael, and that I am the Lord your God and none other, & my people ſhal neuer be aſhamed.

28 And afterward wil I powre [r] out my Spirit vpon all fleſh: and your ſonnes & your daughters ſhall propheſie: your olde men ſhall dreame [r] dreames, and your yong men ſhal ſee viſions, s He warneth the faithfull what terrible things ſhould come, to the intent that they ſhould not looke for continuall quietneſſe in this world, and yet in all theſe troubles he would preſerue them.

29 And alſo vpon the ſeruants, and vpon the maydes in thoſe dayes wil I powre my Spirit.

30 And I will ſhewe [s] wonders in the heauens and in the earth, blood & fire, & pillars of ſmoke.

t The order of nature ſhall ſeeme to be changed for the horrible afflictions that ſhalbe in the world, Iſa. 13.10. ezek. 32.7. chap. 3.

31 The [t] ſunne ſhalbe turned into darkeneſſe, and the moone into blood, before the great and terrible day of the Lord come.

32 But whoſoeuer ſhal call [u] on the Name of the Lord, ſhalbe ſaued: for in mount Zion, & in Ieruſalem ſhalbe deliuerance, as the Lord hath ſaid, and in the [x] remnant, whom the Lord ſhal call.

15. matt. 24.29. u Gods iudgements are for the deſtruction of the infidels, & to moone the godly to call vpon the Name of God, who will giue them ſaluation. x Meaning hereby the Gentiles, Rom. 10.13.

CHAP. III.

Of the iudgement of God againſt the enemies of his people.

FOr beholde, in [a] thoſe dayes and in that time, when I ſhall bring againe the captiuitie of Iudah and Ieruſalem, a When I ſhall deliuer my Church, which ſtandeth of the Iewes, and of the Gentiles.

2 I wil alſo gather all nations, and wil bring them downe into [b] the valley of Iehoſhaphat, and wil pleade with them there for my people, and for mine heritage Iſrael, whom they haue ſcattered among the nations, and parted my land.

b It appeareth that he alludeth to the great victorie of Iehoſhaphat, when as God without mans helpe deſtroyed the enemies, 2. Chro. 20. 26. alſo he hath reſpect to this word Iehoſhaphat, which ſignifieth pleading, or iudgement, becauſe God would iudge the enemies of his Church as he did there.

3 And they haue caſt lottes for my people, and haue giuen the childe c for the harlot, and ſolde the girle for wine, that they might drinke.

and

4 Yea, and d what haue you to doe with me, O Tyrus and Zidon and all the coaſtes of Paleſtina? will ye render mee e a recompenſe? and if ye recompenſe me, ſwiftly and ſpeedily will I render your recompenſe vpon your head:

5 For yee haue taken my ſiluer and my golde, and haue caried into your temples my goodly and pleaſant things.

6 The children alſo of Iudah and the children of Ieruſalem haue you ſolde vnto the Grecians, that ye might ſend them farre from their border.

7 Beholde, I will raiſe them out of the place where ye haue ſolde them, and I will render your reward vpon your owne head,

8 And I will ſell your ſonnes and your daughters into the hand of the children of Iudah, and they f ſhall ſell them to the Sabeans, to a people farre off: for the Lord hath ſpoken it.

9 Publiſh this among the Gentiles: prepare warre, wake vp the mightie men: let all the men of warre drawe neere and come vp.

10 g Breake your plowſhares into ſwords, and your ſithes into ſpeares: let the weake ſay, I am ſtrong.

11 Aſſemble your ſelues, and come all ye heathen & gather your ſelues together round about: there ſhall the Lord caſt downe the mightie men.

12 Let the heathen be wakened, and come vp to the valley of Ichoſhaphat: for there will I ſit to iudge all the heathen round about.

13 Put in your h ſithes, for the harueſt is ripe: come, get you downe, for the winepreſſe is full: yea, the winepreſſes runne ouer, for their wickednes is great.

14 O multitude, O multitude, come into the valley of threſhing: for the day of the Lord is neere in the valley of threſhing.

15 The ſunne and moone ſhalbe darkened, and the ſtarres ſhall withdraw their light.

16 The Lord alſo ſhall roare out of Zion, and vtter his voyce from Ieruſalem, and the heauens and the earth ſhall ſhake, but the Lord will be the i hope of his people, and the ſtrength of the children of Iſrael.

17 So ſhall ye knowe that I am the Lord your God dwelling in Zion, mine holy Mountaine: then ſhall Ieruſalem be holy, and there ſhall no ſtranger goe k thorowe her any more.

18 And in that day ſhall the mountaines l drop downe newe wine, and the hilles ſhall flowe with milke, and all the riuers of Iudah ſhall runne with waters, and a fountaine ſhall come foorth of the Houſe of the Lord, and ſhall water the valley of Shittim.

19 m Egypt ſhalbe waſte, and Edom ſhall be a deſolate wilderneſſe, for the iniuries of the children of Iudah, becauſe they haue ſhed innocent blood in their land.

20 But Iudah ſhall dwell for euer, and Ieruſalem from generation to generation.

21 For I will n clenſe their blood, that I haue not clenſed, and the Lord will dwell in Zion.

c That which the enemie gate for the ſale of my people, and beſtowed vpon harlots and drinke.

d He taketh the cauſe of his Church in hand againſt the enemie, as though the iniurie were done to himſelfe.

e Haue I done you wrong, that ye will render me the like?

f For afterward God ſolde them by Nebuchad-nezzar, and Alexander the great, for the loue he bare to his people, & thereby they were comforted as though the price had bene theirs.

g When I ſhall execute my iudgements againſt mine enemies, I will cauſe euery one to be ready, & to prepare their weapons to deſtroy one another for my Churches ſake.

h Thus he ſhall encourage y enemies when their wickednes is full ripe to deſtroy one another, which he calleth the valley of Gods iudgement.

i God aſſureth his againſt all troubles, that when he deſtroyeth his enemies, his children, ſhalbe deliuered.

k The ſtrangers ſhall no more deſtroy his Church: which if they doe it is the people which by their ſinnes make the breach for the enemie.

l He promiſeth to his Church abundance of graces, reade Ezek. 47. 1. which ſhould water & comfort the moſt barren places, Amos 9. 13.

m The malicious enemies ſhall haue no part of this grace.

n He had ſuffered his Church hitherto to lie in their filthineſſe, but now he promiſeth to clenſe them and to make them pure vnto him.

AMOS.

THE ARGVMENT.

AMong many other Prophets that God raiſed vp to admoniſh the Iſraelites of his plagues for their wickednes & idolatrie, he ſtirred vp Amos, who was an heardman or ſhepheard of a poore towne and gaue him both knowledge and conſtancie to reprooue all eſtates and degrees, and to denounce Gods horrible iudgements againſt them, except they did in time repent: ſhewing them, that if God ſpared not the other nations about them, who had liued as it were in ignorance of God in reſpect of them, but for their ſinnes will puniſh them, that they could looke for nothing, but an horrible deſtruction, except they turned to the Lord by vnfained repentance. And finally, he comforteth the godly with hope of the comming of the Meſſiah, by whom they ſhould haue perfite deliuerance and ſaluation.

CHAP. I.

1 The time of the prophecie of Amos. 3 The word of the Lord againſt Damaſcus, 6 The Philiſtims, Tyrus, Idumea and Ammon.

THE words of Amos, who was among the heardmen at a Tecoa, which he ſawe vpon Iſrael, in the dayes of Vzziah King of Iudah, and in the dayes of b Ieroboam the ſonne of Ioaſh King of Iſrael, two yeere before the c earthquake.

2 And he ſayd, The Lord ſhall roare from Zion, and vtter his voyce from Ieruſalem, and the dwelling places of the ſhepheards ſhall periſh, and the top of d Carmel ſhall wither.

3 ¶ Thus ſaith the Lord, For e three tranſgreſſions of Damaſcus, and for foure, I will not turne to it, becauſe they haue f threſſed Gilead with threſhing inſtruments of yron.

4 Therfore wil I ſend a fire into the houſe of Hazael, and it ſhall deuoure the g palaces of Ben-hadad.

5 I will breake alſo the barres of Damaſcus, and cut off the inhabitant of Bikeath-auen: and him that holdeth the ſceepter out of Beth-eden, and the people of Aram ſhall goe into captiuitie vnto h Kir, ſaith the Lord.

6 Thus ſaith the Lord, For three tranſgreſſions of Azzah, and for foure, I wil not turne to it, becauſe they i caried away priſoners the whole captiuitie to ſhut them vp in Edom.

7 Therefore will I ſend a fire vpon the walles of Azzah, and it ſhall deuoure the palaces thereof.

8 And I will cut off the inhabitant from Aſhdod, and him that holdeth the ſceepter from Aſhkelon, and turne mine hand to Ekron, and the remnant of the Philiſtims ſhall periſh, ſayth the Lord God.

9 ¶ Thus ſaith the Lord, For three tranſgreſſions of Tyrus, and for foure, I will not turne to it, a Which was a towne ſixe miles from Ieruſalem in Iudea, but he prophecied in Iſrael.

b In his dayes the kingdome of Iſrael did moſt flouriſh.

c Which as Joſephus writeth, was whē Vzziah would haue vſurped the Prieſtly office, and therfore was ſmitten w the leproſie.

d Whatſoeuer is fruitfull and pleaſant in Iſrael, ſhall ſhortly periſh.

e He ſheweth firſt that all the people round about ſhould be deſtroyed for their manifolde ſinnes: which are meant by three and foure which make ſeuen, becauſe the Iſraelites ſhould the more deepely conſider Gods iudgements toward them.

f If the Syrians ſhall not bee ſpared for committing this cruelties againſt ons citie, it is not poſſible that Iſrael ſhould eſcape punishment which hath committed ſo many and grieuous ſinnes againſt God and man.

g The antiquitie of their buildings ſhall not auoyde my iudgements, reade Iere. 49. 27.

h Tiglath Pileſer led the Syrians captiue, & brought them to Cyrene, which he calleth here Kir.

i They ioyned themſelues with the Edomites their enemies, which caried them away captiues.

it, because they shut the whole captiuitie in Edom, and haue not remembred the [k] brotherly couenant.

10 Therefore will I send a fire vpon the walles of Tyrus, and it shall deuoure the palaces therof.

11 ¶ Thus saith the Lorde, For three transgressions of Edom, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because he did pursue his brother with the sword, and did † cast off all pitie, and his anger spoyled him euermore, and his wrath watched him [l] alway.

12 Therefore will I send a fire vpon Teman, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Bozrah.

13 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of the children of Ammon, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they haue [m] ript vp the women with childe of Gilead, that they might enlarge their border.

14 Therefore will I kindle a fire in the wall of Rabbah, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof, with shouting in the day of battell and with a tempest in the day of the whirlewinde.

15 And their King shall goe into captiuitie, he and his princes together, saith the Lord.

CHAP. II.

Against Moab, Iudah, and Israel.

THus sayth the Lord, For three transgressions of Moab, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because [a] it burnt the bones of the King of Edom into lime.

2 Therefore will I send a fire vpon Moab, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Kerioth, and Moab shall die with tumult, and with shouting, and the sound of a trumpet.

3 And I wil cut off the iudge out of the mids thereof, and will slay all the princes thereof with him, saith the Lord.

4 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Iudah, and for foure, [b] I will not turne to it, because they haue cast away the Lawe of the Lord, and haue not kept his commaundements, and their lies caused them to erre after the which their fathers haue walked.

5 Therefore will I send a fire vpon Iudah, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Ierusalem.

6 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of [c] Israel, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they solde the righteous for siluer, and the poore for [d] shooes.

7 They gape ouer the head of the poore, in the [e] dust of the earth, and peruert the wayes of the meeke: and a man and his father will goe in to a mayde to dishonour mine holy Name.

8 And they lye downe vpon clothes layde to pledge [f] by euery altar: and they [g] drinke the wine of the condemned in the house of their God.

9 Yet destroyed I the [h] Amorite before them, whose height was like the height of the cedars, and hee was strong as the okes: notwithstanding I destroyed his fruite from aboue, and his roote from beneath.

10 Also I brought you vp from the land of Egypt, and led you fourtie yeeres thorowe the wildernesse, to possesse the land of the Amorite.

11 And I raised vp of your sonnes for Prophets, and [i] of your yong men for Nazarites. Is it not euen thus, O yee children of Israel, saith the Lord?

12 But ye gaue the Nazarites wine to drinke, and commanded the Prophets, saying, Prophecie not.

13 Beholde, I am [k] pressed vnder you as a cart is pressed that is full of sheaues.

14 Therefore the flight shall perish from the [l] swift, and the strong shall not strengthen his force, neither shall the mightie saue his life.

15 Nor he that handleth the bowe, shall stand, and he that is swift of foote, shall not escape, neither shall he that rideth the horse, saue his life.

16 And hee that is of mightie courage among the strong men, shall flee away naked in that day, saith the Lord.

CHAP. III.

Hee reproueth the house of Israel of ingratitude. 11 For the which God punisheth them.

HEare this word that the Lord pronounceth against you, O children of Israel, euen against the whole familie which I brought vp from the land of Egypt, saying,

2 You [a] onely haue I knowen of all the families of the earth: therefore I will visite you for all your iniquities.

3 Can two walke together except they be [b] agreed?

4 Will a [c] lion roare in the forest, when hee hath no pray? or will a lyons whelpe cry out of his den, if he haue taken nothing?

5 [d] Can a bird fall in a snare vpon the earth, where no fouler is? or will he take vp the [e] snare from the earth, and haue taken nothing at all?

6 Or [f] shall a trumpet be blowen in the citie, and the people be not afraid? or shall there [g] be euill in a citie, and the Lord hath not done it?

7 Surely the Lord God will doe nothing, but hee [h] reueileth his secrete vnto his seruants the Prophets.

8 The lyon hath roared: who will not bee afraid? the Lord God hath spoken: who can but [i] prophecie?

9 Proclaime in the palaces at [k] Ashdod, and in the palaces in the land of Egypt, and say, Assemble your selues vpon the mountaines of Samaria: so beholde the great tumults in the middes thereof, and the oppressed in the middes thereof.

10 For they know not to doe right, saith the Lord: they store vp violence, and robbery [l] in their palaces.

11 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, An aduersarie shall come euen round about the country, and shall bring downe thy strength from thee, and thy palaces shalbe spoyled.

12 Thus saith the Lorde, As the shepheard taketh [m] out of the mouth of the lyon two legges, or a piece of an eare: so shall the children of Israel bee taken out that dwell in Samaria in the corner of a bed, and in [n] Damascus as in a couch.

13 Heare, and testifie in the house of Iaakob, saith the Lord God, the God of hostes.

k For Esau (of whom came the Edomites) and Iaakob were brethren: therefore they ought to haue admonished them of their brotherly friendship, and not to haue prouoked them to hatred. † Ebr. corrupt his compassions.

l He was a continuall enemie vnto him.

m He noteth the great crueltie of the Ammonites that spared not the women, but most tyrannously tormented them, and yet the Ammonites came of Lot who was of the houshold of Abraham.

a For the Moabites were so cruell against the King of Edom that they burnt his bones after that he was dead: which declared their barbarous rage, seeing they would reuenge themselues of the dead.

b Seing the Gentiles that had not so farre knowledge were thus punished, Iudah which was so fully instructed of the Lords will, might not thinke to escape.

c If he spare not Iudah vnto whom his promises were made, much more he will not spare this degenerate kingdome.

d They esteemed most vile bribes more then mens liues.

e When they haue spoyled him and throwen him to the ground, they gape for his life.

f Thinking by these ceremonies, that by sacrificing, and being neere mine altar, they may excuse al their other wickednesse.

g They spoyled others and offer thereof vnto God, thinking that he will dispence with them, when he is made partaker of their iniquitie.

h The destruction of their enemies and his mercy toward them should haue caused their hearts to melt for loue toward him.

i Ye contemned my benefites, and abused my graces, and craftily went about to stoppe the mouthes of my Prophets.

k You haue wearied me with your sinnes, Isa. 1. 14.

l None shall be deliuered by any meanes.

a I haue onely chosen you to be mine among all other people, and yet you haue forsaken me.

b Hereby the Prophet signifieth that he speaketh not of himselfe, but as God guideth and moueth him, which is called the agreement betweene God and his Prophets.

c Wil God threaten by his Prophets, except there be some great occasion?

d Can any thing come without Gods prouidence?

e Shall his threatnings be in vaine?

f Shall the Prophets threaten Gods iudgements and the people not be afraid?

g Doeth any aduersitie come without Gods appointment? Isa. 45. 7.

h God dealeth not with the Israelites as he doeth with other people: for he euer warneth them before of his plagues by his Prophets.

i Because the people euer murmured against the Prophets, hee sheweth that Gods Spirit moued them so to speake as they did.

k Hee calleth the strangers, as the Philistims and Egyptians to bee witnesses of Gods iudgements against the Israelites for their crueltie and oppression.

l The fruite of their crueltie and theft appeareth by their great riches, which they haue in their houses.

m When the Lyon hath satiate his hunger, the shepheard findeth a legge or a tippe of an eare to shewe that the sheepe hath bene worried.

n When they thought to haue had a sure holde, and to haue bene in safetie.

14 Surely in the day that I shal visite the transgressions of Israel vpon him, I wil also visite the altars of Beth-el, and the hornes of the altar shall be broken off, and fall to the ground.

15 And I wil smite the winter house with the sommer house, and the houses of yuorie shall perish, and the great houses shalbe consumed, sayth the Lord.

CHAP. IIII.

Against the Gouernours of Samaria.

a Thus he calleth the princes & gouernours, which being ouerwhelmed with the great abundance of Gods benefites, forgate God, and therefore he calleth them by the name of beastes and not of men.
b They incourage such as haue authoritie ouer the people, to powle them, so that they may haue profite by it.
c He alludeth to fishers which catch fish by hookes and thornes.
d He speaketh this in contempt of them which resorted to these places, thinking that their great deuotion and good intention had bene sufficient to haue bound God vnto them. e Read Deu. 14. 28.
f As Leuit. 7. 13.
g You onely delite in these outward ceremonies and haue none other respect.
h That is, lacke of bread and meate.
i I stayed the raine till the fruites of the earth were destroied w drought, and yet you would not consider it to returne to me by repentance.
k They could not find water ynough where they had heard say it had rained.
l As I plagued the Egyptians, Exo. 9. 10 m You were almost al consumed, and a fewe of you wonderfully preserued, 2. kin. 14. 26.
n Turne to him by repentance.

HEare this worde, ye a kine of Bashan that are in the mountaine of Samaria, which oppresse the poore, and destroy the needy, and they say to their masters, b Bring, and let vs drinke.

2 The Lord God hath sworne by his holines, that loe, the dayes shall come vpon you, that he wil take you away with c thornes, and your posteritie with fish hookes.

3 And ye shall goe out at the breaches euery kowe forward: and ye shal cast your selues out of the palace, saith the Lord.

4 Come to d Beth-el, & transgresse: to Gilgal, & multiply transgression, & bring your sacrifices in the morning, & your tithes after three e yeres.

5 And offer a thanksgiuing f of leauen, publish and proclaime the free offerings: for this g liketh you, O ye children of Israel, saith the Lord God.

6 And therefore haue I giuen you h cleannes of teeth in all your cities, and scarcenes of bread in all your places, yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

7 And also I haue withholden the raine from you, when there were yet three i moneths to the haruest, & I caused it to raine vpon one citie, and haue not caused it to raine vpon another citie: one piece was rained vpon, and the piece whereupon it rained not, withered.

8 So two or three cities wandred vnto one citie to drinke water, but they were k not satisfied: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

9 I haue smitten you with blasting, and mildewe: your great gardens and your vineyards, and your figtrees, and your oliue trees did the palmer worme deuoure: yet haue yee not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

10 Pestilence haue I sent among you, after the maner of l Egypt: your yong men haue I slaine with the sword, and haue taken away your horses: and I haue made the stinke of your tents to come vp euen into your nostrels: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

11 I haue ouerthrowen you, as God ouerthrew Sodom and Gomorah, and yee were as a m firebrand pluckt out of the burning: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

12 Therefore, thus wil I do vnto thee, O Israel. and because I will doe this vnto thee, prepare to n meete thy God, O Israel.

13 For loe, hee that formeth the mountaines, and createth the winde, and declareth vnto man what is his thought which maketh the morning darkneſse, and walketh vpon the hie places of the earth, the Lord God of hostes is his Name.

CHAP. V.

A lamentation for the captiuitie of Israel.

a He so calleth them, because they so boasted of them selues, or because they were giuen to wantonnesse and deintinesse.

HEare ye this worde, which I lift vp vpon you, euen a lamentation of the house of Isrel.

2 The a virgine Israel is fallen, and shall no more rise: shee is left vpon her land, and there is none to raise her vp.

3 For thus saith the Lord God, The city which went out by a thousand, shal leaue an b hundreth: and that which went forth by an hundreth, shall leaue ten to the house of Israel.

4 For thus saith the Lorde vnto the house of Israel, Seeke ye me, and ye shal liue.

5 But seeke not Beth-el, nor enter into c Gilgal, and go not to Beer-sheba: for Gilgal shal go into captiuitie, and Beth-el shal come to nought.

6 Seeke the Lord, and yee shal liue, least hee breake out like fire in the house of Ioseph and deuoure it, & there be none to quench it in Beth-el.

7 They turne d iudgement to wormewood, and leaue off righteousnesse in the earth.

8 Hee e maketh Pleiades and Orion, and he turneth the shadowe of death into the morning, and he maketh the day darke as night: he calleth the waters of the sea, and powreth them out vpon the open earth: the Lord is his Name.

9 He strengtheneth the destroyer against the mightie: and the destroyer shal come against the fortresse.

10 They haue hated him, f that rebuked in the gate: and they abhorred him that speaketh vprightly.

11 Forasmuch then as your treading is vpon the poore, & g ye take frō him burdens of wheat, ye haue built houses of hewen stone, but yee shall not dwell in them: ye haue planted pleasant vineyards, but ye shal not drinke wine of them.

12 For I know your manifolde transgressions, and your mightie sinnes: they afflict the iust, they take rewards, & they oppresse ȳ poore in the gate.

13 Therefore h the prudent shal keepe silence in that time, for it is an euill time.

14 Seeke good and not euill, that ye may liue: and the Lord God of hostes shall be with you, as you haue spoken.

15 Hate the euill, and loue the good, and establish iudgement in the gate: it may bee that the Lord God of hostes wil be merciful vnto the remnant of Ioseph.

16 Therefore the Lorde God of hostes, the Lorde saith thus, Mourning shalbe in all streetes: and they shal say in all the hie wayes, Alas, alas: and they shal call the i husbandman to lamentation, and such as can mourne, to mourning.

17 And in all the vines shalbe lamentation: for I wil passe through thee, saith the Lord.

18 Woe vnto you, that k desire the day of the Lorde: what haue you to doe with it? the day of the Lord is darkeneſse and not light.

19 As if a man did flee from a lyon, & a beare met him: or went into the house, and leaned his hand on the wall, and a serpent bit him.

20 Shal not the day of the Lorde be darknes, and not light? euen darkenes and no light in it?

21 I hate and abhorre your feast dayes, and I wil not smell in your solemne assemblies.

22 Though ye offer me burnt offrings & meat offrings, l I wil not accept them: neither wil I regard the peace offrings of your fat beastes.

23 Take thou away from mee the multitude of thy songs (for I wil not heare the melodie of thy violes)

24 And let iudgement runne downe as m waters, and righteousnesse as a mightie riuer.

24 Haue ye offered vnto me sacrifices and offrings in the wilderneſse fourtie yeeres, O house of Israel?

b Meaning, that the tenth part should scarcely be saued.
c In these places they worshipped new idoles, which aforetime serued for the true honor of God: therefore he saith that these shal not saue them.
d In steade of iudgement and equitie they execute crueltie and oppression.
e Hee describeth the power of God, Iob 9. 9.
f They hate the Prophets, which reproue them in the open assemblies.
g Ye take both his money & also his goode wherewith he should liue.
h God will so plague them, that they shal not suffer the godly once to open their mouths to admonish them of their faultes.
i So that all degrees shall haue matter of lamentation for the great plagues.
k Thus he speaketh because the wicked and hypocrites sayd they were content to abide Gods iudgements, whereas the godly tremble and feare, Iere. 30. 7. Ioel. 2. 11. zeph. 1. 15.
l Because ye haue corrupt my true seruice, & remaine obstinate in your vices, Isa. 1. 11. iere. 6. 20.
m Do your duetie to God & to your neighbour, & so ye shal feele his grace plentifully, if you shew your abundant affections according to Gods word.

n That idol which you esteemed as your king, and caried about, as you did Chiun, in the which images you thought that there was a certaine diuinitie.

26 But you haue borne [n] Sicceuth your King, and Chiun your images, and the ſtarre of your gods, which ye made to your ſelues.

27 Therefore wil I cauſe you to goe into captiuitie beyond Damaſcus, ſaith the Lorde, whoſe Name [u] the God of hoſtes.

CHAP. VI.

Againſt the princes of Iſrael liuing in pleaſures.

WOe to [a] them that are at eaſe in Zion and truſt in [y] mountaines of Samaria, [b] which were famous at the beginning of the nations: and the houſe of Iſrael came to them.

2 Goe you vnto Calneh, and ſee: and from thence goe you to Hamath the great: then goe downe to Gath of the Philiſtims: be [c] they better then theſe kingdomes? or the border of their land greater then your border.

3 Ye that put farre away the [d] euill day, and approch to the ſeate of iniquitie?

4 They lie vpon beds of yuorie, and ſtretch themſelues vpon their beds, and eate the lambes of the flocke, and the calues out of the ſtall.

5 They ſing to the ſound of the viole: they inuent to themſelues inſtruments of muſike like [e] Dauid.

6 They drinke wine in bowles, and anoynt themſelues with the chiefe ointments, but no man is [f] ſorie for the affliction of Ioſeph.

7 Therefore nowe ſhal they go captiue with the firſt that go captiue, and [g] the ſorow of them that ſtretched themſelues, is at hand.

8 [h] The Lord God hath ſworne by himſelfe, ſaith the Lord God of hoſtes, I abhorre [i] the excellencie of Iaakob, & hate his palaces: therefore will I deliuer vp the citie with all that is therein.

9 And if there remaine ten men in one houſe, they ſhal die.

10 And his vncle [k] ſhal take him vp & burne him to cary out the bones out of the houſe, and ſhal ſay vnto him, that is by the [l] ſides of the houſe, Is there yet any with thee? And he ſhall ſay, None. Then ſhal he ſay, [m] Hold thy tongue: for we may not remember the Name of the Lord.

11 For behold, the Lord commandeth, and he wil ſmite the great houſe with breaches, and the litle houſe with clefts.

12 Shal horſes [n] runne vpon the rocke? or wil one plowe there with oxen? for yee haue turned iudgement into gall, and the fruite of righteouſneſſe into [o] wormewood.

13 Yee reioyce in a thing of nought: yee ſay, Haue not wee gotten vs [p] hornes by our owne ſtrength?

14 But behold, I wil raiſe vp againſt you a nation, O houſe of Iſrael, ſaieth the Lorde God of hoſts: and they ſhal afflict you from the entring in of [q] Hamath vnto the riuer of the wildernes.

a The Prophet threatneth the wealthie, which regarded not Gods plagues nor menaces by his Prophets.

b Theſe two cities were famous by their firſt inhabitants the Canaanites: and ſeeing beforetime they did nothing auaile them that were here borne, why ſhould yee looke that they ſhould ſaue you which were brought in to dwel in other mens poſſeſſions?

c If God haue deſtroyed theſe excellent cities in three diuers kingdomes, as in Babylon, Syria, and of the Philiſtims, and hath brought their wide borders into a greater ſtreightneſſe, then yours yet are, thinke you to be better or to eſcape?

d Ye that continue ſtill in your wickednes & thinke that Gods plagues are not at hand but giue your ſelues to all idleneſſe, wantonneſſe and riot.

e As hee cauſed diuers kindes of inſtruments to be made to ſerue Gods glory, ſo theſe did contend to inuent as many to ſerue their wanton affections and loſtes.

f They pitied not their brethren, wherof now many were ſlaine and caried away captiue.

g Some reade the ioy of them that ſtretch themſelues, ſhal depart.

h Reade Ier. 51. 14.

i That is, the riches & pompe.

k The deſtruction ſhalbe ſo great, that none ſhal almoſt be left to burie the dead: and therefore they ſhal burne them at home, to cary out the burnt aſhes with more eaſe.

l That is, to ſome neighbour, that dwelleth round about.

m They ſhall be ſo aſtonished at this deſtruction, that they ſhall boaſt no more of the Name of God, and that they are his people: but they ſhalbe dumme when they heare Gods Name, and abhorre it, as they that are deſperate or reprobate.

n He compareth them to barren rocks whereupon it is in vaine to beſtow labour: ſhewing that Gods benefites can haue no place among them.

o Reade Chap. 5. 7.

p That is, power and glory.

q From one corner of the countrey to another.

CHAP. VII.

God ſheweth certaine viſions, whereby hee ſignifieth the deſtruction of the people of Iſrael. 10 The falſe accuſation of Amaziah. 12 His craftie counſell.

THus hath the Lorde God ſhewed vnto mee, and beholde, he formed [a] graſhoppers in the beginning of the ſhooting vp of the latter grouth: and loe, it was in the latter grouth [b] after the Kings mowing.

2 And when they had made an end of eating the graſſe of the land, then I ſayd, O Lorde God, ſpare, I beſeech thee: who ſhal raiſe vp Iaakob? for he is ſmall.

3 So the Lord [c] repented for this. It ſhal not be, ſayth the Lord.

4 ¶ Thus alſo hath the Lord God ſhewed vnto me, and behold, the Lord God called to iudgement by fire, [d] and it deuoured the great deepe, and did eate vp a part.

5 Then ſaid I, O Lorde God, ceaſe, I beſeech thee: who ſhal raiſe vp Iaakob? for he is ſmall.

6 So the Lord repented for this. This alſo ſhall not be, ſaith the Lord God.

7 ¶ Thus againe he ſhewed me, and beholde, the Lorde ſtood vpon a wall made by line [e] with a line in his hand.

8 And the Lorde ſayd vnto me, Amos, what ſeeſt thou? And I ſaid, A line. Then ſaid the Lord, Beholde, I wil ſet a line in the middes of my people Iſrael, and wil paſſe by them no more.

9 And the hie places of Iſhak ſhall be deſolate, and the temples of Iſrael ſhall be deſtroyed: and I wil riſe againſt the houſe of Ieroboam with the ſword.

10 ¶ [f] Then Amaziah [y] Prieſt of Beth-el ſent to Ieroboam King of Iſrael, ſaying, Amos hath conſpired againſt thee in the mids of the houſe of Iſrael: the land is not able to beare all his wordes.

11 For thus Amos ſaith, Ieroboam ſhal die by the ſword, and Iſrael ſhalbe led away captiue out of their owne land.

12 Alſo [g] Amaziah ſaid vnto Amos, O thou the Seer, goe, flee thou away into the land of Iudah, and there eate thy bread and propheſie there.

13 But propheſie no more at Beth-el: for it is the Kings chapel, and it is the Kings court.

14 Then anſwered Amos, & ſaid to Amaziah, I was no [h] Prophet, neither was I a prophets ſonne, but I was an heardman, & a gatherer of wilde figs.

15 And the Lord tooke mee as I folowed the flocke, and the Lord ſaid vnto me, Goe, propheſie vnto my people Iſrael.

16 Now therefore heare thou the word of the Lorde. Thou ſayeſt, Propheſie not againſt Iſrael, and ſpeake nothing againſt the houſe of Iſhak.

17 Therefore thus ſaith the Lorde, [i] Thy wife ſhalbe an harlot in the citie, and thy ſonnes and thy daughters ſhal fall by the ſword, and thy land ſhall be diuided by line: and thou ſhalt die in a polluted land, and Iſrael ſhal ſurely go into captiuitie forth of his land.

a To deuoure the land: and he alludeth to [y] inuading of the enemies.

b After the publike cõmandement for mowing was giuen: or as ſome reade, when the kings theepe were thorne.

c That is, ſtayed this plague at my prayer.

d Meaning, that Gods indignation was inflamed, againſt the ſtubbernes of this people.

e Signifying, that this ſhould be the laſt meaſuring of the people, & that he would defer his iudgement no longer.

f That is, when Amos had propheſied that the king ſhould be deſtroyed: for this wicked Prieſt more for hatred he bare to the Prophet then for loue towa d the King, thought this accuſation ſufficient to condemne him, whereas none other could take place.

g When this inſtrument of Satan was not able to compaſſe his purpoſe by the King, he aſſayed by another practiſe: [y] was to feare the Prophet, that he might depart, & not reproue their idolatry there openly, & ſo hinder his profit.

h This he ſheweth by his extraordinarie vocation, [y] God had giuẽ him a charge which he muſt needes execute.

i Thus God vſed to approoue the authoritie of his Prophets by his plagues & iudgements againſt them, which were malicious enemies, Icre. 28. 12. and 29. 21, 25.

as this day he doeth againſt them that perſecute the miniſters of his Goſpell.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Againſt the rulers of Iſrael. 7 The Lord ſweareth. 11 The famine of the worde of God.

THus hath the Lorde God ſhewed vnto mee, and beholde, a basket of ſommer fruite.

2 And he ſaid, Amos, what ſeeſt thou? And I ſayd, A basket of ſommer [a] fruite. Then ſaid the Lord vnto mee, The ende is come vpon my people of Iſrael, I wil paſſe by them no more.

3 And the ſongs of the Temple ſhalbe howlings in that day, ſaith the Lord God: many dead bodies a Which ſignified the ripeneſſe of their ſinnes & the readines of Gods iudgements.

bodies shalbe in euery place: they shall cast them foorth with [b] silence.

4 Heare this, O yee that [c] swallowe vp the poore, that yee may make the needy of the land to faile,

5 Saying, When will the [d] newe moneth bee gone, that wee may sell corne? and the Sabbath, that we may set foorth wheate, and make [e] the Ephah small, and the shekell great, and falsifie the weights by deceit?

6 That we may buy the poore for siluer, and the needy for shooes: yea, and sell the refuse of the wheate.

7 The Lorde hath sworne by the excellencie of Iaakob, Surely I will neuer forget any of their workes.

8 Shal not the land tremble for this, and euery one mourne, that dwelleth therein? and it shall rise vp wholly as a flood, and it shall be cast out, and [f] drowned as by the flood of Egypt.

9 And in that day, sayth the Lord God, I wil euen cause the [g] sunne to go downe at noone: and I will darken the earth in the cleare day.

10 And I will turne your feastes into mourning, and all your songs into lamentation: and I wil bring sackcloth vpon all loines, and baldnesse vpon euery head: and I wil make it as the mourning of an onely sonne, and the ende thereof as a bitter day.

11 Beholde, the dayes come, sayth the Lorde God, that I will send a famine in the lande, not a famine of bread, nor a thirst of water, but of hearing the word of the Lord.

12 And they shall wander from sea to sea, and from the North euen vnto the East shall they run to and fro to seeke the [h] word of the Lorde, and shall not finde it.

13 In that day shall the faire virgines and the yong men perish for thirst.

14 They that sweare by the sinne of [i] Samaria, and that say, Thy God, O Dan, liueth, and [k] the maner of Beer-sheba liueth, euen they shall fall, and neuer rise vp againe.

b There shall be none left to mourne for them.
c By staying the sale of foode and necessary things which you haue gotten into your owne hands, and so cause the poore to spend quickely that litle that they haue, and at length for necessitie to become your slaues.
d When the dearth was once come, they were so greedy of gaine, that they thought the holy day to be an hinderance vnto them.
e That is, the measure small, and the price great.
f That is, the inhabitants of the land shalbe drowned, as Nilus drowneth many when it ouerfloweth.
g In the middes of their prosperitie, I will send great affliction.
h Whereby he sheweth that they shall not onely perish in body, but also in soule for lacke of Gods word, which is the foode thereof.
i For the idolaters did vse to sweare by their idoles: which here he calleth their sinne, as the papists yet doe by theirs.
k That is, the common maner of worshipping and the seruice or religion there vsed.

CHAP. IX.

1 Threatnings against the Temple, 2 And against Israel. 11 The restoring of the Church.

I Sawe the Lorde standing vpon the [a] altar, and hee sayd, Smite the lintel of the doore, that the postes may shake: and cut them in pieces, euen the [b] heads of them all, and I will slay the last of them with the sword: he that fleeth of them, shal not flee away: and he that escapeth of them, shall not be deliuered.

2 Though they digge into the hel, thence shall mine hand take them: though they clime vp to heauen, thence will I bring them downe.

a Which was at Ierusalem: for he appeared not in the idolatrous places of Israel.
b Both the chiefe of them and also the common people.

3 And though they hide themselues in the top of Carmel, I wil search and take them out thence: and though they be hid from my sight in the bottome of the sea, thence will I command the [c] serpent, and he shall bite them.

4 And though they goe into captiuitie before their enemies, thence will I commaund the sword, and it shall slay them: and I will set mine eyes vpon them for euill, and not for good.

5 And the Lord God of hostes shall touch the land, and it shall melt away, and all that dwell therein shall mourne, and it shall rise vp wholy like a flood, and shall be drowned as by the flood of Egypt.

6 He buildeth his [d] spheres in the heauen, and hath laide the foundation of his globe of elements in the earth: hee calleth the waters of the sea, and powreth them out vpon the open earth: the Lord is his Name.

7 Are ye not as the Ethiopians [e] vnto me, O children of Israel, saith the Lorde? haue not I brought vp Israel out of the land of Egypt? and the Philistims from [f] Caphtor, & Aram from Kir?

8 Behold, the eyes of the Lord God are vpon the sinfull kingdome, and I will destroy it cleane out of the earth. Neuertheless I will not vtterly [g] destroy the house of Iaakob, saith the Lord.

9 For loe, I wil commaund and I will sift the house of Israel among all nations, like as corne is sifted in a sieue: yet shal not the [h] least stone fall vpon the earth.

10 But all the sinners of my people shall dye by the sword, which say, The euil shall not come, nor haften vs.

11 In that day will I raise vp the [i] tabernacle of Dauid, that is fallen downe, and close vp the breaches thereof, and I wil raise vp his ruines, and I will build it, as in the dayes of olde, 12 That they may possesse the remnant of [k] Edom, and of all the heathen, becausse my Name is called vpon them, sayeth the Lord, that doeth this.

13 Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that the plowman shall [l] touch the mower, and the treader of grapes him that soweth seede: and the mountaine shall [m] drop sweete wine, and all the hilles shall melt.

14 [n] And I will bring againe the captiuitie of my people of Israel: and they shal build the waste cities, and inhabite them, & they shall plant vineyardes, and drinke the wine thereof: they shal also make gardens, and eate the fruites of them.

15 And I will plant them vpon their land, and they shall no more bee pulled vp againe out of their lande, which I haue giuen them, sayth the Lord thy God.

c He sheweth that God will declare himselfe enemie vnto them in all places, and that his elements and all creatures shall be enemies to destroy them.
d He declareth by the wonderfull power of God, by the making of the heauens and the elements that it is not possible for man to escape his iudgements when he punisheth.
e Am I more bound to you then to the Ethiopians or Blackmoores? yet haue I bestowed vpon you greater benefites.
f Reade Ieie. 47.4.

OBADIAH.

THE ARGVMENT.

The Idumeans which came of Esau, were mortall enemies alway to the Israelites, which came of Iaakob, and therefore did not onely vexe them continually with sundry kindes of cruelties, but also stirred vp others to fight against them. Therefore when they were now in their greatest prosperitie, and did most triumph against Israel, which was in great affliction and miserie, God raised vp his Prophet to comfort the Israelites, forasmuch as God had nowe determined to destroy their aduersaries, which did so sore vexe them, and to send them such as should deliuer them, and set vp the kingdome of Messiah, which he had promised.

THe vision of Obadiah. Thus saith the Lorde God against Edom, a We haue heard a rumour frō the Lord, & an ambassadour is sent among the heathen: arise, and b let vs rise vp against her to battell.

2 Behold, I haue made thee small among the heathen: thou art vtterly despised.

3 The c pride of thine heart hath deceiued thee: thou that dwellest in the clefts of the rocks, whose habitation is hie, that saith in his heart, Who shall bring me downe to the ground?

4 Though thou exalt thy selfe as the eagle, and make thy nest among the starres, thence will I bring thee downe, saith the Lord.

5 d Came theeues to thee or robbers by night? howe wast thou brought to silence? woulde they not haue stollen, till they had ynough? if the grape gatherers come to thee, wouldе they not leaue some grapes?

6 Howe are the things of Esau sought vp, and his treasures searched?

7 All the men of thy confederacie e haue driuen thee to ỹ borders: the men that were at peace with thee, haue deceiued thee, & prеuailed against thee: they that eate thy f bread, haue laid a wound vnder thee: there is none vnderstanding in him.

8 Shall not I in that day, saith the Lord, euen destroy the wise men out of Edom, and vnderstanding from the mount of Esau?

9 And thy strong men, O Teman, shall bee afraide, because euery one of the mount of Esau shalbe cut off by slaughter.

10 For thy crueltie against thy g brother Iaakob, shame shall couer thee, and thou shalt be cut off for euer.

11 When thou stoodest h on the other side, in the day that ỹ strangers caried away his substance, and strangers entred into his gates, and cast lots vpon Ierusalem, euen thou wast as one of them.

12 But thou shouldest not haue beholden the day of thy brother, in the day that he was made a stranger, neither shouldest thou haue reioyced ouer the children of Iudah, in the day of their destruction: thou shouldest not haue spoken proudly in the day of affliction.

13 Thou shouldest not haue entred into the gate of my people, in the day of their destruction, neither shouldest thou haue once looked on their affliction in the day of their destruction, nor haue layde hands on their substance in the day of their destruction.

14 Neither shouldest thou haue stoode in the crosse wayes to cut off them, that should escape, neither shouldest thou haue shut vp the remnant thereof in the day of affliction.

15 For the day k of the Lord is neere, vpon all the heathen: as thou hast done, it shall be done to thee: thy reward shall returne vpon thine head.

16 For as yee haue l drunke vpon mine holy Mountaine, so shall all the heathen drinke continually: yea, they shall drinke and swallow vp, and they shall be m as though they had not bene.

17 But vpon mount Zion shalbe deliuerance, and it shalbe holy, and the house of Iaakob shall possesse their possessions,

18 And the house of Iaakob shalbe n fire, and the house of Ioseph a flame, and the house of Esau as stubble, and they shall kindle in them and deuoure them: and there shall be no remnant of the house of Esau: for the Lord hath spoken it.

19 And they shall possesse the South side of the o mount of Esau, and the plaine of the Philistims: and they shall possesse the fieldes of Ephraim, and the fieldes of Samaria, and Beniamin shall haue Gilead.

20 And the captiuitie of this hoste of the children of Israel, which were among the p Canaanites, shall possesse vnto Zarephath, and the captiuitie of Ierusalem, which is in Sepharad, shall possesse the cities of the South.

21 And they q that shall saue, shall come vp to mount Zion to iudge the mount of Esau, and the kingdome shalbe the Lords.

a God hath certainely reuealed to his Prophets that he will raise vp the heathen to destroy the Edomites, whereof the rumour is nowe published, Iere. 49. 14.

b Thus the heathen encourage themselues to rise against Edom.

c Which despiseth all others in respect of thy selfe, and yet are but an handful in comparison of others, & art shut vp among the hilles as separate from the rest of the world.

d God will so destroy them that he will leaue none, though theeues when they come, take but till they haue ynough and they that gather grapes, euer leaue some behinde them Iere 49 9.

e They in whom thou diddest trust, for to haue helpe and friendship of them, shalbe thine enemies and destroy thee.

f That is, thy familiar friends and ghestes haue by secret practises destroyed thee.

g He sheweth the cause why the Edomites were so sharpely punished: to wit, because they were enemies to his Church, whome nowe he comforteth by punishing their enemies.

h When Nebuchad-nezzar came against Ierusalem, thou toynedst with him, and hadst part of the spoyle, and so didst reioyce when my people, that is, thy brother, were afflicted, whereas thou shouldest haue pitied and holpen thy brother.

i When the Lord deprиued them of their former dignitie, and gaue them to be carried into captiuitie.

k When he will summon all the heathen, and send them to destroy thee.

l That is, reioyced and triumphed.

m The Edomites shalbe vtterly destroyed, and yet in despite of all the enemies I will reserue my Church and restore it.

n God attributeth this power to consume his enemies, to his Church, which power is onely proper to himselfe, as Isa. 10. 17. deut. 4. 24. heb. 12. 29.

o He describeth how the Church shalbe enlarged and haue great possessions, but this chiefly is accomplished vnder Christ when as the faithfull are made heires and lords of all things by him which is their head.

p By the Canaanites, the Iewes meane the Dutchmen, and by Zarephath, Fraunce, and by Sepharad, Spaine.

q Meaning, that God will raise vp in his Church such as shall rule and gouerne for the defence of the same, and destruction of his enemies vnder Messiah, whome the Prophet calleth here the Lord and head of this kingdome.

IONAH.

THE ARGVMENT.

WHen Ionah had long propphecied in Israel and had litle profited, God gaue him expresse charge to goe, and denounce his iudgements against Nineueh the chiefe citie of the Assyrians, becausse he had apooynted, that they which were of the heathen, should conuert by the mightie power of his word, and that within three dayes preaching, that Israel might see how horribly they had prouoked Gods wrath, which for the space of so many yeeres had not conuerted to the Lord for so many Prophets and so diligent preaching. He prophecied vnder Ioash, and Ieroboam, as 2. Kings 14. 25.

CHAP. I.

3 Ionah fled when he was sent to preach. 4 A tempest ariseth, and he is cast into the sea for his disobedience.

THE word of the Lord came a also vnto Ionah the sonne of Amittai, saying,

2 Arise, and goe to b Nineueh, that c great citie, and crye against it: for their wickednesse is come vp before me.

3 But Ionah rose vp to d flee into Tarshish from the presence of the Lorde, and went downe to e Iapho: and hee found a ship going to Tarshish: so hee payed the fare thereof, and went downe into it, that hee might goe with them vnto Tarshish, from the f presence of the Lord.

4 But the Lorde sent out a great winde into a After that he had preached a long time in Israel: and so Ezekiel, after that for a time he had propphecied in Iuda, he had visions in Babylon, Ezek. 1. 1.

b For seeing the great obstination of the Israelites, he sent his Prophet to the Gentiles that they might prouoke them to repentance, or at least make them inexcusable: for Nineueh was the chiefe citie of the Assyrians.

c For as authours write, it conteined in circuit about eight and fourty mile, and had a thousand and fiue hundreth towres, and at this time there were an hundreth & twenty thousand children therein, Chap. 4. 11

d Whereby he declared his weakeneſſe, that would not promptly followe the Lords calling but gaue place to his owne reason, which perswaded him that he should nothing at all profite there, seeing hee had done so small good among his owne people, Chap. 4. 2.

e Which was the hauen and porte to take shipping thither, called also Ioppe.

f From that vocation whereunto God had called him, and wherein he would haue assisted him.

the sea, and there was a mightie tempest in the sea, so that the shippe was like to be broken.

5 Then the mariners were afraid, and cryed euery man vnto his God, and cast the wares that were in the ship, into the sea to lighten it of them: but Ionah was gone downe ginto the sides of the ship, and he lay downe, and was fast asleepe.

6 So the shipmaster came to him, and sayde vnto him, What meaneſt thou, O sleeper? Arise, call vpon thy h God, if so be that God will thinke vpon vs, that we perish not.

7 And they sayde euery one to his fellowe, Come, and let vs cast i lottes, that we may know, for whose cause this euill is vpon vs. So they cast lottes, and the lot fell vpon Ionah.

8 Then said they vnto him, Tell vs for whose cause this euill is vpon vs? What is thine occupation? and whence commeſt thou? which is thy countrey? and of what people art thou?

9 And hee answered them, I am an Ebrewe, and I feare the Lord God of heauen, which hath made the sea, and the dry land.

10 Then were the men exceedingly afraide, and said vnto him, Why hast thou done this? (for the men knew, that he fled from the presence of the Lord, because he had tolde them)

11 Then said they vnto him, What shall wee doe vnto thee, that the sea may be calme vnto vs? (for the sea wrought and was troublous)

12 And he said vnto them, Take me, and cast mee into the sea: so shall the sea be calme vnto you: for I know that for my sake this great tempest is vpon you.

13 Neuertheleſſe, the men rowed to bring it to the land, but they could not: for ỹ sea wrought, and was troublous against them.

14 Wherefore they cryed vnto the Lord, and said, k We beſeech thee, O Lord, we beſeech thee, let vs not perish for this mans life, and lay not vpon vs innocent blood: for thou, O Lord, hast done as it pleased thee.

15 So they tooke vp Ionah, and cast him into the sea, and the sea ceased from her raging.

16 Then the men l feared the Lord exceedingly, and offered a sacrifice vnto the Lord, and made vowes.

17 Now the Lorde had prepared a great fish to swallow vp Ionah: and Ionah was in the m belly of the fish three dayes, and three nights.

CHAP. II.

1 Ionah is in the fishes belly. 2 His prayer. 10 He is deliuered.

THen Ionah prayed vnto the Lorde his God a out of the fishes bellie,

2 And said, I cried in mine affliction vnto the Lord, and he heard me: out of the bellie b of hell cryed I, and thou heardeſt my voyce.

3 For thou haddeſt cast me into the bottome in the middeſt of the sea, and the floods compaſſed me about: all thy surges, and all thy waues passed ouer me.

4 Then I saide, I am c cast away out of thy sight: yet will I looke againe toward thine holy Temple.

5 The waters compaſſed mee about vnto the soule: the depth closed me round about, and the weedes were wrapt about mine head.

6 I went downe to the bottome of the mountaines: the earth with her barres was about me for euer, yet hast thou brought vp my d life from the pit, O Lord my God.

7 When my soule fainted within me, I remembred the Lord: and my prayer came vnto thee, into thine holy Temple.

8 They that waite vpon lying e vanities, forsake their owne f mercie.

9 But I wil sacrifice vnto thee with the voyce of thankesgiuing, and will pay that that I haue vowed: saluation is of the Lord.

10 And the Lord spake vnto the fish, and it cast out Ionah vpon the dry land.

CHAP. III.

1 Ionah is sent againe to Nineueh. 5 The repentance of the King of Nineueh.

ANd the word of the Lord came vnto a Ionah the second time, saying,

2 Arise, goe vnto Nineueh that great city, and preach vnto it the preaching, which I bid thee.

3 So Ionah arose and went to Nineueh according to the word of the Lord: now Nineueh was a b great & excellent citie of three dayes iourney.

4 And Ionah began to enter into the citie a dayes c iourney, and he cried, and said, Yet fourty dayes, and Nineueh shalbe ouerthrowen.

5 So the people of Nineueh d beleeued God, and proclaimed a fast, and put on sackcloth from the greateſt of them euen to the least of them.

6 For worde came vnto the King of Nineueh, and he arose from his throne, and he layed his robe from him, and couered him with sackecloth, and sate in ashes.

7 And he proclaimed & said through Nineueh, (by the counsel of the king & his nobles) saying, Let neither mã, nor e beast, bullock nor sheepe taste any thing, neither feede, nor drinke water.

8 But let man and beast put on sackecloth, and f crie mightily vnto God: yea, let euery man turne from his euill way, and from the wickednesse that is in their hands.

9 g Who can tell if God will turne, and repent and turne away from his fierce wrath, that we perish not?

10 And God saw their h workes that they turned from their euill wayes: and i God repented of the euill that hee had said that he would doe vnto them, and he did it not.

CHAP. IIII.

The great goodnesse of God toward his creatures.

THerefore it displeased a Ionah exceedingly, and he was angrie.

2 And he prayed vnto the Lord, and sayd, I pray thee, O Lord, was not this my saying, when I was yet in my countrey? therefore I preuented it to flee vnto b Tarshish: for I knewe that thou art a gracious God, & merciful, slow to anger, and of great kindnes, and repenteſt thee of the euill.

3 Therefore now O Lorde, take, I beſeech thee, my life c from me: for it is better for me to die then to liue.

4 Then sayde the Lord, Doeſt thou well to

---

g As one that would haue cast off this care and follicitude, by seeking rest and quietnesse

h As they had called on their idoles, which declareth that idolaters haue no stay nor certaintie, but in their troubles seeke, they cannot tell to whome.

i Which declareth that the matter was in great extremitie and doubt, which thing was Gods motion in them for the triall of the cause: and this may not be done but in matters of great importance.

k This declareth that the very wicked in their necessities flee vnto God for succour, and also that they are touched with a certaine feare to shed mans blood, whereas they know no manifest signe of wickednesse.

l They were touched with a certaine repentance of their life past, and began to worship the true God, by whome they saw themselues so wonderfully deliuered: but this was done for feare and not of a pure heart and affection, neither according to Gods word.

m Thus the Lord would chastise his Prophet with a most terrible spectacle of death, and hereby also confirmed him of his fauour and support in this his charge which was inioyned him.

a Being now swallowed vp of death, and seeing no remedie to escape, his faith brast out vnto the Lord, knowing that out of the very hell he was able to deliuer him.

b For he was now in the fishes bellie as in a graue or place of darkenesse.

c This declared what his prayer was, and how he laboured betweene hope and despaire, considering the neglect of his vocation and Gods iudgements for the same: but yet in the ende faith gate the victorie.

d Thou hast deliuered me from the belly of the fish and all these dangers, as it were raising me from death to life.

e They that depend vpon any thing saue on God alone.

f They refuse their owne iselfe citie and that goodnes which they should els receiue of God.

a This is a great declaration of Gods mercy, that he receiueth him againe and sendeth him: for that his Prophet, which had before shewed so great infirmitie, b Reade chap. 1. a.

c He went forward one day in the citie, and preached, and so he continued till the citie was conuerted.

d For he declared that he was a Prophet sent to them from God to denounce his iudgements against them.

e Not that the dumbe beastes had sinned or could repent, but that by their example man might be astonished, considering that for his sinne the anger of God hangeth ouer all creatures.

f He willeth that the men should earnestly call vnto God for mercy, by the motion of his owne conscience, he doubted whether God would shew them mercie.

g For partly by threatning of the Prophet, and partly by h That is, the fruites of their repentance, which did proceede of faith which God had planted by the ministerie of his Prophet.

i Reade Ierem. 18. 8.

a Because hereby he should be taken as a false prophet, and so the Name of God, which hee preached, should bee blasphemed.

b Reade Chap. 1. 3.

c Thus he prayed of griefe, fearing lest Gods Name by this forgiuenesse might be blasphemed, as though he sent his Prophets foorth to denounce his iudgements in vaine,

d Wilt thou be iudge when I doe things for my glorie, and when I doe not?

e For he doubted as yet whether God would ſhew them mercie or no: and therefore after fourtie dayes he departed out of the citie, looking what iſſue God would ſend.

f Which was a further meanes, to couer him from the heate of the ſunne, as he remained in his boothe.

be d angry?

5 So Ionah went out of the citie and ſate on the Eaſt ſide of the citie, and there made him a boothe, and ſate vnder it in the ſhadowe e till he might ſee what ſhould be done in the citie.

6 And the Lord God prepared a f gourde, and made it to come vp ouer Ionah, that it might be a ſhadow ouer his head and deliuer him from his griefe. So Ionah was exceeding glad of the gourde.

7 But God prepared a worme when the morning roſe the next day, and it ſmote the gourde, that it withered.

8 And when the ſunne did ariſe, God prepared alſo a feruent Eaſt winde: and the ſunne beat vpon the head of Ionah, and he fainted, and wiſhed in his heart to die, and ſaid, It is better for me to die then to liue.

9 And God ſaid vnto Ionah, Doeſt thou well to bee angrie for the gourde? And he ſayd, I doe well to be g angrie vnto the death.

10 Then ſaide the Lord, Thou haſt had pitie on the gourde for the which thou haſt not laboured, neither madeſt it growe, which came vp in a night, and periſhed in a night.

11 And ſhoulde h not I ſpare Nineueh that great citie, wherein are ſixe ſcore thouſand perſons, that i cannot diſcerne betweene their right hand, and their left hand, and alſo much cattell?

g This declareth the great inconueniences whereinto Gods ſeruants doe fal when they giue place to their own affections, and doe not in all things willingly ſubmit themſelues to God.

h Thus God mercifully reproueth him, which would pitie himſelfe, and this gourd, and yet would reſtraine God to ſhewe his compaſſion to ſo many thouſande people.

i Meaning, that they were children and infants.

MICAH.

THE ARGVMENT.

Micah the Prophet of the tribe of Iudah ſerued in the worke of the Lord, concerning Iudah and Iſrael at the leaſt thirtie yeeres: at what time Iſaiah prophecied. He declareth the deſtruction, firſt of the one kingdome, and then of the other, becauſe of their manifolde wickednes, but chiefly for their idolatrie. And to this end he noteth the wickednes of the people, the cruelty of the princes and gouernours, and the permiſsion of the falſe prophets, & the delighting in them. Then he ſetteth forth the comming of Chriſt, his kingdome, and the felicitie thereof. This Prophet was not that Micah, which reſiſted Ahab, and all his falſe prophets, as 1. King 22. 8. but another of the ſame name.

CHAP. I.

1 The deſtruction of Iudah and Iſrael becauſe of their idolatrie.

THe word of the Lord that came vnto Micah the a Moraſhite in the dayes of Iotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah Kings of Iudah, which he ſaw concerning Samaria, and Ieruſalem.

2 Heare, b all yee people: hearken thou, O earth, and all that therein is, and let the Lord God be witneſſe againſt you, euen the Lord from his holy Temple.

3 For beholde, the Lord commeth out of his place, and will come c downe, and tread vpon the hie places of the earth.

4 And the mountaines ſhall melt vnder him (ſo ſhall the valleyes cleaue) as waxe before the fire, and as ỹ waters that are powred downeward.

5 For the wickednes of Iaakob is all this, and for the ſinnes of the houſe of Iſrael: what is the wickednes of Iaakob? Is not d Samaria? & which are the hie e places of Iudah? Is not Ieruſalem?

6 Therefore I will make Samaria as an heape of the fielde, and for the planting of a vineyard, and I will cauſe the ſtones thereof to tumble downe into the valley, and I will diſcouer the foundations thereof.

7 And all the grauen images thereof ſhall be broken, and all the f gifts thereof ſhall be burnt with the fire, and all the idoles thereof will I deſtroy: for ſhe gathered it of the hire of an harlot, and they ſhal returne g to the wages of an harlot.

8 Therefore I will mourne and howle: I will goe without clothes, and naked: I will make lamentation like the dragons, and mourning as the oſtriches.

9 For her plagues are grieuous: for it is come into Iudah: the enemie is come vnto the gate of my people, vnto Ieruſalem.

10 Declare ye it not at h Gath, neither weepe yee: for the houſe of i Aphrah roule thy ſelfe in the duſt.

11 Thou that dwelleſt at k Shaphir, go together naked with ſhame: ſhee that dwelleth at Zaanan, ſhal not come forth in ỹ mourning of Beth-ezel: the enemie ſhall l receiue of you for his ſtanding.

12 For the inhabitant of Maroth wayted for good, but euill came from the Lord vnto the m gate of Ieruſalem.

13 O thou inhabitant of Lachiſh, binde the charet to the beaſtes n of price: ſhe e is the beginning of the ſinne to the daughter of Zion: for the tranſgreſſions of Iſrael were found in thee.

14 Therefore ſhalt thou giue preſents to Moreſheth p Gath: the houſes of Achzib ſhalbe as a lye to the Kings of Iſrael.

15 Yet will I bring an q heire vnto thee, O inhabitant of Mareſhah, hee ſhall come vnto Adullam, r the glorie of Iſrael.

16 Make thee balde: and ſhaue thee for thy delicate children: enlarge thy baldneſſe as the eagle, for they are gone into captiuitie from thee.

a Borne in Mareſhah a citie of Iudah.

b Becauſe of the malice, & obſtinacie of the people whom he had ſo oft exhorted to repentance, he ſummoneth them to Gods iudgements, taking all creatures, and God himſelfe to witnes, that the preaching of the Prophets, which they haue abuſed, ſhalbe reuenged.

c Meaning hereby, that God will come to iudgement againſt the ſtrong citie and holdes.

d Samaria, which ſhould haue bene an example to all Iſrael of true religion and iuſtice, was the puddle, and ſtewes of all idolatrie and corruption, & boaſted themſelues of their father Iaakob.

e That is, the idolatrie and infection.

f Which they gathered by euill practiſes, and thought nice vnto them.

g The gaine that came by their idoles, ſhall bee conſumed as a thing of nought: for as the wages or riches of harlots are wickedly gotten, ſo are they vilely and ſpeedily ſpent.

h Leſt the Philiſtims our enemies reioyce at our deſtruction.

i Which was a citie neere to Ieruſalem, Ioſh. 18. 23. there called Ophah, & ſignifieth duſt: therefore he willeth them to mourne, and roule themſelues in the duſt, for their duſtie citie.

k Theſe were cities whereby the enemie ſhould paſſe as he came to Iudah.

l He ſhal not depart before he hath ouercome you, and ſo you ſhall pay for his tarying.

m For Rabſhakeh had ſhut vp Ieruſalem, that they could not ſend to ſuccour them.

n To flee away: for Sanehe ib laid ſiege firſt to that citie, and remained therein when hee ſent his captaines and armie againſt Ieruſalem.

o Thou firſt receiueſt the idolatrie of Ieroboam, and ſo diddeſt infect Ieruſalem.

p Thou ſhalt bribe the Philiſtims thy neighbours, but they ſhall deceiue thee, as well as they of Ieruſalem.

q He propheciech againſt his owne citie, and becauſe it ſignified an heritage, hee ſaith that God would ſende an heire to poſſeſſe it.

r For ſo they thought themſelues for the ſtrength of their citie.

CHAP. II.

1 Threatnings againſt the wanton and deintie people. 6 They would teach the Prophets to preach.

WO vnto them that imagine iniquitie, and worke wickednes vpon their beddes: a when the morning is light they practiſe it becauſe their hand † hath power.

a Aſſoone as they riſe, they execute their wicked deuiſes of the night, and according to their power hurt others. † Ebr. Is in power.

2 And they couet fieldes, and take them by violence, and houſes, and take them away: ſo they oppreſſe a man and his houſe, euen man and his heritage.

3 Therefore thus ſaith the Lorde, Beholde, againſt this family haue I deuiſed a plague, whereout ye ſhal not plucke your neckes, and yee ſhall not go ſo proudly, for this time is euill.

4 In that day ſhal they take vp a parable againſt you, and lament with a doleful lamentation, and ſay, [b] We be vtterly waſted: hee hath changed the portion of my people: how hath hee taken it away to reſtore it vnto me? hee hath diuided our fieldes.

5 Therefore thou ſhalt haue none that ſhall caſt a corde by lot in [c] the congregation of the Lord.

6 [d] They that propheſied, propheſie yee not. [e] They ſhal not propheſie to them, neither ſhall they take ſhame.

7 O thou that art named of the houſe of Iaakob, is the Spirite of the Lorde ſhortened? [f] are theſe his workes? are not my wordes good vnto him [g] that walketh vprightly?

8 But hee that was [h] yeſterday my people, is riſen vp on the other ſide, as againſt an enemie: they ſpoyle the [i] beautifull garment from them that paſſe by peaceably, as though they returned from the warre.

9 The women of my people haue ye caſt out from their pleaſant houſes, & from their children haue ye taken away [k] my glory continually.

10 Ariſe and depart, for this is not your [l] reſt: becauſe it is polluted, it ſhall deſtroy you, euen with a ſore deſtruction.

11 If a man [m] walke in the Spirit, and would lie falſely, ſaying, [n] I will propheſie vnto thee of wine, and of ſtrong drinke, hee ſhal euen be the prophet of this people.

12 I will ſurely gather [o] thee wholy, O Iaakob: I will ſurely gather the remnant of Iſrael: I will put them together as the ſheepe of Bozrah, euen as the flocke in the mids of their folde: the citties ſhalbe full of brute of the men.

13 The [p] breaker vp ſhall come vp before them: they ſhal breake out, & paſſe by the gate, and goe out by it, and their King ſhall goe before them, and the Lord ſhalbe [q] vpon their heads.

b Thus the Iewes lament & ſay that there is no hope of reſtitution, ſeeing their poſſeſſions are diuided among the enimies.
c Ye ſhal haue no more landes to diuide, as you had in times paſt, and as you vſed to meaſure them in the Iubile.
d Thus the people warne [y] prophets that they ſpeake to them no more: for they cannot abide their threatnings.
e God ſaith that they ſhall not propheſie, nor receiue no more of their rebukes nor tauts.
f Are theſe your workes according to his Lawe?
g Do not the godly find my wordes comfortable?
h That is, aforetime.
i The poore can haue no commoditie by them, but they ſpoile them, as though they were enemies.
k That is, their ſubſtance and liuing, which is, Gods bleſſing, and as it were part of his glory.
l Ieruſalem ſhall not be your ſafegard: but the cauſe of your deſtructiō.
m That is, ſhewe himſelfe to be a Prophet.
n He ſheweth what Prophets they delite in: that is, in flatterers, which tell them pleaſant tales, and ſpeake of their commodities.
o To deſtroy thee. them into Caldea.
p The enemie ſhall breake their gates and walles, and leade
q To driue them forward, and to helpe their enemies.

CHAP. III.

1 Againſt the tyrannie of princes and falſe prophets.

AND I ſaid, Heare, I pray you, O heads of Iaakob, and yee princes of the houſe of Iſrael: ſhould not ye know [a] iudgement?

2 But they hate the good, and loue the euill: they plucke off their ſkinnes from them, and their fleſh from their bones.

3 And they eate alſo the [b] fleſh of my people, and flay off their ſkinne from them, and they breake their bones, and chop them in pieces, as for the pot, and as fleſh within the caldron.

4 Then [c] ſhall they crie vnto the Lorde, but he will not heare them: he will euen hide his face from them at that time, becauſe they haue done wickedly in their workes.

5 Thus ſaith the Lord, Concerning the prophets that deceiue my people, and [d] bite them with their teeth, and crie peace, but if a man put not into their mouthes, they prepare warre againſt him.

6 Therefore [e] night ſhalbe vnto you for a viſion, and darkeneſſe ſhalbe vnto you for a diuination, and the ſunne ſhall goe downe ouer the prophets, and the day ſhalbe darke ouer them.

7 Then ſhall the Seers bee aſhamed, and the ſoothſayers confounded: yea, they ſhall all couer [f] their lips, for they haue none anſwere of God.

8 Yet notwithſtanding I am full [g] of power by the Spirit of the Lord, and of iudgement, and of ſtrength to declare vnto Iaakob his tranſgreſſion, and to Iſrael his ſinne.

9 Heare this, I pray you, ye heads of the houſe of Iaakob, and princes of the houſe of Iſrael: they abhorre iudgement, and peruert all equitie.

10 They build vp Zion with [h] blood, and Ieruſalem with iniquitie.

11 The heads thereof iudge for rewards, and the Prieſts thereof teach for hyre, and the prophets thereof propheeie for money: yet will they [i] leane vpon the Lord, and ſay, Is not the Lorde among vs? no euill can come vpon vs.

12 Therefore ſhall Zion for your ſake bee [k] plowed as a field, & Ieruſalem ſhalbe an heape, and the mountaine of the houſe, as the hie places of the foreſt.

a That thing which is iuſt and lawfull, both to gouerne my people aright, and alſo to diſcharge your owne conſcience?
b The Prophet condemneth the wicked gouerners not onely of couetouſneſſe, theft and murther, but compareth them to wolues, lions, and moſt cruell beaſtes.
c That is, when I ſhall viſite their wickednеſſe: for though I heare the godly before they crie, Iſa.65.24. yet I will not heare theſe though they crie, Iſa.1.15. and Ezek.8.18. Iam.2.12. 1 pet.3.11,12.
d They deuoure all their ſubſtance: and then flatter them, promiſing that all ſhall goe well: but if one reſtraine from their bellies, then they inuent all waies to miſchiefe.
e As you haue loued to walke in darkeneſſe, and to propheeie lies, ſo God ſhall reward you with groſſe blindneſſe, and ignorance, ſo that when all others ſhall ſee the bright beames of Gods graces, ye ſhall as blinde men grope as in the night.
f When God ſhal diſcouer them to the world, they ſhalbe afraide to ſpeake: for al ſhall knowe that they were but falſe prophets, and did belie the worde of God.
g The Prophet being aſſured of his vocation by the Spirit of God, ſetteth himſelfe alone againſt all the wicked, ſhewing how God both gaue him gifts, abilitie and knowledge, to diſcerne betweene good and euill, and alſo conſtancie to reprooue the ſinnes of the people, and not to flatter them.
h They builde them houſes by briberie, which he calleth blood and iniquitie.
i They will ſay, that they are the people of God, and abuſe his Name as a pretence to cloke their hypocriſie.
k Reade Ierem.26.18.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Of the kingdome of Chriſt, and felicitie of his Church.

BVt in the [a] laſt dayes it ſhall come to paſſe, that the mountaine of the Houſe of the Lord ſhalbe prepared in the toppe of the mountaines, and it ſhalbe exalted abone the [b] hilles, and people ſhall flowe vnto it.

2 Yea, many nations ſhal come & ſay, Come, and let vs goe vp to the Mountaine of the Lord, and to the Houſe of the God of Iaakob, and he will [c] teach vs his wayes, and we will walke in his paths: for the Law ſhall goe foorth of Zion, and the word of the Lord from Ieruſalem.

3 And he ſhal iudge among many people, and [d] rebuke mightie nations afarre off, and they ſhall breake their ſwordes into mattockes, and their ſpeares into [e] ſiethes: nation ſhall not lift vp a ſword againſt nation, neither ſhall they [f] learne to fight any more.

4 But they ſhall ſit euery man vnder his vine, and vnder his figge tree, and none ſhall make them afraid: for the mouth of the Lord of hoſts hath ſpoken it.

5 For all people will walke [g] euery one in the name of his god, and we will walke in the Name of the Lord our God, for euer and euer.

6 At the ſame day, ſaith the Lord, will I gather her that halteth, and I will gather her that is caſt out, and her that I haue afflicted.

7 And I will make her that halted, [h] a remnant, and her that was caſt farre off, a mightie nation: and the Lord ſhall reigne ouer them in a When Chriſt ſhall come, and the Temple ſhalbe deſtroyed.

b Reade Iſa.2.2. c He ſheweth that there is no true Church but where as the people are taught by Gods pure word.
d By his corrections & threatnings he will bring the people into ſubiection which are in the vtmoſt corners of the world.
e They ſhall abſtaine from all euil doing, and exerciſe themſelues in godlineſſe and in well doing to others.
f Reade Iſa.2.4.
g He ſheweth that the people of God ought to remaine conſtant in their religion, albeit all the world ſhould giue themſelues to their ſuperſtition and idolatrie.
h I will cauſe that Iſrael, which is now as one lame and halting, and ſo almoſt deſtroyed, ſhall liue againe and growe into a great people.

Mount

Mount Zion, from henceforth euen for euer.

8 And thou, O [i] towre of the flocke, the strong holde of the daughter Zion, vnto thee shal it come, euen [k] the first dominion, and kingdome shal come to the daughter Ierusalem.

9 Now why doest thou crie out with lamentation? is [l] there no king in thee? is thy counseller perished? for sorow hath taken thee, as a woman in trauaile.

10 Sorow and mourne, O daughter Zion, like a woman in trauaile: for now shalt thou go forth of the citie, and dwel in the field, and shalt go into Babel, but there shalt thou be deliuered: there the Lorde shall redeeme thee from the hand of thine enemies.

11 Nowe also many nations are gathered against thee, saying, Zion shall be condemned and our eie shal looke vpon Zion.

12 But they [m] knowe not the thoughts of the Lord: they vnderstand not his counsel, for he shal gather them as the sheaues in the barne.

13 Arise, and thresh, [n] O daughter Zion: for I will make thine horne yron, and I will make thine hooues brasse, and thou shalt breake in pieces many people: and I wil consecrate their riches vnto the Lord, and their substance vnto the ruler of the whole world.

i Meaning Ierusalem, where the Lords flocke was gathered.

k The flotishing state of the kingdome, as it was vnder Dauid and Salomon, which thing was accomplished to the church by the cõming of Christ.

l In the meane season he sheweth that they should endure great troubles and tentations when they sawe themselues neither to haue king nor counsel.

m He sheweth that the faithfull ought not to measure Gods iudgements by ỹ brags and threatnings of the wicked, but thereby are admonished to lift vp their harts to God to call for deliuerance.

n God giueth his Church this victorie, so oft as he ouercommeth their enemies: but the accomplishment hereof shalbe at the last comming of Christ.

CHAP. V.

1 The destruction of Ierusalem. 2 The excellencie of Beth-leem.

NOw assemble thy garisons, O daughter [a] of garisons: he hath laid siege against vs: they shall smite the iudge of Israel with a rod vpon ỹ cheek.

2 And thou Beth-leem Ephrathah art [b] litle to be among the thousands of Iudah, yet out of thee shal he come forth vnto mee, that shalbe the ruler in Israel: whose [c] goings forth haue bin from the beginning and from euerlasting.

3 Therefore will he giue them vp, vntill the time that [d] she which shall beare, shall trauaile: then the remnant of their brethren shall returne vnto the children of Israel.

4 And he shal [e] stand, & feed in the strength of the Lorde, and in the maiestie of the Name of the Lord his God, & they shal dwell still: for now shall he be magnified vnto the ends of the world.

5 And he [f] shall be our peace when Asshur shall come into our land: when he shall treade in our palaces, then shall we raise against him seuen shepheards, and eight principall men.

6 And they shall destroy [g] Asshur with the sword, and the land of Nimrod with their swords: thus shall he [h] deliuer vs from Asshur, when hee commeth into our land, and when he shall treade within our borders.

7 And the [i] remnant of Iaakob shalbe among many people, as a dewe from the Lord, and as the showres vpon the grasse, that waiteth not for man, nor hopeth in the sonnes of Adam.

8 And the remnant of Iaakob shalbe among the Gentiles in the middes of many people, as the lion among the beastes of the forest, and as the lyons whelpe among the flockes of sheepe, who when he goeth thorowe, treadeth downe and teareth in pieces, and none can deliuer.

9 Thine hand shall be lift vp vpon thine aduersaries, and all thine enemies shalbe cut off.

10 And it shall come to passe in that day, saith the Lord, that I will cut off thine [k] horses out of the middes of thee, and I will destroy thy charets.

11 And I will cut off the cities of thy land, and ouerthrowe all thy strong holdes.

12 And I will cut off thine enchanters out of thine hand: and thou shalt haue no more soothsayers.

13 Thine idoles also will I cut off, and thine images out of the middes of thee: and thou shalt no more worship the worke of thine hands.

14 And I will plucke vp thy groues out of the middes of thee: so will I destroy thine enemies.

15 And I wil execute a vengeance in my wrath and indignation vpon the heathen, [l] which they haue not heard.

a He forewarneth them of the dangers ỹ shal come before they enioy these comforts, shewing that forasmuch as Ierusalem was accustomed with her garisons to trouble others, the Lord would now cause other garisons to vexe her, & that her Rulers should be smitten on ỹ face most contemptuously.

b For so ỹ Iewes diuided their countrey, that for euery thousand there was a chiefe captaine: and because Beth-leem was not able to make a thousand, he calleth it litle, but yet God will raise vp his captaine & gouernour therein: and thus it is not the least by reason of this benefite, as Matth. 2. 6.

c He sheweth that the comming of Christ and all his wayes were appointed of God from all eternitie.

d Hee compareth the Iewes to women with childe, who for a time should haue great sorowes, but at length they should haue a comfortable deliuerance, Ioh. 16. 21.

e That is, Christs kingdome shalbe stable and euerlasting, and his people, as well the Gentiles as the Iewes shall dwell in safetie.

f This Messiah shalbe a sufficient safegard for vs, and though the enemie inuade vs for a time, yet God shall stirre vp many which shalbe able to deliuer vs.

g These whom God shall raise vp for the deliuerance of his Church, shall destroy all the enemies thereof, which are meant here by the Assyrians and Babylonians which were the chiefe at that time.

h By these gouernours will God deliuer vs when the enemie commeth into our land.

i This remnant or Church which God shall deliuer, shall onely depend on Gods power and defence, as doth the grasse of the fielde, and not on the hope of man.

k I will destroy all things wherein thou putteste thy confidence, as thy vaine confidence and idolatrie, and so will helpe thee.

l It shall be so terrible, that the like hath not bene heard of.

CHAP. VI.

An exhortation to the dumme creatures to heare the iudgement against Israel being vnkinde. 6 What maner of sacrifices doe please God.

HEarken yee now what the Lord saith, Arise thou, and contend before the [a] mountaines, and let the hilles heare thy voyce.

2 Heare ye, O mountaines, the Lords quarel, and ye mightie foundations of the earth: for the Lord hath a quarel against his people, and he will pleade with Israel.

3 O my people, what haue I done vnto thee? or wherin haue I grieued thee? testifie against me.

4 Surely I [b] brought thee vp out of the land of Egypt, and redeemed thee out of the house of seruants, and I haue sent before thee, Moses, Aaron, and Miriam.

5 O my people, remember now what Balak king of Moab had deuised, and what Balaam the sonne of Beor answered him, from [c] Shittim vnto Gilgal, that ye may know the [d] righteousnesse of the Lord.

6 Wherewith [e] shal I come before the Lord, and bowe my selfe before the hie God? Shall I come before him with burnt offerings, and with calues of a yeere olde?

7 Wil the Lord be pleased with thousands of rams, or with ten thousand riuers of oyle? shall I giue my [f] first borne for my transgression? euen the fruite of my body, for the sinne of my soule?

8 Hee hath shewed thee, O man, what is good, and what the Lord requireth of thee: [g] surely to do iustly, and to loue mercy, and to humble thy selfe, to walke with thy God.

9 The Lordes voyce cryeth vnto the [h] citie, and the man of wisedome shall see thy name: Heare the rodde, and who hath appointed it.

10 Are yet the treasures of wickednesse in the house of the wicked, and the scant measure, that is abominable?

a He taketh the hie mountaines and hard rockes to witnes against the obstinacie of his people.

b I haue not hurt thee, but bestowed infinite benefites vpon thee.

c That is, remember my benefites from the beginning, how I deliuered you from Balaams curse, and also spared you from Shittim, which was in the plaine of Moab, till I brought you into the land promised.

d That is ỹ trueth of his promes and his manifold benefites toward you.

e Thus the people by hypocrisie aske how to please God, and are content to offer sacrifices, but will not change their liues.

f There is nothing so deare to man, but the hypocrites will offer it vnto God, if they thinke thereby to auoyde his anger: but they will neuer bee brought to mortifie their owne affections, & to giue themselues wilfully to serue God as he commandeth.

g The Prophet in fewe wordes calleth them to the obteruation of the second table, to know if they will obey God aright or no, saying that God hath prescribed them to doe this.

h Meaning, that when God speaketh to any citie or nation, the godly will acknowledge his maiestie, and consider not the mortall man that bringeth the threatning, but God that sendeth it.

i That is, of Ierusalem.
k Thou shalt be consumed with inward griefe and euils.
l Meaning, that the citie should goe about to saue her men, as they that lay holde on that which they would preserue.
m You haue received all the corruption and idolatrie, wherewith the ten tribes were infected vnder Omri and Ahab his sonne: and to excuse your doings, you alledge the Kings authoritie by his statutes, and also wisdome and policy in so doing, but you shall not escape punishment, but as I haue shewed you great fauour, and taken you for my people, so shall your plagues be accordingly, Luke 12.47.

11 Shall I iustifie the wicked balances, and the bag of deceitful weights?
12 For the rich men i therefore are full of crueltie, & the inhabitants thereof haue spoken lies, and their tongue is deceitfull in their mouth.
13 Therefore also will I make thee sicke in smiting thee, and in making thee desolate, because of thy sinnes.
14 Thou shalt eate and not bee satisfied, and k thy casting downe shall be in the mids of thee, and thou l shalt take holde, but shalt not deliuer: and that which thou deliuerest, will I giue vp to the sword.
15 Thou shalt sowe, but not reape: thou shalt treade the olives, but thou shalt not anoint thee with oyle, and make sweete wine, but shalt not drinke wine.
16 For the m statutes of Omri are kept, and all the maner of the house of Ahab, and ye walke in their counsels, that I should make thee waste, and the inhabitants thereof an hissing: therefore yee shall beare the reproche of my people.

CHAP. VII.

1 A complaint for the small number of the righteous. 4 The wickednesse of those times. 14 The prosperitie of the Church.

a The Prophet vpon him the person of the earth, which complaineth that all her fruites are gone, so that none is left: that is, that there is no godly man remaying: for all are giuen to crueltie and deceite, so that none spareth his owne brother.
b He sheweth that the prince, the iudge and the rich man are linked together, all to doe euill and to cloke ỹ doings one of another.
c That is, the rich man that is able to giue money, abstaineth from no wickednesse nor iniurie.
d These men agree among themselues and conspire with one consent to doe euil. e They that are of most estimation and are counted most honest among them, are but thornes and briers to pricke. f Meaning of the Prophets and gouernours. g The Prophet sheweth ỹ the onely remedy for ỹ godly in desperate euils, is to flee vnto God for succour.

WO is mee, for I am as a the summer gathe-rings, and as the grapes of the vintage: there is no cluster to eate: my soule desired the first ripe fruites.
2 The good man is perished out of the earth, and there is none righteous among men: b they all lye in waite for blood: euery man hunteth his brother with a net.
3 To make good for the euill of their hands, the prince asked, and the iudge iudgeth for a reward: therefore the c great man hee speaketh out the corruption of his soule: so d they wrap it vp.
4 The best of them is as e a brier, and the most righteous of them is sharper then a thorne hedge: the day of f thy watchmen and thy visitation commeth: then shall be their confusion.
5 Trust ye not in a friend, neither put ye confidence in a counseller; keepe the doores of thy mouth from her that lieth in thy bosome.
6 For the sonne reuileth the father: the daughter riseth vp against her mother: the daughter in lawe against her mother in law, and a mans enemies are the men of his owne house.
7 Therefore g I will looke vnto the Lord: I will waite for God my Sauiour: my God will heare me.
8 Reioyce not against me, h O mine enemie: though I fall, I shal arise: when I shal sit in darkenesse, the Lord shalbe a light vnto me.
9 I will beare the wrath of the Lord, because I haue sinned against him, vntill hee pleade my cause, and execute iudgement for mee: then will hee bring mee foorth to the light, and I shall see his righteousnesse.
10 Then shee that is mine enemie, shall looke vpon it, and shame shal couer her, which said vnto mee, Where is the Lord thy God? Mine eyes shal behold her: now shall she be troden downe as the mire of the streetes.
11 This is i the day that thy walles shall bee built: this day shall driue farre away k the decree.
12 In this day also they shall come vnto thee from l Asshur, and from the strong cities, and from the strong holdes euen vnto the riuer, and from Sea to Sea, and from mountaine to mountaine.
13 Notwithstanding, the land shall be desolate because of them that dwell therein, and for the fruites of m their inuentions.
14 n Feede thy people with thy rod, the flocke of thine heritage (which dwell solitarie in the wood) as in the mids of Carmel: let them feede in Bashan and Gilead, as in olde time.
15 o According to the dayes of thy comming out of the land of Egypt, will I shew vnto him marueilous things.
16 The nations shall see, and bee confounded for all their power: they shall p lay their hande vpon their mouth: q their eares shall be deafe.
17 They shall r licke the dust like a serpent: they shall moue out of their holes like wormes: they shalbe afraid of the Lord our God, and shal feare because of thee.
18 Who is a God like vnto thee, that taketh away iniquitie, and s passeth by the transgression of the remnant of his heritage! Hee reteineth not his wrath for euer, because mercie pleaseth him.
19 He wil turne againe, and haue compassion vpon vs: hee will subdue our iniquities, and cast all t their sinnes into the bottome of the sea.
20 Thou wilt performe thy u trueth to Iaakob, and mercy to Abraham, as thou hast sworne vnto our fathers in olde time.

h This is spoken in the person of the Church, which calleth the malignant Church her enemie.
i To wit, when God shall shewe himselfe a deliuerer of his Church, and a destroyer of his enemies.
k Meaning, the cruell empire of the Babylonians.
l When the Church shall be restored, they that were enemies afore, shall come out of all the corners of the world vnto her, so that neither holdes, riuers, seas nor mountaines shalbe able to let them.
m Afore this grace appeare, he sheweth how grieuously the hypocrites themselues shall be punished, seeing that the earth it selfe, which can not sinne, shalbe made waste because of their wickednesse.
n The Prophet prayeth to God to be mercifull vnto his Church, when they should be scattered abroade as in solitarie places in Babylon, and to be beneficiall vnto them as in time past.
o God promiseth to be fauourable to his people as he had bene afore time.
p They shall be as dumme men and dare bragge no more.
q They shalbe astonished & afraid to heare men speake, lest they should heare of their destruction. r They shall fall flat on the ground for feare. s As though he would not see it, but winke at it. t Meaning of his elect. u The Church is assured, that God will declare in effect the trueth of his mercifull promes, which he had made of olde to Abraham, and to all that should apprehend the promise by faith.

NAHVM.

THE ARGVMENT.

AS they of Nineueh shewed themselues prompt and readie to receiue the worde of God at Ionahs preaching, and so turned to the Lord by repentance: so after a certaine time rather giuing themselues to worldly meanes to encrease their dominion, then seeking to continue in the feare of God, and trade wherein they had begunne, they cast off the care of religion, and so returned to their vomite, and prouoked Gods iust iudgement against them, in afflicting his people. Therefore their citie Nineueh was destroyed, and Merodach-baladan King of Babel (or as some thinke Nebuchad-nezzar) enioyed the empire of the Assyrians. But because God hath a continuall care of his Church, he stirreth vp his Prophet to comfort the godly, shewing that the destruction of their enemies should be for their consolation. And as it seemeth, hee prophecied about the time of Hezekiah, and not in the time of Manasseh his sonne, as the Iewes write.

CHAP. I.

Of the destruction of the Assyrians, and of the deliuerance of Israel.

THe [a] burden of Nineueh. [b] The booke of the vision of Nahum the [c] Elkeshite.

2 God is [d] ielous, and the Lord reuengeth: the Lord reuengeth: euen the Lord [e] of anger, the Lord will take vengeance on his aduersaries, and he reserueth wrath for his enemies.

3 The [f] Lord is slow to anger, but he is great in power, and will not surely cleare the wicked: the Lord hath his way in the whirlewinde, and in the storme, and the cloudes are the dust of his feete.

4 He rebuketh the sea, and dryeth it, and hee dryeth vp all the riuers: Bashan is wasted and Carmel, and the floure of Lebanon is wasted.

5 The mountaines tremble for him, and the hilles melt, and the earth is burnt at his sight, yea, the world, and all that dwell therein.

6 [g] Who can stand before his wrath? or who can abide in the fiercenes of his wrath? his wrath is powred out like fire, and the rockes are broken by him.

7 The Lord is good [h] and as a strong holde in the day of trouble, and he knoweth them that trust in him.

8 But passing ouer as with a flood, he will vtterly destroy the [i] place thereof, and darkenesse shall pursue his enemies.

9 What doe ye [k] imagine against the Lord? he will make an vtter destruction: affliction shall not rise vp the second time.

10 For he shall come as vnto [l] thornes folden one in another, and as vnto drunkardes in their drunkennesse: they shall be deuoured as stubble fully dryed.

11 There [m] commeth one out of thee that imagineth euill against the Lorde, euen a wicked counsellour.

12 Thus saith the Lorde, Though they bee [n] quiet, and so many, yet thus shall they be cut off when hee shall passe by: though I haue afflicted thee, I will afflict thee no more.

13 For now I will breake his yoke from thee, and will burst thy bonds in sunder.

14 And the Lord hath giuen a commaundement concerning thee, that no more of thy name be [o] sowen: out of the house of thy gods will I cut off the grauen, and the molten image: I will make it thy graue for thee, for thou art vile.

15 * Beholde vpon the mountaines the feete of him that declareth, and publisheth [p] peace: O Iudah, keepe thy solemne feastes, perfourme thy vowes: for the wicked shal no more passe thorow thee: he is vtterly cut off.

a Reade Isa 13.1. b The vision or reuelation, which God commanded Nahum to write concerning the Nineuites.
c That is, borne in a poore village in the tribe of Simeon.
d Meaning, of his glory.
e With his he is but angrie for a time, but his anger neuer asswageth toward the reprobate, though for a time he deferre it.
f Thus the wicked would make Gods mercy an occasion to sinne, but the Prophet willeth them to consider his force and iustice.
g If all creatures be at Gods commandement and none is able to resist his wrath, shall man flatter himselfe, and thinke by any meanes to escape when he prouoketh his God to anger?
h Lest the faithful should be discouraged by hearing the power of God, he sheweth them that his mercies appertaine vnto them, and that he hath care ouer them.
i Signifying, that God will sudden. ly destroy Nineueh, and the Assyrians, in such sort as they shall lie in perpetuall darkenesse, and neuer recouer their strength againe.
k He sheweth that the enterprises of the Assyrians against Iudah and the Church, were against God, and therefore hee would so destroy them at once, that hee should not neede to returne the second time. l Though the Assyrians thinke themselues like thornes that pricke on all sides, yet the Lorde will set fire on them: and as drunken men are not able to stand against any force, so they shall be nothing able to resist him. m Which may be vnderstood either of Sancherib or of the whole body of the people of Nineueh. n Though they thinke themselues in most safetie, and of greatest strength, yet when God shall passe by, he will destroy them: notwithstanding he comforteth his Church, and promiseth to make an ende of punishing them by the Assyrians. o Meaning Sancherib, who should haue no more children, but be slaine in the house of his gods, 2. King. 19. 36, 37. * Isa. 52. 7. roman. 10. 15. p Which peace the Iewes should enioy by the death of Sancherib.

CHAP. II.

Hee describeth the victories of the Caldeans against the Assyrians,

THe [a] destroyer is come before thy face: keepe the munition: looke to the way: make thy loynes strong: increase thy strength mightily.

2 For the Lord hath [b] turned away the glory of Iaakob, as the glory of Israel: for the emptiers haue emptied them out, and [c] marred their vine branches.

3 The shield of his mightie men is made red: [d] the valiant men are in skarlet: the charets shall be as in the fire and flames in the day of his preparation, and [e] the firre trees shall tremble.

4 The charets shall rage in the streetes: they shall runne to and fro in the hie wayes: they shall seeme like lampes: they shal shoote like the lightning.

5 [f] He shal remember his strong men: they shal stumble as they goe: they shall make haste to the walles thereof, and the defence shalbe prepared.

6 The gates of the riuers shalbe opened, and the place shall melt.

7 And Huzzab the Queene shal be led away captiue, and her maides shal leade her as with the voyce of doues, smiting vpon their breasts.

8 But Nineueh is [g] of old like a poole of water: yet they shall flee away. Stand, stand, shall they crie: but none shall looke backe.

9 [h] Spoile ye the siluer, spoyle the golde: for there is none ende of the store, and glory of all the pleasant vessels.

10 [i] Shee is emptie and voyde and waste, and the heart melteth, and the knees smite together, and sorow is in all loynes, and the faces [k] of them all gather blackenesse.

11 Where is the [l] dwelling of the lyons, and the pasture of the lyons whelpes? where the lyon, and the lyoneesse walked, and the lyons whelpe, and none made them afraid.

12 The lyon did teare in pieces ynough for his whelpes, and woryed for his lyoneesse, and filled his holes with praye, and his dennes with spoyle.

13 Beholde, I come vnto thee, sayth the Lord of hostes, and I will burne her charets in the [m] smoke, and the sword shall deuoure thy yong lyons, and I wil cut off thy spoyle from the earth, and the voyce of thy [n] messengers shall no more be heard.

a That is, Nebuchad-nezzar is in a readinesse to destroy the Assyrians: and the Prophet derideth the enterprises of the Assyrians which prepared to resist him.
b Seeing God hath punished his owne people Iudah and Israel, he will now punish the enemies by whom he scourgeth them, reade Isa. 10. 12.
c Signifying that the Israelites were vtterly destroyed.
d Both to feare the enemie, and also that they themselues should not so soone espie blood one of another to discourage them.
e Meaning, their speares should shake and crash together.
f Then the Assyrians shall seeke by all meanes to gather their power, but all things shall faile them.
g The Assyrians will flatter themselues and say, that Nineueh is so ancient that it can neuer perish, and is as a fishpoole, whose waters they that walke on the bankes can not touch, but they shalbe scattered, and shal not looke backe, though men would call them.
h God commaundeth the enemies to spoyle Nineueh, and promiseth them infinite riches and treasures. i That is, Nineueh, and the men thereof shalbe after this sort. k Reade Ioel 2. 6. l Meaning Nineueh, whose inhabitants are cruell like the Lyons, and giuen to all oppression, and spared no violence or tyrannie to prouide for their wiues and children. m That is, assoone as my wrath beginneth to kindle. n Signifying the heraldes, which were accustomed to proclaime warre. Some reade of thy gumme teeth wherewith Nineueh was woont to bruise the bones of the poore.

CHAP. III.

1 Of the fall of Nineueh. 8 No power can escape the hand of God.

O Bloodie citie, it is all full of lyes, and robberie: [a] the praye departeth not:

2 The noyse of the whippe, [b] and the noyse of the mouing of the wheeles, and the beating of the horses, and the leaping of the charets.

3 The horseman lifteth vp both the bright sword, and the glittering speare, and a multitude [c] slaine, and the dead bodies are many: there is none ende of the corpses: they stumble vpon the corpses,

4 Because of the multitude of the fornications of the [c] harlot that is beautifull, and is a mistresse of witchcraft, & selleth the people through her beautie and subtiltie entiseth yong men, and bringeth them to destruction.

a It neuer ceaseth to spoyle and robbe.
b Hee sheweth how the Caldeans shal haste, and how courageous their horses shall be in beating the ground when they come against the Assyrians.
c He compareth Nineueh to an harlot, which by her her whoredome, and the nations through her witchcraftes.

5 Beholde, I come vpon thee, saith the Lord of hostes, and will discouer thy skirtes vpon thy face, and wil shew the nations thy filthinesse, and the kingdomes thy shame.

6 And I will cast filth vpon thee, and make thee vile, and wil set thee as a gasing stocke.

7 And it shall come to passe, that all they that looke vpon thee, shall flee from thee, and say, Nineueh is destroyed, who will haue pitie vpon her? where shall I seeke comforters for thee?

d Meaning, Alexandria, which was in league with so many nations and yet was now destroyed.

8 Art thou better then d No, which was full of people? that lay in the riuers, and had the waters round about it? whose ditch was the sea, and her wall was from the sea?

9 Ethiopia and Egypt were her strength, and there was none ende: Put and Lubim were ‖ her helpers.

‖ Or, thine.

10 Yet was she carried away, and went into captiuitie: her young children also were dashed in pieces at the head of all the streetes: and they cast lottes for her noble men, and all her mightie men were bound in chaines.

11 Also thou shalt be drunken: thou shalt hide thy selfe, & shalt seeke helpe because of ỹ enemie.

12 All thy strong cities shall be like figge trees with the first ripe figs: for if they be shaken, they fall into the mouth of the eater.

13 Beholde, thy people within thee are women: the gates of thy land shall be opened vnto thine enemies, & the fire shall deuoure thy barres.

14 Drawe thee waters for the siege: fortifie thy strong holdes: goe into the clay, and temper the morter: make strong bricke.

15 There shal the fire deuoure thee: the sword shall cut thee off: it shall eate thee vp like the e locustes, though thou be multiplied like the locustes, and multiplied like the grashopper.

e Signifying, that Gods iudgements should suddenly destroy the Assyrians, as these vermine are with raine or change of weather.

16 Thou hast multiplied thy marchants aboue the starres of heauen: the locust spoyleth and flieth away.

17 Thy princes are as the grashoppers, and thy captaines as the great grashoppers which remaine in the hedges in the colde day: but when the sunne ariseth, they flee away and their place is not knowen where they are.

18 Thy f shepherds do sleepe, O king of Ashur: thy strong men lie downe: thy people is scattered vpon the mountaines, & no man gathereth them.

f Thy princes and counsellers.

19 There is no healing of thy wounde: thy plague is grieuous: all that heare the brute of thee, shall clap the handes ouer thee: for vpon g whom hath not thy malice passed continually?

g Meaning, that there was no people, to whom the Assyrians had not done hurt.

HABAKKVK.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe Prophet complaineth vnto God, considering the great felicitie of the wicked, and the miserable oppression of the godly, which endure all kinde of affliction and crueltie, and yet can see none ende. Therefore he had this reuelation shewed him of God, that the Caldeans should come & take them away captiues, so that they could looke for none ende of their troubles as yet, because of their stubbernesse and rebellion against the Lord. And lest the godly should despaire, seeing this horrible confusion, hee comforteth them by shu that God will punish the Caldeans their enemies, when their pride and cruelty shall be at height: wherefore he exhorteth the faithfull to patience by his owne example, and sheweth them a forme of prayer, wherewith they should comfort themselues.

CHAP. I.

2 A complaint against the wicked that persecute the iust.

THE burden, which Habakkuk the Prophet did see.

2 O Lord, howe long shall I crie, and thou wilt not heare! euen crie out vnto thee a for violence, and thou wilt not helpe!

a The Prophet complaineth vnto God & bewaileth that among the Iewes is left none equitie nor brotherly loue: but in stead hereof reigneth crueltie, theft, contention and strife.

3 Why do‹st› thou shewe mee iniquitie, and cause me to beholde sorowe? for spoyling, and violence are before me: and there are that raise vp strife and contention.

4 Therefore the Law is dissolued, and iudgement doth neuer goe forth: for the wicked doeth b compasse about the righteous: therefore c wrong iudgement proceedeth.

b To suppresse him if any should shew himselfe zealous of Gods cause.

c Because the iudges which should redresse this excesse, are as euill as the rest.

5 Beholde among the heathen, and regarde, and wonder, and maruaile: for I will worke a worke in your dayes: d yee will not beleeue it, though it be tolde you.

d As in times past you would not beleeue Gods word, so shall ye not now beleeue ỹ strange plagues which are at hand.

6 For loe, I raise vp the Caldeans, that bitter and furious nation, which shall goe vpon the breadth of the land to possesse the dwelling places, that are not theirs.

7 They are terrible & feareful: e their iudgement & their dignitie shal proceed of themselues.

e They themselues shalbe your iudges in this cause, and none shall haue authoritie ouer them to controll them.

8 Their horses also are swifter then the Leopards, and are more fierce then the wolues in the *euening: and their horsemen are many: and their horsemen shall come from farre: they shall flie as the eagle hasting to meate.

* Zeph.3.3.

9 They come all to spoyle: before their faces shall be an f Eastwinde, and they shall gather the captiuitie, g as the sand.

f For the Iewes most feared this winde, because it destroyed their fruites.

g They shalbe so many in number.

10 And they shall mocke the kings, and the princes shal be a skorne vnto them: they shal deride euery strong holde: for they shall gather h dust, and take it.

h They shall cast vp mounts against it.

11 Then shall they i take a courage, and transgresse and doe wickedly, imputing this their power vnto their god.

i The Prophet comforteth the faithfull that God will also destroy the Babylonians, because they shall abuse this victorie and become proud and insolent, attributing the praise hereof to their idoles.

12 Art thou not of olde, O Lord my God, mine holy one? we shal k not die: O Lord, thou hast ordained them for iudgement, and O God, thou hast established them for correction.

k He assureth the godly of Gods protection, shewing that the enemie can doe no more then God hath appointed, and also that their sinnes required such a sharpe rod. I So that the great deuoureth the small, and the Caldeans destroy all the world.

13 Thou art of pure eyes, and canst not see euil: thou canst not behold wickednesse: wherefore doest thou looke vpon the transgressors, and holdest thy tongue when the wicked deuoureth the man that is more righteous then he?

14 And makest men as the l fishes of the sea, and as the creeping things, that haue no ruler ouer them.

15 They

15 They take vp all with the angle: they catch it in their net, and gather it in their yarne, wherefore they reioyce and are glad.

16 Therefore they sacrifice vnto their [m] net, and burne incense vnto their yarne, because by them their portion [n] is fat & their meat plenteous.

17 Shall they therefore stretch out their net and not spare continually to slay [n] the nations?

m Meaning, that the enemies flatter themselues, and glory in their own force, power and wit.
n Meaning, that they should not.

CHAP. II.

2 A vision, 5 Against pride, couetousnesse, drunkennesse, and idolatrie.

I Will stand vpon my [a] watch, and set me vpon the towre, and will looke & see what he would say vnto mee, and what I shall answere to him that rebuketh me.

2 And the Lorde answered mee, and sayde, Write the vision, and make it plaine vpon tables, that he may runne [b] that readeth it.

3 For the vision is yet for an appointed time, but at the [c] last it shall speake, and not lie: though it tarie, waite: for it shall surely come, and shall not stay.

4 Beholde, [d] hee that lifteth vp himselfe, his minde is not vpright in him, but the iust shall liue by his faith,

5 Yea, indeede the proude man is as [e] he that transgresseth by wine: therefore shall he not endure, because hee hath enlarged his desire as the hell, and is as death, and can not be satisfied, but gathereth vnto him all nations, and heapeth vnto him all people.

6 Shall not all these take vp a parable against him, and a tanting prouerbe against him, and say, Ho, he that increaseth that which is not his? [f] how long? and he [g] that hath himselfe with thicke clay?

7 Shall [g] they not rise vp suddenly, that shall bite thee? and awake, that shall stirre thee? and thou shalt be their praye?

8 Because thou hast spoyled many nations, all the remnans of the people shall spoyle thee, because of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the land, in the citie, and vnto all that dwell therein.

9 Ho, hee that coueteth an euill couetousnes to his house, that hee may set his nest on hie, to escape from the power of euill.

10 Thou [h] hast consulted shame to thine owne house, by destroying many people, and hast sinned against thine owne soule.

11 For the [i] stone shall crie out of the wall, and the beame out of the timber shall answere it.

12 Woe vnto him that buildeth a towne with blood, and erecteth a citie by iniquitie.

13 Behold, is it not of the [k] Lord of hostes that the people shall labour in the very fire? the people shall euen wearie themselues for very vanitie.

14 For the earth shall [l] bee filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the waters couer the sea.

15 Woe vnto him that giueth his neighbour [m] drinke: thou ioynest thine heate, & makest him drunken also, that thou maiest see their priuities.

16 Thou art filled with shame [n] for glorie: drinke thou also, and be made naked: the cup of the Lords right hand shall be turned vnto thee, and shamefull spuing shalbe for thy glorie.

17 For the [o] crueltie of Lebanon shall couer thee: so shall the spoyle of the beastes, which made them afraide, because of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the land, in the citie, and vnto all that dwell therein.

18 What profiteth the [p] image? for the maker thereof hath made it an image, and a teacher of lies, though hee that made it, trust therein, when he maketh dum idoles.

19 Woe vnto him that saith to the wood Awake, and to the dumme stone, Rise vp, it shall teach thee: [q] beholde, it is laide ouer with golde and siluer, and there is no breath in it.

20 But the Lord is in his holy Temple: let all the earth keepe silence before him.

a I will renounce mine owne iudgement, and onely depend on God to be instructed what I shall answere them that abuse my preaching, and to be armed against all tentations.
b Write it in great letters, that he that runneth may reade it.
c Which conteined the destruction of the enemie, and the comfort of the Church: which thing though God execute not according to mans hasty affections, yet the issue of both is certaine at his time appointed.
d To trust in himselfe, or in any worldly thing, is neuer to be quiet: for the onely rest is to stay vpon God by faith, Rom. 1.17. gala. 3.11. heb. 10.38.
e He compareth the proude, and couetous man to a drunkard that is without reason & sense who God will punish, and make him a laughing stock to all the world: and this he speaketh for the comfort of the godly, and against the Caldeans.
f Signifying that all the world shall wish the destruction of tyrants and that by their oppression and couetousnesse, they heape but vpon themselues no e heauie burdens: for the more they get, the more are they troubled.
g That is, the Medes and Persians, that should destroy the Babylonians.
h Signifying, that the couetous man is the ruine of his owne house, when as hee thinketh to enrich it by crueltie and oppression.
i The stones of the house shall crie, and say that they are built of blood, and the wood shall answere and say the same of it selfe.
k Meaning, that God will not deferre his vengeance long, but will come and destroy all their labours, as though they were consumed with fire.
l In the destruction of the Babylonians, his glorie shall appeare through all the world.
m Hee reproueth thus the king of Babylon, who as hee was drunken with couetousnesse and crueltie, so hee prouoked others to the same, and inflamed them by his rage, and so in the ende brought them to shame.
n Whereas thou thoughtest to haue glory of these thy doings, they shall turne to thy shame: for thou shalt drinke of the same cup with others in thy turne.
o Because the Babylonians were cruell not onely against other nations, but also against the people of God, which is ment by Lebanon, & the beasts therein, he sheweth that the like crueltie shalbe executed against them.
p He sheweth that the Babylonians gods could nothing auaile them.
q If thou wilt consider what it is, and how that it hath neither breath nor life, but is a dead thing.

for they were but blockes or stones, reade Iere. 10.8.

CHAP. III.

2 A prayer for the faithfull.

A Prayer of Habakkuk the Prophet for the [a] ignorances.

2 [b] O Lord, I haue heard thy voyce, and was afraide: O Lord, reuiue thy [c] worke in the midst of the people, in the midst of the yeeres make it knowen: in wrath remember mercie.

3 God commeth from [d] Teman, & the holy one from mount Paran, Selah. His glory couereth the heauens, and the earth is full of his praise.

4 And his brightnesse was as the light: [e] hee had hornes comming out of his handes, and there was the hiding of his power.

5 Before him went the pestilence, and burning coles went forth before his feete.

6 He stoode and measured the earth: he beheld and dissolued the nations, and the euerlasting mountaines were broken: and the ancient hilles did bowe: his [f] wayes are euerlasting.

7 [g] For his iniquitie I saw the tents of Cushan, and the curtaines of the lande of Midian did tremble.

8 Was the Lord angry against the [h] riuers? or was thine anger against the floods? or was thy wrath against the sea, that thou diddest ride [i] vpon thine horses? thy charets brought saluation.

9 Thy [k] bowe was manifestly reuealed, and the [l] othes of the tribes were a sure worde, Selah. thou [m] diddest cleaue the earth with riuers.

10 The mountaines sawe thee, and they trembled: the streame of the water [n] passed by: the deepe made a noyse, and lift vp his hand on hie.

11 The [o] sunne and moone stood stil in their habitation: [p] at the light of thine arrowes they went, and at the bright shining of thy speares.

12 Thou trodest downe the lande in anger, a The Prophet instructeth his people to pray vnto God not onely for their great sins, but also for such as they had committed of ignorance.

b Thus the people were afraide when they heard Gods threatnings, and prayed.
c That is, the state of thy Church which is now readie to perish, before it come to halfe a perfect age, which should be vnder Christ.
d Teman and Paran were neere Sinai where the Law was giuen: whereby is signified that his deliuerance was as present now as it was then.
e Whereby is meant a power & was ioyned with brightnes, which was hid to the rest of the world, but was reuealed in mount Sinai to his people, Psal. 31.16.
f Signifying, that God hath wonderfull meanes, and euer had a maruelous power when he would deliuer his Church.
g The iniquitie of this King of Syria in vexing thy people was made manifest by thy iudgement, to the comfort of thy Church, Iudg. 3.10. and also of the Midianites, which destroyed themselues, Iudg. 7.22.
h Meaning, that God was not angry with the waters, but that by this meanes hee would destroy his enemies and deliuer his Church.
i And to diddest vse all the elements as instruments for the destruction of thine enemies.
k That is, thy power.
l For he had not onely made a couenant with Abraham, but renued it with his posteritie. m Reade Num. 20.11.
n He alludeth to the red sea and Iorden, which gaue passage to Gods people, and shewed signes of their obedience, as it were by lifting vp of their hands.
o As appeareth, Iosh. 10.12 p According to thy commaundement the sunne was directed by the weapons of thy people, that fought in thy cause, as though it durst not goe forward.

and diddest thresh the heathen in displeasure.

13 Thou wentest forth for the saluation of thy people, euen for saluation with thine q Anointed: thou hast wounded the head of the house of the wicked, and discoueredst the foundations vnto the r necke. Selah.

14 Thou diddest s strike thorow with his own staues the heads of the villages: they came out as a whirlewinde to scatter me: their reioycing was as to deuoure the poore secretly.

15 Thou diddest walke in the sea with thine horses vpon the heape of great waters.

16 When I t heard, my bellie trembled: my lips shooke at the voyce: rottennesse entred into my bones, & I trembled in my selfe, that I might rest in u the day of trouble: for when hee commeth vp x vnto the people, he shall destroy them.

18 But I will reioyce in the Lord: I will ioy y in the God of my saluation.

19 The Lord God u my strength: hee will make my feete like hindes feete, and he will make mee to walke vpon mine hie places. z To the chiefe singer on Neginothai.

q Signifying, that there is no saluation, but by Christ.
r From the toppe to the toe thou hast destroyed the enemies.
s God destroyed his enemies both great and small, with their owne weapons, though they were neuer so fierce against his Church.
t He returneth to that which he spake in the second verse, and sheweth how he was afraid of Gods iudgements.
u He sheweth that the faithfull can neuer haue true rest, except they feele before the weight of Gods iudgements.
x That is, the enemie: but the godly shall be quiet, knowing that all things shall turne to good vnto them.
y He declareth wherein standeth the comfort and ioy of the faithfull, though they see neuer so great affliction prepared. z The chiefe singer vpon the instruments of musicke shall haue occasion to praise God for this great deliuerance of his Church.

ZEPHANIAH.

THE ARGVMENT.

Seeing the great rebellion of the people, and that there was now no hope of amendment, he denounceth the great iudgement of God, which was at hand, shewing that their country should be vtterly destroyed, and they caryed away captiues by the Babylonians. Yet for the comfort of the faithfull he prophecied of Gods vengeance against their enemies as the Philistiims, Moabites, Assyrians, & others, to assure them that God had continuall care ouer them. And as the wicked should be punished for their sinnes and transgressions: so he exhorteth the godly to patience, and to trust to finde mercie by reason of the free promise of God made vnto Abraham: and therefore quietly to abide till God shewe them the effect of that grace, whereby in the end they should be gathered vnto him, and counted as his people and children.

CHAP. I.

Threatnings against Iudah and Ierusalem, because of their idolatrie.

THe word of the Lord, which came vnto Zephaniah the sonne of Cushi, the sonne of Gedaliah, the sonne of Amariah, the sonne of Hizkiah, in the dayes of * Iosiah, the sonne of * Amon King of Iudah.

2 I will surely destroy all things from off the land, saith the Lord.

3 I will destroy man and beast: I wil destroy the a fowles of the heauen, and the fishes of the sea, and ruines shalbe to the wicked, and I will cut off man from off the land, saith the Lord.

4 I will also stretch out mine hand vpon Iudah, & vpon all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, & I wil cut off the remnant of Baal from this place, & the name of the b Chemarims with the Priestes,

5 And them that worship the hoste of heauen vpon the house tops, and them that worship and sweare by the Lord, & sweare by c Malcham.

6 And them that are turned backe from the Lord, and those that haue not sought the Lorde, nor inquired for him.

7 Be still at the presence of the Lord God: for the day of the Lord is at hand: for the Lord hath prepared a sacrifice, & hath sanctified his ghestes.

8 And it shalbe in the day of ỹ Lords sacrifice, that I will visite the princes & the Kings children, and all such as are clothed with d strange apparel.

9 In the same day also will I visite all those that dance vpon the threshold so proudly, which fill their masters houses by crueltie and deceite.

10 And in that day, saith the Lord, there shall be a noyse, and crie from the e fishgate, and an howling from the second gate, and a great destruction from the hilles.

11 Howle ye inhabitants of g the lowe place: for the companie of the merchants is destroyed: all they that bee siluer, are cut off.

12 And at that time will I search Ierusalem with h lightes, and visite the men that are frosen i in their dregges, and say in their heartes, The Lord will neither doe good nor doe euill.

13 Therefore their goods shalbe spoyled, and their houses waste: * they shall also build houses, but not inhabite them, and they shall plant vineyardes, but not drinke the wine thereof.

14 The great day of the Lord is neere: it is neere, and hasteth greatly, euen the voyce of the day of the Lord: k the strong man shall crie there bitterly.

HAGGAI.

THE ARGVMENT.

When the time of the seuentie yeres captiuitie prophecied by Ieremiah, was expired, God raised vp Haggai, Zechariah, and Malachi to comfort the Ieues and to exhort them to the building of the Temple, which was a figure of the spiritual Temple and Church of God, whose perfection and excellencie stood in Christ. And because that al were giuen to their owne pleasures and commodities, he declareth that that plague of famine, which God sent then among them, was a iust reward of their ingratitude, in that they contemned Gods honour, who had deliuered them. Yet he comforteth them, if they wil returne to the Lord, with the promes of greater felicitie, forasmuch as the Lord wil finish the worke that he hath begun, and send Christ whom he had promised, and by whom they should attaine to perfitioy and glory.

CHAP. I.

1 The time of the prophecie of Haggai. 8 An exhortation to builde the Temple againe.

IN the second yere of King [a]Darius, in the sixt moneth, the first day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord (by the ministerie of the Prophet Haggai) vnto [b]Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, a prince of Iudah, and to Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, saying,

2 Thus speaketh the Lorde of hostes, saying, This people say, The time is not yet come, [c] that the Lords House should be builded.

3 Then came the word of the Lord by the ministerie of the Prophet Haggai, saying,

4 Is it time for your selues to dwell in your [d]sieled houses, and this House lie waste?

5 Now therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts, Consider your owne wayes in your hearts.

6 [e] Ye haue sowen much, and bring in litle: ye eate, but ye haue not ynough: ye drinke, but yee are not filled: ye clothe you, but ye be not warme: and he that earneth wages, putteth the wages into a broken bagge.

7 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Consider your owne wayes in your hearts.

8 Goe f vp to the mountaine, and bring wood, and build this House, and g I wil be fauourable in it, and I will [h]be glorified, saith the Lord.

9 Ye looked for much, and loe, it came to litle: and when ye brought it home, I did blowe [i] vpon it. And why, saith the Lord of hostes? Because of mine House that is waste, and ye runne euery man vnto his owne house.

10 Therefore the heauen ouer you stayed it selfe from dewe, and the earth stayed her fruite.

11 And I called for a drought vpon the lande, and vpon the mountains, and vpon the corne, and vpon the wine, and vpon the oile, vpon al that the ground bringeth foorth: both vpon men and vpon cattel, and vpon all the labour of the hands.

12 When Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, and Iehoshua [j] sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest with al [j] remnant of the people, heard the [k] voice of the Lord their God, and the words of the Prophet Haggai (as the Lord their God had sent him) then the people did feare before the Lord.

13 Then spake Haggai the Lords messenger in the Lords message vnto the people, saying, I am with you, saith the Lord.

14 And the Lord stirred vp [l] the spirite of Zerubbabel, the sonne of Shealtiel a prince of Iudah, and the spirit of Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, and the spirite of all the remnant of the people, and they came, and did the worke in the House of the Lorde of hostes their God.

CHAP. II.

Hee sheweth that the glory of the seconde Temple shall exceede the first.

IN the foure and twentieth day of the sixt moneth, in the second yeere of King Darius,

2 In the seuenth moneth, in the one and twentieth day of the moneth, came [j] word of the Lord by the ministerie of the Prophet Haggai, saying,

3 Speake nowe to Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel prince of Iudah, and to Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, and to the residue of the people, saying,

4 Who is left among you, that sawe this [a] House in her first glory, and how doe you see it nowe? is it not in your eyes, in comparison of it as nothing?

5 Yet now bee of good courage, O Zerubbabel, saith the Lord, and be of good comfort, O Iehoshua, sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest: and be strong, all ye people of the land, saith the Lord, & [b] do it: for I am with you, saith the Lord of hosts,

6 According to the worde that I couenanted with you, when ye came out of Egypt: so my Spirite shall remaine among you, feare ye not.

7 For thus saith the Lorde of hostes, [c] Yet a litle while, and I will shake the heauens and the earth, and the sea, and the dry land:

8 And I will moue all nations, and [d] the desire of all nations shall come, and I will fill this House with glory, saith the Lord of hostes.

9 The [e] siluer is mine, and the golde is mine, saith the Lord of hostes.

10 The glory of this last House shalbe greater then the first, saith the Lord of hostes: and in this place wil I giue [f] peace, saith the Lord of hostes.

11 ¶ In the foure and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, in the second yere of Darius, came the word of the Lorde vnto the Prophet Haggai, saying,

12 Thus saith the Lorde of hostes, Aske nowe the Priestes concerning the Lawe, and say, 13 If one beare [g] holy flesh in the skirt of his garment, & with his skirt doe touch the bread or the pottage, or the wine, or oile, or any meat, shall it be holy? And the Priests answered and said, No.

14 Then sayde Haggai, If a polluted person touch any of these, shall it be vncleane? And the a Who was the sonne of Hystaspis and the third King of the Persians, as some thinke.

b Because the building of the Temple began to cease by reason that the people were discouraged by their enemies: and if these two notable men had neede to be stirred vp & admonished of their duetie, what shall we thinke of other gouernours, whose doings are either against God, or very colde in his cause?

c Not that they condemned the building thereof, but they preferred policie and priuate profite to religion, being content with small beginnings.

d Shewing that they sought not onely their necessities, but their very pleasures before Gods honour.

e Consider the plagues of God vpon you for preferring your policies to his religion, and because ye seeke not him first of all.

f Meaning, that they should leaue off their owne commodities, and go forward in the building of Gods Temple, and in the setting foorth of his religion.

g That is, I will heare your prayers according to my promes, 1. Kings 8 21.29.

h That is, my glory shall be set foorth by you. i And so bring it to nothing.

k This declared that God was the author of the doctrine, and that hee was but the minister, as Exod.14.31.iudg.7.20.2ch.15.28. l Which declareth that men are vnapt and dul to serue the Lord, neither can they obey his word or his messengers before God reforme their hearts and giue them new spirits, Iohn 6.44.

a For the people, according as Isa. 32.11. and Eze.41.1. had prophecied, thought this Temple should haue bene more excellent then Salomons Temple, which was destroyed by the Babylonians, but the Prophets meant the spiritual Temple, the Church of Christ.

b That is, go forward in building the Temple.

c He exhorteth them to patience though they see not as yet this Temple so glorious as the Prophets had declared: for this should be accomplished in Christ by whom al things should be renued.

d Meaning, Christ whom all ought to looke for and desire: or by desire, he may signifie all precious things, as riches & such like.

e Therefore when this time commeth, he can make al the treasures of the world to serue his purpose: but the glory of this second Temple doth not stand in material things, neither can be built.

f Meaning, all spiritual blessings and felicitie purchased by Christ, Phil.4.7.

g That is the flesh of the sacrifices: whereby he signifieth that that thing which of it selfe is good cannot make another thing so: and therefore they ought not to iustifie themselues by their sacrifices and ceremonies, but contrary he that is vncleane and notpure of heart, doeth corrupt those things, and make them detestable vnto God, which els are good and godly.

Priestes answered and sayd, It shalbe vncleane.

15 Then answered Haggai, and said, So is this people, and so is this nation before mee, saith the Lord: and so are al the workes of their hands, and that which they offer here, is vncleane.

16 And nowe, I pray you, consider in your mindes: from this [h] day, and afore, euen afore a stone was layde vpon a stone in the Temple of the Lord:

17 [i] Before these things were, when one came to an heape of twentie measures, there were but ten: when one came to the wine-presse, for to drawe out fiftie vessels out of the presse, there were but twentie.

18 I smote you with blasting, and with mildew, and with haile, in all the labours of your handes: yet you turned not to me, saith the Lord.

19 Consider, I pray you in your mindes, from [k] this day, and afore from the foure & twentieth day of the ninth moneth, euen from the day that the foundation of the Lordes Temple was layde: consider it in your mindes.

20 Is the [l] seede yet in the barne? as yet the vine, and the figtree, and the pomegranate, and the oliue tree hath not brought foorth: from this day will I blesse you.

21 And againe the word of the Lord came vnto Haggai in the foure and twentieth day of the moneth, saying,

22 Speake to Zerubbabel the prince of Iudah, and say, I [m] wil shake the heauens and the earth,

23 And I will ouerthrow the throne of kingdomes, & I wil destroy the strength of the [n] kingdomes of the heathen, and I wil ouerthrowe the charets, and those that ride in them, and the horse and the riders shal come downe, euery one by the sword of his brother.

24 In that day, saith the Lorde of hostes, will I take thee, O Zerubbabel my seruant, the sonne of Shealtiel, saith the Lorde, and will make thee as a [o] signet: for I haue chosen thee, sayeth the Lord of hostes.

h Consider how God did plague you with famine afore you began to build the Temple.
i That is, before the building was begun.
k From the time they began to build the Temple, he promiseth that God would blesse them: and albeit as yet the fruite was not come forth, yet in the gathering they should haue plentie.

l He exhorteth them to patience and to abide till the harueste came and then they should see Gods blessings.
m I wil make a change and renue al things in Christ, of whom Zerubbabel here is a figure.
n Hereby hee sheweth that there shalbe no let or hinderance when God wil make this wonderful restitution of his Church.
o Signifying that his dignitie should be most excellent, which thing was accomplished in Christ.

ZECHARIAH.

THE ARGVMENT.

TWo moneths after that Haggai had begunne to prophecie, Zechariah was also sent of the Lorde to helpe him in the labour, and to confirme the same doctrine. First therefore he putteth them in remembrance, for what cause God had so sore punished their fathers: and yet comforteth them, if they will repent vnfainedly, and not abuse this great benefite of God in their deliuerance, which was a figure of that true deliuerance, that all the faithfull should haue, from death and sinne by Christ. But because they still remained in their wickednesse, and coldnesse to set foorth Gods glory, and were not yet made better by their long banishment, hee rebuketh them most sharpely: yet for the comfort of the repentant, hee euer mixeth the promes of grace, that they might by this meanes bee prepared to receiue Christ, in whome all should be sanctified to the Lord.

CHAP. I.

Hee exhorteth the people to returne to the Lorde, and to eschewe the wickednesse of their fathers. 16 He signifieth the restitution of Ierusalem and the Temple.

IN the eight moneth of the secõd yeere of [a] Darius, came the word of the Lord vnto [b] Zechariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo, the Prophet, saying,

2 The Lord hath bene [c] sore displeased with your fathers.

3 Therefore say thou vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, [d] Turne ye vnto me, saith the Lorde of hostes, and I will turne vnto you, sayeth the Lord of hostes.

4 Bee ye not as your fathers, vnto whome the former * Prophets haue cryed, saying, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Turne you nowe from your euill wayes, and from your wicked workes: but they would not heare, nor hearken vnto me, saith the Lord.

5 Your fathers, where [e] are they? and doe the Prophets liue for euer?

6 But did not my wordes and my statutes, which I cõmanded by my seruants the Prophets, take holde of [f] your fathers? and [g] they returned, and said, As the Lord of hostes hath determined to doe vnto vs, according to our owne wayes, and according to our workes, so hath hee dealt with vs.

7 Vpon the foure and twentieth day of the eleuenth moneth, which is the moneth [h] Shebat, in the second yeere of Darius, came the worde of the Lord vnto Zechariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo the Prophet, saying,

8 I [i] saw by night, and beholde [k] a man riding vpon a red horse, and hee stood among the mirre trees, that were in a bottome, and behinde him were there [l] red horses speckled and white.

9 Then saide I, O my Lorde, what are these? And the Angel that talked with me, said vnto me, I wil shew thee what these be.

10 And the man that stoode among the mirre trees, answered and said, These are they whom the Lord hath sent to goe through the world.

11 And they answered the Angel of the Lorde, that stood among the mirre trees, and said, Wee haue gone thorow the world: and beholde, all the world sitteth still, and is at rest.

12 Then the [m] Angel of the Lorde answered and said, O Lord of hostes, how long wilt thou be vnmercifull to Ierusalem, and to the cities of Iudah, with whome thou hast bene displeased nowe these threescore and ten yeeres?

13 And the Lord answered the Angel that talked with me, with good wordes and comfortable wordes.

14 So the Angel that communed with mee, said vnto me, Cry thou, and speake, Thus saith the a Who was the sonne of Histaspis.

b This was not that Zechariah, whereof is mention 2. Chro. 24. 20. but had the same name, and is called the sonne of Berechiah, as he was, because he came of those progenitours, as of Ioiada or Berechiah and Iddo.
c Hee speaketh this to feare them with Gods iudgements that they should not prouoke him as their fathers had done, whom he so grieuously punished.
d Let your fruits declare that you are Gods people, and that he hath wrought in you by his spirit and mortified you: for els man hath no power to returne to God, but God most conuert him, as Ierem. 31. 18 lament. 5. 21. Isa. 21. 8. and 31. 6. and 45. 21. * Ierem. 3. 12. ezek. 18. 30. hose. 14. 2. ioel. 2. 12.
e Though your fathers be dead, yet Gods iudgements in punishing them ought still to bee before your eyes: and though the Prophets be dead, yet their doctrine remaineth for euer, 2. Pet. 1. 15.
f Seeing yee sawe the force of my doctrine in punishing your fathers, why doe not yee feare the threatnings conteined in the same, and declared by my Prophets?
g As men astonished with my iudgements, and not that they were touched with true repentance.

h Which conteineth part of Ianuarie, and part of Februarie.
i This vision signifieth the restauration of the Church, but as yet it should not appeare to mans eies which is here ment by the night, by the bottome, and by the mirre trees which are blacke, and giue a darke shadow: yet hee compareth God to a King, who hath his postes and messengers abroad by whom he stil worketh his purpose, and bringeth his matters to passe.
k Who was the chiefe among the rest of the horsmẽ.
l These signified the diuers offices of Gods angels by whom God sometime punisheth, & sometime comforteth and bringeth forth his workes in diuers sorts.
m That is, Christ the Mediatour prayed for the saluation of his Church, which was now troubled, when al the coũtreys about them were at rest.

Lord of hostes, I am n ielous ouer Ierusalem and Zion with a great zeale, 15 And am greatly angry against the careless heathen: for I was angry but o a litle, and they helped forward the affliction.

16 Therefore thus saith the Lord, I wil returne vnto Ierusalem with tender mercie: mine house shall be builded in it, saith the Lord of hostes, and a line p shall be stretched vpon Ierusalem.

17 Cry yet, and speake, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, My cities shall yet q be broken with plentie: the Lord shal yet comfort Zion, and shall yet chuse Ierusalem.

18 Then lift I vp mine eyes and sawe, and beholde, r foure hornes.

19 And I said vnto the Angel that talked with me, What be these? And he answered mee, These are the hornes which haue scattered Iudah, Israel, and Ierusalem.

20 And § Lord shewed me foure s carpenters.

21 Then said I, What come these to doe? And he answered, and said, These are the hornes, which haue scattered Iudah, so that a man durst not lift vp his head: but these are come to fray them, and to cast out the hornes of the Gentiles, which lift vp their horn ouer the land of Iudah to scatter it.

n This must necessarily be vnderstood of Christ, who being God equall with his Father, was sent as he was Mediatour to dwell in his Church, and to gouerne them.

o Though for a time God deferre his helpe & comfort from his Church, yet this declareth that hee loueth them itull most dearely, as a most mercifull father his children, or an husband his wife, and when it is expedient for them, his helpe is euer ready.

o In destroying the reprobate I shewed my selfbut a litle angry toward my Church, but the enemie would haue destroyed them also, and considered not the ende of my chastisements.

p To measure out the buildings.

q The abundance shalbe so greatthat the places of store shall not be able to conteine these blessings that God wil send, but shal euen breake for fulnes.

r Which signified all the enemies of the Church, East, West, North, South.

s These Carpenters or Smithes are Gods instruments, which with their mallets and hammers breake these hard and strong hornes, which would ouerthrow the Church, & declare that none enemies horne is so strong, but God hath an hammer to breake it in pieces.

CHAP. II.

The restoring of Ierusalem and Iudah.

I Lift vp mine eies againe, & looked, and behold, a a man with a measuring line in his hand.

2 Then sayd I, whither goest thou? And hee said vnto mee, To measure Ierusalem, that I may see what is the breadth thereof, and what is the length thereof.

3 And beholde, the Angel that talked with me, went foorth: and another Angel went out to meete him,

4 And sayd vnto him, Runne, speake to this b yong man, and say, c Ierusalem shalbe inhabited without walles, for the multitude of men and cattell therein.

5 For I, saith the Lord, will be vnto her a wall of d fire round about, and wil e be the glory in the midde of her.

6 Ho, ho, come f forth, & flee from the land of the North, saith the Lord: for I haue scattered you into the foure g winds of the heauen, saith § Lord.

7 h Saue thy selfe, O Zion, that dwellest with the daughter of Babel.

8 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, After this i glory hath hee sent me vnto the nations, which spoyled you: for he that toucheth you toucheth the k apple of his eye.

9 For beholde, I will lift vp mine hand l vpon them: and m they shalbe a spoyle to those that serued them, and ye shall knowe, that the Lord of hostes hath n sent me.

10 Reioyce, and be glad, O daughter Zion: for loe, I come, and will dwell in the middes of thee, saith the Lord.

11 And many nations shall be ioyned to the Lord in that day, and shalbe my people: and I will dwell in the middes of thee, and thou shalt know that the Lord of hostes hath sent me vnto thee.

12 And § Lord shal inherite Iudah his portion in the holy land, and shal chuse Ierusalem againe.

13 Let all flesh be still before the Lord: for he is raised vp out of his holy place.

CHAP. III.

A prophesie of Christ and of his kingdome.

ANd hee shewed mee Iehoshua the hie Priest, a standing before the Angel of the Lord, and b Satan stood at his right hand to resist him.

2 And the c Lorde said vnto Satan, the Lord reprooue thee, O Satan: euen the Lord that hath chosen Ierusalem, reprooue thee. Is not this a d brand taken out of the fire?

3 Nowe Iehoshua was clothed with filthie garments, and stood before the Angel.

4 And he answered and spake vnto those that stoode before him, saying, Take away the e filthie garments from him. And vnto him hee saide, Behold, I haue f caused thine iniquity to depart from thee, & I wil cloth thee with change of raiment.

5 And I sayd, Let them g set a faire diademe vpon his head. So they set a faire diademe vpon his head, and clothed him with garments, and the Angel of the Lord stood by.

6 And the Angel of the Lorde testified vnto Iehoshua, saying,

7 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, If thou wilt walke in my wayes, and keepe my watch, thou shalt also h iudge mine House, and shalt also keepe my i courtes, and I will giue thee place among k these that stand by.

8 Heare now, O Iehoshua the hie Priest, thou and thy felowes that sit before thee: for they l are monstrous persons: but behold, I wil bring forth the m Branch my seruant.

9 For loe, the n stone that I haue laid before Iehoshua: vpon one stone shalbe seuen eyes: behold, I will o cut out the grauing thereof, saith the Lord of hostes, and I wil take p away the iniquitie of this land in one day.

10 In that day, saith the Lord of hostes, shall ye call euery man his neighbour vnder the q vine, and vnder the figge tree.

a That is, the Angel who was Christ: for in respect of his office he is oft times called an Angel, but in respect of his eternall essence, is God and so called.

b Meaning, himselfe Zechariah.

c Signifying the spirituall Ierusalem and Church vnder Christ, which should be extended by the Gospel through all the world, and should neede no material walles, nor trust in any worldly strength, but should be safely preserued and dwell in peace among all their enemies.

d To defend my Church, to feare the enemies, and to destroy them if they approch nere.

e In me they shall haue their full felicitie and glory.

f Hee calleth to them which partly for feare, and partly for their owne ease, remained still in captiuitie, and so preferred their owne priuate commodities to the benefites of God promised in his Church.

g As it was I that scattered you, so haue I power to restore you.

h By flying from Babylon and comming to the Church.

i Seeing that God hath begunne to shewe his grace among you by deliuering you, he continueth the same still towarde you, and therefore sendeth mee his Angel, and his Christ to defende you from your enemies, that they shall not hurt you, neither by the way nor at home.

k Yee are so deare vnto God, that he can no more suffer your enemies to hurt you, then a man can abide to be throst in the eye, Psalme 17.8.

l Vpon the heathen your enemies.

m They shall be your seruants as you haue bene theirs.

a He prayed to Christ the Mediatour for the state of the Church.

b Which declareth that the faithful haue not onely warre with flesh and blood, but with Satan himselfe and spirituall wickednesse, Ephes 6.12.

c That is, Christ speaketh to God as the Mediator of his Church that he would rebuke Satan: and here he sheweth himselfe to be the continuall preseruer of his Church.

d Meaning that Iehoshua was wonderfully preserued in the captiuitie, and nowe Satan sought to afflict and trouble him when he was doing his office.

e In respect of the glorious garmets, & precious stones that the priestes did weare before the captiuitie: and by this contemptible state the Prophet signifieth that these small beginnings should be made excellent when Christ shal make the ful restitution of his Church.

f Hee sheweth of what apparell hee speaketh, which is when our filthie sinnes are taken away and we are clad with Gods mercies, which is meant of the spirituall restitution.

g The Prophet prayeth that besides the raiment the Priest might also haue tire for his head accordingly, that is, that the dignitie of the Priesthood might be perfect: and this was fulfilled in Christ, who was both Priest and King: and here all such are condemned that can content themselues with any meane reformation in religio seeing the Prophet desireth the perfection, and obteineth it.

h That is, haue rule and gouernment in my Church, as thy predecessours haue had.

i Whereby he meaneth to haue the whole charge and ministerie of the Church.

k That is, the Angels who represented the whole number of the faithfull: signifying that all the godly shoulde willingly receiue him.

l Because they followe my worde, they are contemned in the world, and esteemed as monsters. Isa. 8. 18

m That is, Christ, who did so humble himselfe, that not onely he became the seruant of God, but also the seruant of men: and therefore in him they should haue comfort, although in the world they were contemned, Isa 11. Jere. 23. 5, and 33. 14, 15.

n Hee sheweth that the ministers can not build, before God lay the first stone, which is Christ, who is full of eyes, both because hee gineth light vnto all others, and that all ought to seeke light at him, Chap. 4. 10.

o That is, I wil make it perfect in all points, as a thing wrought by the hand of God.

p Though I haue punished this land for a time, yet I wil euen now be pacified, and visite their sinnes no more.

q Yee shall then liue in peace and quietnesse, that is, in the kingdome of Christ, Isa. 2. 2. micah 4. 4. hag. 2. 10.

CHAP. IIII.

The vision of the golden candlestick, and the exposition thereof.

AND the Angel that talked with mee, came againe and waked me, as a man that is rayſed out of his ſleepe,

2 And ſaid vnto me, What ſeeſt thou? And I ſayd, I houe looked, and behold, a [a] candleſticke all of golde with a bowle vpon the top of it, and his ſeuen lamps therein, and ſeuen [b] pipes to the lamps which were vpon the top thereof.

3 And two oliue trees ouer it, one vpon the right ſide of the bowle, and the other vpon the left ſide thereof.

4 So I anſwered, and ſpake to the Angel that talked with me, ſaying, What are theſe, my Lord?

5 Then the Angel that talked with mee, anſwered and ſaid vnto me, Knoweſt thou not what theſe be? And I ſaid, No, my Lord.

6 Then he anſwered and ſpake vnto me, ſaying, This is the word of the Lord vnto [c] Zerubbabel, ſaying, Neither by an [d] armie nor ſtrength, but by my ſpirit, ſaieth the Lorde of hoſtes.

7 Who art thou, O [e] great mountaine, before Zerubbabel? thou ſhalt be a plaine, and [f] he ſhall bring foorth the head ſtone thereof, with ſhoutings, crying, Grace, grace vnto it.

8 Moreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, ſaying,

9 The handes of Zerubbabel haue layed the foundation of this houſe: his handes ſhall alſo finiſh it, and g thou ſhalt knowe that the Lorde of hoſts hath ſent me vnto you.

10 For who hath deſpiſed the day of the [h] ſmall things? but they ſhall reioyce, and ſhall ſee the ſtone of [i] tinne in the hand of Zerubbabel: [k] theſe ſeuen are the eies of the Lord, which goe thorow the whole world.

11 Then anſwered I, and ſaid vnto him, What are theſe two oliue trees vpon the right and vpon the left ſide thereof?

12 And I ſpake moreouer, and ſaid vnto him, What be theſe two oliue branches, which thorowe the two golden pipes emptie themſelues into the golde?

13 And he anſwered mee, and ſayd, Knoweſt thou not what they bee? And I ſayde, No, my Lord.

14 Then ſaid he, Theſe are [l] the two oliue branches, that ſtand with the ruler of the whole earth.

a Which was euer in the mids of the Temple, ſignifying that the graces of Gods ſpirit ſhould ſhine there in moſt abundance, and in all perfection.

b Which conueyed the oyle that dropped from the trees into the lamps, ſo that the light neuer failed: and this viſion was to confirme the faithfull that God had ſufficient power in himſelfe to continue his graces, & to bring his promes to paſſe, though he had no helpe of man.

c Who was a figure of Chriſt, and therefore this doctrine was directed to all the Church who are his body and members.

d He ſheweth that Gods power only is ſufficient to preſerue his Church, though he vſe not mans helpe thereunto.

e He compareth the power of the aduerſaries to a great mountaine, who thought the Iewes nothing in reſpect of them, and would haue hindered Zerubbabel who repreſented Chriſt, who the enemies dayly labour to let in the building of his ſpiritual Temple, but all in vaine.

f Though the enemies thinke to ſtay this building, yet Zerubbabel ſhall lay the higheſt ſtone thereof, and bring it to perfection, ſo that all the godly ſhall reioyce, and pray vnto God that hee would continue his grace and fauour toward the Temple. g Meaning the Prophet, that I am Chriſt ſent of my Father for the building & perſeruation of my ſpiritual temple. h Signifying, that all were diſcouraged at the ſmall and poore beginnings of the Temple. i Whereby he ſignifieth the plummet and line, that is, Zerubbabel which repreſented Chriſt, ſhould goe forward with his building to the ioy and comfort of the godly, though the world be againſt him, and though his for a while be diſcouraged, becauſe they ſee not things pleaſant to the eye. k That is, God hath ſeuen eyes: meaning, a continuall prouidence, ſo that neither Satan nor any power in the world can goe about or bring any thing to paſſe to hinder his worke, Chap. 3. 9. l Which were euer greene and full of oyle, ſo that ſtill they powred foorth oyle into the lampes: ſignifying, that God will continually, mainteine and preſerue his Church, and indue it ſtill with abundance and perfection of graces.

CHAP. V.

1 The viſion of the flying booke, ſignifying the curſe of theeues and ſuch as abuſe the Name of God. 6 By the viſion of the meaſure is ſignified the bringing of Iudah's afflictions into Babylon.

THEN I turned me, and lifted vp mine eies and looked, and beholde, a flying booke.

2 And he ſaid vnto me, What ſeeſt thou? And I anſwered, I ſee a flying [a] booke: the length thereof is twentie cubites, and the breadth thereof ten cubites.

3 Then ſaid he vnto me, This is the curſe that goeth forth ouer the whole earth: for euery one that [b] ſtealeth, ſhalbe cut off aſwell on this [c] ſide, as on that: and euery one that [d] ſweareth, ſhall be cut off aſwell on this ſide, as on that.

4 I wil bring it forth, ſaith the Lorde of hoſts, and it ſhall enter into the houſe of the thiefe, and into the houſe of him, that falſely ſweareth by my Name: and it ſhall remaine in the middes of his houſe, and ſhal conſume it, with the timber thereof, and ſtones thereof.

5 Then the Angel that talked with me, went foorth, and ſayd vnto me, Lift vp now thine eyes, and ſee what is this that goeth foorth.

6 And I ſayde, What is it? And hee ſayde, This is an [e] Ephah that goeth foorth. Hee ſayde moreouer, This is the [f] ſight of them through all the earth.

7 And beholde, there was lift vp a [g] talent of lead: and this is a [h] woman that ſitteth in the middes of the Ephah.

8 And he ſaid, This is [i] wickednes, and he caſt it into the middes of the Ephah, and he caſt the weight of lead vpon the mouth thereof.

9 Then lift I vp mine eyes, and looked: and beholde, there came out two [k] women, and the winde was in their wings (for they had wings like the wings of a ſtorke) and they lift vp the Ephah betweene the earth and the heauen.

10 Then ſayd I to the Angel that talked with me, Whither doe theſe beare the Ephah?

11 And he ſaid vnto me, [l] To build it an houſe in the land of Shinar, and it ſhall be eſtabliſhed and ſet there vpon her owne place.

a Becauſe the Iewes had prouoked Gods plagues, by contemning his word and caſting off all iudgement and equitie, hee ſheweth that Gods curſes written in this booke had iuſtly light both on them, and their fathers: but now if they would repent, God would ſende the ſame among the Caldeans their former enemies.

b That is, vſeth any iniurie toward his neighbour.

c Meaning, whereſoeuer he be in the world.

d He that tranſgreſſeth the firſt table, and ſweareth not God aright, but abuſeth Gods Name.

e Which was a meaſur: in drie things conteining about teane pottels.

f That is, all the wickednes of ỹ vngodly is in Gods ſight, which hee keepeth in a meaſure and can ſhut it or open it at his pleaſure, g To couer the meaſure.

h Which repreſenteth iniquitie, as in the next verſe. i Signifying, that Satan ſhould not haue ſuch power againſt the Iewes to tempt them, as he had in time paſt, but that God would ſhut vp iniquitie in a meaſure as in a priſon. k Which declared that God would execute his iudgements by the meanes of weake and infirme meanes. l To remoue the iniquitie and afflictions that came for the ſame from Iudah, to place it for euer in Babylon.

CHAP. VI.

By the foure charets he deſcribeth the foure Monarchies.

AGAINE I turned and lift vp mine eyes, and looked: and beholde, there came foure [a] charets out from betweene [b] two mountaines, and the mountaines were mountaines of braſſe.

2 In the firſt charet were [c] red horſes, and in the ſecond charet [d] blacke horſes.

3 And in the third charet [e] white horſes, and in the fourth charet, horſes of [f] diuers colours, and reddiſh.

4 Then I anſwered, and ſayde vnto the Angel that talked with mee, What are theſe my Lord?

5 And the Angel anſwered, and ſayde vnto mee, Theſe are the [g] foure ſpirits of the heauen, which goe foorth from ſtanding with the Lord of all the earth.

6 That with the blacke horſe went forth ina By charets here, as by horſes afore, he meaneth the ſwift meſſengers of God to execute and declare his will.

b By the braſen mountaines hee meaneth the eternall counſell and prouidence of God, whereby he hath from before all eternitie decreed what ſhall come to paſſe, and that which neither Satan nor all the world can alter. c Which ſignified the great cruelitie and perſecutions that the Church had endured vnder diuers enemies. d Signifying that they had endured great afflictions vnder the Babylonians. e Theſe repreſented their ſtate vnder the Perſians which reſtored them to libertie. f Which ſignified that God would ſometime giue his Church reſt, and powre his plagues vpon their enemies, as hee did in deſtroying Nineueh and Babylon, and other their enemies. g Meaning all the actions and motions of Gods Spirit, which according to his inchangeable counſell he cauſeth to appeare through all the world.

to the land of the North, and the white went out after them, and they of diuers colours went forth toward the h South countrey.

7 And the i reddish went out, and required to goe, and passe through the world, and he sayd, Goe passe through the worlde. So they went thorowout the world.

8 Then cryed hee vpon me, and spake vnto me, saying, Beholde, these that goe towarde the North countrey, haue pacified my k spirit in the North countrey.

9 And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

10 Take of them of the captiuitie, euen of Heldai, and of Tobijah, and Iedaiah, which are come from Babel, and come thou the same day, and goe vnto the house l of Iosiah, the sonne of Zephaniah.

11 Take euen siluer, and golde, and make crownes, and set them vpon the m head of Iehoshua, the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, 12 And speake vnto him, saying, Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, and saith, Behold the man whose name is the n Baruch, and hee shall growe o vp out of his place, and hee shall p builde the Temple of the Lord.

13 Euen hee shall builde the Temple of the Lord, and he shall beare the q glory, and shall sit and rule vpon his throne, and hee shalbe a Priest vpon his throne, and the counsell of peace shall be betweene r them both.

14 And the crownes shall be to s Helem, and to Tobiiah, and to Iedaiah, and to t Hen the sonne of Zephaniah, for a u memoriall in the Temple of the Lord.

15 And they that are x farre off, shall come and build in the Temple of the Lord, and ye shall knowe, that the Lord of hostes hath sent me vnto you. And this shall come to passe, if yee will y obey the voyce of the Lord your God.

h That is, toward Egypt, and other countreys thereabout.
i That is, they of diuers colours, which aske leaue, to signifie that Satan hath no power to hurt or afflict till God giue it him, Iob 1.12.
k By punishing the Caldeans mine anger ceased and you were deliuered.
l To receiue of him and the other three, money, to make the two crownes: which were men of great authoritie among the Iewes, and doubted of the restitution of the kingdome and of the priesthood, and hurt others by their example.
m Because this could not be attributed to any one according to the Law, therefore it followeth that Iehoshua must represent the Messiah, who was both Priest and King.
n Meaning Christ, of whom Iehoshua was the figure: for in Greek they were both called Iesus.
o That is, of himselfe, without the helpe of man.
p Which declareth that none could build this Temple, whereof Haggai speaketh, but onely Christ: and therefore it was spirituall, and not materiall, Hag.2.10.
q Whereof Iehoshua had but a shadow.
r The two offices of the kingdome, & Priesthood shalbe ioyned together, that they shalbe no more be diffeuered.
s Who was also called Heldai.
t He was also called Iosiah.
u That they may acknowledge their infirmitie, which looked that all things should haue bene restored incontinently: and of this their infidelitie these two crownes shall remaine as tokens, Act.1.6.
x That is, the Gentiles by the preaching of the Gospel shall helpe toward the building of this spirituall Temple.
y If yee will beleeue and remaine in the obedience of faith.

CHAP. VII.

5 The true fasting. 11 The rebellion of the people is the cause of their affliction.

AND in the fourth yeere of King Darius, the word of the Lord came vnto Zechariah in the fourth day of the ninth moneth, euen in a Chisleu.

2 For b they had sent vnto the House of God Sharezer, and Regem-melech and their men to pray before the Lord,

3 And to speake vnto the Priests, which were in the house of the Lorde of hostes, and to the Prophets, saying, Should I c weepe in the fift moneth, and d separate my selfe as I haue done these so many e yeeres?

4 Then came the word of the Lord of hostes vnto me, saying,

5 Speake vnto all the people of the land, and to the f Priests, and say, When ye fasted, & mourned in the fift and seuenth moneth, euen these seuenty yeres, did ye fast vnto me? &do I approue it?

6 And when yee did eate, and when yee did drinke, did ye not eate h for your selues, and drink for your selues?

7 Should ye not heare the wordes, which the Lord i hath cried by the ministerie of the former Prophets when Ierusalem was inhabited, and in prosperitie, and the cities therof round about her, when the South and the plaine was inhabited?

8 And the word of the Lord came vnto Zechariah, saying,

9 Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, saying, k Execute true iudgement, and shewe mercy and compassion, euery man to his brother,

10 And oppresse not the widowe, nor the fatherles, the stranger nor the poore, & let none of you imagin euil against his brother in your heart.

11 But they refused to hearken, and l pulled away the shoulder, and stopped their eares, that they should not heare.

12 Yea, they made their hearts as an adamant stone, lest they shoulde heare the Lawe and the words which the Lord of hostes sent in his m spirit by the ministerie of the former Prophets: therefore came a great wrath from the Lord of hostes.

13 Therefore it is come to passe, that as hee cried, and they would not heare, so they cried, and I would not heare, saith the Lord of hostes.

14 But I scattered them among al the nations, whom they knew not: thus the land was desolate n after them, that no man passed through nor returned: for they layde the pleasant land o waste.

a Which conteined part of November, and part of December.
b That is, the rest of the people that remained yet in Caldea, sent to the Church at Ierusalem, for the resolution of these questions, because these feasts were consented vpon by the agreement of the whole Church, the one in the moneth that the Temple was destroyed, and the other when Gedaliah was slaine, Iere.41.2.
c By weeping and mourning appeare what exercises they vsed in their fasting.
d That is, prepare my selfe with all deuotion to this fast.
e Which was now since the time the Temple was destroyed.
f For there were both of the people, and of the Priests, which doubted as touching this controuersie, besides them which as yet remained in Caldea, and reasoned of it, as of one of the chiefe poynts of their religion.
g For they thought they had deserued toward God because of this fast, which they intended of themselues: and though fasting of it selfe be good, yet because they thought it a seruice toward God, and trusted therein, it is here reproued.
h Did ye not eate, and drink for your owne commoditie and necessitie? and so likewise ye did abstaine according to your owne fantasies, and not after the prescript of my Lawe.
i Hereby he condemneth their hypocrisie, which thought by their fasting to please God and by such things as they inuented, and in the meane season woulde not serue him as hee had commanded.
k He sheweth that they did not fast with a syncere heart, but for an hypocrisie, and that it was not done of a pure religion, because that they lacked their offices of charity, which should haue declared that they were godly, Mat.23.23.
l And woulde not carry the Lordes burthen, which was sweete and easie, but woulde beare their owne, which was heauie and grieuous to the flesh, thinking to merite thereby: which similitude is taken of oxen, which shrinke at the yoke, Nehe.9.29
m Which declareth that they rebelled not onely against the Prophets, but against the Spirit of God that spake in them, n That is, after they were caried away captiue.
o By their sinnes wherby they prouoked Gods anger.

CHAP. VIII.

2 Of the returne of the people vnto Ierusalem, and of the mercy of God toward them. 16 Of good workes. 20 The calling of the Gentiles.

AGaine the word of the Lord of hostes came to me, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, I was a ielous for Zion with great ielousie, and I was ielous for her with great wrath.

3 Thus saith the Lord, I wil returne vnto Zion, and wil dwel in the mids of Ierusalem: and Ierusalem shalbe called a b citie of truth, and the Mountaine of the Lord of hostes, the holy Mountaine.

4 Thus saith the Lorde of hostes, There shall yet olde c men and olde women dwell in the streetes of Ierusalem, & euery man with his staffe in his hand for very age.

5 And the streetes of the citie shall be full of boyes and girles, playing in the streetes thereof.

6 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Though it be d vnpossible in the eyes of the remnant of this people in these dayes, should it therefore be vnpossible in my sight, saith the Lord of hostes?

7 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Beholde, I will deliuer my people from the East countrey and from the West countrey.

a I loued my citie with a singular loue, so that I could not abide that any should do her any iniurie.
b Because she shal be faithfull, and loyall toward me her husband.
c Though their enemies did greatly molest & trouble them, yet God would come and dwel among them, and so preserue them so long as nature would suffer them to liue & encrease their children in great abundance.
d He sheweth wherein our faith standeth, that is, to beleeue that God can performe that which he hath promised, though it seeme neuer so vnpossible to man, Rom.4.20. Gen.18.14.

8 And I will bring them, & they shal e dwel in the mids of Ierusalem, & they shalbe my people, and I will bee their God in trueth, and in righteousnesse.

9 Thus saith the Lorde of hostes, Let your f handes bee strong, yee that heare in these dayes these words by the mouth of the Prophets, which were in the day, that the foundation of the House of the Lord of hostes was laide, that the Temple might be builded.

10 For before these dayes there was no hire for g man nor any hire for beast, neither was there any peace to him that went out or came in because of the affliction: for I set all men, euery one against his neighbour.

11 But nowe, I will not increate the residue of this people as aforetime, saith the Lord of hostes.

12 For the seede shall be prosperous: the vine shall giue her fruite, and the ground shall giue her increase, and the heauens shall giue their dewe, and I will cause the remnant of this people to possesse all these things.

13 And it shall come to passe, that as ye were a curse among the heathen, O House of Iudah, and house of Israel, so will I deliuer you, and ye shalbe a blessing: Feare not, but let your hands be strong.

14 For thus sayth the Lord of hostes, As I thought to punish h you, when your fathers prouoked me vnto wrath, saith the Lord of hostes, and repented not,

15 So againe haue I determined in these daies i to doe well vnto Ierusalem, and to the house of Iudah: feare ye not.

16 These are the things that ye shal do. Speake ye euery man the trueth vnto his neighbour: execute iudgement truely & vprightly in your gates, 17 And let none of you imagine euill in your hearts against his neighbour, and loue no false oth: for al these are the things ẏ I hate, saith the Lord.

18 And the word of the Lord of hostes came vnto me, saying,

19 Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, The fast of the fourth moneth, and the fast of the fift, and the fast of the seuenth, & the fast of the k tenth, shalbe to the house of Iudah ioy & gladnesse & prosperous hie feastes: therfore loue the trueth & peace.

20 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, That there shall yet come l people, and the inhabitants of great cities.

21 And they that dwell in one citie, shal go to another, saying, *Vp, let vs goe & pray before the Lord, and seeke the Lord of hostes: I wil go also.

22 Yea, great people and mightie nations shall come to seeke the Lorde of hostes in Ierusalem, and to pray before the Lord.

23 Thus sayth the Lorde of hostes, In those dayes shall ten men take holde out of all languages of the nations, euen take holde of the skirt of him that is a Iewe, and say, We will goe with you: for we haue heard, that God is with you.

CHAP. IX.

1 The threatning of the Gentiles. 9 The comming of Christ.

THe burthen of the word of the Lord in the land of a Hadrach: and Damascus shalbe his b rest: when the c eyes of man, euen of all the tribes of Israel shalbe toward the Lord.

2 And Hamath also shall border d thereby: Tyrus also and Zidon, though they be e very wise.

3 For Tyrus did build her selfe a strong holde, and heaped vp siluer as the dust, and golde as the myre of the streetes.

4 Behold, the Lord will spoyle her, and he will smite her f power in the Sea, and she shall be deuoured with fire.

5 Ashkelon shall see it, and feare, and Azzah also shall be very sorowfull, and Ekron: for her countenance shall be ashamed, and the king shall perish from Azzah, and Ashkelon shall not bee inhabited.

6 And the g stranger shall dwell in Ashdod, and I will cut off the pride of the Philistims.

7 And I will take away his blood out of his mouth, and his abominations from betweene his h teeth: but he that remaineth, euen he shalbe for our God, and he shall be as a prince in Iudah, but i Ekron shalbe as a Iebusite.

8 And I will campe about k mine House against the armie, against him that passeth by, and against him that returneth, and no oppressour shall come vpon them any more: for nowe l haue I seene with mine eyes.

9 Reioyce greatly O daughter Zion: shoute for ioy: O daughter Ierusalem: behold, thy King commeth vnto thee: m he is iust, and saued himselfe, poore and riding vpon an n asse, and vpon a colt the foale of an asse.

10 And I wil cut off the o charets from Ephraim, and the horse from Ierusalem: the bow of the battel shalbe broken, & he shal speake peace vnto the heathen, & his dominion shalbe from p sea vnto sea, & from the q Riuer to the end of the land.

11 r Thou also shalt bee saued, through the blood of thy couenant. I haue loosed thy f prisoners out of the pit wherein is no water.

12 Turne you to the t strong holde, ye u prisoners of hope: euen to day doe I declare, that I will render the x double vnto thee.

13 For Iudah haue I ẏ bent as a bowe for me: Ephraims hand haue I filled, and I haue raised vp thy sonnes, O Zion, against thy sonnes, O Grecia, and haue made thee as a gyants sword.

14 And the Lord shalbe seene ouer them, and his arrowe shall go forth as the lightning: and the Lord God shall blowe the trumpet, and shal come foorth with the whirlewinds of the South.

15 The Lord of hostes shall defend them, and they shall deuoure them, z and subdue them, with sling stones, and they shall drinke, and make a noyse as thorowe wine, and they shalbe filled like bowles, and as the hornes of the altar.

16 And the Lord their God shall deliuer them in that day as the flocke of his people: for they

e So that their returne shall not be in vaine: for God will accomplish his promise, and their prosperitie shalbe sure and stable.

f Let neither respect of your priuate commodities, neither counsell of others, nor feare of enemies discourage you in the going forward with the building of the Temple, but be constant and obey the Prophets, which incourage you thereunto.

g For God cursed your worke, so that neither man nor beast had profite of their labours.

h Reade Ezek. 18.20.

i Which declareth that man can not turne to God til he change mans heart by the Spirit, and so begin to doe well, which is to pardon his sinnes and to giue him his graces.

k Which fast was appointed when the citie was besieged, and was the first fast of these foure: and here the Prophet sheweth, that if the Iewes wil repent, and turne wholly to God, they shall haue no more occasion to fast, or to shew signes of heauines: for God will sende them ioy and gladnesse.

l He declareth the great zeale that God should giue the Gentiles to come to his church and to ioyne with the Iewes in his true religion, which should be in the kingdome of Christ.

*Isa.2.2.mich.4.1.

a Whereby he meaneth Syria.

b Gods anger shal abide vpon their chiefe citie, and not spare so much as that.

c When the Iewes shall conuert and repent, then God will destroy their enemies.

d That is, by Damascus: meaning that Hamath or Antiochia should be vnder the same rod and plague.

e He secretly sheweth the cause of their destruction, because they deceiued all other by their craft and subtiltie, which they cloked with this name of wisedome.

f Though they of Tyrus think themselues inuincible by reason of the sea, that compasseth them round about, yet they shal not escape Gods iudgements.

g Meaning, that all should be destroyed saue a very few, that should remaine as strangers.

h He promiseth to deliuer the Iewes when he shall take vengeance on their enemies, for their cruelty & wrongs done to them.

i As the Iebusites had bin destroyed, so should Ekron & all the Philistims.

k He sheweth that Gods power only shalbe sufficient to defend his Church against all aduersaries be they neuer so cruell, or assemble their power neuer so often.

l That is, God hath now seene the great iniuries and afflictions where with they haue bene afflicted by their enemies.

m That is, he hath righteousnesse, and saluation in himselfe for the vse and commoditie of his Church.

n Which declareth that they should not looke for such a King as should be glorious in the eyes of man, but should be poore, and yet in himselfe haue all power to deliuer his: and this is meant of Christ, as Matth.21 5.

o No power of man or creature shalbe able to let this kingdome of Christ, and he shall peaceably gouerne them by his word.

p That is from the red sea, to the sea called Syricum: and by these places which the Iewes knew, he meant an infinite space and compasse ouer the whole world.

q That is, from Euphrates.

r Meaning, Ierusalem or the Church, which is saued by the blood of Christ, whereof the blood of the sacrifices was a figure, and is here called the couenant of the Church, because God made it with his Church, and left it with them for the loue that he bare vnto them.

f God sheweth that he will deliuer his Church out of all dangers, seeme they neuer so great.

t That is, into the holy land, where the citie and the Temple are, where God will defend you.

u Meaning, the faithfull: which seemed to be in danger of their enemies on euery side, & yet liued in hope that God would restore them to liberty.

x That is double benefites & prosperity in respect of that which your fathers inioyed from Dauids time to the captiuitie.

y I will make Iudah and Ephraim, that is, my whole Church, victorious against all enemies, which he here meaneth by the Grecians.

z He promiseth that the Iewes shall destroy their enemies and haue abundance, and exceede of all things, as there is abundance on the altar when the sacrifice is offred: Which things are not mouue them to intemperancie, but to sobrietie, and a thankefull remembrance of Gods great liberalitie.

a The faithfull shalbe preserued, and reuerenced of all, that the very enemies shall be compelled to esteeme them: for Gods glorie shall shine in them, as Iosephus declareth of Alexander the great when he met Iadi the high Priest.

shall be as the a stones of his crowne lifted vp vpon his land.

17 For how great is his goodnesse! and how great is his beautie! corne shall make the young men cheerefull, and new wine the maides.

CHAP. X.

2 The vanitie of idolatrie. 3 The Lord promiseth to visite and comfort the house of Israel.

a The Prophet reprooueth the Iewes because by their owne infidelitie they put backe Gods graces promised, and so famine came by Gods iust iudgement: therefore to auoyde this plague he willeth them to turne to God, and to pray in faith to him, and so he will giue them abundance.

ASke you of the a Lord raine in the time of the latter raine: so shall the Lord make white cloudes, and giue you showres of raine, and to euery one grasse in the field.

2 Surely b the idoles haue spoken vanitie, and the southsayers haue seene a lie, and the dreamers haue tolde a vaine thing: they comfort in vaine: therefore c they went away as sheepe: they were troubled, because there was no shepheard.

3 My wrath was kindled against the shepheards, and I did visite the d goates: but the Lord of hostes wil visite his flocke the house of Iudah, and will make them as e his beautifull horse in the battell.

4 Out f of him shall the corner come foorth: out of him the naile, out of him the bowe of battell, and out of him euery g appointer of tribute also.

5 And they shalbe as the mightie men, which treade downe their enemies in the myre of the streetes in the battell, and they shall fight, because the Lorde is with them, and the riders on horses shalbe confounded.

6 And I will strengthen the house of Iudah, and I will preserue the house h of Ioseph, and I wil bring them againe, for I pitie them: and they shal be as though I had not cast them off: for I am the Lord their God, and wil heare them.

7 And they of Ephraim shall bee as a gyant: and their heart shal reioyce as through wine: yea, their children shall see it, and be glad: and their heart shall reioyce in the Lord.

8 I will i hisse for them, and gather them: for I haue redeemed them: and they shal encrease, as they haue increased.

9 And I wil k sow them among the people, and they shal remember me in farre countreis: & they shall liue with their children and l turne againe.

10 I will bring them againe also out of the land of Egypt, & gather them out of Asshur: and I will bring them into the land of Gilead, and Lebanon, and place shal not be found for them.

11 And hee m shall goe into the sea with affliction, and shal smite the waues in the sea, and all the depthes of the riuer shal dry vp: and the pride of Asshur shall be cast downe, and the scepter of Egypt shall depart away.

12 And I will strengthen them in the Lord, and they shall walke in his Name, saith the Lord.

b The idoles haue spoken vanitie, and the southsayers haue seene a lie, and the dreamers haue tolde a vaine thing: they comfort in vaine:

c That is, the Iewes went into captiuitie.

d Meaning, the cruel gouernours which did oppresse the poore sheepe, Ezek. 34 16, 17.

e He will be merciful to his Church and cherish them as a King or Prince doth his best horse which shalbe for his owne vse in the warre.

f Out of Iudah shal the chiefe gouernour proceede, who shalbe as a corner to vphold the building, and as a naile to fasten it together g Ouer their enemies.

h That is, the ten tribes, which should be gathered vnder Christ to the rest of the Church.

i Whereby he declareth the power of God who needeth no great preparation when he wil deliuer his: for with a beck or hisse he can call them from all places suddenly.

k Though they shall yet be scattered and seeme to be lost, yet it shall be profitable vnto them: for there they shall come to the knowledge of my Name, which was a compliished vnder the Gospel, among whom it was first preached. l Not that they should returne into their countrey, but bee gathered and ioyned in one faith by the doctrine of the Gospel. m He alludeth to the deliuerance of the people out of Egypt, where as the Angel smote the floods and riuers.

CHAP. XI.

1 The destruction of the Temple. 4 The care of the faithfull is committed to Christ. 7 A grieuous vision against Ierusalem and Iudah.

OPen thy doores, O a Lebanon, and the fire shall deuoure thy cedars.

2 Houle, b firre trees: for the cedar is fallen, because all the mighty are destroyed: houle ye, O okes of Bashã, for ỹ c defenced forest is cut down.

3 There is the voyce of the houling of the shepheardes: for their d glorie is destroyed: the voyce of the roaring of lyons whelpes: for the pride of Iorden is destroyed.

4 Thus saith the Lorde my God, Feede the sheepe of the e slaughter.

5 They that possesse them, slay them f and sinne not: and they that sell them, say, g Blessed be the Lord: for I am rich, and their owne shepheards spare them not.

6 Surely I wil no more spare those that dwell in the land, saith the Lord: but loe, h I will deliuer the men euery one into his neighbours hand, and into the hand of his i king: and they shal smite the land, & out of their hands I will not deliuer them.

7 For I fed the sheepe of slaughter, euen the k poore of the flocke, and I tooke vnto me l two staues: the one I called Beautie, and the other I called Bandes, and I fed the sheepe.

8 m Three shepheards also I cut off in one moneth, and my soule lothed n them, and their soule abhorred me.

9 Then said I, I wil not feede you: that that dieth, let it die: and that that perisheth, let it perish: and let the remnant eate, euery one the flesh of his neighbour.

10 And I tooke my staffe, euen Beautie, and brake it, that I might disanul my couenant, which I had made with all people.

11 And it was broken in that day: and so the o poore of the sheepe that waited vpon me, knew that it was the word of the Lord.

12 And I said vnto them, If ye thinke it good, giue me p my wages: and if no, leaue off: so they weighed for my wages thirtie pieces of siluer.

13 And the Lord said vnto me, Cast it vnto the q potter: a goodly price, that I was valued at of them. And I tooke the thirtie pieces of siluer, and cast them to the potter in the house of the Lord.

14 Then brake I mine other staffe, euen the Bands, that I might dissolue the brotherhood betweene Iudah and Israel.

15 And the Lord sayd vnto me, Take to thee yet r the instruments of a foolish shepheard.

16 For lo, I wil raise vp a shepheard in ỹ land, which shal not look for the thing, that is lost, nor seeke the tender lambes, nor heale that ỹ is hurt, nor feede that that s standeth vp: but he shal eate the flesh of the fat, & teare their clawes in pieces.

17 O idole shepheard that leaueth the flocke: the sword Jhalbe vpon his t arme, & vpon his right eye.

a Because ỹ Iewes thought themselues so strong by reason of this mountaine, that no enemie could come to hurt them, the Prophet sheweth, that when God sendeth the enemies, it shall shew it selfe ready to receiue them.

b Shewing that if the strong men were destroyed, the weaker were not able to resist.

c Seeing that Lebanon was destroyed, which was the strongest munition, the weaker places could not thinke to hold out.

d That is, the renoume of Iudah and Israel should perish.

e Which being now destinate to be slaine, were deliuered as out of the lyons mouth.

f Their gouernours destroy them without any remorse of conscience, or yet thinking that they doe euill.

g He noteth the hypocrites, which euer haue the Name of God in their mouthes, though in their life and doings they denie God, attributing their gaine to Gods blessing, which commeth of the spoyle of their brethren.

h I will cause one to destroy another.

i Their gouernours shal execute cruelrie ouer thē.

k That is, the small remnant, whom he thought worthie to shew mercie vnto.

l God sheweth his great benefites toward his people to continue them of greater ingratitude, which would neither bee ruled by his most beautifull order of gouernement, neither continue ie the bandes of brotherly vnitie, and therefore hee breaketh both the one and the other. Some reade, for Bandes, Destroyers, but in the 14. verse the first reading is confirmed m Whereby he sheweth his care & diligence that he would suffer them to haue no euil rulers, because they should consider his great loue.

n Meaning, the people, because they would not acknowledge these great benefites of God.

o He sheweth that the least part euer profite by Gods iudgements.

p Besides their ingratitude God accuseth them of malice and wickednesse, which did not onely forget his benefites, but esteemed them as things of nought.

q Shewing that it was too little to pay his wages, which could scarce suffice to make a fewe tyles for to couer the Temple.

r Signifying, that they should haue a certaine kinde of regiment, and outward shewe of gouernement: but in effect it should bee nothing: for they should bee wolues, and deuouring beasts in stead of shepheards.

s And is in health and sound.

t By the arme he signifieth strength, as he doeth wisedome and iudgement by the eye: that is, the plague of God shall take away both thy strength and iudgement.

eye. His arme shall bee cleane dryed vp, and his right eye shalbe vtterly darkened.

CHAP. XII.

Of the destruction and building againe of Ierusalem.

THe burden of the worde of the Lorde vpon a Israel, saith the Lord, which spred the heauens, and laide the foundation of the earth, and formed the spirit of man within him.

2 Behold, I will make Ierusalem a b cuppe of poyson vnto all the people round about: and also with Iudah wil he be, in ỹ siege against Ierusalem.

3 And in that day will I make Ierusalem an heauie stone for all people: all that lift it vp, shall be torne, though all the people of the earth bee gathered together against it.

4 In that day, saith the Lorde, I will smite euery horse with astonishment, and his rider with madnesse, and I will open mine eyes vpon the house of Iudah, and will smite euery horse of the people with blindnesse.

5 And the princes of Iudah shall say in their hearts, The c inhabitants of Ierusalem shalbe my strength in the Lord of hostes their God.

6 In that day will I make the princes of Iudah like coles of fire among the wood, and like a fire brand in the sheafe, and they shal deuoure all the people round about on the right hand, and on the left: and Ierusalem shall be inhabited againe in her owne place, euen in Ierusalem.

7 The Lord also shall preserue the d tents of Iudah, as afore time: therefore the glory of the house of Dauid shall not boast, nor the glory of the inhabitants of Ierusalem against Iudah.

8 In that day shall the Lord defend the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and he that is feeble among them, in that day shall be as Dauid: and the house of Dauid shalbe as Gods house, and as the Angel of the Lord before them.

9 And in that day will I seeke to destroy all the nations that come against Ierusalem.

10 And I wil powre vpon the house of Dauid, and vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem the Spirit of e grace and of compassion, & they shall looke vpon me, whom they haue f pearced, and they shal lament for g him, as one mourneth for his onely sonne, and bee sorie for him as one is sorie for his first borne.

11 In that day shal there be a great mourning in Ierusalem, as the h mourning of i Hadadrimmon in the valley of Megiddon.

12 And the k land shall bewaile euery familie l apart, the familie of the m house of Dauid apart, and their wiues apart: the familie of the house of Nathan apart, and their wiues apart:

13 The familie of the house of Leui apart, and their wiues apart: the familie of n Shemei apart, and their wiues apart:

14 All the families that o remaine, euery familie apart, and their wiues apart.

a That is, the ten tribes, which neglected Gods benefites in deliuering their brethren, and had rather remaine in captiuitie, then to returne home, when God called them.

b Ierusalem shall be defended against all her enemies: so shal God defend all Iudah also, and shall destroy the enemies.

c Euery captaine, that had many vnder him afore, shal now thinke that the small power of Ierusalem shall be sufficient to defend them against all enemies, because the Lord is among them.

d The people which are now as it were dispersed by the fields, and lie open to their enemies, shall be no lesse preserued by my power, then if they were vnder their Kings, (which is meant by the house of Dauid) or in their defenced cities.

e They shall haue the feeling of my grace by faith, and know that I haue compasion on them.

f That is, whom they haue continually vexed with their obstinacie, and grieued my Spirit, Ioh. 19.37. where it is referred to Christs body, which here is referred to the Spirit of God.

g They shall turne to God by true repentance, whom before they had so grieuously offended by their ingratitude.

h They shall lament and repent exceedingly for their offences against God.

i Which was the name of a towne and place neere to Megiddo where Iosiah was slaine, 2. Chro. 35.22.

k That is, in all places where the Iewes shall remaine.

l Signifying that this mourning or repentance should not be a vaine ceremonie: but euery one touched with his owne griefe shall lament.

m Vnder these certaine families he contemneth all the tribes, and sheweth that both the Kings and the Priests had by their sinnes pierced Christ.

n Called also Simeon.

o To wit, which were elect by grace, and preserued from the common destruction.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Of the fountaine of grace. 2 Of the cleane riddance of idolatrie. 3 The zeale of the godly against false prophets.

IN that day there a shall be a fountaine opened to the house of Dauid, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, for sinne and for vncleannesse.

2 And in that day, saith the Lord of hostes, I will cut off the b names of the idoles out of the land: and they shall no more be remembred: and I wil cause the c prophets, and the vncleane spirit to depart out of the land.

3 And when any shall yet d prophecie, his father and his mother that begate him, shall say vnto him, Thou shalt not liue: for thou speakest lies in the name of the Lorde: and his father and his mother that begat him, e shal thrust him thorow, when he prophecieth.

4 And in that day shall the prophets f bee ashamed euery one of his vision, when hee hath prophecied: neither shall they weare a rough garment to deceiue.

5 But hee shall say, I am no g Prophet: I am an husbandman: for man taught me to bee an heardman from my youth vp.

6 And one shal say vnto him, What are these h woundes in thine hands? Then he shal answere, Thus was I wounded in the house of my friends.

7 ¶ Arise, O sword, vpon my i shepheard, and vpon the man, that is my fellow, saith the Lord of hostes: smite the shepheard, and the sheepe shall be scattered: and I wil turne mine hand vpon the litle one.

8 And in all the land, sayth the Lorde, k two partes therein shall bee cut off, and die: but the third shalbe left therein.

9 And I will bring that third part thorow the fire, & wil fine them as the siluer is fined, and will try thē as gold is tried: they shal cal on my name, and I will heare them: I will say, It is my people, and they shal say, The Lord is my God.

a Hee sheweth what shall be the fruite of their repentance, to wit, remissiō of sinnes, by the blood of Christ, which shall be a continual running fountaine, and purge them from all vncleannesse.

b He promiseth that God will also purge them from all superstition, and that their religion shalbe pure.

c Meaning, the false prophets and teachers, who are the corrupters of all religion, whom the Prophet here calleth vncleane spirits.

d That is, when they shall prophecie lies, and make God, who is the author of trueth, a cloke thereunto.

e Hee sheweth what zeale the godly shall haue vnder the kingdome of Christ, Deut. 13.6,9.

f God shall make them ashamed of their errours and lies, and bring them to repentance, and they shall no more weare Prophets apparell to make their doctrine seeme more holy.

g They shall confesse their former ignorance, and be content to labour for their liuing.

h Here by he sheweth that though their parents and friendes dealt more gently with them, and put them not to death, yet they would so punish their children, that became false prophets, that the markes and signes should remaine for euer.

i The Prophet warneth the Iewes, that before this great comfort should come vnder Christ, there should bee an horrible diuision among the people: for their gouernours and pastours should be destroyed, and the people should be as scattered sheepe: and the Euangelist applieth this to Christ, because he was the head of all Pastours, Matt. 26.31.

k The greatest part shall haue no portion of these blessings, and yet they that shall escape them, shalbe tryed with great afflictions, so that it shalbe knowen that onely Gods power and his mercies doe preserue them.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Of the doctrine that shall proceed out of the Church, and of the restauration thereof.

BEholde, the day of the Lorde commeth, and thy spoyle shalbe a diuided in the middes of thee.

2 For I wil gather all nations against Ierusalem to battel, and the citie shalbe taken, and the houses spoyled, and the women defiled, and halfe of the citie shall goe into captiuitie, and the residue of the people shall not bee cut off from the citie.

3 Then shall the Lord goe foorth, and fight against those nations, as when b he fought in the day of battel.

4 And his feete shall stande in that day vpon the c mount of oliues, which is before Ierusalem on the East side, & the mount of oliues shal cleaue in the mids thereof: toward the East and toward the West there shalbe a very great d valley, & halfe a He armeth the godly against the great tentations that should come, before they enioyed this prosperous estate promised vnder Christ, that when these dangers should come, they might knowe ỹ they were warned of them afore.

b As your fathers, and you haue had experience both at the red sea, and at all other times.

c By this maner of speech the Prophet he weth Gods power and care ouer his Church, and how he will as it were by miracle saue it.

d So that out of all the parts of the world, they shall see Ierusalem, which was before hid with this mountaine: and this he meaneth of the spirituall Ierusalem the Church.

of the mountaine ſhal remoue toward the North, and halfe of the mountaine toward the South.

5 And ye ſhall flee vnto the e valley of the mountaines: for the valley of the mountains ſhall reach vnto Azal: yea, yee ſhal flee like as yee fled from the f earthquake in ỹ dayes of Vzziah King of Iudah: and the Lord g my God ſhal come, and all the Saints with thee.

6 And in that day ſhall there bee no cleare light, but darke.

7 And there ſhall be a day (it is knowen to the Lord) h neither day nor night, but about the euening time it ſhall be light.

8 And in that day ſhal there i waters of life go out from Ieruſalem, halfe of them towarde the Eaſt ſea, and halfe of them toward the vttermoſt ſea, and ſhall be both in ſommer and winter.

9 And the Lorde ſhall be King ouer all the earth: in that day ſhall there be one k Lord, and his Name ſhalbe one.

10 All the land ſhall be turned l as a plaine from Geba to Rimmon, toward the South of Ieruſalem, and it ſhalbe lifted vp, and inhabited in her place: from Beniamins gate vnto the place of the firſt gate, vnto the corner gate, and from the towre of Hananiel, vnto the Kings winepreſſes.

11 And men ſhall dwell in it, and there ſhall be no more deſtruction, but Ieruſalem ſhall be ſafely inhabited.

12 And this ſhalbe the plague, wherewith the Lord will ſmite all people, that haue fought againſt Ieruſalem: their fleſh ſhall conſume away, though they ſtand vpon their feete, and their eies ſhal conſume in their holes, and their tongue ſhal conſume in their mouth.

13 But in that day m a great tumult of ỹ Lord ſhall be among them, and euery one ſhall take n the hand of his neighbour, and his hand ſhal riſe vp againſt the hand of his neighbour.

14 And Iudah ſhall fight alſo againſt Ieruſalem, and the arme of all the heathen ſhall be gathered round about, with o golde and ſiluer, and great abundance of apparell.

15 Yet this ſhall be the plague of the horſe, of the mule, of the camell and of the aſſe and of all the beaſts that be in theſe tents as this p plague.

16 But it ſhall come to paſſe that euery one that is left of all the nations, which came againſt Ieruſalem, ſhal go vp from yeere to yeere to worſhip the King the Lord of hoſts, and to keepe the feaſt of Tabernacles.

17 And who ſo will not come vp of all the families of the earth vnto Ieruſalem to worſhip the King the Lord of hoſtes, euen vpon them ſhal come no raine.

18 And if the familie of q Egypt goe not vp, and come not, it ſhall not raine vpon them. Thu ſhall be the plague wherewith the Lord wil ſmite all the heathen, that come not vp to keepe the feaſt of Tabernacles.

19 This ſhalbe the puniſhment of Egypt, and the puniſhment of all the nations that come not vp to keepe the feaſt of Tabernacles.

20 In that day ſhall there be written vpon the r bridles of the horſes. The holineſſe vnto the Lord, and the ſ pots in the Lords houſe ſhall bee like the bowles before the altar.

21 Yea, euery pot in Ieruſalem and Iudah ſhall be holy vnto the Lord of hoſtes: and al they that ſacrifice, ſhall come and take of them, and ſeethe therein: and in that day there ſhalbe no more the t Canaanite in the Houſe of the Lord of hoſtes.

e He ſpeaketh of the hypocrites, which could not abide Gods preſence, but ſhould flee into all places where they might hide them among the mountaines.
f Read Amos 1.1.
g Becauſe they did not credit the Prophets words he turneth to God, and comforteth himſelfe in that ỹ he knew that theſe things ſhoulde come, and ſaieth, Thou, O God, with thine Angels wilt come to performe this great thing.
h Signifying, that there ſhould be great troubles in the Church, & that the time hereof is in ỹ Lords hands, yet at length (which is here meant by the euening) God would ſend comfort.
i That is, the ſpiritual graces of God, which ſhould euer continue in moſt abundance.
k All idolatry & ſuperſtition ſhall be aboliſhed, and there ſhalbe one God, one faith, and one religion.
l This new Ieruſalem ſhalbe ſeene through all the world, and ſhall excell the firſt in excellencie, wealth and greatneſſe.
m God wil not onely raiſe vp warre without, but ſedition at home to trie them.
n To hurt and oppreſſe him.
o The enemies are rich, and therefore ſhall not come for a praye, but to deſtroy and ſhed blood.
p As the men ſhould be deſtroyed, verſe 12.
q By the Egyptians, which were greateſt enemies to true religion, he meaneth all the Gentiles.
r Signifying, that to what ſeruice they were put now (whether to labour, or to ſerue in warre) they were now holy, becauſe the Lord had ſanctified thē.
ſ As precious the one as the other, becauſe they ſhall be ſanctified.
t but all ſhall be pure, and cleane, and there ſhal neither be hypocrite, nor any that ſhall corrupt the true ſeruice of God.

MALACHI.

THE ARGVMENT.

THis Prophet was one of the three, which God raiſed vp for the comfort of his Church after the captiuitie, and after him there was no more vntill Iohn Baptiſt was ſent, which was either a token of Gods wrath, or an admonition that they ſhoulde with more feruent deſires looke for the comming of Meſſiah. Hee confirmeth the ſame doctrine, that the two former doe, but chiefly hee reproueth the Prieſtes for their couetouſneſſe, and for that they ſerued God after their owne fantaſies, and not according to the preſcript of his word. He alſo noteth certaine peculiar ſinnes, which were then among them, as marying of idolatrous and many wiues, murmurings againſt God, impatience, and ſuch like. Notwithſtanding, for the comfort of the godly, he declareth that God would not forget his promiſe made vnto their fathers, but would ſend Chriſt his meſſenger, in whom the couenant ſhould be accompliſhed, whoſe comming ſhould be terrible to the wicked, and bring all conſolation and ioy vnto the godly.

CHAP. I.

A complaint againſt Iſrael and chiefly the Prieſts.

THe a burden of the worde of the Lorde to Iſrael by the miniſterie of Malachi.

2 I haue loued you, ſaith the Lord: yet ye ſay, b Wherein haſt thou loued vs? Was not Eſau Iaakobs brother, ſaith the Lord? yet I loued Iaakob,

3 And I c hated Eſau, and made his mountains waſte, and his heritage a wilderneſſe for dragons.

a Reade Iſa 13.1.
b Which declareth their great ingratitude that did not acknowledge this loue, which was ſo euident, in that he choſe Abraham from out of all the world, & next choſe Iaakob the yonger brother of whom they came, and left Eſau the Elder.
c For beſides that the ſignes of mine hatred appeared euen when hee was made ſeruant vnto his yonger brother, being yet in his mothers bellie, and alſo afterward in that hee was put from his birthright, yet euen now before your eyes the ſignes hereof are euident, in that that his countrey lieth waſte, and he ſhal neuer returne to inhabite it, whereas yee my people, whom the enemie hated more then them, are by my grace and loue toward you deliuered, reade Rom. 9.13.
d Beſides the reſt of the people he condemneth the Prieſts chiefly, becauſe they ſhould haue reproued others for their hypocriſie, and obſtinacie againſt God, and not haue hardened them by their example to greater euils.
e He noteth their groſſe hypocriſie, which would not ſee their faults, but moſt impudently couered them, and ſo were blinde guides.

7 Ye offer vncleane [f] bread vpon mine altar, and you say, Wherein haue we polluted thee? In that ye say the table of the Lord is not [g] to be regarded.

8 And if yee offer the blind for sacrifice, it is [h] not euil: and if ye offer the lame and sicke, it is not euil: offer it now vnto thy prince: will hee be content with thee, or accept thy person, saieth the Lord of hostes?

9 And nowe, I pray you, [i] pray before God, that he may haue mercy vpon vs: this hath bene by your meanes: will hee regard [k] your persons, saieth the Lord of hostes?

10 Who is there euen among you, [l] that would shut the doores: and kindle not fire on mine altar in vaine? I haue no pleasure in you, saieth the Lord of hostes, neither wil I accept an offering at your hand.

11 For from the rising of the sunne vnto the going downe of the same, my Name is [m] great among the Gentiles, and in euery place incense shalbe offred vnto my Name, and a pure offring: for my Name is great among the heathen, saieth the Lord of hostes.

12 But ye haue polluted it in that ye say, The table of the Lord is [n] polluted and the fruit thereof, euen his meate is not to be regarded.

13 Ye said also, Behold, it is a [o] wearinesse, and ye haue snuffed at it, saith the Lord of hostes, and ye offred that which was torne, and the lame and the sicke: thus yee offred an offring: should I accept this of your hand, saith the Lord?

14 But cursed be the deceiuer, which hath in his flocke [p] a male, & voweth, and sacrificeth vnto the Lord a corrupt thing: for I am a great King, sayth the Lord of hostes, and my Name is terrible among the heathen.

f Ye receiue all maner offrings for your owne griefdines, and doe not examine whether they be according to my Law or no.
g Not that they said thus, but by their doings they declared no lesse.
h You make it no fault: whereby he condemneth them, that thinke it sufficient to serue God partly as he hath commanded, and partly after mans fantasie, & so come not to that purenesse of religion, which he requireth, and therefore in reproch he sheweth them that a mortal man would not be content to be so serued.
i Hee derideth the Priests who bare the people in hand that they prayed for them, and sheweth that they were the occasion, that these euils came vpon the people.
k Wil God consider your office and state, seeing you are so couetous, and wicked?
l Because the Leuites, who kept the doores, did not trie whether the sacrifices that came in, were according to the Lawe, God wisheth that they would rather shut the doores, then to receiue such as were not perfite.
m God sheweth that their ingratitude, and neglect of his true seruice shall be the cause of the calling of the Gentiles: and heere the Prophet that was vnder the Law framed his wordes to the capacitie of the people, and by the altar and sacrifice he meaneth the spirituall seruice of God, which should be vnder the Gospell, when an ende should bee made to all these legall ceremonies by Christes onely sacrifice.
n Both the Priestes and the people were infected with this error, that they passed not what they offered: for they thought that God was as wel content with the leane as with the fatte, but in the meane season they shewed not that obedience to God, which hee required, and so committed both impietie, and also shewed their contempt of God, and couetousnesse.
o The Priestes and people were both wearie with seruing God, and passed not what maner of sacrifice and seruice they gaue to God for that which was least profitable, was thought good ynough for the Lord.
p That is, hath abilitie to serue the Lord according to his word, and yet will serue him according to his couetous minde.

CHAP. II.

Threatnings against the Priests, being seducers of the people.

a He speaketh vnto them chiefly, but vnder them he conteineth the people also.
b To serue me according to my word.
c That is, the abundance of Gods benefites.
d Your seede sowen shall come to no profite.
e You boast of your holinesse, sacrifices and feasts, but they shal turne to your shame, and be as vile as dongne.
f The Priests obiected against the Prophet that he could not reprone them, but he must speake against the Priesthoode and the office established of God by promise, but he sheweth, that the office is nothing slandered when these vilaines and dongne are called by their owne names.

ANd now, O ye [a] Priests, this commandement is for you.

2 If yee will not heare it, nor consider it in your heart, to giue glory [b] vnto my Name, saieth the Lord of hostes, I will euen send a curse vpon you, and will curse your [c] blessings: yea, I haue cursed them already, because ye doe not consider it in your heart.

3 Behold, I will corrupt [d] your seede, and cast doung vpon your faces, euen the [e] doung of your solemne feastes, and you shalbe like vnto it.

4 And yee shall knowe, that I haue [f] sent this commandement vnto you, that my couenant, which I made with Leui, might stand, saieth the Lord of hostes.

5 My [g] couenant was with him of life and peace, and I [h] gaue him feare, and hee feared me, and was afraid before [i] my Name.

6 The law of [k] trueth was in his mouth, and there was no iniquitie found in his lips: hee walked with me in peace and equitie, and did turne many away from iniquitie.

7 For the Priestes [l] lippes shoulde preserue knowledge, and they should seeke the Law at his mouth: for hee is the [m] messenger of the Lord of hostes.

8 But yee are gone out of the way: ye haue caused many to fall by the Lawe: ye haue broken the couenant of Leui, saith the Lord of hostes.

9 Therefore haue I also made you to be despised, and vile before all the people, because ye kept not my wayes, but haue bene partiall in the Lawe.

10 Haue we not all one [n] father? hath not one God made vs? why doe we transgresse euery one against his brother, and breake the couenant of [o] our fathers?

11 Iudah hath transgressed, and an abomination is committed in Israel and in Ierusalem: for Iudah hath defiled the holinesse of the Lorde, which he loued, and hath married the [p] daughter of a strange God.

12 The Lord wil cut off the man that doeth this: both the master and the seruant out of the Tabernacle of Iaakob, and him that [q] offereth an offering vnto the Lord of hostes.

13 And this haue yee done againe, and [r] couered the altar of the Lord with teares, with weeping and with mourning: because the offering is no more regarded, neither receiued acceptably at your hands.

14 Yet yee say, [s] Wherein? Because the Lord hath bene witnesse betweene thee and the wife of thy youth, against whome thou hast transgressed: yet is shee thy [t] companion, and the wife of thy [u] couenant.

15 And did not [x] he make one? yet had hee [y] abundance of spirit: and wherfore one? because he sought a godly [z] seede: therefore keepe your selues in your [a] spirite, & let none trespasse against the wife of his youth.

16 If thou hatest her, [b] put her away, saith the Lord God of Israel, yet he couereth [c] the iniurie vnder his garment, saith the Lord of hostes: therefore keepe your selues in your spirite, and transgresse not.

17 Yee haue [d] wearied the Lorde with your wordes: yet ye say, Wherein haue wee wearied him? When ye say, Euery one that [e] doeth euill, is good in the sight of the Lord, and he delighteth in them. Or where is the God of [f] iudgement?

g He sheweth what were the two conditions of the couenant made with the tribe of Leui, on Gods part, that he would giue them long life and felicitie, and on their part that they should faithfully serue him according to his words.
h I prescribed Leui a certaine lawe to serue me.
i He serued me and set foorth my glory with all humilitie and submission.
k He sheweth that the Priest ought to haue knowledge to instruct other in the word of the Lord.
l He is as the treasure house of Gods word, and ought to giue to euery one according to their necessitie, and not to reserue it for himselfe.
m Shewing, that whosoeuer doeth not declare Gods will, is not his messenger, and Priest.
n The Prophet accuseth the ingratitude of the Iewes towarde God and man: for seeing they were all borne of one father Abraham, and God had elected them to be holy people, they ought neither to offend God nor their brethren.
o Whereby they had bound themselues to God to be an holy people.
p They haue ioyned themselues in marriage with them that are of another religion.
q That is, the Priests.
r Yee cause the people to lament, because that God doeth not regard their sacrifices, so that they seeme to sacrifice in vaine.
s This is another fault, whereof hee accuseth them, that is, that they brake the lawes of marriage.
t As the one halfe of thy selfe.
u She that was ioyned to thee by a solemne couenant, and by the innocation of Gods name.
x Did not God make man and woman as one flesh and not many?
y By his power and vertue hee could haue made many women for one man.
z Such as should bee borne in lawfull and moderate marriage, wherein is no excesse of lustes.
a Containe your selues within your bounde, and bee sober in minde, and bridle your affections.
b Not that hee doeth allowe diuorcement, but of the two faultes hee sheweth, which is the lesse.
c Hee thinketh it sufficient to keepe his wife still, albeit hee take others, and so as it were couereth his fault.
d Yee murmure against God, because hee heard not you as soone as yee called.
e In thinking that God fauoured the wicked, and hath no respect to them that serue him.
f Thus they blasphemed God in condemning his power and iustice, because hee iudged not according to their fantasies.

CHAP. III.

1 Of the messenger of the Lord, Iohn Baptist, and of Christes office.

BEhold, I will send my a messenger, and he shall prepare the way before mee: and b the Lord whom ye seeke, shall speedily come to his Temple: euen the c messenger of the couenant whom ye desire: beholde, he shall come, saith the Lord of hostes.

2 But who d may abide the day of his comming? and who shall endure, when he appeareth? for he is like a purging fire, and like fullers sope.

3 And he shall sit downe to trie and fine the siluer: he shall euen fine the sonnes of e Leui, and purifie them as golde and siluer, that they may bring offerings vnto the Lord in righteousnesse.

4 Then shall the offerings of Iudah and Ierusalem be acceptable vnto the Lord, as in old time and in the yeeres afore.

5 And I will come neere to you to iudgement, and I will be a swift witnesse against the soothsayers, and against the adulterers, and against false swearers, and against those that wrongfully keepe backe the hirelings wages, and vexe the widow, and the fatherlesse, and oppresse the stranger, and feare not me, saith the Lord of hostes.

6 For I am the Lord: I change not, and yee sonnes of Iaakob f are not consumed.

7 From the dayes of your fathers, ye are gone away from mine ordinances, and haue not kept them: g returne vnto me, and I will returne vnto you, saith the Lord of hosts: but ye said, Wherein shall we returne?

8 Will a h man spoile his gods? yet haue yee spoiled me: but ye say, Wherein haue we spoiled thee? In i tithes, and offerings.

9 Ye are cursed with a curse: for ye haue spoiled me, euen this whole nation.

10 Bring ye all the tithes into the store-house that there may be meat in mine house, and proue me now herewith, saith the Lord of hosts, if I will not open the windowes of heauen vnto you, and powre you out a blessing k without measure.

11 And I will rebuke the l deuourer for your sakes, and he shall not destroy the fruit of your ground, neither shall your vine be barren in the field, saith the Lord of hosts.

12 And all nations shall call you blessed: for ye shalbe a pleasant land, saith the Lord of hosts.

13 Your words haue bene stout m against me, saith the Lord: yet ye say, What haue we spoken against thee?

14 Ye haue sayd, It is in vaine to serue God: and what profit is it that we haue kept his commandement, and that we walked humbly before the Lord of hosts?

15 Therefore wee count the proud blessed: euen they that worke wickednesse, are set vp, and they that tempt God, yea, they are n deliuered.

16 o Then spake they that feared the Lord, euery one to his neighbor, and the Lord hearkened and heard it, and a p booke of remembrance was written before him for them that feared the Lord, and that thought vpon his Name.

17 And they shall be to me, saith the Lord of hosts, in that day q that I shal do this, for a flocke, and I will r spare them, as a man spareth his owne sonne that serueth him.

18 Then shall you returne, and discerne betweene the righteous and wicked, betweene him that serueth God, and him that serueth him not.

a This is meant of Iohn Baptist, as Christ expoundeth it, Luke 7.27.
b Meaning Messiah, as Psal.40.1,7. dan.9.17,25.
c That is, Christ by whom the couenant was made & ratified, who is called the Angell or messenger of the couenant, because he reconcileth vs to his Father: and is Lord and King, because hee hath the gouernment of his Church.
d He sheweth that hypocrites which with so much for the Lords coming, will not abide whē he draweth neere: for hee will consume them, and purge his & make them cleane.
e Hee beginneth at the Priests, that they might bee lights, and shine vnto others.
f They murmured against God because they saw not his helpe euer present to defend thē: and therefore he accuseth them of ingratitude, and sheweth that in that they are not dayly consumed, it is a token that he doth still defend them: and so his mercy toward them neuer changeth.
g Reade Zech.1.3.
h There are none of the heathen so barbarous, that will defraud their gods of their honour, or deale deceitfully with them.
i Whereby the seruice of God should haue bene mainteined, and the Priests & the poore relieued k Not hauing respect how much ye need, but I will giue you in all abundance: so that ye shall lacke place to put my blessings in. l Meaning, the caterpiller, and whatsoeuer destroyeth corne and fruites. m The Prophet condemneth them of double blasphemie against God: first in that they sayd that God had no respect to them that serued him, and next that the wicked were more in his fauour then the godly.
n They are not only preferred to honour, but also deliuered from dangers.
o After these admonitions of the Prophet, some were lively touched and incouraged others to feare God.
p Both because the thing was strange that some turned to God in that great and vniuersall corruption, and also that this might be an example of Gods mercies to all penitent sinners. q When I shall restore my Church according to my promise, they shall be as mine owne proper goods. r That is, forgiue their sinnes, and gouerne them with my Spirit.

CHAP. IIII.

The day of the Lord before the which Eliah should come.

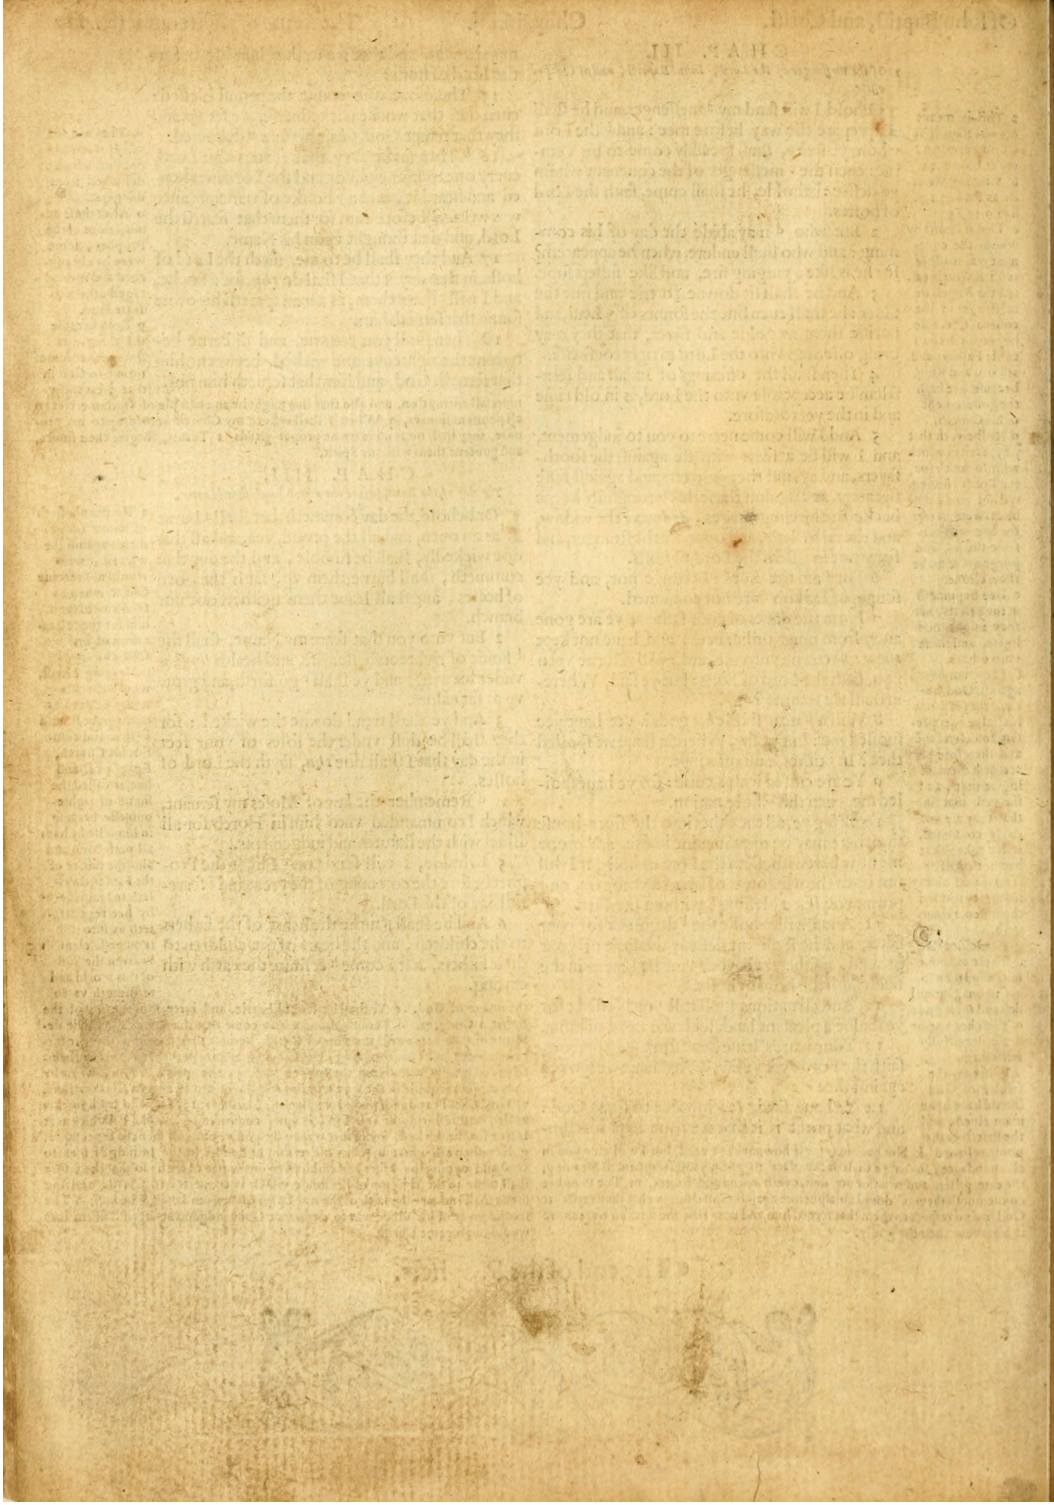
FOr behold, the day commeth that shall a burne as an ouen, and all the proud, yea, and all that doe wickedly, shall be stubble, and the day that commeth, shall burne them vp, saith the Lord of hostes, and shall leaue them neither root nor branch.

2 But vnto you that feare my Name, shall the b sunne of righteousnesse arise, and health shall be vnder his wings, and ye shall c go forth, and grow vp as fat calues.

3 And ye shall tread downe the wicked: for they shall be dust vnder the soles of your feet in the day that I shall doe this, saith the Lord of hostes.

4 d Remember the law of Moses my seruant, which I commanded vnto him in Horeb for all Israel with the statutes and iudgements.

5 Behold, I will send you e Eliah the Prophet before the comming of the great and f fearefull day of the Lord.



6 And he shall g turne the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to their fathers, lest I come h & smite the earth with cursing.

a He propheseth of Gods iudgements against the wicked, who would not receiue Christ, when as God should send him for the restauration of his Church.
b Meaning Christ, who with his wings or beames of his grace should lighten and comfort his Church, Ephes 5.14. and hee is called the sunne of righteousnesse because in himselfe he hath all perfection, and also the iustice of the Father, dwelleth in him: whereby hee regenerateth vs into righteousnesse, cleanseth vs from the filth of this world, and reformeth vs to the image of God. c Ye shall be set at libertie, and increase in the ioy of the Spirit, 2 Cor.3.17. d Because the time was come that the Iewes should be destitute of Prophets vntill the time of Christ, because they should with more feruent mindes desire his comming, the Prophet exhorteth them to exercise themselues diligently in studying the Law of Moses in the meane season, whereby they might continue in the true religion, and also be armed against all tentations.
e This Christ expoundeth of Iohn Baptist, Matth. 11. 13, 14 who both for his zeale, and restoring of religion, is aptly compared to Eliah. f Which as it is true for the wicked, so doeth it waken the godly, and call them to repentance.
g Hee sheweth wherein Johns office should stand: in the turning of men to God, and ioyning the father and children in one vnitie of faith: so that the father shall turne to the religion of his sonne which is conuerted to Christ, and the sonne shall imbrace the faith of the true fathers, Abraham Izhak, & Iaakob. h The second point of his office was to denounce Gods iudgements against them that would not receiue Christ.

APOCRYPHA.

THE ARGVMENT.

THese bookes that follow in order after the Prophets vnto the New Testament, are called Apocrypha, that is, bookes, which were not receiued by a common consent to be read and expounded publikely in the Church, neither yet serued to proue any point of Christian religion, saue in asmuch as they had the consent of the other Scriptures called Canonicall to confirme the same, or rather whereon they were grounded: but as bookes proceeding from godly men, were receiued to be read for the aduancement and furtherance of the knowledge of the historie, & for the instruction of godly maners: which bookes declare that at all times God had an especial care of his Church, and left them not vtterly destitute of teachers and meanes to confirme them in the hope of the promised Messiah, and also witnesse that those calamities that God sent to his Church, were according to his prouidence, who had both so threatened by his Prophets, and so brought it to passe for the destruction of their enemies, and for the triall of his children.

I. ESDRAS.

CHAP. I.

8 Iosias appointeth Priestes, and keepeth the Passeouer. 7 Offerings for the Priestes and the people. 11 The order of the Leuites. 23 The vpright life of Iosias. 25 His death and the occasion thereof, and the lamentation for him. 34 Joachaz appointed King. 53 The destruction of Ierusalem.

a 2.King.23.21. 2.chro.35.1.

AND Iosias kept the *Passeouer to his Lord in Ierusalem, and offered the Passeouer in the foureteenth day of the first moneth,

2 And appoynted the Priestes according to their dayly courses, being clothed with long garments in the Temple of the Lord.

3 And hee spake to the Leuites the holy Ministers of Israel, that they should sanctifie themselues to the Lorde, to set the holy Arke of the Lorde in the House, which Salomon the sonne of King Dauid had built,

4 And saide, Ye shall no more beare the Arke vpon your shoulders: nowe therefore serue the Lord your God, and take the charge of his people of Israel, and prepare according to your families and tribes,

5 After the writing of Dauid king of Israel, and according to the Maiestie of Salomon his sonne, and stand in the Temple (according to the order of the dignitie of your fathers the Leuites) which were appointed before your brethren the children of Israel.

6 Offer in order the Passeouer, and make readie the sacrifices for your brethren, and keepe the Passeouer after the Lords commandement giuen to Moyses.

7 And Iosias gaue to the people that was present, thirtie thousand lambes and kids with three thousand calues.

8 These were giuen of the Kings possessions according to the promise to the people, and to the Priests, and to the Leuites. Then gaue Helkias and Zacharias, and || Syelus the gouernours of the Temple, to the Priests for the Passeouer two thousand sixe hundreth sheepe, and three hundreth calues. || Or, Ishiel.

9 Furthermore, Iechonias, and Samaias, and Nathanael his brother, and || Sabias and || Chielus, and || Ioram captaines, gaue to the Leuites for the Passeouer fiue thousand sheepe, and seuen hundreth calues. || Or, Hasabias. || Or, Jehiel. || Or, Chorabn.

10 And when these things were done, the Priests and the Leuites stood in order, hauing vnleauened bread according to the tribes, 11 And after the order of the dignity of their fathers, before the people to offer to the Lord, as it is written in the bookes of Moyses: and thus they did in the morning.

12 And they rosted the Passeouer with fire as * appertcined, and they sodde their offerings with perfumes in caldrons and pots, *Exod.12.1.

13 And set it before all them that were of the people, and afterward they prepared for themselues, & for the Priests their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

14 For the Priests offered the fatte vnto the Euening, and the Leuites did make ready for themselues, and for the Priests their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

15 And the holy singers, the sonnes of Asaph, were in their orders, according to the appointed ordinances of Dauid, to wit, Asaph, and Azarias, and || Edinus, which was of the kings appointment. || Or, Jedithun.

it was not lawfull, that any should passe his ordinarie watch: for their brethren the Leuites made readie for them.

17 And in that day those things which apperteined to the sacrifice of the Lord, were accomplished, that they might offer the Passeouer, 18 And offer sacrifices vpon the altar of the Lord, according to the commandement of King Iosias.

19 So the children of Israel, which were present at that time kept the Passeouer and the feast of vnleauened bread seuen dayes.

20 And there was not such a Passeouer kept in Israel since the time of Samuel the Prophet.

21 And all the Kings of Israel did not offer such a Passeouer, as did Iosias, and the Priests, and the Leuites, and the Iewes, and all Israel, which were found to remaine in Ierusalem.

22 In the eighteenth yere of the reigne of Iosias was this Passeouer kept.

23 The workes of Iosias were vpright before his Lord with a heart full of godlinesse.

24 And concerning the things which came to passe in his time, they are written before, to wit, of those that sinned and did wickedly against the Lord, aboue euery nation and kingdome, and grieued him with ‖ sensible things, so that the wordes of the Lord stood vp against Israel.

‖ Or, by worshipping sensible creatures.

25 ¶ * Nowe after all these acts of Iosias, it came to passe, that when Pharaoh King of Egypt came to moue warre against Carchamis vpon Euphrates, Iosias went out against him.

* 2. Chron. 35. 20.

26 But the King of Egypt sent to him, saying, What haue I to doe with thee, O King of Iudea?

27 I am not sent of the Lord God against thee: but my warre is vpon Euphrates, and nowe the Lord is with me, and the Lord hasteneth me forward: depart from me, and bee not against the Lord.

28 But Iosias would not turne backe his chariot from him, but prepared himselfe to fight with him, not regarding the wordes of Ieremias the Prophet by the mouth of the Lord.

29 But he set himselfe in battell aray against him in the field of Megeddo, and the Princes came downe to King Iosias.

30 And the King saide to his seruants, Conuey me out of the battell, for I am very weake. And by and by his seruaunts brought him out of the battell.

31 So he gat vp on his second chariot, and being come againe to Ierusalem he changed his life, and was buried in his fathers graue.

32 And in all Iudea was Iosias bewailed, yea, Ieremias the Prophet did lament for Iosias, and the gouernours and their wiues did lament him vnto this day: and this was ordeined in all the kinred of Israel, to be done continually.

33 But these things are written in the booke of the stories of the Kings of Iudea, and euery one of the acts that Iosias did, and his glory, and his knowledge in the Law of the Lord, and the things which he did before, and the things nowe rehearsed, are registred in the booke of the Kings of Israel and Iudea.

34 Then they of the nation tooke * Ioachaz the sonne of Iosias, and made him King in steade of his father Iosias, when he was three and twentie yeere olde.

* 2. King. 23. 30. 2. chron. 36. 1.

35 And hee reigned in Iudea and Ierusalem three moneths: for the King of Egypt deposed him from reigning in Ierusalem.

36 He taxed also the people of an hundred talents of siluer, and one talent of gold.

37 And the King of Egypt made Ioacim his brother King of Iudea and Ierusalem.

38 And he bound Ioachaz and his gouernors: but when he had taken Zaraces his brother, he led him away into Egypt.

39 Twentie and fiue yeere olde was Ioacim, when he reigned in Iudea and Ierusalem, and hee did euil in the sight of the Lord.

40 Wherefore against him came vp Nabuchodonosor King of Babylon, who when hee had bound him with a chaine of brasse, lead him away into Babylon.

41 Then Nabuchodonosor tooke of the holy vessels of the Lord, and caried them away, and set them in his Temple at Babylon.

42 But all his acts, and his prophanation, and his reproch are written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings.

43 And Ioacim his sonne reigned for him: and when hee was made King, hee was eightene yeere olde.

44 And he reigned three moneths and tenne dayes in Ierusalem, and he did euill in the sight of the Lord.

45 ¶ So a yeere after Nabuchodonosor sent and brought him to Babylon with the holy vessels of the Lord.

46 And hee made Sedecias king of Iudea and Ierusalem, when hee was one and twentie yeere olde, and he reigned eleuen yeres.

47 And he did euill in the sight of the Lord, neither did he feare the words spoken * by Ieremias the Prophet from the mouth of the Lord.

* Iere. 38. 22.

48 For after that he was sworne to King Nabuchodonosor, he forswore himselfe by the Name of the Lord, and fell away, and hardned his necke and his heart, and transgressed the lawes of the Lord God of Israel.

49 Also the gouernours of the people, and the Priests committed many things against the Lawes and passed all the pollutions of all nations, and polluted the Temple of the Lord, which was sanctified in Ierusalem.

50 Neuertheless the God of their fathers sent his messengers to call them backe, because he spared them and his owne Tabernacle.

51 But they derided his messengers, and in the day, that the Lord spake vnto them, they mocked his Prophets, 52 So that he, being moued to anger against his people for their great wickednesse, commanded the Kings of the Caldeans to inuade them.

53 These killed their yoong men with the sword round about their holy Temple, neither did they spare yoong man, nor mayden, neither olde man, nor childe: among them.

54 But he deliuered them all into their hands, and all the holy vessels of the Lord, both great and small with the vessels of the Arke of God: and they tooke, and caried away the Kings treasures into Babylon.

55 And they set fire in the House of the Lord, and brake downe the walles of Ierusalem, and burnt their towres with fire.

56 They cõsumed also all the precious things thereof, thereof, and brought them to nought, and those that were left by the sworde hee carryed away into Babylon.

57 And they were seruants to him, and to his children till the Persians reigned, to fulfil the word of the Lord by the mouth of * Ieremias,

*Iere.25.11. and 29.10.

58 And that the land might enioy her Sabbaths all the time, that it was desolate, till seuentie yeeres were accomplished.

CHAP. II.

1 Cyrus gaue leaue to the Iewes to returne. 10 He sent the holy vessels. 13 The names of them that returned. 16 Their aduersaries did let their building, and the Kings letters for the same.

IN * the first yeere of the reigne of Cyrus King of the Persians, to fulfill the word of the Lorde by the mouth of Ieremias,

*2.Chro.36.22. Ezra 1.1.

2 The Lord raised vp the spirit of Cyrus King of the Persians, & he made proclamation throughout all his kingdome, euen by expresse letters,

3 Saying, Thus saith Cyrus king of the Persians, The Lord of Israel, euen the most high Lord, hath made me King ouer the whole world,

4 And he hath commanded me to build him an house in Ierusalem, which is in Iudea.

5 If there be any therefore of you of his people, let the Lord, euen his Lord be with him, and let him goe vp to Ierusalem, which is in Iudea, and builde the house of the Lord of Israel: hee is the Lord which dwelleth in Ierusalem.

6 All they then that dwell in the places round about, those, I say, that are in his place, let them helpe him with gold and siluer,

7 With giftes, with horses and cattell, and other things, which shall be brought according to the vowes into the Temple of the Lord, which is in Ierusalem.

8 ¶ Then arose the chiefe of the families of Iudea, and of the tribe of Beniamin, and the Priests and Leuites, and all whose minde the Lorde had moued to go vp, and build an house to the Lord in Ierusalem, 9 And those that were about them, helped them in all things with siluer and gold, horses, and cattell, and with diuers vowes of many whose mindes were stirred vp.

10 Also King Cyrus brought out the holy vessels of the Lord, which Nabuchodonosor had caried out of Ierusalem, and had consecrated them in the temple of his idoles.

11 Nowe when Cyrus King of the Persians had brought them out, he deliuered them to Mithridates his treasurer, 12 By whome they were giuen to ‖ Abasar the gouernour of Iudea.

‖Or, Shesbbazer, or, Sanabassar.

13 Whereof this was the number: a thousand golden cups, and a thousand siluer cups, basins of siluer for the sacrifices nine and twentie, violes of gold thirty, and of siluer two thousand, foure hundreth and ten, and a thousand other vessels.

14 So all the vessels of gold and siluer, which they caryed away, were fiue thousand, foure hundreth, threescore and nine.

15 They were brought by Sanabassar with them of the captiuitie of Babylon to Ierusalem.

16 ¶ But * in the time of Artaxerxes King of the Persians, ‖Belemus, and Mithridates, and Tabellius, and Rathumus, and Beeltethmus, and ‖ Semellius the secretarie, & others which were ioyned to these, dwelling in Samaria and in other places, wrote vnto him this Epistle here following against them, that dwelt in Iudea & Ierusalem, To The King Artaxerxes Our Lord,

*Ezra 4.9. ‖Or, Bishlemus. ‖Or, Shimshi.

17 Thy seruants, Rathumus the writer of things that come to passe, and Semellius the secretary, and the rest of their counsell, and the iudges which are in Coelosyria and Phenice.

18 Be it now therefore knowen to our Lord the King, that the Iewes which came vp from you, are come to vs into Ierusalem, that rebellious and wicked citie, and build the market places, and make vp the walles thereof, and lay the foundations of the Temple.

19 Therefore if this citie be built, and the walles be finished, they wil not onely not indure to pay tribute, but wil also resist Kings.

20 And because the things pertaining to the Temple, go forward, we thought it not meete to passe ouer such a thing,

21 But to declare it to our Lorde the King, that if it bee thy pleasure, it may bee sought out in the bookes of thy fathers,

22 And thou shalt finde in the Chronicles the writings concerning these things, and shalt knowe that this citie did alwayes rebell, and did trouble both Kings and cities,

23 And that the Iewes are rebellious, raising alwayes warres therein: for the which cause also this citie was made desolate.

24 Now therefore, O lorde the King, we declare it, that if this citie bee built, and the walles thereof repaired, you shall haue no more passage into Coelosyria, nor Phenice.

25 ¶ Then the king wrote againe to Rathumus, that wrote the things that came to passe, & to Beeltethmus, and to Semellius the secretarie, and to the rest of those that were ioyned with them, and to the dwellers of Samaria, Syria and Phenice, these things that follow.

26 I haue read the Epistle, which you sent to me: therefore I commanded, that it should be sought out, and it was found, that this citie hath alwayes practised against Kings, 27 And that the men thereof were giuen to rebellion and warres, and how that mightie kings and fierce haue reigned in Ierusalem, which tooke tribute of Coelosyria, and Phenice.

28 Now therfore I haue commanded to forbid these men to build vp the citie, and that it be taken heed that no more be done, 29 And that those wicked things, which should molest the king, go not forward.

30 Then when Rathumus, and Semellius the secretarie and the rest, which were ioyned with them, had read the things, which king Artaxerxes had written, they moued their tents with speed to Ierusalem with horses and men in aray, 31 And began to let them which built, so that the building of the Temple in Ierusalem ceased vnto the second yeere of the reigne of Darius king of the Persians.

Ethiopia of an hundred and seuen and twentie prouinces.

3 And when they had eaten and drunke, and were satisfied, they departed, & King Darius went into his chamber, & slept, till he wakened againe.

4 ¶ In the meane time three yong men of the gard, keepers of the Kings body, said one to another,

5 Let euery one of vs speake a sentence, & he that shall ouercome, and whose sentence shall appeare wiser then the others, Darius the King shall giue him great giftes, and great things in token of victorie,

6 As to weare apparel, & to drinke in gold, & to sleepe in gold, & a chariot with bridles of gold, an head tyre of fine linen, & a chaine about his necke.

7 And hee shall sit next to Darius for his wisedome, and shalbe called Darius cousin.

8 Then euery man wrote his sentence and sealed it, and put it vnder the pillowe of King Darius,

9 And said, when the King rose, they would giue him the writing, and whose sentence the King and the three Princes of Persia should iudge to be wisest, to him should the victorie bee giuen as it was appointed.

10 One wrote, The wine is strongest.

11 The other wrote, The King is strongest.

12 The other wrote, Women are strongest, but trueth ouercommeth all things.

13 ¶ And when the King rose, they tooke the writings, and gaue them to him, and he read them,

14 And sent and called all the noble men of Persia and of Media, and the gouernours and the captaines, and lieutenants, and the consuls,

15 And sate him downe in the counsel, and the writing was read before them.

16 Then he said, Call the yong men, that they may declare their owne sentences. So they called them, and they came in.

17 Then he said vnto them, Declare vnto vs the writings. So the first began, which had spoken of the strength of wine, 18 And said on this maner, O yee men, howe strong is wine! it deceiueth all men that drinke it.

19 It maketh the minde of the king and of the fatherlesse both one, of the bonde man and of the free man, of the poore man, and of the rich man.

20 It turneth also euery thought into ioy and gladnesse, so that one remembreth no maner of sorowe, nor det, 21 It maketh euery heart rich, so that one remembreth neither King nor gouernour, and causeth to speake all things by ‖ talents.

‖ Or, pounds.

22 When men haue drunke, they haue no mind to loue either friends or brethren, and a litle after they draw out swordes.

23 But when they are from the wine, they doe not remember what they haue done.

24 O ye men, is not wine strongest, which compelleth to doe such things? and he helde his peace when he had thus spoken.

CHAP. IIII.

Of the strength of a King. 13 Of the strength of women. 34 Of the strength of trueth, which sentence is approued. 47 And his petition granted.

THen the seconde which had spoken of the strength of the King, began to say,

2 O yee men, are not men strongest, which beare rule by land and by sea, and ouer all things which are in them?

3 But the King is yet greater: for he ruleth al things, and is lord of them, so that they do al things which he commandeth them.

4 If he bid them make warre one against an other, they doe it: if he send them out against the enemies, they goe and breake downe mountaines, and walles, and towers.

5 They kill, and are killed, and doe not passe the commaundement of the King: if they ouercome, they bring all to the King, aswell the spoyles as all other things,

6 And those also which go not to warre & battell, but til the earth: for when they haue sowen it againe, they reape it, and bring it to the King, and compell one another to pay tribute to the King.

7 Yet he is but one man: if he bid, Kill, they kill: if he say, Spare, they spare.

8 If he bid, Smite, they smite: if he bid them, Make desolate, they make desolate: if he bid, Build, they build.

9 If he bid, Cut off, they cut off: if he bid, Plant, they plant.

10 So all his people and all his armies obey one man: in the meane while he sitteth downe, he eateth, and drinketh, and sleepeth.

11 For these keepe him round about: neither can any one goe and doe his owne businesse, neither are they disobedient vnto him.

12 O yee men, howe should not the King bee strongest, seeing he is thus obeyed! So he held his tongue.

13 ¶ Then the third which had spoken of women and of the trueth (this was Zorobabel) began to speake, 14 O ye men, neither the mightie King, nor many men, nor wine is strongest: who then ruleth them or hath dominion ouer them? are they not women?

15 Women haue borne the King, and all the people which beare rule by sea and by land.

16 Euen of them were they borne, and they nourished them, which planted the vines, of which the wine is made.

17 They also make mens garments, & make men honourable, neither can men be without women.

18 And if they haue gathered together golde and siluer, or any goodly thing, doe they not loue a faire and beautifull woman?

19 Doe they not leaue all those things and giue themselues wholy vnto her, and gape, and gaze vpon her, and all men desire her more then golde, or siluer, or any precious thing?

20 A man leaueth his owne father, which hath nourished him, and his owne countrey, and is ioyned with his wife.

21 And for the woman he ieopardeth his life, & neither remembreth father nor mother nor countrey.

22 Therefore by this ye may knowe that the women beare rule ouer you: do ye not labour and trauell, and giue and bring all to the women?

23 Yea, a man taketh his sword & goeth forth to kill and to steale, and to saile vpon the sea, and vpon riuers, 24 And he seeth a Lion, and goeth in darkenesse, and when he hath stollen, rauished, and spoyled, he bringeth it to his loue.

25 Wherefore a man loueth his owne wife more then father or mother.

26 Yea, many haue runne mad for women, and haue bene seruants for them.

27 Many

27 Many also haue perished and haue erred and sinned for women.

28 Nowe therefore doe you not beleeue me? is not the King great in his power? do not al regions feare to touch him?

29 Yet I saw him and Apame, the Kings concubine, the daughter of the famous Bartacus, sitting on the right hand of the King.

30 And shee tooke the crowne off the Kings head, and put it vpon her owne, and strooke the King with her left hand.

31 Yet in the meane season the King gaped and gazed on her: and if she laughed at him, he laughed: and if she were angrie with him, hee did flatter her that he might be reconciled with her.

32 Howe then, O ye men, are not women more strong, seeing they do thus?

33 ¶ Then the King, and the Princes looked one vpon another, and hee beganne to speake of the trueth.

34 O ye men, are not women stronger? great is the earth, & the heauen is hie, and the sunne is swift in his course: for he turneth round about heauen in one day, and runneth againe into his owne place.

35 Is not hee great that maketh these things? therefore the trueth is greater and stronger then al.

36 All the earth calleth for trueth, and the heauen blesseth it: and all things are shaken and tremble, neither is there any vniust thing with it.

37 The wine is wicked, the King is wicked, women are wicked, and all the children of men are wicked, and all their wicked workes are such, and there is no trueth in them, and they perish in their iniquitie.

38 But trueth doeth abide, & is strong for euer, and liueth and reigneth for euer and euer.

39 With her there is no receiuing of persons nor difference: but shee doeth the things which are iust, and abstaineth from vniust and wicked things, and all men fauour her workes.

40 Neither is there any vniust thing in her iudgment, and she is the strength and the kingdome and the power, and maiestie of all ages. Blessed bee the God of trueth.

41 So he ceased to speake, and then al the people cried and said, Trueth is great and strongest.

42 Then the King sayde vnto him, Aske what thou wilt besides that which is appointed, and wee will giue it thee, because thou art founde the wisest, and thou shalt haue libertie to sit by mee, and shalt be called my cousin.

43 ¶ Then hee saide to the King, remember the vowe that thou hast vowed to builde Ierusalem, in the day that thou tookest the kingdome, 44 And to sende againe all the vessels that were taken out of Ierusalem, which Cyrus set a part when hee made a vow to cut off Babylon and vowed to send them hither.

45 Thou also hast vowed to build the Temple, which the Idumeans burnt whē Iudea was destroied by the Caldeans.

46 And nowe, O lord the King, this is that which I desire and require of thee, and this is the magnificence, which I require of thee: I require therefore that thou wouldest accomplish the vow which thou hast vowed with thine owne mouth to doe to the King of heauen.

47 Then King Darius rising vp, kissed him, and wrote him letters to all the stewards & lieutenants, and captaines, and gouernours, & they should bring on the way both him, and all that were with him, which went vp to build Ierusalem.

48 And he wrote letters to all the lieutenants in Coelosyria and Phinice, and to them that were in Libanus, that they should bring cedar wood from Libanus to Ierusalem, and build the citie with him.

49 And hee wrote for all the Iewes, which went vp out of his kingdome vnto Iudea, concerning their libertie, that no Prince, nor lieutenant, nor gouernour, nor steward should enter into their doores,

50 And that al the region which they kept, should pay no tribute, and that the Idumeans should let go the villages of the Iewes which they held,

51 And that euery yeere there should bee giuen for the building of the Temple twentie talents vntil it were built,

52 And to maintaine the burnt offerings vpon the altar euery day (as they had a commaundement to offer seuenteene) other ten talents euery yeere.

53 And that all they which went from Babylon to build the citie, should haue libertie, as wel they as their posteritie, and all the Priestes that went away.

54 He wrote also touching the charges and the Priestes garments, wherein they should minister.

55 And hee wrote that they should giue the Leuites their charges vntill the house were finished, and Ierusalem built.

56 Also he wrote that they should giue pensions and wages to them that kept the citie.

57 And he sent away all the vessels which Cyrus had set apart out of Babylon, and whatsoeuer Cyrus had commanded to doe, he also commanded to do it, and to send to Ierusalem.

58 And when the ‖ yong man was gone foorth, he lift vp his face to heauen towards Ierusalem, and gaue thankes to the King of heauen. ‖ Or, Zorobabel.

59 Saying, Of thee is the victorie, and of thee is wisdome, and of thee is glory, and I am thy seruant.

60 Blessed bee thou which hast giuen mee wisedome: for vnto thee I acknowledge it, O Lorde of our fathers.

61 ¶ So hee tooke the letters and went out and came to Babylon, and telled all his brethren.

62 And they blessed the God of their fathers, because he had giuen them freedome and libertie

63 To goe vp and to builde Ierusalem, and the Temple, where his Name is renoumed, and they reioyced with instruments of musicke and ioy, seuen dayes.

* Ezra 3.1.

47 ¶ But * when the seuenth moneth was neere, and when the children of Israel were euery one at home, they were all gathered together with one accord into the open place of the first gate, which is toward the East.

48 Then Iesus the sonne of Iosedec and his brethren the Priestes, with Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel and his brethren, rising vp, made readie the altar of the God of Israel, 49 To offer burnt offerings vpon it according as it is written in the booke of Moyses the man of God.

50 Whither also there were gathered against them of all nations of the land: but they dressed the altar in his owne place, although all the nations of the land were their enemies & vexed them, and they offered sacrifices according to the season, and burnt offerings to the Lorde, morning and euening.

* Leuit. 23. 34.

51 They kept also the feast of Tabernacles, as it is * ordeined in the Lawe, and offered sacrifices euery day, as was requisite.

52 And afterward, the continuall oblations and offerings of the Sabbaths, and of the new moneths and of all holy feastes.

* Ezra 3. 6.

53 ¶ And all * they which had made any vowe to God, began to offer sacrifice vnto God in the first day of the seuenth moneth, although the Temple of God was not yet built.

54 They gaue also money to the masons and to the workemen, and meate and drinke with gladnesse, 55 And charets to the Sidonians and to those of Tyrus to bring cedar wood out of Libanus, which should be brought by flotes to the hauen of Ioppe according to the commandement giuen vnto them by Cyrus King of Persia.

56 And in the second yere and second moneth came into the Temple of God in Ierusalem, Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel, and Iesus the sonne of Iosedec, and their brethren, and the Priestes and Leuites, and all they that came out of captiuitie into Ierusalem,

* Eccles. 49. 12.

57 And * laid the foundation of the house of God in the first day of the second moneth of the second yeere after their returne into Iudea and Ierusalem.

58 And they appointed the Leuites from twentie yeere old ouer the workes of the Lord, and Iesus and his sonne, and his brethren, and his brother Cadmiel, and the sonnes of Madiabon with the sonnes of Ioda, the sonne of Heliadun, with their sonnes, and brethren, euen all the Leuites with one accord did followe after the worke, calling vpon the workes in the house of God: thus the workemen built the Temple of the Lord.

59 And the Priestes stoode clothed with their long garments with musicall instruments & trumpets, and the Leuites the sonnes of Asaph with cymbals, 60 Singing and blessing the Lord, according to the ordinance of Dauid King of Israel.

61 And they sung with loude voyce songes to the praise of the Lord, because his mercie and glorie is for euer in all Israel.

62 Then all the people blew trumpets, and cryed with a loud voyce, praysing the Lord for the raising vp of the house of the Lord.

63 Also some of the Priestes and Leuites, and chiefe men, to wit, the Ancients which had seene the former house,

64 Came to see the building of this with weeping and great crying, and many with trumpets, and ioy cryed with loud voyce,

65 So that the people could not heare the trumpets, because of the weeping of the people: yet there was a great multitude that blew trumpets, so that they were heard farre off.

66 ¶ Wherefore when the enemies of the tribes of Iuda and Beniamin heard it, they came to know what noyse of trumpets it was,

67 And they knewe that they of the captiuitie built the Temple to the Lord God of Israel.

68 Wherefore they comming to Zorobabel, and Iesus, and the chiefe of the families, said vnto them, Let vs build also with you.

69 For we obey your Lord, as you doe, and sacrifice vnto him since the dayes of ‖ Asbasareth King of the Assyrians, which brought vs hither.

‖ Or, Asarareth, or, Asachadon.

70 Then Zorobabel, and Iesus, and the chiefe of the families of Israel said to them, It doeth not appertaine to vs, and to you to build an house to the Lord our God.

5 But the Ancients of the Iewes had grace of the Lord, after that he had visited the captiuitie, 6 That they were not letted to build, vntill it was signified vnto Darius of these matters, and an answere was receiued.

7 ¶ The copie of the Epistle, which hee did write and send to Darius: SISINNES gouernour of Syria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes, and their companions, presidents in Syria and Phenice, salute King Darius.

8 It may please the King our master plainly to vnderstand, that when we came to the countrey of Iudea, and entred into the citie of Ierusalem, wee found in the citie of Ierusalem the Auncients of the Iewes that were of the captiuitie, 9 Building an house to the Lord, great and newe, of hewen stones, and of great price, and the timber alreadie laid vpon the walles.

10 And these works are done with great speed, yea, and the worke hath good successe in their handes, so that it will bee finished with all glorie and diligence.

11 Then we asked their Auncients, saying, By whose commaundement build you this house, and lay the foundation of these workes?

12 We asked them these things to the intent to notifie them to thee, and to write to thee the men that gouerned it: therefore wee demaunded the names of the gouernours in writing.

13 But they answered, saying, We are the seruants of the Lord, which hath created the heauen and the earth.

14 And * this house was built vp many yeeres agoe by a King of Israel great and strong, and was finished. * 1. King. 6. 2.

15 But when our fathers prouoking God to wrath, sinned against the Lord of Israel, which is in heauen,* he deliuered them into the hands of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon of the Chaldeans, * 2. King. 24. 1.

16 Who brake downe the house, and burnt it, and caryed the people captiue to Babylon.

17 But in the first yeere of the reigne of Cyrus ouer the countrey of Babylon, King Cyrus wrote that this house should be built vp.

18 And the holy vessels of gold and of siluer, which Nabuchodonosor had carryed out of the house at Ierusalem, and had dedicated them in his owne Temple, Cyrus the King tooke out of the Temple at Babylon, and they were giuen to Zorobabel, and to ‖ Sanabasarus ruler. ‖ Or, Shashbazar.

19 And a commandement was giuen vnto him, that he should carrie away those vessels, and put them in the Temple at Ierusalem, and that this Temple of the Lorde shoulde bee built in this place.

20 Then the same Sanabassarus, being come hither, laid the foundations of the house of the Lord at Ierusalem, and since that time till nowe, it is in building, and is not finished.

21 Nowe therefore if it please the King, let it be sought vp in the Kings libraries concerning Cyrus,

22 And if it bee found that the building of the house of the Lord at Ierusalem hath bene done by the consent of King Cyrus, and if it seeme good to our lord the King, let him make vs answere concerning these things.

23 Then king Darius commanded to search in the Kings libraries that were in Babylon, and there was found in Ecbatane, which is a tower in the region of Media, a place where such things were laid vp for memorie.

24 In the first yere of the reigne of Cyrus, king Cyrus commanded the house of the Lord at Ierusalem to be builded, where they did sacrifice with the continuall fire.

25 Of the which the height should be of threescore cubites, the breadth of threescore cubites with three rowes of hewen stones, and one rowe of newe wood of that countrey, and that the costes should be payde out of the house of King Cyrus.

26 And that the holy vessels of the house of the Lord, aswell those of gold as of siluer, which Nabuchodonosor had caryed out of the house in Ierusalem, and brought into Babylon, should be restored to the house, which is in Ierusalem, and set in the place where they were afore.

27 Also hee commanded that Sisinnes, gouernour of Syria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes, and their companions, and those which were constitute captaines in Syria and Phenice, should take heed to refraine from that place, and to suffer Zorobabel the seruant of the Lord, and gouernour of Iudea, and the Elders of the Iewes to build de that house of the Lord in that place.

28 And I also haue commaunded to build it cleane vp againe, & that they be diligent to helpe them of the captiuitie of the Iewes, till the house of the Lord be finished,

29 And that some part of the tribute of Coelosyria and Phenice, should be diligently giuen to these men for sacrifice vnto the Lord, and to Zorobabel the gouernour, for bulles, rammes, and lambes:

30 Also corne, and salt, and wine, and oyle continually euery yeere without faile, as the Priestes, which are in Ierusalem, shall testifie to bee spent euery day, 31 That offerings may bee made to the high God for the King, and his children, and that they may pray for their liues.

32 Furthermore he commanded that whosoeuer should transgresse any thing afore spoken or written, or derogate any thing thereof, that a tree should be taken out of his possession, and he be hanged thereon, and that his goods should bee the Kings.

33 And therefore let the Lord whose Name is there called vpon, destroy euery King and nation, which stretcheth out his hand to hinder or doe euill to that House of the Lorde which is in Ierusalem.

34 * I Darius the King haue ordeined that it should bee diligently executed according to these things. * Ezra 6. 12.

CHAP. VII.

1 Sisinnes and his companions fulfilwe the Kings commandement, and helpe the Iewes to build the Temple. 5 The time that it was built. 10 They keepe the Passouer.

THen Sisinnes the * gouernour of Coelosyria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes, and their companions, obeying King Darius commaundements, * Ezra 6. 13.

2 Assisted diligently the holy workes working with the Ancients and gouernours of the Sanctuarie.

3 And the holy workes prospered by Aggeus and Zacharias the Prophets which prophecied.

dement of the Lorde God of Israel, and with the consent of Cyrus and Darius, and Artaxerxes kings of the Persians.

5 Thus the holy House was finished in the three and twentieth day of the moneth Adar in the sixt yeere of Darius King of the Persians.

6 ¶ And the children of Israel, and the Priestes and the Leuites, and the rest, which were of the captiuitie, and had any charge, did according to the things written in the booke of Moyses.

7 And they offered for the dedication of the Temple of the Lorde, an hundreth bulles, two hundreth rammes, foure hundreth lambes,

8 And twelue goates for the sinne of all Israel, according to the number of the chiefe of the tribes of Israel.

9 And the Priests, and the Leuites stoode according to their kinreds clothed with long robes in the works of the Lord God of Israel, according to the booke of Moyses, & also the porters in euery gate.

10 And the children of Israel offered the Passeouer together with them of the captiuitie, in the fourteenth day of the first moneth, after that the Priestes and Leuites were sanctified.

11 But al the children of the captiuitie, were not sanctified together, but all the Leuites were sanctified together.

12 And they offered the Passeouer for all the children of the captiuitie, and for their brethren the Priestes, and for themselues.

13 Then all the children of Israel which were of the captiuitie did eate, euen all they that had separated themselues from the abominations of the people of the land, and sought the Lord.

14 And they kept the feast of vnleauened bread seuen dayes, reioycing before the Lord, 15 Because hee had turned the counsell of the King of the Assyrians towardes them to strengthen their hands in the works of the Lord God of Israel.

3 This Esdras went out of Babylon, and was a Scribe well taught in the lawe of Moyses, giuen by the Lord God of Israel.

4 Also the King gaue him great honour, and he found grace in his sight in all his requestes.

5 With him also there departed some of the children of Israel, and of the Priestes and Leuites, and of the holy singers, and of the porters, and of the ministers of the Temple vnto Ierusalem,

6 In the seuenth yeere of the reigne of Artaxerxes, and in the fifth moneth: this was the seuenth yeere of the King (for they went out of Babylon in the first day of the first moneth,

7 And came to Ierusalem according as the Lord gaue them speede in their iourney)

8 For Esdras had gotten great knowledge, so that he would let nothing passe that was in the law of the Lorde, and in the commaundements, and hee taught all Israel all the ordinances and iudgements.

9 So the commission written by King Artaxerxes was giuen Esdras the Priest and reader of the Lawe of the Lord: the copie thereof followeth.

10 King Artaxerxes to Esdras the Priest, and reader of the Law of the Lord, Salutation.

11 Forasmuch as I consider things with pitie, I haue commaunded that they that will and desire of the nation of the Iewes, and of the Priestes and Leuites which are in our kingdome, should goe with thee vnto Israel.

12 Therefore as many as be willing, let them depart together, as it hath seemed good to me and my seuen friends the counsellers,

13 That they may visite the things that are in Iudea and Ierusalem diligently, as it is conteined in the Lawe of the Lord,

14 And cary the giftes to the Lorde of Israel in Ierusalem, which I and my friendes haue vowed: also all the gold and siluer, which shall bee found in the countrey of Babylon apperteyning to the Lord in Ierusalem, 16 That they may offer sacrifices to the Lorde vpon the altar of the Lord their God, which is in Ierusalem.

17 And whatsoeuer thou and thy brethren will doe with the golde or siluer, accomplish it according to the will of thy God.

18 And the holy vessels of the Lorde, which are giuen thee for the vse of the Temple of thy God, which is in Ierusalem, thou shalt set before thy God in Ierusalem.

19 And what other things soeuer thou shalt remember for the vse of the Temple of thy God, thou shalt giue it out of the Kings treasure.

20 And I also King Artaxerxes haue commaunded the treasurers of Syria and Phenice, that whatsoeuer Esdras the Priest and Reader of the Lawe of the higheste God, shall sende for, they should giue it him with all speede, euen to the summe of an hundreth talents of siluer, 21 And likewise vnto an hundreth cores of corne, and an hundreth pieces of wine and other things in abundance.

22 Let all things bee done to the hieste God according to the Lawe of God with diligence, that wrath come not vpon the kingdome of the King and of his sonnes.

23 Also to you it is commanded, that of none of the Priestes or Leuites, or holy singers, or porters or ministers of the Temple, or of the workemen of this Temple, no tribute nor taxe be taken, nor that any haue power to taxe them in any thing.

24 Thou also, Esdras, according to the wisdome of God, ordeine Iudges and gouernours, that they may iudge in all Syria and Phenice all those which are well instructed in the Lawe of thy God, and teach those, which are not instructed.

25 And let all those which shall transgresse the Lawe of God and the King, be diligently punished, either with death, or other punishment, either with penaltie of money, or banishment.

‖Or, Seredia.

‖Or, Anom, Jesaia. ‖Or, Canaanien.

47 And Asebia, and ‖ Annon, and Osaian his brethren of the sonnes of ‖Canaineus with their sonnes, twentie persons.

48 And of the ministers of the Temple, which Dauid gaue, and those which were rulers ouer the worke of the Leuites, to wit, ministers of the Temple, two hundreth and twentie, of whome all the names were registred.

49 ¶ And * there I proclaimed a faste for the yong men before the Lorde to aske of him a good iourney both for vs, and for them that were with vs, for our children, and for our cattell. *Ezra.8. 21.

50 For I was ashamed to aske the King footemen, or horsemen, or conduct for safegarde against our enemies:

51 Because wee had saide to the King, that the power of our Lord should be with them that sought him, to direct them in all things.

52 Wherefore we prayed our Lorde againe, according to these things, who we found fauourable.

53 Then I chose from among the chiefe of the tribes, and of the Priestes, twelue men, to wit, ‖ Esebrias and Assanias, and with them ten of their brethren. ‖Or, Serebias.

54 And I weighed them the siluer and the gold, and the holy vessels of the house of our Lord, which the King and his counsellers, and his princes, and all Israel had giuen.

55 And I weighed them, sixe hundred and fiftie talents of siluer, and siluer vessels of an hundreth talents, and an hundreth talents of golde, 56 And twentie golden basins, and twelue vessels of brasse, of fine brasse shining like golde.

57 And I saide to them, You are also holy to the Lord, and the vessels are holy, & the golde, and the siluer is a vow to the Lord of our fathers.

58 Watch & keepe them, till that you giue them to the heades of the families of the Priestes and Leuites, and captaines of the families of Israel in Ierusalem in the chambers of the house of our God.

59 So the Priestes and Leuites tooke the siluer and the gold, and the vessels, and caried them to Ierusalem to the Temple of the Lord.

60 And wee departed from the flood Thera, in the twelfth day of the first moneth, and came to Ierusalem, according to the mightie power of our Lord with vs: and the Lorde deliuered vs from the beginning of our iourney from all enemies. So we came to Ierusalem.

61 And three dayes being past there, in the fourth day the siluer that was weighed, and the gold was deliuered in the House of our Lorde to ‖ Marmoth the Priest, the sonne of Iouri, ‖Or, Marimoth, the sonne of Iori of Uric.

62 And with him to Elezar the sonne of Phinees: and there were with them, Iosabad the sonne of Iesus, and ‖Moeth sonne of Sabbanus, Leuites: all was deliuered them by number and weight. ‖Or, Noedia, sonnes sonne of Banuas.

63 And all the weight of them was written that same houre.

64 Afterwardes those that were come out of the captiuitie, offered sacrifices to the Lorde God of Israel, euen twelue bulles for all Israel, rammes foure score and sixteene.

65 Lambes threescore and twelue, twelue goates for saluation, all in sacrifice to the Lord.

66 And they presented the commaundements of the King to the Kings stewardes, and to the gouernours of Coelosyria & Phenice who honoured the people, and the Temple of God.

67 ¶*When these things were done, the gouernours came to me, saying, The people Israel, the Princes and the Priests, and the Leuites haue not separated from them the strange people of the land, *Ezra.9.1.

68 Nor the pollutions of the Gentiles, to wit, of the Cananites, & Chetites, and Pherestes, and Iebusites, and Moabites, and Egyptians, and Idumeans.

69 For they haue dwelt with their daughters, both they and their sonnes, and the holy seede is mixed mixed with the strange people of the land, and the gouernours and rulers haue bene partakers of this wickednesse from the beginning of the thing.

70 And assoone as I had heard these things, I rent my clothes, and the holy garment, and I pulled the haire off mine head, and off my bread, and sate me downe sorowfull and very sad.

71 Then also they that were mooued with the word of the Lord God of Israel, came to me whiles I wept for the iniquitie, but I sate very sad till the euening sacrifice.

72 Then I rose from the fast with my clothes torne, and the holy garment, and bowed my knees and stretched forth mine hands to the Lord,

*Ezra.9.6. 73 And said, O * Lord, I am ashamed, and confounded before thy face.

74 For our sinnes are increased aboue our heads, and our ignorances are lifted vp to heauen.

75 Yea, euen from the time of our fathers wee are in great sinne vnto this day.

76 For our sinnes therefore, and our fathers, we with our brethren, with our Kings and Priests haue bene giuen vp to the kings of the earth, to the sword and to captiuitie, & for a pray with all shame vnto this day.

77 And now how great hath thy mercie bene, O Lord, that there should be left vs a root, and name in the place of thine holinesse!

78 And that thou shouldest reueale to vs a light in the house of the Lord our God, and giue vs meat in the time of our seruitude!

79 For when we were in bondage, we were not left of our God, but he gaue vs fauour before the Kings of the Persians, that they should giue vs meat, 80 And that they should honour the Temple of our Lord, and raise vp Sion that is desolate, & giue vs assurance in Iudea and Ierusalem.

81 And now, O Lord, what shall we say, hauing these things? for we haue transgressed thy commandements, which thou hast giuen by the hands of thy seruants the Prophets, saying,

*Deut.7.11. 82 *Because the land, which ye go to inherit, is a land polluted by the pollutions of the strangers of the land, which haue filled it with their filthines,

83 Therefore now yee shall not ioyne their daughters with your sonnes, neither giue your daughters to their sonnes, 84 Neither shall you desire to haue peace with them for euer, that ye may be made strong, and eat the good things of the land, and leaue it for an inheritance to your children for euer.

85 Therefore all that is come to passe, was done for our wicked works, and for our great sinnes: yet, Lord, thou hast forborne our sinnes, 86 And hast giuen vs such a root: but wee againe haue turned backe to transgresse thy Law, and to mixe vs with the vncleannesse of the people of the land.

87 Mightest thou not be angry with vs to destroy vs, so that thou shouldest neither leaue vs root nor seed nor name?

88 But, O Lord of Israel, thou art true: for there is a root left, euen vnto this day.

89 Beholde, we are now before thee with our iniquities, neither can we indure before thee for these things.

*Ezra.10.1. 90 ¶ And * as Esdras prayed and confessed and wept, and lay vpon the ground before the Temple, a very great multitude was gathered vnto him out of Ierusalem, of men and women, and yoong children: for there was great lamentation among the multitude.

91 Then Iechonias the sonne of ‖ Ieel of the sonnes of Israel, crying out, sayd, O Esdras, we haue sinned against the Lord God: wee haue taken in mariage strange women of the nations of the land. ‖Or, Ieiel

92 And now all Israel is doubtfull: therefore let vs make an othe concerning this to the Lord to put away all our wiues, which are strangers, with their children.

93 If it seeme good to thee, & to all them that obey the Law of the Lord, rise vp and put it in execution.

94 For to thee doeth it apperteine, and wee are with thee to make thee strong.

95 Then Esdras arose, and made all the chiefe of the families of the Priests & Leuites of all Israel to sweare, that they would do thus: and they sware.

CHAP. IX.

7 After Esdras had read the Law for the strange wiues, 10 they promise to put them away.

*Ezra.10.6. THen * Esdras rose from the court of the Temple, and went to the chamber of Ioannan the sonne of Eliasib,

2 And being lodged there, he did eat no bread nor dranke water, but mourned for the great iniquities of the multitude.

3 And there was a proclamation in all Iudea and Ierusalem, to all them that were of the captiuitie, that they should be gathered to Ierusalem,

4 And that all they which should not meet there within two or three dayes, according to the ordinance of the Elders, which haue rule, should haue their cattel confiscate to the Temple, and be cast out from among them of the captiuitie.

5 Then all they which were of the tribe of Iuda and Beniamin, came together within three dayes into Ierusalem: this was the ninth moneth, and twentieth day of the moneth.

6 And all the multitude sate in the broad place of the Temple shaking, because of the extreme winter.

7 Then Esdras arose and sayd to them, Ye haue sinned: for yee haue married strange wiues, so that ye haue augmented the sinnes of Israel.

8 Now therefore confesse and glorifie the Lord God of our fathers, 9 And doe his will, and separate your selues from the people of the land, and from the strange wiues.

10 Then all the multitude cried out and sayd with a loud voice, We will do as thou hast sayd,

11 But because u great, and the time is winter, so that we cannot stand without, and the worke is not of one day nor of two, seeing that many of vs haue sinned in this matter,

12 Let the chiefe men of the multitude, and all they which haue strange wiues of our families, tarie:

13 And let the Priests and Iudges come out of all places at the day appointed, til they haue appeased the wrath of the Lord against vs for this matter.

14 Then Ionathas Asaels sonne, and ‖ Ezecias sonne of ‖ Thecan were appointed concerning these things, and Mosollam and Sabbateus did helpe them. ‖Or, Iahazias. ‖Or, Tiqua.

15 And they which were of the captiuitie, did after all these things.

16 Esdras the Priest also chose him certeine men, chiefe of their families, all by name: and they sate together in the first day of the tenth moneth to examine this matter.

17 And they made an end of the things perteining to them that had married strange wiues in the first day of the first moneth.

18 And there were found of the Priests, which had married strange wiues, 37 And the Priests and the Leuites dwelt in Ierusalem, and in the countrey, the first day of the seuenth moneth, and the children of Israel in their owne houses.

38 ¶ * Then all the multitude assembled together with one consent into the broad place before the gate of the Temple toward the East, *Nehem. 8. 1.

39 And spake to Esdras the Priest, and reader, that he should bring the Law of Moyses, which had bene giuen by the Lord God of Israel.

40 Then brought Esdras the chiefe Priest, the Law to all the multitude, both man and woman, and to all the Priests, that they might heare the Law the first day of the seuenth moneth.

41 And hee read in the first broad place of the gate of the Temple, from morning to mid-day, before the men and the women, and all the multitude hearkened to the law.

42 So Esdras the Priest and reader of the Law, stood vpon a pulpit of wood that was prepared.

43 And there stood by him ‖ Matgathias, Sammus, Ananias, Azarias, Ourias, Ezecias, Balasamus at his right hand, 46 And they all stood vpright when he expounded the Law, and Esdras blessed the Lord the most high God, the most mightie God of hosts.

47 And the whole multitude cried, Amen.

48 Then Iesus and ‖ Anus, and Sarabias, and Adimus, and Iacobus, Sabataias, Autanias, Maianias, and Calitas, Azarias, and Ioazabdus, and Ananias, and Biatas the Leuites lift vp their hands, & fell downe on the ground, & worshipped the Lord, 49 And taught the Law of the Lord, and stood also earnestly vpon the reading.

50 Then said ‖ Achtharates to Esdras the chiefe Priest and Reader, and to the Leuites, that taught the multitude in all things, This day is holy vnto the Lord, and all haue wept in hearing of the Law.

‖Or, Nehemias.

51 Goe therefore and eate the fat meates, and drinke the sweet drinks, and send presents to them that haue not.

52 For this day is holy to the Lord, and be not sorie: for the Lord God will glorifie you.

53 So the Leuites commanded all these things to the people, saying, This day is holy to the Lord: be not sad.

54 Then they departed all to eate, and drinke, and to reioyce, and to giue presents to them that had not, and to make good cheare.

55 For they were yet filled with the wordes wherewith they were instructed, when they were assembled together.

5 Goe, and shewe my people their sinnes, and their children their wickednesse, which they haue committed against mee, that they may tell their childrens children.

6 For the sinnes of their fathers are increased in them, because they haue forgotten me, and haue offred vnto strange gods.

7 Haue not I brought them out of the land of Egypt from the house of bondage? but they haue prouoked me vnto wrath, & despised my counsels.

8 Pull thou off then the haire of thine head, and cast all euill vpon them: for they haue not bene obedient vnto my Lawe, but they are a rebellious people.

9 How long shall I forbeare them, vnto whom I haue done so much good?

10 *Many Kings haue I destroyed for their sakes: Pharao with his seruants and all his armie haue I smitten downe.

11 All the nations haue I destroyed before them: *I haue destroyed the East, the people of the two countryes Tyrus and Sydon, & haue slaine all their enemies.

12 Speake thou therefore vnto them, saying, Thus saith the Lord, 13 *I haue led you thorow the Sea, and haue giuen you a sure ‖way, since the beginning: *I gaue you Moyses for a guide, and Aaron for a Priest.

14 * I gaue you light in a pillar of fire, & great wonders haue I done among you: yet haue ye forgotten me, saith the Lord.

15 Thus saith the Almightie Lord, The quailes *were a token vnto you: I gaue you tentes for safegard, wherein ye murmured:

16 And ye triumphed not in my Name for the destruction of your enemies, but ye yet murmure still.

17 Where are the benefites that I haue done for you? when yee were hungrie in the wildernesse, * did ye not crie vnto me?

18 Saying, Why hast thou brought vs into this wildernesse, to kill vs? It had bene better for vs to haue serued the Egyptians, then to dye in the wildernesse.

19 I had pitie vpon your mournings, and gaue you Manna to eate: * so ye did eate Angels food.

20 *When ye were thirstie, did not I cleaue the stone, and waters did flowe out to satisfie you? from the heat I couered you with the leaues of the trees,

21 And I gaue you fat countreys: I cast out the Canaanites, the Pherezits, & Philistims before you: * what shall I doe more for you, saith the Lord?

22 Thus saith the Almightie Lorde, * When ye were in the wildernesse at the bitter waters, being a thirst, and blaspheming my Name, 23 I gaue you not fire for the blasphemies, but cast a tree into the water, and made the riuer sweet.

24 What shall I doe vnto thee, O Iacob? thou *Iuda wouldest not obey: I will turne me to other nations, and vnto those will I giue my Name, that they may keepe my Lawes.

25 Seeing ye haue forsaken mee, I will also forsake you: when yee aske mercie of mee, I will not haue pitie vpon you.

26 *When ye call vpon me, I wil not heare you: for yee haue defiled your handes with blood, and your feete are swift to commit murther, 27 Although ye haue not forsaken me, but your owne selues. saith the Lord.

28 Thus saith the Almightie Lorde, Haue I not prayed you, as a father his sonnes, and as a mother her daughters, and as a nurce her yong babes, 29 That yee would be my people, as I am your God, and that yee would bee my children, as I am your Father?

30 * I gathered you together as a henne gathereth her chickins vnder her wings: but nowe what shall I do vnto you? I wil cast you out frō my sight.

31 * When you bring giftes vnto mee, I will turne my face from you: for your solemne feast dayes, your newe moones, and your circumcisions haue I forsaken.

32 I sent vnto you my seruants the Prophetes, whom ye haue taken and slaine, and torne their bodies in pieces, whose blood I will reuenge, saith the Lord.

33 Thus saith the Almightie Lorde, Your house shalbe desolate: I wil cast you out as the wind doth the stubble.

34 Your children shall not haue generation: for they haue despised my commandements, and done the thing that I hate, before me.

35 Your houses will I giue vnto a people to come, who shall beleeue me though they heare mee not, and they, vnto whom I neuer shewed miracle, shall do the things that I command them.

36 Though they see no Prophets, yet shall they hate their iniquities.

37 ¶ I will declare the grace that I will doe for the people to come, whose children reioyce in gladnesse, and though they haue not seene me with bodily eyes, yet in heart they beleeue the things that I say.

38 Now therefore brother, beholde what great glory, and see the people that come from the East.

39 Vnto whom I will giue for leaders, Abraham, Isaac, Iacob, Oseas, Amos, Micheas, Ioel, Abdias, Ionas.

40 Naum, Habacuc, Sophonias, Aggeus, Zacharias, and Malachias (which is called also the * messenger of the Lord.)

CHAP. II.

The Synagogue findeth fault with her owne children. 18 The Gentiles are called.

THus saith the Lord, I brought this people out of bondage: I gaue them also my commandements by my seruants the Prophets, whom they would not heare, but despised my counsels.

2 The mother that bare them, saith vnto them, Goe you away, O children: for I am a widow and forsaken.

3 I brought you vp with gladnesse, but with sorow and heauinesse haue I lost you: for ye haue sinned against the Lord your God, and done the thing that displeaseth him.

4 But what shall I now doe vnto you? I am a widow and forsaken: goe ye, O my children, and aske mercie of the Lord.

5 And thee, O father, I call for a witnesse for the mother of these children, which would not keepe my couenant,

6 That thou bring them to confusion, and their mother to a spoyle, that their kindred be not continued.

7 Let their names be scattered among the heathen: let them be put out of the earth, for they haue despised my couenant.

9 Whose land is mixed with cloudes of pitch and heapes of ashes: so will I do vnto them, that heare me not, saith the Almightie Lord.

10 Thus saith the Lord vnto Esdras, Tell my people, that I will giue them the kingdome of Ierusalem, which I would haue giuen vnto Israel.

11 And I will get me glorie by them, and giue them the euerlasting tabernacles, which I had prepared for those.

12 They shall haue at will the tree of life, smelling of ointment: they shall neither labour nor be wearie.

13 Goe ye, and ye shall receiue it: pray that the time, which is long, may be shortened: the kingdome is already prepared for you: watch.

14 Take heauen and earth to witnesse: for I haue abolished the euill, and created the good: for I liue, saith the Lord.

15 Mother, embrace thy children, and bring them vp with gladnesse: make their feete as fast as a pillar: for I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord.

16 And those that be dead, will I raise vp from their places, and bring them out of the graues: for I haue knowen my Name in Israel.

17 Feare not, thou mother of the children: for I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord.

18 I will send thee my seruants Esay and Ieremie to helpe thee, by whose counsell I haue sanctified and prepared for thee twelue trees laden with diuers fruites, 19 And as many fountaines flowing with milke and honie, and seuen mightie mountaines, whereupon there grow roses and lilies, whereby I will fil thy children with ioy.

20 Execute iustice for the widowe: iudge the cause of the fatherlesse: giue to the poore: defend the fatherlesse: clothe the naked.

21 Heale the wounded, and sicke: laugh not a lame man to scorne: defend the creeple, and let the blinde come into the light of my cleerenesse.

22 Keepe the olde and the yong that are within thy walles.

*Iob.1.17,18,19. 23 * Whereseuer thou findest the dead, take them and bury them, and I will giue thee the first place in my resurrection.

24 Abide still, O my people, and rest: for thy quietnesse shall come.

25 Nourish thy children, O thou good nource: stablish their feete.

26 None of the seruaunts that I haue giuen thee, shall perish: for I will seeke them from among thy number.

27 Bee not weary: for when the day of trouble and heauinesse commeth, other shall weepe and be sorowfull, but thou shalt bee mery and haue abundance.

28 The heathen shall enuie thee, and shall doe nothing against thee, saith the Lord.

29 Mine hands shall couer thee, so that thy children shall not see hell.

30 Be ioyfull, O thou mother, with thy children: for I will deliuer thee, saith the Lord.

31 Remember thy children that sleepe: for I wil bring them out of the sides of the earth, and will shewe mercie vnto them: For I am mercifull, saith the Lord Almightie.

32 Embrace thy children, vntil I come and shew mercie vnto them: for my fountaines runne ouer, and my grace shall not faile.

33 I Esdras receiued a charge of the Lord vpon the mount Horeb, that I shoulde goe vnto them of Israel, but when I came to them, they cast mee off, and despised the commandement of the Lord.

34 And therefore I say vnto you, O ye heathen, that heare and vnderstand, Waite for your shepheard, who shall giue you euerlasting rest: for hee is neere at hand, that shall come in the ende of the world.

35 Be ready to the reward of the kingdome: for the euerlasting light shall shine vpon you for euermore.

36 Flee the shadowe of this worlde: receiue the ioy of your glory: I testifie my Sauiour openly.

37 Receiue the gift that is giuen you, and bee glad, giuing thankes vnto him, that hath called you to the heauenly kingdome.

38 Arise, and stand vp, and beholde the number of those that are sealed for the feast of the Lord, 39 Which are departed from the shadow of the worlde, and haue receiued glorious garments of the Lord.

40 Take thy number, O Sion, and shut vp them that are clothed in white, which haue fulfilled the Law of the Lord.

41 The number of thy children whom thou longest for, is fulfilled: beseech the power of the Lord, that thy people which haue bene called from the beginning, may be sanctified.

42 * I Esdras saw vpon mount Sion a great people whom I could not number, and they all prayse the Lord with songs. *Reuel 7.9.

43 And in the middes of them there was a yong man higher in stature then them all, and vpon euerie one of their heads he set crownes, & was higher then the others, which I much marueiled at.

44 So I asked the Angel, and sayd, Who are these, my Lord?

45 Who answered, and sayd vnto me, These be they, that haue put off the mortall clothing, and haue put on the immortall, and haue confessed the Name of God: now are they crowned, and receiue the palmes.

46 Then sayd I vnto the Angel, What yoong man is it, that setteth crownes on them, and giueth them the palmes in their hands?

47 And he answered and sayd vnto me, It is the Sonne of God, whom they haue confessed in the world. Then began I greatly to commend them, that had stood so strongly for the Name of the Lord.

48 Then the Angel sayd vnto me, Go thy way, and tell my people, what, and how great wonders of the Lord God thou hast seene.

CHAP. III.

4 The wonderous works, which God did for the people, are recited. 21 Esdras marueileth that God suffereth the Babylonians to haue rule ouer his people, which yet are sinners also.

IN the thirtieth yeere after the fall of the citie, as I was at Babylon, I lay troubled vpon my bed, and my thoughts came vp to my heart,

2 Because I saw the desolation of Sion, and the wealth of them that dwelt at Babylon.

3 So my spirit was sore moued, so that I began to speake fearefull words to the most High, and sayd,

4 O Lord, Lord, thou spakest at the beginning when thou alone plantedst the earth, and gauest commandement vnto the people,

5 * And a bodie vnto Adam, without soule, *Gene.2.7.

who was also the workmanship of thine hands, and hast breathed in him the breath of life, so that he liued before thee.

6 And leaddest him into Paradise, which thy right hand had planted or euer the earth ‖ brought foorth.

‖ Or, went forward.

7 Euen then thou gauest him commandement to loue thy way: but he transgressed it, and immediatly thou appointedst death to him and his generation, of whom came nations, tribes, people and kindreds out of number.

*Gen.6.12. 8 * And euery people walked after their owne will, and did wonderfull things before thee, and despised thy commandements.

*Gene.7.10. 9 * But at the time appointed thou broughtest the flood vpon those that dwelt in the world, and destroyedst them,

10 So that by the flood, that came to euery one of them which came by death vnto Adam,

*1.Pet.3.20. 11 Yet thou leftest one, euen * Noe, whith his household, of whom came all righteous men.

12 And when they that dwelt vpon the earth, began to multiply, and the number of the children, people, and many nations were increased, they began to be more vngodly then the first.

13 Now when they liued wickedly before thee,

*Gene.12.1. *thou diddest chuse thee a man from among them,

*Gene.17.5. whose name was * Abraham,

14 Whom thou louedst, and vnto whom onely thou shewedst thy will,

15 And madest an euerlasting couenant with him, promising him that thou wouldest neuer forsake his seed.

*Gene.21.2,3. 16 * And vnto him thou gauest Isaac, * vnto

*Gene.25.25,26. *Malac.1.2,3. Isaac also thou gauest Iacob and Esau, * and diddest chuse Iacob, and cast off Esau, and so Iacob became a great multitude.

rom 9.13.

17 And when thou leddest his seed out of E-

*Exod.19.1. gypt, * thou broughtest them vp to mount Sina,

Deut.4.10. 18 And enclinedst the heauens and bowedst downe the earth, and diddest moouе the ground, and cause the depths to shake, and diddest astonish the world.

19 And thy glorie went thorow foure gates of fire, with earthquakes, winde and colde, that thou mightest giue the Law vnto the seed of Iacob, and that which the generation of Israel should diligently obserue.

20 Yet tookest thou not away from them the wicked heart, that the Law might bring forth fruit in them.

*Gene.3.6. 21 For * Adam first hauing a wicked heart, was ouercome and vanquished, and all they that are borne of him.

22 Thus remained weakenesse ioyned with the Law in the hearts of the people, with the wickednesse of the roote: so that the good departed away, and the euill abode still.

23 So the times passed away, and the yeres were

*1.Sam.16.13. brought to an end, * till thou diddest raise thee vp a seruant called Dauid,

*2.Sam.5.1. and 7.5,13. 24 * Whom thou commandedst to build a citie vnto thy Name, to call vpon thee therein with incense and sacrifice.

25 When this was done many yeeres, the inhabitants forsooke thee, 26 Following the wayes of Adam & all his generation: for they also had a wicked heart.

27 Therfore thou gauest thy citie ouer into the hands of thine enemies.

28 But doe they that dwell at Babylon any better, that they should haue the dominion of Sion?

29 For when I came thither, and saw their wicked deeds without number (for this is the thirtieth yere that I see many trespassing) I was discouraged.

30 For I saw, howe thou sufferedst them that sinne, and sparedst the wicked doers, where as thou hast destroyed thine owne people, and preserued thine enemies, and thou hast not shewed it.

31 I can not perceiue how this commeth to passe. Are the deeds of Babylon better then they of Sion?

32 Or is there any other people that knoweth thee besides Israel? or what generation hath so beleeued thy testimonies, as Iacob?

33 And yet their reward appeareth not, & their labour hath no fruit: for I haue gone heere and there thorowout the heathen, and I see them flourish, and thinke not vpon thy commandements.

34 Weigh thou therefore our wickednesse now in the ballance, and theirs also that dwell in the world, and no mention of thee shall be found but in Israel.

35 Or when is it that they that dwell on the earth, haue not sinned in thy sight: or what people hath so kept thy commandements?

36 Thou shalt surely finde that Israel by name hath kept thy precepts, but not the heathen.

CHAP. IIII.

2 The Angel reproueth Esdras because hee seemed to enter into the profound iudgements of God.

AND the Angell that was sent vnto mee, whose name was Vriel, answered,

2 And sayd, Thine heart hath taken too much vpon it in this world, and thou thinkest to comprehend the wayes of the Highest.

3 Then sayd I, Yea, my Lord. And he answered me, and sayd, I am sent to shew thee three wayes, and to set forth three similitudes before thee,

4 Whereof if thou canst declare me one, I will shew thee also the way, that thou desirest to see, and I will shew thee from whence the wicked heart commeth.

5 And I sayd, Tell on, my Lord. Then sayd hee vnto me, Go thy way: weigh me the weight of the fire, or measure me the blast of the winde, or call me againe the day that is past.

6 Then answered I, and sayde, What man is borne, that can do that, which thou requirest mee, concerning these things?

¶ 7 And he sayd vnto mee, If I should aske thee how deepe dwellings are in the middes of the sea, or how great springs are in the beginning of the depth, or how great springs are in the stretching out of the heauen, or which are the borders of Paradise,

8 Peraduenture thou wouldest say vnto mee, I neuer went downe to the deepe, nor yet to the hell, neither did I euer clime vp to heauen.

9 But now haue I asked thee but of fire and winde, & of the day, whereby thou hast passed, and from the which things thou canst not be separated, and yet canst thou giue me none answere of them.

10 Hee sayd moreouer vnto mee, Thine owne things, and such as are growen vp with thee, canst thou not know:

11 Howe should thy vessell then be able to comprehend the wayes of the Highest, and nowe outwardly in the corrupt world, to vnderstand the corruption.

corruption, that is euident in my sight?

12 Then said I vnto him, It were better that we were not at all, then that we should liue in wickednesse, and to suffer, and not to know wherefore.

13 And he answered me, and sayd, * I came to a forest in the plaine where the trees held a counsell,

*Iudg.9.8. 2.chron.25.18.

14 And sayd, Come, let vs goe fight against the sea, that it may giue place to vs, and that wee may make vs more woods.

15 Likewise the floods of the sea tooke counsell, and sayd, Come, let vs goe vp and fight against the trees of the wood, that we may get another country for vs.

16 But the purpose of the wood was vaine: for the fire came and consumed it.

17 Likewise also the purpose of the floods of the sea: for the sand stood vp and stopped them.

18 If thou were iudge betweene these two, whom wouldest thou iustifie? or whom wouldest thou condemne?

19 I answered, & said, Verely it is a fooliſh purpose, that they both haue deuised: for the ground is appointed for the wood, & the sea hath his place to beare his floods.

20 Then answered he mee, and sayd, Thou hast giuen a right iudgement: but why iudgest thou not thy selfe also?

21 For like as the ground is appointed for the wood, & the sea for his floods, so * they that dwell vpon earth, can vnderstand nothing, but that which is vpon earth: and they that are in the heauens, the things that are aboue the height of the heauens.

*Isa.55 8,9.iohn 3.31.1.cor.2.13, 14.

22 Then answered I, and sayd, I beseech thee, O Lord, let vnderstanding be giuen me.

23 For I did not purpose to inquire of thine hie things, but of such as wee dayly meddle withall, namely, wherefore Israel is made a reproch to the heathen, and for what cause the people whom thou hast loued, is giuen ouer to wicked nations, & why the Law of our fathers is abolished, and the written ceremonies are come to none effect, 24 Why wee are tossed to and fro thorow the world as the grashoppers, and our life is a verie feare, and we are not thought woorthie to obteine mercie.

25 But what will he doe to his Name, which is called vpon ouer vs? Of these things haue I asked the question.

26 Then answered he me, and sayd, The more thou searchest, the more thou shalt maruell: for the world hasteth fast to passe away, 27 And cannot comprehend the things, that are promised to the righteous in time to come: for this world is full of vnrighteousnesse and weakenesse.

28 But to declare thee the things whereof thou askest, the euill is sowen, but the destruction thereof is not yet come.

29 If the euill now that is sowen, be not turned vpside downe, and if the place where the euill is sowen, passe not away, then cannot the thing come that is sowen with good.

30 For the corne of euill seed hath bene sowen in the heart of Adam from the beginning, and how much vngodlinesse hath hee brought vp vnto this time? and how much shall he bring forth vntil the harnest come?

31 Ponder with thy selfe, how much fruit of wickednesse the corne of euill seed bringeth forth, 32 And when the stalkes shall be cut downe, which are without number, how great an harnest must be prepared.

33 Then I answered, and sayd, How, and when shall these things come to passe? wherefore are our yeeres few and euill?

34 And hee answered me, saying, Haste not to be aboue the most High: for thou laboures in vaine to be aboue him, though thou indeuour neuer so much.

35 Did not the soules also of the righteous aske question of these things in their chambers, saying, How long shall I thus hope? and when commeth the fruit of my barne and our wages?

36 And vpon this Ieremiel the Archangel answered, and sayd, When the number of the seeds is filled in you: for he hath weighed the world in the balance.

37 The measure of the times is measured: the ages are counted by number, and they shall not be mooued or shaken, till the measure thereof be fulfilled.

38 Then answered I, and said, O Lord, Lord, we are all euen full of sinne, 39 And for our sake peraduenture the harnest of the righteous is not fulfilled, because of the sinne of them that dwell vpon earth.

40 So he answered me, and sayd, Goe, and aske a woman with childe, when shee hath fulfilled her nine moneths, if her wombe may keepe the birth any longer within her.

41 Then sayd I, No, Lord, she can not. And he sayd vnto me, In the graue the places of soules are like the wombe.

42 For as shee that is with childe, hasteth to escape the necessitie of the trauell, so doe these places haste to deliuer those things that are committed vnto them.

43 That which thou desirest to see, shalbe shewed thee from the beginning.

44 Then answered I, and sayd, If I haue found grace in thy sight, and if it be possible, and if I be meet therefore,

45 Shew mee whether there be more to come then is past, or moe things past, then are to come.

46 What is past, I know, but what is to come, I know not.

47 And he said vnto me, Stand on the right side, and I will expound thee this by example.

48 So I stoode and beholde, a hote burning ouen passed before mee: and when the flame was gone by, I looked, and beholde, the smoke had the vpper hand.

49 After this there passed before mee a watrie cloud, and sent downe much raine with a storme: and when the stormie raine was past, the droppes came after.

50 Then sayd hee vnto mee, Consider with thy selfe, as the raine is more then the droppes, and as fire exceedeth the smoake, so the portion that is past, hath the vpper hand. And the droppes, and the smoake were much.

51 Then I prayed, and said, May I liue, thinkest thou, vntill that time? or what shall come to passe in those dayes?

52 Hee answered me, and sayd, Of the tokens whereof thou askest me, I can tell thee a part: but I am not sent to shew thee of thy life: for I do not know it.

NEuertheleſſe concerning the tokens, beholde, the times ſhall come, that they which dwell vpon earth, ſhalbe taken in a great number, and the way of the trueth ſhall be hid, and the land ſhalbe barren from faith, Matth.24.12. 2 And * iniquitie ſhalbe increaſed more then thou haſt ſeene now, or haſt heard in time paſt.

3 And it ſhall come to paſſe, that one ſhall ſet in foot, and thou ſhalt ſee the land deſolate, which now reigneth.

4 Yea, if God graunt thee to liue, thou ſhalt ſee after the third trumpet, that the ſunne ſhal ſuddenly ſhine againe in the night, and the moone three times a day.

5 Blood ſhal drop out of ỹ wood, & the ſtone ſhal giue his voice, & the people ſhalbe mooued.

6 And he ſhall rule, of whome they hope not that dwell vpon earth, and the fowles ſhal change place.

7 And the ſea of Sodom ſhal caſt out fiſh, and make a noyſe in the night, which many ſhall not know, but they ſhall heare the voyce thereof.

8 There ſhall be a confuſion in many places, and the fire ſhall oft breake foorth, and the wilde beaſtes ſhall change their places, and menſtruous women ſhall beare monſters,

9 And ſalt waters ſhall be found in the ſweete, and all friends ſhall fight one againſt another: then ſhall wit hide it ſelfe, and vnderſtanding depart into his ſecret chamber.

10 It ſhall be ſought of many, and yet not bee found: then ſhall vnrighteouſneſſe and voluptuouſneſſe haue the vpper hand vpon earth.

11 One land alſo ſhall aſke another, and ſay, Is righteous iuſtice gone through thee? And it ſhall ſay, No.

12 At the ſame time ſhall men hope, but not obteine: they ſhall labour, but their enterpriſes ſhall not proſper.

13 To ſhewe thee ſuch tokens I haue leaue, and if thou wilt pray againe and weepe as now, and faſt ſeuen dayes, thou ſhalt heare yet greater thinges then theſe.

14 ¶ Then I awaked, and a fearefulneſſe went thorow all my body, and my minde was feeble and fainted.

15 But the Angel that was come to talke with me, held mee, comforted mee, and ſet me vp vpon my feete.

16 And in the ſecond night, Salathiel the captaine of the people came vnto me, ſaying, Where haſt thou bene? and why is thy countenance ſo heauie?

17 Knoweſt thou not that Iſrael is committed vnto thee in the land of their captiuitie.

18 Vp then and eate, and forſake vs not, as the ſhepheard that leaueth his flocke in the handes of the cruell wolues.

19 Then ſaid I vnto him, Goe thy wayes from me, and come not neere me: and when he heard it, he went from me.

20 And I faſted ſeuen dayes, mourning & weeping, as Vriel the Angel had commanded me.

21 And after ſeuen dayes the thoughts of mine heart were very grieuous vnto me againe.

22 And I had a deſire to reaſon againe, and I began to talke with the moſt High againe, 23 And ſaid, O Lord, Lord: of euery foreſt of the earth, and of all the trees thereof thou haſt choſen thee one onely vineyard.

24 And of all lands of the world thou haſt choſen thee one pit, and of al the floures of the ground thou haſt choſen thee one lillie.

25 And of all the depthes of the ſea thou haſt filled thee one riuer, and of all builded cities thou haſt ſanctified Sion vnto thy ſelfe.

26 And of all the foules that are created, thou haſt named thee one doue, & of all the cattel that are made, thou haſt appointed thee one ſheepe.

27 And among al the multitude of people thou haſt gotten thee one people, and vnto this people whom thou louedſt, thou gaueſt a Lawe, that is proued of all.

28 And now, O Lorde, why haſt thou giuen this one people ouer vnto many? and vpon one roote thou haſt ſet others, and haſt ſcattered thine onely people among many.

29 They treade them downe, which haue withſtood thy promiſes, & beleeue not thy teſtimonies.

30 And if thou diddeſt ſo much hate thy people, they ſhoulde haue bene puniſhed with thine owne handes.

31 ¶ Now when I had ſpoken theſe wordes, the Angel that came to mee the night afore, was ſent vnto me, 32 And ſaid vnto me, Heare me, and I wil teach thee, and hearken that I may inſtruct thee further.

33 And I ſaid, Speake on, my Lord. Then ſaid he vnto me, Thou art ſore vexed and troubled for Iſraels ſake. Loueſt thou them better, then hee doth that made them?

34 And I ſaid, No, Lord: but of very ſorow haue I ſpoken: for my reines paine me euery houre, while I labour to comprehend the way of the moſt Hie, and to ſeeke out part of his iudgement.

35 And he ſaid vnto me, Thou canſt not. And I ſayd, Wherefore, Lord, wherefore was I borne? or why was not my mothers wombe then my graue? ſo had I not ſeene the trouble of Iacob, and the griefe of the ſtocke of Iſrael.

36 And he ſayd vnto me, Number vnto me the things that are not, yet come, or gather mee the drops that are ſcattered, or make me the withered flowers greene againe.

37 Open me the places that are cloſed, & bring mee foorth the windes, that are ſhut vp therein: ſhew me the image of a voyce, and then will I declare thee the thing that thou aſkeſt and laboureſt to know.

38 And I ſayd, O Lord, Lord, who can know theſe things, but he that hath not his dwelling with men?

39 But I that am ignorant, how can I ſpeake of theſe things, whereof thou aſkeſt me?

40 Then ſaid he vnto me, Like as thou canſt doe none of theſe things, that I haue ſpoken of, ſo canſt thou not finde out my iudgement, nor the leaſt benefit, that I haue promiſed vnto my people.

41 Then I ſaid, Behold, O Lord, the laſt things are preſent vnto thee, and what ſhall they doe that haue bene before mee, or we that be now, or they that ſhall come after vs?

42 And hee ſayd vnto me, I will compare my iudgement vnto a ring: as there is no ſlackneſſe of the laſt, ſo there is no ſwiftneſſe of the firſt.

43 Then I anſwered, and ſayd, Couldeſt thou not make at once thoſe that haue bene, thoſe that are now, & thoſe that ſhall come, that thou mighteſt ſhew thy iudgement the ſooner?

44 Then

44 Then answered he me, The creature, said he, cannot preuent the Creator, neither can the world hold them at once, that shall be created therein.

45 And I said, As thou hast taught thy seruant, that thou which giuest strength to all, hast giuen life at once to all the worke created by thee, and hast susteined it, so might it now also conteine all men at once.

46 And he said vnto me, Aske the wombe of a woman, and say vnto her, Why must thou haue time before thou bringest foorth? require her to bring foorth tenne at once.

47 And I said, Surely she cannot, but by distance of time.

48 Then said hee vnto me, So haue I diuided the number of the earth by times when seede is sowen vpon it.

49 For as a yong childe begetteth not that that belongeth to the aged, so haue I ordeined the time which I haue created.

50 ¶ I asked againe, and said, Seeing thou hast now shewed me the way, I will proceed to speake before thee: for our mother, whom thou hast told me is yong, draweth shee neere vnto age?

51 He answered me, and said, Aske a woman that trauaileth, and shee will tell thee.

52 Say vnto her, Wherefore are not they (whom thou hast now brought foorth) like those that were before thee, but lesse of stature?

53 And shee shall answere thee, Some were borne in the flower of youth, others were borne in the time of age, when the wombe failed.

54 Consider nowe thy selfe, howe that ye are lesse of stature, then those that were before you.

55 And so are they that come after you, lesse then ye, as the creatures which now beginne to be olde, and haue passed ouer the strength of youth.

56 Then said I, Lord, I beseech thee, if I haue found fauour in thy sight, shewe thy seruant by whome doest thou gouerne thy workemanship?

CHAP. VI.

God hath foreseene all things in his secrete counsell, and is authour thereof, and hath created them for his children. 25 The felicitie of the age to come.

AND he said vnto mee, In the beginning when the round world was made, and before the borders of the world were set, and before the winds blew one against another:

2 Before the noyse of thunders sounded, before the bright lightning did shine foorth, before the foundations of Paradise were layde:

3 Before the faire flowers did appeare, before the moueable powers were stablished, before the innumerable armies of Angels were gathered:

4 Before the heights of the aire were lifted vp, before the measures of the heauens were named, before the chimneis in Sion were hote:

5 Before the present yeeres were sought out, and before the affections of them that now sinne, were turned away, and they that haue layde vp the treasure of faith, were sealed,

6 Then did I purpose these things, and they were made by mee alone, and by none other: by me also they shalbe ended, and by none other.

7 Then answered I, and saide, What shalbe the diuision of times? or when shall be the ende of the first, and the beginning of it that followeth?

8 And he sayde vnto mee, From Abraham vnto Isaac, when Iacob and Esau were borne of him, *Iacobs hand held fast the heele of Esau.

9 For Esau is the end of this world, and Iacob is the beginning of it that followeth.

10 The hand of man is betwixt the heele and the hand. Other things, Esdras, aske thou not.

11 ¶ I answered then, and saide, O Lord, Lord, if I haue found fauour in thy sight, 12 I beseeche thee, make an ende to shewe thy seruant thy tokens, whereof thou shewedst mee part the last night.

13 So he answered mee and said, Stand vp vpon thy feete, and heare a mightie sounding voyce.

14 There shall come as an earthquake, but the place where thou standest, shall not be mooued.

15 And therefore when hee speaketh, be not afraide: for of the ende shall be the word, and of the foundation of the earth shall it be vnderstood.

16 Therefore while one speaketh of them, it trembleth and is mooued: for it knoweth, that it must be changed at the ende.

17 And when I had heard it, I stoode vp vpon my feete, and hearkened, and beholde, there was a voyce that spake, and the sound of it was like the sound of many waters:

18 And it sayd, Beholde, the dayes come, that I will come and inquire of them that dwell vpon the earth,

19 And when I beginne to inquire of them, who by their vnrighteousnesse haue hurt others, & when the affliction of Sion shalbe fulfilled,

20 And the world, that shall vanish away, shall be sealed, then will I shew these signes: the books shalbe opened before the heauen, and they shall see all it together.

21 And the children of a yere olde shall speake with their voices: the women with child shal bring forth vntimely children of three or foure moneths olde, and they shall liue that are raised vp.

22 Then suddenly shall the sowen places appeare as the vnsowen, and the full store houses shall suddenly be found emptie.

23 And the trumpet shall sound, and all they that heare it, shalbe suddenly afrayd.

24 At that time shall friends fight with friends, as with enemies, and the earth shal feare with them: the springs of the welles shal stand stil, and in three houres they shall not runne.

25 Whosoeuer remaineth from all these things that I haue tolde thee, shalbe saued, and see my saluation, and the end of your world.

26 And the men that are receiued, shall see it: they that haue not tasted death, from their birth, and the heart of the inhabitants shall be changed, and turned to another meaning.

27 For euill shall be put out, and deceit shall be quenched, 28 But faith shall flourish: corruption shall be ouercome, and the trueth which hath bene so long without fruit, shall come forth.

29 ¶ And when he talked with me, beholde, I looked a little vpon him before whom I stood.

30 And these words said he vnto me, I am come to shew thee the time of the night to come.

31 If thou wilt pray againe, and fast seuen dayes more, I will tell thee more things, and greater then these, which I haue heard in the day.

32 For thy voyce is heard before the Highest: surely the mighty hath seene thy righteous dealing: hee hath seene also thy chastitie, which thou hast kept since thy youth.

33 There-

*Gen. 25. 26.

33 Therefore hath he ſent me to ſhewe thee all theſe things, and to ſay vnto thee, Bee of good comfort, and feare not,

34 And haſte not in the vaine conſideration of the firſt times, nor make haſte to the latter times.

35 And after this I wept againe and faſted ſeuen dayes in like maner, that I might fulfill the three weekes, which he had appointed me.

36 And in the eight night was mine heart vexed within me againe, and I began to ſpeake before the moſt High.

37 For my ſpirit was greatly ſet on fire, and my ſoule was in diſtreſſe, 38 And I ſaid, O Lord, thou ſpakeſt expreſly in the firſt creation (euen the firſt day) and commandedſt * that the heauen and the earth ſhould bee made, and the worke followed thy word.

* Gene. 1. 1.

39 And then was there the ſpirit, and the darkeneſſe was on euery ſide with ſilence: there was no mans voyce as yet created of thee.

40 Then commaundedſt thou a bright light to come forth out of thy treaſures, that it might giue light to thy worke.

41 Vpon the ſecond day thou createdſt the heauenly ayre, and commandedſt it, that going betweene, it ſhould make a diuiſion betweene the waters, that the one part might remaine aboue, and the other beneath.

42 Vpon the third day thou commaundedſt, that the waters ſhould be gathered together in the ſeuenth part of the earth: ſixe partes diddeſt thou drie, & kept them to the intent that of theſe there ſhould be that ſhould ſerue thee, beeing ſowed of God and tilled.

43 Aſſoone as thy word went forth, the worke was incontinently made.

44 For immediatly great and innumerable fruit did ſpring vp, and many diuers pleaſures for the taſte, and flowers of vnchangeable colour, and odours of a moſt woonderfull ſmell, and theſe things were created the third day.

* Gene. 1. 14. 45 * Vpon the fourth day thou createdſt the light of the Sunne, and of the Moone, and the order of the ſtarres,

* Gen. 1. 14. and 15. deut. 4. 19. 46 And gaueſt them a charge, to doe * ſeruice euen vnto man that was for to be made.

* Gene. 1. 20. 47 And vpon the fift day thou ſaideſt vnto the ſeuenth part * where the waters were gathered, that it ſhould bring foorth beaſtes, as foules and fiſhes: and it was ſo.

48 For the dumbe waters, and without life brought forth liuing things at the commandement of God, that the nations might praiſe thy wonderous workes.

49 Then didſt thou prepare two liuing things: the one thou calledſt || Behemoth, and the other thou calledſt Leuiathan, Or, Enoch.

50 And diddeſt ſeparate the one from the other: for the ſeuenth part, where the water was gathered, could not hold them.

51 Vnto Behemoth thou gaueſt one part, which was dryed vp the third day, that he ſhould dwell in the ſame part, wherein are a thouſand hilles.

52 But vnto Leuiathan thou gaueſt the ſeuenth part, that is wet, and haſt prepared him to deuoure what thou wilt and when thou wilt.

53 Vpon the ſixt day thou gaueſt commandement vnto the earth, that before thee it ſhould bring forth beaſtes, cattell and creeping things.

54 And beſides this Adam, whom thou madeſt lord ouer all the workes, which thou haſt created, of him come we all, and the people alſo whome thou haſt choſen.

55 All this haue I ſpoken before thee, O Lord, becauſe thou haſt created the world for our ſakes.

56 As for the other people, which alſo come of Adam, thou haſt declared them that they are nothing before thee, but be like vnto ſpittle, and haſt compared their riches vnto a droppe that falleth from a veſſell.

57 And nowe, O Lorde, behold theſe heathen which haue bene reputed as nothing, haue begun to be lords ouer vs, and to deuoure vs.

58 And we thy people (whom thou haſt called the firſt borne, the onely begotten, and thy feruent louer) are giuen into their handes.

59 If the world then be created for our ſakes, why haue we not the inheritance thereof in poſſeſſion? or how long ſhall we ſuffer theſe things?

CHAP. VII.

5 Without tribulation none can come to felicitie. 12 God aduertiſeth all in time. 28 The comming and death of Chriſt. 32 The reſurrection and laſt iudgement, 43 After the which all corruption ſhall ceaſe. 48 All fell in Adam. 59 The true life. 62 The mercies and goodneſſe of God.

AND when I had made an end of theſe wordes, there was ſent vnto me an Angel, which had beneſent downe to me the nights afore.

2 And he ſaid vnto me, Vp, Eſdras, and heare the words that I am come to tell thee.

3 And I ſaid, Speake on, my God. Then ſayde he vnto me, The ſea is ſet in a wide place, that it might be deepe and great,

4 But preſuppoſe that the entrance thereof were narrowe, and like the riuers.

5 Who could go into the ſea to looke vpon it, and to rule it, if he went not thorow the narrowe, howe could he come into the broad?

6 There is alſo another thing: a citie is builded and ſet vpon a broad field, and is full of all good things:

7 The entrance thereof is narrowe and in a dangerous place to fal, that there is fire at the right hand, and a deepe water at the left.

8 And there is but one path betwixt them, euen betweene the fire and the water, ſo that there could but one man goe there.

9 If this citie were giuen vnto a man for an inheritance, if he neuer went thorowe the perill before it, how could he receiue his inheritance?

10 And I ſaid, It is ſo, Lord. Then ſaid he, So is the portion of Iſrael.

11 Surely for their ſakes haue I made the world: and when Adam tranſgreſſed my ſtatutes, then came this thing to paſſe.

12 Then were the entrances of the world made narrow, full of ſorrowe and trauaile: they are but fewe, and euil, and full of perils, and very painfull.

13 For the entrances of the fore world were wide and ſure, and brought immortall fruite.

14 If then they that are liuing, labour not to enter by theſe ſtraite, and brittle things, they can not attaine to thoſe things that are hid.

15 Why then diſquieteſt thou thy ſelfe, ſeeing thou art corruptible? and why art thou mooued, ſeeing thou art mortall?

16 And why haſt thou not conſidered in thy minde the things to come, rather then them that are preſent?

*Deu.8.1. 17 Then said I, O Lord, Lord, *seeing thou hast ordeined in thy Law, that the righteous should inherite these things, and that the vngodly should perish, 18 Should the righteous suffer straitnesse in hoping for large things? yet they that haue liued vngodly and suffred straitnesse, shall not see the large things.

19 Then he said vnto me, There is no iudge more iust then God, and there is none more wise then the most High.

20 For many perish in this life, because they despise the Law of God that is appointed.

21 For God hath diligently admonished such as came, so oft as they came, what they should doe to haue life, and what they should obserue, to auoyd punishment.

22 Neuertheless, they were not obedient vnto him, but spake against him, and imagined vaine things, 23 And deceiued themselues by their wicked deedes, and denied the power of the most High, and regarded not his wayes.

24 But they despised his Lawe, and refused his promises: they haue vnfaithfully broken his ordinances, and haue not perfourmed his workes.

25 And therefore, Esdras, vnto the emptie are emptie things, and to the full, full things.

26 Beholde, the time shall come, that these tokens which I haue tolde thee, shall come to passe, and the bride shall appeare, and she shall come foorth, and be seene that now is vnder the earth.

27 And whosoeuer shall escape these euils, he shall see my wonders.

28 For my sonne Iesus shall appeare with those that be with him, and they that remaine, shall reioyce within foure hundreth yeeres.

29 After these same yeres, shall my sonne Christ die, and all men that haue life.

30 And the worlde shalbe turned into the olde silence for seuen dayes, as in the fore iudgements, so that no man shall remaine.

31 But after seuen dayes, the world that is yet asleepe, shall be raised vp: and that shall die that is corrupt.

32 Then the earth shall restore those that haue slept in her, and so shall the dust those that dwell therein in silence, and the secret places shall deliuer the soules that were committed vnto them.

33 And the most High shall appeare vpon the seate of iudgement, and miseries shall vanish away, and long suffering shall haue an ende.

34 Iustice onely shall continue: the trueth shal remaine, and faith shall be strong.

35 The worke shall follow, and the reward shal be shewed: the good deedes shall be of force, and vnrighteousnesse shall beare no more rule.

*Gene.18.23. *Exod.32.3. 36 Then said I, *Abraham prayed first for the Sodomites, and *Moyses for the fathers that sinned in the wildernesse, 37 And they that came after him, for Israel in the time of Achaz, and Samuel,

*2.Sam.24.17. *2.Chro.6.14. *1 King.17.21. and 18.42,45. *2.King. 19.15. 38 And *Dauid for the destruction, and *Salomon for them that came into the Sanctuarie,

39 *And Elias for those that receiued raine, & for the dead that he might liue, 40 *And Ezechias for the people in the time Sennacherib, and diuers others for many.

41 Euen so now, seeing vice is increased, & wickednesse aboundeth, and the righteous haue prayed for the vngodly, wherefore shall not the same effect follow also now?

42 Then he answered me, and said, This present life is not the end: oft times honour is receiued in it: therefore haue they prayed for the weake.

43 But the day of iudgement shall be the ende of this world, and the beginning of the immortalitie to come, wherein all corruption shall cease.

44 Intemperancie shall passe away: infidelitie shalbe cut off: righteousnesse shall grow vp, and the veritie shall spring vp.

45 Then shall no man be able to saue him that is destroyed, nor oppresse him that hath gotten the victorie.

46 I answered then, and said, This is my first and last saying, that it had bene better not to haue giuen the earth vnto Adam, or when it was giuen him, to haue kept him that hee should not haue sinned.

47 For what profite is it for men in this present life to be in heauinesse, and after death to feare punishment?

48 O Adam, what hast thou done? * for in that that thou hast sinned, thou art not fallen alone, but the fall also redoundeth vnto vs that come of thee. *Rom.5.18.

49 For what profite is it vnto vs, if there bee promised an immortall life, when we do the works that bring death?

50 And that an euerlasting hope should be promised vs, seeing that we betyde our selues to deadly vanitie?

51 And that there should bee appointed vs dwellings of health and safetie, if we haue liued wickedly?

52 And that the glorie of the most High should be kept to defend them which haue led a patient life, if we haue walked in the wicked wayes?

53 And that an eternal Paradise should be shewed, whose fruite remaineth incorruptible, wherein is safetie and health, if we will not enter into it?

54 (For we haue bene conuersant in vnpleasant places)

55 And there the faces of them, which haue abstained, should shine more then starres, if our faces be blacker then darkenesse?

56 For while we liued, we did not remember when we did vnrighteously, that we should suffer after death.

57 Then answered he me, and said, This is the maner of the battell, which man, that is borne in the earth, shall fight, 58 That if he be ouercome, he should suffer as thou hast said: but if he get the victorie, he should receiue the thing that I said.

59 For this is the life, whereof Moyses spake vnto the people, while he liued, saying, *Chuse thee life, that thou mayest liue. *Deut.30.19.

60 Neuertheles, they beleeued him not, neither the Prophets after him, nor me also which haue said vnto them, 61 That heauinesse should not so be to their destruction, as ioy should come vnto them, to whome saluation is perswaded.

62 I answered them, and said, I knowe, Lorde, that the most High is called mercifull, in that hee hath mercie vpon them, which are not yet come to that world.

63 And that he hath pitie on those that walke in his Lawe,

64 And

*Rom.2.4. 64 And that *he is patient: for he long suffereth those that haue sinned as his creatures, 65 And that he is liberal: for he wil giue as much as needeth.

66 And that he is of great mercy: for hee ouercommeth in mercy those that are present, and that are past, and them which are to come.

67 For if he were not aboundant in his mercies, the worlde coulde not continue, nor they that haue the possession thereof.

68 Hee pardoneth also: for if he gaue not of his goodnesse, that they that haue done euill, might bee relieued from their wickednesse, the ten thousande part of men should not remaine aliue.

69 And if he, being iudge, forgaue not those that be healed with his worde, and tooke away the multitude of sinnes, 70 There should peraduenture be very few left in an innumerable multitude.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The number of the godly is small. 6 The workes of God are excellent. 20 Esdras prayeth for him and for his people. 39 The promise of saluation to the iust. 53 The destruction of the vniust.

AND he answered mee, saying, The most High made this worlde for many, but the worlde to come for fewe.

2 I will tel thee a similitude, O Esdras. As when thou askest the earth, it shall say vnto thee, that it giueth much earthly matter to make pottes, but litle dust that golde commeth of, so is it with the worke of this world.

*Matth.20.16. 3 *There be many created, but few shalbe saued.

4 Then answered I, and saide, Then swallowe vp the wit, O my soule, and deuoure vnderstanding.

5 For thou hast promised to heare, & thou wilt prophecie: for thou hast no longer space, but the life giuen thee.

6 O Lorde, if thou suffer not thy seruant, that we may intreate thee, that thou mayest giue seede vnto our heart, & prepare our vnderstanding, that there may come fruite of it, whereby euery one which is corrupt, may liue, who can set himselfe for man?

7 For thou art alone, and wee all are the workemanship of thine handes, as thou hast said.

8 For when the body is fashioned nowe in the wombe, and thou hast giuen it members, thy creature is preserued by fire and water, and the worke created by thee, doth suffer nine moneths the creature, which is fashioned in it.

9 But the thing that conteineth, and that which is conteined, shall both be preserued, and when time is come, the wombe, being preserued, deliuereth the things that grew in it.

10 For thou hast commanded the members, euen the breasts, to giue milke vnto the fruite appointed to the breastes, 11 That the thing, which is created, may be nourished for a time, til thou disposest it to thy mercie.

12 Thou bringest it vp with thy righteousnesse, nourturest it in thy lawe, and reformest it with thy iudgement.

13 Thou slayest it as thy creature, and giuest it life as thy worke.

14 Seeing then that thou destroyest him, which with so great labours is fashioned, it is an easie thing to appoint by thy commaundement, that the thing also which is made, might be preserued.

15 Now therefore, O Lord, I wil speake (as touching men in general thou shalt rather prouide) but concerning thy people, for whose sake I am sory, 16 And for thine inheritance for whose cause I mourne: for Israel, for whome I am wofull, and for Iacob, for whose sake I am grieued.

17 For them will I pray before thee, as well for my selfe, as for them: for I see our faults that dwell in the land.

18 ¶ But I haue heard the sudden comming of the iudge, which is to come.

19 Therefore heare my voyce, and vnderstande my wordes which I will speake before thee. The beginning of the wordes of Esdras, before hee was taken vp,

20 O Lorde, that liuest for euer, which beholdest from aboue that which is aboue, and in the ayre,

21 Whose throne is inestimable, and his glory incomprehensible, before whome the hoste of the Angels stand with trembling,

22 Whose keeping is turned in winde and fire, whose word is true, & sayings stedfast: whose commandement is strong, and gouernment terrible,

23 Whose looke drieth vp the depths, & wrath maketh the mountaines to melt away as the thing beareth witnesse.

24 Heare the prayer of thy seruant, and receiue into thine eares the petition of thy creature.

25 For while I liue, I wil speake, and so long as I haue vnderstanding, I will answere.

26 Looke not vpon the sinnes of thy people, rather then thy faithfull seruants.

27 Haue not respect vnto the wicked deedes of men, rather then to them that haue thy testimonies in afflictions.

28 Thinke not vpon those that haue walked fainedly before thee, but remember them that reuerence thy will.

29 Let it not be thy will to destroy them, which haue liued like beastes, but looke vpon them that haue clearely taught thy Lawe.

30 Take not displeasure with them, which appeare worse then beastes, but loue them that alway put their trust in thy righteousnesse and glory.

31 For wee and our fathers haue all the same sickenesse: but because of vs that are sinners, thou shalt be called mercifull.

32 If therefore thou wilt haue mercie vpon vs, thou shalt bee called mercifull towardes vs which haue no workes of righteousnesse.

33 For the righteous, which haue layde vp many good workes, let them receiue the rewarde of their owne deedes.

34 But what is man, that thou shouldest take displeasure at him? or what is this mortall generation, that thou shouldest be so grieued towards it?

35 *For verely there is no man among them that be borne, but hee hath done wickedly, nor any that doth confesse thee, which hath not done amisse. *1 King 8.46. 2.chro.6.36.

36 For in this, O Lord, thy righteousnes and thy goodnesse shalbe praised, if thou bee mercifull vnto them, which haue not the substance of good works.

37 ¶ Then answered hee mee, and sayde, Some things shalt thou spoken aright, and according vnto thy wordes it shall be.

38 For I will not verely consider the workes of them, before the death, before the iudgement, before destruction:

39 But *I will reioyce in the wayes of the righteous, and I wil remember the pilgrimage, the saluation and the reward that they shall haue. *Gen.4.4.

40 Like as I haue spoken nowe, so shall it come to passe.

41 For as the husbandman soweth much seede vpon the ground, and planteth many trees, and yet alway the thing that is sowen, commeth not vp in time, neither yet doth all that is planted, take roote: so neither shall they all that are brought into the world, be saued.

42 I answered then and sayde, If I haue founde grace, let me speake.

43 Like as the husbandmans seede perisheth, if it come not vp, and receiue not raine in due season, or if it be destroyed with too much raine:

44 So perisheth man, which is created with thine hands, and thou art called his paterne, because hee is created to thine image, for whose sake thou hast made all things, and likened him vnto the husbandmans seede.

45 Bee not wroth with vs, O Lorde, but spare thy people, and haue mercie vpon thine inheritance: for thou wilt be mercifull vnto thy creature.

46 Then answered hee me, and saide, The things present are for the present, and the things to come for such as be to come.

47 For thou art farre off that thou shouldest loue my creature aboue mee: but I haue oft times drawen neere vnto thee and vnto it, but neuer to the vnrighteous.

48 In this also thou art marueilous before the Highest:

49 In that thou hast humbled thy selfe, as it becommeth thee, and hast not iudged thy selfe worthy to boast thy selfe greatly among the righteous.

50 For many miseries & calamities remaine for them that shall liue in the latter time, because they shall walke in great pride.

51 But learne thou for thy selfe, and seeke out the glory for such as be like thee.

52 For vnto you is paradise opened: the tree of life is planted: the time to come is prepared, plenteousnesse made ready: the citie is builded, and rest is prepared, perfect goodnes and absolute wisdome.

53 The roote of euill is sealed vp from you: the weakenesse and moth is destroyed from you, and into hell fleeth corruption to be forgotten.

54 Sorowes are vanished away, and in the ende is shewed the treasure of immortalitie.

55 Therefore aske thou no more questions concerning the multitude of them that perish.

56 For when they had libertie, they despised the most High: they contemned his lawe and forsooke his wayes.

57 Moreouer, they haue troden downe his righteous,

*Psalme 14. 1. and 53. 1.

58 *Saying in their heart, that there was no God, though they knew that they should die.

59 For as the thing ý I haue spoken of, is made ready for you: so is thirst and paine prepared for them: for God would not that man should perish:

60 But they, after that they were created, haue defiled the Name of him ý made them, and are vnthankefull vnto him, which prepared life for them.

61 Therefore my iudgement is now at hand.

62 These things haue I not shewed vnto al men, but vnto thee, and to a few like thee: then I answered, and said, 63 Beholde now, O Lord: thou hast shewed me the many wonders, which thou hast determined to doe in the last time, but in what time, thou hast not shewed me.

CHAP. IX.

5 All things in this world haue a beginning and an ende. 10 Torments for the wicked after this life. 15 The number of the wicked is more then of the good. 29 The Iewes ingratitude. 36 Therefore they perish. 38 The vision of a woman lamenting.

HE answered mee then, and sayde, Measure the time with it selfe, and when thou seest that one part of the tokens come to passe, which I haue told thee before,

2 Then shalt thou vnderstand that it is the time wherein the most High will beginne to visite the world which he made.

3 Therefore when there shalbe seene an * earthquake in the world, and an vprore of the people, *Matth. 24. 7.

4 Then shalt thou vnderstande that the most High spake of those things from the daies that were before thee, euen from the beginning.

5 For all that is made in the worlde, hath a beginning and an ende, and the ende is manifest.

6 So the times also of the most High haue plaine beginnings in wonders, and signes, and ende in effect and miracles.

7 And euery one that shall escape safe, and shall be deliuered by his workes, and by the faith wherein ye haue beleeued,

8 Shalbe preserued from the said perils, and shall see my saluation in my lande, & within my borders: for I haue kept me holy from the world.

9 Then shall they haue pitie of themselues, which nowe haue abused my wayes: and they that haue cast them out despitefully, shal dwel in paines.

10 For such as in their life haue receiued benefites, and haue not knowen me,

11 But haue abhorred my lawe, while they were yet in libertie, and when they had yet leysure of amendment, and would not vnderstande but despised it,

12 They must bee taught it after death by paine.

13 And therefore bee thou no more carefull to knowe how the vngodly shall bee punished, but inquire howe the righteous shall be saued, and whose the world is, for whom it is, and when.

14 Then answered I, and said,

15 I haue afore said that which I say now & will speake it hereafter, that there be many moe of them which perish, then of them that shall be * saued, *Chap. 8. 3. matth. 20. 16.

16 As the flood is greater then a drop.

17 And he answered me, saying, As the field is, so is also the seed: as the flowers be, so are the colours also: such as the workman is such is the worke: and as the husbandman is, so is his husbandry: for it was the time of the world.

18 Surely when I prepared the world, which was not yet made for them to dwel in that now liue, no man spake against me.

19 For then euery one obeyed, but now the maners of them that are created in this worlde, that is made, are corrupted by a perpetuall seede and by a Lawe, whereout they cannot ridde themselues.

20 So I considered the world, and behold, there was perill, because of the deuises, that were sprung vp into it.

21 Yet when I sawe it, I spared it greatly, and haue kept mee one grape of the cluster, and a plant out of a great people.

22 Let therefore the multitude perish, which are borne in vaine: and let my grape bee kept, and my plant, which I haue dressed with great labour.

23 ¶ Neuertheless, if thou wilt cease seuen daies moe (but thou shalt not fast in them,

24 But shalt goe into a faire fielde, where no house is builded, and shalt eate onely of the floures of of the field, and eate no flesh, nor drinke wine, but the flowers onely, 25 And pray vnto the most High continually) then will I come, and talke with thee.

26 So I went my way, as he had commaunded me, into the fielde, which is called Ardath, and there I sate among the flowers, and did eate of the herbes of the field, and the meate of the same satisfied me.

27 And after seuen dayes, as I sate vpon the grasse, & mine heart was vexed within me, as afore,

28 I opened my mouth, and began to talke before the most High, and to say,

29 O Lord, when thou wouldest shewe thy selfe vnto vs, * thou declaredst thy selfe vnto our fathers in the wildernesse, in a place where no man dwelleth, in a barren place, when they came out of Egypt,

* Exod. 19. 9. and 24. 3. Deut. 4. 12.

30 And expressly spakest vnto them, saying, Heare me, O Israel, and marke my wordes, thou seede of Iacob.

31 For beholde, I sowe my Lawe in you, that it may bring foorth fruite in you, and that ye may be honoured by it for euer.

32 But our fathers, which receiued the Lawe, kept it not, neither obserued thine ordinances, neither did the fruite of the Lawe appeare, neither could it, for it was thine.

* Exod 32. 28.

33 * For they that receiued it, perished because they kept not the thing that was sowen in them.

34 And lo, it is a custome, when the ground receiueth seede, or the sea a ship, or a vessell meate and drinke, if that perish wherein a thing is sowen, or wherein any thing is put,

35 Likewise the thing that is sowen, or is put therein, and the things that are receiued, must perish: so the things that are receiued, do not remaine with vs: but in vs it commeth not so to passe.

36 For we that haue receiued the Lawe, perish in sinne, and our heart also which receiued it.

37 But the Law perisheth not, but remaineth in his force.

38 ¶ And when I spake these things in mine heart, I looked about me, & vpon the right side * I sawe a woman, which mourned sore, and lamented with a loud voyce, and was grieued in heart, and rent her clothes, and she had ashes vpon her head.

* Chap. 10. 44.

39 Then I left my thoughtes, wherein I was occupied, and turned me vnto her,

40 And said vnto her, Wherefore weepest thou? why art thou so sorie in minde?

41 And she said vnto me, Sir, let me alone, that I may bewaile my selfe, and increase in sorow: for I am sore vexed in my minde, and brought very low.

42 Then said I vnto her, What ayleth thee? tell me.

43 And shee said vnto me, I thy seruant haue bene barren, and haue had no childe, hauing a husband thirtie yeeres.

44 And euery houre, and euery day these thirtie yeeres I pray to the most High day and night.

45 And after thirtie yeres God heard me thine handmaid, & looked vpon my miserie, considered my trouble, and gaue me a sonne, and I was glad of him: so was mine husband also, and all they of my countrey, and we gaue great honour vnto the Almightie.

46 And I nourished him with great trauell.

47 So when he grewe vp, and came to take a wife, I made a feast.

CHAP. X.

Esdras and the woman that appeareth vnto him, commune together.

BVt when my sonne went into his chamber, hee fell downe, and dyed.

2 Then we all ouerthrewe the lightes, and all my neighbours rose vp to comfort me: so I rested vntill the second day at night.

3 And when they had all left off to comfort me, that I should be quiet, then I rose vp by night, and fled, and am come into this field as thou seest,

4 And am not purposed to returne into ỹ citie, but to remaine here, & neither to eate nor drinke, but continually to mourne and fast vntill I die.

5 Then left I my purpose wherein I was, and spake to her angerly, and said,

6 Thou foolish woman aboue all other, seest thou not our heauines, & what commeth vnto vs?

7 For Sion our mother is all wofull and is sore afflicted, and mourneth extremely.

8 Seeing we be all now in heauinesse, and make our mone, (for we be all sorowfull) art thou sorie for our sonne?

9 Demaund the earth, and shee shall tell thee that it is she which ought to mourne for the fall of so many that growe vpon her.

10 For from the beginning all men are borne of her, and other shall come, & behold, they walke almost all into destruction, and the multitude of them shall be destroyed.

11 Who should then rather mourne, shee that hath lost so great a multitude, or thou which art sorie but for one?

12 But if thou wouldest say vnto me, My mourning is not like the mourning of the earth, (for I haue lost the fruit of my wombe, which I brought foorth with heauinesse, and bare with sorowes, 13 But the earth is according to the maner of the earth, and the present multitude returneth into her as it came)

14 Then say I vnto thee, As thou hast borne with trauell, so the earth also from the beginning giueth her fruit vnto man, euen to him that laboured her.

15 Nowe therefore withholde thy sorowe in thy selfe, and beare constantly that which commeth vnto thee.

16 For if thou alloweſt Gods purpose, and receiuest his counsell in time, thou shalt be commended therein.

17 Goe thy way then into the citie to thine husband.

18 ¶ Then she said vnto me, I will not, I will not goe into the citie, but here will I die.

19 So I continued to speake more w̃ her, & said,

20 Doe not so, but be counselled: for how many falles hath Sion? Be of good comfort because of the sorow of Ierusalem.

21 For thou seest that our Sanctuarie is layde waste: our altar is broken downe: our temple is destroyed.

22 Our psalterion fainteth, & the song ceaseth, and our mirth is vanished away, and the light of our candlestieke is quenched, and the Arke of our couenant is taken away, and our holy things are defiled, and the Name that is called vpon ouer vs, is almost dishonoured, and our children are put to shame, and our Priestes are burnt, and our Leuites are caryed into captiuitie, and our virgins are defiled, and our wiues rauished, and our righteous men spoyled, and our children destroyed, and our yong men are brought in bondage, and our strong men are become weake,

23 And, which is the greatest of all, Sion the seale hath lost her worship: for she is deliuered into the hands of them that hate vs.

24 And therefore shake off thy great heauines, and put away the multitude of sorowes, that the Almightie may be mercifull vnto thee, and that the most High may giue thee rest and ease from thy labour.

25 And when I was talking with her, her face and beautie shined suddenly, and her countenance was bright, so that I was afraid of her, and mused what it might be.

26 And behold, immediatly she cast out a great voyce, very fearefull, so that the earth shooke at the noyse of the woman.

27 And I looked, and beholde, the woman appeared vnto me no more: but there was a citie builded, and a place was shewed from the ground and foundation. Then was I afrayd, and cryed with a loud voyce, and said,

* Chap. 5. 28 Where is Vriel the Angel * which came to me at the first? for he hath caused me to come into many and deepe considerations, and mine ende is turned into corruption, and my prayer to rebuke.

29 And as I was speaking these wordes, behold, he came vnto me, and looked vpon me.

30 And loe, I lay as one dead, and mine vnderstanding was altered, and he tooke me by the right hand and comforted me, and set me vpon my feete, and said vnto me, 31 What ayleth thee? and why is thine vnderstanding vexed? and the vnderstanding of thine heart? and wherefore art thou sorie?

* Chap. 5. 32 And I said, Because thou hast forsaken me, & I haue done * according vnto thy wordes: I went into the field, and there haue I seene things, and see that I am not able to expresse.

33 Then said he vnto me, Stand vp manly, and I will giue thee exhortation.

34 Then said I, Speake vnto me, my Lord, and forsake me not, least I die through rashnesse.

35 For I haue seene that I knewe not, and heare that I doe not knowe.

36 Or is mine vnderstanding deceiued, or doth my minde, being haut e, erre?

37 Now therefore I beseech thee that thou wilt shew thy seruant of this wonder.

38 Then he answered me, and said, Heare mee, and I will informe thee, and tell thee wherefore thou art afraid: for the most High hath reueiled many secret things vnto thee.

39 He hath seene thy good purpose that thou art sory continually for thy people, and makest great lamentation for Sion.

40 This therefore is the vnderstanding of the vision, which appeared vnto thee a litle while ago.

41 Thou sawest a woman mourning, and thou beganne st to comfort her:

42 But now seest thou the likenesse of the woman no more, but there appeared vnto thee a citie builded.

43 And whereas she tolde thee of the death of her sonne, this is the solution,

44 This woman, which thou sawest, she is Sion: and whereas she told thee (euen shee which thou seest now as a citie builded)

45 And as touching that shee sayde vnto thee, that she was barren thirtie yeeres, this was concerning that there was euen thirtie yeeres wherein there was no offering offered in her.

46 But after thirtie yeres, Salomon built the citie, & offered offerings: then bare the barren a sonne.

47 And whereas she told thee, ỹ she nourished him w̃ labour, that was the inhabiting of Ierusalem.

48 But whereas she tolde thee that her sonne, as his chance was, dyed when shee came into her chamber, that is the fall that is come to Ierusalem.

49 And when thou sawest her like one that mourned for her sonne, thou beganne st to comfort her: of these things which haue chanced these are to be opened vnto thee.

50 For now the most High seeth, that thou art sory in thy minde, and because thou suffere st with all thine heart for her, he shewed thee the clearenesse of her glory, & the faireneſſe of her beautie.

51 And therefore I bade thee remaine in the field where no house was built.

52 For I knew that the most High would shew these things vnto thee.

53 Therefore I commanded thee to goe into the field, where no foundation nor building is.

54 For the worke of mans building can not stand in that place where the city of the most High should be shewed.

55 And therefore feare not, neither let thine heart be afrayd, but go in, and see the beautie and greatneſſe of the building as much as thou art able to see with thine eyes.

56 And after this shalt thou heare, as much as thine eares may comprehend.

57 For thou art blessed aboue many, and art called with the most High among the few.

58 But to morow at night thou shalt remain here,

59 And the most High shall shew thee visions of high things, which the most High will doe vnto them that dwell vpon earth, in the last dayes. So I slept the same night and another as he had commanded me.

CHAP. XI.

1 The vision of an Egle comming forth of the sea, and of her feathers. 37 Of a lyon comming out of the forest.

THen sawe I a dreame, and beholde, there came vp from the sea an Egle, which had twelue feathered wings, and three heads.

2 And I sawe and behold, she spred her wings ouer all the earth, and all the windes of the ayre blew on her, and gathered themselues.

3 And I beheld, and out of her feathers grew out other contrary feathers, and they became litle feathers and small.

4 But her heads remained still, and the head in the middes was greater then the other heades, yet rested it with them.

5 Moreouer, I sawe that the Egle flewe with his feathers and reigned vpon earth, and ouer them that dwell therein.

6 And I saw that all things vnder heauen were subiect vnto her, and no man spake against her, no not one creature vpon earth.

7 I sawe also that the Egle stood vp vpon her clawes, and spake to her feathers, saying,

8 Watch not all together: sleepe euery one in his owne place, and watch by course.

9 But let the heads be preserued for the last.

10 Neuertheles, I saw that the voyce went not out of her heads, but from the middes of her body.

11 Then I numbred her contrary feathers, and behold, there were eight of them.

12 And

12 And I looked, and beholde vpon the right side there arose one feather, and reigned ouer all the earth.

13 And when it had reigned, the end of it came and the place thereof appeared no more. So the next stood vp, & reigned: it continued a long time.

14 And when it had reigned, the end of it came also, and as the first, so it appeared no more.

15 Then there came a voyce vnto it, and sayde,

16 Heare thou that hast kept the earth so long: this I say vnto thee, before thou beginnest to appeare no more,

17 There shall none after thee attaine vnto thy time, neither to the halfe thereof.

18 Then arose the third and reigned as the other afore, and it appeared no more also.

19 So came it to al ỹ others one after another, so that euery one reigned, & then appeared no more.

20 Then I looked, and beholde, in processe of time, the feathers ỹ followed, stood vp on the right side, that they might rule also, and some of them ruled, but within a while they appeared no more.

21 For some of them were set vp, but ruled not.

22 After this I looked, and beholde, the twelue feathers appeared no more, nor the two wings.

23 And there was no more vpon the egles body, but two heads that rested, and sixe wings.

24 Then saw I also that two wings diuided themselues from the sixe, and remained vnder the head, that was vpon the right side: for the foure continued in their place.

25 So I looked, and beholde, the vnderwings thought to set vp themselues, and to haue the rule.

26 Then was there one set vp, but shortly it appeared no more.

27 And the second were sooner gone then ỹ first.

28 Then I beheelde, and loe, the two that remained, thought also in themselues to reigne.

29 And when they so thought, beholde, there awaked one of the heads that were at rest, which was in the middest: for that was greater then the two.

30 And then I sawe, that the two heades were ioyned therewith.

31 And behold, the head was turned with them that were with it, and did eate vp the two vnderwings that would haue reigned.

32 But this head put the whole earth in feare & bare rule in it, ouer all those that dwelt vpon earth with much labour, and it had the gouernance of the world, more then all the wings that had bene.

33 After this I looked, and behold, the head that was in the middes suddenly appeared no more, as did the wings.

34 But the two heads remained, which also ruled likewise vpon earth, and ouer those ỹ dwelt therein.

35 And I beheld, and lo the head vpon the right side deuoured it that was vpon the left side.

36 ¶ Then I heard a voyce which said vnto me, Looke before thee, and consider the thing that thou seest.

37 So I sawe, and beholde as it were a lyon that roareth, running hastily out of the wood: and I saw that hee sent out a mans voyce vnto the egle, and spake, and said,

38 Heare thou, I will talke with thee, and the most High shall say vnto thee,

39 Art not thou that that of the foure beastes remainest, whome I made to reigne in my worlde, that by them the ende of times might come,

40 And the fourth is come, and hath ouercome all the beastes that were past, and hath power ouer the world with great fearefulnes, & ouer the whole compasse of the earth with most wicked oppression, and that dwelleth so long time in all the world with deceit?

41 For thou hast not iudged the earth ẅ trueth.

42 Seeing thou hast troubled the meeke, thou hast hurt the peaceable, and thou hast loued lyers, and destroyed the dwellings of them that brought foorth fruit, and hast cast downe the walles of such as did thee no harme.

43 Therefore is thy wrongfull dealing come vp vnto the most High, & thy pride vnto the Mighty.

44 The most High also hath looked vpon the proude times, and behold, they are ended, and their abominations are fulfilled.

45 Therefore appeare no more, thou egle, nor thine horrible wings, nor thy wicked feathers, nor thy malicious heads, and thy wicked clawes, nor all thy vaine body, 46 That all the earth may be refreshed, & come againe as one deliuered from thy violence, and that she may hope for the iudgement and mercy of him that made her.

CHAP. XII.

The declaration of the former visions.

AND when the lyon spake these wordes to the egle, I saw,

2 And beholde, the head that had the vpper hand, appeared no more, neither did ỹ foure wings appeare any more, that came to it, and set vp themselues to reigne, whose kingdome was smal and full of vproares.

3 And I sawe, and beholde, they appeared no more, and the whole body of the egle was burnt, so that the earth was in great feare. Then I awaked out of the trouble and traunce of my minde, and from the great feare, and said vnto my spirit.

4 Loe, this hast thou done vnto me in that thou searchest out the wayes of the most High.

5 Loe, yet am I weary in my minde, and very weake in my spirit, and litle strength is there in me, for the great feare that I receiued this night.

6 Therefore nowe I will beseech the most High that he will comfort me vnto the end.

7 And I sayde, O Lorde, Lorde, if I haue founde grace before thy sight, & if I am iustified with thee before many other, and if my prayer in deede bee come vp before thy face,

8 Comfort mee, and shewe mee thy seruant the interpretation and difference of this horrible sight, that thou mayest perfectly comfort my soule,

9 Seeing thou hast iudged mee worthy to shewe me the last times.

10 ¶ Then he said vnto me, This is the interpretation of this vision,

11 The egle, whome thou sawest come vp from the sea, is the *kingdome which was seene in the vision of thy brother Daniel. * Dan.7.7

12 But it was not expounded vnto him: therefore now I declare it vnto thee.

13 Beholde, the dayes come, that there shall rise vp a kingdome vpon the earth, and it shalbe feared aboue all kingdomes that were before it.

14 In it shall twelue Kings reigne one after another, 15 Whereof the second shall beginne to reigne, and shall haue more time then the twelue.

16 And this do the twelue wings signifie which thou sawest.

17 As for the voice which thou heardeſt ſpeake, and that thou ſaweſt not goe out from the heades, but from the middes of the body thereof, this is the interpretation,

18 That after the time of that kingdome there ſhall ariſe great ſtrife, and it ſhall bee in danger to fall, but it ſhall not then fall, but ſhall bee reſtored againe to his beginning.

19 Concerning the eight vnder-wings, which thou ſaweſt hang vnto her wings, this is the interpretation, 20 In him ſhall ariſe eight Kings, whoſe time ſhall be but ſmall, and their yeeres ſwift, and two of them ſhall periſh.

21 But when the mid time commeth, there ſhalbe foure kept a time, whiles his time beginneth to come, that it may be ended, but two ſhalbe kept vnto the ende.

22 And where as thou ſaweſt three heades reſting, this is the interpretation,

23 In his laſt dayes ſhal the moſt High rayſe vp three kingdomes, and ſhall call againe many things into them, and they ſhall haue the dominion of the earth,

24 And of thoſe that dwell therein, with much griefe aboue all thoſe that were before them: therefore are they called the heads of the egle.

25 For they ſhall accompliſh his wickedneſſe, and ſhall finiſh his laſt ende.

26 And whereas thou ſaweſt that the great head appeared no more, it ſignifieth that one of them ſhall die vpon his bed, and yet with paine.

27 For the two that remained, the ſworde ſhall deuoure them.

28 For the ſword of ỹ one, ſhal deuoure ỹ other: but at the laſt he ſhall fall by the ſword himſelfe.

29 And whereas thou ſaweſt two vnder-wings, that went off towarde the head, which was on the right ſide, this is the interpretation, 30 Theſe are they whome the moſt High hath preſerued for their ende, whoſe kingdome is litle, and full of trouble as thou ſaweſt.

31 And the lyon whome thou ſaweſt riſing vp out of the wood and roaring, and ſpeaking vnto the egle, and rebuking her for her vnrighteouſnes with all the wordes that thou haſt heard, 32 This is the winde which the moſt High hath kept for them, and for their wickedneſſe vnto the ende, and hee ſhall reprooue them, and caſt before them their ſpoyles.

33 For he ſhal ſet them aliue in the iudgement, and ſhall rebuke them and correct them.

34 For he will deliuer the reſidue of my people by affliction, which are preſerued vpon my borders, and he ſhall make them ioyfull, vntil the comming of the day of iudgement, whereof I haue ſpoken vnto thee from the beginning.

35 This is the dreame that thou ſaweſt, and theſe are the interpretations.

36 Thou onely haſt bene meete to knowe this ſecret of the moſt High.

37 Therefore write all theſe things that thou haſt ſeene in a booke and hide them, 38 And teach them the wiſe of the people, whoſe hearts thou knoweſt may comprehend and keepe theſe ſecrets.

39 But waite thou here yet ſeuen dayes mo, that it may bee ſhewed thee whatſoeuer it pleaſeth the moſt High to declare vnto thee: and with that hee went his way.

40 And when all the people perceiued, that the ſeuen dayes were paſt, and I not come againe into the citie, they gathered them all together, from the leaſt vnto the moſt, and came vnto mee, and ſpake vnto me, ſaying, 41 What haue we offended thee? or what euill haue wee done againſt thee, that thou forſaketh vs, and ſitteſt in this place?

42 For of all the people thou only art left vs as a grape of the vine, & as a candle in a darke place, and as an hauen or ſhip preſerued from the tempeſt.

43 Are not the euils which are come vnto vs, ſufficient?

44 If thou then forſake vs, how much better had it bene for vs, that we had bene burnt alſo as Sion was burnt?

45 For wee are no better then they that dyed there: and they wept with a loude voyce. Then anſwered I them, and ſaid, 46 Be of good comfort, O Iſrael, and be not heauie, thou houſe of Iaakob.

47 For the moſt High hath you in remembrance, and the Almightie hath not forgotten you in temptation.

48 As for mee I haue not forſaken you, neither am I departed frō you, but am come into this place to pray for the deſolation of Sion, that I might ſeeke mercie for the low eſtate of your Sanctuary.

49 And nowe goe your way home euery man, and after theſe dayes will I come vnto you.

50 So the people went their way into the citie, as I commanded them:

51 But I remained ſtill in the fielde ſeuen dayes, as he had commanded me, and did eate only of the flowers of the field, and had my meat of the herbes in thoſe dayes.

CHAP. XIII.

The viſion of a winde comming frōth of the ſea. 3 which became a man. 5 His propertie and power againſt his enemies. 21 The declaration of this viſion.

AND after the ſeuen dayes I dreamed a dreame by night.

2 And behold, there aroſe a winde from the ſea, and it mooued all the waues thereof.

3 And I looked, and beholde, there was a mightie man with the thouſands of heauen: and when he turned his countenance to looke, all the things trembled that were ſeene vnder him.

4 And when the voyce went out of his mouth, all they burned that heard his voyce, as the earth faileth when it feeleth the fire.

5 After theſe things I ſawe, and beholde, there was gathered together a multitude of men out of number, from the foure windes of the heauen, to fight againſt the man that came out from the ſea.

6 And I looked, and behold, he graued himſelfe a great mountaine, and flew vp vpon it.

7 But I would haue ſeene the countrey or place whereout the hill was grauen, and I could not.

8 I ſawe after theſe things, and beholde, all they which came to fight againſt him, were ſore afraide, and yet they durſt fight.

9 Neuertheleſſe, when hee ſawe the fierceneſſe of the multitude that came, hee lifted not vp his hand: for hee helde no ſworde nor any inſtrument of warre,

10 But onely, as I ſaw, he ſent out of his mouth, as it had bene a blaſt of fire, and out of his lips the winde of the flame, and out of his tongue hee caſt out ſparkes and ſtormes.

11 And

11 And they were all mixt together, euen this blast of fire, the winde of the flame, and the great storme, and fell with violence vpon the multitude, which was prepared to fight, and burnt them vp all, so that of the innumerable multitude there was nothing seene, but onely dust, and smell of smoke. When I saw this, I was afrayd.

12 ¶ Afterward saw I the same man come downe from the mountaine, and calling vnto him another peaceable multitude.

13 And there came many vnto him, some with ioyfull countenance, and some with sad: some of them were bound, and some brought of them that were offered: and I was sicke through great feare, and awaked, and sayd, 14 Thou hast shewed thy seruant these wonders from the beginning, and hast counted me woorthy to receiue my prayer.

15 Shew me now therefore the interpretation of this dreame.

16 For thus I consider in mine vnderstanding, woe vnto them that shall be left in those dayes, and much more woe vnto them that are not left behinde.

17 For they that were not left, were in heuinesse.

18 Now vnderstand I the things that are layed vp in the latter dayes, which shall come both vnto them, and to those that are left behinde.

19 Therefore are they come into great perils and many necessities, as these dreames declare.

20 Yet is it easier, that hee that is in danger, should fall into these, & foresee the things to come hereafter, then to passe away as a cloud out of the world.

21 ¶ Then answered he me, and said, The interpretation of the vision will I shew thee, and I will open to thee the thing that thou hast required.

22 Whereas thou hast spoken of them that are left behinde, this is the interpretation, 23 He that shall beare the danger in that time, hee shall keepe himselfe. They that be fallen into danger, are such as haue works and faith toward the most Mightie.

24 Know therefore, that they which be left behinde, are more blessed then they that be dead.

25 These are the meanings of the vision. Where as thou sawest a man comming vp from the mids of the sea, 26 The same is hee whom the most High hath kept a great season, who by his owne selfe shall deliuer his creature, and he shall order them that are left behinde.

27 ¶ And whereas thou sawest, that out of his mouth there came a blast with fire and storme,

28 And that he neither held sword nor weapon, but that by his fiercenesse he destroyed the whole multitude, that came to fight against him, this is the interpretation,

29 Beholde, the dayes come that the most High will begin to deliuer them that are vpon the earth:

30 And he shall astonish the hearts of them that dwell vpon the earth:

31 And one shall prepare to fight against another, citie against citie, and place against place, * & nation against nation, and realme against realme.

32 When this commeth to passe, then shall the tokens come, that I shewed thee before, and then shall my Sonne be reuealed, whom thou sawest goe vp as a man.

33 And when all the people heare his voice, euery man shall in their owne land leaue the battell that they haue one against another.

34 And an innumerable multitude shall be gathered as one, as they that be willing to come, and to fight against him.

35 But he shall stand vpon the toppe of mount Sion.

36 And Sion shall come, and shall be shewed to all, being prepared and builded, as thou sawest the hill grauen forth without any hands.

37 And this my Sonne shall rebuke the wicked inuentions of those nations, which for their wicked life are fallen into the tempest, 38 And into torments like to flame, whereby they shalbe tormented: and without any labour will he destroy them, euen by the Law, which is compared vnto the fire.

39 And whereas thou sawest that hee gathered another peaceable people vnto him, 40 Those are the ten tribes which were caried away captiues out of their owne land, * in the time of Oseas the King, whom Salmanasar the King of the Assyrians tooke captiue, and caried them beyond the riuer: so were they brought into another land.

41 But they tooke this counsell to themselues, that they would leaue the multitude of the heathen, and goe forth into a further countrey, where neuer mankinde dwelt,

42 That they might there keepe their statutes, which they neuer kept in their owne land.

43 And they entred in at the narrow passages of the riuer Euphrates.

44 For the most High then shewed them signes, * and stayed the springs of the flood till they were passed ouer.

45 For thorow the countrey there was a great iourney, euen of a yeere and an halfe, and the same region is called ‖ Arsareth.

46 Then dwelt they there vntill the latter time: and when they come foorth againe, 47 The most High shall holde stil the springs of the riuer againe that they may goe thorow: therefore sawest thou the multitude peaceable.

48 But they that be left behinde of thy people, are those that be found within my borders.

49 Now when hee destroyeth the multitude of the nations that are gathered together, he shall defend the people that remaine, 50 And then shall he shew great woonders vnto them.

51 Then sayd I, O Lord, Lord, shew me this, wherefore haue I seene the man comming vp from the middes of the sea?

52 And he sayd vnto me, As thou canst neither seeke out, nor know these things, that are in the deepe of the sea, so can no man vpon earth see my Sonne, or those that be with him, but in the time of that day.

53 This is the interpretation of the dreame which thou sawest, and whereby thou onely art lightened.

54 For thou hast forsaken thine owne Law, and applied thy diligence vnto mine, and sought it.

55 Thy life hast thou ordered in wisedome, and hast called vnderstanding thy mother.

56 Therefore haue I shewed thee the rewards with the most High: and after three other dayes I will speake other things vnto thee, and will declare clare vnto thee great and woonderous things.

57 Then went I forth vnto the field, glorifying and praising the most High for the wonders which he did in time, 58 Which he gouerneth, & such things as come in their seasons: and there I sate three dayes.

CHAP. XIIII.

3 How God appeared to Moses in the bush. 10 All things decline so age. 15 The latter times worse then the former. 29 The ingratitude of Israel. 35 The resurrection and iudgement.

VPon the third day I sate vnder an Oke, and beholde, there came forth a voyce vnto me out of the bush, and sayd, Esdras, Esdras.

2 And I sayd, Here am I, Lord, and stood vp vpon my feet.

Exod.3.2. 3 Then sayd he vnto me, * In the bush I reueiled my selfe, and spake vnto Moses, when my people serued in Egypt:

4 And I sent him, and led my people out of Egypt, and brought him vpon the mount Sinai, and I held him with me a long season,

5 And I tolde him many wonders, and shewed him the secrets of the times and the end, and commanded him, saying,

6 These words shalt thou declare, and these shalt thou hide.

7 And now I say vnto thee, that thou lay vp in thine heart the signes that I haue shewed, and the dreames that thou hast seene, and the interpretations which thou hast heard.

8 For thou shalt be taken away from all, & thou shalt remaine hencefoorth with my counsell, and with such as be like thee, vntill the times be ended.

9 For the world hath lost his youth, and the times begin to waxe olde.

10 For the world is diuided into twelue parts, and ten parts of it are gone already, and halfe of the tenth part.

11 And there remaineth that which is after the halfe of the tenth part.

12 Therefore set thine house in order, and reforme thy people, and comfort such of them as be in trouble, and now renounce the corruption.

13 Let goe from thee mortall thoughts: cast away from thee the burdens of men, & put off now the weake nature, 14 And set aside thy most grieuous thoughts, and haste thee to depart from these times.

15 For greater euils then those which thou hast seene now, shall they commit.

16 For the weaker that the world is by reason of age, the more shall the euils be increased vpon them that dwell therein.

17 For the trueth is fled farre away, and lies are at hand: for now hasteth the vision to come, that thou hast seene.

18 ¶ Then answered I, and sayd before thee,

19 Beholde, O Lord, I will go as thou hast commanded me, and reforme the people, which are present: but they that shall be borne afterward, who shall admonish them?

20 Thus the world is set in darkenesse, and they that dwell therein, are without light.

21 For thy Law is burnt, therefore no man knoweth the things that are done of thee, or the works that shalbe done.

22 But if I haue found grace before thee, send the holy Ghost into me, and I will write all that hath bene done in the world since the beginning, which was written in thy Law, that men may finde the path, and that they which will liue in the latter dayes, may liue.

23 And he answered me, saying, Go, and gather the people, and say vnto them, that they seeke thee not for fortie dayes,

24 But prepare thee many boxe tables, and take with thee these fiue, Sarea, Dabria, Selemia, Ecanus and Asiel, which are ready to write swiftly,

25 And come hither, and I will light a candle of vnderstanding in thine heart, which shall not be put out till the things be performed which thou shalt begin to write.

26 And then shalt thou declare some things openly vnto the perfit men, and some things shalt thou shew secretly vnto the wise: to morrow this houre shalt thou begin to write.

27 Then went I foorth, as he commanded me, and gathered all the people together, and sayd,

28 Heare these words, O Israel,

29 * Our fathers at the beginning were strangers in Egypt, from whence they were deliuered, *Gene.47.4.

30 And receiued the Law of life, * which they kept not, which ye also haue transgressed after the. *Act.7.53.

31 Then was the land, euen the land of Sion parted among you by lot: but your fathers and ye also haue done vnrighteously, & haue not kept the wayes which the most High commanded you.

32 And forsomuch as he is a righteous Iudge, he tooke from you in time the thing that he had giuen you.

33 And now are ye here, and your brethren among you.

34 Therefore if so be that you will subdue your owne vnderstanding, and reforme your heart, ye shall be kept aliue, and after death shall ye obteine mercie.

35 For after death shall the iudgement come, when we shall liue againe: and then shal the names of the righteous be manifest, and the works of the vngodly shalbe declared.

36 Let no man therefore come now vnto me, nor seeke me these fortie dayes.

37 So I tooke the fiue men, as he commanded me, and we went into the field, and remained there.

38 The next day, beholde, a voyce called mee, saying, Esdras, * open thy mouth, and drinke that I giue thee to drinke. *Ezech.3.2.

39 Then opened I my mouth, and beholde, he reached me a ful cup, which was full as it were with water: but the colour of it was like fire.

40 And I tooke it, and dranke, and when I had drunke it, mine heart had vnderstanding, and wisedome grew in my brest: for my spirit was strengthened in memorie, 41 And my mouth was opened, & shut no more.

42 The most High gaue vnderstanding vnto the fiue men, that they wrote the high things of the night, which they vnderstood not.

43 But in the night they did eate bread, but I spake by day, and held not my tongue by night.

44 In fortie dayes they wrote two hundred and foure books.

45 And when the fortie dayes were fulfilled, the most High spake, saying, The first that thou hast written, publish openly, that the woorthie and vnwoorthie may reade it.

46 But keepe the seuentie last, that thou mayest giue them to the wise among thy people.

47 For in them is the veine of vnderstanding, and and the fountaine of wisedome, and the riuer of knowledge: and I did so.

CHAP. XV.

The prophecie of Esdras is certaine. 5 The euils that shall come on the world. 9 The Lord will auenge the innocent bloo. 12 Egypt shall lament. 16 Sedition, 20 And punishment vpon the Kings of the earth. 24 Cursed are they that sinne. 29 Troubles and warres vpon the whole earth. 53 God is the reuenger of his elect.

BEholde, speake thou in the eares of my people the wordes of prophecie, which I wil put in thy mouth, saith the Lord:

2 And cause them to be written in a letter: for they are faithfull and true.

3 Feare not the imaginations against thee: let not the vnfaithfulnesse of the speakers trouble thee, that speake against thee.

4 For euery vnfaithfull shall die in his vnfaithfulnesse.

5 Beholde, saith the Lord, I will bring plagues vpon all the world, the sworde, famine, death, and destruction:

6 Because that iniquitie hath fully polluted all the earth, and their wicked workes are fulfilled.

7 Therefore, saith the Lord, I will holde my tongue no more for their wickednesse, (they doe vngodly) neither will I suffer them in the thinges that they doe wickedly.

* Reuel. 6.10. and 19.2.

8 Behold,* the innocent and righteous blood cryeth vnto me, and the soules of the iust crie continually.

9 I wil surely auenge them, saith the Lord, and receiue vnto me all the innocent blood from among them.

10 Beholde, my people is led as a flocke to the slaughter: I will not suffer them now to dwell in the land of Egypt.

11 But I will bring them out with a mightie hand, and a stretched out arme, and smite it with plagues, as afore, & wil destroy al the land thereof.

12 Egypt shall mourne, and the foundations thereof shall be smitten with the plague and punishment, that God shall bring vpon it.

13 The plowmen that till the ground, shall mourne: for their seedes shall faile through the blasting and haile, and by an horrible starre.

14 Woe to the worlde, and to them that dwell therein,

15 For the sword, and their destruction draweth neere, and one people shal stand vp to fight against another with swords in their hands.

16 For there shall bee sedition among men, and one shall inuade another: they shall not regarde their King, and the princes shall measure their doings by their power.

17 A man shal desire to go into a citie, and shal not be able.

18 Because of their pride the cities shalbe troubled, the houses shalbe afraide, men shall feare.

19 A man shall haue no pitie vpon his neighbour, but shall destroy their houses with the sword, and their goods shal be spoyled for lacke of bread, and because of great trouble.

20 Behold, saith God, I cal together al the kings of the earth to reuerence mee, which are from the East, and from the South, from the East, and from Libanus, to turne vpon them, and to repay the things that they haue done to them.

Or, West.

21 As they doe yet this day vnto my chosen, so will I doe also, and recompense them in their bosome: thus saith the Lord God.

22 My right hand shal not spare the sinners, neither shall the sworde cease from them, that shead innocent blood vpon earth.

23 The fire is gone out from his wrath, and hath consumed the foundations of the earth, & the sinners like the straw, that is kindled.

24 Woe to them that sinne, and keepe not my commandements, saith the Lord.

25 I will not spare them: depart, O children, from the power: defile not my Sanctuarie.

26 For the Lord knoweth all them that sinne against him, and therefore deliuereth hee them vnto death and destruction.

27 For nowe are the plagues come vpon the world, and yee shall remaine in them: for God will not deliuer you, because ye haue sinned against him.

28 Beholde, an horrible vision commeth from the East,

29 Where generations of Dragons of Arabia shall come out with many charets, and the multitude of them shall be caried as the winde vpon the earth, that all they which heare them, may feare and tremble.

30 Euen the Carmanians raging in wrath, shall go forth as the boares of the forest, and shall come with great power, and stand against them in battell, and shall destroy a portion of the land of the Assyrians.

31 But after this shall the dragons haue the vpper hand, and remember their nature, and shall turne about, and conspire to consume them with a great power.

32 Then these shall be troubled, and keepe silence by their power, and shall flee.

33 From the land of the Assyrians shall the enemie besiege them, & consume some of them, and in their hoste shall be feare and dread, and strife among their kings.

34 Beholde clouds from the East, and from the North vnto the South, & they are very horrible to looke vpon, full of wrath and storme.

35 They shal smite one vpon another: and they shall smite downe a great multitude of starres vpon the earth, euen their owne starre, & the blood shall be from the sword vnto the belly,

36 And the doung of man vnto the camels litter.

37 And there shalbe great fearefulnesse & trembling vpon earth, and they that see the wrath, shall be afrayd, and a trembling shall come vpon them.

38 And then there shall come great stormes from the South, and from the North, and part from the West.

39 And from the East shal windes arise and shal open it with the cloud, which he raised vp in wrath, and the starre, raised to feare the East and West winde, shalbe destroyed.

40 And the great and mightie clouds shall be lift vp full of wrath, and the starre, that they may make all the earth afrayd, & them that dwell therein, and that they may powre out ouer euery high place, and lifted vp, an horrible constellation,

41 As fire and haile, and flying swords, and many waters, that all fields may be full, and all riuers with the abundance of great waters.

42 And they shall breake downe the cities, and walles, and mountaines, and hilles, and the trees of the wood, and the grasse of the medowes, and their corne.

43 And they shall go with a streight course vnto Babylon, and make it afrayd.

44 They

44 They shall come to her, and besiege her, and shal powre forth the constellation, and al the wrath against her: then shall the dust and smoke goe vp vnto the heauen, and all they that be about her, shall bewayle her.

45 And they that remaine vnder her, shall doe seruice vnto them, that haue put her in feare.

46 ¶ And thou Asia, that art partaker of the hope of Babylon, and the glory of her person, 47 Woe vnto thee, O wretch, because thou hast made thy selfe like vnto her, and hast deckt thy daughters in whoredome, that they might please and glorie in thy louers, which haue alway desired to commit whoredome with thee.

48 Thou hast followed her that is hated in al her works, and in her inuentions: therefore saith God, 49 I will send plagues vpon thee, widowhood, pouertie, and famine, and the sword, and pestilence, to waste thine houses with destruction and death.

50 And the glorie of thy power shall be dryed vp, as a flower when the heate riseth, that is sent vpon thee.

51 Thou shalt be sicke as a poore wife that is plagued and beaten of women, so that the mightie and the louers shall not be able to receiue thee.

52 Would I thus hate thee, saith the Lord,

53 If thou hadst not alway slaine my chosen, exalting the stroke of thine handes, and saide ouer their death, when thou wast drunken,

54 Set foorth the beautie of thy countenance?

55 The reward of thy whoredome shalbe in thy bosome: therefore shalt thou receiue a reward.

56 As thou hast done vnto my chosen, saith the Lord, so will God doe vnto thee, and will deliuer thee vnto the plague.

57 And thy children shall die for hunger, and thou shalt fall by the sword, and thy cities shall be broken downe, and all thy men shall fall by the sword in the field.

58 And they that be in the mountaines shall die of hunger, and eate their owne flesh, and drinke their owne blood for want of bread, and thirst of water.

59 And thou, as vnhappie, shalt come thorowe the sea, and receiue plagues againe.

60 In the passage they shall cast down the slaine citie, and shall roote out one part of thy land, and consume the portion of thy glory, and shall returne to her that was destroyed.

61 When thou shalt bee cast downe, thou shalt be to them as stubble, & they shalbe to thee as fire.

62 And they shall destroy thee, and thy cities, thy land, and thy mountaines: all thy woods, and all thy fruitfull trees shall they burne with fire.

63 Thy children shall they cary away captiue, and shall spoyle thy substance, and marre the beautie of thy face.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Against Babylon, Asia, and Egypt, and Syria. 18. 38 Of the euils that shall come vpon the worlde, with admonition how to gouerne themselues in affliction. 54 To acknowledge their sinnes, and to commit themselues to the Lord, 55 Whose mightie prouidence and iustice is to be reuerenced.

WOe to thee, Babylon and Asia: woe to thee, Egypt and Syria.

2 Girde your selues with sacke and haircloth, and mourne your children, and bee sory: for your destruction is at hand.

3 A sworde is sent vnto you, and who will turne it backe? a fire is sent among you, and who will quench it?

4 Plagues are sent vnto you, and who can driue them away?

5 May any man driue away an hungry lyon in the wood? or quench the fire in the stubble when it hath once begun to burne? may one turne againe the arrowe, that is shot of a strong archer?

6 The mightie Lorde sendeth the plagues, and who can driue them away? the fire is gone foorth in his wrath, and who can quench it?

7 Hee shall cast lightnings, and who shall not feare? he shal thunder, and who shal not be afraid?

8 The Lorde shall threaten, and who shall not vtterly bee broken in pieces at his presence? the earth quaketh, and the foundation thereof: the sea ariseth vp with waues from the deepe, & the waues thereof are troubled, and the fishes thereof, before the Lord, and the glory of his power.

9 For strong is his right hande, that bendeth the bowe: his arrowes that he shooteth are sharpe, and shall not misse, when they begin to be shot into the endes of the world.

10 Beholde, the plagues are sent, and shall not turne againe, till they come vpon earth.

11 The fire is kindled, and shall not be put out, till it consume the foundations of the earth.

12 As an arrow which is shot of a mightie archer, returneth not backeward, so the plagues that shall be sent vpon earth, shall not turne againe.

13 Woe is me, woe is me: who will deliuer me in those dayes?

14 The beginning of sorowes and great mourning: the beginning of famine, and great death: the beginning of warres, and the powers shal feare: the beginning of euils, & all shall tremble. What shall I do in these things, when the plagues come?

15 Beholde, famine and plague, and trouble, and anguish are sent as scourges for amendment.

16 But for all these things they will not turne from their wickednesse, nor be alway mindefull of the scourges.

17 Beholde, vitailes shalbe so good cheape vpon earth, that they shall thinke themselues to be in good case: but then shall the euils bud foorth vpon earth, euen the sword, the famine and great confusion.

18 For many of them that dwell vpon earth, shall perish with famine, and the other that escape the famine, shall the sword destroy.

19 And the dead shalbe cast out as doung, and there shall be no man to comfort them: for the earth shalbe wasted, & the cities shalbe cast downe.

20 There shalbe no man left to till the earth, and to sowe it: the trees shall giue fruit, but who shall gather them?

21 The grapes shalbe ripe, but who shall tread the? for all places shalbe desolate, so that one man shall desire to see another, or to heare his voyce.

22 For of one citie there shalbe tenne left, and two of the field, which shall hide themselues in the thicke woods, and in the clefts of rocks.

23 As when there remaine three or foure oliues in the place where oliues grow, or among other trees,

24 Or as when a vineyard is gathered, there are left some grapes of them that diligently sought thorow the vineyard:

25 So in those dayes there shalbe three or foure left by them that search their houses with the sword.

26 And the earth shalbe left waste, and the fields thereof thereof shall waxe olde, and her wayes and all her pathes shall growe full of thornes, because no man shall trauell therethorow.

27 The virgins shall mourne, hauing no bridegromes: the women shall make lamentation, hauing no husbands: their daughters shall mourne, hauing no helpers.

28 In the warres shall their bridegromes be destroyed, & their husbands shal perish with famine.

29 But, yee seruants of the Lord, heare these things, and marke them.

30 Beholde the word of the Lord, receiue it: beleeue not the gods of whom the Lord speaketh: beholde, the plagues draw neere, and are not slacke.

31 As a trauailing woman which in the ninth moneth bringeth foorth her sonne, when the houre of birth is come, two or three houres afore ỹ paines come vpon her bodie, and when the childe commeth to the birth, they tarie not a whit:

32 So shall not the plagues be slacke to come vpon the earth, and the world shall mourne, and sorrowes shall come vpon it on euery side.

33 O my people, heare my word: make you ready to the battell, and in the troubles be euen as strangers vpon earth.

34 He that selleth, let him be as he that fleeth his way: and he that buyeth, as one that will lose.

35 Who so occupieth merchandise, as hee that winneth not: and he that buildeth, as he that shall not dwell therein:

36 He that soweth, as one that shall not reape: he that cutteth the vine, as he that shall not gather the grapes:

37 They that marrie, as they that shall get no children: and they that marrie not, so as the widdowes.

38 Therefore, they that labour, labour in vaine.

39 For strangers shall reape their fruits, and spoile their goods, and ouerthrow their houses, and take their children captiue: for in captiuitie and famine shall they get their children.

40 And they that occupie their merchandise with couetousnesse, the more they decke their cities, their houses, their possessions, and their owne persons, 31 So much more will I be angrie against them for their sinnes, saith the Lord.

42 As a whore enuieth an honest and vertuous woman,

43 So shall righteousnesse hate iniquitie, when she deckeith her selfe, and shall accuse her openly, when he shall come that shall bridle the authour of all sinne vpon earth.

44 And therefore be ye not like thereunto, nor to the works thereof: for or euer it be long, iniquitie shall be taken away out of the earth, and righteousnesse shall reigne among you.

45 Let not the sinner say, that he hath not sinned: for coales of fire shall burne vpon his head, which saith, I haue not sinned before the Lord God and his glorie.

*Luk.16.16. 46 Beholde, the Lord * knoweth all the works of men, their imaginations, their thoughts and their hearts.

*Gene.1.1. 47 * For assoone as hee sayd, Let the earth be made, it was made: let the heauen be made, and it was created.

48 By his word were the starres established, and he * knoweth the number of them. *Psal.147.4.

49 Hee searcheth the depth, and the treasures thereof: he hath measured the sea, and what it conteineth.

50 Hee hath shut the sea in the mids of the waters, and with his word hath he hanged the earth vpon the waters.

51 Hee spreadeth out the heauens like a vawt: vpon the waters hath he founded it.

52 In the desert hath he made springs of water, and pooles vpon the toppe of the mountaines, to powre out flouds from the high rocks to water the earth.

53 He made man, and put his heart in the mids of the body, and gaue him breath, life and vnderstanding.

54 And the Spirit of the almightie God, which made all things, & hath searched all the hid things in the secrets of the earth, 55 He knoweth your inuentions, and what yee imagine in your heart when yee sinne and would hide your sinnes.

56 Therefore hath the Lorde searched and sought out all your works, and will put you all to shame.

57 And when your sinnes are brought foorth before men, ye shalbe confounded, and your owne sinnes shall stand as your accusers in that day.

58 What will ye doe, or how will ye hide your sinnes before God and his Angels?

59 Beholde, God himselfe is the iudge: feare him: cease from your sinnes, and forget your iniquities, and meddle no more from henceforth with them: so shall God leade you foorth, and deliuer you from all trouble.

60 For beholde, the heart of a great multitude is kindled against you, and they shall take away certeine of you, and shall slay you for meat to the idoles.

61 And they that consent vnto them, shall be had in derision and in reproch, and troden vnder foot.

62 For in euery place and cities that are neere, there shall be great insurrection against those that feare the Lord.

63 They shall be like mad men: they shall spare none: they shall spoile, and waste such as yet feare the Lord.

64 For they then shall waste and spoyle their goods, and cast them out of their houses.

65 Then shall the triall of my chosen appeare, as the golde is tried by the fire.

66 Heare, O ye my beloued, saith the Lord: beholde, the dayes of trouble are at hand, but I will deliuer you from them: be not ye afrayd: doubt not, for God is your captaine.

67 Who so keepeth my commandements and precepts, sayth the Lord God, let not your sinnes weigh you downe, and let not your iniquities lift themselues vp.

68 Woe vnto them that are bound with their sinnes, and couered with their iniquities, as a field is hedged in with bushes, and the path thereof couered with thornes, whereby no man may trauell: it is shut vp, and is appointed to be deuoured with fire.

TOBIT.

CHAP. I.

1 Tobits parentage. 3 His godlinesse. 6 His equitie. 8 His charitie and prosperitie. 23 He fleeth, and his goods are confiscate. 25 and after restored.

Tobias being captiue among the Assyrians, did not leaue y way of trueth.

THE booke of the words of Tobit sonne of Tobiel, the sonne of Ananeel, the sonne of Aduel, the sonne of Gabael, of the seed of Asael, and of the tribe of Nepthalim,

2 Who in the time of ‖ Enemessar King of the Assyrians was * led away captiue out of Thisbe, which is at the right hand of that citie, which is called properly Nephthalim, in Galilee aboue Aser.

‖ Or, Salmanaser. *2. King. 17. 3.

Tobias was mercifull.

3 I Tobit haue walked all my life long in the way of trueth and iustice, and I did many things liberally to the brethren, which were of my nation, and came with me to Niniue into the land of the Assyrians.

4 And when I was in mine owne countrey in the land of Israel, being but yoong, all the tribe of Nephthalim my father fell from the house of Ierusalem, which was chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, that all the tribes should sacrifice there, where the Temple of the Tabernacle of the most High was consecrated and built vp for all ages.

*1. King. 12. 30. 5 * Now all the tribes which fell from God, yea, and my father Nepthalims house offered to the heifer called Baal.

He fled from idoles. *Exod. 12 29. deut. 12. 6.

6 But I (as it was ordeined to all Israel by an euerlasting decree) went alone often to Ierusalem, at the feasts * bringing the first fruits, and the tenth of beasts, with that which was first shorne, and offered them at the altar to the Priests the children of Aaron.

7 The first tenth part I gaue to the Priests the sonnes of Aaron, which ministred in Ierusalem: the other tenth part I solde, and came and bestowed it euery yere at Ierusalem.

8 The third tenth part I gaue vnto them to whō it was meet, as Debora my fathers mother had commanded me: for my father left me as a pupill.

He marrieth to wife Anna, which beareth him Tobiah. *Numb. 36. 7.

9 ¶ Furthermore, when I was come to the age of a man, I married Anna of * mine owne kindred, and of her I begate Tobias.

Genes 43 32.

10 ¶ But when I was led captiue to Ninive, all my brethren, and those which were of my kindred, did eate of the * bread of the Gentiles.

11 But I kept my selfe from eating.

12 Because I remembred God with all mine heart.

He found grace in the sight of Salmanasar.

13 Therefore the most high gaue me grace and fauour before Enemessar, so that I was his purueier,

‖ Or, sonne. ‖ Or, in Rages a citie of Media.

14 ¶ And I went into Media, & I deliuered ten talents of siluer to Gabael the ‖ brother of Gabrias ‖ in the land of Media.

‖ Or, Salmanasar. The charitie of Tobias.

15 But when Enemessar was dead, Sennacherib his sonne reigned in his stead: whose state because it was troubled, I could not goe into Media.

16 ¶ But in the time of ‖ Enemessar, I gaue many almes to my brethren, and I gaue my bread to them which were hungry, 17 And my clothes to the naked: and if I saw any of my kindred dead, or cast about the walles of Ninive I buried him.

*2. King. 19 35, 36 isai. 37. 36, 37. eccle. 48. 18, 12. 1. maccha. 7 41. 2. maccha. 8. 19.

18 And if the King Sennacherib had slaine any, when he was come and fled from Iudea, I buried them priuily (for in his wrath he killed many) but the bodies were not found when they were sought for of the King.

19 Therefore when a certeine Niniuite had accused me to the King, because I did burie them, I hid my selfe: and because I knew that I was sought to be slaine, I withdrew my selfe for feare.

Tobit flieth frō the face of Sennacherib.

20 Then all my goods were spoyled, neither was there any thing left me besides my wife Anna and my sonne Tobias.

21 Neuertheless * within fiue and fiftie dayes, two of his sonnes killed him, and they fled into the mountaines of Arrarath, & Sarchedonus his sonne reigned in his stead, who appointed ouer his fathers accounts and ouer all his domestical affaires Achiacharus my brother Anaels sonne.

*2. King. 19. 37. 2. chron. 32. 21.

22 And when Achiacharus had made a request for me, I came againe to Niniue: now Achiacharus was cupbearer and keeper of the signet, and steward, and ouersaw the accounts: so Sarchedonus appointed him next vnto him, and he was my brothers sonne.

Tobit returneth.

CHAP. II.

2 Tobit calleth the faithfull to his table. 3 He leaueth the feast to burie the dead. 10 How he became blinde. 13 His wife laboureth for her liuing. 14 She reproacheth him bitterly.

NOw when I was come home againe, & my wife Anna was restored vnto mee with my sonne Tobias, in the feast of Pentecost, which is the holy feast of the seuen weeks, there was a great dinner prepared me, in the which I sate downe to eate.

2 And when I saw abundance of meat, I sayd to my sonne, Goe, and bring what poore man soeuer thou shalt finde of our brethren which doth remember God, and loe, I will tarie for thee.

Tobit doeth bid to dinner those which feare God.

3 But he came againe, and sayd, Father, one of our nation is strangled, and is cast out in the market place.

4 Then before I had tasted any meat, I start vp, and brought him into mine house vntill the going downe of the sunne.

CHAP. III.

3 The prayer of Tobit. 7 Sara Raguels daughter, and the things that came vnto her. 12 Her prayer heard. 19 The Angell Raphael sent.

THen I, being sorowfull, did weepe, and in my sorow prayed, saying,

2 O Lord, thou art iust, and all thy works, and all thy wayes are mercie & trueth, and thou iudgest truely and iustly for euer.

3 Remember me, and looke on me, neither punish me according to my sinnes, or mine ignorances or my fathers, which haue sinned before thee.

4 For they haue not obeyed thy commaundements: wherefore thou hast deliuered vs* for a spoile, and vnto captiuitie, & to death, & for a prouerbe of a reproch to all them among whom we are dispersed, and now ‖ thou hast many & iust causes

*Deut.28.15.37.

‖ Or, thy iudgements are many and true.

5 To doe with me according to my sinnes, and my fathers, because we haue not kept thy cõmandemẽts, neither haue walked in trueth before thee.

6 Nowe therefore deale with me as seemeth best vnto thee, and command my spirit to be taken from me, that I may be dissolued, and become earth: for it is better for me to die then to liue, because I haue heard false reproches, and am very sorowfull: commaund therefore that I may be dissolued out of this distresse, and goe into the euerlasting place: turne not thy face away from me.

7 ¶ It came to passe the same day that in Ecbatane a citie of Media, Sarra the daughter of Raguel was also reproched by her fathers maydes, Sara is checked of her fathers maydes.

8 Because she had bene married to seuen husbands, whom Asmodeus the euill spirit had killed, before that they had lien with her. Doest thou not know, said they, that thou hast strangled thine husbands? thou hast had nowe seuen husbands, neyther wast thou named after any of them.

‖ Or, when she beat them for their faults they sayde.

9 Wherefore doest thou ‖ beate vs for them? if they be dead, goe thy wayes hence to them, that we may neuer see of thee either sonne or daughter.

10 When shee heard these things, shee was very sorowfull, so that she thought to haue strangled her selfe. And shee said, I am the onely daughter of my father, and if I doe this, I shall slander him, and shall bring his age to the graue with sorow.

Sara prayeth & fasteth, that she may be deliuered from shame.

11 Then shee prayed towarde the windowe, and said, Blessed art thou, O Lorde my God, and thine holy and glorious Name is blessed, and honourable for euer: let all thy workes praise thee for euer,

12 And nowe, O Lorde, I set mine eyes, and my face toward thee,

13 And say, Take me out of the earth, that I may heare no more any reproch.

The innocencie of Sarra.

14 Thou knowest, O Lord, that I am pure from all sinne with man,

Her chastitie.

15 And that I haue neuer polluted my name, nor the name of my father in the lande of my captiuitie: I am the onely daughter of my father, neither hath hee any manchilde to be his heire, neither any †neere kinsman or childe borne of him, to whom I may keepe my selfe for a wife: my seuen husbands are now dead, and why should I liue? But if it please not thee that I should die, commaund to looke on and to pitie me that I doe no more heare reproch.

The prayers of Tobit, and Sara are heard both at a time.

16 So the prayers of them both were heard before the maiestie of the great God.

17 And Raphael was sent to heale them both, that is, to take away the whitenes of Tobits eyes, and to giue Sarra the daughter of Raguel for a wife to Tobias the sonne of Tobit, and to binde Asmodeus the euill spirit, because shee belonged to Tobias by right. The selfe same time came Tobit home, and entred into his house, and Sarra the daughter of Raguel came downe from her chamber.

CHAP. IIII.

Precepts and exhortations of Tobit to his sonne.

IN that day Tobit remembred * the siluer, which hee had deliuered to Gabael in Rages a citie of Media,

*Chap.1.14.

2 And saide with himselfe, I haue wished for death: wherefore do I not call for my sonne Tobias that I may admonish him before I die?

Tobits exhortation to his sonne, when he thought hee should die.

3 And whē he had called him, he said, My sonne, after that I am dead, bury mee, and despise not thy mother, but *honour her all the dayes of thy life, and do that which shal please her, & anger her not.

The mother is to be reuerenced.

4 Remember, my sonne, how many dangers she susteined when thou wast in her wombe,

5 And when shee dieth, burie her by me in the same graue.

*Exod.20.12. eccle 7.27.

God must be in our hearts.

6 My sonne, set our Lord God alwayes before thine eyes, and let not thy will be set to sinne or to transgresse the commandements of God. Doe vprightly all thy life long, and follow not the wayes of vnrighteousnesse: for if thou deale truely, thy doings shall prosperously succeed to thee, and to all them which liue iustly.

Almes.

7 Giue * almes of thy substance: and when thou giuest almes, let not thine eye bee enuious, neither turne thy face from any poore, lest that God turne his face from thee.

8 *Giue almes according to thy substance if thou haue but a litle, be not afraid to giue a litle almes.

*Luke 14.13. eccle.35.10.

9 For thou layest vp a good store for thy selfe against the day of necessitie, 10 *Because that almes doth deliuer from death, and suffereth not to come into darkenesse.

*Eccle.29.13.

11 For almes is a good gift before the most High to all them which vse it.

Adulterie.

12 Beware of all * whoredome, my sonne, and chiefly take a wife of the seed of thy fathers, and take not a strange woman to wife which is not of thy fathers stocke: for wee are the children of the Prophets. Noe, Abraham, Isaac and Iacob are our fathers from the beginning. Remember my sonne, that they married wiues of their owne kindred, and were blessed in their children, and their seed shall inherit the land.

*1.Thes.4.3.

Pride.

13 Now therefore, my sonne, loue thy brethren, and despise not in thine heart thy brethren, the sonnes and daughters of thy people, in not taking a wife of them: for in pride is destruction, and much trouble, and in fiercenesse is scarcitie, and great pouertie: for ‖ fiercenesse is the mother of famine.

14 Let not the * wages of any man, which hath wrought for thee, tary with thee, but giue him it out of hand: for if thou serue God, he wil also pay thee: be circumspect, my sonne, in all things that thou doest, and be wel instructed in all thy conuersation.

17 ‖ Powre out thy bread on the buriall of the iust, but giue nothing to the wicked.

18 Aske counsell alway of the wise, and despise not any counsell that is profitable.

19 Blesse thy Lord God alway, and desire of him that thy wayes may be made streight, and that all thy purposes and counsels may prosper: for euery nation hath not counsell: but the Lord giueth all good things, and he humbleth whom he will, as he will: nowe therefore, my sonne, remember my commandements, neither let them at any time be put out of thy minde.

20 * Furthermore I signifie this to thee, that I deliuered ten talents to Gabael the sonne of Gabrias at Rages in Media.

21 And feare not, my sonne, forasmuch as wee are made poore: for thou hast many things, if thou feare God, and flee from all sinne, and do that thing which is acceptable vnto him.

CHAP. VI.

Tobias sent to Rages. 4 He meeteth with the Angel Raphael which did conduct him.

TObias then answered, and said, Father, I will do all things which thou hast commanded me.

2 But howe can I receiue the siluer, seeing I know him not?

3 Then he gaue him the hand writing, and said vnto him, Seeke thee a man, which may goe with thee, whiles I yet liue, and I will giue him wages, and goe and receiue the money.

4 Therefore when hee was gone to seeke a man, he found Raphael the Angel.

5 But he knewe not, and said vnto him, May I go with thee into the land of Media? and knoweest thou those places well?

6 To whom the Angel said, I wil go with thee: for I haue remained with our brother Gabael.

7 Then Tobias said to him, Tarie for me, till I tell my father.

8 Then he said vnto him, Go, and tarie not: so he went in, and saide to his father, Beholde, I haue found one, which will goe with me. Then he saide, Cal him vnto me, that I may know of what tribe he is, and whether he be faithfull to goe with thee.

9 So he called him, and he came in, and they saluted one another.

10 Then Tobit sayde vnto him, Brother, shewe me of what tribe and family thou art.

11 To whom he said, Doest thou seeke a stocke or family, or an hired man to goe with thy sonne? Then Tobit saide vnto him, I would know, brother, thy kindred and thy name.

12 Then he saide, I am of the kinred of Azarias and Ananias the great, and of thy brethren.

13 Then Tobit sayde, ‖ Thou art welcome, brother: be not now angry with me, because I haue enquired to knowe thy kinred, and thy family: for thou art my brother of an honest and good stocke: for I knowe Ananias and Ionathas, sonnes of that great Samaias: for wee went together to Ierusalem to worship, and offered the first borne, and the tenthes of the fruites, and they were not deceiued with the errour of our brethren: my brother, thou art of a great stocke.

14 But tell mee, What wages shall I giue thee? wilt thou a groate a day and things necessary, as to mine owne sonne?

15 Yea, moreouer if yee returne safe, I will adde some thing to the wages.

16 So they agreed. Then said he to Tobias, Prepare thy selfe for the iourney, and go you on Gods Name. And when his sonne had prepared all things for the iourney, his father sayd, Goe thou with this man, and God which dwelleth in heauen, prosper your iourney, & the Angel of God keepe you company. So they went foorth both and departed, and the dogge of the yong man with them.

17 But *Anna his mother wept, and saide to Tobit, Why hast thou sent away our sonne? is hee not the staffe of our hand to minister vnto vs?

18 Would to God we had not layed money vpon money, but that it had bene cast away in respect of our sonne.

19 For that which God hath giuen vs to liue with, doeth suffice vs.

20 Then said Tobit, Be not carefull, my sister: he shall returne in safetie, and thine eyes shall see him.

21 For the good Angel doeth keepe him company, and his iourney shall be prosperous, and hee shall returne safe.

22 Then she made an end of weeping.

CHAP. VI.

2 Tobias deliuered from the fish. 7 Raphael sheweth him certeine medicines. 10 He conducteth him toward Sarra.

AND as they went on their iourney, they came at night to the flood Tygris, and there abode.

2 And when the yoong man went to wash himselfe, a fish leaped out of the riuer, and would haue deuoured him.

3 Then the Angel said vnto him, Take the fish. And the yong man took the fish, & drew it to land.

4 To whom the Angel sayd, Cut the fish, and take the heart, and the liuer, and the gall, and put them vp surely.

5 So the yong man did, as the Angel commanded him: and when they had rosted the fish, they ate it: then they both went on their way, till they came to Ecbatane.

6 ¶ Then the yoong man sayd to the Angel, Brother Azarias, what auaileth the heart, and the liuer, and the gall of the fish?

7 And he sayd vnto him, Touching the heart, and the liuer, if a deuil or ad euil spirit trouble any, we must make a perfume of this before the man or the woman, and he shalbe no more vexed.

8 As for the gall, anoint a man that hath whitenesse in his eyes, and he shalbe healed.

9 ¶ And when they were come nere to Rages,

10 The Angel said to the yong man, Brother, to day we shall lodge with Raguel, who is thy cousin: he also hath one only daughter named Sarra: I will speake for her that she may be giue thee for a wife.

11 For to thee doth * the right of her perteine, seeing thou alone art the remnant of her kindred.

12 And the mayd is faire and wise: now therefore heare me, & I wil speake to her father, that we may make the mariage when we are returned from Rages: for I know that Raguel can not marrie her to another according to the law of Moyses: els he should deserue death, because the right doth rather apperteine to thee then to any other man.

13 Then the yoong man answered the Angell, I haue heard, brother Azarias, that this mayd hath bene giuen to seuen men, who all died in the marriage chamber.

14 And I am the onely begotten ſonne of my father, and I am afraid, leaſt I goe in to her, and die as the other before: for a wicked ſpirit loueth her, which hurteth no body but thoſe which come in to her: wherefore I alſo feare leſt I die, and bring my fathers and my mothers life becauſe of me to the graue with ſorowe: for they haue no other ſonne to burie them.

15 Then the Angel ſayd vnto him, Doeſt thou not remember the precepts which thy father gaue thee, that thou ſhouldeſt marrie a wife of thine owne kinred? wherefore heare me, O my brother: for ſhe ſhalbe thy wife, neither be thou carefull of the euill ſpirit: for this ſame night ſhall ſhee be giuen thee in marriage.

16 And when thou ſhalt goe into the marriage chamber, thou ſhalt take of the hote coles for perfumes, and make a perfume of the heart, and of the liuer of the fiſh.

17 Which if the ſpirit do ſmel, he will flee away, and neuer come againe any more: but when thou ſhalt come to her, riſe vp both of you, and pray to God which is merciful, who wil haue pitie on you, and ſaue you: feare not, for ſhe is appointed vnto thee from the beginning, and thou ſhalt keepe her, and ſhe ſhall goe with thee: Moreouer I ſuppoſe that ſhee ſhall beare thee children: now when Tobias had heard the things, hee loued her, and his heart was effectually ioyned to her.

CHAP. VII.

Tobias marrieth Sarra Raguels daughter.

Raphael and Tobias come to Raguel.

AND when they were come to Ecbatane, they came to the houſe of Raguel: and Sarra met them, and after they had ſaluted one another, ſhee brought them into the houſe.

2 Then ſaid Raguel to Edna his wife, Howe like is this yong man to Tobit my couſin!

3 And Raguel aſked, Whence are you, my brethren? To whome they ſaid that they were of the tribe of Nephthalim, & of the captiues that dwelt at Nineue.

4 Then he ſaid to them, Doe ye knowe Tobit our kinſman? And they ſaid, We know him. Then ſaid he, Is he in good health?

5 And they ſaid, He is both aliue, and in good health: and Tobias ſaid, He is my father.

6 Then Raguel leaped, & kiſſed him, & wept,

7 And bleſſed him, and ſaid vnto him, Thou art the ſonne of an honeſt and good man: but when he had heard that Tobit was blinde, he was ſorowfull and wept.

8 And likewiſe Edna his wife, and Sarra his daughter wept. Moreouer they receiued them with a ready minde, & after that they had killed a ram of the flocke, they ſet much meate on the table.

Tobias asketh Raguels daughter to wife.

Then ſaid Tobias to Raphael, Brother Azarias, put foorth thoſe thinges whereof thou ſpakeſt in the way, that this buſineſſe may be diſpatched.

9 So he communicated the matter with Raguel, and Raguel ſaid to Tobias, Eate, and drinke, and make merrie.

10 For it is meete that thou ſhouldeſt marrie my daughter: neuertheleſſe, I will declare vnto thee the trueth.

11 I haue giuen my daughter in marriage to ſeuen men, who dyed that night which they came in vnto her: neuertheleſſe, be thou of a good courage and merrie. But Tobias ſaid, I will eate nothing here, vntill ye bring her hither, and betrothe her to me.

12 Raguel ſaid then, Marrie her then according to the cuſtome: for thou art her couſin, and ſhee is thine. God which is merciful, make this proſperous to you in all good things.

Raguel giueth his daughter Sarra to Tobias.

13 Then he called his daughter Sarra, and ſhee came to her father, and he tooke her by the hand, and gaue her for wife to Tobias, ſaying, Beholde, take her after the * law of Moyſes, and leade her away to thy father: and he bleſſed them,

*Num. 36.6.

14 And called his wife Edna, and hee tooke a booke and wrote a contract, and ſealed it.

15 Then they began to eate.

16 After, Raguel called his wife Edna, and ſaid vnto her, Siſter, prepare another chamber, and bring her in thither.

17 Which when ſhe had done, as he had bidden her, ſhe brought her thither: then Sarra wept, and her mother wiped away her daughters teares, 18 And ſaid vnto her, Be of good comfort, my daughter: the Lord of heauen and earth giue thee ioy for this thy ſorowe: be of good comfort my daughter.

CHAP. VIII.

Tobias driueth away the euill ſpirit. 4 He prayeth to God with his wife. 11 Raguel prepareth a graue for his ſonne in lawe. Raguel bleſſeth the Lord.

AND when they had ſupped, they brought Tobias in vnto her.

2 And as he went, he remembred the wordes of Raphael, and tooke coles for perfumes, and put the heart and liuer of the fiſh thereupon, and made a perfume.

Tobias followeth Raphaels counſell, as Chap. 6.7.

3 The which ſmell when the euill ſpirite had ſmelled, he fled into the ‖ vtmoſt partes of Egypt, whom the Angel bound.

‖ Or, vpmoſt.

4 And after that they were both ſhut in, Tobias roſe out of the bed, and ſaid, Siſter, ariſe and let vs pray, that God would haue pitie on vs.

5 Then began Tobias to ſay, Bleſſed art thou, O God of our fathers, and bleſſed is thine holy and glorious Name for euer: let the heauens bleſſe thee, and all thy creatures.

Tobias prayer.

6 Thou madeſt Adam, and gaueſt him * Eua his wife for an helpe and ſtay: of them came mankinde: thou haſt ſaid, It is not good that man ſhould be alone: let vs make vnto him an ayde like vnto himſelfe.

*Gen. 2.7, 18, 22.

7 And nowe, O Lord, I take not this my ſiſter for fornication, but vprightly: therefore graunt me mercie, that we may become aged together.

8 And ſhe ſaid with him, Amen.

9 So they ſlept both that night, and Raguel aroſe, and went and made a graue,

Raguel thinking Tobias was dead, made a graue for him.

10 Saying, Is not he dead alſo?

11 But when Raguel was come into his houſe,

12 He ſaid to his wife Edna, Send one of the maides, and let them ſee whether he be aliue: if not, that I may burie him, and none know it.

13 So the maide opened the doore, and went in, and ſound them both aſleepe.

14 And came forth, & told them that he was aliue.

15 Then Raguel praiſed God, and ſaid, O God, thou art worthy to bee praiſed with all pure and holy praiſe: therefore let thy Saintes praiſe thee with all thy creatures, and let all thine Angels and thine elect praiſe thee for euer.

Raguel prayſeth God for Tobias.

16 Thou art to be praiſed, O Lord: for thou haſt made me ioyfull, and that is not come to mee which I ſuſpected: but thou haſt dealt with vs according to great mercie, 17 Thou art to be praised because thou hast had mercie of two that were ỹ only begotten children of their fathers: graunt them mercie, O Lord, and finish their life in health with ioy and mercie.

18 Then Raguel bade his seruants to fil ỹ graue.

19 And hee kept the wedding feast fourteene dayes.

20 For Raguel had said vnto him by an othe, that he should not depart before that the fourteene dayes of the marriage were expired, Raguel giueth halfe of his goods toward the marriage of his daughter.

21 And then he should take the halfe of his goods and returne in safetie to his father, & should leaue the rest, when he and his wife were dead.

CHAP. IX.

Raphael leadeth Gabael to Tobias marriage.

THen Tobias called Raphael, and sayd vnto him,

2 Brother Azarias, take with thee a seruant and two camels, and goe to Rages of the Medes to Gabael, and bring me the money, and bring him to the wedding.

3 For Raguel hath sworne that I shall not depart.

Tobias care for his sonne. The Angel goeth on Tobias message.

4 But my father counteth the dayes: and if I tarie long, he will be very sorie.

5 So Raphael went out & came to Gabael, & gaue him the hand writing, who brought foorth bags which were sealed vp, and gaue them to him.

6 And in the morning they went foorth, both together, and came to the wedding. And Tobias begate his wife with childe.

CHAP. X.

NOw Tobit his father counted euery day, and when the dayes of the iourney were expired, and they came not,

The father and mother are in heauinesse for Tobias tarying.

2 Tobit said, are they not mocked? or is not Gabael dead, and there is no man to giue him the money?

3 Therefore he was very sorie.

4 Then his wife said to him, My sonne is dead, seeing he tarieth: and she began to *bewaile him, and said,

* Chap. 5. 17.

5 Nowe I care for nothing, my sonne, since I haue lost thee the light of mine eyes.

6 To whom Tobit said, Hold thy peace: be not carefull, for he is safe.

7 But she said, Hold thy peace, & deceiue me not: my sonne is dead: & she went out euery day by the way, which they went, neither did she eate meate on the day time, and did consume whole nightes in bewailing her sonne Tobias, vntill the fourteene dayes of ỹ wedding were expired, which Raguel had sworne, that he should tary there. Then Tobias said to Raguel, Let me goe: for my father and my mother looke no more to see me.

8 But his father in lawe said vnto him, Tarie with mee, and I will send to thy father, and they shall declare him thine affaires.

9 But Tobias said, No, but let me goe to my father.

Raguel giueth Tobias and his wife leaue to depart.

10 Then Raguel arose, and gaue him Sarra his wife, and halfe his goods, as seruants, and cattell, and money, 11 And he blessed them, and sent them away, saying, The God of heauen make you, my children, to prosper before I die.

Sarra is instructed by her parents.

12 And he said to his daughter, Honour thy father, and thy mother in lawe which are nowe thy parents, that I may heare good report of thee: and hee kissed them. Edna also said to Tobias, The Lord of heauen restore thee, my deare brother, and graunt that I may see thy children of my daughter Sarra, that I may reioyce before the Lord. Behold nowe, I commit to thee my daughter, as a pledge: doe not entreat her euill.

CHAP. XI.

1 The returne of Tobias to his father. 9 How he was receiued. 10 His father hath his sight restored, and praiseth the Lord.

AFter these things Tobias went his way, praysing God that he had giuen him a prosperous iourney, and blessed Raguel and Edna his wife, and went on his way till he drew neere to Nineue.

2 Then Raphael said to Tobias, Thou knowest, brother, how thou diddest leaue thy father.

The Angels counsell to Tobias.

3 Let vs haste before thy wife, and prepare the house,

4 And take in thine hand the gall of the fish. So they went their way, and the dog followed them.

5 Now Anna sate in the way looking for her sonne,

6 Whome when she saw comming, she said to his father, Behold, thy sonne commeth, and the man that went with him.

7 Then said Raphael, I know, Tobias, that thy father shall receiue his sight.

8 Therefore anoint his eyes with the gall, and being pricked therewith, he shall rubbe and make the whitenesse to fall away, and shall see thee.

9 ¶ Then Anna ranne foorth, and fell on the necke of her sonne, and said vnto him, Seeing I haue seene thee, my sonne, from hencefoorth I am content to die, and they wept both.

10 Tobit also went foorth toward the doore, and stumbled, but his sonne ranne vnto him, 11 And tooke hold of his father, and sprinkled of the gall on his fathers eyes, saying, Bee of good hope, my father.

12 And when his eyes began to pricke, he rubbed them.

13 And the whitenesse pilled away from the corners of his eyes, and when he saw his sonne, hee fell vpon his necke,

14 And he wept and said, Blessed art thou, O Lord, and blessed be thy Name for euer, and blessed be all thine holy Angels.

15 For thou hast scourged me, and hast had pitie on me: for behold, I see my sonne Tobias: and his sonne, being glad, went in, and tolde his father the great things that had come to passe in Media.

16 Then Tobit went out to meete his daughter in law, reioycing and praising God to the gate of Nineue: and they which saw him goe, marueiled, because he had receiued his sight.

17 But Tobit testified before them all, that God had had pitie on him. And when he came neere to Sarra his daughter in lawe, he blessed her, saying, thou art welcome, daughter: God be blessed, which hath brought thee vnto vs, and blessed be thy father: and there was great ioy among all his brethren which were at Nineue.

18 And Achiacharus and Nasbas his brothers sonne came.

19 And Tobias marriage was kept seuen dayes with great ioy.

THen Tobit called his sonne Tobias, & said vnto him, Prouide, my sonne, wages for the man, which went with thee, & thou must giue him more.

2 And he sayde vnto him, O father, it shall not grieue mee to giue him halfe of those things which I haue brought.

3 For he hath brought me againe to thee in safetie, & hath made whole my wife, and hath brought me the money, and hath likewise healed thee.

4 Then the olde man sayd, It is due vnto him.

5 So hee called the Angel, and sayde vnto him, Take halfe of all that yee haue brought, and goe away in safety.

6 But he tooke them both apart, and sayde vnto them, Prayse God, and confesse him, and giue him the glory, and praise him for the things which hee hath done vnto you before all them that liue. It is good to praise God, and to exalt his Name, and to shew forth his euident workes with honour: therefore be not weary to confesse him.

7 It is good to keepe close the secrets of a King, but it is honorable to reueile the works of God: do that which is good, and no euil shall touch you.

8 Prayer is good with fasting, and almes, and righteousnesse. A litle with righteousnesse is better then much with vnrighteousnes: it is better to giue almes, then to lay vp golde.

9 For almes doth deliuer from death, and doeth purge al sinne. Those which exercise almes & righteousnesse, shalbe filled with life.

10 But they that sinne, are enemies to their owne life.

11 Surely I will keepe close nothing from you: neuertheless, I saide it was good to keepe close the secret of a king, but that it was honourable to reueile the workes of God.

12 Nowe therefore when thou diddest pray, and Sarra thy daughter in lawe, I did bring to memory your prayer before the Holy one: and when thou diddest bury the dead, I was with thee likewise.

He that wil be acceptable to God, must be proued with tentation.

13 And when thou wast not grieued to rise vp, and leaue thy dinner to bury the dead, thy good deede was not hid from me: But I was with thee.

14 And nowe God hath sent mee to heale thee, and Sarra thy daughter in lawe.

15 I am Raphael one of the seuen holy Angels, which present the prayers of the Saints, and which goe foorth before his holy Maiestie.

16 Then they were both troubled, and fell vpon their face: for they feared.

17 But he saide vnto them, Feare not, for it shall goe well with you: praise God therefore.

18 For I came not of mine owne pleasure, but by the good wil of your God: wherefore praise him in all ages.

*Gen. 18. 8. and 19. 3. iudg. 13. 16.

19 *Al these dayes I did appeare vnto you, but I did neither eat nor drinke, but you saw it in vision.

20 Now therefore giue God thanks: for I go vp to him that sent mee: but write all things which are done, in a booke.

21 And when they rose, they saw him no more.

22 Then they confessed the great and wonderfull works of God, and how the Angel of the Lord had appeared to them.

CHAP. XIII.

A thanke-giuing of Tobit, who exhorteth all to praise the Lord.

THen Tobit wrote a prayer of reioycing, and said, Blessed bee God that liueth for euer, and blessed be his kingdome.

*Deut. 32. 39. 1. sam. 2. 6. Wisd. 16. 13.

2 *For hee doeth scourge, and hath pitie: hee leadeth to hel, and bringeth vp, neither is there any that can auoyde his hand.

3 Confesse him before the Gentiles, ye children of Israel: for he hath scattered you among them.

4 There declare his greatnesse, and extoll him before al the liuing: for he is our Lord, & our God, and our father for euer.

5 Hee hath scourged vs for our iniquities, and wil haue mercy againe, and will gather vs out of all nations, among whom we are scattered.

6 If you turne to him with your whole heart, and with your whole minde, & deale vprightly before him, then wil hee turne vnto you, and will not hide his face from you, but ye shall see what he will doe with you: therefore confesse him with your whole mouth, & praise the Lord of righteousnes, & extol the euerlasting King. I wil confesse him in the land of my captiuitie, and wil declare his power and greatnesse to a sinful nation. O ye sinners, turne and do iustice before him: who can tel if he wil receiue you to mercy, and haue pitie on you?

7 I wil extoll my God, and my soule shall praise the king of heauen, & shal reioyce in his greatnesse.

8 Let all men speake, and let all praise him for his righteousnesse.

9 O Ierusalem the holy citie, he wil scourge thee for thy childrens workes, but hee will haue pitie againe on the sonnes of righteous men.

10 Giue praise to the Lorde duely, and praise the euerlasting King, that his tabernacle may bee builded in thee againe with ioy: and let him make ioyful there in thee those that are captiues, and loue in thee for euer those that be miserable.

11 Many nations shall come from farre to the Name of the Lorde God, with gifts in their handes, euen gifts to the King of heauen: all generations shall praise thee, and giue signes of ioy.

12 Cursed are al they, which hate thee: but blessed are they for euer which loue thee.

13 Reioyce, and bee glad for the children of the iust: for they shalbe gathered, and shall blesse the Lord of the iust.

14 Blessed are they which loue thee: for they shall reioyce in thy peace. Blessed are they which haue bene sorowfull for all thy scourges: for they shal reioyce for thee, when they shal see all thy glory, and shal reioyce for euer.

15 Let my soule blesse God the great King.

16 For Ierusalem shalbe built vp with sapphires, and emerauds, and thy walles with precious stones, and thy towers, and thy bulwarkes with pure gold.

17 And the streetes of Ierusalem shall bee paued with beral, and carbuncle, and stones of ‖Ophir.

‖Or, Souphir.

18 And her streetes shall say, ‖Halleluiah, and they shall praise him, saying, Blessed be God which hath extolled ‖it for euer.

‖Or, praise ye the Lord.

‖That is, Ierusalem.

CHAP. XIIII.

3 Lessons of Tobit to his sonne. 4 He prophecieth the destruction of Nineue, 5 And the restoring of Ierusalem and the Temple. 13 The death of Tobit and his wife. 14 Tobias age and death.

SO Tobit made an ende of praysing God.

2 And he was eight and fifty yeere old, when hee lost his sight, which was restored to him after eight yeere, and he gaue almes, and he continued to feare the Lord God, and to praise him.

3 And when hee was very aged, hee called his sonne, & sixe of his sonnes sonnes, and said to him, My sonne, take thy children (for behold, I am aged, and am ready to depart out of this life)

4 Go into Media, my ſonne: for I ſurely beleeue thoſe things which Ionas the Prophet ſpake of Nineue, that it ſhalbe deſtroyed, and for a time peace ſhall rather be in Media, and that our brethren ſhall be ſcattered in the earth from that good land, & Ieruſalem ſhall bee deſolate, and the Houſe of God in it ſhall be burned, and ſhalbe deſolate for a time.

5 Yet againe God * will haue pitie on them, and bring them againe into the lande where they ſhall builde a Temple, but not like to the firſt, vntill the times of that age be fulfilled, which being finiſhed, they ſhall returne from euery place out of captiuitie, and build vp Ieruſalem gloriouſly, & the Houſe of God ſhall bee built in it for euer with a glorious building, as the Prophets haue ſpoken thereof.

* Ezra 3.8. and 6.14.

6 And all nations ſhall turne, and feare the Lord God truely, and ſhall bury their idoles.

7 So ſhall all nations praiſe the Lorde, and his people ſhall confeſſe God, and the Lord ſhall exalt his people, and all thoſe which loue the Lorde in trueth and iuſtice, ſhal reioyce, and thoſe alſo which ſhew mercie to our brethren.

8 And nowe, my ſonne, depart out of Nineue, becauſe that thoſe things which the Prophet Ionas ſpake, ſhall ſurely come to paſſe.

9 But keepe thou the Lawe, and the commaundements, and ſhewe thy ſelfe mercifull and iuſt, that it may goe well with thee.

10 And burie me honeſtly, and thy mother with me: but tarie no longer at Nineue. Remember, my ſonne, howe Aman handled Achiacharus ỹ brought him vp, how out of light he brought him into darknes, and how he rewarded him againe: yet Achiacharus was ſaued, but the other had his rewarde: for he went downe into darknes. Manaſſes gaue almes, and eſcaped the ſnare of death, which they had ſet for him, but Aman fell into the ſnare and periſhed.

11 Whereforenowe, my ſonne, conſider what almes doeth, and how righteouſneſſe doeth deliuer. When hee had ſayde theſe things, ‖ he gaue vp the ghoſt in the bed, being an hundreth and eight and fiftie yeere olde, and he buried him honourably.

‖ Or, his ſonne buried him in the bed.

12 And when Anna was dead, he buried her with his father: but Tobias went with his wife and children to Ecbatane to Raguel his father in lawe.

13 Where he became olde with honour, and he buried his father & mother in law honourably, and he inherited their ſubſtance and Tobits his father.

14 And hee died at Ecbatane in Media, being an hundreth and ſeuen and twentie yeere old.

15 But before hee died, hee heard of the deſtruction of Nineue, which was taken by Nabuchodonoſor and Aſſuerus, and before his death hee reioyced for Nineue.

IVDETH.

CHAP. I.

2 The building of Ecbatane. 5 Nabuchodonoſor made warre againſt Arphaxad, and ouercame him. 12 Hee threatneth them that would not helpe him.

IN the twelfth yeere of the reigne of Nabuchodonoſor, who reigned in Nineue the great citie (in the dayes of Arphaxad, which reigned ouer the Medes in Ecbatane,

2 And built in Ecbatane the wals round about, of hewen ſtone, three cubites broad, and ſixe cubits long, and made the height of the wal ſeuentie cubits, and the bredth thereof fiftie cubits,

3 And made the towers thereof in the gates of it of an hundreth cubites, and the bredth thereof in the foundation threeſcore cubits,

4 And made the gates thereof, euen gates that were lifted vp on hie, ſeuenty cubits, and the bredth of them fourty cubits, for ỹ going forth of his mighty armies, & for the ſetting in aray of his footemen)

5 Euen in thoſe dayes, King Nabuchodonoſor made warre with King Arphaxad in the great field, which is the field in the coaſtes of Ragau.

6 Then came vnto him all they that dwelt in the mountaines, and all that dwelt by Euphrates, and Tygris and Hydaſpes, and the countrey of Arioch the King of the Elymeans, and very many nations aſſembled themſelues to the battell of the ſonnes of Chelod.

7 And Nabuchodonoſor King of the Aſſyrians ſent vnto all that dwelt in Perſia, and to all that dwelt in the Weſt, and to thoſe that dwelt in Cilicia, and Damaſcus, and Libanus, and Antilibanus, and to all that dwelt vpon the ſea coaſt,

8 And to the people that are in Carmel, and Galaad, and the hier Galile, and the great fielde of Eſdrelam,

9 And to all, that were in Samaria, and the cities therof, & beyond Iordē vnto Ieruſalem, & Betane, and Chellus, and Cades, and the riuer of Egypt, and Taphnes, and Rameſſe, and all the land of Geſem, 10 Vnto one come to Tanis, and Memphis, and to all the inhabitants of Egypt, and to one come to the mountaines of Ethiopia.

11 But all the inhabitants of this countrey did not paſſe for the cōmandement of Nabuchodonoſor King of the Aſſyrians, neither would they come with him to the battell: for they did not feare him: yea, he was before them as one man: therefore they ſent away his ambaſſadours from them without effect, and with diſhonour.

12 Therefore Nabuchodonoſor was very angry with all this countrey, and ſware by his throne and kingdome that he would ſurely be auenged vpon all thoſe coaſtes of Cilicia and Damaſcus, and Syria, and that he would ſlay with the ſword al the inhabitants of the land of Moab, and the children of Ammon, and all Iudea, and all that were in Egypt, till one come to the borders of the two ſeas.

13 Then hee marched in battell aray with his power againſt King Arphaxad, in the ſeuenteenth yere, & he preuailed in his battel: for he ouerthrew all the power of Arphaxad, and all his horſmen, and all his chariots.

14 And he wanne his cities, and came vnto Ecbatane, and tooke the towers, and ſpoyled the ſtreetes thereof, and turned the beautie thereof into ſhame.

15 Hee tooke alſo Arphaxad in the mountaines of Ragau, and ſmote him through with his dartes, and deſtroyed him vtterly that day.

16 So he returned afterward to Nineue, both he and al his company with a very great multitude of men of warre, and there he paſſed the time, and banqueted, both hee, and his armie an hundreth and twentie dayes.

CHAP. II.

5 Nabuchodonoſor commaunded preſumptuouſly that all people ſhoulde be brought in ſubiection, 6 And to deſtroy thoſe that diſobeyed him. 15 The preparation of Holofernes armie. 23 The conqueſt of his enemies.

AND in the eighteenth yeere, the two and twentieth day of the first moneth, there was talke in the house of Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians, that he should auenge himselfe on all the earth, as he had spoken.

2 So he called vnto him all the officers and al his nobles, and communicated with them his secret counsell, and set before them with his owne mouth all the malice of the earth.

3 Then they decreed to destroy all flesh, that had not obeyed the commandement of his mouth.

4 And when he had ended his counsell, Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians called Olofernes his chiefe captaine, and which was next vnto him, and said vnto him,

5 Thus saith the great King, the lord of the whole earth, Behold, thou shalt go forth from my presence, and take with thee men that trust in their owne strength, of footemen, an hundreth and twentie thousand, and the number of horses with their riders, twelue thousand,

6 And thou shalt go against all the West countrey, because they disobeyed my commandement.

7 And thou shalt declare vnto them, that they prepare for me the land and the water: for I will go forth in my wrath against them, and will couer the whole face of the earth with the feete of mine armie, and I will giue them as a spoile vnto them,

8 So that their wounded shall fill their valleyes, and their riuers, and the flood shall ouerflow, being filled with their dead.

9 And I will bring their captiuitie to the vtmost partes of all the earth.

10 Thou therefore shalt depart hence, and take vp for me all their countrey: and if they yeeld vnto thee, thou shalt reserue them for me vntill the day that I rebuke them.

11 But concerning them that rebell, let not thine eye spare them, but put them to death, and spoyle them whersoeuer thou goest.

12 For as I liue, & the power of my kingdome, whatsoeuer I haue spoken, ỹ wil I do by mine hand.

13 And take thou heede that thou transgresse not any of the commandements of thy lorde, but accomplish them fully, as I haue commanded thee, and deferre not to doe them.

14 ¶ Then Olofernes went forth from the presence of his lord, and called all the gouernours, and captaines, and officers of the armie of Assur,

15 And he mustred the chosen men for the battell, as his lord had commanded him, vnto an hundreth and twentie thousand, and twelue thousand archers on horsebacke.

16 And he set them in aray according to the maner of setting a great armie in aray.

17 And he tooke camels and asses for their burdens a very great number, and sheepe, and oxen, and goates without number for their prouision.

18 And vitaile for euery man of the armie, and very much gold and siluer out of the Kings house.

19 Then he went foorth and his power, to go before in the viage of king Nabuchodonosor, and to couer all the face of the earth Westward, with their charets, and horsemen, and chosen footemen.

20 A great multitude also of sundry sorts came with them like grashoppers, and lik the grauell of the earth: for the multitude was without number.

21 And they went forth of Nineue three dayes iourney toward the countrey of Bectileth, and pitched from Bectileth neere the mountaine which is at the left hand of the vpper Cilicia.

22 Then he tooke all his armie, his footemen and horsemen, and charets, and went from thence into the mountaines, 23 And he destroyed Phud and Lud, and spoyled all the children of Rasses, and the children of Ismael, which were toward the wildernesse at the South of the Chelians.

24 Then hee went ouer Euphrates, and went through Mesopotamia, and destroyed all the hie cities that were vpon the riuer of Arbonai, vntil one come to the sea.

25 And he tooke the borders of Cilicia, and destroyed all that resisted him, and came to the borders of Iapheth, which were toward the South and ouer against Arabia.

26 He compassed also all the children of Madian, and burnt vp their tabernacles, and spoyled their lodges, 27 Then he went downe into the countrey of Damascus, in the time of wheat haruest, and burnt vp all their fieldes, and destroyed their flockes and the heards: he robbed their citie, and spoyled their countrey, and smote all their yong men with the edge of the sword.

28 Therefore feare and trembling came vpon all the inhabitants of the sea coast, which were in Sidon & Tyrus, and them that dwelt in Sur and Ocina, and all that dwelt in Iemnaan: and they that dwelt in Azotus, and Ascalon feared him greatly.

CHAP. III.

The people subiect to Olofernes. 8 He destroyed their gods that Nabuchodonosor might onely be worshipped.

SO they sent ambassadours to him with messages of peace, saying,

2 Behold, we are the seruants of Nabuchodonosor the great King: we lie downe before thee: vse vs as shall be good in thy sight.

3 Behold, our houses and all our places, and all our fieldes of wheate, and our flockes, and our heardes, and all our lodges and tabernacles lye before thy face: vse them as it pleaseth thee.

4 Beholde, euen our cities and the inhabitants thereof are thy seruants: come, and take them, as seemeth good to thee.

5 ¶ So the men came to Olofernes, and declared vnto them after this maner.

6 Then came he downe toward the sea coast, both he and his armie, and set garisons in the hie cities, and tooke out of them chosen men for the warre.

7 So they and all the countrey round about receiued them, with crownes, with daunces, and with timbrels.

8 Yet he brake downe all their borders, & cut down their woods: for it was inioyned him to destroy all the gods of the land, that all nations should worship Nabuchodonosor onely, & that all tongues and tribes should call vpon him as God.

9 Also he came against Esdraelon, neere vnto Iudea, ouer against the great straite of Iudea,

10 And he pitched betweene Geba, and a citie of the Scythians, & there he tayed a moneth, that he might assemble all the baggage of his armie.

CHAP. IIII.

The Israelites were afraid and defended their countrey. 6 Ioacim the Priest writeth to Bethulie, that they should fortifie themselues. 9 They cryed to the Lord, and humbled themselues before him.

of Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians had done to the nations, and howe he had spoyled all their temples, and brought them to nought.

2 Therefore they feared greatly his presence, and were troubled for Ierusalem, and for the Temple of the Lord their God.

3 For they were newly returned from the captiuitie, and of late all the people was assembled in Iudea, and the vessels and the altar of the house had bene sanctified because of the pollution.

4 Therefore they sent into all the coastes of Samaria, and the villages, and to Bethoro, and Belmen, and Iericho, and to Choba, and Esora, and to the valley of Salem,

5 And tooke all the toppes of the hie mountaines, and walled the villages that were in them, and put in vitailes for the prouision of warre: for their fieldes were of late reaped.

6 Also Ioacim the hie Priest which was in those daies in Ierusalem, wrote to them that dwelt in Bethulia and Betomestham, which is ouer against Esdraelon toward ỹ open coūtrey neere to Dathaim,

7 Exhorting them to keepe the passages of the mountaines: for by them there was an entrie into Iudea, and it was easie to let them that would come vp, because the passage was straite for two men at the most.

8 And the children of Israel did as Ioacim the hie Priest had commanded them with the Ancients of all the people of Israel, which dwelt at Ierusalē.

9 Then cryed euery man of Israel to God with great feruency, & their soules with great affliction.

10 Both they, and their wiues, and their children, and their cattell, and euery stranger, and hireling, and their bought seruants put sackecloth vpon their loynes.

11 Thus euery man and woman, and the children, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem fell before the Temple, and sprinkled ashes vpon their heads, and spred out their sackecloth before the face of the Lord: also they put sackecloth about the altar,

12 And cryed to the God of Israel, all with one consent most earnestly, that hee would not giue their children for a pray, and their wiues for a spoyle, and the cities of their inheritance to destruction, and the Sanctuarie to pollution & reproch, and vnto derision to the heathen.

13 So God heard their prayers, and looked vpon their affliction: for the people fasted many dayes in all Iudea and Ierusalem before the Sanctuarie of the Lod Almightie.

14 And Ioacim the high Priest, and all the Priests that stood before the Lord, & ministred vnto the Lord had their loynes girt with sackecloth, and offered the continual burnt offring, with prayers and the free giftes of the people,

15 And had ashes on their mytres, and cried vnto the Lord with all their power for grace, and that he would looke vpon all the house of Israel.

CHAP. V.

Achior the Ammonite doth declare to Olofernes of the maner of the Israelites.

THen was it declared to Olofernes the chiefe captaine of the armie of Assur, that the children of Israel had prepared for warre, and had shut the passiges of the mountaines, and had walled all the toppes of the hie hilles, and had laid impediments in the champion countrey.

2 Wherewith he was very angry, and called al the princes of Moab, and the captaines of Ammon, and all the gouernours of the sea coast.

3 And he said vnto them, Shewe me, O yee sonnes of Chanaan, who is this people that dwelleth in the mountaines? and what are the cities that they inhabite? and what is the multitude of their armie? and wherein is their strength & their power? and what King or captaine is raised among them ouer their armie?

4 And why haue they determined not to come to meete me, more then all the inhabitants of the West?

5 ¶ Then *said Achior the captaine of all the sonnes of Ammon, Let my lord heare ỹ word of the mouth of his seruant, & I wil declare vnto thee the trueth concerning this people, that dwell in these mountaines, neere where thou remainest: and there shall no lie come out of the mouth of thy seruant. *Chap.11.7,8.

6 This people come of the stocke of the Chaldeans.

7 And * they dwelt before in Mesopotamia, because they would not followe the gods of their fathers, which were in the land of Chaldea. *Gene.11.31.

8 But they went out of the way of their aunce-sters and worshipped the God of heauen, the God whom they knew: so they cast them out from the face of their gods, and they fled into Mesopotamia, and sojourned there many dayes.

9 Then * their God commanded them to depart from the place where they sojourned, and to goe into the land of Chanaan, where they dwelt, and were increased with golde and siluer, and with very much cattell. *Gene.12.5.

10 But when a famine couered all the lande of Chanaan, they went downe into Egypt, and dwelt there till they returned, and became there a great multitude, so ỹ one could not number their linage.

11 * Therefore the king of Egypt rose vp against them, and vsed deceite against them, and brought them lowe with labouring in bricke, and made them slaues. *Exod.1.8.

12 Then they cryed vnto their God, and he smote al the land of Egypt with incurable plagues: so the * Egyptians cast them out of their sight. *Exod.12.31,33.

13 And * God dried the red sea in their presence, *Exod.14.21.

14 And * brought them into mount Sina and Cades barne, and cast foorth all that dwelt in the wildernesse. *Exod.19.2.

15 So they dwelt in the lande of the Amorites, and they destroyed by their strength all them of Esebon, and passing ouer Iordan, they inherited all the mountaines.

16 And they * cast forth before them the Chanaanites, and the Pheresites, and the Iebusites, and them of Sichem, and all the Gergesites, and they dwelt in that countrey many dayes. *Iosh.12.8.

17 And whiles they sinned not before their God, they prospered, because the God that hated iniquitie was with them,

18 But * when they departed from the way which he appointed them, they were destroyed in many battels after a wonderfull sort, * and were led captiues into a land that was not theirs: & the Temple of their God was cast to the ground, and their cities were taken by the enemies. * Iudg.2.12. and 3.8. *2.King.25.1,11.

19 But * nowe they are turned to their God, and are come vp from the scattering wherein they were scattered, & haue possessed Ierusalem, where their Temple is, & dwell in the mountaines which were desolate. * Ezra 6.15.

there bee any fault in this people, so that they haue sinned against their God, let vs consider that this shall be their ruine, and let vs goe vp, and wee shall ouercome them.

21 But if there be none iniquitie in this people, let my lorde passe by, least their Lord defend them, and their God be for them, and wee become a reproch before all the world.

22 ¶ And when Achior had finished these sayings, all the people, standing round about the tent, murmured: and the chiefe men of Olofernes, and al that dwelt by the sea side and in Moab, spake that he should kill him.

23 For, say they, we feare not to meete the children of Israel: for loe, it is a people that haue no strength nor power against a mightie armie.

24 Let vs therefore goe vp, O lorde Olofernes, and they shalbe meate for thy whole armie.

CHAP. VI.

Olofernes blasphemeth God whom Achior confesseth. 14 Achior is deliuered into the handes of them of Bethulia. 18 The Bethulians cry vnto the Lord.

AND when the tumult of the men that were about the councill, was ceased, Olofernes, the chiefe captaine of the armie of Assur, said vnto Achior before al the people of the strangers, and before all the children of Moab, and of them that were hired of Ephraim,

2 Because thou hast prophecied among vs to day, and hast said that the people of Ierusalem is able to fight,* because their God will defend them: and who is God but Nabuchodonosor?

*Chap. 5. 5. 21.

3 Hee will send his power, and wil destroy them from the face of the earth, and their God shall not deliuer them: but we his seruants wil destroy them as one man: for they are not able to susteine the power of our horses.

4 For we wil tread them vnder feete with them, and their mountaines shall bee drunken with their blood, and their fields shalbe filled with their dead bodies, and their foote steps shall not bee able to stand before vs: but they shall vtterly perish.

5 The King Nabuchodonosor, lord of all the earth, hath sayde, euen hee hath sayde, None of my wordes shall be in vaine.

6 And thou Achior an hireling of Ammon, because thou hast spoken these wordes in the day of thine iniquitie, thou shalt see my face no more from this day vntil I take vengeance of that people that is come out of Egypt.

7 And then shall the yron of mine armie, and the multitude of them that serue mee, passe through thy sides, & thou shalt fall among their slaine, when I shall put them to flight.

8 And my seruants shall carry thee into the mountaines, and they shall leaue thee at one of the hie cities: but thou shalt not perish, till thou bee destroyed with them.

9 And if thou perswade thy selfe in thy minde, that they shall not bee taken, let not thy countenance fall: I haue spoken it, and none of my words shalbe in vaine.

10 Then commaunded Olofernes them concerning Achior, that they should bring him to Bethulia, and deliuer him into the handes of the children of Israel.

11 So his seruants tooke him, and brought him out of the campe into the plaine: and they went out from the middest of the plaine into the mountains, and came vnto the fountaines that were vnder Bethulia.

12 And when the men of the city saw them from the top of the mountaine, they tooke their armour, and went forth of the city vnto ỹ top of the mountaine, euen al the throwers with slings, & kept them from comming vp, by casting stones against them.

13 But they went priuily vnder the hill, and bound Achior, and left him lying at the foote of the hill, and returned to their lord.

14 Then the Israelites came downe from their citie, and stoode about him, and loosed him and brought him into Bethulia, and presented him to the gouernours of their citie,

15 Which were in those dayes Ozias the sonne of Micha, of ỹ tribe of Simeon, & Chabris the sonne of Gothoniel, and Charmis the sonne of Melchiel.

16 And they called together al the Ancients of the citie, and all their youth ranne together, and their women to the assembly: and they set Achior in the middest of al their people. Then Ozias asked him of that which was done.

17 And hee answered and declared vnto them the wordes of the counsel of Olofernes, and all the wordes that he had spoken in the mids of the princes of Assur, and whatsoeuer Olofernes had spoken proudly against the house of Israel.

18 Then the people fell downe and worshipped God, and cryed vnto God, saying,

19 O Lord God of heauen, behold their pride, and haue mercy on the basenesse of our people, and behold this day the face of those that are sanctified vnto thee.

20 Then they comforted Achior, and praysed him greatly.

21 And Ozias tooke him out of ỹ assembly into his house, and made a feast to the elders, and they called on the God of Israel all that night for helpe.

CHAP. VII.

1 Olofernes doeth besiege Bethulia. 8 The counsell of the Idumeans and others against the Israelites. 23 The Bethulians murmure against their gouernours for lacke of water.

THE next day, Olofernes commanded all his armie and all his people, which were come to take his part, that they shoulde remoone their campes against Bethulia, and that they should take all the streites of the hill, and to make warre against the children of Israel.

2 Then their strong men remoued their campes in that day, and the armie of the men of warre was an hundreth thousande and seuentie footemen, and twelue thousand horsemen, beside the baggage and other men that were afoote among them, a very great multitude.

3 And they camped in the plaine neere vnto Bethulia, by the fountaine, and they spred abroade towarde Dothaim vnto Belbaim, and in length from Bethulia vnto Ciamon, which is ouer against Esdraelom.

4 Nowe the children of Israel, when they sawe the multitude, were greatly troubled, and said euery one to his neighbour, Now wil they shut vp all the whole earth: for neither the hie mountaines nor the valleys, nor the hils are able ro abide their burden.

5 Then euery one tooke his weapons of warre, and burning fires in their towers, they remained and watched all that night.

6 But in the seconde day, Olofernes brought foorth all his horsemen in the sight of the children of Israel, which were in Bethulia,

7 And viewed the paſſages vp to their city, and came to the fountaines of their waters, and tooke them and ſet gariſons of men of warre ouer them, and remooued toward his people.

8 Then came vnto him al the chiefe of the children of Eſau, & al the gouernours of the people of Moab, and all the captaines of the ſea coaſt, & ſaid, 9 Let our captaine nowe heare a worde, leaſt an inconuenience come in thine armie.

10 For this people of the children of Iſrael doe not truſt in their ſpeares, but in the height of the mountaines, wherein they dwell, becauſe it is not eaſie to come vp to the tops of their mountaines.

11 Nowe therefore my lorde, fight not againſt them in battell aray, and there ſhall not ſo much as one man of thy people periſh.

12 Remaine in thy campe, and keepe al the men of thine armie, and let the men keepe ſtill the water of the countrey, that commeth foorth at the foote of the mountaine.

13 For al the inhabitants of Bethulia haue their water thereof: ſo ſhall thirſt kill them, and they ſhall giue vp their citie: and we and our people wil goe vp to the toppes of the mountaines that are neere, and will campe vpon them, and watch that none goe out of the citie.

14 So they and their wiues, and their children ſhalbe cõſumed with famine, and before the ſword come againſt them, they ſhall bee ouerthrowen in the ſtreetes where they dwel.

15 Thus ſhalt thou render them an euil reward, becauſe they rebelled and obeyed not thy perſon peaceably.

16 And theſe words pleaſed Olofernes & all his ſouldiers, & he appointed to do as they had ſpoken.

17 So the campe of the children of Ammon departed, and with them fiue thouſand of the Aſſyrians, and they pitched in the valley, and tooke the waters, & the fountaines of the waters of the children of Iſrael.

18 Then the children of Eſau went vp with the children of Ammon, & camped in the mountaines ouer againſt Dothaim, and they ſent ſome of them ſelues toward the South, and toward the Eaſt, ouer againſt Rebel, which is neere vnto Chuſi, that is vpon the riuer Mochmur: and the reſt of the armie of the Aſſyrians camped in the field, and couered the whole lande: for their tents and their baggage were pitched in a wonderful great place.

19 Then the children of Iſrael cryed vnto the Lord their God, becauſe their heart fayled: for all their enemies had compaſſed them about, and there was no way to eſcape out from among them.

20 Thus all the company of Aſſur remained about them, both their footemen, chariots and horſmen foure and thirtie dayes: ſo that euen all the places of their waters failed all the inhabitants of Bethulia.

21 And the ciſternes were emptie, and they had not water ynough to drinke for one day: for they gaue them to drinke by meaſure.

22 Therefore their children ſwooned, and their wiues and yong men failed for thirſt, & fell downe in the ſtreetes of the citie, and by the paſſages of the gates, and there was no ſtrength in them.

23 Then all the people aſſembled to Ozias, and to the chiefe of the citie, both yong men and women, and children, and cryed with a loude voyce, and ſaid before all the Elders, 24 The* Lorde iudge betweene vs and you: for you haue done vs great iniurie, in that ye haue not required peace of the children of Aſſur.

*Exod. 5.21.

25 For nowe we haue no helper: but God hath ſold vs into their hands, that ſhe ſhould be throwen down before them with thirſt & great deſtruction.

26 Now therefore call them together, and deliuer the whole citie for a ſpoyle to the people of Olofernes, and to all his armie.

27 For it is better for vs to bee made a ſpoyle vnto them, then to die for thirſt: for we will be his ſeruants that wee may liue, and not ſee the death of our infants before our eyes, nor our wiues, nor our children to die.

28 Wee take to witneſſe againſt you the heauen and the earth, and our God and Lorde of our fathers, which puniſheth vs, according to our ſinnes and the ſinnes of our fathers, that hee lay not theſe things to our charge.

29 Then there was a great cry of all with one conſent in the middeſt of the aſſembly, and they cryed vnto the Lord God with a loude voyce.

30 Then ſaide Ozias to them, Brethren, be of good courage: let vs waite yet fiue dayes, in the which ſpace the Lord out God may turne his mercie toward vs: for he wil not forſake vs in the end.

31 And if theſe dayes paſſe, and there come not helpe vnto vs, I wil doe according to your worde.

32 So hee ſeparated the people, euery one vnto their charge, and they went vnto the walles and towers of their citie, and ſent their wiues and their children into their houſes, and they were very low brought in the citie.

CHAP. VIII.

The parentage, life, and conuerſation of Iudeth. 11 She rebuketh the faintneſſe of the gouernours. 12 Shee ſheweth that they ſhould not tempt God, but waite vpon him for ſuccour. 33 Her enterpriſe againſt the enemies.

NOwe at that time, Iudeth heard thereof, which was the daughter of Merari the ſonne of Ox, the ſonne of Ioſeph, the ſonne of Oziel, the ſonne of Elcia, the ſonne of Ananias, the ſonne of Gedeon, the ſonne of Raphaim, the ſonne of Acito, the ſonne of Eliu, the ſonne of Eliab, the ſonne of Nathanael, the ſonne of Samael, the ſonne of Salaſadai, the ſonne of Iſrael.

2 And Manaſſes was her huſband, of her ſtocke and kindred, who dyed in the barley haruеſt.

3 For as hee was diligent ouer them that bound ſheaues in the field, the heate came vpon his head, and hee fell vpon his bed, and died in the citie of Bethulia, and they buried him with his fathers in the fielde betweene Dothaim and Balamo.

4 So Iudeth was in her houſe a widowe three yeeres and foure moneths.

5 And ſhe made her a tent vpon her houſe, and put on ſackecloth on her loynes, and ware her widowes apparel.

6 And ſhee faſted all the dayes of her widowhood, ſaue the day before the Sabbath & the Sabbaths, and the day before the newe moones, and in the feaſts and ſolemne dayes of the houſe of Iſrael.

7 She was alſo of a goodly countenance and very beautifull to beholde: and her huſband Manaſſes had left her golde and ſiluer, and men ſeruants, and mayde ſeruants, and cattell, and poſſeſſions, where ſhe remained.

8 And there was none that could bring an euill report of her: for ſhe feared God greatly.

9 Nowe when ſhe heard the euill wordes of the people againſt the gouernour, becauſe they fainted for for lacke of waters (for Iudeth had heard all the words that Ozias had ſpoken vnto them, and that he had * ſworne vnto them to deliuer the citie vnto the Aſſyrians within fiue dayes)

*Chap.7.26,31.

10 Then ſhee ſent her mayd, that had the gouernement of all things that ſhe had, to call Ozias and Chabris and Charmis the Ancients of the city.

11 And they came vnto her, and ſhe ſayd vnto them, Heare me, O ye gouernours of the inhabitants of Bethulia: for your words that ye haue ſpoken before the people this day, are not right, touching this othe which yee made and pronounced betweene God and you, and haue promiſed to deliuer the citie to the enemies, vnleſſe within theſe dayes the Lord turne to helpe you.

12 And now who are you that haue tempted God this day, & ſet your ſelues in the place of God among the children of men?

13 So now you ſeeke the Lord almightie, but you ſhall neuer know any thing.

14 For you cannot finde out the depth of the heart of man, neither can yee perceiue the things that he thinketh: then how can you ſearch out God, that hath made all theſe things, and know his minde, or comprehend his purpoſe? Nay my brethren, prouoke not the Lord our God to anger.

15 For if he will not helpe vs within theſe fiue dayes, he hath power to defend vs whē he wil, euen euery day, or to deſtroy vs before our enemies.

16 Doe not you therefore binde the counſels of the Lord our God: For God is not as man that he may be threatned, neither as the ſonne of man to be brought to iudgement.

17 Therefore let vs wait for ſaluation of him & call vpon him to helpe vs, and he will heare our voyce if it pleaſe him.

18 For there appeareth none in our age, neither is there any now in theſe daies, neither tribe, nor family, nor people, nor city among vs, which worſhip the gods made with hands, as hath bene aforetime.

*Iudg.3.11.and 4.1.and 6.1.

19 For * the which cauſe our fathers were giuen to the ſword, and for a ſpoyle, and had a great fall before our enemies.

20 But we know none other God: therfore we truſt ỹ he wil not deſpiſe vs, nor any of our linage.

21 Neither when we ſhalbe taken, ſhal Iudea be ſo famous: for our Sanctuarie ſhalbe ſpoyled, & he wil require the prophanation therof at our mouth, 22 And the feare of our brethren, and the captiuitie of the countrey, and the deſolation of our inheritance will he turne vpon our heads among the Gentiles, whereſoeuer we ſhalbe in bondage, and we ſhalbe an offence and a reproch to all them that poſſeſſe vs.

23 For our ſeruitude ſhal not be directed by fauor, but the Lord our God ſhal turn it to diſhonor.

24 Now therefore, O brethren, let vs ſhew an example to our brethren, becauſe their hearts depend vpon vs, and the Sanctuarie, and the Houſe, and the altar reſt vpon vs.

25 Moreouer, let vs giue thanks to the Lord our God, which trieth vs euen as he did our fathers.

*Gene.22.1. *Genr.28.7.

26 Remember what things hee did to * Abraham, and how he tried Iſaac, and all that he did to * Iacob in Meſopotamia of Syria when he kept the ſheepe of Laban his mothers brother.

27 For he hath not tried vs as hee did them to the examination of their hearts, neither doeth hee take vengeance on vs, but the Lord puniſheth for inſtruction them that come neere to him.

28 ¶ Then ſaid Ozias to her, All that thou haſt ſpoken, haſt thou ſpoken with a good heart, and there is none that is able to reſiſt thy words.

29 For it is not to day that thy wiſedome is knowen, but from the beginning of thy life all the people haue knowen thy wiſedome: for the deuice of thine heart is good.

30 But the people were very thirſty, & compelled vs to doe vnto them, as we haue ſpoken, & haue brought vs to an oth which we may not tranſgreſſe.

31 Therefore now pray for vs, becauſe thou art an holy woman, that the Lord may ſend vs raine to fill our ciſternes, and that we may faint no more.

32 Then ſaid Iudeth vnto them, Heare me, and I will do a thing, which ſhalbe declared in all generations, to the children of our nation.

33 You ſhal ſtand this night in the gate, & I wil go forth with mine handmaid: & within the dayes that yee haue promiſed to deliuer the citie to our enemies, the Lord will viſit Iſrael by mine hand.

34 But inquire not you of mine act: for I will not declare it vnto you, till the things be finiſhed that I doe.

35 Then ſayd Ozias and the princes vnto her, Goe in peace, and the Lord God be before thee, to take vengeance on our enemies.

36 So they returned from the tent, and went to their wards.

CHAP. IX.

1 Iudeth humbleth her ſelfe before the Lord, and maketh her prayers for the deliuerance of her people. 7 Againſt the pride of the Aſſyrians. 11 God is the helpe of the humble.

THen Iudeth fell vpon her face, and put aſhes vpon her head, & put off the ſackcloth wherewith ſhe was clothed. And about the time that the incenſe of that euening was offered in Ieruſalem in the houſe of the Lord, Iudeth cried with a loud voyce, and ſayd,

2 O Lord God of my father * Simeon, to whom thou gaueſt a ſword to take vengeance of the ſtrangers which opened the wombe of the maid, and defiled her, and diſcouered the thigh with ſhame, and polluted the wombe to reproch (for thou haddeſt commanded that it ſhould not ſo be,

3 Yet they did things for the which thou gaueſt their princes to the ſlaughter, for they were deceiued, and waſhed their beds with blood) and haſt ſtriken the ſeruants with the gouerners, and the gouerners vpon their thrones,

4 And haſt giuen their wiues for a pray & their daughters to be captiues, and all their ſpoyles for a bootie to the childrē that thou louedſt: which were mooued with thy zeale, and abhorred the pollution of their blood, and called vpon thee for ayd, O God, O my God, heare me alſo a widow.

5 For thou haſt wrought the things afore, and theſe, and the things that ſhall be after, and thou conſidereſt the things that are preſent, and the things that are to come.

6 For the things which thou doeſt purpoſe, are preſent, and ſay, Beholde, we are heere: for all thy wayes are ready, and thy iudgements are foreknowen.

7 Beholde, the Aſſyrians are multiplied by their power: they haue exalted themſelues with horſes and horſemen: they glory in the ſtrength of their footmen: they truſt in ſhield, ſpeare and bow, and ſling, and do not know that thou art the Lord that brakeſt the battels: the Lord is thy Name.

8 Breake thou their ſtrength by thy power, and breake breake their force by thy wrath: for they haue purposed to defile thy Sanctuarie, and to pollute the Tabernacle where thy glorious Name resteth, & to cast downe with weapons the hornes of the Altar.

9 Beholde their pride, and send thy wrath vpon their heads: giue into mine hand which am a widow, the strength that I haue conceiued.

*Iudg.4.21.and 5.26.

10 * Smite by the deceit of my lippes the seruant with the prince, and the prince with the seruant: abate their height by the hand of a woman.

*Iudg.7.2.2.chr 14.11.and 16.8. and 25.6.

11 * For thy power standeth not in the multitude, nor thy might in strong men: but thou, O Lord, art the helpe of the humble and little ones, the defender of the weake, and the protectour of them that are forsaken, and the Sauiour of them that are without hope.

12 Surely surely thou art the God of my father, and the God of the inheritance of Israel, the Lord of heauen and earth, the creator of the waters, the King of all creatures: heare thou my prayer,

13 And grant me words and craft, and a wound, and a stroke against them that enterprise cruell things against thy couenant and against thine holy House, and against the top of Sion, and against the house of the possession of thy children.

14 Shew euidently among all thy people, and all the tribes, that they may know that thou art the God of all power and strength, and that there is none other that defendeth the people of Israel, but thou.

CHAP. X.

1 Iudeth decketh her selfe and goeth forth of the citie. 11 She is taken of the watch of the Assyrians and brought to Olofernes.

NOw after she had ceased to cry vnto the God of Israel, & had made an end of all these words,

2 She rose where she had fallen downe, and called her mayd, and went downe into the house, in the which shee abode in the Sabbath dayes and in the feast dayes,

3 And putting away the sackecloth wherewith she was clad, and putting off the garments of her widowhood, she washed her body with water, and anoynted it with much oyntment, and dressed the haire of her head, and put attire vpon it, and put on her garments of gladnesse, wherewith she was clad during the life of Manasses her husband.

4 And she put slippers on her feet, and put on bracelets, and sleeues, and rings, and eare rings, and all her ornaments, and she decked her selfe brauely to allure the eyes of all men that should see her.

5 Then she gaue her mayd a bottell of wine, and a pot of oile, and filled a scrip with floure, and with dry figges, and with fine bread: so she lapped vp all these things together and layd them vpon her,

6 Thus they went foorth to the gate of the citie of Bethulia, and found standing there Ozias, and the Ancients of the citie, Chabris and Charmis.

7 And when they saw her that her face was changed, and that her garment was changed, they marueiled greatly at her woonderfull beautie, and sayd vnto her,

8 The God, the God of our fathers giue thee fauour, and accomplish thine enterprises to the glorie of the children of Israel, and to the exaltation of Ierusalem. Then they worshipped God.

9 And she said vnto them, Command the gates of the citie to be opened vnto me, that I may goe foorth to accomplish the things which you haue spoken to me. So they commanded the yong men to open vnto her, as she had spoken.

10 And when they had done so, Iudeth went out, she and her mayd with her, and the men of the citie looked after her, vntill she was gone downe the mountaine, and till she had passed the valley, and could see her no more.

11 Thus they went streight forth in the valley, and the first watch of the Assyrians met her,

12 And tooke her, and asked her, Of what people art thou? and whence commest thou? and whither goest thou? And she sayd, I am a woman of the Hebrewes, and am fledde from them: for they shalbe giuen you to be consumed.

13 And I come before Olofernes the chiefe captaine of your armie, to declare him true things, and I will shew before him the way whereby hee shall go and winne all the mountaines, without losing the body or life of any of his men.

14 Now when the men heard her words, and beheld her countenance, they woondred greatly at her beautie, and sayd vnto her,

15 Thou hast saued thy life, in that thou hast hasted to come downe to the presence of our lord: now therefore come to his tent, and some of vs shall conduct thee vntill they haue deliuered thee into his hands.

16 And when thou standest before him, be not afrayd in thine heart, but shew vnto him according as thou hast to say, and he will intreat thee well.

17 Then they chose out of them an hundreth men, and prepared a charet for her and her mayd, and brought her to the tent of Olofernes.

18 Then there was a running to & fro, thorowout the campe: for her coming was bruted among the tents: and they came and stood round about her: for she stood without the tent of Olophernes vntill they had declared vnto him concerning her.

19 And they marueiled at her beautie & woondred at the children of Israel because of her, and euery one sayd vnto his neighbour, Who would despise this people, that haue among them such women? surely it is not good that one man of them be left: for if they should remaine, they might deceiue the whole earth.

20 Then Olofernes gard went out, and all his seruants, and they brought her into the tent.

21 Now Olofernes rested vpon his bed vnder a canopie, which was wouen with purple and golde and emeraulds, and precious stones.

22 So they shewed him of her, & he came forth vnto the entrie of his tent, and they caried lamps of siluer before him.

23 And when Iudeth was come before him and his seruants, they all marueiled at the beautie of her countenance, and shee fell downe vpon her face, and did reuerence vnto him, and his seruants tooke her vp.

CHAP. XI.

1 Olofernes comforteth Iudeth, 3 and asketh the cause of her comming. 5 She deceiueth him by her faire words.

THen sayd Olofernes vnto her, Woman, be of good comfort: feare not in thine heart: for I neuer hurt any that would serue Nabuchodonosor the King of all the earth.

2 Now therefore if thy people that dwelleth in the mountaines, had not despised me, I would not haue lifted vp my speare against them: but they haue procured these things to themselues.

4 But now tell me wherefore thou art fled from them, and art come vnto vs: for thou art come for safegard: be of good comfort, thou shalt liue from from this night and hereafter.

4 For none shall hurt thee, but intreate thee well, as they do the seruants of King Nabuchodonosor my lord.

5 Then Iudeth said vnto him, Receiue the wordes of thy seruant, and suffer thine handmaide to speake in thy presence, and I will declare no lye to my lord this night.

6 And if thou wilt follow the words of thine handmaid, God will bring the thing perfectly to passe by thee, and my lord shall not faile of his purpose.

7 As Nabuchodonosor King of all the earth liueth, and as his power is of force, who hath sent thee to reforme all persons, not onely men shall be made subiect to him by thee, but also the beasts of the fields, and the cattell, and the foules of the heauen shall liue by thy power vnder Nabuchodonosor and all his house.

8 For we haue heard of thy wisedome and of thy prudent spirit, and it is declared through the whole earth, that thou only art excellent in all the kingdome, and of a wonderfull knowlege, and in feates of warre marueilous.

9 Nowe * as concerning the matter which Achior did speake in thy councill, we haue heard his wordes: for the men of Bethulia did take him, and he declared vnto them all that he had spoken vnto thee. * chap. 5. 5.

10 Therefore, O lord and gouernour, reiect not his word, but set it in thine heart, for it is true: for there is no punishment against our people, neither can the sword preuaile against them, except they sinne against their God.

11 Now therefore, least my lord should be frustrate, and voyde of his purpose, and that death may fall vpon them, and that they may be taken in their sinne whiles they prouoke their God to anger, which is so oft times as they doe that which is not beseeming,

12 (For because their vitayles fayle, and all their water is wasted, they haue determined to take their cattell, and haue purposed to consume all things that God had forbidden them to eate by his Lawes:

13 Yea, they haue purposed to consume the first fruites of the wheat, and the tithes of the wine, and of the oyle which they had reserued and sanctified for the Priestes that serue in Ierusalem before the face of our God: the which things it is not lawfull for any of the people to touch with their handes.

14 Moreouer, they haue sent to Ierusalem, because they also that dwel there, haue done the like, such as should bring them licence from the Senate)

15 Now when they shall bring them word, they will doe it, and they shall be giuen thee to bee destroyed the same day.

16 Wherefore I thine handmayde, knowing all this, am fled from their presence, and God hath sent mee to worke a thing with thee, whereof all the earth shall wonder, and whosoeuer shall heare it.

17 For thy seruaunt feareth God, and worshippeth the God of heauen day and night, and nowe let me remaine with thee, my lorde, and let thy seruant goe out in the night into the valley, and I will pray vnto God, that he may reueile vnto me when they shall commit their sinnes,

18 And I will come and shew it vnto thee: then thou shalt goe forth with all thine armie, and there shall be none of them that shall resist thee.

19 And I wil leade thee through the middes of Iudea, vntill thou come before Ierusalem, and I will set thy throne in the middes thereof, and thou shalt driue them as sheepe that haue no shepheard, and a dogge shall not barke with his mouth against thee: for these things haue bene spoken vnto mee, and declared vnto me according to my foreknowledge, and I am sent to shew thee.

20 ¶ Then her wordes pleased Olofernes, and all his seruants, and they marueiled at her wisdome, and sayde, 21 There is not such a woman in all the world, both for beautie of face, and wisdome of wordes.

22 Likewise Olofernes said vnto her, God ‖hath done this, to sende thee before the people, that strength might bee in our handes, and destruction vpon them that despise my lord. ‖or, hath done well.

23 And nowe thou art both beautifull in thy countenance, and wittie in thy wordes: surely if thou doe as thou hast spoken, thy God shall bee my God, and thou shalt dwell in the house of Nabuchodonosor, and shalt bee renoumed throughout the whole earth.

CHAP. XII.

2 Iudeth would not pollute her selfe with the meat of the Gentiles. 5 Shee maketh her request that shee might goe out by night to pray. 11 Olofernes causeth her to come to the banket.

THen he commanded to bring her in where his treasures were layd, and bade that they should prepare for her of his owne meates, and that shee should drinke of his owne wine.

2 But Iudeth sayd, * I may not eat of them, least there should be an offence, but I can suffice my selfe with the things that I haue brought. *Gene. 43. 32. dan. 1. 8. 10. 11.

3 Then Olofernes sayd vnto her, If the things that thou hast, should faile, how should wee giue thee the like? for there is none with vs of thy nation.

4 Then sayd Iudeth vnto him, As thy soule liueth, my lord, thine handmayd shall not spend those things that I haue, before the Lord worke by mine hand the things that he hath determined.

5 Then the seruants of Olophernes brought her into the tent, and she slept vntill midnight, and rose at the morning watch,

6 And sent to Olofernes, saying, Let my lord command that thine handmayd may go foorth vnto prayer.

7 Then Olofernes commanded his garde that they should not stay her: thus shee abode in the campe three dayes, and went out in the night into the valley of Bethulia, and washed her selfe in a fountaine, euen in the water by the campe.

8 And when she came out, she prayed vnto the Lord God of Israel, that he would direct her way to the exaltation of the children of her people.

9 So she returned, and remained pure in the tent, vntill she ate her meate at euening.

10 ¶ And in the fourth day, Olofernes made a feast to his owne seruants only, and called none of them to the banket, that had the affaires in hand.

11 Then sayd he to Bagoas the eunuch who had charge ouer all that he had, Goe and perswade this Hebrew woman, which is with thee, that she come vnto vs, and eate and drinke with vs.

12 For it were a shame for vs, if we should let such a woman alone, and not talke with her, and if we do not allure her, she will mocke vs.

13 Then went Bagoas from the presence of Olofernes, and came to her, and sayd, Let not this faire faire mayd make difficultie to goe in to my lorde, and to be honoured in his presence, and to drinke wine with vs ioyfully, and to be entreated as one of the daughters of the children of Assur, which remaine in the house of Nabuchodonosor.

14 Then said Iudeth vnto him, Whome am I now, that I should gainesay my lord? Surely whatsoeuer pleaseth him, I will doe speedily, and it shall be my ioy vnto the day of my death.

15 So she arose & trimmed her with garments, and with all the ornaments of women, & her maid went, and spred foorth her skinnes on the ground ouer against Olofernes, which she had receiued of Bagoas for her daily vse, that she might sit and eate vpon them.

16 Nowe when Iudeth came and sate downe, Olofernes heart was rauished with her, and his spirite was mooued, and he desired greatly her companie: for he had waited for the time to deceiue her from the day that he had seene her.

17 Then said Olofernes vnto her, Drinke now, and be merrie with vs.

18 So Iudeth said, I drinke nowe, my lord, because my state is exalted this day more then euer it was since I was borne.

19 Then she tooke, and ate and dranke before him the things, that her maide had prepared.

20 And Olofernes reioyced because of her, and dranke much more wine then he had drunken at any time in one day since he was borne.

CHAP. XIII.

4 Iudeth prayeth for strength. 8 She smiteth off Olofernes necke. 10 She returneth to Bethulia and reioyceth her people.

NOw when the euening was come, his seruants made haste to depart, and Bagoas shut his tent without and dimissed those that were present, from the presence of his lorde, and they went to their beddes: for they were all wearie, because the feast had bene long.

2 And Iudeth was left alone in the tent, and Olofernes was stretched along vpon his bed: for he was filled with * wine. * Eccle. 31.20, 25.

3 ¶ Now Iudeth had commanded her maide to stand without her chamber, and to waite for her comming foorth as she did daily: for she sayd, she would goe foorth to her prayers, and she spake to Bagoas, according to the same purpose.

4 So all went foorth of her presence, and none was left in the chamber, neither little nor great: then Iudeth standing by his bed, sayde in her heart, O Lorde God of all power, behold at this present the workes of mine handes for the exaltation of Ierusalem.

5 For nowe is the time to helpe thine inheritance, and to execute mine enterprises, to the destruction of the enemies which are risen against vs.

6 Then shee came to the post of the bed which was at Olofernes head, and tooke downe his fauchin from thence,

7 And approched to the bed, and tooke holde of the haire of his head, and said, Strengthen me, O Lord God of Israel this day.

8 And shee smote twise vpon his necke, with all her might, and she tooke away his head from him,

9 And rolled his body downe from the bedde, and pulled downe the canopie from the pillars, and anon after shee went foorth, and gaue Olofernes head to her mayde,

10 And shee put it in her scrippe of meate: so they twaine went together according to their custome vnto praier, and preassing through the tents, went about by that valley, and went vp the mountaine of Bethulia, and came to the gates thereof.

11 ¶ Then saide Iudeth afarre off to the watchmen at the gates, Open nowe the gate: God, euen our God is with vs to shewe his power yet in Ierusalem, and his force against his enemies, as hee hath euen done this day.

12 Nowe when the men of her citie heard her voyce, they made haste to goe downe to the gate of their citie, and they called the Elders of the citie.

13 And they ranne all together both small and great: for it was aboue their expectation, that shee should come. So they opened the gate, and receiued her, and made a fire for a light, & stood round about them twaine.

14 Then shee saide to them with a loude voyce, Prayse God, praise God: for hee hath not taken away his mercie from the house of Israel, but hath destroyed our enemies by mine handes this night.

15 So she tooke the head out of the scrippe and shewed it, and sayd vnto them, Beholde the head of Olofernes, the chiefe captaine of the armie of Assur, and beholde the canopie, wherein he did lie in his drunkennesse, and the Lord hath smitten him by the hand of a woman.

16 As the Lord liueth, who hath kept me in my way that I went, my countenance hath deceiued him to his destruction, and he hath not committed sinne with me by any pollution or villenie.

17 Then all the people were wonderfully astonished, and bowed themselues, and worshipped God, and said with one accord, Blessed be thou, O our God, which hast this day brought to nought the enemies of thy people.

18 Then said Ozias vnto her, O daughter, blessed art thou of the most hie God aboue all the women of the earth, and blessed be the Lord God, which hath created the heauens and the earth, which hath directed thee to the cutting off of the head of the chiefe of our enemies.

19 Surely this thine hope shall neuer depart out of the hearts of men: for they shall remember the power of God for euer.

20 And God turne these things to thee for a perpetuall praise, and visit thee with good things, because thou hast not spared thy life, because of the affliction of our nation, but thou hast holpen our ruine, walking a straight way before our God. And all the people sayd, So be it, so be it.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Iudeth causeth to hang vp the head of Olofernes. 11 Achior ioyneth himselfe to the people of God. 11 The Israelites goe out against the Assyrians.

THen said Iudeth vnto them, Heare me also, my brethren, and * take this head, and hang it vp- * 2. Mac. 15. 35.
on the highest place of your walles.

2 And so soone as the morning shall appeare and the sunne shall come foorth vpon the earth, take you euery one his weapons, and goe foorth euery valiant man out of the city, and set you a captaine ouer them, as though you would goe downe into the field, toward the watch of the Assyrians, but go not downe.

3 Then they shall take their armour, and shall goe into their campe, and raise vp the captaines of the armie of Assur, and they shall runne to the tent of Olofernes, but shall not finde him: then feare shall fall vpon them, and they shall flee before fore your face.

4 So you & all that inhabit the coasts of Israel, shall pursue them, and ouerthrow them as they goe.

5 But before you doe these things, call mee Achior the Ammonite, that he may see, and know him that despised the house of Israel, and that sent him to vs as to death.

6 Then they called Achior out of the house of Ozias, and when he was come and saw the head of Olofernes in a certeine mans hand in the assemblie of the people, he fell downe on his face, and his spirit failed.

7 But when they had taken him vp, he fell at Iudeths feet, and reuerenced her, and said, Blessed art thou in all the tabernacle of Iuda, and in all nations, which hearing thy name, shalbe astonished.

8 Now therefore tel me all the things, that thou hast done in these dayes. Then Iudeth declared vnto him in the middes of the people all that she had done from the day that she went foorth, vntill that houre she spake vnto them.

9 And when she had left off speaking, the people reioyced with a great voyce, and made a noyse of gladnesse through their citie.

10 And Achior, seeing all things that God had done for Israel, beleeued in God vnfeinedly, and circumcised the foreskin of his flesh, and was ioyned vnto the house of Israel vnto this day.

11 ¶ Assoone as the morning arose, they hanged the head of Olofernes out at the wall, and euery man tooke his weapons, and they went foorth by bands vnto the straits of the mountaine.

12 But when the Assyrians saw them, they sent to their captaines, which went to the gouernours and chiefe captaines, and to all their rulers.

13 So they came to Olofernes tent and sayd to him that had the charge of all his things, Waken our lord: for the slaues haue bene bolde to come downe against vs to battell, that they may be destroyed for euer.

14 Then went in Bagoas, and knocked at the doore of the tent: for he thought that he had slept with Iudeth.

15 But because none answered, hee opened it, and went into the chamber, and found him cast vpon the floore, and his head was taken from him.

16 Therefore he cried with a loud voyce, with weeping and mourning, and a mighty cry, and rent his garments.

17 After he went into the tent of Iudeth where she vsed to remaine, and found her not: then hee leaped out to the people and cried, 18 These slaues haue committed wickednesse: one woman of the Hebrewes hath brought shame vpon the house of King Nabuchodonosor: for beholde, Olofernes lieth vpon the ground without an head.

19 When the captaines of the Assyrians armie heard these words, they rent their coats, and their heart was woonderfully troubled, and there was a crie and a very great noyse thorowout the campe.

CHAP. XV.

1 The Assyrians are afrayd and flee. 3 The Israelites pursue them. 8 Ioacim the hie Priest commeth to Bethulia to see Iudeth and to praise God for her.

AND when they that were in the tents, heard, they were astonished as the thing that was done.

2 And feare and trembling fell vpon them, so that there was no man that durst abide in the sight of his neighbour: but altogether amased, they fled by euery way of the plaine and of the mountaines.

3 They also that had camped in the mountaines round about Bethulia, were put to flight: then the children of Israel, euery one that was a warriour among them, rushed out vpon them.

4 Then sent Ozias to Bethomasthem, and to Bebai, and Chobai, and Chola, and to all the coasts of Israel, such as should declare vnto them the things that were done, and that all should rush forth vpon their enemies to destroy them.

5 Now when the children of Israel heard it, they all fell vpon them together vnto Choba: likewise also they that came from Ierusalem and from all the mountaines: for men had tolde them what things were done in the campe of their enemies, & they that were in Galaad & in Galile chased them with a great slaughter vntill they came to Damascus and to the coasts thereof.

6 And the residue that dwelt at Bethulia, fel vpon the campe of Assur and spoyled them, and were greatly inriched.

7 And the children of Israel that returned from the slaughter, had the rest: and the villages and the cities that were in the mountaines and in the plaine, had a great bootie: for the abundance was very great.

8 Then Ioacim the hie Priest, and the Ancients of the children of Israell that dwelt in Ierusalem, came to confirme the benefits that God had shewed to Israel, and to see Iudeth, and to salute her.

9 And when they came vnto her, they blessed her with one accord, and sayd vnto her, Thou art the exaltation of Ierusalem: thou art the great glory of Israel: thou art the great reioycing of our nation.

10 Thou hast done all these things by thine hand: thou hast done much good to Israel, and God is pleased therewith: blessed be thou of the almightie Lord for euermore: and all the people sayd, So be it.

11 And the people spoyled the campe the space of thirtie dayes, and they gaue vnto Iudeth Olofernes tent, and all his siluer and beds, and basins, and all his stuffe, and she tooke it and laid it on her mules, and made ready her charets, and layd them thereon.

12 Then all the women of Israel came together to see her, & blessed her, and made a dance among them for her, and she tooke branches in her hand, and gaue also to the women that were with her.

13 They also crowned her with oliues, and her that was with her, and she went before the people in the dance, leading all the women: and all the men of Israel followed in their armour, with crownes, and with songs in their mouthes.

CHAP. XVI.

Iudeth praiseth God with a song. 19 She offereth to the Lord Olofernes stuffe. 23 Her continence, life and death. 25 All Israel lamenteth her.

THen Iudeth began this confession in all Israel, and all the people sang this song with a loud voyce.

2 And Iudeth sayd, Beginne vnto my God with tymbrels: sing to my Lord with cymbales: tune vnto him a psalme: exalt his praise, and call vpon his Name.

3 For God breaketh the battels, and pitcheth his campe in the middes of the people, and deliuered me out of the hand of the persecuters.

4 Assur

4 Assur came from the mountaines forth of the North: hee came with thousandes in his armie,
* Chap. 2. 11, 15. *whose multitude hath shut vp the riuers, and their horsemen haue couered the valleys.

5 He sayd that hee would burne vp my borders and kill my yoong men with the sword, and dash the sucking children against the ground, and make mine infants as a pray, and my virgins a spoyle.

6 But the almighty Lord hath brought them to nought by the hand of a woman.

7 For the mighty did not fall by the yong men, neither did the sonne of Titan smite him, nor the high giants inuade him, but Iudeth the daughter of Merari did discomfit him by the beautie of her countenance.

8 For shee put off the garment of her widowhood, for the exaltation of those that were oppressed in Israel, and anointed her face with ointment, and bound vp her haire in a coife, and tooke a linnen garment to deceiue him.

9 Her slippers rauished his eyes: her beautie tooke his minde prisoner, and the sauchin passed thorow his necke.

10 The Persians were astonished at her boldnes, and the Medes were troubled with her hardinesse.

11 But mine afflicted reioyced, and my feeble ones shouted: then they feared, they lifted vp their voyce and turned backe.

12 The children of mayds pierced them, and wounded them as they fled away like children: they perished by the battell of the Lord.

13 I will sing vnto the Lord a song and prayse, O Lord, thou art great & glorious, marueilous and inuincible in power.

*Gene. 1. 24. Psal. 33. 9. 14 Let all thy creatures serue thee: * for thou hast spoken and they were made: thou hast sent thy Spirit, and he made them vp: and there is none that can resist thy voyce.

15 For the mountains leape vp from their foundations with the waters: the rockes melt at thy presence like water: yet thou art merciful to them that feare thee.

16 For all sacrifice is too litle for a sweet sauour, and all the fat is too litle for thy burnt offring: but he that feareth the Lord, is great at all times.

17 Woe to the nations that rise vp against my kindred: the Lord almightie will take vengeance of them in the day of iudgement, in sending fire & wormes vpon their flesh, and they shall feele them and weepe for euer.

18 ¶ After, when they went vnto Ierusalem, they worshipped the Lord, and assoone as the people were purified, they offered their burnt offerings, and their free offerings, and their gifts.

19 Iudeth also offred all the stuffe of Olofernes, which the people had giuen her, and gaue the canopie which she had taken off his bed, for an oblation to the Lord.

20 So the people reioyced in Ierusalem by the Sanctuarie, for the space of three moneths, and Iudeth remained with them.

21 After this time, euery one returned to his owne inheritance, and Iudeth went to Bethulia, and remained in her owne possession, and was for her time honourable in all the countrey.

22 And many desired her, but none had her companie all the dayes of her life after that Manasses her husband was dead, and was gathered to ‖ Or, her people. ‖ his people.

23 But she increased more and more in honour, and waxed olde in her husbands house, being an hundreth and fiue yeere olde, and made her mayd free: so she died in Bethulia, and they buried her in the graue of her husband Manasses.

*Gene. 50. 10. 24 And *the house of Israel lamented her seuen dayes, and before she died, she did distribute her goods to all them that were neerest of kindred to Manasses her husband, and to them that were the neerest of her kindred.

25 And there was none that made the children of Israel any more afrayd in the dayes of Iudeth, nor a long time after her death.

ESTHER.

Certeine portions of the storie of Esther, which are found in some Greeke and Latine translations.

Which follow the tenth Chapter.

IN the Mardocheus sayd, God hath done these things.

5 For I remember a dreame, which I saw concerning these matters, and there was nothing thereof omitted.

6 A little fountaine which became a flood, and was a light, and as the sunne, and as much water, this flood was Esther whom the King married, and made Queene.

7 And the two dragons are I and Aman.

8 And the people are they that are assembled to destroy the name of the Iewes.

9 And my people is Israel, which cried to God, and are saued: for the Lord hath saued his people, and the Lord hath deliuered vs from all these euils, and God hath wrought signes, and great wonders, which haue not bene done among the Gentiles.

10 Therefore hath he made two lottes, one for the people of God, & another for all the Gentiles.

11 And these two lottes came before God for all nations, at the houre and time appointed, and in the day of iudgement.

12 So God remembred his owne people, and iustified his inheritance.

13 Therefore those dayes shall be vnto them in the moneth Adar the fourteenth, and fifteenth day of the same moneth, with an assemblie and ioy, and with gladnesse before God, according to the generations for euer among his people.

ſonne of Cis of ỹ tribe of Beniamin had a dreame,

3 A Iewe dwelling in the citie of Suſis, a noble man, that bare office in the Kings court.

4 He was alſo one of the captiuitie which Nabuchodonoſor the King of Babylon brought from Ieruſalem with Iechonias.

5 And this was his dreame, Beholde a noyſe of a tempeſt with thunders, and earthquakes, and vproare in the land.

6 Behold two great dragons came foorth readie to fight one againſt another.

7 Their cry was great, whereby all the heathen were ready to fight againſt the righteous people.

8 And the ſame day was full of darkneſſe and obſcuritie, and trouble, and anguiſh: yea, aduerſitie, and great affliction was vpon the earth.

9 For then ỹ righteous fearing their afflictions were amaſed, & being ready to die, cried vnto God.

10 And while they were crying, ỹ litle wel grew into a great riuer, & flowed ouer with great waters.

11 The light and the ſunne roſe vp, & the lowly were exalted, and deuoured the glorious.

12 Nowe when Mardocheus had ſeene this dreame, he awoke and roſe vp, and thought in his heart vntill the night, what God would doe, and ſo he deſired to knowe all the matter.

CHAP. XII.

AT the ſame time dwelt Mardocheus in the Kings court with Bagathas, and Thara, the Kings eunuches and keepers of the palace.

2 *But when he heard their purpoſe, and their imaginations, he perceiued that they went about to lay their hands vpon the King Artaxerxes, and ſo he certified the King thereof.

* Hiſter 2.21. and 6.2.

3 Then cauſed the King to examine the two eunuches with torments, and when they had confeſſed it, they were put to death.

4 This the King cauſed to be put in the Chronicles. Mardocheus alſo wrote the ſame thing.

5 So the King commanded that Mardocheus ſhould remaine in the court, and for the aduertiſement, he gaue him a reward.

6 But Aman the ſonne of Amadathus the Agagite, which was in great honour & reputation with the King, went about to hurt Mardocheus and his people, becauſe of the two eunuches of the King that were put to death.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The copie of the letters of Artaxerxes againſt the Iewes. 8 The prayer of Mardocheus.

Ioſeph. antiq. lib. 11. cap. 6.

THe copy of the letters was this, The great king Artaxerxes writeth theſe things to the princes and gouernours that are vnder him from India vnto Ethiopia in an hundreth and ſeuen and twentie prouinces.

2 When I was made lord ouer many people, and had ſubdued the whole earth vnto my dominion, I would not exalt my ſelf by the reaſon of my power, but purpoſed w̄ equitie alway and gentleneſſe to gouerne my ſubiects, & wholy to ſet them in a peaceable life, and thereby to bring my kingdome vnto tranquility, ỹ men might ſafely go thorow on euery ſide, & to renue peace againe, which al men deſire.

3 Nowe when I aſked my counſellers how theſe things might be brought to paſſe, one that was conuerſant with vs, of excellent wiſdome, and conſtant in good wil, and ſhewed himſelfe to be of ſure fidelitie, which had the ſecond place in the kingdome, euen Aman,

4 Declared vnto vs, that in all nations there was ſcattered abroad a rebellious people, that had lawes contrary to all people, and haue alway deſpiſed the commandements of Kings, and ſo that this general empire, that we haue begunne, cannot be gouerned without offence.

5 Seeing now wee perceiue, that this people alone are altogether contrary vnto euery man, vſing ſtrange and other maner of lawes, and hauing an euil opinion of our doings, and goe about to ſtabliſh wicked matters, that our kingdome ſhoulde not come to good eſtate,

6 Therefore haue we commaunded, that all they that are appointed in writing vnto you by Aman (which is ordeined ouer ỹ affaires, & is as our ſecond father) ſhal all with their wiues and children be deſtroied & rooted out w̄ the ſworde of their enemies without all mercy, & that none be ſpared the fourtenth day of the twelfth moneth Adar of this yere,

7 That they which of olde, and nowe alſo haue euer bene rebellious, may in one day with violence bee thruſt downe into the hell, to the intent that after this time our affaires may bee without troubles, and wel gouerned in all points.

8 Then Mardocheus thought vpō all the works and of the Lord, and made his prayer vnto him, 9 Saying, O Lord, Lord, the King almighty (for al things are in thy power) & if thou haſt appointed to ſaue Iſrael, there is no man ỹ can withſtand thee.

10 For thou haſt made heauen and earth, and all the wonderous things vnder the heauen.

11 Thou art Lord of all things, and there is no man that can reſiſt thee, which art the Lord.

12 Thou knoweſt all things, and thou knoweſt, Lord, that it was neither of malice, nor preſumption, nor for any deſire of glory, that I did this, and not bowe downe to proud Aman.

13 For I would haue bene content with good will for the ſaluation of Iſrael, to haue kiſt the ſole of his feet.

14 But I did it, becauſe I would not preferre the honour of a man aboue the glory of God, & would not worſhip any but onely thee, my Lord, and this haue I not done of pride.

15 And therefore, O Lord God and King, haue mercy vpon thy people: for they imagine how they may bring vs to nought, yea, they would deſtroy the inheritance, ỹ hath bin thine frō the beginning.

16 Deſpiſe not the portion, which thou haſt deliuered out of Egypt for thine owne ſelfe.

17 Heare my prayer, and be mercifull vnto thy portion: turne our ſorow into ioy, that we may liue, O Lord, & praiſe thy Name: ſhut not the mouthes of them that praiſe thee.

18 All Iſrael in like maner cried moſt earneſtly vnto the Lord, becauſe that death was before their eyes.

CHAP. XIIII.

The prayer of Eſther for the deliuerance of her, and her people.

QVeene Eſther alſo, being in danger of death, reſorted vnto the Lord,

2 And laid away her glorious apparell, and put on the garments of ſighing, and mourning. In the ſtead of precious oyntment, ſhe ſcattered aſhes, and doung vpon her head: and ſhe humbled her body greatly with faſting, and all the places of her ioy filled ſhe with the haire that ſhe pluckt off.

3 And ſhe prayed vnto the Lord God of Iſrael, ſaying, O my Lord, thou onely art our King: helpe me deſolate womā, which haue no helper but thee.

4 For my danger is at hand.

5 From my youth vp I haue heard in the kinred of my father, that thou, O Lord, tookest Israel frō among all people, & our fathers from their predecessours for a perpetuall inheritance, and thou hast performed that which thou diddest promise them.

6 Now Lord, we haue sinned before thee: therefore hast thou giuē vs into ỹ hands of our enemies.

7 Because we worshipped their gods: O Lord, thou art righteous.

8 Neuertheless, it satisfieth them not, that we are in bitter captiuitie, but they haue stroken hands with their idoles,

9 That they will abolish the thing that thou with thy mouth hast ordeined, and destroy thine inheritance, to shut vp the mouth of them that praise thee, and to quench the glorie of thy Temple, and of thine altar,

10 And to open the mouthes of the heathen, that they may praise the power of the idoles, and to magnifie a fleshly king for euer.

11 O Lord, giue not thy scepter vnto them ỹ be nothing, lest they laugh vs to scorne in our misery: but turne their deuise vpon themselues, & make him an example, that hath begunne the same against vs.

12 Thinke vpon vs, O Lord, and shew thy selfe vnto vs in the time of our distresse, and strengthen me, O King of gods, and Lord of all power.

13 Giue me an eloquent speach in my mouth before the Lion: turne his heart to hate our enemy, to destroy him, and all such as consent vnto him.

14 But deliuer vs ỹ thine hand, & helpe me that am solitarie, which haue no defence but only thee.

15 Thou knowest all things, O Lord: thou knowest, that I hate the glorie of the vnrighteous, and that I abhorre the bed of the vncircumcised, and of all the heathen.

16 Thou knowest my necessitie: for I hate this token of my preeminence, which I beare vpon mine head, what time as I must shew my selfe, and that I abhorre it as a menstruous cloth, and that I weare it not when I am alone by my selfe.

17 And ỹ I thine handmaid haue not eaten at Amans table, & that I haue had no pleasure in the Kings feast, nor drunke ỹ wine of ỹ drinke offrings, 18 And that I thine handmayde haue no ioye since the day that I was brought hither, vntill this day, but in thee, O Lord God of Abraham.

19 O thou mighty God aboue al, heare the voice of them ỹ haue none other hope, & deliuer vs out of the hand of ỹ wicked, & deliuer me out of my feare.

CHAP. XV.

1 Mardochius moueth Esther to go in to the King, and make intercession for the people, 9 And she performeth his request.

MArdocheus also bade Esther to go in vnto the King, & pray for her people, & for her country.

2 Remember, saith hee, the dayes of thy lowe estate, how thou wast nourished vnder mine hande: for Aman which is next vnto the King hath giuen sentence of death against vs.

3 Call thou therefore vpon the Lord, & speake for vs vnto the King, and deliuer vs from death.

4 And vpon the thirde day when she had ended her prayer, she layde away the mourning garments, and put on her glorious apparell,

5 And deckt her selfe goodly, after that she had called vpon God, which is the beholder and sauiour of all things, and tooke two handmayds with her.

6 Vpon the one she leaned her selfe, as one that was tender.

7 And the other followed her, and bare the traine of her vesture.

8 The shine of her beautie made her face rose coloured: and her face was cheerefull and amiable, but her heart was sorowfull for great feare.

9 Then shee went in thorow all the doores, and stood before the King, and the King sate vpon his royall throne, and was clothed in his goodly aray, all glittering with golde and precious stones, and he was very terrible.

10 Then he lift vp his face, that shone with maiestie, and looked fiercely vpon her: therefore the Queene fel downe, and was pale & faint, and leaned herselfe vpon the head of the maid that went ẅ her.

11 Neuertheless, God turned the Kings minde that he was gentle, who being careful, leaped out of his throne, and tooke her in his armes, till shee came to her selfe againe: and comforted her with louing wordes, and sayd,

12 Esther, what is the matter? I am thy brother, be of good cheare, 13 Thou shalt not die: for our commandement toucheth the commons, and not thee. Come neere.

14 And so hee helde vp his golden scepter, and layde it vpon her necke, 15 And kissed her, and said, Talke with me.

16 Then sayd she, I saw thee, O lord, as an Angel of God, and mine heart was troubled for feare of thy maiestie.

17 For wonderful art thou, O Lord, and thy face is full of grace.

18 And as she was thus speakiag vnto him, shee fell downe againe for faintnesse.

19 Then the king was troubled, and all his seruants comforted her.

CHAP. XVI.

The copie of the letters of Artaxerxes, whereby he reuoketh those which he first sent forth.

THe great king Artaxerxes, which reigneth from India vnto Ethiopia, ouer an hundreth and seuen and twentie prouinces, sendeth vnto the princes and rulers that haue the charge of our affaires, Salutation. Ioseph. Antiq. 11. chap. 6.

2 There be many that through the goodnesse of Princes and honour giuen vnto them, become very proud,

3 And indeuour not onely to hurt our subiects, but not content to liue in wealth, doe also imagine destruction against those that doe them good,

4 And take not onely all thankefulnesse away from men, but in pride & presumption, as they that be vnmindefull of benefits, they thinke to escape the vengeance of God, that seeth all things, and is contrary to euill.

5 And oft times many which be set in office, and vnto whom their friends causes are committed, by vaine intisements do wrap them in calamities, that cannot be remedied: for they make them partakers of innocent blood.

6 And deceitfully abuse the simplicitie, and gentlenesse of Princes with lying tales.

7 This may be proued not onely by olde histories, but also by those things that are before our eyes, and are wickedly committed of such pestilences, as are not worthy to beare rule.

8 Therefore we must take heed hereafter, that we may make the kingdome peaceable for al men, what chance soeuer shall come,

9 And discerne the things that are before our eyes, to withstand them with gentlenesse.

10 For Aman, a Macedonian, the sonne of Amadathus, dathus, being indeede a ſtranger from the Perſians blood, & far from our goodnes, was receiued of vs, 11 And hath prooued the friendſhippe that we beare toward all nations, ſo that he was called our father, and was honoured of euery man, as the next perſon vnto the King.

12 But he could not vſe himſelfe ſoberly in this great dignitie, but went about to depriue vs of the kingdome, and of our life.

13 With manifold deceit alſo hath he deſired to deſtroy Mardocheus our preſeruer, which hath done vs good in all things, and innocent Eſther the partaker of our kingdome, with all her nation.

14 For his minde was (when he had taken them out of the way) to lay waite for vs, and by this meanes to tranſlate the kingdome of the Perſians vnto them of Macedonia.

15 But we finde that the Iewes (which were accuſed of this moſt wicked man, ŷ they might be deſtroyed) are no euil doers, but vſe moſt iuſt lawes,

16 And that they be the children of the moſt High and Almightie & euerliuing God, by whom the kingdome hath bene preſerued vnto vs, and our progenitours in very good order.

17 Wherefore ye ſhall doe well, if ye doe not put in execution thoſe letters, that Aman the ſonne of Amadathus did write vnto you.

18 For he that inuented them, hangeth at Suſis before the gates with all his familie, and God (which hath all things in his power) hath ſpeedily rewarded him after his deſeruing.

19 Therefore ye ſhall publiſh the copy of this letter in all places, that the Iewes may freely liue after their owne Lawes.

20 And ye ſhall ayde them, that vpon the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth Adar they may be auenged of them, which in the time of their trouble would haue oppreſſed them.

21 For Almighty God hath turned to ioy ŷ day wherein the choſen people ſhould haue periſhed.

22 Moreouer, among other ſolemne dayes yee ſhall keepe this day with all gladneſſe, 23 That both nowe and in time to come this day may be a remembrance of deliuerance for vs, and all ſuch as loue the proſperitie of the Perſians, but a remembrance of deſtruction to thoſe that be ſeditious vnto vs.

24 Therefore all cities and countreys that doe not this, ſhall horribly be deſtroyed with ſworde and fire, and ſhall not onely not bee inhabited of men, but be abhorred alſo of the wilde beaſtes and foule for euer.

THE WISEDOME OF SALOMON.

CHAP. I.

1 Howe we ought to ſearch and enquire after God. 2 Who be thoſe that finde him. 5 The holy Ghoſt. 8. 11 We ought to flee from backebiting and murmuring. 12 Whereof death commeth. 15 Righteouſneſſe and vnrighteouſneſſe.

LOVE *righteouſneſſe, ye that be Iudges of the earth: thinke reuerently of the Lord, and ſeeke him in ſimplicitie of heart.

* 1. King. 3. 3. iſa. 56. 1.

2 *For he will be found of them that tempt him not, and appeareth vnto ſuch as be not vnfaithfull vnto him.

* Deut. 4. 29. 2. chron. 15. 4.

3 For wicked thoughts ſeparate from God: and his power when it is tryed, reproueth the vnwiſe.

4 Becauſe wiſdome cannot enter into a wicked heart, nor dwel in the bodie ŷ is ſubiect vnto ſinne.

5 For the holy * Spirit of diſcipline fleeth from deceite, and withdraweth himſelfe from the thoughtes that are without vnderſtanding, and is rebuked when wickednes ſe commeth.

* Ier. 4. 22.

6 For the Spirit of wiſdom * is louing, and will not abſolue him, that blaſphemeth with his lippes: for God is a witneſſe of his reines, and a true beholder of his heart, and an hearer of the tongue.

* Galat. 5. 22.

7 For the Spirite of the Lorde filleth all the worlde: and the ſame that maintaineth all things, hath knowledge of the voyce.

8 Therefore he that ſpeaketh vnrighteous things, can not be hid: neither ſhall the iudgement of reproche let him eſcape.

9 For inquiſition ſhalbe made for the thoughts of the vngodly, and the ſound of his wordes ſhall come vnto God for the correctiõ of his iniquities.

10 For the care of ielouſie heareth all things, and the noyſe of the grudgings ſhall not be hid.

11 Therefore beware of murmuring, which profiteth nothing, and refraine your tongue from ſlander: for there is no worde ſo ſecret, that ſhall goe for nought, and the mouth that ſpeaketh lies, ſlayeth the ſoule.

12 Seeke not death in the errour of your life: * deſtroy not your ſelues thorowe the workes of your owne hands.

* Deut. 4. 23.

13 *For God hath not made death, neither hath he pleaſure in the deſtruction of the liuing.

* Ezek. 18. 23. and 33. 11.

14 For hee created all things, that they might haue their being: & the generations of the world are preſerued, & there is no poyſon of deſtruction in them, & the kingdom of hell is not vpon earth.

15 For righteouſneſſe is immortall, but vnrighteouſneſſe bringeth death.

16 And the vngodly call a it vnto them both with hands and words: and while they thinke to haue a friend of it, they come to naught: for they are confederate with it: therefore are they worthy to be partakers thereof.

a To wit, death.

CHAP. II.

1 The imaginations and diſcourſes of the wicked, and their counſell againſt the faithfull.

FOr the vngodly ſay, as they falſly imagine with themſelues, * Our life is ſhort & tedious: and in the death of a man there is no recouerie, neither was any knowen that hath returned from ŷ graue.

* Iob 7. 1. and 14. 1. mal. 22. 23. 1. cor. 15. 32.

2 For we are borne at all aduenture, and wee ſhall be hereafter as though we had neuer bene: for the breath is a ſmoke in our noſtrels, and the wordes as a ſparke raiſed out of our heart,

3 Which being extinguiſhed, the body is turned into aſhes, and the Spirit vaniſheth as the ſoft ayre.

4 Our life ſhall paſſe away as the trace of a cloude, and come to naught as the miſte that is driuen away with the beames of the ſunne, and caſt downe with the heate thereof. Our name alſo ſhall be forgotten in time, and no man ſhall haue our workes in remembrance.

5 * For our time is as a ſhadow that paſſeth away, and after our ende there is no returning: for it is faſt ſealed, ſo that no man commeth againe.

6 *Come therefore, and let vs enioy the pleasures, that are present, and let vs cheerefully vse the creatures as in youth.

7 Let vs fill our selues with costly wine, & ointments, and let not the flowre of life passe by vs.

8 Let vs crowne our selues with rose buds afore they be withered.

9 Let vs all be partakers of our wantonnesse: let vs leaue some token of our pleasure in euery place: for that is our portion, and this is our lot.

10 Let vs oppresse the poore that is righteous: let vs not spare the widow, nor reuerence the white haires of the aged, that haue liued many yeeres.

11 Let our strength be the Lawe of vnrighteousnesse: for the thing that is feeble, is reproued as vnprofitable.

12 Therefore let vs defraud the righteous: for he is not for our profite, and he is contrary to our doings: hee checketh vs for offending against the Law, and blameth vs as transgressers of discipline.

13 He maketh his boast to haue the knowledge of God: & he calleth himselfe ſ sonne of the Lord.

14 He is made to * reproue our thoughts.

15 It grieueth vs also to looke * vpon him: for his life is not like other mens: his wayes are of another fashion.

16 Hee counteth vs as bastardes, and hee withdraweth himselfe from our wayes as from filthinesse: he commendeth greatly the latter ende of the iust, and boasteth that God is his father.

17 Let vs see then if his wordes be true: let vs prooue then what end he shall haue.

18 For if the righteous man be the * sonne of God, hee will helpe him, and deliuer him from the handes of his enemies.

19 Let vs *examine him with rebukes and torments that wee may knowe his meekenesse, and prooue his patience.

20 Let vs condemne him vnto a shameful death: for he shall be preserued as he himselfe saith.

21 Such things do they imagine, and go astray: for their owne wickednesse hath blinded them.

22 And they doe not vnderstand the mysteries of God, neither hope for the reward of righteousnesse, nor can discerne the honour of the soules that are faultlesse.

23 For God created man without corruption, & made him after the *image of his own likenesse.

24 * Neuertheless, thorowe enuie of the deuill came death into the world: and they that hold of his side, proue it.

CHAP. III.

1 The conuersation and assurance of the righteous. 7 The reward of the faithfull. 11 Who are miserable.

BVt the * soules of the righteous are in the hand of God, and no torment shall touch them.

2 * In the sight of the vnwise they appeared to die, and their end was thought grieuous,

3 And their departing from vs, destruction, but they are in peace.

4 And though they suffer paine before men, yet is * their hope full of immortalitie.

5 They are punished, but in fewe things, yet in many things shal they be wel rewarded: * for God proueth them, & findeth them meete for himselfe.

6 Hee tryeth them as the gold in the fornace, and receiueth them as a perfect fruite offering.

7 * And in the time of their vision they shall shine, and runne thorowe as the sparkes among the stubble.

8 * They shall iudge the nations, and haue dominion ouer the people, and their Lord shal reigne for euer.

9 They that trust in him shall vnderstand the trueth, and the faithfull shall remaine with him in loue: for grace and mercy is among his Saints, and he regardeth his elect.

10 But * the vngodly shalbe punished according to their imaginations: for they haue despised the righteous, and forsaken the Lord.

11 Who so despiseth wisedome and discipline, is miserable, and their hope is vaine, and their labours are foolish, and their works vnprofitable.

12 Their wiues are vndiscreet, and their children wicked: their offering is cursed.

13 Therefore the barren is blessed which is vndefiled, and knoweth not the sinfull bed: *she shall haue fruit in the visitation of the soules,

14 And the eunuch, which with his hands hath not wrought iniquitie, nor imagined wicked things against God: for vnto him shalbe giuen the speciall gift of faith, and an acceptable portion in the Temple of the Lord.

16 For glorious is the fruit of good labours, and the root of wisdome shall neuer fade away.

16 But the children of adulterers shall not be partakers of the holy things, and the seed of the wicked bed shalbe rooted out.

17 And though they liue long, yet shall they be nothing regarded, and their last age shalbe without honour.

18 If they die hastily, they haue no hope, neither comfort in the day of triall.

19 For horrible is the end of the wicked generation.

CHAP. IIII.

Of vertue and the commoditie thereof. 10 The death of the righteous, and the condemnation of the vnfaithfull.

BEtter is barrennes with vertue: for the memoriall thereof is immortall: for it is knowen with God and with men.

2 When it is present, men take example thereat, and if it goe away, yet they desire it: it is alway crowned and triumpheth, and winneth the battell and the vndefiled rewards.

3 But the multitude of the vngodly which abound in children, is vnprofitable: and the bastard plants shall take no deepe root, nor lay any fast foundation.

4 For though they bud foorth in the branches for a time, *yet they shalbe shaken with the winde: for they stand not fast, and through the vehemencie of the winde they shalbe rooted out.

5 For the vnperfit branches shalbe broken, and their fruit shall be vnprofitable and sowre to eate, and meet for nothing.

6 For all the children that are borne of the wicked bed, shalbe witnesse of the wickednesse against their parents when they be asked.

7 But though the righteous be preuented with death, yet shall he be in rest.

8 For the honourable age is not that which is of long time, neither that which is measured by the number of yeres.

9 But wisdome is the gray haire, and an vndefiled life is the olde age.

10 * He pleased God, and was beloued of him, so that whereas he liued among sinners, he translated him.

11 He was taken away, lest wickednesse should alter alter his vnderstanding, or deceit beguile his minde.

12 For wickednes by bewitching obscureth the things that are good, & the vnstedfastnesse of concupiscence peruerteth the simple minde.

13 Though he was soone dead, yet fulfilled hee much time.

14 For his soule pleased God: therefore hasted he to take him away from wickednesse.

15 Yet the people see and vnderstand it not, and consider no such things in their heartes, howe that grace and mercy is vpon his Saintes, and his prouidence ouer the elect.

16 Thus the righteous that is dead, condemneth the vngodly which are liuing: and the youth that is soone brought to an ende, the long life of the vnrighteous.

17 For they see the end of the wise, but they vnderstand not what God hath deuised for him, and wherefore the Lord hath preserued him in safetie.

18 They see him and despise him, but the Lorde will laugh them to scorne, 19 So that they shall fall hereafter without honour, and shall haue a shame among the dead for euermore: for without any voice shal he burst them and cast them downe, & shake them from the foundations, so that they shalbe vtterly wasted, and they shalbe in sorow, and their memoriall shall perish.

20 So they being afraide, shall remember their sinnes, and their owne wickednes shall come before them to conuince them.

CHAP. V.

1 The constantnesse of the righteous before their persecuters. 14 The hope of the vnfaithfull is vaine. 15 The blessednes of the Saints and godly.

THen shall the righteous stande in great boldenes before the face of such as haue tormented him, and taken away his labours.

2 When they see him, they shall bee vexed with horrible feare, and shall be amased for his wonderfull deliuerance,

3 And shal change their minds, & sigh for griefe of mind, & say within themselues, this is he whom we sometime had in derision & in a parable of reproch.

4 *Wee fooles thought his life madnesse, and his ende without honour. Chap.3.2.

5 Howe is hee counted among the children of God, and his portion is among the Saints!

6 Therefore wee haue erred from the way of trueth, & the light of righteousnes hath not shined vnto vs, & the sun of vnderstāding rose not vpō vs.

7 Wee haue wearied our selues in the way of wickednesse and destruction, and wee haue gone through dangerous waies: but we haue not knowen the way of the Lord.

8 What hath pride profited vs? or what profite hath the pompe of riches brought vs?

9 All those things are *passed away like a shadow, and as a post that passeth by: 1.Chron.29.15. chap.2.5.

10 As a ship that passeth ouer the waues of the water, which when it is gone by, the trace thereof cannot be found, neither the path of it in the floodes:

11 Or as a *birde that flieth thorowe the ayre, and no man can see any token of her passage, but only heare the noyse of her wings, beating the light winde, parting the ayre through the vehemencie of her going, and flieth on shaking her wings, whereas afterward no token of her way can be found: Pro.30.19.

12 Or as when an arrow is shot at a mark, it parteth the aire, which immediatly cōmeth together again, so that a man cānot know where it went thorow.

13 Euen so we, assoone as we were borne, we began to draw to our end, and haue shewed no token of vertue, but are consumed in our own wickednes.

14 For *the hope of the vngodly is like the dust that is blowen away with the winde, & like a thinne some that is scattered abroad with the storme, & as the smoke which is dispersed with the winde, and as the remembrance of him passeth, that tarieth but for a day, Iob 8.9.psa.1.4 and 14.34.prou. 10.25.and 11.7. iames 1.10.12.

15 But the righteous shal liue for euer: their reward also is with the Lorde, and the most High hath care of them:

16 Therefore shal they receiue a glorious kingdome, and a beautifull crowne of the Lords hand: for with his right hand shal he couer them, and with his arme shall he defend them.

17 He shal take his ielousie for armour, and shall arme the creatures to be reuenged of the enemies.

18 He shall put on righteousnes for a brestplate, and take true iudgement in stead of an helmet.

19 He wil take holines for an inuincible shielde.

20 He wil sharpen his fierce wrath for a sworde, and the world shall fight with him against the vnwise.

21 Then shall the thunder-bolts go streight out of the lightnings, and shall flie to the marke as out of the bent bowe of the cloudes, and out of his anger that throweth stones, shal thicke haile bee cast, and the water of the sea shalbe wroth against them, and the floods shall mightily ouerflowe.

22 And a mighty wind shal stand vp against them, and like a storme shall scatter them abroad. Thus iniquitie shal bring all the earth to a wildernes, and wickednes shal ouerthrow the thrones of the mighty.

CHAP. VI.

The calling of Kings Princes, and Iudges, which are also exhorted to search wisdome.

HEare therefore, O yee Kings, and vnderstande: learne, ye that be iudges of the endes of the earth.

2 Giue eare, yee that rule the multitudes, and glory in the multitude of people.

3 For the rule * is giuen you of the Lorde, and power by the most High, which wil try your works, and search out your imaginations. Rom.13.2.

4 Because that ye being officers of his kingdome haue not iudged aright, nor kept the Law, nor walked after the wil of God,

5 Horribly & suddenly wil he appeare vnto you: for an hard iudgement shall they haue that beare rule.

6 For hee that is most low is worthy mercy, but the mightie shalbe mightily tormented.

7 For he that is Lord ouer all, wil spare no *person, neither shall he feare any greatnes: for he hath made the small and great, and careth for all alike, Deut.10.17. 2.chr.19.7.iob 34.19. eccles.35. 12.16.acts.10 34 rom.2.11.gal.2.6 ephe. 6.9.colos 3. 25.1.pet.1.17.

8 But for the mightie abideth the sorer trial.

9 Vnto you therefore, O tyrants, doe I speake, that ye may learne wisdome, and not goe amisse.

10 For they that keepe holines holily, shalbe holy, and they that are learned there, shal finde a defence.

11 Wherefore set your delite vpon my wordes and desire them, and ye shalbe instructed.

12 Wisdome shineth and neuer fadeth away, and is easily seene of them that loue her, and founde of such as seeke her,

13 She preuenteth them that desire her, that she may first shew herselfe vnto them.

14 Who so awaketh vnto her betimes, shall haue no great trauaile: for he shall finde her sitting at his doores.

15 To thinke vpō her thē is perfect vnderstāding: & who so watcheth for her, shalbe soone wout care.

16 For she goeth about, seeking such as are meete for her, and sheweth herselfe cheerefully vnto them in the wayes, and meeteth them in euery thought.

17 For the most true desire of discipline is her beginning: and the care of discipline is loue:

18 And loue is the keeping of her lawe: and the keeping of the lawes is ỹ assurance of immortalitie:

19 And immortalitie maketh vs neere vnto God.

20 Therefore the desire of wisdome leadeth to the kingdome.

21 If your delite bee then in thrones, and sceptres, O Kings of the people, honour wisedome, that ye may reigne for euer.

22 Nowe I will tell you what wisdome is, and whence it commeth, and will not hide the mysteries from you, but wil seeke her out from the beginning of her natiuitie, and bring the knowledge of her into light, and wil not keepe backe the trueth.

23 Neither wil I haue to do with consuming enuie: for such a man shal not be partaker of wisdom.

24 But ỹ multitude of the wise is the preseruation of the world, & a wise king is the stay of the people.

25 Bee therefore instructed by my words, and ye shall haue profite.

CHAP. VII.

Wisdome ought to be preferred aboue all things.

I My selfe am also mortal & a man like al other, & am come of him that was first made of the earth.

2 And in my mothers wombe was I fashioned
*Iob 10.10. 11. to be flesh in tenne moneths: I was *brought together into blood of the seede of man, and by the pleasure that commeth with sleepe.

3 And when I was borne, I receiued the common aire, and fel vpon the earth, which is of like nature, crying and weeping at the first as all other do.

4 I was nourished in swadling clothes, and w̃ cares.

5 For there is no King that had any other beginning of birth.

*Iob 1.21. 2.sim.6.7. 6 All *men then haue one entrance vnto life, and a like going out.

7 Wherefore I prayed, and vnderstanding was giuen mee: I called, and the spirit of wisdome came vnto me.

8 I preferred her to sceptres and thrones, and counted riches nothing in comparison of her.

*Iob 28.15. 9 *Neither did I compare precious stones vnto her: for al gold is but a litle grauel in respect of her, and siluer shalbe counted but clay before her.

10 I loued her aboue health and beautie, and purposed to take her for my light: for her light can not be quenched.

*1.King.3.13. matth.6.33. 11 All *good things therefore came to me together w̃ her, & innumerable riches thorow her hãds.

12 So I was glad in all: for wisdome was the authour thereof, and I knew not that she was the mother of these things.

13 And I learned vnfainedly, and communicated without enuie, and I doe not hide her riches.

14 For she is an infinite treasure vnto men, which who so vse, become partakers of the loue of God, and are accepted for the gifts of knowledge.

15 God hath granted me to speake according to my minde, and to iudge worthily of the things, that are giuen mee: for he is the leader vnto wisedome, and the directer of the wise.

16 For in his hand are both we and our wordes, and all wisdome, and the knowledge of the workes.

17 For he hath giuen me the true knowledge of the things that are, so that I knowe how the worlde was made, and the powers of the elements, 18 The beginning and the ende, and the mids of the times: howe the times alter, and the chaunge of the seasons.

19 The course of ỹ yere, the situatiõ of the stars,

20 The nature of liuing things, and the furiousnes of beastes, the power of the winds, and the imaginations of men, the diuersities of plantes, and the vertues of rootes.

21 And all things both secret and knowen doe I knowe: for wisdome the worker of all things, hath taught me it.

22 For in her is ỹ Spirit of vnderstanding, which is holy, ỹ only begotten, manifold, subtil, moueable, cleare, vndefiled, euident, not hurtfull, louing the good, sharpe, which cannot be letted, doing good,

23 Courteous, stable, sure, without care, hauing all power, circumspect in all things, and passing through all intellectuall, pure and subtil spirits.

24 For wisdom is nimbler then all nimble things: shee goeth thorowe and attaineth to all things, because of her pureneſſe.

25 For she is the breath of the power of God, & a pure influence ỹ floweth from the glory of the Almighty: therfore cã no defiled thing come vnto her.

26 For *she is the brightneſſe of the euerlasting *Heb.1.3. light, the vndefiled mirrour of the maiestie of God, and the image of his goodneſſe.

27 And being one, she can doe all things, and remayning in herselfe, renueth all, and according to the ages shee entreth into the holy soules, and maketh them the friends of God and Prophets.

28 For God loueth none, if he dwel not w̃ wisdom.

29 For she is more beautifull then the sunne, and is aboue all the order of the starres, and the light is not to be compared vnto her.

30 For night commeth vpon it, but wickednesse cannot ouercome wisdome.

CHAP. VIII.

The effects of wisdome.

SHe also reacheth frõ one ende to another mightily, and comely doth she order all things.

2 I haue loued her, & sought her from my youth: I desired to marry her, such loue had I vnto her beautie.

3 In ỹ shee is conuersant w̃ God, it commendeth her nobilitie: yea, the Lord of all things loueth her.

4 For she is the scholemistres of the knowledge of God, and the chooser out of his workes.

5 If riches be a possessiõ to be desired in this life, what is richer then wisdom, that worketh al things?

6 For if prudencie worketh, what is it among all things, that worketh better then she?

7 If a man loue righteousnesse, her labours are vertuous: for she teacheth sobernes and prudencie, righteousnesse & strength, which are the most profitable things that men can haue in this life.

8 If a man desire great experience, shee can tell the things that are past, & discerne things to come: she knoweth the subtilties of wordes, and the solutions of darke sentences: shee foreseeth the signes and wonders, or euer they come to passe, and the successe of seasons and times.

9 Therefore I purposed to take her vnto my company, knowing that shee woulde counsell mee good things, and comfort me in cares and griefes.

10 For her sake shall I haue glory among ỹ multitude, & honour among ỹ elders, though I be yong.

11 I shalbe found of sharpe iudgement, so that I shalbe marueilous in the sight of great men.

12 When I hold my tongue, they shall abide my leysure: when I speake, they shall heare diligently, and and if I talke much, they shall lay their hands vpon their mouth.

13 Moreouer by her I shall obtaine immortalitie, and leaue an euerlasting memoriall among them that come after me.

14 I shall gouerne the people, and the nations shalbe subdued vnto me.

15 Horrible tyrants shall be afraid when they heare me: among the multitude I shall be counted good, and mightie in battell.

16 When I come home, I shall rest with her: for her company hath no bitternes, and her felowship hath no tediousnesse, but mirth and ioy.

17 Nowe when I considered these things by my selfe, and pondered them in mine heart, how that to be ioyned vnto wisdome is immortalitie,

18 And great pleasure is in her friendship, and that in the workes of her hands are infinite riches, and that in the exercise of talking with her is prudencie, and glory by communing with her, I went about seeking how I might take her vnto me.

19 For I was a wittie childe, and was of a good spirit.

20 Yea, rather being good, I came to an vndefiled body.

21 Neuertheles, when I perceiued that I could not enioy her except God gaue her, (and that was a point of wisdom also, to know whose gift it was) I went vnto the Lord, and besought him, and with my whole heart I said,

CHAP. IX.

A prayer of Salomon to obtaine wisdome.

O God of Fathers, and Lord of mercie, which hast made all things with thy word,

2 And ordained man through thy wisedome, that he should haue *dominion ouer the creatures which thou hast made,

3 And gouerne the world according to equitie and righteousnes, and execute iudgement with an vpright heart:

4 *Giue me that wisdom, which sitteth by thy throne, & put me not out frō among thy children.

5 For I thy *seruant, and sonne of thine handmaid, am a feeble person, & of a short time, & yet lesse in ỹ vnderstanding of iudgement & the lawes.

6 And though a man be neuer so perfect among the children of men, yet if thy wisdome bee not with him, he shalbe nothing regarded.

7 * Thou hast chosen me to be a King of thy people, & the iudge of thy sonnes and daughters.

8 Thou hast commanded me to build a temple vpon thine holy Mount, & an altar in ỹ city where in thou dwellest, a likenes of thine holy Tabernacle, which thou hast prepared from the beginning,

9 And thy * wisdome with thee, which knoweth thy workes, which also was when thou madest the world, and which knew what was acceptable in thy sight, and right in thy commandements.

10 Send her out of thine holy heauens, & send her from the throne of thy Maiestie, that shee may be with mee, and labour, that I may know what is acceptable in thy sight.

11 For shee knoweth and vnderstandeth all things, and she shall lead me soberly in my workes and preserue me by her glory.

12 So shall my workes be acceptable, and then shall I gouerne thy people righteously, and bee meete for my fathers throne.

13 For* what man is he ỹ can know the counsel of God? or who can thinke what the wil of God is?

14 For the thoughts of mortall men are fearefull, and our forecastes are vncertaine, 15 Because a corruptible body is heauy vnto the soule, and the earthly mansion keepeth downe the minde that is full of cares.

16 And hardly can we discerne the things that are vpon earth, and with great labour finde we out the things which are before vs: who can then seeke out the things that are in heauen?

17 Who can know thy counsell, except thou giue him wisdome, and send thine holy Spirit from aboue?

18 For so the wayes of them which are vpon earth are reformed, and men are taught the things that are pleasant vnto thee, and are preserued through wisdome.

CHAP. X.

The deliuerance of the righteous, and destruction of the enemies commeth through wisdome.

SHe preserued the first father of the world, that was formed, and kept him when he was created alone, and brought him out of his offence,

2 And * gaue him power to rule all things,

3 * But the vnrighteous in his wrath departed from her, and perished by killing his brother in his furie.

4 For whose cause the* earth was ouerflowen, but wisdome preserued it againe, gouerning the iust man by a litle wood.

5 Moreouer, *when the nations were ioyned in their malicious confederacies, she knew the righteous, & preserued him faultles vnto God, & ‖ kept him sure, because she loued him tenderly as a sonne

6 She preserued the righteous, *when the vngodly perished, when he fled from the fire that fell downe vpon the fiue cities.

7 Of whose wickednes the waste land that smoketh, yet giueth testimonie, and the trees that beare fruite that neuer commeth to ripenesse: and for a remembrance of the vnfaithfull soule, there standeth a pillar of salt.

8 For all such as regarded not wisdome, had not only this hurt, that they knew not the things which were good, but also left behind them vnto men a memoriall of their foolishnes, so that in the things wherein they sinned, they can not lie hid.

9 But wisdom deliuered them that serued her.

10 * When the righteous fled because of his brothers wrath, she led him the right way, shewed him the kingdome of God, gaue him knowledge of holy things, made him rich in his labours, and made his paines profitable.

11 Against the couetousnesse of such as defrauded him, she stood by him and made him rich.

12 She saued him from the enemies, & defended him from them that lay in waite, and she gaue him the price in a mightie battell, that he might know that the feare of God is stronger then all things.

13 *When the righteous was sold, she forsooke him not, but deliuered him from sinne: she went downe with him into the dungeon,

14 And fayled him not in the bands, till she had brought him the scepter of the realme, and power against those that oppressed him, and them that had accused him, she declared to be lyers, and gaue him perpetuall glorie.

15 *She deliuered the righteous people & faultlesse seede from the nations that oppressed them.

SHe prospered their works in the hands of thine holy Prophet.

*Exod.16.1. 2 *They went through the wildernesse that was not inhabited, and pitched their tentes in places where there lay no way.

*Exod.17.1,2,7. 3 *They stood against their enemies, & were auenged of their aduersaries.

*Numb.20.11. 4 *When they were thirstie, they called vpon thee, & water was giuen them out of the hie rock, & their thirst was quenched out of the hard stone.

5 For by the things whereby their enemies were punished, by the same were the Israelites helped in their need.

6 For in the stead of a fountaine of running water, the enemies were troubled at the corrupt blood, which was to rebuke the commandement of the killing of the children, but thou gauest vnto thine owne abundance of water vnlooked for.

7 Declaring by the thirst that was at that time *Exod.7.20. *how thou haddest punished thine aduersaries.

8 For when they were tryed and chastised with mercie, they knew howe the vngodly were iudged and punished in wrath.

9 For these hast thou exhorted as a father, and proued them: but thou hast condemned the other as a righteous king, when thou didst examine them.

10 Whether they were absent or present, their punishment was alike: for their griefe was double with mourning, & the remembrance of things past.

11 For when they perceiued ỹ through their torments good came vnto them, they felt the Lord.

12 And seeing the things that came to passe, at the last they wondred at him, whome afore they had cast out, denyed and derided: for they had an other thirst then the iust.

13 Because of the foolish deuices of their wickednes wherewith they were deceiued, and worshipped *serpents, that had not the vse of reason, and vile beastes, thou sendedst a multitude of vnreasonable beasts vpon them for a vengeance, that they might knowe, that wherewith a man sinneth, by the same also shall he be punished. *Chap.12.24. rom.1.23.

14 For vnto thine almighty hand, that made the world of *naught, it was not vnpossible to send among them a multitude of *beares or fierce lyons, *Gen.1.1. heb.11.3. *Leuit.26.22. ierem.8.16,17. chap.16.1.

15 Or furious beasts newly created, and vnknowen, which should breathe out blastes of fire and cast out smoke as a tempest, or shoote horrible sparkes like lightnings out of their eyes.

16 Which might not only destroy them with hurting, but also kil them with their horrible sight.

17 Yea, without these might they haue bene cast downe with one winde, being persecuted by thy vengeance, and scattered abroad through the power of thy Spirit: but thou hast ordered all things in measure, number and weight.

18 For thou hast euer had great strength & might, and who can withstand the power of thine arme!

19 For as the smal thing that the balance weigheth, so is the world before thee, and as a drop of the morning dew, that falleth downe vpon the earth.

20 But thou hast mercy vpon all: for thou hast power of al things, & makest as though thou sawest not the sinnes of men, because they should amend.

21 For thou louest all the things that are, & hatest none of them whom thou hast made: for thou wouldest haue created nothing ỹ thou hadst hated.

22 And how might any thing endure, if it were not thy will? or howe could any thing be preserued, except it were called of thee?

23 But thou sparest all: for they are thine, O Lord, which art the louer of soules.

CHAP. XII.

2 The mercie of God toward sinners. 14 The workes of God are vnreproueable. 19 God giueth leasure to repent.

FOr thine incorruptible spirit is in all things.

2 Therefore thou chastenest them measurably that go wrong, and warnest them by putting them in remembrance of the things, wherein they haue offended, that leauing wickednesse, they may beleeue in thee, O Lord.

3 *As for those olde inhabitants of the holy land, thou diddest hate them. *Deut.9.5. and 12.31. and 18.9,12.

4 For they committed abominable workes, as sorceries and wicked sacrifices,

5 And slaying of their own children without mercy, & eating of ỹ bowels of mans flesh in bāketing, where the raging Priestes shed abominable blood.

6 And the fathers were the chiefe murtherers of the soules destitute of all helpe, whome thou wouldest destroy by the hands of our fathers,

7 That the land which thou louest aboue all other, might be a meete dwelling for the children of God.

8 *Neuertheless, thou sparedst them also as men, and sendedst the forerunners of thine hoste, euen hornets to destroy them by litle and litle, *Exod.33.2. deut.2.22.

9 Not that thou wast vnable to subdue the vngodly vnto the righteous in battell, or with cruell beasts, or with one rough word to destroy them together.

10 But in punishing them by litle and litle, thou gauest them space to repent, knowing well, that it was an vnrighteous nation and wicked of nature, and that their thought could neuer be altered.

11 For it was a cursed seed from the beginning: yet hast thou not spared them when they sinned, because thou fearedst any man.

12 For who dare say, *What hast thou done? or who dare stand against thy iudgement? or who dare accuse thee for the nations that perish, whom thou hast made? or who dare stand against thee to reuenge the wicked men? *Rom.9.20.

13 For there is none other God but thou, *that carest for all things, that thou mayest declare how that thy iudgement is not vnright. *1.Pet.5.7.

14 There dare neither King nor tyrant in thy sight require accounts of them whome thou hast punished.

15 For so much then as thou art righteous thy selfe, thou ordrest all things righteously, *thinking it not agreable to thy power to condemne him, that hath not deserued to be punished. *Iob.10.2,3.

16 For thy power is the beginning of righteousnesse, and because thou art Lord of all things, it causeth thee to spare all things.

17 When men thinke thee not to be of a perfite power, thou declarest thy power, and reprouest the boldnesse of the wise.

18 But thou ruling the power, iudgest with equitie, and gouernest vs with great fauour: for thou mayest shew thy power when thou wilt.

19 By such workes nowe hast thou taught thy people, that a man should bee iust and louing, and hast made thy children to bee of a good hope: for thou giuest repentance to sinners.

20 For if thou hast punished the enemies of thy children that had deserued death w so great cõsideration, & requesting vnto them, giuing them time & place that they might change from their wickednes, 21 With howe great circumspection wilt thou punish thine own children, vnto whose fathers thou hast sworne and made couenants of good promises?

22 So when thou doest chasten vs, thou punishest our enemies a thousande times more, to the intent that when wee iudge, wee should diligently consider thy goodnesse, and when wee are iudged, we should hope for mercy.

23 Wherfore thou hast tormented the wicked ỹ haue liued a dissolute life by their own imaginatiõs.

Chap. 11. 13. rom. 1. 23. 24 *For they went astray very farre in the wayes of errour, and esteemed the beasts, which their enemies despised, for gods, being abused after the maner of children, that haue none vnderstanding.

25 Therfore hast thou sent this punishment that they should be in derision as childrẽ without reason.

26 But they that will not bee reformed by those scornefull rebukes, shall feele the worthy punishment of God.

27 For in those things when they suffered, they disdained: but in these whome they counted godly, when they sawe themselues punished by them, they all acknowledge the true God whome afore they had denied to know: therefore came extreme damnation vpon them.

CHAP. XIII.

1 All things be vaine, except the knowledge of God. 10 Idolaters and idoles are mocked.

Rom. 1. 19. SVrely all men are vaine by nature, and are ignorant of God,* and could not knowe him that is, by the good things that are seene, neither consider by the workes, the worke-master.

Deut. 4. 19. and 17. 3. 2 * But they thought the fire, or the winde or the swift aire, or the course of the starres, or the raging water, or the lightes of heauen to bee gouernours of the world, and gods.

3 Though they had such pleasure in their beautie that they thought them gods, yet shoulde they haue knowen, how much more excellent hee is that made them: for the first authour of beautie hath created these things.

4 Or if they marueiled at the power, and operation of them, yet should they haue perceiued thereby, how much he ỹ made these things, is mightier.

5 For by the greatnesse of their beautie, and of the creatures, the Creator being compared with them, may be considered.

6 But yet the blame is lesse in these, ỹ seeke God and would finde him, & yet peraduenture do erre.

Rom. 1. 21. 7 For * they goe about by his workes to seeke him, and are perswaded by the sight, because the things are beautifull that are seene.

8 Howbeit they are not to be excused.

9 For if they can knowe so much, that they can discerne the worlde, why doe they not rather finde out the Lord thereof?

10 But miserable are they, and among the dead is their hope, that call them gods, which are the workes of mens handes, golde, and siluer, and the thing that is inuented by arte, and the similitude of beastes, or any vaine stone that hath bene made by the hand of antiquitie.

11 * Or as when a carpenter cutteth downe a tree meete for the worke, & pareth off al the barke thereof cunningly, and by arte maketh a vessel profitable for the vse of life. Isa 44. 13. iere. 10. 3.

12 And the things that are cut off frõ his worke, he bestoweth to dresse his meate to fill himselfe,

13 And that which is left of these things, which is profitable for nothing (for it is a crooked piece of wood and full of knobbes) he carueth it diligently at his leasure, and according as hee is expert in cunning, he giueth it a proportion, and fashioneth it after the similitude of a man, 14 Or maketh it like some vile beast, and straketh it ouer with red, and painteth it, and couereth euery spotte that is in it.

15 And when he hath made a conuenient tabernacle for it, he setteth it in a wall, and maketh it fast with yron, 16 Prouiding so for it, least it fall: for he knoweth that it cannot helpe it selfe, because it is an Image, which hath neede of helpe.

17 Then hee prayeth for his goods, and for his marriage, and for children: hee is not ashamed to speake vnto it, that hath no life.

18 Hee calleth on him that is weake for health: he prayeth vnto him that is dead for life: hee requireth him of helpe that hath no experience at all.

19 And for his iourney, him that is not able to go, and for gaine, and worke, and successe of his affaires he requireth furtherance of him, that hath no maner of power.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 The detestation and abomination of images, 8 A curse of them and of him that maketh them. 14 Whereof idolatrie proceeded. 23 What euils come of idolatrie.

AGaine, another man purposing to saile, and intending to passe thorow the raging waues, calleth vpon a stocke more rotten then the shippe that carieth him.

2 For as for ‖ it, couetousnesse of money hath found it out, & the craftesman made it by cunning. ‖ Or, the shippe.

3 But thy prouidence, O Father, gouerneth it: *For thou hast made a way, euen in the sea, and a sure path among the waues, Exod. 14. 22.

4 Declaring thereby, that thou hast power to helpe in all things, yea, though a man went to the sea without meanes.

5 Neuertheless thou wouldest not, that the works of thy wisdome should be vaine, & therfore doe men cõmit their liues to a smal piece of wood, and passe ouer the stormy sea in a ship, & are saued.

6 * For in the olde time also when the proude giants perished, the hope of the worlde went into a ship which was gouerned by thine hand, and so left seed of generation vnto the world. Gen. 6. 4. and 7. 10.

7 For blessed is the tree whereby righteousnes commeth.

8 But that is cursed ỹ is made with hands,* both it, and he that made it: he, because he made it, and it being a corruptible thing, because it was called god. psal. 115. 8. baruc. 6. 3.

both like hated of God: so truely the worke and he that made it shalbe punished together.

10 Therefore shall there bee a visitation for the idoles of the nations: for of the creatures of God they are become abomination, * and stumbling blockes vnto the soules of men, and a snare for the feete of the vnwise.

*Ier.10.8. habak.2.18.

11 For the inuenting of idoles was the beginning of whoredome, and the finding of them is the corruption of life.

12 For they were not from the beginning, neither shall they continue for euer.

13 The vaine glory of men brought them into the world: therefore shall they come shortly to an end.

14 When a father mourned grieuously for his sonne that was taken away suddenly, hee made an image for him that was once dead, whome now hee worshippeth as a god, and ordeined to his seruants ceremonies and sacrifices.

15 Thus by proces of time this wicked custome preuailed, and was kept as a lawe, and idoles were worshipped by the commandement of tyrants.

16 As for those that were so farre off that men might not worship them presently, they did counterfeit the visage that was farre off, and made a gorgeous image of a King, whom they would honour, that they might by all meanes flatter him that was absent, as though he had bene present.

17 Againe the ambition of the craftesmen thrust forward the ignorant to increase the superstition.

18 For hee peraduenture willing to please a noble man, laboured with all his cunning to make the image of the best fashion.

19 And so thorow the beautie of the worke the multitude was allured, and so tooke him now for a God, which a litle afore was but honored as a man.

20 And this was the deceiuing of mans life, when men, being in seruitude, through calamitie and tyrannie ascribed vnto stones and stockes the name, which ought not to be communicate vnto any.

21 Moreouer, this was not ynough for them that they erred in the knowledge of God: but where as they liued in great warres of ignorance, those so great plagues called they peace.

*Deut.18.10. ierem.7.9.and 19.4.

22 For either * they slew their owne children in sacrifice, or vsed secret ceremonies, or raging dissoluteneſſe by strange rites.

23 And so kept neither life nor marriage cleane: but either one slew another by treason, or els vexed him by adulterie.

24 So were all mixt together, blood and slaughter, theft and deceite, corruption, vnfaithfulnes, tumults, periurie, 25 Disquieting of good men, vnthankfulnesse, defiling of soules, changing of birth, disorder in mariage, adulterie and vncleannesse.

26 For the worshipping of idoles that ought not to be named, is the beginning and the cause and the ende of all euil:

27 For either they be mad when they be merie, or propheſie lies, or liue vngodly, or els lightly forsweare themselues.

28 For in so much as their trust is in the idoles, which haue no life, though they sweare falsely, yet they thinke to haue no hurt.

29 Therefore for two causes shal they iustly bee punished, because they haue an euill opinion of God, addicting themselues vnto idoles, and because they sweare vniustly to deceiue, and despise holines.

30 For it is not the power of them by whom they sweare, but the vengeance of them that sinne, which punisheth alwayes the offence of the vngodly.

CHAP. XV.

The voyce of the faithfull, praysing the mercie of God, by whose grace they serue not idoles.

BVt thou, O our God, art gracious and true, long suffering, and gouernest all things by mercy.

2 Though wee sinne, yet are wee thine: for wee knowe thy power: but wee sinne not, knowing that we are counted thine.

3 For to knowe thee, is perfite righteousnes, and to know thy power is the roote of immortalitie.

4 For neither hath the wicked inuention of men deceiued vs, nor the vnprofitable labour of the painters, nor an image spotted with diuers colours.

5 Whose sight stirreth vp the desire of the ignorant: so that hee coueteth the forme that hath no life, of a dead image.

6 They ẏ loue such wicked things are worthy to haue such things to trust to, & they that make them, and they that desire them, and they ẏ worship them.

7 The * potter also tempereth soft earth, and facioneth euery vessel with labour to our vse: but of the same clay he maketh both the vessels, that serue to cleane vses, and the contrary likewise: but wherto euery vessel serueth, the potter is the iudge.

*Rom.9.21.

8 So by his wicked labour hee maketh a vaine God of the same clay: euen hee, which a litle afore was made of earth himselfe, and within a litle while after goeth thither againe whence hee was taken, * whē he shal make account for the lone of his life.

*Luke 12.20.

9 Notwithstanding he careth not for the labour he taketh, nor that his life is short, but hee striueth with the goldsmithes, and siluersmithes, and counterfeiteth the coppersmithes, and taketh it for an honour to make deceiueable things.

10 His heart is ashes, & his hope is more vile then earth, & his life is lesse worthy of honour then clay.

11 For he knoweth not his owne maker, ẏ gaue him his soule, that had power and breathed in him the breath of life.

12 But they count our life to bee but a pastime, and our conuersation as a market, where there is gaine: for they say we ought to be getting on euery side, though it be by euill meanes.

13 Now he that of earth maketh fraile vessels & images, knoweth himselfe to offend aboue al other.

14 Al the enemies of thy people, that hold them in subiection, are most vnwise, and more miserable then the very fooles.

15 For they iudge al the idoles of the nations to be gods, which neither haue eyesight to see, nor noses to smell, nor eares to heare, nor fingers of handes to grope, and their feete are slow to goe.

16 For man made them, and hee that hath but a borowed spirit, fashioned them: but no man can make a God like vnto himselfe.

17 For seeing he is but mortall himselfe, it is but mortal that he maketh with vnrighteous hands: hee himselfe is better then they whom he worshippeth: for he liued, but they neuer liued.

18 Yea, they worshipped beastes also, which are their most enemies, and which are the worst, if they be compared vnto others, because they haue none vnderstanding.

19 Neither haue they any beautie to bee desired in respect of other beastes: for they are destitute of Gods praise, and of his blessing.

THerfore by such things they are worthily punished &*tormented by the multitude of beasts.
2 In stead of the which punishment thou hast bene favourable to thy people, and to satisfie their appetite, hast prepared a meat of a strange taste, euen * quailes,
3 To the intent that they that desired meat, by the things which were shewed & sent among them, might turne away their necessarie desire, and that they which had suffered penurie for a space, should also feele a new taste.
4 For it was requisite, that they which vsed tyrannie, should fall into extreme povertie, and that to these onely it should be shewed, how their enemies were tormented.
5 * For when the cruell fiercenesse of the beasts came vpon them, & they were hurt with the stings of cruell serpents,
6 Thy wrath endured not perpetually, but they were troubled for a litle season, that they might be reformed, hauing a ‖ *signe of saluation, to remember the commandement of thy Law.
7 For he ý turned toward it, was not healed by the thing that he saw, but by thee, O Sauiour of all,
8 So in this thou shewedst our enemies, that it is thou, which deliuerest from all euill.
9 * For the biting of grashoppers and flies killed them, and there was no remedie found for their life: for they were worthy to be punished by such.
10 But the teeth of the venimous dragons could not ouercome thy children, for thy mercy came to helpe them, and healed them.
11 For they were pricked, because they should remember thy words, & were speedily healed, least they should fall into so deepe forgetfulnesse, that they could not be called backe by thy benefit.
12 For neither herbe nor plaister healed them, but thy word, O Lord, which healeth all things.
13 For thou hast the power of life and death, * and leadest downe vnto the gates of hell, & bringest vp againe.
14 A man in deed by his wickednesse may slay another: but when the spirit is gone foorth, it turneth not againe, neither can he call againe the soule that is taken away.
15 But it is not possible to escape thine hand.
16 *For the vngodly that would not know thee, were punished by the strength of thine arme, with strange raine and with haile, and were pursued with tempest that they could not auoyd, and were consumed with fire.
17 For it was a wonderous thing that fire might doe more then water, which quencheth all things: but the world is the auenger of the righteous.
18 For sometime was the fire so tame, that the beasts which were sent against the vngodly, burnt not: and that, because they should see & know, that they were persecuted with the punishment of God.
19 And sometime burnt the fire in the middes of the water aboue the power of fire, that it might destroy the generation of the vniust land.
20 * In the stead whereof thou hast fed thine owne people with Angels food, & sent them bread ready from heauen w thout their labour, which had abundance of all pleasures in it, and was meet for all tastes.
21 For thy sustenance declared thy sweetnesse vnto thy children, which serued to the appetite of him that tooke it, and was meet to that that euery man would.
22 Moreouer, the * snow and yce abode the fire and melted not, that they might know, that the fire burning in the haile, and sparkeling in the raine, destroyed the fruit of the enemies.
23 Againe it forgat his owne strength, that the righteous might be nourished.
24 For the creature that serueth thee which art the maker, is fierce in punishing the vnrighteous: but it is easie to doe good vnto such as put their trust in thee.
25 Therefore was it changed at the same time vnto all fashions to serue thy grace, which nourisheth all things, according to the desire of them that had need thereof,
26 That thy children whom thou louest, O Lord, might know, * that it is not the increase of fruits that feedeth men, but that it is thy word, which preserueth them that trust in thee.
27 For that which could not be destroyed with the fire, being onely warmed a little with the sunne beames, melted, 28 That it might be knowen that wee ought to preuent the sunne rising to giue thanks vnto thee, and to salute thee before the day-spring.
29 For the hope of the vnthankfull shall melt as the winter yce, & flow away as vnprofitable waters.

CHAP. XVII.

The iudgements of God against the wicked.

FOr thy iudgements are great, and can not be expressed: therefore men doe erre, that wil not be reformed.
2 For when the vnrighteous thought to haue thine holy people in subiection, they were bound with the bands of darkenesse, and long night, and being shut vp vnder the roofe, did lie there to escape the euerlasting prouidence.
3 And while they thought to be hidde in their darke sinnes, they were scattered abroad in the darke couering of forgetfulnesse, fearing horribly and troubled with visions.
4 For the denne that hid them, kept them not from feare: but the sounds that were about them, troubled them, and terrible visions and sorowfull sights did appeare.
5 No power of the fire might giue light, neither might the cleere flames of the starres lighten the horrible night.
6 For there appeared vnto them onely a sudden fire, very dreadfull: so that being afrayd of this vision, ‖ which they could not see, they thought the things, which they saw, to be woorse.
7 * And the illusions of the magicall artes were brought downe, & it was a most shamefull reproch for the boasting of their knowledge.
8 For they that promised to driue away feare and trouble from the sicke person, were sicke for feare, and woorthy to be laughed at.
9 And though no fearfull thing did feare them, yet were they afrayd at the beasts which passed by them, and at the hissing of the serpents: so that they died for feare, and said they saw not the ayre, which by no meanes can be auoyded.
10 For it is a fearfull thing, when malice is condemned by her owne testimonie: and a conscience that is touched, doth euer forecast cruell things.
11 For feare is nothing els, but a betraying of the succours, which reason offereth.
12 And the lesse that the hope is within, the more doth he esteeme the ignorance of the thing, that that tormenteth him, great.

13 But they that did endure the night that was intolerable, and that came out of the dungeon of hell, which is insupportable, slept the same sleepe, 14 And sometimes were troubled with monstrous visions, and sometimes they swooned, as though their owne soule should betray them: for a sudden feare not looked for came vpon them.

15 And thus, whosoeuer fel downe, he was kept and shut in prison, but without chaines.

16 For whether he was an husbandman, or a shepheard, or one that was set to worke alone, if he were taken, he must suffer this necessitie, that hee could not auoyd:

17 (For with one chaine of darknes were they al bound) whether it were an hissing winde or a sweet song of the birds among the thicke branches of the trees, or the vehemencie of hastie running water,

18 Or a great noyse of the falling downe of stones, or the running of skipping beastes, that could not be seene, or the noyse of cruell beastes, that roared, or the ‖ sound that answereth againe in the hollow mountaines: these fearefull things made them to swoone.

‖ Or, Echo.

19 For all the world shined with cleare light, and no man was hindred in his labour.

20 Onely vpon them there fell an heauy night, an image of that darkenesse that was to come vpon them: yea, they were vnto themselues more grieuous then darkenesse.

‖ Or, the Egyptians.

2 And because they did not hurt them, which did hurt them afore, they thanked them, and asked pardon for their enimitie,

3 * Therefore thou gauest them a burning pillar of fire to leade them in the vnknowen way, and madest the sunne that it hurted not them in their honourable iourney.

* Exod. 13 21. & 14.24. Psal. 76.14 & 105.39.

4 But they were woorthy to be depriued of the light, and to be kept in darkenesse, which had kept thy children shut vp, by whom the vncorrupt light of the Law should be giuen to the world.

5 * Whereas they thought to slay the babes of the Saints, by one childe that was cast out, and preserued to reproue them, thou hast taken away the multitude of their children, and destroyed them all together in the mightie water.

* Exod. 2.16.

6 Of that night were our fathers certified afore, that they knowing vnto what othes they had giuen credit, might be of good cheere.

7 Thus thy * people receiued the health of the righteous, but the enemies were destroyed.

* Exod. 14 24, 25.

8 For as thou hast punished the enemies, so hast thou glorified vs whom thou hast called.

9 For the righteous children of the good men offered secretly, and made a Law of righteousnesse by one consent, that the Saints should receiue good and euill in like maner, and that the fathers should first sing praises.

10 But a disagreeing crie was heard of the enemies, and there was a lamentable noise for the children that were bewailed.

11 For the * master and the seruant were punished with like punishment, and the common people suffered alike with the King.

* Exod. 12.5. and 11.29.

12 So they altogether had innumerable that died with one kinde of death: neither were the liuing sufficient to burie them: for in the twinckling of an eye the noblest offspring of them was destroyed.

13 So they that could beleeue nothing, because of the inchantments, confessed this people to be the children of God, in the destruction of the first borne:

14 For, while all things were in quiet silence, and the night was in the middest of her swift course,

15 Thine Almightie word leapt downe from heauen out of thy royall throne, as a fierce man of warre in the middes of the land that was destroyed,

16 And brought thine vnfeined commandement as a sharpe sword, and stood vp and filled all things with death, and being come downe to the earth, it reached vnto the heauens.

17 Then the sight of the fearefull dreames vexed them suddenly, & fearfulnesse came vpon them vnawares.

18 Then lay there one here, another there halfe dead, and shewed the cause of his death.

19 For the visions that vexed them, shewed them these things afore: so that they were not ignorant, wherefore they perished.

20 Now tentation of death touched the righteous also, and * among the multitude in the wildernesse there was a plague, but the wrath indured not long.

* Num. 16.46.

21 For the blamelesse man made haste, and defended them, and tooke the weapons of his ministration, euen prayer, and the reconciliation by the perfume, and set himselfe against the wrath, and so brought the miserie to an end, declaring that hee was thy seruant.

22 For he ouercame not the multitude with bodily power, nor with force of weapons, but with the word he subdued him that punished, alleaging the othes and couenant made vnto the fathers.

23 For when the dead were fallen downe by heaps one vpon another, he stood in the middes, and cut off the wrath, and parted it from comming to the liuing.

24 * For in the long garment was all the ornament, and in the foure rowes of the stones was the glory of the fathers grauen with thy maiestie in the diademe of his head.

* Exod. 28.6, 18.

25 Vnto these the destroyer gaue place, and was afraid of them: for it was sufficient, that they had tasted the wrath.

2 That they (when they had consented to let them goe, and had sent them out with diligence) would repent, and pursue them.

forget the things that had come to passe, that they might accomplish the punishment, which remained by torments,

5 Both that thy people might trie a marueilous passage, and that these might find a strange death.

6 For euery creature in his kinde was facioned of newe, and serued in their owne offices inioyned them, that thy childrē might be kept without hurt.

7 For the cloud ouershadowed their tents, and the drie earth appeared, where afore was water: so that in the red sea there was a way without impediment, and the great deepe became a greene field,

13 For the one sort would not receiue them when they were present, because they knew them not: the other sort brought the strangers into bondage that had done them good.

14 Beside all these things some would not suffer, that any regard should be had of them: for they handled the strangers despitefully.

15 Others that had receiued them with great banketting, and admitted them to be partakers of the same lawes, did afflict them with great labours.

18 For the things of the earth were changed into things of the water, & the thing that did swimme went vpon the ground.

19 The fire had power in the water contrary vnto his owne vertue, and the water forgate his owne kinde to quench.

20 Againe, the flames did not hurt ỹ flesh of the corruptible beasts that walked therein, neither melted they ỹ which seemed to be yce, and was of a nature that would melt, & yet was an immortal meat.

21 For in all things, O Lorde, thou hast magnified and glorified thy people, and hast not despised to assist them in euery time and place.

THE WISDOME OF IESVS THE SONNE OF SIRACH, called Ecclesiasticus.

¶ This Argument was found in a certaine Greeke copie.

THis Iesus was the sonne of Sirach, and Sirachs father was also called Iesus, and hee liued in the latter times, after the people had bene ledde away captiue, and brought home againe, and almost after all the Prophets. Nowe his grandfather, as hee himselfe witnesseth, was a man of great diligence, and wisdome among the Hebrewes, who did not onely gather the graue sentences of wise men, that had bene before him, but he himselfe also spake many full of great knowledge and wisdome. So this first Iesus died, and left this which he had gathered, and Sirach afterward left it to Iesus his sonne, who tooke it and put it in order in a booke, and called it WISDOME, intituling it both by his owne name, his fathers name, and his grandfathers: thinking by this title of Wisdome to allure the reader to reade this booke with more great desire, and to consider it more diligently. Therefore this booke conteineth wise sayings, and darke sentences, and similitudes with certaine diuine histories which are notable and ancient, euen of men that were approoued of God, and certeine prayers, and songs of the author himselfe: moreouer, what benefits the Lord had bestowed vpon his people, and what plagues he had heaped vpon their enemies. This Iesus did imitate Salomon, and was no lesse famous in wisdome and doctrine, who was therefore called a man of great knowledge, as he was indeed.

The Prologue of the Wisdome of Iesus the sonne of Sirach.

WHereas many, and great things haue bene giuen vs by the Law and the Prophets, and by others that haue followed them, (for the which things Israel ought to be commended by the reason of doctrine and wisdome, whereby the readers ought not only to become learned themselues, but also may be able by the diligent studie thereof to be profitable vnto strangers both by speaking and writing) after that my grandfather Iesus had giuen himselfe to the reading of the Law and the Prophets, and other books of our fathers, and had gotten therein sufficient iudgement, he purposed also to write something perteining to learning and wisdome, to the intent that they which were desirous to learne, and would giue themselues to these things, might profit much more in liuing according to the Law. Wherefore I exhort you to receiue it louingly, and to reade it with diligence, and to take it in good woorth, though we seeme to come in some things not able to atteine to the interpretation of such words as are hard to be expressed: for the things that are spoken in the Hebrew tongue, haue another force in themselues then when they are translated into another tongue, and not only these things but other things also, as the Law it selfe, and the Prophets, and other books haue no small difference when they are spoken in their owne language. Therefore in the eight and thirtieth yeere, when I came into Egypt, vnder king Euergetes, and continued there, I found a copie full of great learning, & I thought it necessary, to bestow my diligence, and trauaile to interprete this booke. So for a certaine time with great watching and studie I gaue my selfe to the finishing of this booke, that it might be published, that they which remaine in banishment, and are desirous to learne, might apply themselues vnto good maners, and liue according to the Lawe.

CHAP. I.

1 Wisedome commeth of God. 11 A praise of the feare of God. 29 The meanes to come by wisedome.

ALl wisdom * commeth of the Lord, [and hath bene euer with him,] and is with him for euer.

2 Who can number the sand of the sea, and the drops of the raine, and the dayes of the world? [who can measure] the height of the heauen, the bredth of the earth, and the depth?

3 Who can finde the wisedome [of God which hath bene before all things?]

4 Wisdome hath bene created before al things, & the vnderstanding of prudence frō euerlasting.

5 [The word of God most high is the fountaine of wisedome, and the euerlasting commandements are the entrance vnto her.]

6 *Vnto whom hath the root of wisdom bene declared? or who hath knowen her wise counsels?

7 [Vnto whom hath the doctrine of wisedome bene discouered and shewed? and who hath vnderstood the manifold entrance vnto her?]

8 There is one wise, [euen the most hie Creator of al things, the Almighty, the King of power] and very terrible, which sitteth vpon his throne.

9 He is the Lord, that hath created her [throw the holy Ghost:] he hath seene her, numbred her, [and measured her.]

10 He hath powred her out vpon all his works, and vpon all flesh, according to his gift, and giueth her abundantly vnto them that loue him.

11 The feare of the Lord is glory, and gladnes, and reioycing, and a ioyfull crowne.

12 The feare of the Lord maketh a merie heart, and giueth gladnesse and ioy, and long life.

13 Who so feareth the Lord, it shal go wel with him at the last, and he shall finde fauour in the day of his death.

14 [The loue of God is honourable wisedome, and vnto whom it appeareth in a vision, they loue it for the vision, and for the knowledge of the great workes thereof.]

15 * The feare of the Lorde is the beginning of wisedome, and was made with the faithfull in the wombe: [thee goeth with the chosen women, and is knowen with the righteous and faithfull.

16 The feare of the Lord is an holy knowledge.

17 Holines shall preserue, and iustifie the heart, and giueth mirth and gladnesse.

18 Who so feareth the Lorde, shall prosper, and in the day of his ende, he shalbe blessed.]

19 Shee hath built her euerlasting foundations with men, and is giuen to be with their seede.

20 To feare God is the fulnesse of wisdome, and filleth men with her fruites.

21 She filleth their whole house with [al] things desireable, and the garners with the things, that she bringeth forth, and both twaine are gifts of God.

22 The feare of the Lord is the crowne of wisedome, and giueth peace and perfect health: he hath seene her, and numbred her.

23 ‖Shee raineth downe knowledge, and vnderstanding of wisedome, and hath brought vnto honour, them that possessed her.

24 The feare of the Lorde is the roote of wisedome, and her branches are long life.

25 [In the treasures of wisdome is vnderstanding, and holy knowledge, but wisedome is abhorred of sinners.]

26 The feare of the Lord drieth out sinne: and when she is present, she drieth away anger.

27 ¶ For wicked anger cannot bee iustified: for his rashnesse in his anger shall be his destruction.

28 A patient man will suffer for a time, and then shall he haue the reward of ioy.

29 He will hide his wordes for a time, and many mens lips shall speake of his wisdome.

30 In the treasures of wisdome are the secrets of knowledge, but ỹ sinner aborreth ỹ worship of God.

31 If thou desire wisedome, keepe the commandements, and the Lord shal giue her vnto thee, [and will fill her treasures.]

32 For the feare of the Lord is wisdome and discipline: he hath pleasure in faith, and meekenesse.

33 Be not disobedient to the feare of the Lord, and come not vnto him with a double heart.

34 ¶ Bee not an hypocrite that men should speake of thee, but take heed what thou speakest.

35 Exalt not thy selfe, least thou fall and bring thy soule to dishonour, and so God discouer thy secrets, & cast thee downe in the middes of the congregation, because thou wouldest not receiue the true feare of God, and thine heart is ful of deceite.

CHAP. II.

1 He exhorteth the seruants of God to righteousnesse, loue, vnderstanding, and patience. 11 To trust in the Lord. 13 A curse vpon them that are faint hearted and impatient.

MY sonne, if thou wilt come into the seruice of God, [stand fast in righteousnesse and feare, and] prepare thy soule to tentation.

2 Settle thine heart, and bee patient: [bowe downe thine eare, and receiue the words of vnderstanding,] and shrinke not away, when thou art assayled, [but waite vpon God patiently.]

3 Ioyne thy selfe vnto him, and depart not away, that thou mayest be encreased at thy last end.

4 Whatsoeuer cōmeth vnto thee, receiue it patiently, & be patient in the change of thine affliction.

5 *For as gold [& siluer are] tried in ỹ fire, euen so are men acceptable in the fornace of aduersitie.

6 Beleeue in God, and he will helpe thee: order thy way aright, and trust in him: [hold fast his feare, and grow old therein.]

7 Ye that feare the Lord, wait for his mercie: shrinke not away from him that ye fall not.

8 Ye that feare the Lord, beleeue him, & your reward shall not faile.

9 O ye that feare the Lord, trust in good things, and in the euerlasting ioy and mercie.

10 [Ye that feare the Lord, loue him, and your hearts shalbe lightened.]

11 Consider the olde generations [of men, yee children,] and marke them well: * was there euer any confounded, that put his trust in the Lord? or who hath continued in his feare, & was forsaken? or whom did he euer despise, that called vpon him?

12 For God is gracious & mercifull, and forgiueth sinnes, & saueth in the time of trouble, [and is a defender of all them that seeke him in the truth.]

13 Woe vnto them that haue a ‖ fearfull heart, [and to the wicked lips] and to the faint hands, and to

to the sinner that goeth * two maner of wayes.

14 Woe vnto him that is faint hearted, for hee beleeueth not: therefore shall he not be defended.

15 Woe vnto you that haue lost patience, [and haue forsaken the right waies, and are turned backe into froward wayes:] for what wil ye do when the Lord shall visit you?

16 They that feare the Lord, wil not disobey his word: & they that * loue him, will keepe his wayes.

17 They that feare the Lord, will seeke out the things that are pleasant vnto him: and they that loue him, shalbe fulfilled with his Law.

18 They that feare the Lord, will prepare their hearts, and humble their soules in his sight.

19 [They that feare the Lord, keepe his commandements, and will be patient till he see them, 20 Saying, if we do not repent] we shall fall into the hands of the Lord, and not into the hands of men.

21 Yet as his greatnesse is, so is his mercie.

CHAP. III.

2 To our father and mother ought we to giue double honour. 10 Of the blessing and curse of the father and mother. No man ought ouer curiously to search out the secrets of God.

[THe children of wisedome are the Church of the righteous, and their off-spring is obedience and loue.]

2 Heare your fathers iudgement, O children, and do thereafter, that ye may be safe.

3 For the Lord will haue the father honoured of the children, and hath confirmed the authoritie of the mother ouer the children.

4 Who so honoureth his father, his sinnes shall be forgiuen him, [and he shal absteine from them, and shall haue his dayly desires.]

5 And he that honoureth his mother, is like one that gathereth treasure.

6 Who so honoureth his father, shall haue ioy of his owne children, & when he maketh his prayer, he shalbe heard.

7 Hee that honoureth his father, shall haue a long life, and hee that is obedient vnto the Lord, shall comfort his mother.

8 Hee that feareth the Lord, honoureth his parents, & doth seruice vnto his parents, as vnto lords.

9 * Honour thy father and mother, in deed and in word [& in all patience] that thou mayest haue ‖ Gods blessing, [and that his blessing may abide with thee in the end.]

10 For the blessing of the father establisheth the houses of the children, and the mothers curse rooteth out the foundations.

11 Reioyce not at the dishonour of thy father: for it is not honour vnto thee, but shame.

12 Seeing that mans glorie commeth by his fathers honour, and the reproch of the mother is dishonour to the children, 13 My sonne, helpe thy father in his age, and grieue him not as long as he liueth.

14 And if his vnderstanding faile, haue patience with him, and despise him not when thou art in thy full strength.

15 For the good intreatie of thy father shall not be forgotten, but it shall be a fortresse for thee against sinnes, [and for thy mothers offence, thou shalt be recompensed with good, and it shall be found for thee in righteousnesse.]

16 And in the day of trouble thou shalt be remembred: thy sinnes also shal melt away as the yce in the faire weather.

17 He ỹ forsaketh his father, shal come to shame, and he that angreth his mother, is curst of God.

18 ¶ My sonne, performe thy doings with meeknesse, so shalt thou be beloued of them that are approoued.

19 The * greater thou art, the more humble thy selfe [in all things,] and thou shalt finde fauour before the Lord.

20 Many are excellent and of renowme: but the secrets are reueiled vnto the meeke.

21 For the power of the Lord is great, and he is honoured of the lowly.

22 * Seeke not out the things that are too hard for thee, neither search the things rashly which are too mightie for thee.

23 [But] what [God] hath commanded thee, thinke vpon that with reuerence, [and be not curious in many of his works:] for it is not needful for thee to see with thine eies the things that are secret.

24 Be not curious in superfluous things: for many things are shewed vnto thee aboue the capacitie of men.

25 The medling with such hath beguiled many, and an euil opinion hath deceiued their iudgement.

26 Thou canst not see without eies: professe not the knowledge therefore that thou hast not.

27 A stubburne heart shall fare euill at the last: and he that loueth danger, shall perish therein.

28 An heart that goeth two wayes, shal not prosper: and he that is froward of heart, shall stumble therein.

29 An obstinate heart shalbe laden with sorowes: and the wicked man shall heape sinne vpon sinne.

30 The perswasion of the proud is without remedie, and his steppes shall be plucked vp: for the plant of sinne hath taken root in him, [and he shal not be esteemed.]

31 The heart of him that hath vnderstanding, shall perceiue secret things, and an attentiue eare is the desire of a wise man.

32 [An heart that is wise and vnderstanding, wil absteine from sinne, and shall prosper in the works of righteousnesse.]

33 Water quencheth burning fire, * and almes taketh away sinnes.

34 And he that rewardeth good deeds, will remember it afterward, and in the time of the fall, he shall finde a stay.

CHAP. IIII.

MY sonne, defraud not the * poore of his liuing, and make not the needy eyes to wait long.

2 Make not an hungry soule sorowfull, neither vexe a man in his necessitie.

3 Trouble not the heart that is grieued, and deferre not the gift of the needie.

4 Refuse not the prayer of one that is in trouble: * turne not away thy face from the poore.

5 Turne not thine eyes aside [in anger] from the poore, and giue him none occasion to speake euill of thee.

6 For if he curse thee in ỹ bitternes of his soule, his prayer shalbe heard of him that made him.

7 Be courteous vnto the companie [of poore, and humble thy soule vnto the Elder,] and bowe downe thine head to a man of worship.

12 He that loueth her, loueth life, and they that seeke life in the morning, shall haue great ioy.

13 He that keepeth her, shall inherit glory: for vnto whom she entreth, him the Lord will blesse.

14 They that honour her, shall be the seruants of the Holy one, and them that loue her, the Lord doth loue.

15 Who so giueth eare vnto her, shall iudge the nations, & he that goeth vnto her, shal dwel safely.

16 He that is faithfull vnto her, shall haue her in possession, and his generation shall possesse her.

17 For first she will walke with him by crooked waies, and bring him vnto feare, and dread, and torment him with her discipline vntill she haue tried his soule, and haue proued him by her iudgements.

18 Then will she returne the streight way vnto him, and comfort him, and shew him her secrets, [and heape vpon him the treasures of knowledge, and vnderstanding of righteousnesse.]

23 And keepe not backe counsell when it may do good, neither hide thy wisdome when it may be famous.

24 For by the talke is wisedome knowen, and learning by the words of the tongue, [and counsell, wisdome & learning by the talking of the wise, and stedfastnesse in the works of righteousnesse.]

25 In no wise speake against the word of truth, but be ashamed of the lies of thine own ignorance.

26 Be not ashamed to confesse thy sinnes, and resist not the course of the riuer.

27 Submit not thy selfe vnto a foolish man, neither accept the person of the mightie.

28 Striue for the trueth vnto death, [and defend iustice for thy life] and the Lord God shall fight for thee [against thine enemies.]

TRust not vnto thy * riches, and say not, I haue enough for my life: [for it shall not helpe in the time of vengeance and indignation]

2 Follow not thine owne minde, & thy strength to walke in the wayes of thine heart.

3 Neither say thou, [How haue I had strength?] or who wil bring me vnder for my works? for God the auenger will reuenge the wrong done by thee.

4 And say not, I haue sinned, & what euill hath come vnto me? for the Almightie is a patient rewarder, but he will not leaue thee vnpunished.

5 Because thy sinne is forgiuen, be not without feare, to heape sinne vpon sinne.

6 And say not, The mercie of God is great: he will forgiue my manifolde sinnes: for mercie and wrath come from him, and his indignation commeth downe vpon sinners.

7 Make no tarying to turne vnto the Lord, and put not off from day to day: for suddenly shall the wrath of the Lord breake foorth, and in thy securitie thou shalt be destroyed, and thou shalt perish in time of vengeance.

8 Trust not in wicked riches: for they shall not helpe thee in ỹ day of punishment [& vengeance.]

9 Be not caried about with euery winde, and go not into euery way: for so doth the sinner that hath a double tongue.

10 Stand fast in thy sure vnderstanding [and in the way and knowledge of the Lord] and haue but one maner of word, [and folow the word of peace and righteousnesse.

14 Honour and shame is in the talke, and the tongue of a man causeth him to fall.

15 Be not counted a * talebearer, and lie not in wait with thy tongue: for shame [and repentance] follow the thiefe, & an euill condemnation is ouer him that is double tongued: [but he that is a backbiter, shalbe hated, enuied and confounded.] * Leuit. 19.16.

BE not of a friend [thy neighbours] enemie: for such shall haue an euill name, shame & reproch, and hee shall be in infamie as the wicked that hath a double tongue.

2 Be not proud in the deuice of thine owne minde, lest thy soule rent thee as a bull,

3 And eat vp thy leaues, and destroy thy fruit, & so thou be left as a drie tree [in the wildernesse.]

4 For a wicked soule destroyeth him that hath it, and maketh him to be laughed to scorne of his enemies, [and bringeth him to the portion of the vngodly.]

5 A sweet talke multiplieth the friends [and pacifieth them that be at varience,] and a sweet tongue increaseth much good talke.

13 Depart from thine enemies, and beware of thy friendes.

14 A faithfull friend is a strong defence, and he that findeth such one, findeth a treasure.

15 A faithfull friend ought not to bee changed for any thing, and the weight [of gold & siluer] is not to be compared to the goodnes [of his faith.]

16 A faithful friend is the medicine of life [and immortalitie,] and they that feare the Lord, shall finde him.

17 Who so feareth the Lorde, shall direct his friendship aright, and as his owne selfe, so shall his friend be.

18 ¶ My sonne, receiue doctrine from thy youth vp: so shalt thou finde wisedome [which shall endure] till thine olde age.

27 Come vnto her with thy whole heart, and keepe her wayes with all thy power.

28 Seeke after her, and search her, and she shall be shewed thee: and when thou hast gotten her, forsake her not.

29 For at the last thou shalt find rest in her, and that shalbe turned to thy ioy.

30 Then shall her fetters be a strong defence for thee, [and a sure foūdation] and her chaines a glorious rayment.

31 For there is a golden ornament in her, and her bandes are the laces of purple colour.

32 Thou shalt put her on as a robe of honour, and shalt put her vpon thee, as a crowne of ioy.

20 A man ful of words is dangerous in his citie, and he that is rash in his talking shalbe hated.

CHAP. X.

1 Of Kings and Iudges. 7 Pride and couetousnesse are to be abhorred. 28 Labour is praised.

A Wise Iudge will instruct his people with discretion: the gouernance of a prudent man is well ordered.

2 As

2 As the iudge of the people is himselfe, so are his officers, and what maner of man the ruler of the citie is, such are they that dwell therein.

* 1. King. 12. 2, 13, 14. 3 * An vnwise King destroyeth his people, but where they that be in authoritie, are men of vnderstanding, there the citie prospereth.

4 The gouernment of the earth is in the hand of the Lord, [and all iniquitie of the nations is to be abhorred,] and when time is, he will set vp a profitable ruler ouer it.

5 In the hand of God is the prosperitie of man, and vpon the scribes will he lay his honour.

* Leuit. 19. 17. 6 * Be not angrie for any wrong, with thy neighbour, and doe nothing by iniurious practises.

7 Pride is hatefull before God and man, and by both doeth one commit iniquitie.

* Ierem. 27. 6. dan. 4. 14. 8 * Because of vnrighteous dealing & wrongs, and riches gotten by deceit, the kingdom is translated from one people to another.

9 There is nothing worse then a couetous man: [why art thou proud, O earth and ashes? there is not a more wicked thing, then to loue money] for such one would euen sel his soule, and for his life euery one is cōpelled to pull out his own bowels.

10 [All tyrannie is of small endurance, and the disease that is hard to heale, is grieuous to the physician.]

11 The physician cutteth off the sore disease, and he that is to day a King, to morow is dead.

12 Why is earth and ashes proude, seeing that when a man dieth, he is the heire of serpents, beasts and wormes?

13 The beginning of mans pride, is to fall away from God, and to turne away his heart from his maker.

14 For pride is the original of sinne, and he that hath it, shall powre out abomination, till at last he be ouerthrowen: therefore the Lord bringeth the perswasions [of the wicked] to dishonour, and destroyeth them in the end.

* Luke 1. 52, and 14. 11. and 18. 14. 2 Sam. 2. 7, 8. 15 The Lord hath * cast downe the thrones of the [proud] princes, and set vp the meeke in their stead.

16 The Lorde plucketh vp the rootes of the [proud] nations, and planteth the lowly with glorie among them.

17 The Lord ouerthroweth the landes of the heathen, and destroyeth them vnto the foundations of the earth: he causeth them to wither away, and destroyeth them, and maketh their memoriall to cease out of the earth.

18 [God destroyeth ỹ memorial of the proud, and leaueth the remembrance of the humble.]

19 Pride was not created in men, neither wrath in the generation of women.

20 There is a seede of man which is an honourable seed: the honourable seed are they that feare the Lord: there is a seed of man, which is without honour: and the seede without honour, are they that transgresse the commandements of the Lord: it is a seed that remaineth which feareth the Lord, and a faire plant, that loue him: but they are a seed without honour, that despise the Law, & a deceiueable seede that breake the commandements.

21 He that is the chiefe among brethren, is honourable: so are they that feare the Lorde in his sight.

22 The feare of the Lord causeth that the kingdome faileth not, but the kingdome is lost by crueltie and pride.

23 The feare of the Lord is the glorie aswell of the rich and the noble, as of the poore.

24 It is not meet to despise the poore man that hath vnderstanding, neither is it conuenient to magnifie the rich that is a wicked man.

25 The great man and the iudge and the man of authoritie, are honourable, yet is there none of them greater, then he that feareth the Lord.

* Prou. 17. 2. * 2. Sam. 12. 15. 26 * Vnto the seruant that is wise, shal they that are free do seruice: * he that hath knowledge, will not grudge when he is reformed, [and the ignorant shall not come to honour.]

27 Seeke not excuses when thou shouldest doe thy worke, neither be ashamed thereof through pride in the time of aduersitie.

* Prou. 12. 9, 12. 28 * Better is he that laboureth and hath plenteousnesse of all things, then he that is gorgeous, and wanteth bread.

29 My sonne, get thy selfe praise by meekenesse, and esteeme thy selfe as thou deseruest.

30 Who wil count him iust that sinneth against himselfe? or honour him, that dishonoureth his owne soule?

31 The poore is honoured for his knowledge [and his feare,] but the rich is had in reputation because of his goods.

32 He that is honourable in pouertie, howe much more shall he be when he is rich? and hee thae is vnhoneſt being rich, how much more will he be so when he is in pouertie?

CHAP. XI.

1 The praise of humilitie. 2 After the outward appearance ought we not to iudge. 7 Of rash iudgement. 14 All things come of God. 29 All men are not to be brought into thine house.

* Gene. 41. 40. dan. 6. 3. WIsedome * lifteth vp the head of him that is lowe, and maketh him to sit among great men.

2 Commend not a man for his beautie, neither despise a man in his vtter appearance.

3 The Bee is but small among the fowles: yet doeth her fruite passe in sweetenesse.

* Act. 12. 21, 23. 4 Bee not proude of clothing and rayment, * and exalt not thy selfe in the day of honour: for the workes of the Lord are wonderfull, [and glorious,] secrete, [and vnknowen] are his workes among men.

* 1. Sam. 15. 28. ester. 6. 10. 5 Many tyrants haue sit downe vpon the earth, * and the vnlikely hath worne the crowne.

6 Many mightie men haue bene brought to dishonour, and the honourable haue bene deliuered into other mens hands.

* Deut. 13. 14. and 17. 4, 6. Ioſh. 7. 22. 7 ¶ * Blame [no man] before thou hast inquired the matter: vnderstand first, and then reforme [righteously.]

* Prou. 18. 13. 8 * Giue no sentence, before thou hast heard the cause, neither interrupt men in the middes of their tales.

9 Striue not for a matter that thou hast not to doe with, and sit not in the iudgement of sinners.

* Matt. 19. 12. 1. Tim. 6. 9. 10 My sonne, meddle not with many matters: *for if thou gaine much, thou shalt not be blameIesse, and if thou follow after it, yet shalt thou not attaine it, neither shalt thou escape, though thou flee from it.

* Prou. 10. 3. 11 * There is some man that laboureth and taketh paine, and the more he hasteth, the more he wanteth.

12 Againe there is some that is slouthfull, and *hath neede of helpe: for he wanteth strength, and hath great powertie, yet the eye of the Lord looketh vpon him to good, and setteth him vp from his lowe estate. *Iob.42.10.

13 And he lifteth vp his head: so that many men maruell at him, [and giue honour vnto God.]

14 *Prosperitie and aduersitie, life and death, pouertie and riches come of the Lord. *Iob.1.21. *eccl.28.4.

15 Wisedome and knowledge, and vnderstanding of the Law are of the Lorde: loue and good workes come of him.

16 Error and darknesse are appointed for sinners, and they that exalt themselues in euill, waxe olde in euill.

17 The gift of the Lord remaineth for the godly, and his good will giueth prosperitie for euer.

18 ¶ Some man is rich by his care and nigardship, and this is the portion of his wages, 19 In that he saith, *I haue gotten rest, and nowe will I eate continually of my goods, yet hee considereth not, that the time draweth neere, that he must leaue all these things vnto other men, and die himselfe. *Luke 12.19.

20 Stand thou in thy state, and exercise thy selfe therein, and remaine in thy worke vnto thine age.

21 Maruel not at the works of sinners, but trust in the Lord, and abide in thy labour: for it is an easie thing in the sight of the Lord, suddenly to make a poore man rich.

22 The blessing of the Lorde is in the wages of the godly, and he maketh his prosperitie soone to flourish.

23 ¶ Say not, What profite and pleasure shall I haue? and what good things shall I haue hereafter?

24 Againe say not, I haue enough, and possesse many things, and what euill can come to mee hereafter?

25 *In thy good state remember aduersitie, and in aduersitie forget not prosperitie. *Chap.18.24.

26 For it is an easie thing vnto the Lord in the day of death to reward a man according to his wayes.

27 The aduersitie of an houre maketh one to forget pleasure: and in a mans end, his workes are discouered.

28 Iudge none blessed before his death: for a man shall be knowen by his children.

29 Bring not euery man into thine house: for the deceitfull haue many traines, [and are like stomackes that belch stinckingly.]

30 As a partrich is taken vnder a basket, [and the hind is taken in the snare,] so is the heart of the proud man, which like a spie watcheth for thy fall.

31 For he lieth in waite and turneth good vnto euill, and in things worthy praise hee will finde some fault.

32 Of one litle sparke is made a great fire, [and of one deceitfull man is blood increased:] for a sinnefull man layeth waite for blood.

33 Beware of a wicked man: for he imagineth wicked things to bring thee into a perpetuall shame.

34 Lodge a stranger, and he will destroy thee with vnquietnesse, & driue thee from thine owne.

CHAP. XII.

1 Vnto whome we ought to doe good. 10 Enemies ought not to be trusted.

WHen thou wilt doe good, know to whome thou doest it, so shalt thou be thanked for thy benefites.

2 *Doe good vnto the righteous, and thou shalt finde [great] reward, though not of him, yet of the most High. *Gal.6.10. 1.tim.5.8.

3 He cannot haue good that cõtinueth in euill, & giueth no almes: [for the most High hateth the sinners, and hath mercie vpon them that repent.]

4 Giue vnto such as feare God, and receiue not a sinner.

5 Do well vnto him that is lowly, but giue not to the vngodly: holde backe thy bread, and giue it not vnto him, least he ouercome thee thereby: else thou shalt receiue twise as much euill for all the good that thou doest vnto him.

6 For the most High hateth the wicked, & wil repay vengeance vnto the vngodly, and keepeth them against the day of horrible vengeance.

7 Giue vnto the good, and receiue not the sinner.

8 A friend can not be knowen in prosperitie, neither can an enemie be vnknowen in aduersitie.

9 When a man is in wealth, it grieueth his enemies, but in heauinesse and trouble a mans verie friend will depart from him.

10 Trust neuer thine enemie: for like as an yron rusteth, so doeth his wickednesse.

11 And though he make much crouching and kneeling, yet aduise thy selfe, and beware of him, and thou shalt be to him, as he that wipeth a glasse, and thou shalt know that all his rust hath not bene well wiped away.

12 Set him not by thee, least hee destroy thee, and stand in thy place.

13 Neither set him at thy right hand, least hee seeke thy roome, and thou at the last remember my wordes, and be pricked with my sayings, 14 *Binde not two sinnes together: for there shall not one be vnpunished. *Chap.7.8. and 21.2.

15 Who will haue pitie on the charmer, that is stinged of the serpent? or of all such as come neere the beasts? so is it with him that keepeth companie with a wicked man, and wrappeth himselfe in his sinnes.

16 For a season will he bide with thee: but if thou stumble, he taryeth not.

17 *An enemie is sweet in his lips: he can make many good words, and speake many good things: yea, he can weepe with his eyes, but in his heart he imagineth how to throw thee into the pit: and if he may finde opportunitie, he will not be satisfied with blood. *Iere.31.6.

18 If aduersity come vpon thee, thou shalt find him there first, and though he pretend to helpe thee, yet shal he vndermine thee: he wil shake his head, and clappe his handes, and will make many wordes, and disguise his countenance.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The companie of the proude and of the rich are to be eschewed. 15 The loue of God. 17 Like doe companie with their like.

HE *that toucheth pitch, shall be defiled with it: and he that is familiar with the proude, shall be like vnto him. *Deut.7.2.

2 Burthen not thy selfe aboue thy power, whilest thou liuest, and companie not with one that is mightier, & richer then thy selfe: for howe agree the kettle and the earthen pot together? for if the one be smitten against the other, it shalbe broken.

3 The rich dealeth vnrighteously, and threateneth withall: but the poore beeing oppressed must intreate: if the rich haue done wrong, hee must must yet bee intreated: but if the poore haue done it, he shall streight wayes be threatned.

4 If thou bee for his profite, hee vseth thee: but if thou haue nothing, he wil forsake thee.

5 If thou haue any thing, he will liue with thee: yea, he will make thee a bare man, and wil not care for it.

6 If he haue neede of thee, he wil defraude thee, and wil laugh at thee, and put thee in hope, and giue thee all good words, and say, what wantest thou?

7 Thus will hee shame thee in his meate, vntill hee haue supt thee cleane vp twise or thrise, and at the last hee will laugh thee to scorne: afterwarde, when he seeth thee, hee will forsake thee, and shake his head at thee.

8 [Submit thy selfe vnto God, and waite vpon his hand.]

9 Beware that thou bee not deceiued in thine owne conceite & brought downe by thy simplenes: [be not too humble in thy wisedome.]

10 ¶ If thou bee called of a mighty man, absent thy selfe: so shall he call thee the more oft.

11 Preasse not thou vnto him, that thou bee not shut out, but go not thou far off, lest he forget thee.

12 Withdraw not thy selfe from his speach, but beleeue not his many wordes: for with much communication will he tempt thee, and laughingly will he grope thee.

13 He is vnmerciful & keepeth not promes: he wil not spare to do thee hurt, & to put thee in prisō.

14 Beware, and take good heede: for thou walkest in peril of thine ouerthrowing: when thou hearest this, awake in thy sleepe.

15 Loue the Lord all thy life, and call vpon him for thy saluation.

16 ¶ Euery beast loueth his like, and euery man loueth his neighbour.

17 All flesh wil resort to their like, & euery man wil keepe company with such as he is himselfe.

18 How can the wolfe agree with the lambe? no more can the vngodly with the righteous.

19 What fellowship hath ‖ hyena with a dogge? and what peace is betweene the rich & the poore?

20 As the wilde Asse is the Lyons praye in the wildernes, so are poore men the meate of the rich.

21 As the proude hate humilitie, so doe the rich abhorre the poore.

22 If a riche man fall, his friendes set him vp againe: but when the poore falleth, his friendes driue him away.

23 If a rich man offende, he hath many helpers: he speaketh proud words, and yet men iustifie him: but if a poore man faile, they rebuke him, & though he speake wisely, yet can it haue no place.

24 When the rich man speaketh, euery man holdeth his tongue: and looke what hee sayeth, they prayse it vnto the cloudes; but if the poore man speake, they say, What fellow is this? and if hee doe amisse, they will destroy him.

25 Riches are good vnto him that hath no sinne [in his conscience,] & pouertie is euil in the mouth of the vngodly.

26 The heart of a man changeth his countenance, whether it be good or euil.

27 A cheereful coūtenance is a token of a good heart: for it is an hard thing to knowe the secrets of the thought.

‖ Which is a wilde beast that counterfeiteth the voyce of men, and so entiseth them out of their houses and deuoureth them.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 The offence of the tongue. 17 Man is but a vaine thing. 21 Happy is he that continueth in wisdome.

BLessed is the man * that hath not fallen by [the word of] his mouth, and is not tormented with the sorow of sinne. * Eccl.19.5, 16, Iam.3.2.

2 Blessed is he that is not condemned in his conscience, and is not fallen from his hope in the Lord.

3 Riches are not comely for a nigard, and what should an enuious man doe with money?

4 Hee that gathereth together from his owne soule, heapeth together for others, that will make good cheare with his goods.

5 He that is wicked vnto himselfe, to whom wil hee be good? for such one can haue no pleasure of his goods.

6 There is nothing worse, then when one enuieth himselfe: & this is as a reward of his wickednes.

7 And if he doe any good he doth it, not knowing thereof, and against his wil, and at the last he declareth his wickednes.

8 The enuious man hath a wicked looke: he turneth away his face, and despiseth men.

9 A couetous mans eye hath neuer ynough of a portion, and his wicked malice withereth his owne soule.

10 A*wicked eye enuieth the bread, and there is scarcenesse vpon his table. Pro.27.20.*

11 My sonne, doe good to thy selfe of that thou hast, and giue the Lord his due offerings.

12 Remember that death tarieth not, and that the couenant of the graue is not shewed vnto thee.

13 Doe good vnto thy friend before thou die, and according to thine abilitie stretche out thine hand, and giue him. Chap.4.1. tob.4.7. Luke 14.13.

14 Defraud not thy selfe of the good day, & let not the portion of the good desires ouerpasse thee.

15 Shalt thou not leaue thy trauailes vnto another, & thy labours for the diuiding of the heritage?

16 Giue, and take & sanctifie thy soule: [worke thou righteousnes before thy death:] for in the hell there is no meate to finde.

17 ¶ * All flesh waxeth olde, as a garment, and this is the condition of all times, Thou shalt die the death.  Isa.40.6. 1.pet.1.24. Iam.1.10.*

18 As the greene leaues on a thicke tree, some fall, and some grow, so is the generation of flesh and blood: one commeth to an ende, and an other is borne.

19 All corruptible things shal faile, and the worker thereof shall goe withall.

20 [Euery excellent worke shalbe iustified, and he that worketh it, shall haue honour thereby.]

21 Blessed is the man that doeth meditate honest things by wisdome, [and exerciseth himselfe in iustice,] and he that reasoneth of holy things by his vnderstanding, Psal.1.2.

22 Which considereth in his heart her wayes, and vnderstandeth her secrets.

23 Goe thou after her as one that seeketh her out, and lye in waite in her wayes.

24 He shall looke in at her windowes, and harken at her doores.

25 Hee shall abide beside her house, and fasten a stake in her wals: he shall pitch his tent besides her,

26 And he shall remaine in the lodging of good men, and shall set his children vnder her couering, and shall dwell vnder her branches.

27 By her he shall be couered from the heat, and in her glory shall he dwel.

CHAP. XV.

1 The good effect that followeth him which feareth God. 8 God vrieth and casteth off the sinner. 11 God is not the autour of euil.

HE that feareth the Lord, wil doe good: and he that hath the knowledge of the Law, wil keepe it sure.

2 As an [honourable] mother shall shee meete him, and she, as his wife maried of a virgine, will receiue him.

3 With the bread [of life] and vnderstanding shall shee feede him, and giue him the* water of [wholesome] wisdome to drinke.

* Iohn 4.10.

4 He shal assure himselfe in her, and shal not be moued, and shal holde himselfe fast by her, and shal not be confounded.

5 She shall exalt him aboue his neighbours, and in the middes of the congregation shall shee open his mouth: [with the spirit of wisedome, and vnderstanding shall shee fill him, and clothe him with the garment of glory.]

6 Shee shall cause him to inherite ioy, and the crowne of gladnes, and an euerlasting name.

7 But foolish men wil not take holde vpon her: [but such as haue vnderstanding, will meete her:] the sinners shall not see her.

8 For she is farre from pride [and deceite,] and men that lye, can not remember her: [but men of trueth shall haunt her, and shall prosper euen vnto the beholding of God.]

9 Praise is not seemely in the mouth of the sinner: for that is not sent of the Lord.

10 But if praise come of wisdome, [and be plenteous in a faithfull mouth] then the Lord wil prosper it.

11 Say not thou, It is through the Lorde that I turne backe: for thou oughtest not to do the things that he hateth.

12 Say not thou, He hath caused me to erre: for he hath no neede of the sinnefull man.

13 The Lord hateth al abomination [of error:] and they that feare God, loue it not.

* Gen. 1.27.

14 *Hee made man from the beginning, & left him in the hande of his counsell, [and gaue him his commandements and precepts.]

15 If thou wilt, thou shalt obserue the commandements, and testifie thy good will.

16 He hath set water & fire before thee: stretch out thine hand vnto which thou wilt.

* Iere. 22.8.

17 *Before man is life and death, [good and euil,] what him liketh shall be giuen him.

18 For the wisdome of the Lorde is great, and he is mighty in power, and beholdeth all things [continually.]

* Psal. 34.15,16. hebr. 4 13.

19 *And the eyes [of the Lord] are vpon them that feare him, & he knoweth al the works of man.

20 He hath commanded no man to doe vngodly, neither hath he giuen any man licence to sinne: [for he desireth not a multitude of infidels, and vnprofitable children.]

CHAP. XVI.

1 Of vnhappie and wicked children. 17 No man can hide himselfe from God. 24 An exhortation to the receiuing of instruction.

DEsire not the multitude of vnprofitable children, neither delight in vngodly children: though they bee many, reioyce not in them, except the feare of the Lord be with them.

2 Trust not thou to their life, neither rest vpon their multitude.

3 For one that is iust, is better then a thousande such, and better it is to die without children, then to leaue behinde him vngodly children.

4 For by one that hath vnderstanding, shall the citie bee inhabited: but the stocke of the wicked shalbe wasted incontinently.

5 Many such things haue I seene with mine eyes, and mine eare hath heard greater things then these.

6 * In the congregation of the vngodly shall a fire bee kindled, and among vnfaithfull people shall the wrath be set on fire.

* Iud. 21.9,10.

7 * Hee spared not the olde gyants, which were rebellious, trusting to their owne strength,

* Gene. 6 4.

8 * Neither spared he where as Lot dwelt, those whom he abhorred for their pride.

* Gen. 19.21.25.

9 Hee had no pitie vpon the people that were destroyed, and puffed vp in their sinnes.

10 *And so he preserued the sixe hundreth thousand footemen, that were gathered in the hardnesse of their heart, in afflicting them and pitying them, in smiting them and healing them, with mercy, and with chastisement.

* Numb. 14.15, 16,10. & 26. 51.

11 Therefore if there be one stifnecked among the people, it is marueile if hee escape vnpunished: for mercy and wrath are with him: he is mighty to forgiue and to powre out displeasure.

12 *As his mercy is great, so is his punishment also: he iudgeth a man according to his workes.

* Chap. 5.6.

13 The vngodly shall not escape with his spoile, and the patience of the godly shall not be delayed.

14 He wil giue place to all good deedes, and euery one shall finde according to his workes, [and after the vnderstanding of his pilgrimage.]

15 The Lorde hardened Pharao, that he shoulde not know him, & that his works should be knowen vpon the earth vnder the heauen.

16 His mercy is knowen to all creatures: he hath separate his light from the darkenes w an adamant.

17 Say not thou, I will hide my selfe from the Lorde: for who will thinke vpon me from aboue? I shal not be knowen in so great an heape of people: for what is my soule among such an infinite number of creatures?

18 Beholde, the heauen, and the* heauen of heauens, which are for God, the depth, and the earth and all that therein is, shalbe mooued when he shall visite.

* 2. Pet. 3.10. 1. king. 8.27. 2. chro. 6.18.

19 All the world which is created and made by his will, the mountaines also, and the foundations of the earth shall shake for feare, when the Lorde looketh vpon them.

20 These things doth no heart vnderstand worthily, [but he vnderstandeth euery heart.]

21 And who vnderstandeth his wayes? and the storme that no man can see? for the most part of his workes are hid.

22 Who can declare the workes of his righteousnes? or who can abide them? for his ordinance is farre off, and the trying out of all things faileth.

23 He that is humble of heart, wil consider these things: but an vnwise and erronious man casteth his minde vpon foolish things.

24 My sonne, hearken vnto me, & learne knowledge, and marke my words with thine heart.

25 I will declare thee waightie doctrine, and I will instruct thee exactly in knowledge.

26 The Lord hath set his workes in good order from the beginning, and part of them hath hee sundred from the other when he first made them.

27 Hee hath garnished his workes for euer, and their beginnings so long as they shall endure, they are not hungry nor wearied in their labours, nor cease from their offices.

28 None of them hindreth another, neither was any of them disobedient vnto his words.

29 After this the Lord looked vpon the earth and filled it with his good things.

30 With all maner of liuing beasts hath he couered the face thereof, & they returne into it againe.

CHAP. XVII.

1 The creation of man, and the goodnesse that God hath done vnto him. 20 Of almes, 22 And repentance.

a Gen.1.27. and 5.2. wisd.2.23. and 7.1,6. 1.cor.11.7. colos.3.10.

THe * Lord hath created man of the earth, and turned him vnto it againe.

2 He gaue him the number of dayes, and certaine times, and gaue him power of the things that are vpon earth.

3 He clothed them with strength, as they had neede, and made them according to his image.

4 He made all flesh to feare him, so that hee had the dominion ouer the beastes and fowles.

b Gen.2.22. 1.cor.11.9.

5 [*He created out of him an helper like vnto himselfe,] and gaue them discretion and tongue, and eyes, eares, and an heart to vnderstand, and sixtly he gaue them a spirit, and seuenthly he gaue them speach to declare his workes.

6 And he filled them with knowledge of vnderstanding, and shewed them good and euill.

7 He set his eye vpon their hearts, declaring vnto them his noble workes.

8 And gaue them occasion to reioyce perpetually in his miracles, that they should prudently declare his workes, and that the elect should praise his holy Name together.

9 Besides this, he gaue them knowledge, and gaue them the Lawe of life for an heritage, that they might nowe know that they were mortall.

10 He made an euerlasting couenant with them, and shewed them his iudgements.

11 Their eyes saw the maiestie of his glory, and their eares heard his glorious voyce.

12 And he said vnto them, Beware of al vnrighteous things.* He gaue euery man also a commandement concerning his neighbour.

b Exod.20.16,17 and 22,23.

13 Their wayes are euer before him, and are not hid from his eyes.

14 Euery man from his youth is giuen to euill, and their stonie hearts can not become flesh.

15 Hee appointed a ruler vpon euery people, when he diuided the nations of the whole earth.

16 * And he did chuse Israel, as a peculiar people to himselfe, whome he nourisheth with discipline as his first borne, and giueth him most louing light, and doeth not forsake him.

b Deut.4.20. and 10.15.

17 All their works are as the sunne before him, and his eyes are continually vpon their wayes.

18 None of their vnrighteousnesse is hid from him, but all their sinnes are before the Lord.

19 And as hee is mercifull, and knoweth his worke, he doeth not leaue them nor forsake them, but spareth them.

c Chap.29.13.

20 * The almes of a man, is as a thing sealed vp before him, and he keepeth the good deedes of man as the apple of the eye, and giueth repentance to their sonnes and daughters.

d Matth.25.35.

21 * At the last shall he arise, and reward them, and shall repay their reward vpon their heads.

e Acts 3.19.

22 * But vnto them that will repent, he giueth them grace to returne, and exhorteth such as faile, with patience, [and sendeth them the portion of the veritie.]

f Jerem.3.12.

23 * Returne them vnto the Lord, and forsake thy sinnes: make thy prayer before his face, and take away the offence.

24 Turne againe vnto the most High: for he wil bring thee from darkenesse to wholesome light: forsake thine vnrighteousnesse, and hate greatly all abomination.

25 [Know the righteousnes and iudgements of God: stand in the portion that is set forth for thee, and in the prayer of the most High God, and goe in the parts of the holy worlde with such as be liuing and confesse God.]

g Psal.6.5. isa.38.18,19.

26 * Who can praise the most High in the hell, as doe all they that liue and confesse him?

27 [Abide not thou in the errour of the vngodly, but prayse the Lord before death.]

28 Thankefulnesse perisheth from the dead, as though he were not: but the liuing, and hee that is sound of heart, prayseth the Lorde, [and reioyceth in his mercy.]

29 How great is the louing kindnes of the Lord our God, and his compassion vnto such as turne vnto him in holinesse!

30 For all things cannot be in men, because the sonne of man is not immortal, [and they take pleasure in the vanitie of wickednesse.]

31 What is more cleare then the sunne? yet shall it faile.

32 So flesh and blood that thinketh euil, [shall be reproued.]

33 He seeth the power of the high heauen, and all men are but earth and ashes.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 The marueilous workes of God. 6 7 The miserie and wretchednesse of men. 9 Against God ought wee not to complaine. 21 The performing of vowes.

HE that liueth for euer, * made all things together: the Lorde who onely is iust, and there is none other but he, [and hee remaineth a victorious King for euer.]

2 He ordereth the worlde with the power of his hand, and all things obey his will: for he gouerneth al things by his power, and diuideth the holy things from the prophane.

3 To whom hath hee giuen power to expresse his workes? who will seeke out the ground of his noble acts?

4 Who shall declare the power of his greatnes? or who will take vpon him to tell out his mercy?

5 As for the wonderous workes of the Lorde, there may nothing be taken from them, neither can any thing be put vnto them, neither may the ground of them be found out.

6 But when a man hath done his best, he must beginne againe, and when hee thinketh to come to an ende, he must goe againe to his labour.

7 ¶ What is man? whereto serueth hee? what good or euil can he doe?

b Psal.90.10.

8 * If the number of a mans dayes bee an hundreth yeere, it is much: and no man hath certaine knowledge of his death.

9 As drops of raine are vnto the sea, and as a grauell stone is in comparison of the sande, so are * a thousand yeeres to the dayes euerlasting.

c 1.Pet.3 8.

10 Therefore is [God] patient with them, and powreth out his mercy vpon them.

11 He sawe and perceiued, that [the arrogancie of their heart, and their ruine was euill: therefore heaped hee vp his mercie vpon them, and shewed them the way of righteousnesse.]

12 The mercie that a man hath, reacheth to his neighbour: but the mercie of the Lorde is vpon all flesh: he chasteneth, and nurtureth, and teacheth, and bringeth backe, as a shepheard his flocke.

13 He hath mercie of them that receiue discipline, & that diligently seeke after his iudgements.

14 ¶ My sonne, when thou doest good, reproue not: and whatsoeuer thou giuest, vse no discomfortable wordes.

15 Shall not the dewe asswage the heate? so is a word better then a gift.

16 Loe, is not a word better then a good gift? but a gratious man giueth them both.

17 A foole will reproche churlishly, and a gift of the enuious putteth out the eyes.

18 [Get thee righteousnesse before thou come to iudgement:] learne before thou speake, and vse physicke or euer thou be sicke.

* 1. Cor. 11. 31. 19 * Examine thy selfe, before thou be iudged, and in the day of the visitation thou shalt finde mercie.

20 Humble thy selfe before thou be sicke, and whilest thou mayst yet sinne, shew thy conuersion.

21 Let nothing let thee to pay thy vow in time, and deferre not vnto death to be reformed: [for the reward of God endureth for euer.]

22 Before thou prayest, prepare thy selfe, and be not as one that tempteth the Lord.

* Chap. 7. 17, 36. 23 Thinke vpon the * wrath, that shalbe at the ende, and the houre of vengeance, when he shall turne away his face.

* Chap. 11. 25. 24 * When thou hast enough, remember the time of hunger: and when thou art rich, thinke vpon pouertie and neede.

25 From the morning vntill the euening the time is changed, and all such things are done before the Lord.

26 A wise man feareth in all things, and in the day of transgression he keepeth himselfe from sinne: but the foole doeth not obserue the time.

27 ¶ Euery wise man knoweth wisedome, and knowledge, and praiseth him that findeth her.

28 They that haue vnderstanding, deale wisely in wordes: [they vnderstand the trueth and righteousnesse,] and powre out with modestie graue sentences for mans life.

29 The chiefe authoritie of speaking is of the Lord alone: for a mortall man hath but a dead heart.

* Rom. 6. 6. and 15. 14. 30 ¶ * Followe not thy lustes, but turne thee from thine owne appetites.

31 For if thou giuest thy soule her desires, it shall make thine enemies that enuie thee, to laugh thee to scorne.

32 Take not thy pleasure in great voluptuousnes, and intangle not thy selfe with such company.

33 Become not a begger by making bankets of that that thou hast borrowed, and so leaue nothing in thy purse: else thou shouldest slanderously lye in waite for thine owne life.

CHAP. XIX.

2 Wine and whordome bring men to pouertie. 6 In thy wordes vse discretion. 22 The difference of the wisedome of God and man. 27 Whereby thou mayest know what is in man.

A Labouring man that is giuen to drunkennesse, shall not be rich: and he that contemneth small things, shall fall by litle and litle.

* Gene. 19. 33. 2 * Wine and women lead wise men out of the way, [and put men of vnderstanding to reproofe.]

3 And he that companieth adulterers, shal become impudent: rottennesse & wormes shal haue him to heritage, and he that is too bolde, shall be taken away, and be made a publike example.

* Iosh. 22. 11, 13 4 * He that is hastie to giue credite, is light minded, and he that erreth, sinneth against his owne soule.

5 Who so reioyceth in wickednesse, shalbe punished: [he that hateth to be reformed, his life shalbe shortened, and he that abhorreth babbling of wordes, quencheth wickednesse:] but he that resisteth pleasures, crowneth his owne soule.

6 He that refraineth his tongue, may liue with a troublesome man, and he that hateth babbling, shall haue lesse euill.

7 Rehearse not to another, that which is tolde vnto thee: so thou shalt not be hindred.

8 Declare not other mens manners, neither to friend nor foe: and if the sinne appertaine not vnto thee, reueile it not.

9 For he will hearken vnto thee, and marke thee, and when he findeth opportunitie, hee will hate thee.

* Chap. 22. 22. and 27. 17. 10 * If thou hast heard a worde [against thy neighbour,] let it die with thee, and be sure, it will not burst thee.

11 A foole trauelleth when hee hath heard a thing, as a woman that is in labour to bring foorth a childe.

12 As an arrowe that sticketh in ones thigh, so is a word in a fooles heart.

* Leuit. 19. 17. matth. 18. 15. 13 * Reproue a friend least he doe euill, and if he haue done it, that he doe it no more.

14 Reproue a friend that he may keepe his tongue: and if he haue spoken, that he say it no more.

15 Tell thy friend his fault: for oft times a slander is raised, and giue no credence to euery word.

* Iam. 2. 2. 16 A man falleth with his tongue, but not with his will: * and who is he, that hath not offended in his tongue?

17 Reproue thy neighbour before thou threaten him, and being without anger, giue place vnto the Law of the most High.

18 The feare of the Lord is the first degree to be receiued of him, and wisedome obteineth his loue.

19 The knowledge of the commandements of the Lord is the doctrine of life, and they that obey him, shall receiue the fruite of immortalitie.

20 The feare of the Lord is all wisedome, and the performing of the Law is perfect wisedome, and the knowledge of his almightie power.

21 If a seruant say vnto his master, I will not do as it pleaseth thee, though afterward he doe it, hee shall displease him that nourisheth him.

22 The knowledge of wickednesse is not wisedome, neither is there prudencie whereas the counsell of sinners is: but it is euen execrable malice: and the foole is voyde of wisedome.

23 He that hath small vnderstanding, and feareth God, is better then one that hath much wisedome, and transgresseth the Law of the most high.

24 There is a certaine subtiltie that is fine, but it is vnrighteous: and there is that wresteth the open and manifest Lawe: yet there is that is wise and iudgeth righteously.

25 There is some that being about wicked purposes, doe bow downe themselues, and are sadde, whose inward partes burne altogether with deceit: he looketh downe with his face, and faineth himselfe deafe: yet before thou perceiue, he will bee vpon thee to hurt thee.

26 And though he be so weake that he can doe thee no harme, yet when hee may finde opportunitie, he wil doe euil.

27 ¶ A man may bee knowen by his looke, and one that hath vnderstanding, may be perceiued by the marking of his countenance.

*Chap.31.20, 23. 28 * A mans garment, and his excessiue laughter, and going declare what person he is.

CHAP. XX.

Of correction and repentance. 6 To speake and keepe silence in time. 17 The fall of the wicked. 23 Of lying. 24 The thiefe and the murtherer. 28 Gifts blinde the eyes of the wise.

THere is some rebuke that is not comely: againe, some man holdeth his tongue, and hee is wise.

2 It is much better to reproue, then to beare euil wil: and hee that acknowledgeth his fault, shall be preserued from hurt.

*Chap.30.10. 3 As * when a gelded man through lust would defile a mayd, so is he that vseth violence in iudgement.

4 How good a thing is it, when thou art reproued, to shewe repentance! for so shalt thou escape wilful sinne.

5 Some man keepeth silence, and is found wise, and some by much babbling becommeth hatefull.

6 Some man holdeth his tongue, because he hath not to answere: and some keepeth silence, waiting a conuenient * time.

* Eccles.3.7.

*Chap.32.4. 7 * A wise man will holde his tongue till hee see opportunitie: but a trifler and a foole wil regard no time.

8 Hee that vseth many wordes, shall bee abhorred, and hee that taketh authoritie to himselfe, shall be hated.

9 Some man hath oft times prosperitie in wicked things, and sometime a thing that is founde, bringeth losse.

10 There is some gift that is not profitable for thee, & there is some gift, whose reward is double.

11 Some man humbleth himselfe for glories sake, and some by humblenesse lifteth vp the head.

12 Some man byeth much for a litle price: for the which he payeth seuen times more.

*Chap.6.5. 13 * A wise man with his wordes maketh himselfe to be loued, but the merry tales of fooles shall be powred out.

14 The gift receiued of a foole, shall doe thee no good, neither yet of the enuious for his importunitie: for hee looketh to receiue many things for one: he giueth litle, and hee vpbrayeth much: hee openeth his mouth like a towne cryer: to day hee lendeth, to morow asketh hee againe, and such one is to be hated of God and man.

15 The foole sayeth, I haue no friend: I haue no thanke for all my good deedes: and they that eate my bread, speake euil of me.

16 How oft, and of how many shal he be laughed to scorne? for hee comprehendeth not by right iudgement that which hee hath: and it is all one as though he had it not.

17 The fall on a pauement is very sudden: so shall the fall of the wicked come hastely.

18 A man without grace is as a sooliih tale which is oft tolde by the mouth of the ignorant.

19 A wise sentence looseth grace when it commeth out of a fooles mouth: for hee speaketh not in due season.

20 Some man sinneth not because of pouertie, and yet is not grieued when he is alone.

21 Some man there is that destroyeth his owne soule, because he is ashamed, and for the regard of persons, looseth it.

22 Some man promiseth vnto his friend for shame, and getteth an enemie of him for naught.

*Chap.25.2. 23 * A lie is a wicked shame in a man: yet is it oft in the mouth of the vnwise.

24 A thiefe is better then a man that is accustomed to lie: but they both shall haue destruction to heritage.

25 The conditions of lyers are vnhonest, and their shame is euer with them.

*Prou.12.11, and 28.19. 26 A wise man shall bring himselfe to honour with his wordes, and he that hath vnderstanding, shall please great men.

27 * He that tilleth his land, shall increase his heape: [he that worketh righteousnesse, shall bee exalted,] and he that pleaseth great men, shal haue pardon of his iniquitie.

*Exod.23.8, deut.16.19. 28 * Rewardes and gifts blinde the eyes of the wise, and make them dumme, that they can not reproue faultes.

29 Wisedome that is hid, and treasure that is hoarded vp, what profite is in them both?

30 Better is he that keepeth his ignorance secret, then a man that hideth his wisedome.

31 The necessarie patience of him that followeth the Lord, is better then he that gouerneth his life without the Lord.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Not to continue in sinne. 5 The prayer of the afflicted. 6 To hate to be reproued. 17 The mouth of the wise man. 26 The thought of the foole.

MY sonne, hast thou sinned? doe so no more, * but pray for the fore sinnes [that they may be forgiuen thee.]

* Chap.5.5, psal.41.4. luke 15.21.

2 Flee from sinne, as from a serpent: for if thou comest too neere it, it wil bite thee: ỹ teeth thereof are as the teeth of a lyon, to slay the soules of men.

3 All iniquitie is as a two edged sworde, the woundes whereof can not be healed.

4 Strife and iniuries waste riches: so the house of the proude shalbe desolate.

*Exod.3.9. and 22.23. 5 * The prayer of the poore going out of the mouth, commeth vnto the eares of the Lord, and iustice is done him incontinently.

6 Who so hateth to be reformed, is in the way of sinners: but he that feareth the Lorde, conuerteth in heart.

7 An eloquent talker is knowen a farre off: but he that is wise, perceiueth when he falleth.

8 Who so buildeth his house with other mens money, is like one that gathereth stones to make his graue.

*Chap.16.6. 9 * The congregation of the wicked is like towe wrapped together: their ende is a flame of fire to destroy them.

10 The way of sinners is made plaine with stones, but at the ende thereof is hell, [darkenesse and paynes.]

‖ Or, keepeth the vnderstanding thereof. 11 He that keepeth the Law of the Lord, ‖ ruleth his owne affections thereby: and the encrease of wisedome is the ende of the feare of God.

12 He that is not wise, will not suffer himselfe to be taught: but there is some witte that encreaseth bitternesse.

ken vessell: he can keepe no knowledge whiles hee liueth.

15 When a man of vnderstanding heareth a wise word, he wil commend it, and increase it: but if an ignorant man heare it, he wil disalow it, and cast it behinde his backe.

16 The talking of a foole is like a burden in the way, but there is comelinesse in the talke of a wise man.

17 They inquire at the mouth of the wise man in the congregation, & they shall ponder his words in their heart.

18 As is an house that is destroied, so is wisdome vnto a foole, and the knowledge of the vnwise is as wordes without order.

19 Doctrine vnto fooles is as fetters on the feete, and like manacles vpon the right hand.

*Chap. 19.27,28. 20 * A foole lifteth vp his voyce with laughter, but a wise man doeth scarce smile secretly.

21 Learning is vnto a wise man a iewel of gold, and like a bracelet vpon his right arme.

22 A foolish mans foote is soone in [his neighbours] house: but a man of experience is ashamed to looke in.

23 A foole will peepe in at the doore into the house: but hee that is well nourtured, will stande without.

24 It is the point of a foolish man to hearken at the doore: for hee that is wise, wil bee grieued with such dishonour.

25 The lips of talkers will be telling such things as pertaine not vnto them, but the wordes of such as haue vnderstanding, are weighed in the balance.

26 The heart of fooles is in their mouth: but the mouth of the wise is in their heart.

27 When the vngodly curseth Satan, he curseth his owne soule.

*Chap. 28.13. 28 * A backebiter defileth his owne soule, and is hated wheresoeuer he is: [but hee that keepeth his tongue, and is discreete, shall come to honour.]

CHAP. XXII.

1 Of the sluggard. 11 Not to speake much to a foole. 16 A good conscience feareth not.

A Slouthfull man is like a filthy stone, which euery man mocketh at for his shame.

2 A slouthfull man is to bee compared to the dongue of oxen, and euery one that taketh it vp, wil shake it out of his hand.

3 An euil nurtured sonne is the dishonour of the father: and the daughter is least to be esteemed.

4 A wise daughter is an heritage vnto her husband: but shee that liueth dishonestly, is her fathers heauinesse.

5 She that is bold, dishonoureth both her father and her husband, [and is not inferiour to the vngodly:] but they both shall despise her.

6 A tale out of time is as musicke in mourning: but wisedome knoweth the seasons of correction and doctrine.

7 Who so teacheth a foole, is as one that gleweth a potsheard together, and as he that waketh one that sleepeth, from a sound sleepe.

8 If children liue honestly, & haue wherewith, they shall put away the shame of their parents.

9 But if children be proude, with hautinesse and foolishnes, they defile the nobilitie of their kindred.

10 Who so telleth a foole of wisedome, is as a man, which speaketh to one that is asleepe: when he hath told his tale, he saith, What is the matter?

11 *Weepe for the dead, for hee hath lost the light: so weepe for the foole, for he wanteth vnderstanding: make small weeping for the dead, for he is at rest: but the life of the foole is worse then the death. *Chap. 38.16.

12 Seuen dayes doe men mourne for him that is dead: but the lamentation for the foole, and vngodly [should endure] all the dayes of their life.

13 Talke not much with a foole, and goe not to him that hath no vnderstanding: * beware of him, least it turne thee to paine, and least thou be defiled when hee shaketh himselfe. Depart from him, and thou shalt finde rest, and shalt not receiue sorow by his foolishnes. *Chap. 12.13.

14 What is heauier then leade? and what other name should a foole haue?

15 *Sande and salt, and a lumpe of yron is easier to beare, then an vnwise, [foolish and vngodly man.] *Prou. 27.3.

16 As a frame of wood ioyned together in a building can not bee loosed with shaking, so the heart that is stablished by aduised counsel, shal feare at no time.

17 The heart that is confirmed by discrecte wisdome, is as a faire playstring on a plaine wall.

18 As reedes that are set vp on hie, cannot abide the winde, so the fearefull heart with foolish imagination can endure no feare.

19 Hee that hurteth the eye, bringeth foorth teares, and he that hurteth the heart, bringeth forth the affection.

20 Who so casteth a stone at the birdes, frayeth them away: and he that vpbraydeth his friend, breaketh friendship.

21 Though thou dreweſt a sword at thy friend, yet despaire not: for there may bee a returning to fauour.

22 If thou haue opened thy mouth against thy friend, feare not: for there may be a reconciliation: so that vpbrayding or pride or disclosing of secrets or a traiterous wound doe not let: for by these things euery friend wil depart.

23 Bee faithfull vnto thy friend in his pouertie, that thou mayest reioyce in his prosperitie. Abide stedfast vnto him in the time of his trouble, that thou mayest bee heire with him in his heritage: for pouertie is not alwayes to bee contemned, nor the rich that is foolish, to be had in admiration.

24 As the vapour and smoke of the chimney goeth before the fire, so euill wordes [rebukes and threatnings] goe before blood-sheading.

25 I will not bee ashamed to defende a friende: neither will I hide my selfe from him, though hee should doe mee harme: whosoeuer heareth it, shall beware of him.

26 Who shal set *a watch before my mouth, and a seale of wisdome vpon my lips, that I fal not suddenly by them, & that my tongue destroy me not? *Psal. 141.3.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 A prayer of the author. 13 Of othes, blasphemie, and vnwise communication. 16 Of three kindes of sinnes. 23 Many sinnes proceed of adulterie. 27 Of the feare of God.

O Lorde, Father and gouernour of all my whole life, leaue me not to their counsell, and let me not fall by ‖ them. ‖ Or, my lippes.

2 Who will correct my thought, and put the doctrine of wisdome in mine heart, that they may not spare mee in mine ignorance, neither let ‖ their faults passe? ‖ That is, of the tongue and lips.

3 Least mine ignorances increase, and my sinnes abound abound to my destruction, and lest I fall before mine aduersary, and mine enemies reioyce ouer me, whose hope is farre from thy mercy.

4 O Lord, Father and God of my life, [leaue me not in their imagination] neither giue mee a proud looke, but turne away from thy seruants a stout minde.

5 Take from me vaine hope, & concupiscence, and reteine him in obedience, that desireth continually to serue thee.

6 Let not the greedines of the bellie, nor lust of the flesh holde me, and giue not me thy seruant ouer into an impudent minde.

7 ¶ Heare, O ye children, the instruction of a mouth that shall speake truth: who so keepeth it, shall not perish thorow his lips, [nor be hurt by wicked works.]

8 The sinner shall be taken by his owne lippes: for the euill speaker and the proud doe offend by them.

*Exod.20.7. chap.27.15. mat.5.33.34.

9 *Accustome not thy mouth to swearing: [for in it there are many falles,] neither take vp for a custome the naming of the Holy one: [for thou shalt not be vnpunished for such things.]

10 For as a seruant which is oft punished, can not be without some skarre, so he that sweareth, & nameth God continually, shall not be faultlesse.

11 A man that vseth much swearing, shalbe filled with wickednesse, and the plague shall neuer from his house: when he shal offend, his fault shall be vpon him, and if he knowledge not his sinne, he maketh a double offence, and if he sweare in vaine, he shall not be innocent, but his house shall be full of plagues.

12 There is a word which is clothed with death: God grant that it be not found in the heritage of Iacob: but they that feare God eschew all such, and are not wrapped in sinne.

‖Or, inordinate swearing.

13 Vse not thy mouth to ‖ ignorant rashnesse: for therein is the occasion of sinne.

14 ¶ Remember thy father & thy mother when thou art set among great men, lest thou be forgotten in their sight, and so through thy custome become a foole, and wish that thou haddest not bene borne, and curse the day of thy natiuitie.

*2.Sam.16.7.

15 *The man that is accustomed to opprobrious words, will neuer be reformed all the dayes of his life.

16 There are two sorts [of men] that abound in sinne, and the third bringeth wrath [and destruction:] a mind hot as fire, that cannot be quenched till it be consumed: an adulterous man that giueth his body no rest, till he haue kindled a fire.

17 (All bread is sweet to a whoremonger: hee will not leaue off till he perish)

*Isa.29.15.

18 A man that breaketh wedlocke, and thinketh thus in his heart, *Who seeth me? I am compassed about with darknesse: the walles couer me: no body seeth mee: whom need I to feare? the most High will not remember my sinnes.

19 Such a man onely feareth the eyes of men, and knoweth not that the eyes of the Lord are ten thousand times brighter then the sunne, beholding all the wayes of men, [& the ground of the deepe] and considereth the most secret parts.

20 He knew all things or euer they were made, and after they be brought to passe also, he looketh vpon them all.

*Leuit.20.10. deut.22.22.

21 *The same man shall be punished in the streets of the citie [and shall be chased like a yong horse soale,] and when he thinketh not vpon it, he shall be taken: [thus shall he be put to shame of euery man, because he would not vnderstand the feare of the Lord.]

22 And thus shal it go also with euery wife, that leaueth her husband, and getteth inheritance by another.

23 *For first shee hath disobeyed the Law of the most High, and secondly, she hath trespassed against her owne husband, and thirdly, shee hath played the whore in adultery, and gotten her children by another man. *Exod.20.14.

24 She shalbe brought out into the congregation, and examination shall be made of her children.

25 Her children shall not take root, and her branches shall bring forth no fruit.

26 A shamefull report shall shee leaue, and her reproch shall not be put out.

27 And they that remaine, shall know that there is nothing better then the feare of the Lord, and that there is nothing sweeter then to take heed vnto the commandements of the Lord.

28 It is great glorie to follow the Lord, and to be receiued of him is long life.

CHAP. XXIIII.

1 A praise of wisedome proceeding foorth of the mouth of God. 6 Of her works and place where she resteth. 20 She is giuen to the children of God.

WIsedome shall praise her selfe, [and be honoured in God,] and reioyce in the mids of her people.

2 In the congregation of the most High shall she open her mouth, and triumph before his power.

3 [In the middes of her people shall she be exalted, and woondred at in the holy assemblie.

4 In the multitude of the chosen shee shall be commended, and among such as be blessed, she shall be praised, and shall say,]

5 I am come out of the mouth of the most High, [first borne before all creatures.

6 I caused the light that faileth not, to arise in the heauen,] and couered the earth as a cloud.

7 My dwelling is aboue in the height, and my throne is in the pillar of the cloud.

8 I alone haue gone round about the compasse of heauen, and haue walked in the bottome of the depth.

2 I possessed the waues of the sea, and all the earth, and all people, and nations, [and with my power haue I troden downe the hearts of all, both high and low.]

10 In all these things I sought rest, and a dwelling in some inheritance.

11 So the creator of all things gaue me a commandement, and he that made me, appointed me a tabernacle, and sayd, Let thy dwelling be in Iacob, and take thine inheritance in Israel, and root thy selfe among my chosen.

12 *He created me from the beginning, and before the world, and I shall neuer faile: * In the holy habitation haue I serued before him, and so was I established in Sion. *Pro.8.23. *Exod.31.3.

13 *In the welbeloued city gaue he me rest, and in Ierusalem was my power. *Psal.132.8.

14 I tooke root in an honourable people, euen in the portion of the Lords inheritance.

15 I am set vp on hie like a cedar in Lebanus, & as a cypres tree vpon the mountaines of Hermon.

16 I am exalted like a palme tree ‖ about the bankes, and as a rose plant in Iericho, as a faire olive ‖Or, in Cades.

oliue tree in a pleasant field, and am exalted as a plane tree by the water.

17 I smelled as the cinnamom, and as a bag of spices: I gaue a sweet odour as the best myrrhe, as galbanum, and onix, and sweet storax, and perfume of incense in an house.

18 As the terebinth, haue I stretched out my branches, and my branches are the branches of honour and grace.

*Iohn 15 4. 19 * As the vine haue I brought foorth [fruit] of sweet sauour, and my flowres are the fruit of honour and riches.

20 I am the mother of beautifull loue, and of feare, and of knowledge, and of holy hope: I giue eternall things to all my children to whome God hath commanded.

21 [In me is all grace of life and trueth: in me is all hope of life and vertue.]

22 Come vnto me all ye that be desirous of me, and fill your selues with my fruits.

*Psal.19.10,11. 23 * For the remembrance of mee is sweeter then honie, and mine inheritance [sweeter] then the honie combe: [the remembrance of me endureth for euermore.]

24 They that eate me, shall haue the more hunger, and they that drinke me, shall thirst the more.

25 Who so hearkeneth vnto me, shall not come to confusion, and they that worke by me, shall not offend: [they that make mee to be knowen, shall haue euerlasting life.]

26 All these things are the booke [of life,] and the couenant of the most high God, [& the knowledge of the truth,] * and the Law that Moyses [in the precepts of righteousnesse] commanded for an heritage vnto the house of Iacob, [and the promises pertaining vnto Israel.]

*Exod.20.1. and 24,3. deut.4.1. and 29.9.

27 Be not wearie to behaue your selues valiantly with the Lord, that he may also confirme your: cleaue vnto him: for the Lord almighty is but one God, and besides him there is none other Sauiour.

28 [Out of Dauid his seruant he ordeined to raise vp a most mightie King that should sit in the throne of honour for euermore.]

29 He filleth all things with his wisedome, as

*Gene.2.11. * Physon, and as Tygris in the time of the new fruits.

*Iosh.3.15. 30 Hee maketh the vnderstanding to abound like Euphrates, and as * Iorden, in the time of the haruest.

31 Hee maketh the doctrine of knowledge to appeare as the light, and ouerfloweth as Geon in the time of the vintage.

32 The first man hath not knowen her perfectly: no more shall the last seeke her out.

33 For her considerations are more abundant then the sea, and her counsell is profounder then the great deepe.

34 I wisdome [haue cast out floods:] I am as an arme of the riuer: I runne into Paradise as a water conduit.

35 I sayd, I will water my faire garden, and will water my pleasant ground: and loe, my ditch became a flood, and my flood became a sea.

36 For I make doctrine to shine as the light of the morning, and I lighten it for euer.

37 [I will pearce thorow all the lower parts of the earth: I will looke vpon all such as be asleepe, and lighten all them that trust in the Lord.]

38 I will yet powre out doctrine, as prophesie, and leaue it vnto all ages for euer, 39 * Beholde, that I haue not laboured for my selfe onely, but for all them that seeke wisedome. *Chap.33.16.

CHAP. XXXV.

1 Of three things which please God, and of three which he hateth. 7 Of nine things that be not to be suspect. 14 Of the malice of a woman.

THree thinges reioyce mee, and by them am I beautified before God and men: * the vnitie of brethren, the loue of neighbors, a man and wife that agree together. *Gene.13.8,9. rom.12.10.

2 ¶ Three sortes of men my soule hateth, and I vtterly abhorre the life of them: a poore man that is proude: a rich man that is a lyar, and an old adulterer that doteth.

3 ¶ If thou hast gathered nothing in thy youth, what canst thou finde in thine age?

4 ¶ Oh, howe pleasant a thing is it, when gray headed men minister iudgement, and when the elders can giue good counsell!

5 Oh, how comely is wisedome vnto the aged men, and vnderstanding and prudency vnto men of honour!

6 The crowne of old men is to haue much experience, and the feare of God is their glorie.

7 ¶ There be nine things, which I haue iudged in mine heart to be happie, and the tenth will I pronounce with my tongue: a man that while he liueth, hath ioy of his children, and seeth the fal of his enemies.

8 ¶ Well is him that dwelleth with a wife of vnderstanding, * and that hath not fallen with his tongue, and that hath not serued such as are vnworthie of him. *Chap.14.1. and 19.16. iam.3.2.

9 Well is him that findeth prudencie, & he that speaketh in the eares of them that will heare.

10 ¶ Oh, how great is he that findeth wisdome! yet is there none aboue him, that feareth ỹ Lord.

11 The feare of the Lord passeth all things in clearenesse.

12 [Blessed is the man vnto whom it is graunted to haue the feare of God,] vnto whome shall he be likened that hath attained it?

13 The feare of the Lord is the beginning of his loue, & faith is ỹ beginning to be ioyned vnto him.

14 [¶ The greatest heauinesse is the heauinesse of the heart, and the greatest malice is the malice of a woman.]

15 Giue me any plague, saue onely the plague of the heart, and any malice, saue the malice of a woman:

16 Or any assault, saue the assault of them ỹ hate, or any vengeance, saue ỹ vengeance of the enemie.

17 There is not a more wicked head then the head of a serpent, and there is no wrath aboue the wrath of an ‖ enemie. ‖Or, woman.

18 * I had rather dwel with a lyon and dragon, then to keepe house with a wicked wife. *Pro.21.19.

19 The wickednesse of a woman changeth her face, & maketh her countenance blacke as ‖a sacke. ‖Or, a beare.

20 Her husband is sitting among his neighbors: because of her he sigheth sore or he beware.

21 All wickednesse is but litle to the wickednesse of a woman: let the portion of the sinner fall vpon her.

22 As the climing vp of a sandie way is to the feete of the aged, so is a wife full of wordes to a quiet man.

23 * Stumble not at the beautie of a woman, and desire her not for thy pleasure. *Chap.42.12. 2.sam.11.2. and 13.2.

and impudent and full of reproche.

25 A wicked wife maketh a sorie heart, an heauie countenance, and a wounded minde, weake handes and feeble knees, and can not comfort her husband in heauinesse.

26 Of the * woman came the beginning of sinne, and through her we all die. * Gene 3.6. 1.Tim.2.14.

27 Giue the water no passage, [no not a litle,] neither giue a wicked woman libertie to goe out.

28 If she walke not in thine obedience, [she shall confound thee in the sight of thine enemies.] ‖ To wit, the bill of diuorcement. Cut her off then from thy flesh: ‖ Giue her, and forsake her.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 The praise of a good woman. 5 Of the feare of three things, and of the fourth. 6 Of the ielous and drunken woman. 29 Of two things that cause sorowe, and of the third which mooueth wrath.

BLessed is the man that hath a vertuous wife: for the number of his yeeres shall double.

2 An honest woman reioyceth her husband, and she shall fill the yeeres of his life with peace.

3 A vertuous woman is a good portion, which shalbe giuen for a gift vnto such as feare the Lord.

4 Whether a man be rich or poore, hee hath a good heart toward the Lord, and they shall at all times haue a cheerefull countenance.

5 ¶ There be three things that mine heart feareth, and my face is afraid of the fourth: treason in a citie: the assemblie of the people, and false accusation: all these are heauier then death.

6 ¶ But the sorowe and griefe of the heart is a woman that is ielous ouer another: and she that communeth with all, is a scourge of the tongue.

7 An euill wife is as a yoke of oxen that draw diuers wayes: he that hath her, is as though he held a scorpion.

8 A drunken woman and such as can not bee tamed, is a great plague: for she can not couer her owne shame.

9 The whoredom of a woman may be knowen in the pride of her eyes, and eye liddes.

10 ¶ * If thy daughter be not shamefast, holde her straitely, least she abuse her selfe through ouer much libertie. * Chap.42.11.

11 Take heede of her that hath an vnshamefast eye: and marueile not if she trespasse against thee.

12 As one that goeth by the way, and is thirstie, so shall shee open her mouth, and drinke of euery next water: by euery hedge shall she sit downe, and open her quiuer against euery arrowe.

13 The grace of a wife reioyceth her husband, and feedeth his bones with her vnderstanding.

14 A peaceable woman and of a good heart is a gift of the Lord, and there is nothing so much worth as a woman well instructed.

15 A shamefast and faithfull woman is a double grace, and there is no weight to be compared vnto her continent minde.

16 As the sunne when it ariseth in the high places of the Lord, so is the beautie of a good wife the ornament of her house.

17 As the cleare light is vpon the holy candlesticke, so is the beautie of the face in a ripe age.

18 As the golden pillars are vpon the sockets of siluer: so are faire feete with a constant minde.

19 [Perpetuall are the foundations that be laid vpon a strong rocke: so are the commaundements of God in the heart of an holy woman.]

20 My sonne, keepe the strength of thine age stable, and giue not thy strength to strangers.

21 When thou hast gotten a fruitfull possession through all the fields, sowe it with thine owne seed, trusting in thy nobilitie.

22 So thy stocke that shall liue after thee, shall grow, trusting in ỹ great liberalitie of their nobility.

23 An harlot is compared to a sow: but the wife that is marryed, is counted as a towre against death to her husband.

24 A wicked woman is giuen as a rewarde to a wicked man: but a godly woman is giuen to him that feareth the Lord.

25 A shameleſſe woman contemneth shame: but a shamefast woman wil reuerence her husband.

26 A shameleſſe woman is compared to a dog: but she that is shamefast, reuerenceth the Lord.

27 A woman that honoureth her huſkand, shall bee iudged wise of all: but shee that despiseth him, shalbe blased for her pride.

28 A loude crying woman and a babbler let her be sought out to driue away the enemies: the mind of euery man that liueth with such, shalbe conuersant among the troubles of warre.

29 There be two things that grieue mine heart, and the third maketh mee angrie: a man of warre that suffreth pouertie: and men of vnderstanding that are not set by: and when one departeth from righteousnesse vnto sinne: the Lord appointeth such to the sword.

30 [There be two things, which me thinke to be hard and perillous.] A marchant can not lightly keepe him from wrong, and a vitailer is not without sinne.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Of the poore that would be rich. 5 The probation of the man that feareth God. 13 The vnconstantnesse of a foole. 16 The secrets of friends are not to be vttered. 26 The wicked imagineth euill which turneth vpon himselfe.

BEcause of pouertie haue many sinned: and * he that seeketh to be rich, turneth his eyes aside. *Pron.23.4. 1.Tim.6.9.

2 As a naile in the wall sticketh fast betweene the ioynts of the stones, so doeth sinne sticke betweene the selling and the buying.

3 If he holde him not diligently in the feare of the Lord, his house shall soone be ouerthrowen.

4 As when one sifteth, the filthinesse remaineth in the sieue, so the filth of man remaineth in his thought.

5 The fornace proueth the potters vessell: * so doth [tentation] trie mens thoughts. *Pron.27.21.

6 * The fruit declareth if the tree haue beene trimmed: so the word [declareth] what man hath in his heart. *Matth.7.17.

7 Praise no man except thou haue heard his talke: for this is the triall of men.

8 ¶ If thou followest righteousnesse, thou shalt get her, and put her on as a faire garment, [and shalt dwell with her, and she shall defend thee for euer: and in the day of knowledge thou shalt finde stedfastnesse.]

9 The birds resort vnto their like: so doth the trueth turne vnto them that are practised in her.

10 As the lion waiteth for the beast, so doeth sinne vpon them that do euill.

11 The talking of him that feareth God, is all wisdome: as for a foole, he changeth as the moone.

12 If thou be among the vndiscreet, obserue the time, but haue still the assembly of them that are wise.

13 The talking of fooles is grieuous, and their sport sport is in the pleasure of sinne.

* Chap.23.9,10. 14 * The talke of him that sweareth much, maketh the haire to stand vp: and to striue with such, stoppeth the eares.

15 The strife of the proude is blood shedding, and their scouldings are grieuous to heare.

* Chap.19.10. and 20.22. 16 * Who so discouereth secrets, loseth his credite, and findeth no friend after his will.

17 Loue thy friend, and be faithfull vnto him: but if thou bewrayest his secrets, thou shalt not get him againe.

18 For as a man destroyeth his enemie, so doest thou destroy the friendship of thy neighbour.

19 As one that letteth a bird goe out of his hand, so if thou giue ouer thy friend, thou canst not get him againe.

20 Follow after him no more, for he is too farre off: he is as a roe escaped out of the snare: [for his soule is wounded.]

21 As for woundes, they may be bound vp againe, and an euill worde may be reconciled: but who so bewrayeth the secrets of a friend, hath lost all his credite.

* Prou.10.10. 22 * He that winketh with the eyes, imagineth euil: and he that knoweth him, will let him alone.

23 When thou art present, he wil speake sweetly, and praise thy wordes: but at the last he will turne his tale, and slander thy saying.

24 Many things haue I hated, but nothing so euill as such one: for the Lord also hateth him.

25 Who so casteth a stone on hie, casteth it vpon his owne head: and he that smiteth with guile, maketh a great wound.

* Psal.7.15. prou.24.27. eccle.10.8. 26 Who so * diggeth a pit, shal fall therein, [and he that layeth a stone in his neigbours way, shall stumble thereon,] and he that layeth a snare for another, shalbe taken in it himselfe.

27 He that worketh euill, shall be wrapped in euils, and shall not know from whence they come vnto him.

28 Mockerie and reproche follow the proude, and vengeance lurketh for them as a lyon.

29 They that reioyce at the fall of the righteous, shalbe taken in the snare, & anguish shall consume them before they dye.

30 Despite and anger are abominable thinges, and the sinfull man is subiect to them both.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 We ought not to desire vengeance, but to forgiue the offence. 13 Of the vices of the tongue, and of the dangers thereof.

* Deut.32.35. rom.12.19. HE * that seeketh vengeance, shall finde vengeance of the Lorde, and he will surely keepe his sinnes.

‖ Man ought not to seeke vengeance. 2 ‖Forgiue thy neighbour the hurt that hee hath done to thee, so shal thy sinnes be forgiuen thee also, when thou prayest.

3 Should a man beare hatred against man, and

* Matth.6.14. *desire forgiuenesse of the Lord?

4 He will shew no mercie to a man, which is like himselfe: and will he aske forgiuenesse of his owne sinnes?

5 If he that is but flesh, nourish hatred [and aske pardon of God,] who will intreate for his sinnes?

6 Remember the end, & let enimitie passe: imagine not death and destruction to another through anger, but perseuere in the commandements.

7 Remember the commaundements: so shalt thou not be rigorous against thy neighbour: [consider diligently] the couenant of the most High, and forgiue his ignorance.

* Chap.8.1. 8 * Beware of strife, and thou shalt make thy sinnes fewer: for an angry man kindleth strife.

9 And the sinfull man disquieteth friendes, and bringeth in false accusations among them that be at peace.

* Prou.26.22. 10 *As the matter of the fire is, so it burneth, and mans anger is according to his power: and according to his riches his anger increaseth, and the more vehement the anger is, the more is he inflamed.

11 An hastie brawling kindleth a fire, and an hastie fighting sheadeth blood: [a tongue that beareth false witnesse, bringeth death.]

12 If thou blow the sparke, it shall burne: if thou spit vpon it, it shall bee quenched, and both these come out of the mouth.

‖ The tongue. * Chap.21.28. 13 ‖ *Abhorre the slanderer & double tongued: for such haue destroyed many that were at peace.

14 The double tongue hath disquieted many, and driuen them from nation to nation: strong cities hath it broken downe, and ouerthrowen the houses of great men: [the strength of the people hath it brought downe, & bene the decay of mightie nations.]

15 The double tongue hath cast out many vertuous women, and robbed them of their labours.

16 Who so hearkeneth vnto it, shal neuer finde rest, and neuer dwell quietly.

17 The stroke of the rod maketh marks in the flesh, but the stroke of the tongue breaketh the bones.

18 There be many that haue perished by the edge of the sword, but not so many as haue fallen by the tongue.

19 Wel is him that is kept from an euill tongue, and commeth not in the anger thereof, which hath not drawen in that yoke, neither hath bene bound in the bands thereof.

20 For the yoke thereof is a yoke of yron, and the bands of it are bands of brasse.

21 The death thereof is an euill death: hell were better then such one.

22 It shal not haue rule ouer them ȳ feare God, neither shall they be burnt with the flame thereof.

23 Such as forsake the Lord, shall fall therein: and it shall burne them, and no man shalbe able to quench it: it shall fall vpon them as a lyon, and deuoure them as a leopard.

24 Hedge thy possession with thornes, & make doores and barres for thy mouth.

25 Binde vp thy siluer and golde, and weigh thy words in a balance, and make a doore and a barre [and a sure bridle] for thy mouth.

26 Beware that thou slide not by it, and so fall before him that lieth in wait, [and thy fall be incurable, euen vnto death.]

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Doe lend money, and dor almes. 15 Of a faithfull man answering for his friend. 24 The poore mans life.

* Deut.15.7,8. matth.5.42. luke 6.35. 2 * Lend to thy neighbour in time of his need, and pay thou thy neighbour againe in due season.

5 Till they receiue, they kisse his hands, and for their neighbours good they humble their voyce: but when they should pay againe, they prolong the terme, and giue a careleſſe answere, and make excuſes by reaſon of the time.

7 There be many which refuſe to lend becauſe of this inconuenience, fearing to be defrauded with out cauſe.

8 Yet haue thou patience with him that humbleth himſelfe, and deferre not mercie from him.

20 Suretiſhip hath deſtroyed many a rich man, and remoued them as the waues of the ſea: mightie men hath it driuen away from their houſes, and cauſed them to wander among ſtrange nations.

21 A wicked man tranſgreſſing the commandements of the Lord, ſhall fall into ſuretiſhip: and he that medleth much with other mens buſineſſe, is intangled in controuerſies.

3 He that *teacheth his ſonne, grieueth the enemie, and before his friends he ſhall reioyce of him.

4 Though his father die, yet is he as though he were not dead: for hee hath left one behinde him that is like him.

5 In his life he ſaw him, and had ioy in him, and was not ſory in his death, [neither was he aſhamed before his enemies.]

6 Hee left behinde him an auenger againſt his enemies, and one that ſhould ſhew fauour vnto his friends.

7 Hee that flattereth his ſonne, bindeth vp his wounds, and his heart is grieued at euery crie.

8 An vntamed horſe will be ſtubburne, and a wanton childe will be wilfull.

9 If thou bring vp thy ſonne delicately, he ſhall make thee afrayd: and if thou play with him, hee ſhall bring thee to heauineſſe.

10 Laugh not with him, leſt thou be ſorie with him, and leſt thou gnaſh thy teeth in the end.

*Chap.7.23.

11 * Giue him no libertie in his youth, & winke not at his follie.

12 Bow downe his necke while he is yoong, and beat him on the ſides, while he is a childe, leſt hee waxe ſtubburne, and be diſobedient vnto thee, and ſo bring ſorow to thine heart.

13 Chaſtiſe thy childe, and be diligent therein, leſt his ſhame grieue thee.

‖The praiſe of health.

14 ¶‖Better is the poore, being whole & ſtrong, then a rich man that is afflicted in his body.

15 Health and ſtrength is aboue all golde, and a whole body aboue infinite treaſure.

16 There is no riches aboue a ſound body, and no ioy aboue the ioy of the heart.

17 Death is better then a bitter life, [and long reſt,] then continuall ſickneſſe.

18 The good things that are powred on a mouth ſhut vp, are as meſſes of meat ſet vpon a graue.

19 What good doth the offring vnto an idole? for hee can neither eate nor ſmell: ſo is he that is perſecuted of the Lord, [and beareth the reward of iniquitie.]

*Chap.20.3.

20 He ſeeth with his eies, & groneth like *a gelded man, that lieth with a virgin and ſigheth.

*Pro.12.25 and 15.13. & 17.22.

21 * Giue not ouer thy minde vnto heauineſſe, and vexe not thy ſelfe in thine owne counſell.

22 The ioy of the heart is the life of man, and a mans gladneſſe is the prolonging of his dayes.

23 Loue thine owne ſoule, and comfort thine heart: driue ſorow farre from thee: for ſorow hath ſlaine many, and there is no profit therein.

24 Enuie and wrath ſhorten the life, and carefulneſſe bringeth age before the time.

25 A noble and good heart will haue conſideration of his meat and diet.

CHAP. XXXI.

Of esuetousnesse. 2 Of them that take paine to gather riches. 8 The praise of a rich man without a fault. 12 We ought to flee drunkennesse and follow soberneſſe.

‖Couetousnesse. *1. Tim. 6. 9, 10.

WAking ‖ after * riches pineth away the body, & the care thereof driueth away sleepe.

2 This waking care breaketh the sleepe, as a great sickneſſe breaketh the sleepe.

3 The rich hath great labour in gathering riches together, and in his rest he is filled with pleasures.

4 The poore laboureth in liuing poorely, and when he leaueth off, he is still poore.

5 He that loueth golde, shall not be iustified, & he that followeth corruption, shall haue enough thereof.

*Chap. 8. 2. 6 * Many are destroyed by the reason of golde, and haue found their destruction before them.

7 It is a stumbling blocke vnto them that sacrifice vnto it, and euery foole is taken therewith.

*Luke 6. 24. 8 Blessed is the * rich which is found without blemish, and hath not gone after golde, [nor hoped in money and treasures.]

9 Who is he, and we will commend him? for wonderfull things hath he done among his people.

10 Who hath bene tried thereby, and found perfit? let him be an example of glorie, who might offend, and hath not offended, or do euill, and hath not done it.

11 Therefore shall his goods be established, and the congregation shall declare his almes.

‖Temperancie. 12 If thou sit at a costly table, ‖ open not thy mouth wide vpon it, and say not, Beholde much meat.

13 Remember that an euill eye is a shrew: and what thing created is worse then a wicked eye? for it weepeth for euery cause.

14 Stretch not thine hand whereso euer it looketh, and thrust it not with it into the dish.

15 Consider by thy selfe him that is by thee, and marke euery thing.

16 Eate modestly that which is set before thee, and deuoure not, lest thou be hated.

17 Leaue thou off first for nourtours sake, and be not insatiable, lest thou offend.

18 When thou sittest among many, reach not thine hand out first of all.

*Chap. 37. 29. 19 *How litle is sufficient for a man wel taught? and thereby he belcheth not in his chamber, [nor feeleth any paine.]

20 A wholesome sleepe commeth of a temperate bellie: he riseth vp in the morning, and is well at ease in himselfe: but paine in watching and cholericke diseases, and pangs of the bellie are with an vnsatiable man.

21 If thou hast bene forced to eate, arise, goe forth, vomit, and then take thy rest; [so shalt thou bring no sickneſſe to thy body.]

22 My sonne, heare me, and despise me not, and at the last thou shalt finde as I haue tolde thee: in all thy works be quicke, so shall there no sickneſſe come vnto thee.

*Prou. 22. 9. ‖Liberalitie. 23 * Who so is ‖ liberall in his meat, men shall blesse him: and the testimonie of his honesty shall be beleeued.

24 But against him that is a niggard of his meat, the whole citie shall murmure: the testimonies of his niggardneſſe shall be sure.

*Indeed. 13. 2, 8. 25 Shew not thy valiantnes in wine: for * wine hath destroyed many.

26 The fornace proueth the edge in the tempering: so doth wine the hearts of the proud by drunkennesse.

27 *Wine soberly drunken, is profitable for the life of man: what is his life that is ouercome with wine? *Psal. 104. 15. Pro. 31. 4, 5, 6, 7.

28 Wine was made [from the beginning] to make men glad [and not for drunkennesse.] Wine measurably drunken, and in time, bringeth gladnesse and cherefulnesse of the minde.

29 But wine drunken with excesse, maketh bitternesse of minde with braulings and scouldings.

30 Drunkennesse encreaseth the courage of a foole, till he offend: it diminisheth his strength and maketh wounds.

31 *Rebuke not thy neighbour at the wine, and despise him not in his mirth: giue him no despightfull words, and presse not vpon him with contrarie words. *Chap. 20. 2.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 An exhortation to modestie. 3 Let the ancient speake. 14 To giue thanks after the repast. 15 Of the feare, faith and confidence in God.

IF thou be made the master of the feast, ‖ lift not thy selfe vp, but be among them, as one of the rest: take diligent care for them, and so sit downe. ‖Humblenesse.

2 And when thou hast done all thy duetie, sit downe, that thou mayest be merie with them, and receiue a crowne for thy good behauiour.

3 Speake thou that art the elder: for it becommeth thee, but with sound iudgement, and hinder not musike.

4 Powre not out words, where there is no audience, * and shew not forth wisedome out of time. *Eccle. 3. 7. chap. 20. 7.

5 The consent of musicians at a banket, is as a signet of carbuncle set in golde.

6 And as the signet of an emerauld well trimmed with golde, so is the melodie of musike in a pleasant banket.

7 [Giue eare, and be still, and for thy good behauiour thou shalt be loued.]

8 Thou that art yong, speake if need be, and yet scarcely when thou art twise asked.

9 Comprehend much in few words: [in many things be as one that is ignorant:] be as one that vnderstandeth, and yet holde thy tongue.

10 If thou be among * great men, compare not thy selfe vnto them: and when an elder speaketh, babble not much. *Iob. 32. 6.

11 Before the thunder goeth lightning, and before a shamefast man goeth fauour.

12 Stand vp betimes, and be not the last: but get thee home without delay.

13 And there take thy pastime, & do what thou wilt, so that thou do none euil, or vse proud words.

14 But aboue all things, giue thanks vnto him that hath made thee, & replenished thee with his goods.

15 ¶ Who so feareth the Lord, will receiue his doctrine, and they that rise early, shall find fauour.

16 He that seeketh the Law, shalbe filled therewith: but the hypocrite will be offended thereat.

17 They that feare the Lord, shall finde that which is righteous, & shall kindle iustice as a light.

18 An vngodly man will not be reformed, but findeth out excuses according to his will.

19 A man of vnderstanding despiseth not counsell: but a leud and proud man is touched with feare, euen when he hath done rashly.

20 [My sonne,] doe nothing without aduisement: so shall it not repent thee after the deed.

21 Go not in ỹ way where thou mayest fall, nor where
